Among their questions are the one "Did you mail it?" We wish to advise our subscribers that "The Record" has always been placed in the post office on publication day—we have not missed a day since it's first Publication in 1894. It is up to the Post Office Department to make the delivery.

HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Taneytown High School opened its doors on Wednesday, September 8, to a total enrollment of 440 students. Five new teachers joined the faculty. Hugh Friend is the Guidance Counselor. Ralph Inelan is teaching 7th grade English and Social Studies, Antonio Magnotto is teaching General Science and will also coach varsity basketball, Kenneth Hood is teaching Industrials Arts, and Mrs. Shirlee Solomons is teaching vocal music.

An assembly was held on opening day. Frank Mather, principal, officially welcomed the student body, and new and returning teachers. Jerry Knouse, retiring student council president, introduced and installed the new officers of the Student Council. They are as follows: Thomas Baumgardner, president; Kenneth Strickhouser, vice president; Linda Riffle, secretary; Richard Reindollar, treasurer; Beverly Fair, reporter.

The Rev. Howard Miller, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, spoke to the boys and girls, encouraging each student to work diligently.

The STEP and SCAT tests are being administered to the eleventh grade this week and next week will be given to the ninth grade.

The STEP (Sequential Tests of Educational Progress) are achievement tests which measure how well a pupil is able to use what he has learned not just how much he has remembered.

The SCAT (School and College Ability Tests) were designed to help the student and his teachers estimate his general ability to do the work of the next school year. They do this by measuring the student's ability to use and understand words (verbal ability) and his ability to use and understand numbers (quantitative ability).

Parents are asked to see that their children are present at school so that they may take these tests at the scheduled time.

Because of the County Teachers' meetings in Westminster on Monday, September 20, school will be dismissed at 11:30 A. M.

THE FAMILY LAWYER MAN OVER BEAST

The Bible tells us that mankind was given dominion over the animals of the land and the fish of the sea. But, as any sportsman knows, it isn't always easy for one particular man to gain dominion over one particular animal or one particular fish.

In the eyes of the law, when do you become the owner of a wild creature? To start with, the state "owns" all the wild animals and fish that dwell permanently within its borders.

But the state owns them only in a very general sense, holding title in trust for the benefit of the people. Any person—subject to the fish and game laws and private property rights—may acquire ownership of any animal or fish simply by reducing it to his possession.

But just what is possession? Consider this case: A hunter was in hot pursuit of a deer when another hunter, appearing suddenly from different direction, felled the animal with a fatal shot.

In short order the two men went to court to settle ownership of the deer. The judge duly ruled in favor of the second hunter, holding that pursuit alone, no matter how close to success, was not enough to give title to the pursuer.

But in another case, a hunter who inflicted disabling wounds on a wolf over a second hunter who stepped up close and administered the coup de grace. The court said the first hunter had acquired possession, hence ownership, by making the wolf's escape just about impossible. Even as you may gain ownership by gaining possession, so you may also lose ownership by losing possession. Clearly you have no rights in a fish which, although briefly hooked, squirms free and regains the safety of the water.

In one unusual case, the owner of a sea lion that escaped into the ocean was held to have no claim against a man who caught the same sea lion two weeks later, 70 miles away. On the other hand, if an escaped animal is trained to come home again, then the owner retains title. The habit of return, like an invisible leash, ties the animal to its owner.

A woman's pet canary, having escaped from its cage, was caught and kept by a neighbor. But in a court test, the first woman was held to be the owner still. The court pointed out that the bird answered to her call, had not gone far, and had previously come home voluntarily after an outing.

"Such a bird could not be considered fair game for capture, said the court, because it had not truly gone 'back to nature.'"

SENATOR'S MAIL INTERCEPTED; HIS TAX RETURNS QUESTIONED IN WAKE OF INVESTIGATION OF BOBBY BAKER SCANDALS

Senator John J. Williams of Delaware "has paid and is paying a fearful price" for initiating the investigation of Bobby Baker "and for daring to persist in probing for facts," says a charge in John Barron of the Washington Reader's Digest article, "The Case of Bobby Baker and the Courageous Senator."

Harassment of Williams in the wake of his investigation of Baker, the Washington "wonder boy" who was secretary to the Democratic majority in the Senate and who had been a protégé of Lyndon Johnson, according to the article, has included interception of the Republican Senator's mail and questioning of his income tax returns for two years.

"Patrons of Baker," writes Barron, "have schemed to silence Williams' sources, to deceive him with false leads, to smear his character, even involve his family."

In the course of the campaign to "get" Williams, the late Carole Tyler, formerly Baker's confidential secretary, announced to Tennessee newspapermen that she had seen "the principal instigator of the Senate investigation" of Baker at 6:30 one morning with a young lady not his wife. Miss Tyler failed to point out that the young lady in question was the Senator's granddaughter!

The article reports an attempt to plant with Williams a phony story purporting to show that three high government officials had made millions in a corrupt deal. But Williams investigated carefully and found the story was a fake.

The campaign to drive Williams from public life was so intense, writes Barron, that President Johnson chose to spend the final day of the 1964 campaign in Delaware appealing for the Senator's defeat, although the state has only three electoral votes. Despite the Johnson presence and his landslide victory in Delaware, enough Democrats split their tickets to return Williams to the Senate with a 6,932-vote edge.

The Bobby Baker case has ended in "a rain of whitewash," says Barron. Baker repeatedly took the Fifth Amendment rather than answer questions on how he managed to accumulate a fortune which he claimed was worth $2 million on a top salary of $19,600. He received only a relatively mild rebuke from the Senate Rules Committee and he is today a prosperous and confident man.

But for Williams, the ordeal goes on with an intensity that recently led Sen. Frank Lausche, a Democrat, to accuse fellow Senators of trying to make Williams "the culprit" while letting "the true culprit go free."

Williams has pledged to continue "his lonely search for the truth" in the Baker case. "I am not about to be intimidated," he says. "In fact, my curiosity and determination grow as resistance intensifies."

John Barron, who joined The Reader's Digest last March, began investigating the Baker case as a reporter for the Washington Evening Star. With Paul Hope of the Star, he has received numerous citations for coverage of the case, including the Raymond Clapper Award, Long Island University's George Polk Award and the Grand Award of the Washington Newspaper Guild. Mr. Barron's parents live in Sherman, Texas.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health-life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Letters to be answered!—

DEAR OBSERVER:— My husband passed away and I live in a large 2-story row of houses. I have no children and am quite alone. Soon I will retire from my office position and I am considering of making this old home into 2 apartments. It would be better just having someone in the house. Sometimes, I hesitate about it and wonder what to do. Would you attempt this as I have the money to do it? All Widows are in this row and they have accomplished this, too. Thanking you! Signed R. V. M.

DEAR R. V. M.:— There is truly much to think about in planning such a thing. Not alone the cost as labor is frightfully high now but the thing with an old house sometimes there is more added expense when they start to renovate of which is not noticeable now. Then, too, if you are not accustomed to anyone living in your home, it will be much different, for houses are not sound proof, as regular apartment houses and if you are going to live on the first floor (which I imagine you would do) you can hear every foot step above and much other noise. One cannot be real intimate, too with a renter so they would not be close friends which really is much wiser not to be. The idea of you hesitating should give you another thought. Why not go into an up-to-date apartment and either sell your home or rent it? —Your Observer.

DEAR OBSERVER:— My husband's Mother and Father have just recently been placed in a Convalescent home—each a distance away from one another. All the family—there are 4 married children and are compelled to keep on visiting, of course. There is a house involved where this aged couple have lived and the only widow daughter is taking over. She says she is trying to sell it herself, yet there is no sign on the premises, even to call her on or to make inquiries as to price, etc. We, naturally worry about that as the money they had in bank is being used to pay weekly as to the expense and it is almost gone—so the money for this house was to continue payments. Don't you think this is an odd state of affairs? Signed M. C.

DEAR M. C.:— If there are four married children, I should call a meeting if I happened to be one of them and have a real and final talk as to turning the house over to a Realtor for then he would have the responsibility of it all for he would not alone place his sign on the property but he would have to show it at any time. Time is fleeting by and houses cannot be sold in a minute. —Your Observer.

DEAR OBSERVER:— I graduated in June from H. S. and answered a Secretary position and was given the position over dozens of other girls. I love this work and am very contented and happy, so I therefore want to continue on and not attend College as my Parents desire me to do. Don't you think I should stay put? I. R. M.

DEAR I. R. M.:— No, I do not think you should stay put and I must agree with your parents. You should Thank God that you have such wonderful parents and that they can afford to send you to College. As I have stated in this Column before, "AN EDUCATION IS SOMETHING WHICH NO ONE CAN EVER TAKE AWAY FROM YOU!" Be wise and take their advice. Think of the type position you may hold after the College education! Best wishes and good luck! —Your Observer.

DEAR OBSERVER:— I am engaged to be married. Am a Widower and expect to marry a Widower who is a very fine person. Two things worry me. We both have homes and he is a different religion but he wants me to marry in his Faith. What would you suggest? I will appreciate your answer soon. I had the pleasure of meeting you a few years ago and we never miss your Column. Thanking you, W. & W.

DEAR W. & W.:— Such little things to worry you which can quickly be solved by your love for one another! Talk it over sensibly and see if this gentleman would not be willing to sell his home and live in yours. The money he gets for his home would be nice to renovate your home—if there is anything to be done to it. As to the certain Clergy at the marriage ceremony—what's the difference as long as he is a Soldier of God's House? Be sure you love him and he loves you and that is all that matters and never, never, ever discuss religion or in other words to have any misunderstanding at all. Lots of happiness! —Your Observer.

So long, folks until next week when I will be writing from the Virgo people—those born from August 20 to September 20, inclusive.

Have a grand week-end.
I remain,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE!!

Politics is one of the principal occupations in a free nation. But a nation will remain free only so long as the voters control the politicians.

The people of the United States have no conception of what fear of government officials means. They have never been herded into oblivion by state police for expressing views in opposition to dictators in power.

As a result, U.S. citizens have never lived in fear of officialism. Under our Constitution, they have enjoyed the right to choose — the greatest civil right.

But politics has been whittling away at that right and steadily restricting the individual's right of choice in the U.S.

Therefore, it is well to read the words of one who remembers living in fear—where the individual was the plaything of officialism — where he had no choice.

The following letter "To The Editor" appeared in the Portland, Oregonian recently. It said in part:

"Although my age was only eight when my father was forced to leave Russia because of persecution, my memories are very vivid of the tribulations endured under governmental controls. Because of these unforgettable experiences, the constitutional rights and liberties are treasures worthy of preservation regardless of cost."

When you see a candidate for public office, or an elected official advocating policies that undermine constitutional safeguards, states rights and individual opportunity, turn thumbs down on him while you have a vote and a choice.

—Industrial News Review.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Ralph T. Moore writes in the Oregon Voter: "... beware of the man who campaigns on the grounds that he is of the masses and is ardently sympathetic to their needs. His vision is much too apt to embrace only votes, and to be too narrow to encompass solutions to vexing problems. We desperately need men who have, by their own efforts, risen superior to the restriction of environment and circumstance, to become outstanding in their particular field. And note carefully that such men are never ordinary but extraordinary. They, only, have the true objectivity essential to the public service, the objectivity that enables them to be the representative of all the people in their district or under their jurisdiction, not merely the representative of the clique or class from which they come."

Oil Facts reports that the U.S. armed forces depend on the petroleum industry for more than 800,000 barrels of oil products every day. This year, it adds, oil companies are supplying the military with about 295 million barrels of products, including aviation gasoline, jet fuels, motor gasoline, diesel fuel, other distillate fuel oils, Navy Special fuel oil and a variety of specialties.

Walter Bouldin, president of the Alabama Power Company, says: "The charm of government power is its low rates, and the low rates come from an injustice that takes the labor of many men to benefit a relative few."

According to the Association of American Railroads, U.S. railroads hauled more than two million new motor vehicles in the first half of 1965 — over two fifths of the auto manufacturers production! They anticipate handling more than 4.5 million new vehicles by the end of this year as compared with 3.5 million in 1964. The traffic growth is attributed to the railroads' steadily expanding fleet of auto-rack cars — now numbering more than 10,000 — and to the low rates made possible by volume movements.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover writes: "The motorist who stops and opens his car door to a stranger may be asking for a death ride for himself and his family. Many times, the innocent-looking young man on the roadside is a trigger-happy or knife-wielding killer. For safety's sake, drivers should exercise that part of valor considered best — discretion — and pass up hitchhikers."

And, of course, sausage, of a long list of types, is still a favorite food.

The Portland, Oregon, Traffic Safety Commission observes that tailgating can start off a violent chain reaction in any kind of traffic. So — keep your distance. It is recommended that at least one car length be allowed for each 10 miles of speed. Every inch of that space will be needed if there is even a minor complication in traffic up ahead.

Little Joseph Morley, near here, was bitten by a tame rabbit before Labor Day—and I believe it was stated the rabbits were found dead the next day. So thinking, perhaps it might have rabies the child was taken to a doctor who started giving him shots; and as the child was Labor Day they could not have tests made of the rabbits until on Tuesday. They got their first report on Wednesday, saying, "there were no signs of rabies." On Friday, the final word they had no signs of it. You might say, why telling all this? Because you should take every precaution in handling rabbits. The little boy had no ill effects from the bite; but a lot of suffering from the shots—but an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Many low-income farmers in Carroll County will be able to report more as net earnings from self-employment in years after 1965 because of a liberalization of optional reporting requirements in the 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act. Leonard M. Wald Filed Representative of the Towson, Maryland Social Security District Office, announced this week.

The new amendments permit farmers whose gross income in a year is $2,400 or less to report two-thirds of their gross income as their net earnings from self-employment. The previous comparable option provision limited the amount of gross earnings that could be used to figure net earnings to $1,800.

Mr. Wald gave the following explanation of how the optional method of reporting farm self-employment income works, using the next maximum amount. A farmer who has gross income of $2,400 from his farm during his taxable year may have less than $400 of actual net earnings, and he would not be able to get any social security credit at all under the usual income reporting requirements. Under the optional method available to farmers, however, he may report two-third of his gross income, or $1,600, as net earnings from self-employment.

If a farmer's gross income is over $2,400, from farming operations only, and his net is under $1,600, he can report either his actual net or $1,600 as net earnings from self-employment. A farmer who has gross earnings of over $2,400, must report his actual net earnings for social security purposes, if they are $1,600.00 or more, he stressed.

A farmer who already gets monthly social security payments should consider that if his gross farm income is more than $2,400 and he reports under the optional method, he may have some of his benefits withheld that year since his income will go above the $1,500 retirement test limitation, he added.

A farmer who chooses to report his net earnings under the optional method must also do so when he makes his report to the Social Security Administration for purposes of the retirement test. He cannot use his "optional" net earnings on his Federal income tax return and then report his "actual" net earnings for purposes of the retirement test.

Carroll County residents may obtain further information and assistance by contacting the social security representative who is in Westminster at the County Administration Building on every Monday and Wednesday from 9:30 A. M. to 3:30 P. M.

"Tips by Tootie"

Instead of making lunch-box sandwiches a daily chore, make a lot at one time. Wrapped properly, they will stay fresh in the freezer until needed.

To help strengthen problem fingernails add an envelope of unflavored gelatin to your cup of coffee or fruit juice daily for several months.

Hang a pretty plastic shoe bag inside the hall closet door to hold your childrens gloves and mittens.

If you are looking for a different gift for a friend who is a gardener, there is a lovely plaque with raised letters which reads: The kiss of the sun for pardon The song of the birds for mirth One is nearer God's heart in a garden Than anywhere else on earth.

Good grooming is as important for the boys in your family as it is for the girls. Their appearance may mean the difference in getting a job or not getting it. A gentleman once advertised for a boy to assist him in his office and here is why he picked the boy he did. He wiped his feet when he came in, and closed the door after him, showing that he was careful; gave up his seat to an older man, showing that he was kind and thoughtful; he took off his cap, showing he was polite; he picked up a book which had been purposely laid on the floor, while all the rest stepped over it; and he waited quietly for his turn, showing that he was honest and orderly. When the employer talked with him he noticed that his clothes were carefully brushed, his hair in nice order, his teeth as white as milk; and when he wrote his name he noticed that his fingernails were clean.

Don't always be complaining about not having anything new to wear. You probably have heard the story about the fellow who complained of having no new shoes until he looked down and saw the man who had no feet. Something to think about!

Until next time, H. H.

TIGERS BOAST BEST FINISH SINCE '54

Ernie Combs Leads Taneytown to 19-7 Log

The Taneytown Tigers recently finished their best season in over a decade as they brought their season record to 19 wins and seven losses for a second place finish behind the McSherrystown Twins who won the South Penn League pennant.

It hasn't been since 1954 that Taneytown has managed to finish as high as the runnerup spot. In that year, Mummasburg won the championship. The season preceded, 1953, Taneytown again ended up number 2 behind the champ Bonneauville. True, the Tigers have won in playoff competition, but they NEVER have ended up second in the final standings since 1954.

Ernie Combs, Tiger second sacker, ended up with the highest batting for his kind understanding of late baseball reports and all-around cooperation during the past season.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports

by John Breth

There is little or no chance that KEN BERRY of the Chicago White Sox will be named the "Rookie of the Year" in the American League but he may be a rookie with a future just the same.

Ken is a center fielder who got a big buildup in Spring training as the new "Rover Boy" in the White Sox outfield, taking over for Jim Landis. Berry was supposed to be a tremendous fielder and only a fair hitter. He has not been a tremendous fielder nor has he been a fair hitter.

However, he has been a good fielder and promises to be a better one. He is learning how to play the hitters and by next year should have a good book on the entire league.

In hitting, Ken was weaker than even the weakest predictions for most of the season. He was struggling to keep his head above the .200 mark for most of the year.

But late in August he began to show signs of life at the plate and during one stretch of 10 days hit a pace of slightly better than .300.

Berry says that he is relaxing more than he was earlier in the year. Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago team says: "If he would only stop swinging at bad balls he would hit .280."

By modern standards, a .280 batting average for a center fielder is excellent.

When Southpaw, BILLY O'DELL, was pitching for the San Francisco Giants a few years back, the Giants used to worry about him because Billy was homesick for his family in Newberry, South Carolina.

Billy now pitches for the Milwaukee Braves, who were lucky enough to get him in a trade with the Giants last Winter.

And apparently he doesn't suffer from homesickness anymore. O'dell has become a polished pro. Manager Bobby Bragan of the Braves calls him, "Mr. Ice Water."

Billy's record for the season is 7 victories and 4 losses. But a much more important part of a relief pitcher's record is the figure under the heading of "Saves."

At last County Billy had saved 13 games for the Milwaukee Club and it's hardly likely the Braves would be as close to the leaders as they are if it wasn't for O'Dell.

Billy had a terrible earned-run average last year, something like 5-point-40. This year he is below two runs per nine innings, 1-point-91, the last time anybody figured it.

He also had a sore arm last year, which the Giants knew about and undoubtedly considered when they made the trade with the Braves.

But what they didn't know, says O'Dell, was the fact that the work he did all Winter getting his arm in shape paid off.

Says Billy: "They never even called to find out how I was doing. They just took it for granted that my arm was dead."

Billy won 19 games as a starting pitcher for the Giants in their pennant-winning year of 1962 but doesn't mind it in the least that he now is a full-time bullpen worker.

He says: "After all the trouble I had last year I'm glad to be pitching anywhere."

Manager Bobby Bragan has toyed with the notion from time to time of moving O'Dell to his starting platoon. But he, each time, he has rejected his own idea. O'Dell is too valuable where he is now.

REMEMBER WHEN DEPT. - Baltimore native, Bobby Young, batted in the lead-off position and hit a robust .245 for the Orioles? It was 1954.

TODAY'S SPORT LAUGH - Coach "Doc" Schayes of the Philadelphia "76ers" of the N.B.A. was asked what type of offense he will use against the Boston Celtics this year. Schayes said it will be a gozintoo pattern. When the reporter looked puzzled, he answered: "We keep shooting until the ball goes-in-to-the-basket."

Zoning Ordinance Explained

(This is the 2nd in a series of weekly discussions on the Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance Adopted for Carroll County. Future discussions will be included in this newspaper on each of the vital phases of the Zoning Regulations.)

One of the important sections of the new Zoning Ordinance is entitled, "General Provisions." These provisions deal with subjects common-place in all zoning ordinances, yet may vary in each county or city somewhat in application or the extent of coverage.

The zoning regulations in Carroll County are minimum regulations and following their adoption on August 18, 1965, conformance is required in accordance with the provisions of the ordinance of all land uses, buildings or structures, including reconstruction, enlargement, conversion or extensions of such uses or buildings and structures.

Recognized in the ordinance are those uses which existed on the date of the ordinance's adoption and which do not conform to the terms of the ordinance. These are known as "non-conforming uses." A non-conforming use may continue under the new ordinance and can expand up to 35% of its non-conforming area upon approval of the Board of Zoning Appeals after public hearing. A junk yard cannot expand under this provision. Those non-conforming uses, which cease operations for 6 months or more cannot thereafter be continued under the new provision. Exceptions to this are made for those uses destroyed by fire or other disaster.

The general provisions exempt agricultural uses from the provisions of the ordinance except set back lines and distance requirements for buildings from adjacent lot lines. Likewise, the new regulations recognize zoning certificates issued prior to the adoption of the ordinance provided construction shall have been started within one year after the date of issuance.

The general provisions also allow for the extension of an additional period up to 5 years for any use approved by the Board of Zoning Appeals under the Interim Zoning Ordinance which was originally given a time limit as a condition for the original approval by the Board. The General Provisions also allow the continued use of any lot existing prior to the adoption of the ordinance if at the time of its creation it was a buildable lot.

The General Provisions section of the ordinance (Article 4) restricts the construction of buildings within any new road lines if it has been proposed in the Major Road Plan of the county. The Zoning Administrator must receive verification from the State or County Road authorities within 30 days to withhold the issuance of a zoning certificate, however. The Board of Zoning Appeals under this provision can hear an appeal where building is held up for this reason and may grant a zoning certificate if the applicant is vitally affected and if the public interest in the preserving of the integrity of the Major Road Plan is not jeopardized.

Essentially utilities, such as telephone, electric, gas, water, and sewerage lines are exempted from the ordinance, except that cross-country transmission or trunk lines are subject to Planning Commission review. The third in the series of these discussions will consider several special provisions of the zoning ordinance including off-street parking, roadside signs, and mobile homes.

CARD OF THANKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN
Patience
Lesson for September 19, 1965

Background Scripture: Galatians 6:1-10; Philippians 4; Colossians 3:12-15. Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 13.

The bus station is crowded and the bus is late. Some of the passengers mill around but some sit quietly on a bench in the waiting room. They do not even look at the clock or ask any one how late the bus is going to be.

We call their behavior "patient." A man stands in line at a post-office window. Somebody up front seems to be taking all morning just to pick out the prettiest

Dr. Foreman stamps. But the man does not complain nor even fidget; he too is a patient man. A little boy who has been for a winter walk is being taken home by his father. The little boy is cold and hungry, but he does not cry nor complain. He is a patient child.

Empty patience

Patience is called a Christian virtue, and it is definitely named more than once in Scripture as a high quality both of men and of God. We are to "grow up in all things," writes Saint Paul. (Eph. 4:15) This includes patience, of course. But patience in the Christian meaning of the word is more than is shown by the brief examples just noted. We can call the bus-rider's patience, for instance, empty patience; the man is not doing anything. He just subsides into a lump like a cow going to sleep. He has no more interest in what goes on around him than a hibernating bear. There are other forms of empty patience. The "slow burn" is one of these. The man doing a slow burn is quiet, but you can see his face getting redder by the minute. Then finally he bursts out in a rage. He was only heating up; he was not patient for a minute. All the forms of "patience" which are no more than killing time are likewise not what the Bible means by patience.

What goes with patience?

No one good quality stands alone, as the New Testament shows and as even common sense can tell you. Beware of a man with only one virtue, the old proverb warns us. Patience is somewhat like flour for a cake. Very few cakes can be made without flour. But can you imagine a bride setting her husband down to a meal of which the dessert was a little pile of flour on a saucer? "Darling," she might say, "I didn't get to the store, so I don't have any sugar or eggs or milk or flavoring. I just made this nice little cupful of flour do for this time." (End of the honeymoon.) So a nice little cupful of patience does not make good men by itself. With other virtues combined with it, or combined to make it up, patience is indispensable to anyone whose work is with people. In the home, the school room, the supermarket, the church, patience is precisely what is needed. We have spoken of empty patience; what is full, genuine Christian patience, what are its ingredients? The reader should study carefully the lists included in the "background scripture." Three elements of patience may be pointed to; it would spoil your interest if we did not leave you to make some discoveries for yourself. One thing is compassion; literally that means suffering-with some one. Practicing the Golden Rule is one of the best ways of developing in patience. If you've no sympathy (compassion) for another, you are not likely to be or even to seem patient with him. A second ingredient is forgiveness, and a third is humility, "lest thou also be tempted" as Paul says.

When patience is a sin.

When patience—and in the Bible patience almost always refers to dealings with or between people—comes unaccompanied by compassion, forgiveness, humility and the rest, it can even become worse than empty. It can turn out even to be a sin. The wise Christian will detect the difference between good patience, the "understanding heart" able to enter into another's burdens, between this and empty patience and bad patience. Jesus is our top example here, as always in the art of living.

There's No Lawn Like A Fall Lawn

Everyone talks about planting in the spring, but the man who really wants a beautiful lawn should plant it in the fall. That's the time when there's enough warmth for seed germination, root growth is heaviest, and most important, cooling temperatures keep weeds down to a minimum.

Selecting the right kind of seed is the first step toward a lush, thick lawn. Avoid bargain priced seed. It often contains impurities and a high percentage of miscellaneous grasses and weeds.

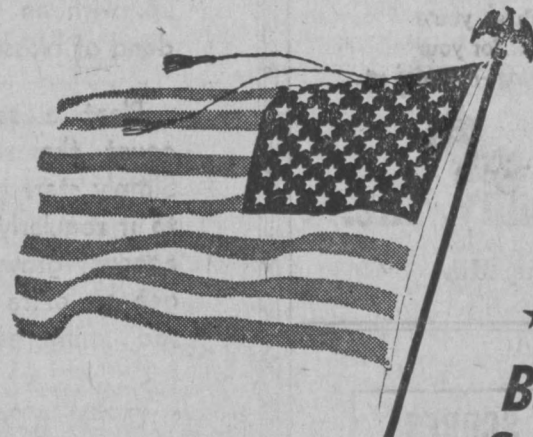

For the average homeowner in the bluegrass area, pure Merion Kentucky Bluegrass or mixtures with 40 percent or more are best. This strain has long been preferred for many of the nation's parks, airports, athletic fields and golf courses, besides home lawns.

Best planting time is early to mid fall. Like most cool-season grasses, optimum temperature for Merion growth is about 70 degrees. Germination of the seed takes from 8 to 30 days. During this time it's a good idea to water frequently. But hold off mowing till the grass is more than 1 1/2 inches high.

During the cold winter months, the lawn goes into a dormancy period. Nature does its work and there's nothing the homeowner can do until the onset of warm spring weather.

Then, when the growth cycle starts again, is the time to water. Start mowing when the grass is a couple of inches high and soon your lawn will be coming up a velvety carpet of green.

Mass Vaccination for Dogs

Rabies vaccination clinics for dogs will be conducted in Carroll County on two Sundays, September 26 and October 3, Dr. Theodore R. Shrop, County Health Officer announced. The purpose of the mass vaccination program is to prevent possible outbreaks of rabies in Maryland dogs. Rabies is more than just a hazard to pets, the Health officer stated, for rabies constitutes a health threat to families who own dogs and to members of the community. He explained that the rabies virus can be transmitted to humans by the bite of a rabid dog or other warm blooded animals. Therefore, a judgment as to the necessity of giving the rabies treatment must be made each time an animal bites a human. This program is an attempt to control human rabies since in man it is always fatal. In Maryland, during the past year, rabies has been diagnosed in the fox, squirrel and bat population.

Rabies vaccine to be used for the inoculations gives vaccinated dogs immunity for two years, Dr. Shrop said.

Rabies Vaccination Clinics are scheduled to be held at 2:00 P. M. to 4:00 P. M. on Sunday, September 26, and October 3, at the following: Westminster at Fire Hall Taneytown at Fire Hall Manchester at Fire Hall Winfield at Stem Implement Co.

It is emphasized that all dogs over 4 months of age and not vaccinated within a year should be brought to the clinic. This is an all out effort to vaccinate all dogs in the area and it is immaterial where they are from. Dogs from other counties and Pennsylvania will be accepted. License status of a dog has no bearing on whether a dog is vaccinated or not. Dr. Shrop stressed that the persons who bring dogs must be able to keep their dogs under control while at the clinic. There will be a charge of $1.00 for each dog vaccinated. Most people will realize this is a real bargain and he hopes everyone takes advantage of this opportunity.

Joint sponsors of the low-cost clinics are the Maryland State Veterinary Medical Association, the State and Carroll County Health Departments, The Carroll County Commissioners, schools and grocery stores are participating in this county-wide project. Special recognition must be given the Volunteer Fire Departments participating in not only providing space but personnel as well in this worthwhile project. The State Police and the police of the towns participating are assisting in traffic control and safety of monies collected.

It is hoped that these pay-as-you-go rabies vaccination clinics can be conducted each year, Dr. Shrop said. He urged the public to cooperate by bringing their dogs for vaccination and by encouraging friends and neighbors in the community to have their pets vaccinated against rabies.

Strike Costs Jobs of 53 in Taneytown

A Baltimore-based labor dispute has closed a Taneytown garment manufacturing plant throwing 53 employees out of work.

The Kasper Manufacturing Co. ended operations August 8 after a two-months' strike by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union made it impossible to continue operations, its owner said.

"We've had a lot of troubles," said Bernard Frenkil, the Baltimore owner of the Taneytown plant. He also owns three Baltimore factories and a Gettysburg plant.

Frenkil, whose factories were struck June 8, said he hopes to resume work at Taneytown. If this isn't possible, he said he will lease the building, which he purchased from the federal government several years ago.

The ILGWU threw pickets up in Baltimore, Gettysburg and Taneytown after Frenkil rejected the union's bid for representation, the union says.

Only the Taneytown plant where, one employee said, only 11 women remained at their machines, was closed.

Frenkil said most of his workers at other plants are on the job. He said they are running at "capacity" or "near capacity."

"Those people in Taneytown didn't know me well enough," he said. "They could have built that plant up."

He said he opened the factory two years ago and "the first day I opened it the union tried to step in."

Union leadership claims its long strike has been successful. They point to alleged curtailed operations at one site and the closing at Taneytown as successes.

Picketing ended at the Kasper plant after the plant closed last August.

Frenkil declined comment on the issues but declared his intention to fight the union all the way.

Acreege Survey Cards to be Distributed

The Post Office Department announces that rural mail carriers will begin distributing Acreege Survey Cards to farmer-patrons on their routes about September 25th.

This is a sample survey conducted at this time each year throughout the entire Nation. To assure that every community is properly represented in the tabulations, each farmer-patron receiving a card is urged to fill it out and place it in his mail box.

The Annual Crop Acreege Survey provides the Maryland-Delaware Crop Reporting Service at College Park, Maryland with basic information for estimating the acreage of important crops grown in this county and for the entire state. Data for all the states are then combined in Washington in the "Annual U. S. Crop Summary" which is released in December.

Carriers distributing the survey cards from the Taneytown and Keymar Post Offices are:

TANEYTOWN: Rt. 1, Ralph Kelly; Route 2, Howell Royer.

KEYMAR: Rt. 1, James Myers; Rt. 2, Robert Aurand.

JUNIOR GIRL SCOUT TROOP #820

The Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 820 will hold their first meeting on Thursday, September 30 at 3:30 P. M. in the Elementary School Cafeteria. We welcome all girls of the Brownie Troop No. 588 to join our troop this year. Mrs. Charles Conover, troop leader.

"Spend, increase the National Debt, add to the already colossal Federal payroll, and don't stop until every single person is forced to rely upon the Federal Government for either his life, liberty or happiness. P. E. MAKE SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

Three college scholarships worth up to $2,000 each will be made available again this year to area high school seniors through the Potomac Edison System Scholarship Program.

Dunham pointed out that previous winners of Potomac Edison System Scholarships include John W. Kaufmann, Jr., a 1965 graduate of Francis Scott Key H. S., who is now a freshman at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass.

Two of the scholarships will go to students whose parents or guardians are customers of one of the PE System companies, and one scholarship will be awarded to a student whose parent or guardian is a company employee. The competition is open to students of all high schools throughout the area served by the Potomac Edison System, and winners' scholarships can be applied at any accredited college or university in the United States. All judging of applicants will be handled by a panel of professional educators headed by Dean Robert L. Strider, Director of Financial Aid for the Johns Hopkins University.

Application forms, along with booklets describing the Scholarship Program, have been distributed to all secondary schools in the company's service area and should be available through their guidance counselors. They can also be obtained through The Potomac Edison Company, Employee Relations Department, 55 E. Washington St., Hagerstown, Md. 21740.

An Open Letter to the Public

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the many Little League supporters whether you were a coach, umpire, grounds keeper, salesman or saleswoman. There were ever so many that gave up so much of their time and gave the boys a lift and a pat on the back whether they made a home run or an error. This is the true spirit of baseball. These boys are your boys, all are from this town. The untiring support is greatly appreciated by the Taneytown Lions Club, Little League Committee and Lions Club Boys and Girls Committee.

It is gratifying to know we have citizens that will give money to purchase uniforms and equipment and money to purchase soft drinks after the game and to give boys ice cream. Maybe some day you can look back and say "I remember when he played in the Little League in Taneytown," when some of these may pick baseball as their career.

The Taneytown Lions Club also thanks The Carroll Record for allowing us this space to meet the public with our thanks.

We hope to have even larger and better teams next year. Look for you next spring.

The Optimist Club of Taneytown

The sixth meeting of the Optimist Club was held September 21, 1965 at the Raft Restaurant at 8:00 P. M. The members and guest heard a presentation on Optimism by Mr. Paul J. Murphy, a past District Governor of Optimist International. Mr. Murphy was both informative and very humorous with his Irish wit.

New members were introduced and application received for new membership. A report on members needed was given and the magic number now is down to five. It is planned to have at least five new members present next week at our meeting, along with any others who wish to get in before Charter deadline. The cut-off time for members to belong as Charter Members is October 26, 1965.

Our temporary chairman made some comments on ways to encourage new men to join as Charter Members and about possible projects for the club. The projects discussed were to sponsor an Explorer Scout Post in Taneytown, a respect for law campaign and to encourage the community to fly the American flag on November 11 and all appreciative days.

The next meeting will be held on September 27, 1965 at 8:00 P. M. at the Raft Restaurant, followed by a dinner meeting on October 5, 1965 at 7:00 P. M. at the Raft.

Harvest Home In-Gathering

The annual Harvest Home In-Gathering for the National Lutheran Home for the Aged, Washington, D. C., will be observed at Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown, this Sunday, September 26, at 10:00 A. M.

Each year about this time, the cupboards at the Home are literally bare. And each year about this time, congregations across the Maryland Synod respond to this need by sending locally grown and packed foodstuffs to the Home. Each year it is a matter of the generous giving of those who have so much to those who have much need.

Members and friends of Trinity Church are urged to respond as generously as they can this year. Everyone is invited to bring his food contributions to the church any time Saturday if you can, or Sunday. Envelopes will be available at the church for those who may wish to contribute in cash. All of the foodstuffs will be transported to the Home Monday morning, September 27, the truck leaving promptly at 9:00 A. M.

MEETING OF BOARD OF EDUCATION

A regular meeting of the Board of Education of Carroll County was held on Sept. 20 at 9 A. M. with all members present.

The Board took action to approve minutes of the last regular meeting and gave approval to the financial statement and financial transactions submitted.

A resignation was accepted from Edith Baumgardner and a leave of absence was granted to Louis Kane due to illness. Special action was taken in connection with teachers' certification and salary adjustments applying thereto. Action was also taken in connection with approval for employment of school secretaries including Mrs. Betty Cover for part-time service in the Westminster Sr. High Library, Mrs. Jessie Peeling at the Robert Moton Elementary School and Mrs. Hilda Tipton at the Sandymount Elementary School. Approval was also given for the employment of the following custodians: William E. Kemp, Hampstead; Wayne Dayhoff, Charles Carroll; and Herman L. Friese, Manchester.

The Board took action to approve a proposed structure related to compensation for employees in school cafeterias including certain regulations applying thereto. The suggested schedule was approved and it was directed that it be made effective at once.

The Board took action to approve the use of school buildings by a committee headed by Dr. Carl Green and sponsored by the Jr. Chamber of Commerce. This program has to do with inoculation for tetanus and permission was granted for the use of buildings, provided the project meets the approval of the medical profession.

The Board heard a complete report regarding planning activities connected with the organization of the proposed Carroll County community college. This report was given by Mr. John F. Wooden, Jr., Director of Instruction, who has recently been assigned to the work of organization and coordination. Mr. Wooden is engaged in assembling information and carrying on correspondence in connection with the organization of the college. This work is being done in cooperation with the State Department of Education, represented by Dr. Harold Reese. The Board took action to approve continued effort in the direction of community college organization and approved certain correspondence related to the project. A request has been made to the County Commissioners for approval of the project and for commitment to the necessary financial support, with the hope that the community college can be organized in September 1966. Actual work in connection with the organization will await approval.

The Board granted a District Tuition Scholarship to Western Maryland College to Patricia Petry, graduate of the Westminster High School. This appointment was made to fill a recently created vacancy due to the withdrawal of a scholarship holder from the Woolery's District.

The Board heard a report on the progress at various building locations, the report indicating that work was under way at Mechanicsville in a satisfactory way and that it is expected that the projects at the Winfield Elementary School and the South Carroll Sr. High School will be in operation in a few days.

Action was taken by the Board to approve purchase of additional equipment, the duplication of transcripts, birth certificates and other items.

Members were provided with copies of news releases issued during the month and heard a report from Mr. George E. Thomas, Administrative Assistant, related to the establishment of a Health Advisory Committee. This committee will be brought into existence as an advisory agency and will be staffed with representatives of the schools, the Health Department and the general public. Its function will be to make recommendations regarding school health procedures and policies. Mr. Thomas will continue to function as coordinator for the work of the committee.

The Board acted to approve the transaction in connection with the acquisition of a used school bus to be used in the transportation of athletic teams and for emergency service.

Approval was given for the transfer of school bus contracts from Robert Golliday to Thomas Gist in the Sykesville area. The Board reaffirmed its position in connection with the requiring of Workmen's Compensation for school bus contractors.

The Board heard brief reports on the 1965 opening of schools including reports on enrollment, teacher recruitment, desegregation and transportation.

The Board adjourned in time to attend a luncheon for approximately one hundred teachers new to the Carroll County School service. The luncheon was held as a part of the general professional meeting which was scheduled for the afternoon of September 20. New teachers, principals, staff members and Board of Education members participated in a luncheon served by the cafeteria staff of the William Winchester School. During the luncheon Board President DeVries R. Hering extended greetings to the new teachers. Teachers were introduced by their respective principals. Staff members, principals and members of the Board of Education were presented to the teachers and brief remarks were made by Superintendent Jenness and by Mr. Victor Makovitch, President Carroll County Teachers' Association. The luncheon session adjourned in time to permit the teachers to attend the afternoon program.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning.
A smile shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Returning from Harford County last week I stopped by that grand and old "Kingsville Inn" to dine, where I have not been for a few years. There are two new proprietors since the month of March and they surely do know that restaurant business. It is really a charming place and so easy to get there by taking the Belt Way on Bel Air Road. This long structure stands on the original tract of land, about 200 acres named "William The Conqueror." The original charter was issued by Lord Baltimore and was surveyed May 24, 1965 for William Lamsey. About 150 of these acres were taken over by N. Dwy, Sr., who died between 1705 and 1710, leaving the property to his son, Nicholas, Jr.

The oldest part of the Inn was built by the latter who lived on the property until his death in 1740, which was left to his wife who lived there until 1742. Then the property was sold to Rev. Hugh Dean, Rector of St. John's Parish. Rev. Dean resided in Kingsville Inn until his death in 1777. During the Revolutionary War, the son-in-law, John Paul acquired the property and lived there during that time. He was a Quaker from Penna. He made over the property to Judge Thomas Kell of Kellville, Harford Co. The property remained in the judge's possession until it was sold to Abraham King in 1815. The story goes that the property was "besieged with mortgages" at the time King purchased it but apparently he satisfied all of his creditors before he died in 1830.

In about March 1845, the Inn was offered for sale in the Baltimore American newspaper by Doctors, George and David King, who represented the "Kingsville Estate, consisting of: 250 acres of land, a large mansion with 16 rooms, 2 kitchens, 2 pantries, numerous out-houses and a large new building suitable and under lease for store and tavern. The store and tavern were destroyed by fire between 70 and 80 years ago. During the recent restoration of the Inn, the rough plaster along the length of the front porch was removed and replaced. During this operation the stone pattern of the building was studied and it was observed that the front portion of the building was in three sections. The front and oldest section includes what is now the large dining room at the North end of the building. This present room was at least two rooms in the original arrangement. A fireplace at the South end of this room was sealed off many years ago when the two rooms were converted into one large room. The floor in this room is about ten inches above the original floor!

The present entrance to the large dining room which opens upon the porch, was originally a window. The window to the North of this entrance door was originally the door. The grand open fireplace in the big dining room was, of course, the center of activities in the older days. It supplied not only all the heat in the Winter time but also furnished all the cooking facilities! And on the left of the fireplace may be seen some evidence of the old oven which has been closed up or destroyed.

It should be noted when you visit to dine that the large dining room has been kept as plain as possible in order to more closely represent its kitchenlike appearance of over 200 years ago.

I could not begin to relate right here of the real charm in each part of this wonderful old Inn as I was shown through, even to the top floor! You can give private parties and big affairs in this lovely place and the meals are of course, Kingsville style named for the owner, Abraham King. At one time in this vicinity, of course, there were farms and it was a little village with only a Blacksmith Shop, the Church and Dillworth's Store and Freedman's Bureau which was apparently associated with the freeing of the slaves which was located across Belair Road from the Inn. The present smoke house was the original slave quarters.

Do drive over and make it an interesting afternoon or evening, for there is real Colonial Hospitality which is a Kingsville Tradition!

Be seeing you next week around the town D. V. Have a grand week-end and be kind to one another.

I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

NATIONAL 4-H CLUB WEEK

Whatever you're doing and wherever you live — during the week of September 25 through October 2 — you should give attention, interest and support to an observance that will take place at that time. It is National 4-H Club Week.

It would be difficult to praise the 4-H movement too highly. Because of it, great numbers of boys and girls are helped to learn the fundamentals of farming — and farming, in these days, is a combination of business, art and craft. The ancient virtues that are an implicit element in land and nature are combined with the technology of today.

We live in an increasingly urbanized society. Inevitable as they may be, a very great deal of the strength and the character of this nation is found in the rural side of its life. The land, and those who work the land, feed and clothe and sustain us. And there, away from the congested cities with all their problems, is the strongly beating heart of America.

There are no juvenile delinquents in the ranks of 4-H. They carry on those traditions—pride of purpose, fair dealing, independence, consideration for others—that are so vital to that heartbeat.

"GRASSROOTS OPINIONS"

ONTARIO, CALIF., REPORT:

"Radical" was the term used by Sen. Wallace F. Bennett. 'Socialistic' was the word Sen. John Tower selected. Other adjectives employed by congressmen were 'foolish' and 'incredible.' They were words used to appraise the multibillion-dollar housing bill when it received Senate approval. . . . One portion of the legislation is particularly difficult for the Republican senators to accept. It is the rent subsidy provision which calls for the U.S. government to help pay the rent for low income families. . . . It seems odd that during the nation's most rapid advance in gross national production we also find it necessary to enact such omnibus welfare measures as the anti-poverty law and the new housing legislation."

JOHN DAY, ORE., BLUE MT. EAGLE:

"Really, we hate to be a bug about this and speak so often on section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act in our editorial column, but it seems that not enough of this issue is getting to the grass roots. . . . We at the Blue Mt. Eagle do not hold an anti-union attitude. We feel that unions have brought the American worker wages and working conditions he could not otherwise obtain. We believe there must be a check against overbearing management situations, and unions can combat this effectively. However, we believe that unions also need a check. Without some sort of safety valve, they can become as overbearing as certain industries were before unionism."

SELMA, ALA., TIMES-JOURNAL:

"In any analysis of juvenile delinquency, children of Oriental descent have always been conspicuous by their absence from the statistics. . . . Unfortunately, there are indications this may no longer be true. Police in Sacramento, Calif., for instance, report increasing involvement of Chinese and Japanese youths in such things as thievery and knifings. . . . such hitherto unheard of incidents have caused much soul-searching among the second-generation Japanese, the Nisei. 'Somewhere along the way we feel we are failing,' said one elder. Offered a captain of the Sacramento Police Juvenile Bureau: 'I imagine it's because the kids are becoming Americanized.' . . . What kind of society are we building where a police officer can matter-of-factly consider 'Americanized' and 'criminalized' as being virtually synonymous?"

GOSHEN, IND., NEWS: "Of course the shortage of farm labor is due to Secretary of Labor Wirtz' cutting off of foreign workers, mostly Mexican. He wants American labor used. But if Americans, hypnotized by government checks and handouts, won't work, then who but foreign labor is going to gather the food crops to feed the bums and loafers who are living off the taxpayers? The government is simply going to have to down-trend this war on poverty stuff and tell those who don't want to work to get off the wagon. There is no other alternative."

ATCHISON, KAN., GLOBE: "The fact that more than a million youngsters annually commit acts beyond misdemeanors and are arrested and often sentenced is more than enough reason for universal concern. Add to that another fact, that millions of other boys and girls flirt with dangerous threats to their moral, spiritual and physical safety, and the problem comes to rest in almost every home in America."

POMONA, CALIF., PROGRESS-BULLETIN: "The Ohio State Medical Association is slamming a directive from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare requiring doctors to sign a pledge that they will comply with the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and not practice discrimination among welfare patients. Such a requirement, complains the association, is making 'second-class citizens' of Ohio physicians, about 4,900 of whom have signed the oath and are now having second thoughts. . . . The self-imposed ethics of the medical profession apparently carry little weight with the bureaucrats. . . ."

ODESSA, TEXAS, AMERICAN: "Guess what? Forty members of the House Banking Committee are recommending a federal law to prohibit the use of silver coins as collateral security for loans. In other words, money with an intrinsic value is not to be used as collateral. That means, money is not money! Shades of the French Revolution! We have here the height of something and we suspect the proper term might be . . . idiocy."

LENNOX, S. D., INDEPENDENT: "Inflation is a nasty word no matter how much sugar-coating the powers that be try to put on it. So-called recessions can, perhaps, be delayed by inflationary measures. The government can spend, for a time, more money than it takes in and so doing keep the ball of prosperity rolling, but sooner or later the inevitable begins to show. The value of money begins to shrink at an ever-increasing tempo and before long confidence is replaced by panic. We do not believe we have yet reached the panic state, but when a $10.00 bill loses five cents of its value in one month, as was the case in June, we think it's time to restore some fiscal sanity to the spending policies of our federal government."

CLAY CITY, KY., TIMES: "We are on a drunken, spending spree which can lead only to disaster. No one wants to work. No one is required to work. There are more government jobs than there are civilian jobs. In fact, the smartest route for the teenage boy today is to go into government service — either militarily or through one of the 1,000 and 1 other federal agencies which retire you on pension after 20 years. As a federalist state we are quite young. However, history may one day record that we fell by the wayside fighting over money — the same way all ancient civilizations have died. Why?"

WEST POINT, MISS., TIMES LEADER: "This country was founded by men and women who were afraid. Wars are won by men who are afraid. Confidence is an ally of defeat. Fear builds muscles. Contentment adds fat. Fear gives drive. Satisfaction hunts the shade."

BROWNSVILLE, PA., TELEGRAPH: "It seems likely that a neat little fortune might accrue to the person who could figure out a fool-proof way to take the elasticity out of coffee time. . . . We do not advocate putting a picture of the boss at the bottom of the coffee cup to scare workers back to their posts. There is much to be said, however, for sensible restraint in enjoying this version of the pause that refreshes. This privilege, like many another, is blighted by abuse of it."

At 65 mph, sing—"Nearer My God To Thee." At 75 mph, sing—"When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder, I'll Be There." At 85 miles, sing—"Lord, I'm Coming Home."

The new highway between Taneytown and Westminster surely does look as though it is ready to be traveled. Certainly is badly needed, too. Guess it will soon be open to the public.

"The Poller" by Oliver G. Westcott Marred in the hands of the Potter, because of some obituate clast? A lovely vessel is ruined - must all, then, be thrown away?

What is the will of the Potter? Can he take up that clay again and reshape to wondrous beauty a vessel, made not in vain?

Ah, yes! the Potter has visions of another, for his use meet; only of clay, yet he fashions for himself something unique.

E'en so doeth the heavenly Potter mold our lives on his wheel of love into vessels, meet for his service and used for his glory above.

THE PENNSYLVANIA DUTCH COUNTRY

For one fascinating week, I exchanged my kitchen window view for the wider horizons of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, upper New York State, Canada, and (homeward bound), Vermont. The trip was such a stimulating one that I would like to share the high-lights with my readers, telling about the people, places, and things which impressed me the most.

The Pennsylvania Dutch Country is, I think, a good beginning. Scattered throughout a small section of Southeastern Penna. are lush, fertile farms, and the world's most elaborately decorated barns. Prominent among the decorations are the Hex Signs, curious designs which are always the same—a star within a circle, or some variation thereof. The legends about them smack of witchcraft, for they are supposed to prevent the devil from entering the barns and giving the cows milk fever, and to ward off the evil influence of witches. This erroneous belief apparently began in the 1920's, when a travel writer asked a Pennsylvania Dutch farmer about the star-like designs on his barn. The man replied, with a heavy accent, "Why those are sech's stars" (meaning a six—German, sech's—pointed star). The writer thought he said "hex" instead of "sechs," and so the popular myth was created. The truth is much more simple—the signs are used purely for decorative purposes or "chuck for nice." The best evidence to support this theory is the fact that only the barn sides facing the road are so embellished—the sides facing inward are positively plain.

The Pennsylvania Dutch are equally well-known for their industriousness, simplicity, devotion to their religious beliefs, and their deep appreciation for good food. While they resist such worldly things as automobiles, telephones, and televisions; they gladly share with the "outside" a love of good eating. I brought back with me an excellent little cook book, containing some favorite recipes. One of them, Raw Potato Pancakes, my mother used to make when I was a child. Here is the recipe, for those who might like to try it:

Raw Potato Pancakes 3 medium size raw potatoes, washed, pared and grated; 2 eggs, separated; 1 1/2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt.

Beat egg yolks; stir in grated potatoes and a mixture of the flour, baking powder and salt; mix well. Beat the egg-whites until rounded peaks are formed. Fold into the potato mixture. Spoon about 2 tablespoons of batter for each pancake into hot fat in a skillet; brown on both sides, serve with applesauce. (Makes about one dozen pancakes).

Next week I shall tell about upper New York State, Hyde Park and the Vanderbilt mansion.

THE FAMILY

"Tips by Tootie"

A place for everything and everything in its place is a motto for a lot of homemakers but for me it is just a goal to reach. I hope I will be able to accomplish it.

It was very interesting to read your Observer's Column on the girls of yesterday. I think what is needed today, is not so much faith alone in our teen-agers, but parents who are there to guide them when necessary. I believe they want to be told what is right and what is wrong but the parents seem to be too busy to bother. Take the time to make some rules and see to it that they are followed. The teen-ager will feel more secure and I think you will find that they will have more respect for you.

A book you might like to add to your collection is "My Shadow Ran Fast," written by Bill Sands. Bill was a prisoner who reformed and is helping other prisoners to try to go straight. In fact, his warden then, is now working for him. He sounds like a very wonderful person.

When you do up your washable scatter rugs, put some spray starch on them before putting them back on the floor. They will stay clean longer.

Did you ever think of using a small ladder painted a bright color for giving you extra towel and washcloth space in the bathroom? Attach it to the wall with angle irons. The children would be able to reach the lower rungs very easily.

Take time to enjoy poetry. I came across a few recipes in an old poetry book.

A Recipe for a Perfect Day —Addie E. Holmberg

Every day a little music, Every day a touch of art, Learn a few lines of some poem, Or a prose gem from the heart. Every day a deed for others, A deal of work, a bit of play; A smile, a laugh, an hour of study; A reverent prayer to close the day.

But be sure to take each portion, Day by day with conscious care, Never lacking one ingredient, Or the charm will not be there. Or the charm will not be there. Take reverses with good humor, Bask in Mother Nature's smile; Revel in fresh air and sunshine, Run or walk or ride a while.

And with zest watch for each item, Check it off as each is done; Make a game of the whole program, Pack it full of joy and fun! Sing a little song, or whistle, There's your music, by the way; Keep your mind on all your blessings, 'Til you've wrought your perfect day.

There you have it, music, picture, Memory gem and loving thought; Oh, the mind is such a wizard, Once the magic spell is caught! Quiet study, sunshine, playtime, Kindly service by the way; Love and laughter, work and worship, Lo! Thou hast thy perfect day!

You've Got To Dig —Edgar A. Guest

The man who wants a garden fair, Or small or very big, With flowers growing here and there, Must bend his back and dig. The things are mighty few on earth That wishes can attain, Whatever we want of any worth We've got to work to gain.

It matters not what good you seek, It's secret here reposes; You've got to dig from week to week, To get Results or Roses.

A Simple Recipe —James Whitcomb Riley

To be a wholly worthy man, As you, my boy, would like to be, This is to show you how you can— This simple recipe.

Be honest—both in word and act Be strictly truthful through and through, Fact cannot fail. You stick to fact, And fact will stick to you.

Be clean, outside and in, and sweep Both hearth and heart, and hold them bright. Wear snowy linen—aye and keep Your conscience snowy white. Do right, your utmost; good must come To you who do your level best— Your very hopes will help you some, And work will do the rest.

Until next time, H. H.

SPORTS

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports — by John Breth

A well-balanced offense, a relentless defense, a renewed will to win and the proper blend of youth and experience will carry the Green Bay Packers to the WESTERN DIVISION title in the NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE this year.
It won't be easy. It will be 14 grinding weeks and enthusiasm must be kept high and the rate of errors low. But the Packers are ready for a big season and they have the muscle and know-how to do it this year.

ELECTION CHANGES IN COUNTY A.S.C. COMMITTEE EXPLAINED

Several important changes in the election of county committees will be initiated at the county convention held for that purpose this year, according to Sterling J. Leister, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. The convention will be held October 21.
The changes are designed to give more continuity and stability to operating policies in ASCS County Offices and to improve administration of farm programs by local committees. They are part of a continuing process to make more effective use of farmer-committees in local administration of programs, to increase their importance and status, and to attract outstanding farm leaders to serve in these positions.

After the committee members are elected, the delegates vote again to determine which of the regular members are to serve as chairman and vice chairman. The convention will redetermine these positions annually.
A qualified candidate for service on the ASCS County Committee is one who is a resident eligible to vote in one of the county elections in the county, and who meets other eligibility requirements. Eligibility to hold office as a committeeman is not restricted by reason of race, color, creed, or national origin. The Chairman stressed the desirability of electing members who are actively engaged in the operation of a farm and who are representative of the type and kind of farming in the county. Other details as to qualifications of candidates are available in the ASCS County Office.

Entirely new styling of the 1966 Fairlane is dramatically displayed in the photo of the Fairlane 500/XL 2-door hardtop, above, and the Fairlane GT convertible, below. Indicative of the broadened family and sports appeal of the 1966 Fairlane is the new model selection — four series instead of two and 13 models instead of eight. The two new Fairlane series — the Fairlane 500/XL and the Fairlane GT — are available in convertible and 2-door hardtop models designed for sports- and luxury-oriented customers. Simulated hood louvers and the famed Ford GT racing stripes above the rocker panel are among distinguishing features of the Fairlane GT. All 1966 Fairlanes will be in Ford dealer showrooms beginning October 1.

Ford Division's 1966 light-duty trucks range from the Econoline with its economy and ease of handling, through a full line of conventional light trucks that offer passenger-car ride plus rugged durability. Sporting a handsome new jet-scoop grille, Ford's new F-100 and F-250 (top) pickup offer customer-proven "Twin-I-Beam" independent front-axle suspension, a choice of three high-displacement engines, and a new four-wheel-drive model with Mono-Beam front suspension.

The 1966 Econoline SuperVan (bottom), an enlarged version of the popular Econoline Van, features all the handling and economy characteristics of the regular Econoline Van plus an additional full 18 inches in load space. The additional length provides 23 per cent more load space with a total capacity of 251-cubic-feet.

An all-new sporty Ranchero (above) paces Ford Division's 1966 parade of light trucks. Longer, wider and lower, the Ranchero also has additional brawn with a pickup box that has been enlarged to a full 39.1 cubic feet. A new Custom model blends luxury car features with pickup truck utility. Ford's N-600 medium-duty truck (below) with stake body has a bigger, roomier cab for 1966, with an inch of new headroom and more than two inches of additional legroom. A flatter and larger steering wheel and new molded fiberglass headlining are other new features.

Key features of the two most successful cars ever introduced — the Falcon and the Mustang — are combined in the 1966 Falcon. The Mustang styling influence is readily apparent in the long hood, short rear deck, rear quarter "hop-up" and round wheel openings of this 1966 Falcon Futura Sports Coupe. The 1966 Falcon has new roominess, outstanding economy and technical innovations. Lengthened wheelbase and wider tread improve riding comfort. Reversible keys and keyless locking, curved side-glass and integrated air conditioning are among other customer comfort and convenience features in the 1966 Falcon. The 1966 Falcons will be in Ford dealer showrooms October 1.

Love the Link

Lesson for September 26, 1965

Background Scripture: 1 John 4:7-21.
Devoational Reading: Ephesians 3:14-21.

"Love," said St. Paul once, "is the link of the perfect life." (Colossians 3:14 Moffat.) In his time there were no buttons nor button-holes. Safety pins had been invented, but few common people owned them. What held a man's flowing garments up and held them together was the girdle or sash. With this large "cummerbund" as we would call such a thing today, a man could be neatly dressed. Without it, he rapidly became undressed, a mess of flapping robe and tunic and what not. We can put on all the virtues, but unless we put love on also, the virtues we have will be blown away. Love unites all the virtues, love fulfills all the commandments. Paul and our Lord alike emphasized the fact that the "great Commandment" is not any of the famous ten. They are each one a different way of expressing the great commandment of Love.

How can we love God?

"Thou shalt love thy God" is glibly said in Sunday school by children who are memorizing passages in the Bible. But when we grow old enough to think about such things, this seems like an impossible commandment to obey. For one thing, is love something that can be turned on or off at will? Can even God say to us, at the count of three, start loving — one, two, three, LOVE! Well, of course if we really thought that this is what God means, we should be thinking him a fool. What is meant by "Thou shalt" is more like "This is the way God wants us to think about him." But then another difficulty rises to the mind. Can we love God as we love a human being? The answer is No, it goes without saying. We have to use the same word for it whether we are thinking of loving God or men. Still it is not meaningless to speak of loving God. It is the opposite of hating him. To love is to draw closer; to hate is to withdraw, to avoid. To love is to unburden the heart; to hate is to bar the heart's door tight. To love is to share, to hate is refusing to share. A man in love with a girl — or the other way around — wants to do what the beloved wants done. So with the lover of God. One way to love Him is to become absorbed in his service, to love what he loves and hate what he hates. In today's jargon, by identifying with God's purposes we come to love Him.

If we love another . . .

Another way to arrive at the joyful state of love to God (which is more than believing or merely obeying or praising or "explaining") is to love our fellow-human beings. The "second great commandment" (not the second-greatest) is Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. The Apostle John speaks not of neighbor but of brother. Evidently he has learned (from God, we may believe) that neighbor means brother. Begin to think of your neighbor as your brother, and you are on the road to loving God. If we love one another, John says, God lives in us and his love (our love of him and his love of us) is made perfect in us. We are not good enough to love God, to tell the truth; that we can love at all—God or man—is made possible by God's grace. Our love does not waken God; his love wakens us to love him and to love the "brother" whoever he may be.

Casting out fear

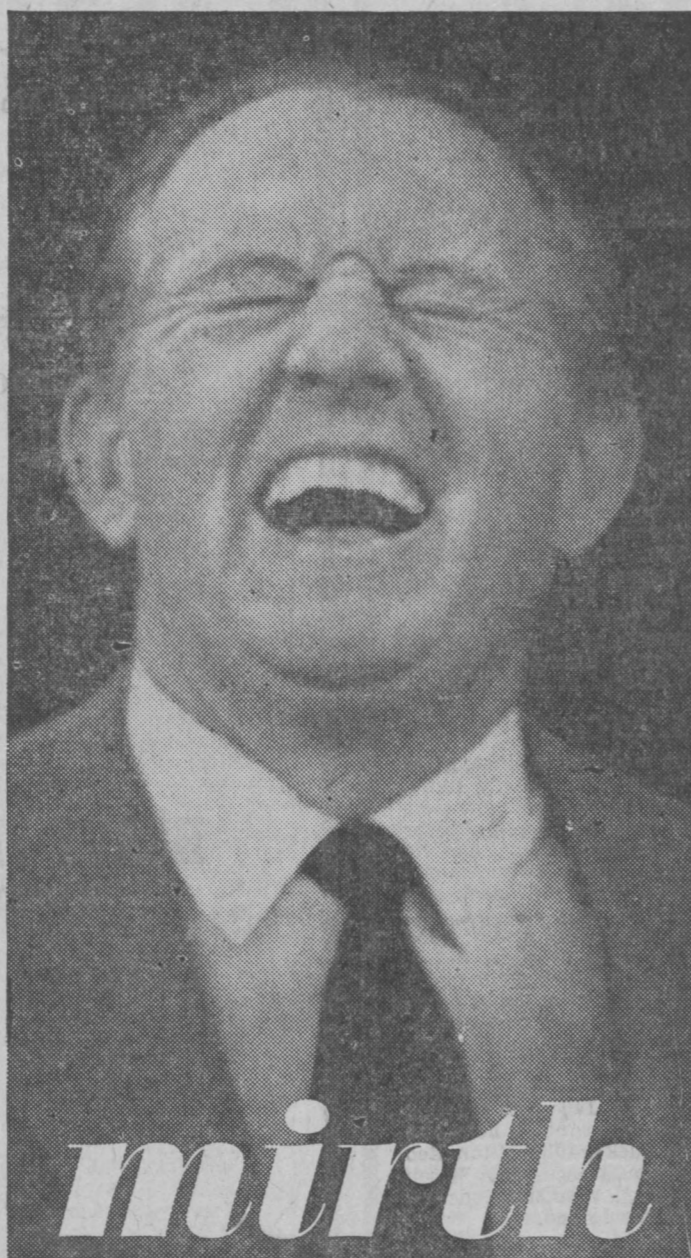

Man as he is, man-on-the-hoof, man as sinner, is more afraid of God than in love with him. Contracts sometimes make reference to "acts of God" meaning disasters of great magnitude. But sunshine and spring flowers and autumn colors are just as much acts of God as are fires and earthquakes. Loving God is not going to cast out respect and reverence and thanksgiving; loving God is not destructive of God's dignity. But it does cast out fear.

An Energy Boost

Three professional football players boost energy before a practice session with Sego liquid diet food. Above are members of the St. Louis Football Cardinals. Charlie Johnson, left, last year led the National Football League in passing for the second straight year with a total of 3,045 yards. In the center is Jerry Stovall, a standout defensive halfback and at right, Bobby Joe Conrad, a leading NFL pass receiver. Cardinals use Sego regularly to maintain proper playing weight during the season. Big Red players also use it as a pre-game meal for a light, extra-protein boost. Favorite flavors of the team? Chocolate and chocolate malt, of course!

Young America Cooks—
September's Big Anniversary Month

ANNIVERSARY RING COFFEECAKE in the form of a double wedding ring is a wonderful surprise for a proud teenager to present to her parents.

Bake A Wedding Ring Coffeecake

The most popular wedding months after June are August and September. When anniversaries come along, the young folks in the family take special joy in helping with the celebration. Here, then, is an easy-to-make coffee-cake in the form of a double wedding ring, which a teen-aged baker will find fun to prepare, arrange and decorate. It's made from a quickly-mixed batter, so there's no kneading to be done. The two cakes take their shape from the pans in which they are baked and are put together in an interesting fashion to make the classic and beautiful design. The recipe makes two rings which may be served singly as simple coffee-cakes, or joined whenever the occasion celebrates an anniversary.

ANNIVERSARY RING COFFEECAKE
1 package or cake Fleischmann's Yeast, active dry or compressed
1 1/4 cups warm water
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 3/4 cups unsifted flour
3 tablespoons dry milk solids
2 eggs
1/2 cup melted Fleischmann's Margarine
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 tablespoon milk
Sugar Crumb Topping (below)
1/4 cup chopped nuts, if desired
Sprinkle or crumble Fleischmann's Yeast into warm water in large warm mixing bowl. Stir until dissolved. Add sugar, salt, 2 cups of the flour and dry milk solids. Stir to mix, then beat smooth. Beat in eggs, then cooled Fleischmann's Margarine. Add remaining flour and grated orange rind. Beat until batter is shiny and smooth. Scrape batter down from sides of bowl. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 1 hour. When batter is light, stir down. Drop from spoon into 2 well-greased 9-inch ring molds, filling each 1/2 full. Brush top of batter with milk. Sprinkle half of Sugar Crumb Topping over each ring. Let rise until doubled, about 45 minutes. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 minutes. Turn out of pans. When slightly cool, cut 2-inch slice from each ring. Fit rings together so they interlock. Decorate with Orange Frosting. If desired, sprinkle with chopped nuts. Makes 1 coffee-cake or 2 rings.

SUGAR CRUMB TOPPING
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) Fleischmann's Margarine
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Mix flour, sugar and cinnamon. With pastry blender or fork, cut in Fleischmann's Margarine until mixture is crumbly. Stir in nuts.
ORANGE FROSTING
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons orange juice
4 drops lemon extract
Mix all together until smooth and creamy. Drizzle over coffee cake from lip of cup or from tip of spoon.
