CARROLL COUNTY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION RELEASED ITS FIRST OFFICIAL PUBLICATION

Carroll County's Economic Development Commission released this week its first official publication. According to Frank T. Dunham, Chairman of the fifteen-man Commission, the fifty-five page publication con-cerns all available facts on Carroll County pertaining to Government, education, population, physical aspects, employment, business and industry, agriculture and community

Mr. Dunham indicated that distribution was starting this week to all officials, organizations, libraries, schools, and industrial development organizations. It was also noted that a limited number would be made available to the general public at the cost of fifty cents.

Basic information for the fact booklet was extracted from the County Planning Commission files. Other State and County agencies also con-tributed information, as well as public service type organizations.

The Economic Development Commission of the County has been in existence for almost two years and is existence for almost two years and is charged with fostering the economic development of Carroll County. The members of the Commission, in addition to Mr. Dunham, are Scott S. Bair, Robert Bankert, Raymond Beatty, Joseph H. Beaver, Jr., John Chenowith, Harry C. Clower, Walter T. Haines, Jr., Russell P. Hughes, Theodore R. Koons, Charles D. Schaffer, James C. Snyder, Randall G. Snoer-James C. Snyder, Randall G. Spoer-lein, J. Pearre Wantz, Jr., and Ed-ward L. Williar. Mr. Landon C. Burns is currently serving as director of the Commission's activities.

VIEW FROM MY KITCHEN WINDOW

My view, on this cool, cloudy day may be somewhat somber weather-wise, but in other respects it is both entertaining and colorful. To begin with, we just acquired a fat, rollicking puppy, named Beau. The little rascal at once struck up an acquaintance with Tiny, the red kitten. Evidently, neither, the dently, neither one is old enough as yet to realize that dogs and cats are natural enemies. Now, as I watch them with great amusement, Tiny has both paws wrapped around Beau's neck, as the lively pair grapple playfully with each other. Needless to say, the puppy has completely captivated us all—that is, with the exception of Skippy, our old dog, who views his antics with a jaundiced eye. Tiny and Beau, then, provide me with the most delightful kind of entertainment.

The birds, on the other hand, supply the color. A rich whistle and a flash of cheerful scarlet announce the presence of my favorite bird, the Cardinal, as he wings past en route to the woods. A pair of goldfinches, the male as bright as any sunbeam, feast on some thistle. Several barn swallows, with lovely salmon-colored breasts, swoop over the meadows in their endless quest for flying insects.

and a flicker searches eagerly, at the edge of the field, for an ant hill.

The view from my kitchen window is plainly not one of hustle and bustle, of roaring traffic and hurrying peo-ple. After all, I can always visit a city or town to see these sights, and on those occasions when I do, I always return to my kitchen window with a renewed sense of appreciation for the simple country things which I see all around me

LUTHERAN CHURCH WOMEN TO MEET IN CLEVELAND

Mrs. Howard W. Miller of Taneytown, Md., a member of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, will be an official delegate to the triennial convention of the Lutheran Church Women, the official women's auxiliary of the Lutheran Church in America, in Cleveland, August 16 to

Mrs. Edmund G. Price of Pittsburgh, Pa., president of the 280,000-member organization, said 381 delegates will come from the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. At least 1,000 vis-itors are expected to attend many of the sessions, all to be held at the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel.

Dr. Dorothy J. Marple, LCW's executive secretary, announced speakers at the five-day convention will include leaders with wide experience in government, human relations, politics and education, as well as in re-

The Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the Lutheran Church in America and chairman of both the America and chairman of both the Central and Executive Committees of the World Council of Churches, will speak at 8:00 P. M., Wednesday, August 18, on "the ecumenical church and human relations."

Each morning the Rev. Dr. Robert J. Marshall of Chicago, president of LCA's Illinois Synod, will conduct Bible study. Before he became synod president, he was a professor at the Lutheran Theological fessor at the Lutheran Theological tion and Religion.

The role of Lutheran Church Women in the field of human relations will be the key topic as the group seeks to formulate policies for the entire auxiliary. That's in keeping with the convention theme, "God Calls Us to Practice Love and Justice in Human Relations."

The keynote address on Monday night, August 16, will be given by the Rev. Dr. Frederick K. Wentz, professor at the Lutheran Thoelogical Seminary in Gettysburg, Pa. His topic is "Whose Day is This?"

Taking part in a symposium on hu-man rights Tuesday, August 17, will be Rep. Edith Green, congresswoman from Oregon; Charles P. Taft of Cin-cinnati, former Mayor and prominent lay churchman, and William S. Ellis, New York attorney.

Mrs. Abbie Clement Jackson of

Louisville, Ky., former vice president of the National Council of Churches and missionary supervisor of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, will speak Tuesday night, August 17, on "The Church Woman in the Affairs of Today."

On Wednesday afternoon two Lutheran Church in America executive secretaries will discuss their staff's contributions to human relations. The Rev. Dr. Earl S. Erb of the Board of World Missions and the Rev. Dr. Donald L. Houser of the Board of American Missions will answer questions after their talks.

On Thursday, August 19, the Rev. Dr. Harold Haas, executive secretary of the LCA's Board of Social Ministry, will speak on the theme, "What an Church in America is doing in the crucial areas of human

1965 Feed Grain Program Payments to be Made

Growers who have participated in the 1965 feed grain program will begin getting final program payments soon after August 16; Sterling J. Leister, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said today. The payments will cover both diversion and price-support payments.

In total, these payments are estimated at about $141,460.27 for the expected 220 county participants in the 1965 program. The payments will raise returns from the 1965 feed grain crops substantially. Farmers participants pating by diverting acreage under the program are also eligible for loans on their entire 1965 crops of corn, barley, and grain sorghum.

The diversion payments are made for reducing the acreage of one or more of the three crops-corn, grain sorghum, or barley—by at least 20 percent of the farm's base acreage and devoting such acreage to an approved conserving use. The payment is based on the normal yield for the farm times the per bushel rate which acreage planted to the three grains in 1965; rates for the price-support payments are 20 cents per bushel for corn, 16 cents per bushel for barley, made of the crop.

The Chairman explained that, last Spring, when farmers signed up to take part in the 1965 feed grain version payment to be earned under ceived their monetary awards and the 1965 program. In cases where an advance payment was made, the payment now available represents the balance of the diversion payment due and all of the price-support payment earned under the program.
Mr. Leister said that there should be no delay in the prompt receipt of the payment where the diverted-acreage and other program provisions have been met. After the application form is completed and signed, the payment will be made immediately. Farmers were also reminded by the Chairman that, even though program payments are to be made in the near future, the approved conservation practices are expected to be carried out on designated diverted acreage throughout the remainder of the year.

Social Security for Persons Over 65

Nearly all Carroll County residents 65 or over will be affected by amendments made in the Social Security Act recently by Congress, whether or not they receive social security monthly benefits.

An entirely new program of health insurance for the aged will affect most Carroll County people 65 or over. The first part of this program, a basic plan of hospital insurance, will benefit practically all people 65 or over. The second part of the program is a supplementary medical gram is a supplementary medical plan in which people 65 or over must choose whether or not they wish to enroll.

Another change in the law will affect all those people now getting so-cial security benefits. This is the 7 percent increase in benefits, which is effective beginning January 1965.

In September, beneficiaries will receive an extra check representing the difference between the new and old rates back to January. There is no need to come into the district office in order to get the benefit increase; will be done automatically. Other important changes made in-

The ruling Convention Peoples party was given unrestricted power to control all phases of Ghanaian life. . . . The result could be predicted. Ghana's various stateowned corporations have lost $39.2 million on an investment of $112 million. Even the Volta Dam, Ghana's proudest public works project to which the United States contributed some $47 million, may become a white elephant."

AULT, COLO., PROGRESS: "We can hardly agree with the statement that people cannot think for themselves. We consider and sincerely believe that every American is a sound thinker, an energetic worthwhile human, but his incentive has been taken away from him. He has been brain washed with Poverty programs, with Welfare ideas, with Aid programs, until he believes that only Washington can do what needs to be done. To us this is extremely disappointingwe have stated many times, and still believe in PIONEER SPIRIT - the drive and intestinal fortitude which discovered this great country of State Grange Fair. — The 18th annual Maryland State Grange Fair, opened on Tuesday, August 10 with a large crowd. After a short concert by the Taneytown Band, B. O. Slonaker, Master of Ceremonies, called the meeting to order, stating that the purpose of the morning meeting was to honor the memory of their fellow member of Taneytown Grange, Col. Jos. A. Goulden, who had passed away during the year. The choir of Grace Reformed Church, Taneytown, sang an anthem; "Star Spangled Banner," played by band, Rev. S. R. Downie gave an eloquent tribute to Col. Goulden. Tuesday was also "Democratic Day at the Fair, and literally speaking, "The woods was full of candidates." The exhibits were fully up to the standard of other years. The morning of the second day was bright and fair and an address was made by Dr. H. J. Patterson, President of Maryland Agricultural College and director of the Experiment Station. Mr. John B. Black, Master of Maryland State Grange also spoke on "The Grange."

Friday evening, the 13th, will be the first official meeting for the newly-organizing 4-H Club in the Middleburg - Feesersburg - Mt. Union area. The group met Thursday afternoon (5th) at the home of Kathy Plympton in Middleburg for a demon-stration on the use of plastic bottles given by Pat, Karen and Sandra Mc-Cullough of Manchester who are members of the Melrose 4-H Club. Karen has won Champion for her demonstration which comes under the Child Care Unit. After showing about a dozen articles made from various size bottles, the girls helped the new members to each make something from the bottles they had brought with them. (P.S. Hope to have a name for this group after the meeting on the 13th.)

Union, and two boys from Iola, Kansas, Jerry Pees and Dick DiBolt. Jerry and Dick are college students, who are working for the students who are working for the summer at Lehigh Cement Plant and boarding with the Dutrow family.

This is certainly baby bird time. The other day while taking down sheets I was startled to find a baby bluebird using me for a perch. We have a family in our small bird house on the telephone pole and this is their second year with us. Of course he didn't stay long and his parents were busily flying over my head and making a fuss. The meadowlarks are plentiful also and like to use our clothesline poles for resting places. Don't you just love to hear them whistle and sing? They have such a lovely song. The bob whites are nearby too, for though I haven't seen any, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shildt vis-ited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and the morning. What kind of birds do you have around?

Union Bridge Boy Scouts There were sixteen members of Boy Scout Troop 330 of Union Bridge and their guest, Gregory Clabaugh of Detour, who went on a Treasure Hunt, which was laid out by Assistant Scoutmaster Burnell Broadwater.

on Monday, August 9.
They trekked five miles across country using a topographical map and a compass to reach given points where they found instructions for further compass readings which eventually led them to two caves located off Marble Quarry Road. Here they succeeded in finding their treasure (big bag of candy) which was hidden in one of them.

Saturday morning the boys leave for a week of scouting experiences at Broad Creek Scout Camp near BelAir. A tour of the Cambridge Rubber Plant in Taneytown will be taken by the troop on Friday the 27th with any interested parents of the Scouts invited to attend also. Meet at the Scout building that morning at 10:00.

Sometimes a person can get into a tight spot when he least expects it. On Sunday in trying to get away from the heat of the afternoon your correspondent and husband went the mountains up close to Camp David. It really was nice, so cool. After spending several hours there we went to leave and the car wouldn't start and we were parked in a way which would of took a lot of hard work for us two to get out. A man and a woman came to our rescue and they asked if we could use some help They looked the car over and decided the battery was dead and they asked another man to help and they pushed us out on the road where in no time it started. We thank God for stran-gers who will help another stranger.

"IN SUMMER" by J. H. Dudley In Summer when birds arrow into the blue,
And flowers unfold where we pass,
I think of the sparrows that Jesus

once knew The lilies He saw in the grass. Since He, too, found beauty in blossoming things.

In sparrows saw all God's care. Now double in loveliness each bird that sings, Each flower that sweetens the air.

ANNUAL FAMILY PICNIC

The Taney Supply & Lumber Corporation held their annual family picnic on July 25, 1965, at the home of the president, Mr. Eric E. Glass, Emmitsburg, Maryland.

Everyone enjoyed playing volley ball, soft ball, and pitching horse shoes. Later in the afternoon the men had a clay pigeon shooting contest which was won by Mr. Robert Keil-holtz of Emmitsburg, Maryland. The delicious meal was prepared by Mrs. Audrey Glass and her mother, Mrs. Margaret Hahn.

Approximately 50 employees and members of their families and guests had a very enjoyable afternoon.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports -by John Breth

Around the American League, they are comparing SAM McDOWELL'S fast ball to the zinger thrown by National League ace Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers. The 22-year-old Cleve-land Indians lefthander is blazing fast, but, unless they put measuring devices on the pitches thrown by the two, the comparison between Koufax and McDowell is going to remain just conjecture. And remember, the talk is strictly about their fast-balls. McDowell is not in Sandy's class with the curve. Not yet, at any rate. But, the way Sam is improving, the day may not be too far away when they do start comparing the curves thrown by the two southpaws.

 mentioning Koufax and McDowell in the same sentence speaks for the reputation the Cleveland hurler is gaining among the men whose job it is to try to beat him.

Elston Howard of the Yankees, for instance, who has made a career of catching a pretty fair southpaw named Whitey Ford, says as far as he is concerned, McDowell is as fast as anyone else in baseball. Ford agrees, and adds: "It's just not possible for threads!" sible to throw a ball faster than Sam throws it."

The hopping fast-ball has been largely responsible for the fact Mc-Dowell leads the American League in strikeouts with 221. Just for a variety sake he does throw a curve ball or a change up now and then, but the over-powering fast-ball is what gets them.

In the five years that McDowell has been in professional ball, he has received all sorts of advice on what type of pitch to mix-in with the zinger. Some said a screwball would be perfect, others suggested a slider, and, the tricky ones whispered "Try to wet it", meaning the spitter. But, McDowell finally realized if he listened to all the well-meaning advisors, he wouldn't have time to throw the fast-ball. So, he finally has junked the assorted other pitch-ers, and goes with his ace most of the Colts and Miss Joan Hansen, Maryland's Queen of Flowers, were present when Mrs. John C. Schaeffer, Seal

Campaign Chairman, opened the new 1965 Christmas Seals that arrived at the Carroll County Tuberculosis As-As a result, in addition to the 221 strike-outs, he also has 12 victories to show for his efforts. And, he has Making up quite a package, the Seals weighed 456 pounds and were in 8 cartons of 5000 sheets each, making a total of 4 million Christmas the Cleveland fans talking about Bob Feller's strike-out record again. Feller struck out 348 batters in 1948, and, the feeling is growing that Mc-Dowell is going to be the one to break the mark. If not this year, then next, or maybe the year after. As we said, he is only 22, and improving all

Sometimes adversity is a spur. The twins seem to be taking it that way. They will have to get along without home run hero Harmon Killebrew for a couple of weeks because of his dislocated elbow. They will have to get along with-out their fine right-hander, Camilo Pascual, for at least one month and possibly the rest of the season. They have had a lot of trouble, including a cracked wrist for slugger Bob Alliand prayers by the ministers were and prayers by the ministers were sneers were cast in their direction in July when they ran into a losing streak and predictions were made freely that they'd had it.

But nobody has been able to convince the Twins of that. They may be racked up by injuries. Their pitching may have a large question mark over it for the final two months. Their defense may be something less than perfect. But they don't know it.

This may be going far afield but if you've been around a few years, somewhere along the line you've encountered a plain girl who believed she was beautiful. Sometimes she convinces a lot of other people as well. More Wait and See Dept.-Last

Growth by Service Lesson for August 15, 1965

Background Scripture: Romans 12;

Devotional Reading: Galatians 6:1-10.

"GROWTH BY Service" might have a number of meanings, not especially Christian, but illustrating the point of the Christian sense of those words. A bank could use it without stretching the truth at all. The best way for bank to prosper trations of this same truth: growth comes through service.

the bank serves, the more service to more people, the more popular it becomes. Chain stores, hospitals, transportation Dr. Foreman networks - these are only small samples of illus-

It is true of human beings also, we grow, or we can grow as persons through service rendered to our fellowmen. The life of Albert Schweitzer is remarkable in many ways: he lived in three worlds and was master of all three. At least he knew more about all three worlds than most people know about one. He first became famous as an organist, and specially noted as an interpreter of J. S. Bach. Then he became a Biblical scholar. It is true, he was not orthodox; but again he knew more about theology than most theologians know. But finally he went as a self-supported missionary to one of the neglected regions of Africa. Schweitzer served in three fields, and grew in them all. Where did he grow most? In his hospital in Lambarene. He was a bigger man, no doubt, for his services to music and theology; but more people in the world at large knew him on account of his work as a missionary than knew him or about him in his earlier years.

Christlike Service

It is true, and we could keep on adding names to the roll of honor, to prove it, - true, that we grow by serving; but not all kinds of service are Christian. A business man may open a liquor store and win so many friends that he has to move into a larger store. He may be a dope peddler and very much sought after by young customers; but no one would say that is Christian. We can get along without people whose offerings to society are mostly to encourage sins. But the highest service is what can honestly be called Christlike. It is at the high Christian level that the principle of growing-by-service becomes most clear. When is an act or a service unmistakably Christian? First of all, when it is Christlike in itself. A hospital reminds us of Christ's works of love; but a syndicate formed to furnish murder is obviously not Christian. There was a famous Japanese Christian named Toyohiko Kagawa who was one of the world's most widely known writers: but what made him great was not his writings. It was his going down, himself victim of more than enough diseases to kill him, - down into Tokyo's most wretched slums and there living as a poor man, helping bring a bit of heaven into a most unpromising part of the world.

Not every one can be a Schweitzer or a Kagawa. Not every one has their gifts. But if the Lord gives you children of your own, or by your choice, he will (if you will!) give you also the beginnings of the gift of being a good parent. There is no situation in life where Christians are needed, Christian firmness of character, than in the home. There is no job harder than being even a fairly good father or mother. On the other hand, there is no greater service parents can render than maintaining a home where (so to speak) the climate is right for Christian living. What your community, your business, or neighborhood prizes most of all is better people. There is no greater service than to guide the growth of human beings. But children are not the only growing things in a home. In the very process of rearing the children God has given them, the parents too will grow. "Inasmuch as you did it to the least of these you did it to me". Christians grow by helping others grow!

Dear Editor,

As a master of the tongue-in-cheek school, we give you Publisher Frank R. Mills of THE CHRONICLE-HERALD of Hoopeston, Ill. In his "News and Views on Main Street" column, Mr. Mills wrote awhile back: "My youngest brother (next to me) has joined the ranks of the unemployed. As defined by Government propaganda, he is all through at 62, so he becomes a ward of the Federal he becomes a ward of the Federal bureaucracy and his abilities are dumped in the ash can. He is also supposed to be feeble, worn-out, disease-ridden, broke and have sired only selfish, irresponsible and ungrateful children unwilling to take care of his old age.

"Well, leave me tell you something!

He's got 'em all fooled rook med.

He's got 'em all fooled real good. He's spry enough to dance squares all night and takes two weeks off every year to go to the hill-billy convention. Last year he had a little variety by traipsing off to Europe for four weeks. He has three fine boys and a girl, all prosperous, and a string of grandchildren that would reach from here to the street would reach from here to the post office. He's a little bowed down from carrying his money to the bank, but now

Government, and it behooves me, the only one working to go like mad, pay my taxes cheerfully and more so all the time, while hoping and praying I'll live to 62 and get my share . . ."

This last statement, we seem to suspect, is the point of the whole discussion, and that what Publisher Mills wishes to convey to his readers is that the whole politically-based social security scheme is illogical, inequitable and actuarily impossible. Even without tacking on Medicare (as the Administration is, right now, determined to do), those of us with determined to do), those of us with the content of the whole discussion, and that what Publisher Mills wishes to convey to his readers is that the whole politically-based social security scheme is illogical, inequitable and actuarily impossible. Even without tacking on Medicare (as the Administration is, right now, determined to do), those of us with determined to do), those of us with determined to do), those of us with a stake of nigh onto 30 years of SS payments have a right to wonder how long the kitty will last and how we arrange things when, as Mr. Mills goes on to say, inflation has made the monthly chack worth a day's green monthly check worth a day's gro-

HOW BREAD WAS BORN

AT FIRST BREAD WAS FLAT 8,000 years ago people on the other side of the world mixed flour and water to make flat cakes of bread which they baked on hot stones placed in the bright sunlight.

YEAST DISCOVERED BY ACCIDENT

Yeast makes bread rise and it was most likely found by "accident." An Egyptian baker forgot about his dough . . . wild yeast cells settled on it . . . and when it was baked, the dough popped up high and light. The accident was a great success!

YEAST IS A LIVING PLANT For hundreds of years men wor dered what yeast was. In 1859 Louis Pasteur found that yeast was a live plant. For yeast lives and breathes and grows. It is a hard worker. When it meets sugar, yeast makes bubbles that raise the dough.

YEAST "FARM" STARTED IN A TEST TUBE

The yeast we use today comes from a little test tube of yeast that Charles Fleischmann, an Austrian, brought to America in 1868. The yeast that has his name is the best known yeast in America today, and the Fleischmann's Yeast Plant in Peekskill, New York is the largest in the More interesting facts about yeast together with illustrated directions for preparing a loaf of bread are found in "The Young Cook's Bake-A-Bread Book." Written especially for 8 to 12 year olds, a free copy of this booklet may be obtained by writing: Fleischmann's Yeast, P.O. Box 509, Madison Square Post Office, New York, N. Y.

Open Air Hunger - Soup's On!

Chow time will be quite a sight at the Senior Girl Scout. Roundup on the shores of Lake Pend Orielle at Farragut, Idaho. Over 1,000 fires will be burning simultaneously for breakfast, lunch and dinner. Sixty-eight tons of charcoal will provide the fuel. The 9,000 teen-age cooks will learn much about the arts of gourmet and outdoor cooking, and they will also take home many ingenious methods for shortening meal preparation through the use of convenience foods. use of convenience foods.

Two hundred and fifty tons of food will be used. Just to give you an example of the staggering grocery list, 29,300 cans of soup will go into the preparation of 10 meals during the event. Here are two of the Girl Scout tested and approved recipes.
