October - United Appeal Month!!

What is the Community Chest — Red Cross United Appeal? How might any of us, as a citizen, benefit from this organization? Let us take one minute and listen as we very quickly explain the services this appeal can render to any of us if the need arises.

The United Appeal serves the Car-roll County Area with health, wel-fare and recreation agencies supported wholly or in part by funds con-tributed by all of us through this an-nual drive. What are some of the Agencies Supported by this annual drive? We have the Arthritis and drive? We have the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Boy Scouts, Big Brothers, Children's Aid and Family Service Society, Baltimore Chapter American Red Cross, Girl Scouts, Happy Hills Hospital, Mary-land Children's Aid Society, Mary-land Society for Prevention of Blind-ness, Salvation Army and the Carroll County YMCA. All of us know some-one who is being directly affected by at least one of these agencies. Your gift of $12 will provide one days care for an emotionally disturbed child, $16 will provide five calls by a visiting nurse to a needy patient, $20 will enable the Red Cross to process three pints of blood, $24 will provide four days care for an aged citizen at Pickersgill, $48 will provide Counsel-ing and Rehabilitation for an estranged family, $72 will provide three months therapy for a crippled per-son, $160 will provide two wheel chairs for the crippled and $200 will provide a week at summer camp for 8 under-privileged children.

Not all are as fortunate as others. Not all are as fortunate as others. Might not any of us become the "un-fortunate" over night? Let us give serious consideration to what we should give to this UNITED APPEAL DRIVE. You will be called upon by a solicitor during the early part of October. CANADA-The Province of Quebec

At the Canadian border, we were questioned briefly by the customs official. After giving our names, places of birth and the purpose of places of birth and the purpose of our trip, we were allowed to roll merrily on our way into Quebec. This vast province, Canada's largest, is charmingly Old World. During a cen-tury and a half, the colonists from France put down their roots so firmly on the shores of the Saint Lawrence River that the subsequent two cen-turies have left their descendants fundamentally unscathed with respect fundamentally unscathed with respect to language, traditions, culture, and, most happily their innate French sense of hospitality, and the world's most lovingly prepared food. French remains the day-to-day language of unscather back 22 percent of Outpher's more than 82 per cent of Quebec's some six million people, but most of them can speak enough English to answer questions and fulfill the needs of tourists and business visitors in their midst.

Driving through the farming areas, we were quite impressed by the unique way in which the farms are laid out. Instead of large, rolling fields, they consist of a number of long, narrow ones, each fenced off from the other. seems that this idea originated in France, where farm families are us-ually large, and this method of dividing the land assures each member his fair share of the inheritance. The farm buildings are distinctly different from ours. I have never seen such brightly painted buildings

-even the barns sport red, blue, and orange doors, and we saw houses trimmed in as many as three colors. Probably this gay note helps make the dreary, long winters more bearable. In certain sections, the house, wood-shed and barn are all con-nected. This is another indication of the severity of the winters here. (Next week I shall tell about the highlight of our trip, the quaint, old city of Quebec.) I here Jackson Restaurant in Winches-ter, Va. Your Observer discovered some-thing wonderful by just making a call on friends who have known me call on friends who have known have since I was a very young girl as we came from the Quaker State. Know-ing the husband, an aged man had been very ill with heart trouble and diabetes, I observed that he seemed so full of P E P since the last time I saw him. I kept watching him walk saw nim. I kept watching nim walk around and in my amazement, I could not pluck up courage to ask, "Why the change?" until he brought out some literature for me to read. He was cured in a month's time and, Folks here it is, the following and it does not cost you but tan conts which does not cost you but ten cents which is the price of the booklet to be printed! #### "Tips by Tootie"

Start with a can of potted meat, add a little salad dressing and some diced celery for a quick tasty sandwich.

If you have friends who live in a big city it might be nice to exchange home during vacation time if you could arrange to have them at the same time.

An empty envelope box is nice to keep your stamp books in and also your loose stamps until you have time to paste them in the books. It stores in a small space in a desk drawer.

A see-thru plastic bow tie box can be used for holding pens, stamps and addresses all in one place right ready for letter writing.

Line waste paper baskets with a paper sack. Just lift the sack out when ready to be emptied and replace with a clean one.

Wash your elastic garments often in soap and warm water (not deter-gent) for long life. Thorough rinsing is very important and always let dry at room temperature.

Money and time are the heaviest burdens of life, and the unhappiest of mortals are those who have more of either than they know what to do with. (I don't have this problem, do vou?)

It will be helpful to your children if you have a study center for them, they will be able to get a lot more work done in less time if they have everything they need in one place.

A hinged top hassock is a very useful piece of furniture. It makes a nice toy box or a place for your old magazines that you aren't quite ready to throw away just yet.

To keep rice white, squeeze some lemon juice into the cooking water.

Mop a new felt-base linoleum rug with hot water as soon as it is laid. Hot water causes the rug to expand and lay perfectly flat.

Fun keeps you feeling young and looking young. Keep in mind, es-pecially if you have a family, that fun makes you fun to be with. Do we make special efforts to keep good teachers? Higher salaries aren't the only thing that tempt a dedicated teacher. We should recognize and praise good teaching. A little appre-ciption shown our children's teachers

The temptation is to say that the LOS ANGELES DODGERS have made the Hitless Wonders look like murderers' row. But it's not true. The Hitless Wonders, the Chicago White Sox of 1906, won the Ameri-can League pennant with a team av-erage of .228. The Dodgers compiled a team batting average of .245, which a team batting average of .245, which was good enough to get them seventh place in the team batting race-and first place in the National League pennant race. The wise old sages of baseball have insisted for years that pitching was 75 per cent of the game. The way the Dodgers won the pennant, however, may cause a revision in that figure, upward of course. Pitching was vir-Church, Taneytown, and Grace upward of course. Pitching was vir-Church, Keysville, will be held at tually the entire story for the Dodgers on their victorious drive for the flag. Base-stealing, alert maneuver-ing on the base paths and manager Walter Alston's master-minding com-pleted the formula. Offensively, the club's greatest weapon was an infield out or a bases loaded walk. Willie Mays and Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants hit more home runs than the entire Dodger team, and the Giants often times scored more runs in one inning than the Dodgers scored in an entire game. Yet, in the final analysis, it was pitching, and not power, or run-scor-ing ability that made the difference. The Dodgers didn't steal the pennant, and no one gave it to them. The fact is that they were in first place most of the season, and on the occasions when they were knocked out of the lead, they came fighting back to regain their position.

In the closing stages of the race, the Giants had a lead of four and one-half games, and they seemed a fairly safe bet to stay on top. How-ever, the Dodgers then came on with what proved to be the deciding factor in the entire pennant race—a 13-game winning streak. That's what won it for Los Angeles. The pitching they received in that span gives a pretty good indication of why the Dodgers are the new National League cham-

During that 13-game streak, Dodger pitchers allowed only 12 earned runs, and they produced seven shutouts. Sandy Koufax had three, and Don Drysdale had two. Claude Osteen and Ron Perranoski combined for one, and Osten and Koufax joined forces on another. During that string, the Dodgers averaged less than three and one-half runs per game. But the opposition averaged just one run per game during that time. That's just about the way it went for most of the season. The Dodgers scored very ittle but the opposition scored even

Ruth M. Hosfeld, Admrx. of Laura L. Hosfeld, dec'd., filed an Inventory Incidentally, for those who might see a similarity between the Hitless Wonders and the Los Angeles Dodg-ers, the Chicago White Sox of 1906 went on to win the World Series.

Special provisions in a Zoning Or-dinance deal with specific subjects which require considerable detail or an individual set of regulations. The discussion in this one of the series of ves three of the special provisions — Parking Space Requirements, Signs, and Mobile Homes (trailers).

In this age vehicular travel is in-creasing as fast as population. To preserve our roads and streets for traffic the Comprehensive Zoning Or-dinance provides that all uses must provide a place "off-the-road or street" for parking. Each residence must have at least one "off-street" parking space. This could include a driveway. In residential units where more than one family is located, one parking space per family unit is required.

One space for each 150 sq. ft. of area of the first floor of a bus-iness establishment is required. In-dustrial plants must provide one parking space for each two employ-ees on the maximum shift. New churches, auditoriums, theatres and similar uses are required to plan for one off-street parking space for each three seats available. A number of other specific uses are identified as Those signs which are considered the "billboard" type are allowed in the Agriculture, Business, and Industhe Agriculture, Business, and Indus-trial Districts. Two requirements must be met in these Districts. First, spacing of outdoor advertising signs in the Agriculture District calls for new signs to be 1,000 feet apart. In the Business and Industrial Districts, such signs must be spaced 300 feet apart. Second, certain roads in the Agriculture District are specified in the Ordinance where any new signs are prohibited. FOR THE FALL FISH 'N SEAFOOD PARADE

There's no more delicious food than fish fried the right waygolden crisp on the outside, tender and flaky inside. These fillets, coated with a corn muffin mix have been fried, to be served the southern way-with hush puppies.

The southern custom of serving crispy corn-meal balls with fried fish is well known, but do you know how these crisp balls came to be called "hush puppies"? The name was coined years ago by hunters and fishermen in the deep South who fried their fish in corn meal batter over camp first. The door excited by the smell of corn-meal batter over camp fires. The dogs, excited by the smell of frying fish, made such a racket that their masters had to quiet them by throwing scraps of corn-meal batter and shouting "Hush, puppy, hush!" When the men ate the scraps themselves they found them so good that "hush puppies" were demanded whenever fish was served. Here is today's version using two modern convenience foods = corn muffin mix and frozen fish fillets all cleaned and foods - corn muffin mix and frozen fish fillets, all cleaned and boned, developed by the National Fisheries Institute for the Fish 'n Seafood Parade, which comes in October, when fishery products are plentiful.

SOUTHERN FRIED FISH WITH HUSH PUPPIES

perch, cod, haddock, sole or flounder)	1 cup chopped sw packages (12 oz.) corn muffin mix	onion
eggs	2/3 cup milk
	1 quart (about) fa for deep frving

If fish is frozen, let thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature. Open package of corn muffin mix and measure 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons of mix onto a piece of waxed paper. Break one egg onto a flat dish and beat it lightly. Dip fillets (dust them with flour first, if you like) into egg, then into corn muffin mix and set and milk. Stir just long enough to blend. Batter should drop in "dollops" from spoon. Heat fat in a Dutch oven or deep skillet (it should be at least two-thirds of an inch deep). When it is very hot, but still not smoking, drop corn-meal mixture in by spoonfuls to make six hush puppies. Fry about four minutes per side, turning carefully with slotted spoon or turner, until deep golden brown and done through. Remove and drain on paper toweling. (Keep warm in very low oven if desired.) Remove any bits of batter from fat before proceeding. Next, add corn muffin-coated fillets to fat and cook three minutes per side. (You will probably need two fryings.) Drain on paper toweling and serve to eight.

THE FAMILY LAWYER DUTY TO GET WELL

Mrs. R, injured while crossing the street, had no trouble establishing a claim against the negligent motorstreet, ist. However, he was willing to pay only her original injury—not for the "oermanent disability" she said she had.

In a court hearing, he explained that her disability could probably be cleared up if she would just submit to corrective surgery. But to Mrs. R, this was indeed adding insult to in-jury.

jury. "Why should I risk my life in a ma-jor operation," she demanded, "just so he can pay me less damages? Not only is such an operation dangerous, but often it doesn't even do any good."

That made sense to the judge, who ordered the motorist to pay for her disability in addition to paying for her injury. Yet, the motorist did have a point worth weighing. Is it the wrong-doer's fault if you, as the victim, don't make a reasonable effort to get well? In all fairness, the law has to draw a dividing line between harm truly dividing line between harm truly caused by the wrongdoer and harm truly caused by your own neglect.

For example: A woman's foot was injured in a railroad accident, and her doctor or-dered her to use crutches during the healing process. Nevertheless, because she found the crutches awkward, she often hobbled around without them. As a result, a court ruled later that she could not collect damages for be-

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The Editor's Desk. The Daily Times-News, Burlington, N. C. JOHN BIRCHERS AND THE P.T.A.

There is no attempt to hide the fact that Parent-Teacher Association leaders in our area and across the leaders in our area and across the nation have been concerned for two years, or more about any effort that would be made by John Birch Society members to try to "take over." It has not been a problem to any degree in Burlington and Alamance County schools, so far as known. But the threat still is there, and most leaders are aware of it. leaders are aware of it.

A recent article in Look magazine told of "The Plot to Take Over the PTA," as it was written by Ernest Dunbar, a senior editor. It went in-to detail on how the society, under the direction of John Welch, has encouraged members to move into influential positions in PTA's. In so doing, they would place themselves into a position to prevail in their philosophy when time came for a vote on some of the matters that aren't particularly approved within the society's purpose and doctrine. Among other things, the PTA is recognized in support of the United Nations, forderal aid to education and

Amendments to Social Security

Editor's Note: This is the 3rd of a series of articles by Leonard M. Wald, Field Representative, of the Towson Social Security District Office, tel-ling what the social security amendments of 1965 mean to you and your family.)

By: Leonard M. Wald, Field Rep-resentative Social Security Administration.

Many people who continue to work after they become entitled to month-ly social security benefits will benefit after they become entitled to month-ly social security benefits will benefit from a liberalization of the retirement test in the 1965 amendments. First, the exempt amount — the amount of earnings a beneficiary can have in a year and still receive all benefits during the year — was in-creased from $1,200 to $1,500. This change also means that even if a person's earnings exceed $1,500 du-ring the year, he may still receive a full payment for any month in which wages are $125 or less. Second, a smaller amount of bene-fits will be withheld when the bene-ficiary works and earns over $1,500 in a year. Previously, $1 in benefits was withheld for every $2 of earn-ings between $1,200 and $1,700 in a year. On earnings above $1700, $1 in benefits was withheld for every 1 of earnings. After 1965, $1 in benefits will be withheld on dollar for dol-lar basis on earnings above $2,700. These changes will be effective for taxable years ending after 1965. For example, a man and wife receive a taxable years ending after 1965. For example, a man and wife receive a combined benefit of $150 a month and combined benefit of $150 a month and he works and has earnings of $2,700 in both 1965 and 1966. Their total possible benefit, if it were payable, would be $1,800 each year. For 1965 the couple would actually receive benefits of $550 ($1,800 less $1,250-$250 withheld for the $500 of earnings between 1,200 and $1,700 and $1,000 withheld for the $1,000 of earnings above $1,700.) For 1966 they would get total benefits of $1,200 ($1,800 minus $600 of the $1,200 of earnings between 1,500 and $2,700). If his earnings were $2,750 for each year, the couple would receive total bene-fits of $500 for 1965 and $1,150 for 1966.

Another change in the retirement test concerns royalties received in or after the year in which a self-employed person attains age 65 on a copyright or patent obtained before the year the person is 65. These earnings will no longer count for purposes of the retirement test. This change is effective for taxable years begin-

Nations, federal aid to education, and its leadership normally would be in favor of fluoridation of the area's water supply. The John Birch Society doesn't like any of this. This is an interesting development, of course. It follows the same line as was made prominent sometime ago when these John Birch members were urged to move into their precincts urged to move into their precincts and "take over" political leadership. Printed documents among many minority groups over a period of time have pointed out that the routine type of organization is a happy hunting ground, that almost any organized group can "take over." This, too, has been found to be quite successful in areas.

Talking with PTA leaders in the area, as well as others strongly iden-tified with education, it appears that most are completely aware of what can develop.

Actually, there is little direct pro-gramming done by PTA's along the lines to which the John Birchers could object. Birchers, attending a meeting, would find themselves involved in programs that have continued for years and have varied only to degree. They pri-marily are centered on what the par-ent and teacher can do together to help the child and the school. This reaction toward PTA is not unlike that which is found generally in our area so far as our John Birch members are concerned. The tactics of so many others within the society in other sections of the nation are not altogether used in this area. In-deed, it can be said that while they uphold their philosophy and that of their organization, they seldom have shown themselves here to be the ex-tremists in public participation that has been so evident elsewhere. Most of them certainly will not lower them-selves into the crude and domineting of them certainly will not lower themselves into the crude and dominating tactics that, if used here, could be-come a major problem not only to the PTA but to every individual who would, in a public way, take a posi-tion contrary to that which they would hold.

Seat Belt Campaign Saves Lives

What is the difference between the quick and the dead? All too often the answer is "seat belts", according to findings of Cornell University's Automotive Crash Injury Research. Noting that people with seat belts are 35 to 60 percent safer than are people without belts, auto manufacturers and others are taking measures to safeguard lives that would otherwise be lost Typical of the organizations vitally interested in the na-tion's auto safety is the Linen Supply Association of America, now conducting a "Let's Buck-le Up and Live" campaign aimed at drivers of all vehi-cles operating on highways and in citize and in cities.

AND LIVE!

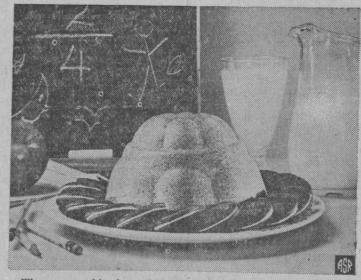

The campaign features the installation of posters (see insert) on member companies' delivery trucks throughout the nation. The association has 1,381 member companies who rent linen services to commercial, industrial, professional and business enterprises.

Linen suppliers operate an estimated 11,000 trucks, many of which display messages for public welfare and education, such as the seat belts for safety campaign.

A Snack To Serve After School: Delicious Mocha Bavarian Mold

The season of books and blackboards brings a group of hungry children home from school. For mother, it means the problem of what to serve at snack-time. Mocha Bavarian Mold, a delicious blend of chocolate and coffee flavorings, is the answer. The base of the mold is finely crushed cream-filled chocolate cookies, which combine with gelatine, instant coffee, flavorings and heavy cream. You garnish the dessert with whole cookies and serve it with cold milk. It's a bet that the grown-ups will love Mocha Bavarian Mold, too! Here's how to make it:

Mocha Bavarian Mold

12 Sunshine Hydrox cookies,	1½ cups milk
finely crushed	4 teaspoons instant coffee
1 envelope unflavored	powder
gelatine	1 teaspoon vanilla extract
fie teaspoon salt	1/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons sugar	1 cup heavy cream, whippe
2 eggs, separated	whole Hydrox cookies

Leggs, separated whole Hydrox cookies Crush cookies between waxed paper into very fine crumbs or with blender and set aside. Mix gelatine, salt and 2 tablespoons sugar in top of double boiler. Mix in beaten egg yolks, milk and coffee. Cook over boiling water, stirring until mixture thickens slightly. Remove from heat, stir in crumbs and vanilla. Refrig-erate, stirring occasionally, until cool; do not allow to set. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form, gradually beating in 1/4 cup sugar. Continue beating until stiff peaks are formed. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into well-oiled mold or bowl, about 61/2 to 7 cups capacity. Refrigerate until set. When ready to serve, un-mold on plate and garnish with whole cookies. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.
