"Social Security Day"

Saturday, November 6 will be "Social Security Day" for Medicare service and information in Carroll County, Robert W. Hughes, Social Security District Manager announced today. Westminster Junior H. S. on Englar Rd. (Hwy 140) will be the scene of a special project from 9:00 A. M. to 3:00 P. M. "We want to make it as easy as possible," Mr. Hughes said, "for Carroll County people to find out about Medicare and establish their rights under the new program. We picked a Saturday for the information project because many of the people who need to take action are still working and couldn't take time off to look into the matter during the week."

Although the Saturday session is open to all who may be interested the special project is mainly for two groups of people age 65 or over—

- 1) Those who have never applied for social security because they have not yet retired and
- 2) Those who have never worked under social security nor paid into the system.

People in both categories will be eligible when the program starts next July providing they file the necessary application between now and next March 31 and establish age 65.

An estimated 1,200 Carroll County residents are in one of these two situations. In addition, there are 5,300 people in Carroll County who already received social security. They, too, are invited to the Social Security Day if they want information but in most cases their enrollment will be taken care of when they sign and return the application card received by mail.

It's expected that some of the 1,200 Carroll County residents for whom Social Security Day is intended will be unable to come to the Junior H. S. because of illness or disability. Hopefully, they will be represented by friends or relatives who may bring home the necessary information and registration forms. In some cases home calls will be necessary.

Mr. Hughes emphasized that Medicare coverage is not limited to those who have retired. He said many people who might have postponed getting in touch with Social Security and register for benefits because they are still working full time, should act now to register for the new health insurance. This is true even if they decide not to elect the optional medical insurance for $3.00 per month that helps to pay doctor bills. The basic hospital insurance protection is for practically everyone 65 or over who has filed an application and established his age. "It's also immaterial whether the individual is rich, poor or in moderate circumstances. Medicare eligibility does not involve any demonstration of need or hardship."

Mr. Hughes explained that between now and 1968 Medicare coverage will be available to 65-year-olds who have never worked under social security or paid into the system. This is a temporary rule designed to make the program quickly effective on July 1, 1966. Beginning with 1968, a record of covered work will be required. On Saturday, November 6, group explanations of Medicare features will be given in the school auditorium. After the general orientation, people will be referred to different classrooms according to the type of form that should be completed. At this point social security interviewers will be on hand to supply whatever further information and help may be needed on an individual basis.

The special projects does not affect the regular social security service continuing in the County Office Building every Monday and Wednesday from 9:30 A. M. to 3:30 P. M. Mr. Hughes explained that the volume of questions and applications for Medicare would have overwhelmed the personnel who provide the regular weekly service and interrupted the regular processing of old-age and survivors insurance benefits.

A Good Mother
Lesson for November 7, 1965

Background Scripture: I Samuel 1:1 through 2:26
Devotional Reading: Psalm 37:1-11.

THE IDEAL mother does not exist, for no creature is perfect and women are no exception. An ideal mother would be one against whom no criticism could fairly be brought at any time or for any action in her life. Not the first mother of the race, not even Mary of Nazareth, could be rated perfect. But while no perfect mothers are to be found, good mothers are not hard to find. Dr. Foreman To be sure, just being a mother, merely bearing children, does not thereby immediately and necessarily make a woman a good mother. But that is another story. What we have in the story of Hannah is the story of a good mother, a much better than average mother. She lived long ago, and she had five other children besides the famous one; but her chief claim on our notice is how she lived out—though never outlived—her motherhood of her one famous son Samuel.

Her son was welcome

A mother's relation to her son begins, of course, before he is born. Indeed it begins perhaps years before, as was the case with Hannah. She wanted a son long before she had one. She wept bitterly as time went by and no son was born to her, though her husband's other wife (this was when polygamy was respectable) had any number of them. Now it makes a great deal of difference with a child whether his arrival in the family is looked forward to and hoped for and prayed for, or whether his birth is a sort of interruption in his mother's busy life. Is the baby to come as a blessing or a burden? The wanted child has a tremendous advantage which only a mother can give him. To be sure, it is far better if the mother is not the only person in the family who will welcome the newcomer. In the story of Hannah the reader will notice the deep sympathy throughout between Hannah and her husband Elkanah. Even when she sends her little son away, her husband understands and approves. So we may be sure that little Samuel's father welcomed him even as his mother did, if not so intensely. Happy the child whose whole family rejoice when he is born!

Her son was cared for

"From each according to his ability; to each according to his need." The communists have stolen this motto from Christians and other religious people; but it cannot be enforced on a large scale, as any one can see. Where it really works is in the family. Every good family operates on this principle. When his mother took little Samuel his robe every year, she did not do a little arithmetic to find whether the lad had contributed to the family enough work to pay for the robe. On the contrary, like every good mother she provided for her child's need without sending him a bill.

Lent to the Lord

A mother never ceases to be a mother. But "mother-love can become smother-love." What is the great "bottleneck" of the Christian ministry? Why is it there are so few missionary volunteers? The answer is mothers. Mothers who suppose a man must choose between God and his mother; mothers who think that if their dear sons go into the ministry or into some "God-forsaken" heathen land, they are turning their back on parents and kindred. Hannah did not think so. At any rate, she was ready, even eager, for her son to begin "serving the Lord" in the way she understood best, at the Shiloh shrine. (He was destined to serve God in larger ways of which she could hardly have dreamed.) But she did not call it "giving up" the child. She called it lending. Hers he still was through all his years. A child lent to the Lord will be given back, with interest!

The Ways and Means Committee has as its chairman, Mrs. Ralph Hess, assisted by Mrs. George Greeny and Mrs. Martin Zimmerman. Their largest undertaking is the preparation and serving of the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet in the school auditorium on Nov. 18. They welcome calls from volunteer workers. Plans are in progress for a night show during February of the Hypnotist. He entertained the students last year and was received enthusiastically.

Mrs. Kenneth Smith is chairman of Health and Safety, assisted by Mrs. Maurice Zent, Mrs. Harry Hohman and Mrs. George Greeny. This committee has already assisted the Carroll County Health Dept. with hearing test for all students in the high school. They also plan periodically to visit the school and assist in any possible way with cleanliness in the shower rooms, health rooms and in any other area where their services are needed.

Mrs. Fern Hitchcock heads a new committee, "Cooperation with Colleges." Through this committee it is hoped to gain more knowledge of available scholarships and help where help is needed for THS graduates. The PTA is attempting to gain a member on the Carroll County Scholarship Board where the PTA annually contributes.

Mrs. Everett Hess is responsible for circulation of the Parent-Teacher Magazine as well as chairman of the Library Committee.

Mrs. Theodore Fair serves as Hospitality chairman with Mrs. Stanley Dutterar, Mrs. Stanley King, Mrs. James Fair and Mrs. John Skiles. A coffee hour is planned for either before or after the meeting.

The PTA is proud to announce that Mr. Kenneth Stonesifer is vice president of the Carroll County Council. Mrs. Riffle and Mrs. Gilbert Stine will represent the school at the 50th Convention of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers to be held in Baltimore Nov. 10 and 11.

Mrs. Theodore Jester is the publicity Chairman. It is hoped that through the press you will be informed of each meeting and then be present each second Monday of the month for an interesting meeting of the parents and teachers.

The officers elected by the association last May were: Mrs. Robert Clingan, president; Mr. Richard McPartland, vice president; Mrs. Melvin Utermahlen, secretary; and Mr. Kenneth Stonesifer, treasurer.

Membership and meetings are open to any interested person—parent or not.

The members of the Executive Committee are asked to attend a brief meeting on Monday night, Nov. 8, at 7 o'clock.

U. S. SAVINGS BONDS

Vernon E. Beall, Volunteer Savings Bonds Chairman for Carroll County, reports that the County's citizens have invested $477,225 in Series E and H Savings Bonds from January through September 1965.

He stated however, that Carroll County needs additional sales to exceed its yearly quota of $720,000.00 with a monthly average of $80,925.00 during the "home stretch" quarter months of October, November and December. These stepped up sales would put the County and Maryland over the top for 1965!

Chairman Beall suggests that the easiest place to shop this coming Christmas is at your Bank. It is well stocked with gifts of U. S. Savings Bonds, wrapped free in the attractive red, white and blue Gift Envelope available for this purpose.

This Christmas, why not look ahead to a Happy New Year with gifts of U. S. Savings Bonds to loved ones, to your friends, or perhaps the new baby — they give happiness today and security tomorrow.

Every American Should Own U. S. Savings Bonds!

November View from my Kitchen Window

Tucked among October's riotous autumn finery were certain whimsical touches of summer — bright green fields, dancing butterflies, robins, bluebirds, meadow larks and one last crop of dandelions, but with the coming of November, the country-side loses these gay notes, one by one, and takes on a subdued and muted aspect. Some leaves are still colorful, but many have turned dry and brown, as a chilly wind swirls them from the trees and across frost-bitten meadows. The summer birds are leaving, and year-round and winter residents are taking their place. As I look through by kitchen window, I notice a noisy band of crows congregating in the lane, and several bluejays are squabbling at the feeder. The other day I came upon a flock of juncos, who informed me in no uncertain terms, that winter is on the way. A rooster pheasant swoops by, and the sight of him reminds me that "No Hunting" signs must now go up. My friend, Gray Squirrel, is feverishly at work among the shellbarks and I rejoice to see him, for I greatly feared that a hunter's bullet had put an end to his happy nut-gathering days. Hunting is, I realize, a stimulating sport for many individuals, but loving the wildlife as I do, I find it deplorable and dangerous as well. Often, during the season, I must curtail a walk to the woods, for fear of being shot myself. We have found that telling people "No" doesn't work. They simply go where we cannot see them, regardless of signs. This happens to be one of my pet peeves, and I know others feel the same way about it.

November is nature's time for settling down, and of quietly preparing for the cold, dark days of winter. Human beings should have these quiet times, as well. Our days are filled with a constant bombardment of noise — the sounds of construction and destruction, of roaring jet planes and highway traffic, of radio and television sets turned up full blast, of people shrilly talking and chattering. A well-known writer has said, "The world is too much with us," and we need to get away from it all for a period, no matter how short, each day. The surest remedy for noise is found in Psalm 46: "Be still, and know that I am God." Only by doing so can we experience that deep, inner peace "which passeth all understanding." Let us remember this, as we go into the quiet, gray days of November.

Carroll ASC County Committee Named

Farmers recently elected to serve as the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) County Committee and their terms of service are: Gary R. Brauning, Chairman, Woolerys II district, elected for a term of 3 years; Harold E. Thomas, Vice Chairman, Union Bridge district, elected for a term of 1 year; Hubert J. Null, Regular Member, Taneytown district, elected for a term of 2 years.

The election was held at a county convention on October 21, at the County Administration Building. Electors were farmers chosen as delegates at recent ASC community committee elections throughout the county.

The chairman points out that the ASC county and community farmer committees are in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as the Agricultural Conservation Program, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, acreage allotments and marketing quotas, the National Wool program, commodity price-support loans, and storage facility loans.

The ASC county office at 33 Court Street, Westminster, is headquarters for the county committee, and serves as the farmer's local contact for business connected with participation in the programs administered by the committees. These programs encourage conservation and increase farm returns by means of price supports and market supply-management as well as by payments.
