THE ORIOLES RETURN

May the first was a red-letter day at our place. We received no wind-fall, nor did our "ship come in." However, some very welcome Spring visitors returned, and right on schedule, too. A cheerful, unmistakable whistle, a flash of glorious color, and yes the Baltimore Oriole, Maryland's official bird, is back! After his long absence, this exotic member of the blackbird family seems more beautiful than ever. The male is firey orange and satiny black, while the more subdued female is olive above and vellow below.

Orioles are quite domestic, and prefer tall shade trees for nesting. Our Carolina Poplar is a favorite them. Each Spring, from my kitchen window, I watch in rapt fascination as Mrs. Oriole skillfully weaves her unique hanging pouch, while Mr. Oriole acts as bodyguard and supplies moral support. Amazingly enough, last year's nest still remains, blowing limply in the breeze and looking like an old tattered sock.

Now that the Orioles have returned, you probably have some on your own premises. So take a careful look around for these birds are well worth

GRADUATION TIME

Graduation time will soon come again. Armies of young people will venture out into what they hope will be an exciting and receptive world.

It will, for a certainty, be a world which is vastly different from that their forebears knew. It is troubled, complex, and restive. Its demands are enormous and implacable. Change takes place at a dizzying pace. The challenges are all but endless.

Yet, at the same time, it is a world of marvelous opportunity. New frontiers are constantly being opened-in industry, business, government, medicine, the physical sciences. In the space of a few years, more material progress has been made than in preceding centuries. And the future will bring more and greater wonders-all the way from homes of virtually incredible comfort and convenience to the landing of human beings on the moon.

The world will welcome the young people who will soon leave the schools and colleges. In return, it will ask much of them. It will, often, require skills that didn't even exist a comparatively short time ago. Above all, it will demand a willingness to keep on learning. For formal education is a beginning and not an end in itself.

One more thing may be said. Surrounded as we are by material abundance and achievement, it is easy to lose sight of the old spiritual virtues. But, without them, the world is essentially meaningless and empty. This is a truth that never changes—and a truth that, one profoundly hopes, our young people will not forget.

"GRASSROOTS OPINIONS"

ROSHOLT, S.D., REVIEW: "We doubt whether Congress, overwhelmingly liberal as it is, will knuckle to the demands of the big unions to repeal right-to-work laws, and forcing people to join labor unions if they want a job. If they can make this stick, then it, would be logical to assume that every individual could be compelled to join a particular religion or a particular political party. Is this the kind of infringement upon an individual's freedom of association, freedom of choice that most Americans want? We certainly would say it is incompatible with a free society."

BEVERLY, MASS., TIMES: "Real equality will come only when the American Negro is given a chance to vote. . . . This is the only answer to the dilemma of civil rights. And the sooner Congress can solve it the better."

CORRIGAN, TEX., TIMES: "Don't feel left out if the government hasn't yet got around to building you a house, paying you for not growing something, or providing a guaranteed wage. The latest idea is to pay rent for those not poor enough to get in a housing project and too poor to pay regular rent. A lot of us ought to qualify."

STORM LAKE, IOWA, PILOTbeen introduced in the Senate and House at Washington calling for a constitutional amendment to overturn the Supreme Court's decision on state legislative apportionment. Write your senators and congressmen supporting such a measure, which would allow a state to apportion one branch of TRIBUNE: "Various resolutions have the legislature on some basis other than population."

HAVANA, ILL., DEMOCRAT: "... in Britain where its socialized medicine was figured at under 200 million pounds a year. The cost for the first year alone was more than twice as much, and the French social securannouncement, is tottering on the brink of disaster. Why? Because, like Medicare, too many people recognize it as a 'good thing' who ordinarily can afford to take care of their own hospital obligations. The Eldercare program limits benefits to only those who cannot afford to pay for costly health care and therefore is a much sounder financial bill than Medicare. It is our hope the administration wakes up and smells the SCOTTSVILLE, KY., NEWS: "The myth that the federal government's urban renewal program has been responsible for improvement in cities has been explored by an expert in the rehabilitation of heavily populated areas. Dr. Martin Anderson of the Graduate School of Business, Columbia University, in a recent speech, declared that it was private enterprise that has succeeded in renewing our cities while the high-cost urban renewal program has been a failure. . . . Congress should take a good hard look at the federal urban renewal program to determine if it is deserving of being continued."

FINDLAY, OHIO, REPUBLICAN COURIER: "There is at least one U. S. government corporation that makes money. The other day, the board of directors of Federal Prison Industries turned over $4 million of profits to the U.S. Treasury. The corporation operates 55 shops and 23 factories in federal prisons throughout the country. . . . So, despite the old adage, crime does pay. But not for the criminal."

FOREST CITY, PA., NEWS: "The following advice has been offered by Juvenile Judge Philip B. Gillim, of Denver, Colorado. 'Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teen-ager, "What can we do? Where can we go?" The answer is, go home! Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub some floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job. Help the minister, priest or rabbi, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, visit the sick, assist the poor, study you lessons. And when you are through, and not too tired, read a good book."

Did you have an enjoyable Mother's Day? My husband took his mother and I to the Altland House in Abbottstown for dinner while the chil-busy young man.

The Carroll County Homemakers'

very well attended and most inter-estingly presented. The Fashion Show was very well done and Mrs.

"A Tribute to the North and the South" was presented by grades one through six for the May Day program at Elmer A. Wolfe School last Wednesday. Did you attend? Then you know how well done it was. If not, you missed a learning experience. The different classes presented the music and dances of Civil War times. "Billy"

Coshun, as Abraham Lincoln, gave his Gettysburg Address. Jefferson Davis (Robert Hanson) and Generals

Grant and Lee (George Grossnickle and Eddy Stultz) were also present. Costumes of the period had been rented or made and it really added to the evening. Mrs. Pohlhaus and Mrs. Bankert were the "guiding lights" behind it all and the other teachers also did a big job. This takes a lot of time and patience: to present such a program. Well done to each of those who took part. Principal, Mr. Perron, crowned Sandra Miller as Queen.

A meeting was held Monday evening to plan for Vacation Church

School in Keysville in June. More teachers and helpers are needed! Contact Mrs. Ralph Haifleigh, Pastor

Markley, Edward Coshun or myself if you could help with the classes or drive the children to and from the church. Classes will be 9 to 11 A. M. as before but there will be four groups instead of three as previously to work with the new materials which are graded. The two weeks will be June 14 to 18 and 21 to 25. School report cards will be picked up on the 15th so there will not be Bible School that day. It was decided to hold the school those two weeks anyway because of making it so late otherwise. That day's lesson can be made up. Registration slips will soon

MARRIED

COOL — ALTHOFF Miss Catherine Gertrude Althoff became the bride of Samuel Bernard

Cool on Saturday, May 1, at 9:30 A. M. in Saint Anthony's Shrine of Emmitsburg, Md.

The bride is the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Frank J. Althoff of Emmitsburg, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Cool of Keymar, Md.

The Rev. Fr. Vincent J. Tomalski performed the nuptial mass. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of chantilly lace and tulle with a scalloped neckline accented with pearls. Her finger-tip veil was attached to a crown of irridescent pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid surrounded with lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Edward Althoff, sister-in-law of the bride was matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of maize, made of peau de soie with full skirt and matching head piece. She carried a bouquet of mixed carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Cool of Keymar, sister of the groom, and Miss Theresa Kelly of Emmitsburg. They wore identically styled gowns to that of the honor attendant, but of mint green matching headdress and carried bouquets of mixed carnations.

Mr. Gilbert Eiker of Emmitsburg served as best man. Ushers were Edward Althoff, brother of the bride, and James Mackley, both of Thur-

Mrs. Ernest Seltzer was organist. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Althoff chose a beige dress with white accessories and a corsage of white rose buds. Mrs. Cool, mother of the groom, chose a blue dress with white accessories and also a corsage of white rose buds.

For her wedding trip to an unannounced destination, the bride wore a navy and white three-piece suit with white accessories and the corsage lifted from her prayerbook.

Both the bride and the groom are graduates of St. Joseph High School in Emmitsburg. The bride is presently employed as a secretary at St. Joseph College, and the groom is employed by Ingleside Plumbing and Heating, Inc., Baltimore.

THE WAY I SEE IT . .

Observations on the World of Sports -by John Breth

Before the major league baseball teams went to spring training last winter, the Baltimore Orioles were chirping about the talents of out-fielder CURT BLEFARY. He seemed assured of a starting berth in the Baltimore outfield.

All the hopeful drum-beating was based on the youngster's performance last year at Rochester of the International League. He hit .287, belted 31 home runs and drove in 80 runs.

During spring training, however, another rookie outfielder, Paul Blair, another rookie outfielder, Paul Blair, became the apple of manager Hank Bauer's eye, and when the campaign opened, Blefary was sitting on the bench. He grumbled about it all right, but Bauer grumbled right back at him.

Then, outfielder Sam Bowens was incompleted about back at him.

Manager Bob Fogle decided that few years ago after their community.

he has come through very nicely. Though Bauer has used him mainly against righthanded pitchers, Blefary has hit five home runs and driven in 12 runs, which is pretty good for part-time work. He has had 40 official at-bats, and he has had 12 hits, which puts his batting average at an even .300.

Originally, the husky 21-year-old was the property of the New York Yankees. And, in fact, the Yankees are still paying for his college education. But, they lost him on waivers to the Orioles in 1963 for a bargain

There was some talk before the week-end that the Yankees were interested in getting him back. Their interest no doubt was heightened during the week-end series with Baltimore. Blefary belted a pair of home runs in the two games he played and drove in five runs. The Orioles, however, may not be interested in giving him up.

Helping to beat the Yankees is one sure way of being appreciated by your own team.
When ROBIN ROBERTS, considered washed-up three years ago, looks

Robin Roberts at Warren Spahn he must feel good he must feel even better. Not that Roberts has a better record than Spahn. But he has youth -at least comparative youth-going Robin is a mere 38. Spahn, at 44, is still going strong in his first sea-son with the Mets. Does that mean that Roberts will be going strong at 44? Not necessarily. But it doesn't mean that he won't either.

It was just three years ago that the Yankees turned Roberts loose at the age of 35 and the Baltimore Orioles signed him. Since that time he has won 41 games, which is nice going for a washed-up guy. It would even be nice going for someone who

Most of 18 years in the majors were spent with the Phillies, for whom, at one time, he was a perennial 20-game winner. Again the comparison to Spahn who was a perennial 20-game winner for Milwaukee unti that club sold him to the Mets.

Robin has four victories so far this season and is up to 276 in career wins. It is worthy of mention that when Spahn reached 276 he was a year older than Roberts.

Roberts was usually a contender for gopher ball honors even when he was in his prime with the Phillies. And he hasn't changed. He still is giving up home runs on an average of about two a game, but his still excellent control keeps him way down in that other important pitching column, free tickets to first base. When Roberts pitches you have to fight your way on base.

Baltimore has a lot of young pitchers who could use a steadying influence, even alongside them on the bench. Roberts may be that man. Don't Forget - The Taneytown Tiger scoring started right off in the first inning on rbi singles by Fred Shank, Mick McNair and "Skinny" Bollinger for a 3-0 lead. Next frame Don Favorite's sacrifice fly added another tally. Then, outfielder Sam Bowens was injured, and Blefary was given the chance he had asked for. Thus far, despite Arvin Bollinger's 4 for 5 at the plate work. The Tiger skipper could not hide his displeasure at the manner in which the Taneytown team gave away this victory.

few years ago after their community survey showed a need for additional and improved facilities for the town's growing Little League program. Only make-shift diamonds were in use at the time. The chapter's Youth Committee, headed by Dean Nusbaum, began to tackle the mammoth job after a successful Minstrel Show made funds available. Actual costs will amount to well over $1,500, with about half of this going for grading. Over 3,000 man-hours of labor were also donated in building, pouring cement, painting, raking, seeding, etc. In addition, there were a number of contributions of materials and services by local mer-chants, businesses and craftsmen.

The regulation-size ball field sports a grass infield, two cement block dugouts complete with storage room, eleven-foot high back stop which ex-tends from one dugout to the other, and a 2" by 1" wire fence enclosing the entire field. Unusual weather the past two years dashed hopes for a usable diamond last year, but is now in pretty good shape to take the hard usage which will be given it by the nearly 100 active youngsters. All those who had a part in the development of this excellent facility deserve a great deal of credit. It is another fine asset to the park and the community.

Made by Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilbur Naylor, Sr.

On March 29 Wilbur and I joined on March 29 Whour and I joined a group of 34 passengers (including the driver and hostess) on a sight-seeing Lincoln Bus Tour from Hanover, Penna., and started Southward where we would pass through nineteen states and return on May 1. We had ideal weather and much fun and many pleasant surprises as we journeyed from state to state.

many pleasant surprises as we journeyed from state to state.

When we stopped at Charlestown, W. Va., a representative from the Peoples Bank came on board and gave us a hearty welcome to their town, also a souvenir and a pencil for each one. We stayed the first night at a new motel in Wytheville, Va., where spring flowers were in bloom. When we left Birmingham, Ala. we were surprised to see headlines on the front pages of their papers telling of some bombings that had taken place during the night. There is much mistletoe in the trees and the long-hanging moss which used to be used in place of horsehair in men's coat collars. It is very warm as we cross Louisiana and everywhere the tall and stately palms and mountain peaks covered with snow. There was much snow on the mountains this past Winter. After a stop at Disneyland and Knotts Berry Farm we leave from Los Angeles to go to San Diego where we spend 11 days with Dr. and Mrs. Michael Okerlund and little Linda (our grandaughter). We were so glad to have this time to visit with Arlene, Mike and Linda. They took us to Hollywood, Bevenly Hills, to Mike's boat, Pt. Loma Lighthouse, Naval Hospital, the aquarium with its fish from the Pacific Ocean, Sea World, to Tijuana, Mexendin men's coat collars. a disappointment since it was dry, as the melting snows had not reached the border. We were told that Juarez has only 8-10 inches of rainfall per year, and as the homes are practically fire-proof they average about 3 fires a year. We were not too enthused with a tour of the bull fight arena.

The desert from Lone Pine to Death Valley is covered with creosote bushes which are very green, desert holly and some cactus. We found many resort places closed already because of the heat and our lodge was preparing to close next week. It was 94 degrees when we we all enjoyed our drive up the mountain through St. Augustine Pass, past the entrance to the White Sands Missile Range where the government has a missile project on the desert of New Mexico. It was near this place that the first atomic bomb was exploded and tested. As we approach, the white sand dunes are quite outstanding. We enter an auditorium standing. We enter an auditorium where we see slides of the dunes and where we see slides of the dunes and a lecture gives out information. These white sands are a deposit of gypsum left when a huge lake, Lucarno, dried up years ago. It is used in making molds for chocolate candy, chalk dentures, plaster of paris, etc. It is the largest deposit of gypsum in the world and has scientific and historical value. Only animals of white coloring or nearwhite can survive here. Water can be found a few feet below the surface but is very salty to the taste. While it is hot here there is much snow on the high mountain peaks. We had a real tasty buffet dinner including watermelon at Les Crucco while it is not here there is much snow on the high mountain peaks. We had a real tasty buffet dinner including watermelon at Les Crucco and now all nicely inspected for fruit on the bus—we enter Arizona. We fields of Oklahoma where they have persons as the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, the Rockefellers, General Pershing, etc., have stayed and some whose bedrooms have built-in swimming pools and fences made of the cactus ocotilla that starts to grow in the sand; the hotel where Dillinger was caught. Their water supply is furnished by many deep wells. Every-one liked Tucson.

On our way from Tucson to Palm Springs, California, we pass large Indian reservations, all desert; many cacti, no cultivation. Then on to irri-gated fields where water from the Colorado River is piped and now there are huge cotton and grain fields, fine homes and everywhere the used to be used in place of horsehair in men's coat collars. It is very warm as we cross Louisiana and everyone enjoys the delicious pecan pies. As we go down the highway in Dallas, Texas, (Rt. 80) we pass by the School Book Depository; and see the memorial marker with the U.S. and Texas flags flying, erected to the memory of the late President John F. Kennedy. We stop for the night at Abilene, a very nice town, with wide clean streets and three colleges. A Mrs. Cunningham and Mrs. Casseaux came to our hotel to greet us and welcome us all to their state.

We stayed in El Paso for two nights and enjoyed our tour of the city and a tour of Juarez, Mexico, across the border. I enjoyed very much the visit to a glass shop where many exquisite articles of glass were displayed and we saw the very young Mexican boys learning the art of glass blowing. We shopped in their stores and saw many fine articles of leather and silver they had made to sell to tourists. The Rio Grande was a disappointment since it was dry, as the melting snows had not reached ready because of the heat and our lodge was preparing to close next week. It was 94 degrees when we were there and has reached 134 degrees. We visit the old 20-mule team Borax works; the date palms; the Devil's golf course; Badwater where the elevation is 279.8 ft. below sea level, the lowest in the Western Hemisphere; Scotty's Castle where Will Rogers visited frequently and a chest Rogers visited frequently and a chest that belonged to Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand of Spain is kept; the Ukehebe Crater, Fabriskie Point, and drove around many peaks, and came in contact with some sand fleas that on the bus—we enter Arizona. We have passed many Indian homes, and the desert cactus is in bloom.

As we make a tour above and around Tucson we see our first eucalyptus trees, orange groves, abandoned copper mines, the University of Arizona with its beautiful campus; the slopes where wild hogs still roam, the huge cactus and an old movie set of Tucson in frontier days where western movies are still made. The desert museum was quite unusual with its strange exhibits. The Papago Indian Mission was an interesting structure with its 6-foot thick adobe walls and carvings. NO MAN on earth is absolutely good, so good he can't be better. No man on earth is absolutely bad, so bad he can't be worse. In preelection campaign speeches, to be sure, you might get the impression that one candidate has all the virtues, the other all the vices. Which one depends which one you are listening to at the moment! It is so with men now. no doubt it was always so. It was

Dr. Foreman certainly true of David, second King of Israel. Many good things could be truthfully said about him and many bad things too. Going rather beyond the "Background Scripture" for the day, as the reader is always welcome to do, consider the remarkable recommendation David had (unasked) from an anonymous young friend of his, some time before the fight with Goliath. I Samuel 16:18.) It is the kind of recommendation any young man would be glad to have.

The good in the man

First of all, he is identified as a son of Jesse of Bethlehem, only a few miles away. This is not a long-distance recommendation, it is testimony about a neighbor. Further it was true of David, no doubt, as it usually is, that much of the credit for his good traits is owed to his ancestry. If Jesse had been a shiftless character, his name would hardly have been mentioned as it was. David is also a man of valor, a brave man. We don't need to be told this, because we remember Goliath, the lion and the bear; but the young friend of David had not heard about all this because it hadn't happened yet. But the man was sure that David was brave enough for all emergencies, and so it turned out. Further, David is said to be a welltrained soldier at a time when soldiers were needed; and not a silent strong man either, but "prudent in speech," knowing when to talk and when to keep still (the young are not always thus!); and good looking besides. Two other facts: he is "skillful in playing the lyre;" music was his hobby, and evidently he worked at it, otherwise it wouldn't have been said that he was skillful. David was not the last man in history to get started on a career through the gateway of a hobby. Best of all was the last: "The Lord is with him." That speaks volumes . . . but how did the young man know this?

Evil in the man

Not so often mentioned in Sunday school are some facts on the other side of the scales. That these facts were remembered and set down in the historical documents of the Hebrew people speaks well of their frankness and honesty. It is a fact that David had a number of wives and concubines. By the time he became king he was already the husband of six wives, and how many concubines (wives from a lower social level) he had, the story does not say. Probably no official figures were ever issued. He was a "man of blood," to use his own phrase. He became head of a gang of raiders who would fall upon defenseless villages and slaughter every living human being.

On balance

And yet David's evil and good have to be weighed against each other. We have to judge him as we should judge all men, on balance. Now only God can finally say what the balance is. And we do have the testimony that he was a man after God's own heart. This does not mean that God pretends that wicked deeds are not wicked. It does not mean that some people are God's pets and have any kind of special license to sin. But it means, at least, that God judges a man by the general aim of his life, by his underlying and foundation-traits. A lifeboat in a high sea may point this way and that as the storm goes on; but if the man at the helm keeps the boat headed into the wind, he is steering well. So David — on balance — steered by the star of the grace of the

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF TANEYTOWN

Dear Voter:

Once again on June 7th, you are requested to exercise your civic right and responsibility by voting in the Municipal Election of the City of Taneytown. I would remind you that the only way we can truly have representative government, is for every eligible voter to go to the polls. and express his preference.

This year, three (3) Councilmen are to be elected to 4-year terms. Certainly, you will want to be very sure that you choose the right men to serve you for this period.

I want to take this opportunity to thank you for having allowed me to serve you these many years. I have thoroughly enjoyed this service, particularly because I have long had a strong conviction that we, all of us, have a moral obligation to serve the community in which we live. You have granted me this privilege and I have served you honestly; how well I have served is for you to say. This then is to recust your continued. I have served is for you to say. This then, is to request your continued support at the polls on June 7th.

You know my past record. You know that my efforts have always been for the continued growth and prosperity of Taneytown, and, upon occasion, to fight very hard for the retention of things that we hold near and dear in our community.

If you, the voter, choose to return me to the office of Councilman, I pledge a continuation of the same type of service and loyalty to Taney town that I have always demonstrated in the past. I have always placed what I considered to be the best interests of Taneytown above and beyond personal consideration. This will continue to be my policy.

I would not presume to instruct you in choosing your candidates. However, I would like to report that I hold the incumbent Council in very high regard. Without exception, they have proven themselves dedicated, conscientious and extremely competent. I want to assure you that this Council has never shown the slightest inclination to take any action that would retard the growth of Taneytown.

The choice is yours.

Sincerely yours, NEAL W. POWELL
