WITH THE ARMED FORCES

USS EUGENE A. GREENE (DD-711) (PHTNC) January 19 — Seaman Apprentice Wayne E. Putman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Putman of Taneytown, Md., was a member of the task force which recovered the unmanned Gemini-Titan II space capsule January 19 while serving aboard the destroyer USS Eugene A. Greene in the Atlantic. The anti-submarine aircraft carrier USS Lake Champlain made the actual pickup of the capsule.

His ship was part of a task force of 11 ships, 40 aircraft and more than 4,800 Navy men trained for the recovery of the space capsule.

First reports from the Lake Champlain indicated the capsule completed the flight in excellent condition.

The successful flight of the Gemini capsule paves the way for manned orbital flights in similar capsules later this year.

"SWIMMING is America's number one participation sport!" declares Curt Coull, Director of Aquatic Activities at Gettysburg College, to the young people attending the Youth Rally for the Pool held Saturday evening in the high school gymnasium. Although the rain forced cancellation of the bonfire and parade, the Rally was held to give students of the area an opportunity to show their interest in the pool project.

WHY TANEYTOWN SHOULD HAVE A SWIMMING POOL

MAURICE FEESER — Grade 7 St. Joseph School
Sister Marie Louise

In past years Taneytown has not had any other place of recreation but Memorial Park. Now Taneytown may soon have a swimming pool. The swimming pool will not only be a place for healthy recreation but it will also bring in a steady income to the town. Here are some of the reasons "Why Taneytown Should Have A Swimming Pool."

I think Taneytown should have a swimming pool because it would make it easier for the children of Taneytown to acquire swimming lessons. In past years the children of Taneytown have had to travel to Meadowview Pool for lessons. The new pool will reduce the cost of swimming lessons by cutting out the bus fare.

Another reason to have the pool is to get swimmers to swim at a pool with a lifeguard, rather than swimming where there is no lifeguard such as Natural Dam. The new pool would make a safer place for children to swim where the depth is known, where at Natural Dam the actual depth is not known. In past years children have drowned at Natural Dam, but at the new pool, with lifeguards that should never happen.

Another good use for the pool would be for winter sports. The same pool used for swimming in the Summer could also be used for ice skating in the Winter. This would give the people a place to enjoy Winter sports.

These are the reasons I think Taneytown should have a swimming pool. Of course there are many, many more reasons. I hope to see you in the new "Taneytown Swimming Pool."

Kiwanis Hear Social Security Administration Speaker

Mr. Albert H. Barouh, Field Representative for Carroll County, of the Social Security Administration, was the speaker. His talk was supplemented by a visual aid projection. A spirited question and answer period followed with good audience participation. Mr. Barouh is an accomplished after dinner speaker, he knows his subject thoroughly, his answers to individual questions were clear and concise. Program chairman E. Elwood Baumgardner, was responsible for securing this good program.

Five members of the Gettysburg Kiwanis Club, Robert Snyder, Don Weaver, Arthur Warman, Albert Young and Frank Noble paid us an inter-club visit. J. Alfred Helibriddle was a guest of Charles Stonesifer. Alan Laird a member of Key Club was a guest, along with S. E. Corbin, faculty advisor to the Key Club.

TWO LETTERS FROM ANNAPOLIS

Senator Weant and Delegate Yingling

January 22, 1965

This is the first of a series of weekly reports to be made by your correspondent on the deliberation of the Maryland General Assembly which convened in Annapolis on Wednesday, January 20th. Your reporter, along with the Carroll County members of the House of Delegates, Thomas R. O'Farrell, Wilbur W. Magin, William B. Dulany and Jacob M. Yingling, were on hand for the opening meeting.

This Session is the first 70-day Session in the history of the Maryland General Assembly. The 70-day period was established by a Constitutional Amendment adopted by the voters at the last General Election. It changed the past practice of having 90-day Sessions in odd years and 30-day Sessions in even years. It also removed the restriction that existed on the 30-day Sessions wherein matters of only State-wide Implication could be considered. During the new 70-day Sessions any type of legislation, State-wide and local, can be considered.

The first bills which will be considered grow out of the studies made by the Legislative Council during the time between the last Session of the General Assembly and the opening of this Session. The first day saw the Introduction of some 43 House Bills and 44 Senate Bills. Since that time, an avalanche of legislation has been put in the "hopper." Among these bills are those designed to remove obsolete material in the Carroll County Local Laws and to bring them up to date for the purpose of codification. This procedure will allow for the publication of the Local Laws of Carroll County in a single volume. This is the first time that this has been done since 1930.

Among the more important matters to be considered by the Legislators are, of course, the State Budget, bills for Code Compendium, Limitations on Campaign Expenses, Filing Fees for Candidates at Elections, Slot Machines, Reapportionment of the Houses of the General Assembly, Redistricting of the Congressional Districts of the State and Installment Sales and Revolving Credit.

As has been our practice in the past, we will attempt to report on those matters that we think will be of particular interest to the readers of this paper. However, it is obviously impossible for us to cover all of the matters to be considered during this 70-day Session.

If any of our readers desire copies of specific bills, the undersigned or any of the members of the House of Delegates will be happy to furnish copies of same upon request.

E. O. Weant, Jr.,
State Senator for Carroll County.

Delegate Jacob M. Yingling (R, Carroll) today called for "energetic bipartisan support" of an administrative proposal to increase penalties for failure to provide proper safeguards for workmen.

"There have been eight deaths on construction jobs in Maryland during the past year, three of them in Carroll County," Mr. Yingling said. "Supervisors in such jobs should be made aware of the necessity of providing the greatest margin of safety possible for workmen."

Increasing the penalties, he added, would be a "step in the right direction."

Such legislation has been prepared for introduction in the current 70-day session of the General Assembly. It was prepared by the office of Attorney General Thomas B. Finan in cooperation with Commissioner of Labor and Industry Henry Miller and his staff.

It would, in effect, sharply increase fines and terms of imprisonment for violation of the industrial safety code.

"Men engaged in heavy labor, particularly construction jobs," Mr. Yingling said, "deserve to be protected against injury and if the lower fines and terms of imprisonment are not sufficient to insure such protection, then the penalties must be stiffened."

"Republicans and Democrats alike should join in an energetic bipartisan effort to pass this measure as quickly as possible so that danger of tragedy on construction jobs will be lowered."

Churchill Dies

Sir Winston Churchill, the greatest Englishman of modern times, died Sunday morning at No. 28 Hyde Park Gate, the London house in which he lived since retiring from the premiership in 1955. Two months past his 90th birthday, he had suffered a stroke nine days before.

Officially representing the United States at the State Funeral on Saturday will be Dean Rusk, Secretary of State; Chief Justice Warren, and David E. K. Bruce, American Ambassador to London.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, a good friend of Sir Winston during World War II, will also attend. President Johnson, despite a "substantial recovery" from a severe cold that hospitalized him for three and one-half days, heeding his doctor's advice, will be unable to attend the funeral.

The secret of financial success is to spend what you have left after saving, instead of saving what is left after spending.

The great man is he who does not lose his child's heart.—Mencius.

'SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE' (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near and so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Hope there were many Teen-agers listening to the discussion on TV why the parents do not want the sons and daughters to learn to drive until they are EIGHTEEN instead of SIXTEEN!

How crude it was when the recording, "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life!" was being sung by Jeanette Mac Donald as her body was being carried out after the funeral services! Never have I had anything to upset me as that did! Then, I wondered whose idea that was and felt the Executive should have stated, "Oh, no!" The other day, I met the most charming lady of just 87 years of age who appeared no more than 60! She has lived in one sweet little home since her marriage late in life and that house is truly fitted up and kept beautiful as any bride's. As I studied this little lady, I finally asked her if she had a method in her life to be so alert, slim, ambitious and much else and then I added, "I think that you must eat very little!" To this she smiled and said, "That is truly my secret as I think that everyone eats too much!" She does all her own housework, too!

And thinking of people — Betcha — that the next President of these United States will be our Vice President — that go-getter — Mr. Humphrey! He truly is after that big chair in that White House! He is a real salesman! Have you tasted the fine curd of Cottage Cheese by Castle Farms Ummmmmm as good! They have three textures, very large, medium and fine. You will never buy any other brand.

And thinking about something to eat these cold days. Why not make a delicious English Lamb Stew? Be sure you get the tender lamb for that is the secret of a good stew and not Mutton! Add many cut up onions, parsley, celery, plus the carrots and potatoes and just before you serve, add a box of frozen peas. Make the dumplings at the same time but do not overcook those just steam them through so as they will be tender but this must be done of course with the lid on which takes about 5 minutes.

Our President for his Inaugural speech was the most modest and filled with simplicity of any President, previously. He seems to be a religious man, too. Am wondering who suggested those Contact lenses for him for they surely don't do one thing for him. His eye lids are so swollen and puffy looking, he is squinting most of the time and that means so many unnecessary added wrinkles; all summed up makes anyone look older.

I know a girl who is wearing them and one day she dropped them in the soup and another time in the gutter and several other places. Ugh! Another girl, a daughter of my friend went to the expense of purchasing them and they remain in the bureau drawer at all times!

Well, that Walt Disney has surely done it again with his play, "Mary Poppins" at the "Mayfair." If you read all when I saw "Wobby" I wrote in this Column that the show was not just for children but for adults, too and it is the same with "Mary Poppins" for the adults will eat it up just as well as their offspring! There is an excellent cast even to the Co-Stars. The imagination and plot is right there for anyone to enjoy and it is a delightful musical. What more would you desire? The delightful lead—Miss Julie Andrews but she is so versatile and can sing, dance and much else. You will love it from start to finish so don't miss it! The nice part is that you really feel gay as you leave the show—so now you know!

Have a grand week-end. Do make someone else happy! Until next week D. V.

I am,
Faithfully,

"FACTS AND OPINIONS"

Writing on the subject of urban renewal, Washington correspondent Patrick Fox says: "A Harvard Ph. D. studied the program and discovered that far more people have lost homes than gained them through urban renewal, because the program destroys far more dwellings than it creates. He discovered that the claim that urban renewal increases tax revenues certainly hasn't been borne out in the short run, because urban renewal projects take ten or a dozen years to complete, and no taxes at all get paid ordinarily during that period."

According to an article in U. S. News & World Report, U. S. spy satellites are continually photographing missile sites, factories, submarine pens and other installations in communist countries. Amazing advances have been made in cameras. One, says the magazine, can take detailed pictures of the Kremlin roof from a height of 300 miles.

From The Wall Street Journal: "A free economy and society expands the opportunities for all its members but leaves it largely to them to decide what they will do about it. This is the antithesis of the present sociological approach, which regards the poor as a segregated class; either they must be dragged out of their poverty by mechanical Government programs or else maintained in their poverty by the rest of society. Since there are always those only too willing to live at the expense of others, that approach may only swell the ranks of the shiftless and help perpetuate poverty."

An oil marketer who checked up on the fire safety and traffic safety records of service stations in his community found that things were even better than he had imagined. According to Oil Facts, he learned that the state fire rating bureau, which sets insurance rates for all kinds of buildings, regards service stations as safer than churches, schools, private homes, restaurants, grocery stores and doctors' offices.

An editorial in the Rocky Mountain Journal says: "Recently a major American pharmaceutical firm was successful in suing a former employee for selling secrets of research and production of an antibiotic to an Italian drug manufacturer — however, not until long after the Italian firm, whose research and development costs had thus been paid by the American competitor, had underbid the same firm in a large sale of this drug back to the United States government. . . . Vigorous protests by many persons and organizations are now being made against purchases by our government of foreign drugs produced on the basis of formulae and methods stolen from ethical American manufacturers."

More than a billion dollars have been invested by the railroads to provide modern mail handling equipment and facilities — ranging from the familiar Railway Post Office cars to elaborate terminal conveyor systems, monitored by television and the latest electronic aids. The railroads carry each year the greatest single segment of the nation's mail load of some 70 billion pieces. For moving each first-class letter, they receive an average of less than one-half a cent.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover writes: "Cold, deliberate defiance of the law must be met with realistic action, whether the offender is a juvenile or an adult. But, too frequently, realism has given way to false sentiment where teen-agers are involved. Under the pretext of rehabilitation, far too many young thugs have been released prematurely to continue preying upon society. Pampering, overprotection, fawning indulgence — these set a pattern of weakness which breeds contempt for the law and for those charged with the administration of justice."

"BUILD WHILE YOU LIVE"

OUR 59th YEAR

SKYWAY TO INFINITY

It all begins in a strange, primeval land. Volcanic eruptions herald the coming of Man. Cave man's development gives way to the breathtaking Space City, an awesome view of scientific wonders. "Time tunnels" in the Ford Wonder Rotunda at the New York World's Fair whisk passengers in new convertibles from the dawn of history to the threshold of tomorrow in minutes! At the end of the "Magic Skyway" created by Walt Disney, there are five dynamic "Adventures in Science." The sounds of a yet-to-be-named galaxy can be heard, and scale models of a sky-scanner and the command stations built for our projected Gemini and Apollo manned rocket flights are on display. Another "Adventure" gives an insight into the workings of a computer system. Yet another demonstrates the tremendous power of laser beams. There's an infinity of wonders in the World's Fair exhibit!

Masterpieces of MILITARY DECEPTION

The sloop "Sally," its warlike character completely disguised, won the captured English ship "Sandwich," from the French during the French Naval War in 1800. About 90 marines and sailors were transferred from the famous "Constitution," and the "Sally" then boldly sailed into Puerto Plata Harbor, Santo Domingo. The fighting force hid below, so that the French were taken completely unawares.

At first glance, Ideal Toy's Phantom Raider is as innocent a ship as the "Sally." But when the "Battle Stations" horn sounds, the entire vessel expands, bringing hidden armaments into "ready" position. Three giant hatches swing open with missiles, "ash cans," rockets, all of which can be harmlessly fired.

Monster Lab, a hilarious battle of spooky suspense, is another favorite new toy. The idea is to send the unpredictable Monster to the other player's end of the Lab. Just when you think you're about to win . . . look out, he's back stalking you. The panic hits a climax when the monster reaches either end and his mask flies off to reveal a startling, unearthly face.

All About Dogs

Superstitions

Your dog's ancestors have been symbols of both good and evil, equally feared and worshipped since the first primitive man possessed a dog.

Characteristic canine loyalty to their masters first caused men to attribute supernatural power to dogs. Because the first dogs drove away strangers and repelled both real and imagined enemies, says Tex Fawcett, of Purina Pet Care Center, St. Louis, Mo.

If you owned a white dog in ancient times you were considered lucky; if your dog was black you were pitied. In fact, in many societies black dogs were put to death as symbols of evil.

A Welsh legend says that if a black dog comes near the house of a dying man his soul is destined for eternal torment; a white dog's visit meant that his soul would be saved. It is still a common belief in many areas that a dog's howl is the herald of death.

Despite the many evil omens, most early peoples considered the dog a symbol of good and a protector of men. Romans used mosaic or painted dogs near the entrances of their houses to ward off evil.

One common belief today is that good luck will come with a friendly stray dog.

As in ancient times, men can look to dogs to detect a friend or an enemy.

CBS Head Urges Press Code in Covering Trials

PHILADELPHIA—Dr. Frank Stanton, President of the Columbia Broadcasting System, urges the creation of a national "code of fair practices" to govern the access of all news media in covering trials, hearings, legislative and other restricted proceedings, including the pre-trial coverage of accused persons.

Dr. Stanton, who delivered the Annenberg School Lecture at the University of Pennsylvania, said that the Brookings Institution in Washington, an independent research and education organization in the social sciences, has agreed to study the proposal.

Brookings to Make Study

CBS is ready to make a grant to Brookings to assemble a task force of distinguished citizens representing the bar, the bench, the various branches of journalism, government, public administration and the public to study and report on a public policy for the television coverage of all legislative, judicial and pre-trial proceedings.

Citing current abuses by the press, police, prosecutors and defense attorneys, Dr. Stanton said, "If photographers, reporters, interviewers, newsmen or television cameramen are, by their methods, their lack of discernment, or their zeal, doing violence to the cause of justice, the situation should be corrected.

Accused Compromised

"If the police are pre-empting the function of declaring the guilt of defendants, if they are publicizing confessions, often wrongly extracted from prisoners, and by their actions compromising the rights of the accused, the situation should be corrected.

"If there are prosecutors who do violence to the due process principles that we all prize, or defense counsel who seek to try their cases outside the courtroom, the situation should be corrected.

"The purpose of CBS in initiating and financing this project," Dr. Stanton said, "is to get this vital matter out of an arena of contention, into an atmosphere of affirmative discussion and common purpose."

Dr. Stanton pointed out that Television and Press Camera coverage of momentous events at the United Nations has not impaired the dignity of that body.

Way Out West FAMOUS BRANDS

The first person to introduce branded cattle to North America was Hernando Cortez. That was way back in the 16th Century. With the growth of the West, all cattle were branded by ranchers so that each rancher could identify his own.

Some of the best known western brands were King Ranch Running W, the Stirrup and the Rocking Chair. These became classics and were difficult to change by rustlers.

The brand best-known throughout America today is that on the cattle owned by television's "Sky King." It's the sign of action-packed adventure as the western pilot-rancher and his fun-loving niece Penny fly the range in their powerful "Songbird."

MONEY 'ROUND THE WORLD

SPAIN

An ancient country of infinite variety, Spain is drenched with sun, color, music, and drama. From bullfights to art treasures, fiestas to the windmills of La Mancha—it's a whole new world for American tourists to discover.

The basis of Spanish money is the peseta. There are 60 pesetas to the U.S. $1. One peseta is about two cents. There are coins to the value of 1, 5, 25, and 50 pesetas, and paper money to the value of 1, 5, 25, 50, 100, 500 and 1000 pesetas. (The small centimo is almost obsolete today: 100 centimos=1 peseta.) Use travelers checks to overcome your currency problems while traveling overseas. First National City Bank Travelers Checks can be bought and cashed throughout colorful Spain.

KEYSVILLE-DETOUR

Greetings to you:

William Weishaar of Forest and Stream Club Road, who has been a patient at Annie Warner Hospital in Gettysburg, was transferred to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore on Saturday evening. At this writing on Monday evening, he is on the critical list but it is hoped that they will be able to help him and he will soon be feeling better again. His trouble is high blood pressure with infected kidneys.

A 25th Wedding Anniversary was given for Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilhide of the Keysville Road by their children on Saturday evening at the Keysville Lutheran Church. They received a number of lovely gifts and guests were present from Baltimore, White Hall, Gettysburg, Hampstead, Rockville, Taneytown, Keysville and Detour.

Robert Dinterman, USMC was a visitor from Friday night to Monday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Washburn of Keysville. Bob, who has been stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C., will be transferred February 5th to Corpus Christi, Texas.

(Note: I truly did appreciate Bob calling me for I know there are so many who read this column that are interested in the boys who are away in the service. Any time anyone has any information about any of them, please do give me a call so I can include it in the column. Thanks!)

Bob and Betty Hood and son, Bobby, who had been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Young, Sr., in Keysville, were Wednesday afternoon visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wilhide and family. They left last Thursday for Key West, Florida where Bob will have 18 weeks of schooling with the Navy.

Saturday evening visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilhide and Susan of Forest and Stream Club Road were her parents, sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Seibert, Mariann and Johnny of Clear Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Currens of Hampstead were week-end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilhide of the Keysville Road and Mrs. Emory Yoder and Miss Elizabeth Yoder of White Hall were week-end visitors with the Carroll Wilhide family.

The Lutheran Church men of the Union Bridge and Parish met Wednesday evening, January 20, at Mt. Tabor in Rocky Ridge. The Rev. Gilbert Turner of Uniontown told of his experience on Smith Island where the major activity was fishing for their livelihood. New officers were elected for the coming two years. They were: president, Kenneth Sharrer; vice-president, Dr. David Edwards; secretary, Edward Coshun and treasurer, John Blanchfield, Sr.

There were no services at Keysville Lutheran Church on Sunday due to the ice. The rain Saturday was changed to ice overnight and in the morning everything was coated with ice. There was no school in Frederick or Carroll Counties on Monday because of the ice, but the sun tried to come out in the afternoon and the temperature almost reached 40 degrees, so it changed to slush and just plain-wet.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aurand of Middleburg upon the recent birth of a son; their 3rd child. Also to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harrison of Keysville upon the birth of a daughter on Monday, (the 18th).

Do you like cats? Do you borrow books from the Bookmobile? Last Saturday I signed out one called "The Silent Miaow" by Paul Gallico (who also wrote "Thomasina") and it is just as "cute" as can be. It was supposed to have been written by a cat for kittens, strays, etc. and tells them all about things that cats need to know; such as "taking over" a family. If you like cats, you will really "go" for this book and its marvelous pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baumgardner of Keysville with Mrs. Alice Reifsdorf of the Keymar Road were among those who attended the Carroll County Historical Society meeting last Thursday evening.

A letter about Aunt Nannie Haugh of Clear Spring, from her son, Donald, was received by Mrs. Carroll Wilhide. He reports she is still in room 365 of Washington County Hospital in Hagerstown. That "she likes visitors and more are being allowed." Her visiting hours are 2-4 and 7-8. Her condition is improving and she so enjoys cards and letters.

Happy Birthday wishes to the 30th to Mark Baumgardner of Keysville; and to Linda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Schaffer of the Keysville Road.

The Keysville Lutheran Church Women will meet on Monday, February 1 at 7:30 P. M. at the church with Mrs. Gilbert Stine and Mrs. Mark Baumgardner as leaders. Mrs. Eugene Glass and Mrs. Clyde Wilhide will have charge of the specials and the hostesses will be Mrs. John Harner, Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide and Mrs. Roy Baumgardner. Bring or send along to the meeting your used postage stamps and greeting cards for they will be collected at that time.

The Flower Committee for February at Keysville Lutheran Church will be Mrs. William Fleharty, chairman; Mrs. Roy Baumgardner, Mrs. Edgar Valentine, Mrs. Loren Austin, Miss Vallie Shorb and Mrs. Michael Bollinger.

I just received an address for William Weishaar. It is Osler Medical Center, Room 811, Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md. Do send him cards and let him know his community is wishing him well in more ways than one.

So many of you met and like the Swiss boys who stayed with the Carroll Wilhide family. It has been suggested to me that you would also be interested in the Christmas letter from them. This week I shall give you Werner's and next week Ernest's.

My dear friends:

This year is rapidly coming to a close, and it wouldn't be complete without taking out some time to write to you. First I want to thank all of you who have sent me greeting cards and letters. I wish it were possible to reply to each of you individually, but since there just isn't time, please accept this note as a substitute and that it always makes me so happy to hear from you.

This past year has been for me a time full of happiness. Most of you got the surprising message of my engagement in spring. Thank you so much for your nice cards with all your best wishes. I also enjoyed all the many questions in your letters. I therefore let me try to tell you shortly my wonderful love-story: "Once upon a time, there was a shy Swiss boy, traveling on his way home from Canada to Europe. A few hours before his boat left Halifax, he happened to meet a most wonderful pretty girl. That's how my dream became true. Hannechen's home is in Germany, and therefore I was invited to see her and her folks in the days of Christmas. For our next "date" we had to wait until Easter, and in those days we surprised our families and friends with the announcement of our engagement.

Talking about engagement, I remember especially one very question of your letters: when are you getting married? Well, life over here does not seem to be quite as fast as it is in your country, and therefore there is no reason for us to be in hurry. (I am joking of course!) But seriously, our situation is rather unusual, as I keep on going to school in Zurich. I like it so far, although school keeps me almost too busy. There is hardly a day that I can go to bed before midnight, and almost every day I have to get up at four or five o'clock in the morning. Next year in fall I have to pass the very hard examination, to be allowed to go to the University during four more years.

It is very hard for both of us, as it happens that we cannot see each other for weeks and months. It's even too far for a phone call, but every Sunday we are writing long letters, dreaming about our future days! Hannechen really is the most wonderful girl I can wish to have. We both are very, very happy. If everything goes all right in school, we plan to get married in spring or summer 1966. Besides that there is one more thing I wish to promise you: Someday, we will come to see you all again. It makes me so happy to think about. Be sure, my dear friends, you all are so often in my thoughts. Please, keep on writing! I do want to hear from you, at least one time a year. At the same time, I do hope some of you will have the opportunity to come to Switzerland. The young "student-couple" won't have a very fancy home for the beginning—but we will always be most delighted to have you with us!

One of the most precious parts of Christmas is hearing from and about friends far and near. I shall be remembering all of you, grateful and happy, as I wish to say that your friendship enriches my life so much. May you always receive the best of everything, and may Christmas and the coming new year will bring you lots of joy, luck and happiness! God bless you all, and keep you in His loving care. My dear bride, and all of my family join me in extending our warm greetings and best wishes. Very truly yours, Werner.

(This letter was written November 29, 1964, and then copies were made and sent out by Werner. He and Ernest were a wonderful experience for all those of us who met them.)

February Is Christian Higher Education Month

During the month of February the Auxiliary of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg will have their membership drive. The Auxiliary is a group of women who have banded together to do things which are helpful to the Seminary. Memberships are $1.00 or more per individual and everyone is eligible. The money will be used for a Scholarship Fund and the goal is $5,000.00. This money will be given outright to the seminarians in need of it, being administered by the Seminary Board, with the one stipulation that the money be used for Seminary expenses.

The Seminary is deserving of our interest, our prayers and our offerings. Won't you please contact your key worker in your church and become a member of the Auxiliary?

Elmer A. Wolfe PTA Executive Committee Meeting

Twelve members were present at the PTA Executive Committee meeting at Elmer A. Wolfe School on January 25. There was no old business to discuss.

President Ray Wilson told of four regular meetings and five executive meetings in the Francis Scott Key Community and Birthday Calendar for a charge of $2.25. These calendars are now on sale by the Student Council of the High School or can be obtained by calling Mr. Wilson. Mrs. William Fleharty suggested that rather than throw away the popsize sticks as many children do (after their lunch period) they be saved for the Carroll County TB Assn. for they use them for therapy with TB patients. Mrs. Rickell, vice-principal, will have a box in each room to collect them and Mrs. Fleharty will gather them and deliver them to Westminster.

February 8 will be the general meeting and the speaker will be Jeffrey B. Smith, an attorney from Baltimore who will speak on "The School Board Nominating Convention of Baltimore."

send it out to the parents. Supper will be served from 4 to 8 P. M. Mrs. William Coshun, Exhibits, reported they will be set up in the morning and will be open to the public from noon to 9:00 P. M. Next Executive Meeting will be February 22 at 8:00 P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Redding and family of Arendtsville, Penna., visited Sunday evening with Mrs. Ruth Reynolds.

FAIRVIEW

Oh, what a week-end, rain on Saturday turning to ice over Sunday and no signs of breaking up yet (Mon.) With no church Sunday and no school today it makes a long vacation for the children. Oh well, they are enjoying it as they can go sliding.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock had belated New Year's dinner on Sunday; also in honor of the newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frock. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Frock of York, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Adkins and children, Mary C., Joyce and Kevin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frock, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frock and children, Steven and Debra, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carl and sons, David and Daniel. In spite of the weather all had an enjoyable day together. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frock received many and useful gifts for which they thank each one, but the one we all thank the most is our Lord and Saviour for giving each one a safe journey home. We are sorry to learn Mr. Herbert Ecker has returned to the Carroll County General Hospital. We wish him a speedy recovery.

"A Child for Sale" by (R. W. Cooper)

Could you put a child on auction for sale at the highest bid; see him led away in bondage to Satan's grim purpose hid? Could you see him sitting captive for life as a galley slave; leg chained to the rowers' bench? Won't you lift a hand to save?

To put a child on auction you don't have to do a thing but to ignore your God-called duty to bring him to Christ the King.

Be too busy making a living engrossed in your work or play; no time to others giving—you'll lose Him for sure that way.

To busy to bid at auction for years or a neighbors child? No time or love to save him from being enslaved, defiled? Though you're too busy, the Devil works 24 hours a day placing his bid for enslavement and leading a child astray.

Open your eyes to the auction for the souls of boys and girls get into the bidding, redeem them more precious than lustrous pearls, bid higher than sin or satan—his twenty-four hours a day, give them your love and service that's more than evil can pay. We were sorry to learn of the deaths of Mrs. Daisy Newcomer and Mr. Jesse R. Lambert. The families have our deepest sympathy.

The bridge the county started to replace on the Clear View road before Christmas was completed last week. The work was held up due to some steel girders they had to use and could not get until after Christmas.

ROCKY RIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pittenger, Sr., spent Tuesday with their daughter, Mrs. Roland D. Wilson and family of Taneytown.

Mrs. Carrie M. Pittenger spent Thursday evening with Mrs. Alice Staut and daughter, Linda, of Woodsboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mackley and son, Donnie and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bowman and son, Thomas, visited Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Myers and sons, Vincent and Anthony, of near Emmitsburg, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Saylor and family, on Sunday.

The trees and roads were all ice on Sunday morning with the temperature at 24 degrees—it looked like Christmas time.

ODDS AND ENDS

On these bitter Winter days, our jolly electric percolator works overtime, for nothing drives out the chill quite as effectively as a cup of steaming, hot coffee. Incidentally, we like ours dark and strong, with cream and sugar added. Seldom do we drink tea. However, I do enjoy an occasional cup of Constant Comment, a delightful variety which contains spices and orange. Needless to say, the flavor is unique, and tea enthusiasts will love it. Constant Comment is available either in loose form or in the convenient bags, at the Rob-Ellen Shop in Taneytown.

And speaking of the Rob-Ellen Shop, this charming establishment (recently renovated) is such a pleasure to browse and shop in! Its blue and yellow color-scheme positively radiates friendliness and warmth and serves as a fitting background for the lovely dishes, jewelry and clothing. Each item bears a well-known brand name, and is therefore, of superb quality.

During bad snow storms, I always make it a point to tune in Radio Station WTTR in Westminster. All of the cancellations, school news, road conditions, and other pertinent information concerning this area are given out at frequent intervals. I recall that during one of our very severe blizzards, WTTR was our only contact with the outside world.

What we all need, in these hectic, trying times, is a spiritual oasis, where we can refresh ourselves and gather up the strength to go on. Each one of us can create such an oasis by setting aside a portion of each day for Bible reading and personal devotions. How healing, comforting and enduring are the words of Holy Scripture! And, particularly, in the Book of Psalms, help is found for every human emotion. As the prophet Isaiah so aptly expressed it, "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth; but the word of our God shall stand forever." (Isaiah 40:8)

COUNTY EXCEEDS 1964 BOND GOAL

Residents of Carroll County put more of their savings into U. S. Savings Bonds during 1964 than they did the previous year.

Mr. Vernon E. Beall County Savings Bonds Chairman, reported that county sales of Series E and H Bonds amounted to $715,322, up $38,528 over the year before.

December sales in the county totaling $87,057 helped set the sales gain for the year.

Savings bonds also enjoyed a statewide sales increase — achieving 105.7 percent of the 1964 annual goal of $76,600,000. Total sales for Maryland of $80,937,008 represented an all-time high, and compared with $79,148,572 for 1963.

"The volunteer spirit which has helped make America great is found in large measure in the Savings Bonds program," Mr. Beall declared. "This volunteer spirit is being demonstrated by the industrial and business firms which maintain the payroll savings plan as a service for their employees; by the banks and savings and loan institutions which sell bonds and recommend them to their customers; by the media which sponsor Savings Bonds advertisements; by the State and County School Superintendents who endorse the Savings Stamp Plan, and by the principals, teachers and volunteers who are responsible for Stamp sales to their students; and by the hundreds of individual volunteers throughout the State who encourage their fellow citizens to buy bonds. In a real sense, too, the men and women who are buying these Share in America are serving their county, as volunteers."

"This combined volunteer effort has made the increase in Savings Bond sales possible."

ICE FOLLIES STARS HAVE WORLDWIDE FAME IN BOTH SPORTS AND ENTERTAINMENT WORLDS

Stars of the Shiptads and Johnson Ice Follies appearing at the Baltimore Civic Center from Tuesday, January 26 through Sunday, January 31 are famous the world over for accomplishments as sports figures as well as show business personalities.

Ina Bauer, billed as "Fire on Ice," has starred in German motion pictures which have been seen in this country and have won praise at the Moscow Film Festival. Apart from her talents as an actress, she has won Gold Medals in Germany and the United States, captured the West German championship three times, placed second in world competition and won fame as Europe's foremost free-style skater.

Hugh Smith, of the team Smith and Thomas, is an eighth-test skater and gold medalist, former junior men's Canadian champion, Canadian junior dance champion and a member of the Canadian world team. Thomas acquired the junior men's championship in 1955 and 1956 and became a Pacific Coast pair champion in 1953.

Another Canadian champion is the dance team Paulette Doan and Ken Ormsby who won the junior dance championship in 1961 and the senior dance championship in 1963. Other honors include the North American dance championship and bronze medals in world competition. In 1964, they retained their Senior Canadian title and became silver medalists in world championships.

"La Debutante," as Patsy Cook is billed, has earned the titles of British Columbia senior ladies champion, British Columbia coast senior ladies champion, and, in 1963, she placed high in the Canadian senior ladies championships.

A Hungarian star is Istvan Szenes who won four national ice skating prizes in his home country. The Beat-Performance dance routine are British dance champions. For the time being, however, Joan Taylor is standing in for Mrs. Beatty who is busy taking care of brand new baby Beatty.

Donald Jackson, who won the world figure skating championship in 1962 with a score unmatched before or since, returns to the Ice Follies in a four minute solo so strenuous that it is the equivalent of playing 60 minutes in a hockey game.

Other stars who have won awards and popular awards and popular acclaim are Jill Shiptad, "The Sweetheart of the Ice;" the team of Richard Dwyer and Dorothyanne Nelson; the "Hootenanny Annie" Dianne Morris; the Kenwood brothers; Mr. Frick, "The Iron Man of Show Business;" the Wall and Dora comedy team; the husband and wife team of Wilbur and Inge Schilling, the comedy skaters "Scarecrows" and the perennial favorites, the Ice Follies precision skating chorus.

Gristmill Still Turns Near Taneytown

Built in 1887, Water Power Still Used

(The following interesting article appeared in the (Baltimore) Evening Sun, January 15, 1965. Ed.)

Taneytown, Md., January 15 — On the banks of the Big Pipe Creek near here, a 68-year-old miller named Raymond Crouse follows the trade that was his birthright and that his father followed before him.

Mr. Crouse operates the water-powered mill single-handedly these days, grinding corn into meal on the same stones that first began turning in 1887.

In the past the mill turned out flour, hominy and feed as well as corn meal but Mr. Crouse dropped flour production last year when the Federal Government slapped a tax on millers to help pay for wheat price supports.

"I got out," he said, "because I didn't want to get involved in all that red tape. "If they'd done it a few years ago when I was younger, I might of continued, but I felt it was more than I was up to. Besides it would have added to the cost of my flour."

Living Memorial

Mr. Crouse's mill is today a kind of living memorial to a kind of rural industry that flourished across the State at the turn of the century.

Even today, Mr. Crouse sells his corn meal to farmers and country stores within an 8 or 10 mile radius of the mill.

"I go out delivering once in awhile," Mr. Crouse said. And once in a while someone will drive some distance to buy his product at the mill.

Up 100 P.C. in 50 Years

Like other manufacturers these days, Mr. Crouse is plagued by rising production costs. And the rising costs are reflected in the price of his corn meal.

"I sell the corn meal for 35 cents for a 5-lb. bag," he said. "Speaking of costs, they're up about 100% in the last 50 years."

"I'm paying double what we did then for corn, maybe a little more, and it's reflected in the price of my meal, which has almost doubled."

Still, Mr. Crouse's meal is a bargain. Mass-produced corn meal costs about twice as much.

Mr. Crouse's father, Wilson, bought the mill at a mortgage sale in 1889, two years after it was rebuilt following a fire.

"I was born December 5, 1896," he said, "and began working in the mill as soon as I was able."

Water-Driven Turbine

The power for turning the buhrstones is provided by a water-driven turbine, which is in effect a rotary motor turned by the pressure of water falling down a tube through fans.

"The buhrs, which lie flat on top of one another, are driven by a vertical shaft down through the middle," Mr. Crouse explained, displaying the expertise of a life-time as a miller.

"The shaft is connected through gears to the turbines below. The buhrs are put in motion by lowering a 3-foot gear so that it meshes with another big gear."

The big sturdy miller said he broke one of the gears a couple of years ago and it cost $200 to replace it.

"Even today, he said, "There are companies which make parts for almost any grist mill, even the older ones."

200 Pounds an Hour

The mill turns out about 200 lbs. of corn meal an hour for about four hours daily.

"I have to shut down production for three days once a year to dress the buhrs," Mr. Crouse said. They wear smooth after a while and don't grind very well."

He has to dismantle them, hoist them with a block and tackle and roughen them.

"There are about eight grooves cut radially on the buhrs. They have to be refilled.

The Carroll County Historical Society came around to do a history of the mill a few years back, then open it to the public for tours.

"I declined," he said laconically. "All I know about the mill is what my father told me, and that there was a mill on this site before the present one was built in 1889."

"People wouldn't be much interested in it," he said.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports

The name was perfect, of course, and it also helped that he had talent when he was named the most valuable player for Houston in 1964.

We're referring to "Aspro the Astro." He is BOB ASPROMONTE. The third baseman of the Houston Colt 45's last year, a name which now has been changed to the Astros.

Aspromonte recently was voted the team's most valuable player, a tribute to his batting average of .280, the best on the team, and his fielding percentage of .973, the best in the National League for a third baseman.

Houston discovered that "Aspro the Astro" was very much in demand among other clubs in the league when solid offers were made for him by the Cincinnati Reds and Los Angeles Dodgers, among others.

Manager Lum Harris said: "Any team which wants to talk about Bob had better be willing to mention the name of somebody who hit at least 20 home runs and drove in 100 runs."

General manager Paul Richards went even further and said: "we wouldn't trade Aspromonte for anything less than a star."

Aspromonte's batting was timely for Houston last year and in the field he made only 11 errors in 155 games, breaking the old league record of 13 he shared with Stan Hack for fewest errors by a third baseman in one season.

Bob's excellent season was a brilliant comeback after his poor year in 1963 when he hit only .214.

His own explanation is that his attitude was better last year. He said he had to learn to stop fighting himself any time he ran into a slump.

Teammates Bob Lillis and Eddie Kaske helped him.

The coach of the Minnesota Vikings, NORM VAN BROCKLIN, was asked recently:

"When you took the Viking job, how long did you think it would take to build a winner?"

Van Brocklin, as cool a quarterback as there ever was in the National Football League, answered with his usual aplomb:

"You can't measure that sort of thing by time. You just have to do the best you can and hope that you get there."

Although Van Brocklin has not set any timetable for the Vikings, they are quickly convincing people that they could win the Western Conference title soon. Since joining the league in 1961, the N-F-L's most recent entry has been making steady progress in the standings. The Vikings have moved from 7th place in their first year to a tie for second last season.

Minnesota's progress has been very good, compared with the Eastern conference's newest team, the Dallas Cowboys. The cowboys have not finished higher than fifth place in their five seasons in the league, and have won only 18 games, the same number that the Vikings have won in four years.

Numerous factors have been responsible for the Vikings' rise. There is the excellent coaching job done by Van Brocklin. There is the smart drafting and signing of college talent. Among the Minnesota players who were drafted are the scrambling young quarterback, Fran Tarkenton; the shifty halfback, Paul Mason; the fine pass catcher, Paul Flatley and Hal Bedsole, linebackers Roy Winston and Rip Hawkins; defensive backs, Ed Sharrockman and George Rose; and defensive end, Carl Eller.

This year's draft crop includes fullback Jim Grisham and halfback Lance Rentzel of Oklahoma, back Jeff Jordan of Tulsa, tackles Archie Sutton of Illinois and Frank McClelland of Alabama, and Notre Dame and Jack Snow. Snow was traded to the Los Angeles Rams for end Jim Phillips and tackle Gary Larsen, which brings up another Minnesota strong point—trading.

In deals, they have acquired hard-running fullback Bill Brown, place-kicking specialist Fred Cox, pass-catchers Jerry Reichow and Tom Hall, defensive back Bill Butler and defensive end "wrong-way" Jim Marshall. And they also have done well in signing free agents—quarterback Ron Vander Kelen, all-star center Mick Tinglehoff and punter Bobby Walden.

The Viking's combination of youth and talent may soon pay off in a Western conference championship.

DID YOU KNOW THAT — The Orioles played to the biggest crowd of the 1964 regular major league season on August 9 when 58,102 paid to see the Birds split a double header with New York at Yankee Stadium.

TODAY'S SPORT LAUGH — The San Francisco 49ers did not have a good season last year in the N.F.L. The head coach was asked what his reason had been to become a contender for the title. He replied: "The first ten draft choices."

—John Breth.

Just because Thanksgiving Day has passed, there is no reason why we can't continue to be thankful for our great and manifold blessings.

Permanent peace can come only through mutual understanding and the establishment of world trade on a fair basis to all concerned.

Webfooted Watchdogs

Few animals detect the scent of men better than geese, and they have had a glorious history as sensitive sentries. A gaggle of noisy geese awakened Rome to the approach of invading Gauls in 309 B. C. and saved the Eternal City from barbarian conquest.

For centuries farmers and ranchers throughout the world have used geese to guard their homesteads, herds and flocks. In some areas, like rural Maryland, farmers even trust geese to sense a change in the weather. They say the approach of rain is forecast by their honking geese.

The most famous geese in the world today are the Ballantine's Scotch Watch, in Dumbarton, Scotland. These specially trained geese guard $980 million worth of aging whisky at the Ballantine's distillery.

QUICK N' EASY

Recipe of the Month

For folks who love blueberries—and who doesn't—it's perfectly all right if they're served morning, noon and night, no matter what the form, so long as there are blueberries in abundance! Most popular on our list is this Blueberry Torte, made with a roll of refrigerated butterscotch nut cookies that are ready for slicing and baking, and canned blueberry pie filling. The canned filling is a staple item we'd hate to be without, for here are berries at their best, picked at their peak, sorted and canned ready to flavor a myriad of desserts. The cookie crust layers for this torte are rich and crisp, made by arranging the sliced cookie dough side-by-side in cake pans. It's a dessert that is quite easy to prepare and certain to be enjoyed. The Cream Cheese Topping adds a party look to the torte, or use a crown of sweetened whipped cream if you prefer.

BLUEBERRY COOKIE TORTE

- 1 roll refrigerated butterscotch nut cookies
- 1 can (2 1/2 cups) blueberry pie filling

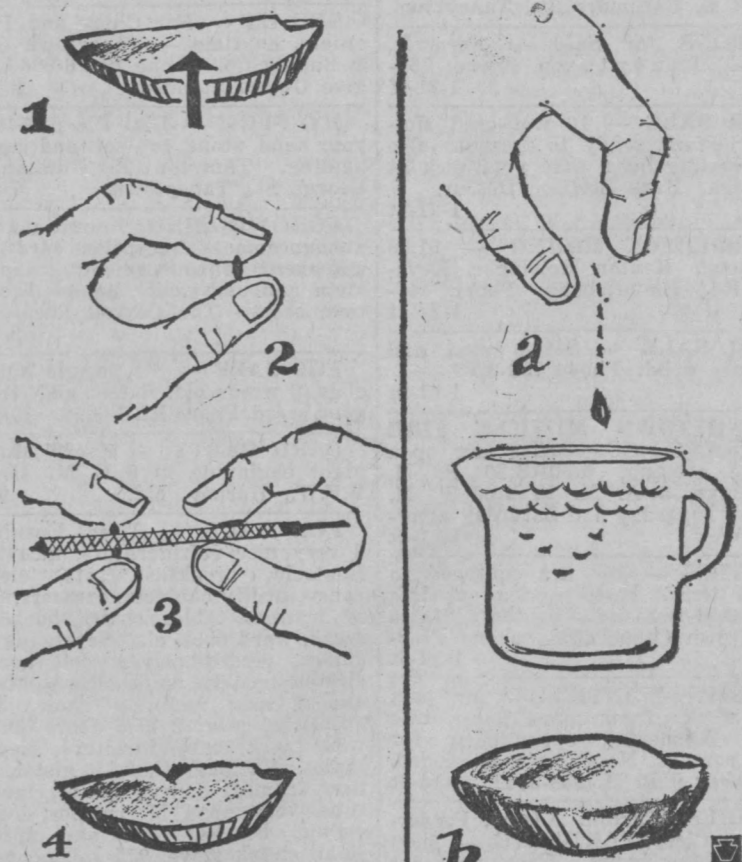

Cut cookie dough into slices 1/4-inch thick. Place cookie slices in the bottom of two 9-inch round cake pans that have been greased, lined with wax paper, greased and floured. Bake at 350° for 15 to 20 minutes, until light golden brown. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Cool.

Spoon 1/2 can pie filling over bottom cookie layer. Top with second layer and remainder of filling. Spoon Cream Cheese Topping around outer edge of blueberry filling. Chill. Serves 6 to 8.

CREAM CHEESE TOPPING

Blend 1/2 cup cream, 3-oz. package softened cream cheese and 2 tablespoons powdered sugar; beat until firm. Fold in 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind and 1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Hard Coat? File or Soak

The coats or outer surfaces of some seeds are so hard that sprouting often is greatly delayed. There are two things that the gardener can do to help speed sprouting without harming the seed or its growing point.

The first is to nick the seedcoat with a file; the second is to soak the seed in water to soften the seedcoat.

The sketches above illustrate both methods. In the left-hand column, at the top, numbered 1, is a morning glory seed, greatly enlarged, of course. The arrow indicates a safe area to file.

The right hand column shows a seed being dropped into a container of water (sketch a). In common practice the entire contents of the seed packet would be poured into the water and left there for 48 hours.

By that time the seeds, as indicated in sketch b, would be slightly swollen and ready for immediate planting.

Morning glories are not the only hard coated seeds which benefit from one or the other of these treatments before sowing. There are other flowers, such as lupines and sweet peas, which have seeds with hard outer coverings.

Just remember to use one or the other of these simple treatments before you plant hard-coated seeds and they'll sprout quicker and in greater numbers.

ECUADOR The Equator in Spanish

The Spanish word for equator is the name of South America's smallest west-coast republic. The equator runs right through its magnificent mountains, lovely lakes, tropical jungles, and almost impenetrable forests. Savages hunt in the wilds. Stolid Indian farmers till the highland basins.

In Guayaquil, the chief port named after the Indian Chief Guayas and his wife Quil, the boulevards are ablom with flowers, and the waterfront streets are coated with cacao beans spread out to dry. Quito, the stately capital of Ecuador, was built more than 1,000 years before the white man's discovery of America.

The new passenger-cargo liners that carry first-class passengers on Grace Line's "Santa" cruises, sail up Ecuador's Estero Salado to Guayaquil. At the equator, the picturesque ceremony of "crossing the line" is held aboard ship. This tiny republic is only one of the fascinating countries visited during the weekly 26-day casual luxury cruises between New York, Colombia's Caribbean ports, Panama, the Canal Zone, and the Pacific Coast of South America, including Peru.

SENATE BILL NO. 31

(The following is the first of four articles written by Judge Emory H. Niles in explanation of the Senate Bill 31. —Editor.)

WHAT THE NILES PLAN PROPOSES

Without criticizing any individual judge or judicial appointment, it has become increasingly apparent that Maryland is not taking advantage of the best talents available in selecting judges.

While Maryland's Constitution provides that judges be elected, the fact of the matter is that most judges reach the bench, in the first instance, by gubernatorial appointment to fill a vacancy created by the death or retirement of a member of the bench.

In the last 25 years, more than 90 per cent of a total of 72 judges reached the bench in the first instance, not by election, but by appointment.

While the appointed judges subsequently faced election, they ran as "sitting judges" with widespread support based, not necessarily on their legal abilities or judicial temperaments, but in large measure because they were incumbents.

Although problems relating to a judge who is not functioning create difficulties, the best solution is to make sure as is humanly possible that only the best men reach the bench in the first instance.

Inasmuch as the great majority of judges are appointed by the Governor, the key to the situation is to make sure that the appointment goes to an individual with proper judicial qualifications by presenting to the Governor a choice confined to a list of carefully chosen nominees.

This is the heart of the so-called "Niles Plan," which proposes that the candidates for judicial vacancies be nominated by an unpaid, non-partisan Commission, composed of both lawyers and laymen, whose sole duty is to seek out the best available judicial timber, and to present to the Governor a small list of nominees from which the appointment must be made.

Some criticism has been directed against this apparent restriction of the prerogatives of the Governor, who is, of course, the highest elected representative of the people within the State. But, the governors, themselves, welcome the plan! Maryland's two living ex-governors—one a Democrat and one a Republican—are both active proponents of the Niles Plan, and are Vice Chairmen of the Maryland Judicial Selection Council—a voluntary group consisting of both lawyers and laymen, whose sole objective is to secure the adoption of this proposal.

The Governor needs and welcomes assistance in the selection of judges! Under the present system selection may be influenced by a number of reasons—personal friendship, political expediency, recognition of political services, desire to secure support for political projects and other reasons. These reasons may be perfectly valid, but they do not take into consideration the most important reason of all—the qualifications of the individual in knowledge, temperament, character and integrity to decide questions of law and justice.

Another very important feature of the Niles proposal is Home Rule. If the necessary constitutional amendment is passed by the Legislature and ratified by the voters, it would be immediately mandatory only for the state-wide Court of Appeals. For other judges, either in Baltimore City, or any of the counties, or in the judicial circuits in which several counties are involved, the jurisdiction in question could adopt the plan only by a special legislative enactment or by a popular referendum.

This makes it possible for each jurisdiction to adopt the plan which its voters deem most suitable for its needs. In some of the smaller counties, where there are only a few lawyers, all well known to the voters, such a plan would be unnecessary.

On the other hand, in jurisdictions where, as in Baltimore City, there may be as many as 3,000 lawyers, the voters cannot be expected to be able to weigh their respective abilities; and the services of an impartial, non-partisan Nominating Commission, to screen the candidates for the nomination, and to seek out the best judicial timber, would be helpful to the Governor and extremely important to the proper administration of law and justice.

These features of the Niles Plan constitute the proposal which has been recommended by the Legislative Council and which will come before the 1965 session of the Legislature. It is the duty of each Senator and Delegate to weigh these proposals on two levels—how they affect the State as a whole, and how they affect the county or legislative district which each member of the General Assembly represents. No one can deny that the best possible judges should be on the Court of Appeals and in the courts of each jurisdiction. So, as far as the Court of Appeals is concerned, the plan for Nominating Commissions should be adopted immediately. Under the enabling feature of the proposed law, each jurisdiction will have an opportunity, either directly or through their representatives, to vote on whether or not to extend the plan to that particular jurisdiction. Therefore, no Senator or Delegate need hesitate to vote for the bill, because some of its features are not suitable to his own district. The bill does not impose the plan on any district that does not wish to adopt it by popular vote.

Free Tree Seedlings to Property Owners

The Maryland Department of Forests and Parks distributes tree seedlings free of charge to property owners for the purpose of Forest Conservation Planting. The seedlings are intended for land that has gone out of farm production. They cannot be used for ornamental stock, cannot be planted in Development Areas, and cannot be used solely for Christmas tree purposes.

Total forest tree planting stock distribution in the State of Maryland amounts to a considerable figure. In Fiscal Year 1964, the period between July 1, 1963 to June 30, 1964, 5,687 acres were planted throughout the State. The great majority of this 4,406 acres, was done on private lands. The remaining occurred on State, Federal, and other Public Ownerships. The grand total of all forest tree and windbarrier planting in the State of Maryland amounts to 86,912 acres. This would cover an area of 135 square miles within the State.

The tree planting in Carroll County during Fiscal '64 amounted to 397.50 acres on 28 separate properties.

Those interested in participating in this Program should contact their local Forester now. An interim period is necessary for inspection of planting sites, providing a plan and advice to property owners, and processing seedling orders. In Carroll County this can be done by writing or calling James J. Burtis, Jr., 37 Court Place, Westminster, Md. Phone TI 8-9290.

The Carroll County Forest Conservancy Board endorses this conservation practice and invites land owners to participate.

COMMUNITY SHOW MEETING SATURDAY

The Taneytown Jaycees remind all in the community who may be musically or dramatically inclined, to attend the meeting this Saturday afternoon at 2:00 P. M. in the Municipal Building. This will be an interest meeting concerning the musical "Meller Drammer" slated for early April. A number of male and female roles must be cast and a community chorus is planned if sufficient interest is shown.

Mrs. Theresa Eshbach will be directing the musical portions and Mrs. Anna Motter will handle the dramatics. In event of ice or snow on Saturday, the meeting will be postponed until Sunday afternoon at 2:00 P. M. at the same place.

Joint Meeting of County Officials

At a joint meeting on Monday of the County Commissioners, the Board of Education, the Carroll County Delegation to the General Assembly, representatives of the Roads Department, Planning and Capital Improvements Commission, the matter of programming for future capital improvements in Carroll County was fully discussed.

The meeting was called by the County Commissioners in the face of a mounting need for financing new schools, roads, storm drainage systems, water and sewerage programs, as well as those public facilities which may be considered potential in a relatively short time such as a jail, airport or other public buildings. The County Commissioners pointed out at the meeting that the matter of planning for its tax and bonding revenues must necessarily be more than "just a year to year basis."

A full discussion of providing a five to six year long range capital improvements program revealed uniform agreement that such a program was necessary and desirable for presentation to not only county officials but the public as well. Likewise, it was determined that sufficient legal authority existed and that cooperation of all agencies was necessary when definite procedures for a capital improvement program was developed.

Horace S. Brauning, Chairman of the Board, indicated that the Board had decided that beginning the next fiscal year, July 1, 1965, no appropriations would be made for capital improvements until the program of all agencies had been reviewed and recommended by a coordinating agency. He indicated that he was of the opinion that this coordinating agency should be the Planning Commission and that Commission could create any type reviewing or study committee as it might deem necessary to get a well-defined and long range program in front of the County Commissioners each year.

It was also the general opinion of those representatives present that any capital improvements program preparation should be initiated by the agency requiring a public facility, however, the determination of the program should be by as many affected agencies as possible, including schools, roads, capital improvements, sanitary commission and planning.

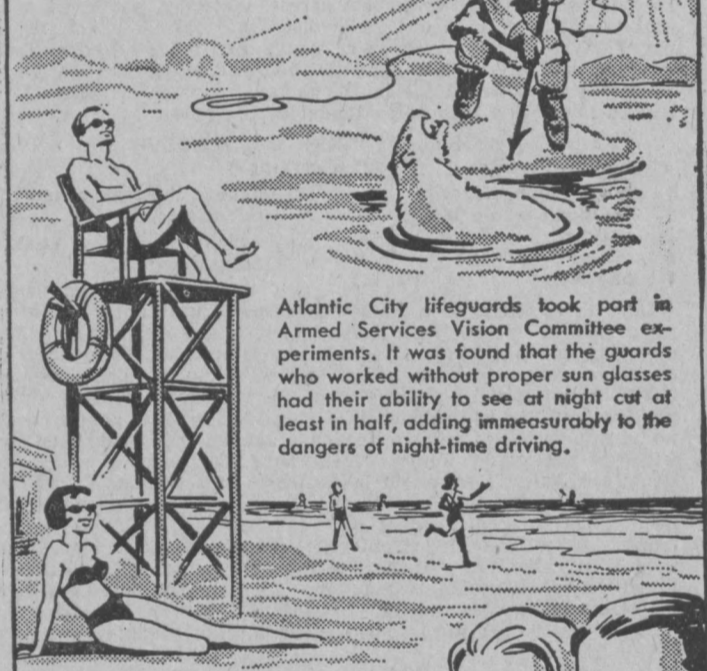

Those attending the meeting were: Delegates O'Farrell, Magin, Dulany and Yingling; School Board members Hering, Marsh, Powell and Raver; Superintendent of Schools Jenness and his assistant, Dr. Ecker; E. Miller Richardson, Chairman of the Planning Commission, and Director George Grier; John A. Divan, Director of Public Roads; and County Commissioners Brauning, Crawford and Denner. Mrs. Margaret Marsh and Mr. Brauning also represented the Capital Improvement Commission.

"And what do you say," we asked the young coed next door, "when he whispers sweet nothings into your ear?"

The coed smiled and answered: "I answer back sweet little nothing doings!"

ODDLY ENOUGH

Claring sunlight has worried people all over the world for thousands of years. Himalayan plateau Tibetans once wore eye screens of woven Yak hair. Eskimos have long worn goggle-like shields of bone or wood with thin slits in them to reduce the glare.

Atlantic City lifeguards took part in Armed Services Vision Committee experiments. It was found that the guards who worked without proper sun glasses had their ability to see at night cut at least in half, adding immeasurably to the dangers of night-time driving.

Today, scientifically designed glass lenses are used in Bausch and Lomb's Ray-Ban sun-glasses to protect the eyes from the hazards and discomfort of glare from direct or reflected sunlight. Your eyes are priceless—look after them!
