MEETING OF CARROLL COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

A regular meeting of the Board of Education of Carroll County was held on Tuesday, January 14, 1964, with President DeVries R. Hering presiding.

The Board took action to approve the minutes of the December meeting and approved the current financial transactions.

Miscellaneous actions were taken in connection with the classification of teachers and contracts were approved for Ronald Lee Broadwater, Mrs. Dorothy C. Schafer, Robert C. Rinehart and Judith A. Groft for 1964-65. Resignations were accepted from S. Dennis Harmon, Ronald Broadwater, Benson Ireland and Mrs. Doris McClelland.

A communication was considered from the Carroll County Teachers' Association and this matter was held in abeyance pending the passage of proposed school legislation at the 1964 session of the Maryland General Assembly.

Members were provided with copies of miscellaneous communications to teachers and other employees as well as news releases submitted to the press since the last regular meeting. These included certain modifications to the rules and regulations governing school transportation.

Approval was given for the acceptance of a bid for paper supplies for the use of the offset printer, purchase being made from the A. B. Dick Co. after bids were submitted.

The Board took action to approve architect's sketches in connection with proposed improvements to the Westminster Senior High School, including the construction of a vocational shop building and the expansion of the cafeteria as well as modifications to the shop annex. Approval was also given to architect's sketches related to the addition now planned for the Westminster Jr. High School, this addition to consist of science rooms, home economics teaching facilities and regular classrooms.

Approval was also given to the suggested plans for an addition to the Freedom District Elementary School, said addition to consist of six regular classrooms and a general purpose room. This addition is to be located to the west of the existing building. In all cases the type of construction is to be similar to the existing building. The Superintendent was authorized to have working drawings prepared as promptly as possible in the hope of submitting these projects for bids so that contracts may be awarded and construction carried on and completed prior to the opening of school in September 1964.

Approval was also given for the advertising of the project connected with the surfacing of the track planned at the Westminster Sr. High School in Westminster for general use by the senior high school and other county schools. Preliminary grading and draining of the area is practically complete and it is hoped the track surface can be installed as soon as weather permits.

Consideration was given to a communication from the Taneytown High School regarding additional custodial personnel. The staff was authorized to study the problem and make arrangements to approve the situation if financially possible.

Consideration was given to certain negotiations connected with available land located on Englar Road, contiguous to both the Winchester School and the Westminster Jr. High School. The Board took action to authorize the Superintendent to negotiate with the Carroll County Commissioners for acquiring this land for school expansion and for use of the existing schools. This action was taken because of the fact that expansion is inevitable at this location, and the tract in question represents the only available tract. Sentiment of the Board was that the land should be acquired by the County for the use of the schools.

The Board gave consideration to the sending of representatives to the National School Boards Association meeting to be held in April in Houston, Texas. Most school boards throughout the country are represented at the National Convention and it is hoped that the Board of Education of Carroll County can have a representative. Consideration is given to education problems on the national level as well as information regarding educational developments throughout the country.

The Board adjourned at 12:00 noon to meet for a regular meeting in February.

MAKING YOUR TAX REFUND GROW

We are glad to note the Treasury again is offering taxpayers the opportunity of taking their income tax refunds in U. S. Savings Bonds. The taxpayer who takes the Treasury up on this savings option, in our opinion, chooses wisely.

By taking your refund in Series E Savings Bonds, you provide yourself with the beginnings of a sound foundation upon which to build or supplement your future financial security. And you do so with ease — merely by checking a box on your tax return.

That Savings Bond check mark assures you of other things: That your refund will grow bigger in a secure, risk-free investment which pays interest at a guaranteed rate. That your refund is not absorbed by household expenses, vanishing with day-to-day spending. And that it may help to get you started on a regular savings program on a year-around basis — a habit that too many of us keep postponing.

Information on the Savings Bond tax refund option is given in the instructions accompanying your tax form. Our advice is: read it and heed it. You stand to benefit — and, what's more, so does your community and your country.

State Police To Use ReflectORIZED Registration Plates

The registration plates on State Police patrol cars are now reflectORIZED, it was announced today by Colonel Carey Jarman, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police. At night these plates show up brightly when they come within the headlight beams of approaching or following vehicles.

"ReflectORIZED plates," said Colonel Jarman, "are of value not only in reducing rear-end collisions and parked car accidents, but also in making the license plate more legible."

"The use of these tags by the State Police will enable motorists to see the effectiveness of reflectORIZED plates and to make a determination as to whether or not all Maryland plates should be reflectORIZED."

"This is just another effort on the part of the State Police to promote safety on the highways of Maryland."

KIWANIS INTERNATIONAL CALLS UPON THE PRESIDENT AND THE CONGRESS TO REAFFIRM RECOGNITION OF THE SPIRITUAL HERITAGE OF THE NATION

Kiwanis International has gone on record as opposing "further attempts, however well intentioned, which tend to deny our national and personal trust in God, or to remove God from the corporate body of our government," according to information received here by Paul M. Morelock, President of the Kiwanis Club of Taneytown.

Top leaders of the big international service organization, meeting in Chicago the end of October, formally passed a resolution calling on the President and the Congress not only to stop this denial of religious expression, but "to reaffirm recognition of the spiritual heritage of this nation and its people."

Word of the resolution's passage was announced by Charles A. Swain, Cape May, N.J., President of Kiwanis International. He characterized passage of the resolution at this time as being in keeping with the spirit of Thanksgiving, an historically American celebration epitomizing this nation's fundamental belief in God. Swain represents an organization of 260,000 business and professional men in 5,200 clubs in countries of the Western Hemisphere and Western Europe.

The text of the resolution follows: "The United States of America is a nation founded upon belief in God and maturing under a trust in God. In return for that trust, He has blessed us beyond all other nations and protected us from our national follies and errors."

"From Him we have derived certain inalienable rights, among which are personal and religious freedom. We in turn have shared those with all who have come to the golden door seeking personal, religious, or political freedom. We have guaranteed religious freedom by providing that there shall be separation of church and state while at all times being committed to belief in God and His Will."

"WHEREAS, there are those who would have us interpret freedom of religion as freedom from religion, separation of state and church as separation of state and God, and

"WHEREAS, certain individuals and groups seeking to deny the dependence of this nation and its people on God have embarked on such campaigns as to effect removal of 'Under God' from the Pledge of Allegiance and 'In God We Trust' from our coinage.

"THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the President and the Congress of the United States be solemnly requested to reaffirm recognition of the spiritual heritage of this nation and its people and to oppose and prevent further attempts however well intentioned which tend to deny our national and personal Trust in God or to remove God from the corporate body of our Government."

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It sure is June in January down town and each year Spring comes to all the stores earlier. It used to be March when Spring styles were shown but now all the stores are showing the Spring millinery, the Spring dresses and even to very colorful "Spring" jewelry! Just broussing around for this Column was something different yesterday. Don't miss the windows on the Lexington side of Stewarts' where Mannequins are draped in sheets, towels, wash clothes and much else as to the "White" sales in January and all done up as Colonial Dames! Never have I seen anything to compare and when I called the executive on the phone of that store, he stated that the window decorator was "terrific" and was from New York, also adding he remained up all night to decorate those windows! ORIGINAL is the word! You will stand there fascinated! There was a jewelry sale of articles from $2.00 to $10.00 for the price of 97c and, folks those counters were three and four deep of ladies trying to get near for even a look! In all the stores there were furniture sales and when I asked one of the salesmen how come in January as it usually is in February, he stated the stores try to dispose of many pieces that have been on the floor for sometime before the February Sales begin.

Short skirts will be in again and as for the evening gowns especially for the Opera, they surely are cut very low.

Did you know that the YMCA was started in England and then spread throughout many countries all over the world?

Now, here's one for any motorist on cold winter mornings when you may think your car is difficult to start. DO NOT GIVE IT THE GAS — just press your foot down on the accelerator and leave it there, at the same time turning the ignition on — and you will see that your car will start immediately. Then you must allow it to run for five minutes before the take off.

What a grand surprise yesterday afternoon in the "GOURTYARD" in the Hecht-May Co. Truly it was a banquet and never have I enjoyed anything as much as that delicious "BUFFET" supper — no not even in New York! That Mr. Clark surely does know that Restaurant business and this type of meal is served every Monday from 4 o'clock until 7:30. It started in December and is going over big. There was roast beef, done to perfection, a delightful spiced ham, turkey as you see it in pictures in magazines, four kinds of salads, all kinds of vegetables, creamed chicken, cheese if you desire, too, coffee, homemade buns, plus that corn bread which I never enjoyed before and a choice of three different desserts! A glass of champagne if you like, goes with the meal and all this for the price of $2.00. In New York City it would be about $5.00. Strangers were saying, "Well, this is the greatest! Did you ever see anything like it?" and so on.

The hours seem to suit everyone, too, as I heard many remark. You and you truly will have a Ball! Folks, it made me break my New Year Resolution so now you know with that confession! You will be proud to take your guests there. Don't forget every Monday night from 4 to 7:30. It only could happen in the HECHT-MAY CO. Ummmmmmmmmm fit for a King! Thinking of nice people, while I was in the linen department, a sweet woman by the name of Heidi came up to me with the two other ladies telling me about my Column. Nice?

And before I forget in this Column when next you go to market be sure and ask for "VITA" imported Party Snacks; vacuum packed and nothing else can compare!

Hope you are reading in "LIFE" Magazine about my favorite, SOLDIER, "Martial Roots of a Warrior's Glory" by the General of the Army — Douglas Mac Arthur.

So long, Folks. Until next week D. V. Do not venture out if it is not necessary for Winter is just ahead.

I am, Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER.

INTERNATIONAL PRINTING WEEK

There is a great deal that is not known, or is largely made up of surmise based upon shadowy records, about the life and work of Johann Gutenberg. But it is generally held that he, more than any other man, invented the art of printing. His great innovation was to introduce movable type and, primitive as were the methods of his time, which was the middle of the 15th century, this was the foundation that was essential to making the printed word the almost unbelievable force that it has become.

Now, during the Jan. 12 through 18 period, we will once again observe International Printing Week. And it would be difficult indeed to think of an observance that is more deserving of world honor. It is print—in books, newspapers, magazines, pamphlets and leaflets of limitless variety—that brings to us the wise words of the past and present, that brings entertainment and knowledge, that tells of the thousand and one things we want and need to know. Its power is universal; it is at the very heart of civilization.

And it can bring evil—there is no doubt of that. The fanatic and the fool and the brute have access to the printed word too, and often make the most of it. In itself, in what it may say, it is neither good nor bad. It can be either. The human mind and heart must make the choice between the two, and the decisions that may follow.

In any event, the world salutes printing as an art, a craft, a power that has no superior—that is as unique as it is irreplaceable. May more wise and kindly and creative words find their way into print as time wears on—and fewer, far fewer, of the other kind.

RULES FOR HOME SAFETY

Home Sweet Home, that supposed pillar of sanctuary, is the site of more injuries each year than our nation's highways, according to the American Medical Association.

On the average, about 26,000 Americans are accidentally killed in their homes each year and four million are injured. Most of these injuries and deaths occur through falls—the great majority among older people.

For the most part, these falls among older people occur at floor level, and in general, they are easily preventable. When you can answer Yes to the following questions, then you have set the pattern for safety proofing your home against accidents of the aging.

Do you have scatter rugs—those bright and cheerful magic carpets of death—fastened securely or provided with nonskid backing?

Do you have handrails of a proper height and strength on all stairways and steps and by the bath tub and commode?

Do you have for yourself or for visiting old people a comfortable, safe, stable chair with sturdy arms?

Do you have a light switch by the bed and flashlights at all needed areas?

Do you know that older people should sit a moment on the edge of the bed before rising; that they should stand still an instant after coming to their feet to prevent accidents from possible dizziness?

Do you know that a clean, orderly house, as free as possible of things to trip over, makes for the safest home for people of all ages?

"GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS"

GILLESPIE, ILL., AREA NEWS:

"The United States is a wealthy nation, but even a wealthy man can dissipate his wealth and die a pauper. We have spent billions of dollars to improve the world, but what is happening in our country? . . . While bettering conditions abroad, or attempting to, our morals at home are sharply dropping, with an ever growing crime rate. These range from high levels to petty thievery. There are murders and senseless beatings and maimings, rape of women and even little girls, many of these to be found in the Capitol City, even in the shadows of the Capitol Building. City streets are unsafe by night and often by day. . . . Let's consider the United States for awhile. It is a great country—let's keep it that way."

LOUP CITY, NEBR., TIMES:

"Even though women often wear tennis outfits when they can't play, and ski suits when they can't ski, they sure mean business when they put on a wedding dress."

JUNEAU, ALASKA, ALASKA EMPIRE:

" . . . communism alone is the enemy of freedom and dignity and good will. The enemy is hatred wherever it festers. Hatred is the enemy, of man and of God—hatred which may have been created by unjust and prolonged oppression, hatred calculatedly stepped up as a force behind violence, contagious hatred glorified and spread as only modern man can spread ideas and emotions."

RIVERTON, WYO., RANGER:

"It shouldn't take the sacrifice of a President to jolt people out of slovenly ways. But since the President has been slain, let us hope that the decay has been purged from the soul of America and that the new national resolve to do better will be long-lived."

WEEDVILLE, PA., VALLEY NEWS:

"Under consideration at the moment in Congress is a bill which would grant pay increases to almost two million government employees, and cost the Treasury over half a billion dollars. The first question any thinking citizen must ask about such legislation is: 'How can the federal government afford such an expense when we have experienced a heavy deficit in the past fiscal year and are piling up another big deficit in the current fiscal year?'"

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR:

"Automation has been called many things, from the prime mover of civilization to job scourge, but a University of Pennsylvania professor has added another euphemism to its collection. It is, says Dr. James Charlesworth, a generator of barren boredom. Perhaps utopia has indeed arrived when political scientists fret over the effects of too much leisure on the public, but the fact remains Americans and members of other advanced societies have given the appearance in recent years of children lost in a department store toy department."

WALTHAM, MASS., NEWS-TRIBUNE:

"We wonder if the idea of packaged food came from the lowly hen."

CENTREVILLE, MD., RECORD-OBSERVER:

"Careless littering is a national problem, but must be attacked on a unit level, with each county responsible for its own. Each piece of paper or can tossed aside is one more eyesore. It would be so easy to place this trash in a container for disposal."

ROSHOLT, S.D., REVIEW:

"First they were hungry, so we prepare to feed them. Now they are thirsty, so we will have to give them drink. In the first case it was wheat—now the Russians say that their vodka supplies are mighty low and they want to buy our potable alcohol—so they won't lack their favorite drink. . . . In the case of the Russians, we wonder what will happen when the communists are driven to sample the vodka of free enterprise."

CORVALLIS, ORE., GAZETTE-TIMES:

"We have grown too careless about protecting our birthright. And we lose our freedoms just as easily through internal corruption as through external aggression."

Travel Log by Judy Graham

For mid-winter travelers, the Netherlands Antilles island of Curacao in the Caribbean is a special treat at Christmas. There's no sleet or snow. But St. Nicolaas and his helpers come just the same—by boat—on December 5th, when they distribute toys and candies to the children.

It's Christmas all-year-round in Curacao, thanks to outstanding shopping bargains in this duty-free port. Unique gifts are available at 40% less than they cost in the U.S. Many visitors even do their Christmas shopping here a year ahead.

On the day after Christmas, combos, trios, and steel bands join in the Music Festival of Curacao. Musicians compete for prizes while visitors learn the native rhythms. The celebration is becoming another Yule tradition of this exciting, tropical island.

Two-In-One Appliance Meets Every Cold Storage Problem

Fresh food, frozen food, family food, baby food—there's room for it all in the new electric refrigerator-freezers.

It's a good idea to store all the baby things together in one of the door shelves of the refrigerator section to make them easily accessible. Prepared formula, fruit juices, sterile water, puddings, jars of baby food that have been opened and recapped, vitamins, and medicines that require chilling can all go on one roomy door shelf.

All foods retain their quality longer in a new electric refrigerator-freezer than in units only a few years old. To make sure of top quality, follow these simple rules:

Keep refrigerator and freezer doors closed as much as possible, since opening them lets warm air in, causing the unit to work harder to maintain the right temperature. To cut down on the number of times doors have to be opened, take out everything you need for meal-making at one time. Use a tray or assemble the items on a countertop. After a meal, put everything away at once, too, for the same reason.

Meats deserve special attention. Always remove paper bags and butcher wrappings from fresh meat as soon as you bring it home. Store it immediately in the special meat compartment or in a shallow dish covered lightly with waxed paper or foil.

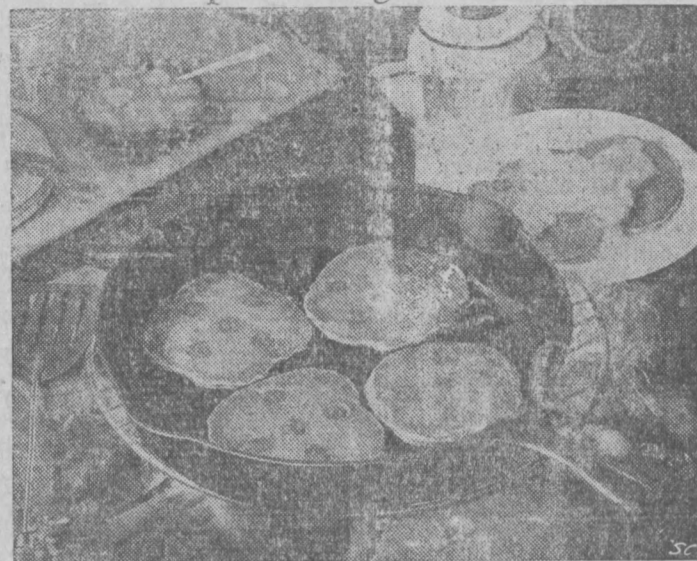

This electric refrigerator-freezer provides ample storage for baby foods and vitamins as well as for family meals and snacks. Handy door shelves make it easy to put all baby things together in one convenient place.

In hot weather, it's best to store fresh meat that's to be kept more than a day or two in the freezer section. In this case, it should be tightly wrapped in moisture-vapor-proof material such as plastic bags or freezer foil.

To avoid clutter, store unopened jars of pickles, olives, catsup, and cans or bottles of non-frozen fruit juices in a cupboard until it's time to chill them.

Camper's Delight Pancakes

What a good idea, a fall camping trip to the North Woods! For hunting or fishing or just to be outdoors, pitch your tent under a tall birch, relax and enjoy the brisk fall air. Sausage Dot Buckwheat Pancakes are a camper's favorite; a good hearty meal for the hungry hunter.

It's fun to cook Sausage Dot Buckwheats out over an open fire in a black iron skillet with that special smoky smell drifting up through the trees. They have delicious slices of spicy sausage dotted throughout each pancake. Made with an easy-to-use buckwheat mix, they'll quickly be light and golden brown on the skillet. Just pour the batter over a cluster of about five little sausage dots. Flip 'em once and serve with warm applesauce to your camping crew.

You may want to combine Sausage Dot Buckwheats with the hunter's game of the day, or with the fish caught in the nearby stream.

SAUSAGE DOT BUCKWHEATS

Makes 4 servings

- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon melted or liquid shortening
- 1 cup buckwheat pancake mix
- 1/2 sausage links, cooked

Place milk, egg and shortening in a shake- or glass jar. (If melted shortening is used, add after buckwheat mix.) Add buckwheat mix; shake 10 times or until batter is fairly smooth.

Slice cooked pork sausages into thin slices. For each pancake, place five or six slices of sausage on hot, lightly greased griddle. Pour about 1/4 cup batter over sausage slices. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. Serve with warm applesauce.

FAIRVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. William Ebaugh and twin daughters, Linda and Virginia, spent Sunday in the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Baker, near Keymar; they also called on their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock, on Sunday evening.

We surely got the snow yesterday, Monday. At first the wind blew so hard it seemed to be blowing it all away; then all of a sudden it snowed so hard you could hardly see from one house to another and before evening this road really was drifted in places. One man had to shovel his way out.

There isn't much news this week, as the weather was so threatening on Sunday that people were afraid to venture too far from home as it was calling for snow then.

WINTER

Oh, cold Wintertime, with its ice and snow, With its chilly skies and its cold winds blow. The birds have winged South to a warmer clime, Away from the blast of cold Wintertime.

All that of the leaves from the trees have fell, They all have bowed to Winter's cold knell. The ground frozen hard and the fields are bare; All nature lies still, no life now seems there.

The long winding brook as it onward goes is covered with ice, by cold Winter, froze. Yet through cold Wintertime, it is well understood, No matter what falls, still God is good.

We are sorry to learn Mrs. William Speelman was taken to the Carroll County Hospital, Westminster, from the Kessler Shoe Co. where she works. We wish her a speedy recovery.

It does not seem possible the middle of January is here already. The months surely fly by. It will be Spring before we know it.

Mrs. Elmar Vanfossen of Taneytown and Mrs. Norman Heiner of Linwood, spent Friday afternoon in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Garvin of Parkton, Md.

M. on Monday to extinguish a chimney fire in the farm dwelling of Robert Kalb of near Creagerstown. Firemen reported no damage was done to the house and they remained at the scene for about an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Keeney and children, Mrs. Edith Gruber, Mrs. Gaylord Putman and Russell Putman spent Sunday with Mrs. Lula Albaugh at Westminster.

JANUARY VIEW FROM MY KITCHEN WINDOW

This cold January morning is brisk, clear and windy, altogether different from yesterday, when a deluge of rain flooded many areas in Maryland. Our little stream threw a real tantrum, as swollen and maddy, it angrily overflowed its banks and boiled across the bridge. However, today it is gurgling merrily along, crystal-clear in the winter sunshine. To our great relief, the lane is now free of the treacherous ice and snow which had covered it, and many of the fields are bare. We have been most fortunate this year for, as yet, no heavy, blowing snow has drifted us in, although it probably will before the winter is over.

(Editor's Note: This was written before the snow on Monday, which was just that — heavy and blowing.) While we were sitting at the breakfast table, a plump, bright-eyed squirrel scampered atop the yard fence. A few minutes later, when I went out to feed the birds, I spied the little fellow in the South Carolina Poplar. Some noisy starlings were trying to chase him away, and friend squirrel was scolding them roundly. Squirrels and birds are not always the best of friends, and quite often they stage these little battles.

The feeding station is a very popular place this morning. Consequently most of "my view" will have to do with birds. I have nailed a large piece of suet on a tree, and on the covered wooden trays I have placed sunflower seed and cut-up apples. The little Tufted Titmice make countless trips back and forth, for they are very fond of sunflower seed. Titmice are small gray birds, with tufted crests and chestnut-colored sides. The "upside down" nuthatches and the black-capped chickadees are also frequent visitors to the "bird cafeteria." Nuthatches are small, chubby tree-climbers, with long bills and stubby tails. No other tree-climbers attempt to go down their headfirst, as these little creatures habitually do. The White-breasted Nuthatch, most often seen in this section, is also identified by its black cap and its heady black stripe on a white cheek. Chickadees are the only small birds with the combination of black cap, black bib, and white cheeks. They are extremely active, and are quite tame. Woodpeckers are drawn like magnets to the suet. The Hairy and Downy varieties are almost identical in pattern, checked and spotted black and white, the male having a red patch on the back of the head. However, the Hairy is much larger than the Downy, and has a longer bill. The Red-bellied Woodpecker is zebra-backed and has a red cap. It is, I believe, rather rare. Bluejays and crows are very much in evidence this morning, and a bright red Cardinal flashes over the stream. Bluejays are large and bright blue, with a whitish breast and having a crest. The familiar crow needs no description. Cardinals are our only all red birds. They, too, are crested, and are further identified by their short stout bills, adapted for cracking seeds.

Bird-watching is a fascinating and relatively inexpensive hobby, and one which will help to brighten the dreariest winter day.

Washington Crossing Delaware Now Reproduced At American Wax Museum

Full-size reproduction of Washington crossing the Delaware with his troops, based on the famed painting by Leutze, is one of the exhibits of people and events from American history in the American Wax Museum, Independence Mall, Philadelphia. The boat in this scene rocks in a pool of water, while simulated ice flees knock against its hull, recreating a historic event that happened almost two centuries ago.

PHILADELPHIA — Many people would probably name President Lincoln as the tallest president of the United States. He was 6 ft. 4 in., to be exact. But how many know that George Washington was also a tall man, standing 6 ft. 2 in.?

These and other little-known facts about the country's great were uncovered by research prior to the construction of the figures and displays in the American Wax Museum, Independence Mall, Philadelphia.

The Museum is only a stone's throw from Independence Hall, or for that matter, other historic sites and buildings that figure in its displays. There are over 100 figures in some 30 tableaux. American Wax Museum is owned and operated by Music Fair Enterprises, Inc.

To attain the highest degree of accuracy possible, the Museum spent months researching into the physical characteristics of American historical figures, as well as into the details of the major events which shaped the United States' development. The Museum uses wax figures, but it adds the dimensions of action, continuous commentary, music, sound effects and theatrical lighting to add impact and realism to its story of "The Legend of America."

Another fact uncovered was that a lot of people have been spelling the name of the wife of President Madison incorrectly. It's Dolley, not Dolly, according to authorities on history that the Museum checked.

Those who contributed to the history of the theater in the United States, to its literature, social progress and other areas of its development, are also part of the exhibits. Included among these are Walt Whitman, Edgar Allan Poe, John James Audubon, Charlie Chaplin, Harriet Beecher Stowe, and Thomas A. Edison.

SOCIAL SECURITY for FARMERS

Thousands of self-employed farmers and their dependents have retired with social security benefits in the years since 1954 when Congress extended coverage to this group. Today another 4 1/2 million people who depend upon farming for a livelihood are building social security protection against the loss of income resulting from old-age, disability or death.

While urging farmers in this area to file prompt and accurate income and earnings reports for 1963, R. W. Hughes, social security District Manager, pointed out that failure to report or filing an inaccurate report may result in reduced social security benefits or the loss of benefits.

"Now is a good time," said R. W. Hughes, "for farmers to examine their books to see what they must report to Uncle Sam on their Federal income returns for the past year."

Also, he said, it is important to know that low-income farmers can build protection against the loss of income in old-age or following disability or death. Mr. Hughes cited a special optional provision in the law which enables farmers whose net earnings are less than $400 to acquire social security credits. It works like this:

(1) If a farmer's gross income from agricultural self-employment is between $600 and $1800, he may count two-thirds of his gross farm income for social security purposes.

(2) If gross farm income exceeds $1800 and net farm earnings are less than $1200, he may use either his actual net or $1200.

Under the above provision a farmer with annual gross income as low as $600 can declare his net earnings to be $400, or two-thirds of his gross income, to get social security credit for that year.

Information regarding social security taxes and tax return forms can be obtained at the internal revenue service office located in the post office at Westminster. Questions about old-age, survivors, and disability benefits should be taken up with the social security office at:

SURPRISE PARTY HELD

The table was attractively decorated with a large birthday cake trimmed in yellow and green.

Refreshments of ham sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, nuts, mints, cake, punch and coffee were served to about 45 guests.

Charles received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Note to beauty contest losers: the prettiest girl doesn't always win the contest.

The political campaign for 1964 is already underway, whether you know it or not.

Observations on the World of Sports

It's hard to say if the San Diego Chargers are good enough for the National Football League but we may say something like this - if they're not careful they may get too good for the American Football League. You don't need an outsized imagination to see them becoming the same kind of club the Cleveland Browns were in the old All-America conference.

It takes time to build a first-class football team, which is something the American league owners knew when they opened shop four years ago. San Diego appears to be one now. It has the kind of balance that a good team does. It has runners, two dandies in Keith Lincoln and Paul Lowe, a fine quarterback in Tobin Rote, a superb receiver in Lance Alworth and a tough defense.

Looking ahead to the future the only worry for San Diego may be quarterback Rote has seen a lot of seasons come and go, although he is no older - if quite as old - as Y. A. Tittle of the New York Giants. The Chargers were at their peak a couple of Sundays ago in flustering - it's the only word that fits - the Boston Patriots, 51 to 10. A lot of comment was heard after the game that they would have given any team in the National League, including the Champion Bears, a lot of trouble.

Easy to say but impossible to prove. And don't misunderstand - we are not knocking it down. But the only way to prove it is on a football field. The subject came up on a regular basis during the football season - the proposal for a game between the A. F. L. champion and the N. F. L. champion. The A. F. L. wants it, the N. F. L. isn't interested. This is all quite natural.

We don't know if it ever will happen but it is unlikely to occur for several years yet. If it does, pressure from the public will be a big factor. There is no sign of that kind of pressure yet. But if the San Diego Chargers grow bigger and better something may start in a couple of years.

NOW TO BASKETBALL -

Every time Johnny Kerr takes the court for the Philadelphia 76'ers of the National Basketball Association he breaks his own record for consecutive games. Last night against the Boston Celtics in Philadelphia was his 715th game in a row. Kerr has been in the N. B. A. ten years and in that time has incurred all kinds of injuries including: a broken nose and a sprained ankle. But he has never missed a game, since breaking into the lineup of the Syracuse Nationals midway of his rookie season. The Syracuse Nationals became the Philadelphia 76'ers this season.

Johnny is a native of Chicago and played his college basketball at Ill., where he was a star. He did not play basketball until the last part of his senior year in high school. That's when he sprouted in a hurry and the basketball coach noticing a 6'-8" boy in the hallway asked him to come out for the team.

Until then Kerr had been a soccer enthusiast. His father had been a big league soccer player in Scotland. Kerr has played on four All-Star N. B. A. teams. He pitched his 10,000th point through the basket a couple of weeks ago and has added to it since.

Ten years in the rough competition of the N. B. A. has to leave a mark and in Kerr's case it's in the shoulder. He has calcium chips in one shoulder and before every game the trainer rubs a hot ointment on it which burns so much that he forgets about the calcium chips. Kerr says the nearest he came to missing a game was the year he sprained his ankle. The schedule broke right and the Nats had several days off. By the time they started playing again Kerr was ready.

REMEMBER WHEN DEPT. - the largest crowd ever to watch an Oriole game? The date was May 16, 1954 against the Yankees and the attendance was 46,796.

TODAY'S SPORT LAUGH - Stan Musial, the retired outfielder of the Cardinals, recently was given a testimonial dinner in St. Louis. His 18 year old daughter was unable to attend, but sent this telegram: "Dear Daddy, although you're retired, you still swing."

-JOHN BRETHT.

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX REPORT REMINDER FOR FARMERS

Farmers in this area are reminded that annual reports on the earnings of farm workers are due in the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue by January 31, 1964.

Farm employers who fail to file a yearly report on the earnings of farm workers and to pay the social security taxes due are subject to penalties and interest charges on unpaid social security taxes.

The earnings of most, but not all, farm workers are covered under social security. A farm employee, to be covered must be paid at least $150 in cash wages by his employer, or work for the employer on 20 or more days during the year for cash wages figured on a time basis (rather than on piece-rate basis).

For 1963 the social security tax rate is 3-5/8 percent each for employer and employee on cash wages up to $4800 in the year. The tax amount must be entered on Form 943 (Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees) together with the total amount of cash wages paid to each farm worker. The completed form must be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue at Baltimore on or before January 31, 1964.

I am but a gatherer and disposer of other men's stuff. - Sir Henry Wotton.

IT'S A FACT! All the fables of men being pursued by swarms of bees are pure folly. Actually it's an optical illusion! Experiments have proved that the maximum speed of the bee is 14 M.P.H. There are over 125,000 known species of ants! With Herculean strength they are able to move weights many times their own. Leaf-cutting ants can completely denude a tree in a matter of minutes. Some species build ant hills as high as four or five feet! Don't let insects deny you (or the family dog) the pleasures of the out-of-doors around your own home. Spectracide (Diazinon insecticide), the broad-range insecticide, provides positive control of fleas, ticks, chiggers, earwigs and brown dog ticks. And it's safe when used according to simple label directions.

Eye-Openers LIFE SAVERS Hundreds of thousands of servicemen and civilians had their lives saved during World War II by sharp eye-sight. They owe their lives to airmen trained in split-second recognition and identification of approaching aircraft. Sharp eye-sight can save your life too! Car drivers cannot see as well at night as in the day time. Snowstorms, rainstorms, ice, frost and snow also cut down on vision. Make allowances for poorer vision at night and in the winter. And always clear snow and ice from your car windows. Check your eyes, also. The American Optometric Association reminds drivers that they should have their eyes examined at least once each year. Good vision is a necessity for safe driving, regardless of the weather.

Every season, every month, every week, children present a problem to the motorist. Children concerned with the dreams of tomorrow . . . children, energetic, quick, ready for action . . . and lacking the judgment of maturity . . . children, unpredictable and a definite traffic hazard when they walk and run and play near streets and highways.

You know the little boys and girls have been warned not to ride tricycles in the streets, but little folks don't always heed warnings. Some adults don't either, especially the traffic warnings . . . for example, the one limiting the speed of automobiles.

Think of these boys and girls. Each one has a mother that endured considerable inconvenience, suffering and anxiety to bring him or her into the world. Each has a father who has worked hard and made many sacrifices to make them happy and healthy. The supreme purposes of their lives is to have their children grow up to be useful, God fearing citizens. If you should kill a child, how would you feel facing its parents? What excuse would you give them for robbing them of their dearest possessions? More important, what excuse could you possibly offer Him whose kingdom is made up of little children and those who possess a childlike faith and humility?

So, look out for children . . . their safety depends on you.

A Cautious Man

Lesson for January 19, 1964

Background Scripture: John 3:1-21; 7:40-42; 9:28-42. Devotional Reading: I John 5:6-14.

NICODEMUS might have been one of the Apostles. He had more to start with than some of them did. He had education and money, for example, not to mention great prestige as a member of the Jewish Council or Sanhedrin as it was called. But his case goes to show that it's not what you have that counts, it is what you do with what you have.

This man Nicodemus has been described in various ways. Some have thought that he came under the everlasting condemnation of God because he did not speak out boldly as he should have—he was a disciple who arrived too late. Others on the contrary paint Nicodemus as being as much of a disciple as the circumstances permitted, a man whose faith triumphed in the end.

He came by night

The thing that most people remember about Nicodemus is that he "came by night" to Jesus. That does not label him a coward, but it does show him to be a cautious man. He was willing, indeed almost eager, to hear what Jesus had to tell him. Only he didn't think it would do his prestige any good to be seen interviewing Jesus, and admitting that he, a ruler in Israel, did not know all he needed to know about religion.

Jesus did not brush him off. If the Lord had despised him or thought him altogether a coward, he would not have said to him the things he did. Some of the most profound things Jesus ever said were spoken in conversation with this careful, timid man. It is rash to say that Jesus failed to convert this distinguished personage. Nicodemus was not convinced that very evening, he took time to think it over, he took too long; for he never stood up for Christ until matters had gone too far to change. However, he did think, and seems to have come out openly for Jesus at the last.

Caution to the last

Nevertheless, Nicodemus never became a bold man. When he spoke a moderate word for the Rabbi from Nazareth, he did not profess to defend him. All he said was that Jesus deserved a fair trial. Even that little was too much for the Sanhedrin, and they shouted Nicodemus down. Nicodemus did not try it again, we may infer. Then after the death of Jesus, Nicodemus and Joseph of Arimathea joined in caring for the body. Yet even here the reader notices that it was not Nicodemus but Joseph who took the lead. Nicodemus was doing a costly and gracious act, but he was led in this by another man.

All the same, though as was said, this "ruler" never became outstanding for heroism, the fact remains that asking Pilate for the body of a man just executed by Pilate's own order took more courage than coming to Jesus by night.

What he missed

After all's said, it still is a fact that Nicodemus missed a great deal by not becoming a disciple in the whole-hearted way of Peter and John. He missed what he might have had, association with Jesus through those years of conflict. Not only that, he missed the great joy the disciples had in serving the Master. There can be much doubt that the twelve apostles, humble and ordinary men though they were, did more for their fellow-men during those years with Jesus than Nicodemus ever did in the same space of time. Nicodemus cut himself off from joy and from usefulness, by his cautious and "cagey" approach to faith.

People today are like that man, sometimes. They expect to be saved in due time, but they are in no hurry. They want a lot of evidence to convince them. They spend too much time, by the river of Truth, testing the temperature of the water and never heartily diving in. A Nicodemus may arrive in the end; but think what he misses along the way!

P.E. INCREASES POWER SUPPLY

Electrical energy began flowing Dec. 27 through a 230,000-volt transmission line linking the Potomac Edison System and the generating plant of the Potomac Electric Power Company at Dickerson.

Work on the million-dollar project began last spring.

The line has the highest energy-carrying capacity in the PE system, which serves the electrical power needs of 176,000 customers in an 8,000-square-mile area covering part of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The interconnection is the first between PE and PEPCO.

F. T. Dunham, local manager of PE in Taneytown, said the bulk power line will enable both companies to take advantage of seasonal load demands and will increase reserve capabilities of both. Peak demand in the Washington metropolitan area served by PEPCO occurs during the summer air-conditioning season, he explained, and occurs in the PE system during the winter.

A new peak demand was established in the PE area December 19.

The local manager also emphasized that the interconnection will help PE "hold the line" on electric rates.

Steel towers carry the line eight miles from PE's half-million-dollar substation at Doubts to the Dickerson generating plant. They are the first steel towers used for a major transmission project in the PE system.

Most of the line has been constructed for double circuit. Initially, however, only one 230,000-volt circuit is being used.

An existing 138,000-volt line from Millville, W. Va., to Frederick, was connected with the new Doubts substation.

The link with PEPCO, the local manager pointed out, provides another interconnection between the Allegheny Power System companies and utility systems in the east. PE is a subsidiary of APS.

Nearly half the North American continent was tied together last year through a series of interconnections. Seven of these were built by APS companies—three by PE and four by West Penn Power Company.

All of these interconnections, Dunham pointed out, enable electric utility companies to benefit from economies gained by generating electrical energy close to the source of coal or other fuel. They also enable the utilities to use excess power not needed in other areas, he added.

MARCH OF DIMES

"The children are waiting for your answer," Mrs. Gladys M. Wimert, chairman of the Carroll County March of Dimes declared recently.

She was reminding county residents to respond generously to the March of Dimes mail appeal sent out earlier this month.

"More than 250,000 of our babies are born each year with significant birth defects," she said. In addition, there are the 11 million Americans—children and adults—who suffer from arthritis and other disabling rheumatic diseases, Mrs. Wimert said.

"Whether these people receive the medical care necessary to give them a chance for a nearly normal life could depend on your support of the March of Dimes," she said.

She pointed out that improved techniques of treatment for victims of arthritis and birth defects are being developed at a network of nearly 70 March of Dimes treatment centers around the nation.

"Eventual adoption of these treatment methods in other areas will thus benefit many more patients than could be reached directly through the March of Dimes Center program," she explained.

Mrs. Wimert added that funds are also needed to support March of Dimes research in birth defects and arthritis, and for continued assistance to polio victims.

"I hope that every one in Carroll County who has not yet returned his March of Dimes envelope will do it today so that those important programs continue," Mrs. Wimert said.

FARMERS FILING REQUIREMENTS

Farmers earning at least two-thirds of their 1963 gross income from agriculture should file their estimated 1963 Federal income tax returns, Forms 1040-ES, on or before Wednesday, January 15, 1964, according to Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia. However, such estimate need not be filed if the farmer files his final return on Form 1040 and pays in full any tax due by February 17, 1964.

"Farmer's Tax Guide," which furnishes more detailed information on this subject, is available upon request from your local Internal Revenue office.

Color in the home

By: Jacqueline McConaughy, Color Stylist

LIGHT, bright, and easy to clean—that's what a child's room should be.

Paint can do wonders in achieving that ideal, and a wise choice of painting materials and colors can help keep it that way.

Color, for example, can do a lot more than just look nice. It can reflect the personality of the child—bright, even daring, shades to complement the lively, gregarious personality—softer, more restful shades on the light blue or beige side for the quiet, contemplative personality. And it can help control the light in the room, with the lighter colors being used to brighten or even create the illusion of more space in the room, and the darker colors softening excessive window light or making a too large room seem smaller and cozier.

Don't be bound to a single color on the walls in all cases. Try painting three of the walls in one color and the fourth in a complementary color. If the wall color is a very light one, you might even create a pleasant new atmosphere by painting the ceiling in the same light color, rather than the traditional white or off-white.

Equally important is the type of paint to be used in a child's bedroom, particularly if the child is a toddler or still at the age when any wall within reach offers a handy drawing surface. A water-emulsion type of paint, such as "Lucite" wall paint, is especially useful because it's easily applied with either brush or roller, gives a smooth appearance, leaves no lap marks, and dries fast with little odor. Brushes and rollers wash out in soapy water when the job's done, any spills can be wiped up quickly and easily with a sponge, and once the paint cures for about 30 days, it provides a tough surface from which crayon and pencil marks can be removed easily.
