"Peace thru Understanding"—this is the theme of the New York World's Fair. The 72 students of THS who visited the fair on Tuesday, May 5, were impressed with the many beautiful pavilions and exhibits which various countries, states, and industries have established as their part in presenting the theme. As stated on one of the many souvenir booklets, "the Fair is dedicated to man's achievements in an expanding universe, his inventions, discoveries, arts, skills, and aspirations." This statement indicates in part the wide and varied sights at the fabulous Fair.

Since the Taneytown students divided into several groups at the Fair, not everyone saw the same things. One of the most interesting exhibits was the Bell Telephone pavilion. This pavilion contains one of the most enjoyable "rides" at the Fair. An escalator carries you up to a small platform where you are seated in a large straight-back chair which, like other chairs of the same type, are moving on a conveyor-type belt. Seated in this chair you go up into the main part of the pavilion. There are ear phones in your chair which relate the fascinating story of the evolution of man's communication as you glide past scenes of man from earliest time to the present and into the future. As this "ride" ends, you enter an exhibit of the specific research Bell Telephone is doing in the communications field. This contains many "things-to-do" such as acting as an operator at an imaginary switchboard and listening to tapes over telephones.

Some of the other exhibits visited were the General Electric pavilion, the Swiss Sky Ride, the Mormon pavilion, the West Berlin pavilion, the Ford pavilion, the Maryland pavilion, and the General Motors pavilion. Many saw but didn't enter the Hollywood pavilion, the New York State pavilion and the Monorail.

The immense size of this fabulous Fair is almost unbelievable. From the Sinner Bowl near the Fair's entrance to the Monorail on the opposite side of the highway which runs through the Fair, huge pavilions and exhibits are bounded by paved walkways and "streets." Everywhere there are throngs of people and Greyhound carts. Souvenir stands dot the area and lend a gay carnival atmosphere to the scene. Certainly the New York World's Fair 1964-65 is one everyone will talk about and enjoy.

Two Taneytown High School students have been selected to represent Carroll County in the Maryland State Chorus which will perform at the MSTA meetings in October of this year. The quota of students to enter the chorus from Carroll County is only five and Taneytown is privileged to have two entries—Gale Crabbs, soprano I, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Crabbs, George Street, and Deborah Wiley, alto II, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. William Wiley, West Baltimore Street. Auditions at which the students were chosen were held at Levine Hall, Westminster, April 27. Mrs. Fern Hitchcock judged the contestants.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)
With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

"AROUND THE TOWN"

The day was a delightful one for the drive up to Taneytown. I stopped by to pick up a friend of many years — to enjoy the drive and the Spring flowers such as the Forsythia, the creeping Phlox, the Pansies and the lovely Magnolias. As we neared the town, what to my wondering eyes did I see but that Dougherty's Store, just as grand as could be! In fact, I did not dream it was going to be quite that large. My friend and I walked through it and she kept repeating, "Why this is better than any Food Store or Acme Market!" I waved after congratulating the Mr. and Mrs. which meant that I would be back, for frankly I could not resist what I saw right there!

We went up to the Taney Inn for lunch and again met Mr. Albaugh (that man with a sweet disposition) and had a nice chat and a grand lunch. Everyone made me feel so at home and welcomed me back as I had been away on a long voyage. It made me feel good! In fact when I called upon Mr. Zentz he said, "My wife and I were just talking about you a few hours ago!" And it made me wish that I was right there again!

My friend kept marveling at the cleanliness of the town and I do hope the Mayor reads this and the Chamber of Commerce for they are back of that little town, I know. Just keep doing things and upkeeping it all.
I drove around to all the familiar places several miles out of the town in different directions and I would have loved to have stopped to see many more individuals in their homes. By then it was 3:30. Back we went to Dougherty's and shopped and that night came home and cooked the best piece of sliced ham that I ever tasted which I had cut off from half a ham that I purchased right there, ummmmmmm good! That little wife in there surely is a worker and is a great, great help to the other half! Then of course I could not resist before leaving the town to stop and get a kiss from Mr. Baumgardner and that was delicious, as I observed the ice cream was thicker than the former fluffy made "Twin Kiss!"

In Westminster, I stopped by at "Your Hairdresser who used to trim my hair and she is as sweet as ever and just as pleasingly plump. I happened to glance across the street and there I saw a "Goodwill Store!" Was I surprised when I entered! There was the most beautiful line of good used clothing that was equal to a brand new store. Such order and system! I saw also what I call a real Antique. A shaving stand, they used to call it and was amazed at the small price of $4.50! That is always placed upon a chest of drawers. Has a mirror of course that one can tilt in any direction plus the drawer to keep the shaving materials. I have not seen one in sometime. A sweet little lady came toward me who is a second "Spring Bynington" and said, "Are you, Mrs. Love?" I replied that I was and she stated she had met me years ago! Well, that would make anyone feel good, folks! Eh? But with all the compliments I told her that I had several mirrors in my home and I think you know just what I mean.

How homesick I am for that wonderful Carroll County, folks you and you will never know! However, I do so want to come up again before the warm weather and I mean hot weather strikes. That will be a beautiful day in May when I will come up in the morning and remain all day.

There is something about the very atmosphere that "Love" exists between all of you. Just keep it that way, in fact, try each and every day of giving more to each other so as that little town and the surrounding parts can boast of the love shown one another which even a stranger will observe as soon as he or she comes to visit.

Have a grand week-end. Hope to be seeing you in the merry month of May, D.V.

I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

And a P.S. — For a real treat go to any Read's stores and enjoy Maryland Fried Chicken. "All You Want to Eat" for 99¢! Ummmmmm good! Some chicken at Lexington and Howard Street.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson says: "What are the fundamental principles which have allowed the United States to progress so rapidly and yet remain free? First, a written Constitution clearly defining the limits of government so that government will not become more powerful than the people. Second, an economic system characterized by: Free enterprise—the right to venture, the right to choose. Private property—the right to own, develop and enjoy. A market economy—the right to exchange and to profit."

According to an article in Saga magazine written by a retired Army officer, 389 American servicemen captured by Communist Chinese and North Korean forces during the Korean War are still imprisoned in Russia and Red China. It is charged that the U.S. government has done nothing to obtain the freedom of these men since the Korean truce of 11 years ago.

Railroads have multiplied their shipments of new motor vehicles from factories to dealers by five times in the last five years, the Association of American Railroads reports. Using new equipment and deep freight rate cuts, the rails hauled 2,521,000 of the vehicles in 1963, a postwar high for such shipments by rail.

Chain Store Age states that the drug chain industry has weathered the worst of a three-year competitive hurricane and now looks forward to record sales and improved profits. This year's sales are forecast at $4.02 billion—a rise of 6.8 per cent over last year.

The American Gas Association contends that "As American as apple pie" may be less true than "As American as love apple soup." AGA says that love apple soup is one of the many authentic American regional dishes being served in the Festival of Gas Pavilion at the New York World's Fair.

A plan to facilitate the closing of the New York Stock Exchange in national emergencies has been approved by its Board of Governors. The Exchange's rules have been amended to permit a three-man committee consisting of the Chairman of the Board, the Vice Chairman and the senior Floor Governor, on a majority vote "to suspend trading in all securities whenever in their opinion such suspension would be in the national interest."

Railroads in 1963 hauled about 2.4 billion tons of freight a total of 622 billion ton-miles. This represents about 43 per cent of all freight moved between U.S. cities. And the average ton of freight was moved 460 miles by railroads at a cost of less than 1½ cents a mile. This figure is no more today than it was in 1948, even though consumer prices in this period have risen by over 30 per cent.

Ralph T. Moore writes in the Oregon Voter: "The very bigness of monopolistic labor may well prove its eventual undoing. It has been gradually built-up via politically approved monopoly until almost its every act collides with the public interest which demands the dedicated continuity of labor service to the public. This raises the immediate issue of who is to be boss, the public or the labor union which is supposed to serve it. And when that issue arises it doesn't take a political clairvoyant to predict the winner as the general public."

A bale an acre, long the goal of cotton producers, was finally achieved in 1963 for the first time since production records started to be kept 97 years ago.

Of course you do. We suggest that you consider the Purina controlled feeding plan for these reasons:

1. Helps you lower cost about $12 per 100 pullets grown, according to Purina Research Farm tests.
2. Grows a leaner, slower-developing pullet that lays more eggs and larger eggs when she comes into production.
3. Grows a hardy bird that lives better under the strain of heavy production.

The Purina Plan is easy to follow. Ask us about it before your chicks are 8 weeks old.

The colors were blue and white and the quilting was done at the Hillsdale Club House. A travel film, "Holiday in Hawaii," was also shown in the morning session. After lunch and group singing, there was a skit about Rural Women's Short Course and Mrs. David Watkins, a member of the Keysville-Detour Club, won the award of a free scholarship. Due to a death in the family, the Rev. Nevin Smith of Hanover was unable to attend the meeting, but Pastor Chester Bill of the Washington Grove Methodist Church very ably filled in for him and showed slides of his recent trip to Europe. Many in this area will know Pastor Bill for he did his practice teaching in Johnsville. He was on a tour which took him into twenty countries, but time did not permit him to show them all on Thursday afternoon. Many thanks to him for pinch-hitting on such short notice.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bushey were Sunday evening visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide of Keysville. Mrs. Bushey and Mrs. Wilhide are cousins. Children's Day will be observed at the Keysville United Church of Christ

Truly sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Merle Ohler of Taneytown this Tuesday morning, and we extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Ohler during this sad time for her. Mr. Ohler was well-known in the area as former owner of the Chevrolet Garage on the Emmitsburg Road and for the taking of numerous slides which he very generously shared with others. It will interest many of you to know that visiting hours at Western Maryland Hospital after both afternoon and evening now on Saturdays: 2 to 4 and 7 to 8 P. M. The new house at Terra Rubra is moving right along. It will be a big ranch-type house with separate 2-car garage.

The dogwood along Keysville Road between Sixes Bridge Road and Keysville was at its peak this past week-end and truly beautiful. The creeping phlox at the William Weishaar home on Forest and Stream Club Road is open "in all its glory" and everyone seems to have the brightest and prettiest tulips in all colors. Iris is beginning to make a show and the peonies are loaded with buds.

"May Day in Union Bridge" was presented by the Elmer A. Wolfe School in conjunction with the monthly P-TA meeting on Wednesday, May 6. Miss Sherrie Stitley was crowned May Queen by the principal, Mr. Peron. Doris Gorsuch and Sherie Hyde, looking like elves, introduced each part of the program which was about various groups who make up the town of Union Bridge. Easily the star of the show was Gregg Clabaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clabaugh of Detour, who stole the show as Mayor William A. Patriotic Salute was presented by 4th grades, Mrs. Welty and Mrs. Sloop, teachers; School Days, by 1st grade—Mrs. Dougherty; Sewing, by 3rd grade—Mrs. Smith; The Cement Plant, 6th grade—Mr. Blubaugh; The Farmers and Feed Companies, 2nd grade—Mrs. Niswander; The Firemen, 1st grade—Mrs. Arnold; The Meat Packers, 3rd grade—Mrs. Greene; The Western Maryland R. R., 2nd grade—Mrs. Pohlhaus; The Community Center, 6th grade—Mrs. West. Mayor (Gregg) William presented a potted plant to Mrs. Shriver, who was an honor guest for the occasion, as a token of thanks for her generous part in the Community Center. This was a fine program and very well done, thanks to a lot of hard work on the part of all the teachers and each and every child who had part in it. It is my understanding that the script was written by Mr. Bankert, 5th grade teacher, whose class presented Greetings to Union Bridge to begin the evening.

—Dharlys Fleharty.

FAIRVIEW

Last Thursday a man pulled up in front of my home in a blue or green pick-up truck with a tank built into the bed of the truck & asked to clean our septic tank. I told him we had none, he then asked to clean our outside one but I refused, therefore, I did not ask his name and apparently the same one called on another family last Saturday. He insisted on looking into their septic tank, and in finding it full but not running over, told them all sorts of things until they consented to let him clean it. They asked the price and he said, he would treat them fair and do a good job for them and he could not give a price until it was finished, as he was charged by the pound. When he said he was finished he told them it was 4,000 pounds and it would cost $120. He would not give his name and he would not accept a check. Nor would he say where he was from. I am writing this in the hopes it will not affect our local men who do a good and honest job, but if they will not tell where they are from or reveal their names, have nothing to do with them. It is hard to trust any one you don't know, as they could give a false name and address. This man did not clean the tank all out, he left 1/4 of it in.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Selby entertained to dinner on Sunday the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Baker, Shirley Elyer and Hazel Frizzell. Other visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hahn and son, Richard, Claude Baker and Mr. Richard Ohler.

There were special instrumental numbers presented by Johnny Zent and Douglas Gross, and a selection was played on the song flutes by Sheila Zent, Susan Miller, Dinah Bollinger, Diane Bollinger, Susan McKinney and Kim Austin.

Rev. William Hendricks showed slides describing the work that is being done in various countries by missionaries whom these Good News Club children help to support.

Refreshments were served to 34 children. These clubbers, as well as others from Carroll County attended a rally Sunday afternoon, May 10, in the Westminster High School when "Aunt Betty" Worrall, a ventriloquist, was featured.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports

Leon Wagner, now with the Cleveland Indians, has made no secret of the fact that he is mighty happy to get away from Chavez Ravine in Los Angeles. Wagner played in all of the home games there last year as a member of the Los Angeles Angels, who use the Dodger Park.

Wagner has nothing but harsh things to say about Chavez Ravine, both from the viewpoint of a hitter and a fielder. He says it favors only one type of player, the punch hitter who can get the ball through the infield. The fences are too far away for a swing-from-the-heels type like Wagner, and he doesn't like either the fast turf of the outfield or the hard-packed clay of the infield.

Says Leon: "It's a tough park for outfielders because of its size and the hard terrain. A ball that should be a single gets through for a triple on that hard ground. And when a fielder makes a throw that comes in on a bounce the ball will jump right over the infielders' head."

The Angels traded Wagner to the Indians this winter in a deal that saw Barry Latman and Joe Adcock go to Los Angeles. Wagner was happy about the deal. It means he only has to play nine games in Chavez Ravine. He thinks the Cleveland Municipal Stadium, where the Tribe play their home games, will suit him fine. He also thinks the Indians will make a bid for the pennant. Says Leon: "Don't worry about this club. There are some fellows on the team who haven't awakened to the fact they have a good ball club. Wait until we win 6 or 7 in a row. That may wake them up and we'll be on our way."

Talk is cheap and advice is twice as cheap—unless you're getting it from a lawyer or a psychiatrist. Bernie Allen, the second baseman of the Minnesota Twins, listened to all the advice he could stand last year when caught up in a terrible batting slump. When the advisers began to dish it out again this spring, Allen called a halt. He made up his mind to listen to nobody, to do things his own way. At last look his own way was getting results.

Bernie went to the bench last June suffering from a .190 batting average. He didn't get his job back until August, and from there to the wire he batted well enough to finish with an average of .240. Nothing much to cheer about there, but the rally, if continued this summer, will give him a much more comfortable average.

Manager Sam Mele made one change in Allen's batting style this spring, and this bit of advice Bernie listened to. Mele asked Allen to move in closer to the plate. This was designed to make him more aggressive. There were times when he had to swing at the ball in self defense. Mele thinks it will add many points to Allen's batting average this season. Allen had a fight on his hands this spring to keep his job. Johnny Goryl, a hustling utility infielder, looked so good that it seemed he might win the job at second base. But Allen began to hit better, and he also began to field better. He was wheeling and dealing on the double play. If he has a good season in the field it may do a lot for the Minnesota pitching staff. In fact, with all the power they have, the Twins probably would settle for a big year in the field and a fair season at the plate from Allen.

You can't seriously talk about a rookie of the year in either league at least until All-Star time. But the Boston Red Sox think they have a hot candidate for the award in the American League. His name, of course, is Tony Conigliaro, the sensation of the spring training season who is only 19 years old but who is playing center field for the Sox. Tony has plenty of muscle. He hit a home run in Boston a while back and some of the fans who saw it claim it hasn't come down yet.

He is not awed by playing big league baseball. In his first game he complained to the umpire behind the plate at the Yankee Stadium, charging that Whitey Ford, one of the great pitchers of baseball, was throwing a spitter. Tony wasn't able to back up his charge but that didn't stop him from making it. Tony may have set some kind of record in being fined by manager Johnny Pesky before he even played in a big league game. He drew a ten dollar assessment for missing the bus which took the team to the ball park.

Tony only graduated from high school in Lynn, Mass., last June and after accepting a bonus of $40,000 from the Red Sox spent the rest of the summer playing for Wellsville of the New York-Pennsylvania League. He looked great but nobody really expected him to jump all the way to the majors this spring. He may yet be sent down for more seasoning but he may also be one of those naturals who can't do anything wrong—not even by accusing Whitey Ford of throwing a spitter.

Remember When Dept. — Clint "Scrap Iron" Courtney was caught inserting nails in his bat, so desperate was he to knock the ears off the Yankees. It was 1954.

Today's Sport Laugh — Boston Red Sox first baseman Dick Stuart is not regarded as one of the best fielders in the league. In the course of an after dinner speech this winter, Stuart remarked: "Behind every successful man there is a strong woman." A voice from the back of the room commented: "If there's one behind you, she better have a good fielder's glove."

Take A Stand

Lesson for May 17, 1964

Background Scriptures: Proverbs 23:29-35; Matthew 18:1-14; Romans 13:11 through 14:23.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 40:1-8.

THE BIBLE was written in a simpler era than ours. Many people would think the Bible world ideal. At least it would seem like a world which lacked many of what are now often considered sources of human evils. It was a rural world; in Palestine there were comparatively few cities and none that would be recognized as such today. It was a world where alcoholic drinks were everywhere used

Dr. Foreman even by the best people. It was a time before the invention of whiskey and other beverages high in alcoholic content. Drinking was confined to wines and beer or their equivalent. It was an age without motor cars or machinery, a leisurely hand-crafting age. Yet even in that world, the writers of the Bible had something to say about drinking. The point of all this is: If alcoholic drinks were known to be dangerous in a simple rural world, how much more dangerous it can be in our complex civilization!

The speed of the problem

There was once a stage magician who used to say over and over as he was doing his stuff, "It's the speed of the problem and not the problem itself." Something like that is true of the world we live in. This has a great deal to do with the alcohol problem. For instance: Time was when men would gather in taverns or at parties, just as they do today; and some of them would get drunk, as many do today. But when the party was over, in the good old days the friends of the man who had had too much would dump him into his wagon and get the horses started. That animal knew his way home and (being sober) knew enough not to speed. (Did you ever hear of horses organizing a race meet by themselves?) But nowadays—whoosh!!! That noise you heard was the sound of our friend who was just telling us that one more drink couldn't do any harm. He took off in his high-powered car and he's likely to be a statistic by morning. There's nothing funny about this. It happens. Now the stories reported don't always tell the whole truth; but the police will tell you if you ask them that alcohol figures in many smash-ups on the highways.

Why men drink

It is said often that the real problem is not drinking itself, but in the question: What drives men to create for themselves a drinking problem? Again the speed of our civilization has something to do with it. The intensity of competition, tension on the highways, tensions at home, the sense of being pushed all the time, get on a man's nerves and he starts to drink just a little more and a little oftener than he would have otherwise; and the first thing he knows, he not only has all the worries that pushed him at the outset, but he has the alcohol problem besides. Every problem drinker you find is (perhaps unconsciously) expressing hate and contempt for the kind of civilization he is forced to live in. Rather than contribute to it or to work for a better kind of life, he tells the world a rude, crude farewell, all he thinks of is to get out. So he takes the route of temporary suicide. There's no essential difference between a man who seeks refuge in alcohol and one who seeks refuge in opium or marijuana.

Well, somebody says, you are talking about alcoholics. Yes, and more besides. Alcoholism—if we call it a disease—is a disease more widely spread than any other disease in America except three and the number of alcoholics is increasing yearly.

Adventure whispered in the wind and Glenn Robert, age five, heard its call. "Of course," his mother said, "you can go up to Marky's to play. Be home around lunchtime," she called after him.

But lunchtime passed. Glenn's mother went out and looked up toward Mark's house. There was no sign of Glenn. She called Mark's mother, "I thought they went back to your house." Two more phone calls—no one had seen him. Could some stranger...?

She pushed the thought from her mind and quickly dialed another of Glenn's kindergarten friends, this one on Hollow Road, many streets away. "Yes, he's here. Hold on, I'll get him."

Problems have a way of disappearing when you lift your phone.

Glenn's mother hung up the phone and smiled; the adventurer was on his way home.
