Taneytown Scouts Reschedule Paper Drive

Due to the uncertain weather last Saturday the paper collection conducted by Boy Scouts of Troop 348, Taneytown, was curtailed and only a small quantity gathered which had already been put out on the city streets. No attempt was made to canvass the rural routes.

NO C.C.A.R.C. FUND DRIVE THIS YEAR

Westminster — The annual Fund Drive of the Carroll County Association For Retarded Children will not be held this year, it was announced by the organization. The fund drive is normally held during National Retarded Children's Week, Nov. 21-27.

The association has tentative plans for a Building Fund Drive in the spring of 1966. The local group's reasoning was that "it did not want to burden the community with two fund drives so close together, thus the annual Fund Drive will be eliminated this year only."

The Building Fund Drive receipts will be used to construct a new Day Care Center for the CCARC on a tract of land near the Robert Moton School in Westminster. Design and plans for the new school are still in the making.

Regular contributors to the annual Fund Drive may send their checks to Mr. Fern Smith, Rt. 1, Finksburg, Md. 21048.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

It was a source of great pride and pleasure to me to be present at the Anniversary Service at Grace Reformed United Church of Christ on Sunday, November 7, when the congregation celebrated the 215th anniversary of its organization. I had a desire to attend the service as soon as I read the announcement of it in the papers, and then when I received Rev. Wiley's invitation with the dinner included, I determined to be there and how glad I was that I could share in this wonderful event. Every part of the program, so well executed by all those who were responsible for the various roles, certainly inspired great pride and satisfaction on the part of those who participated—the pastor, Consistory and various committees who planned the occasion, the Senior and Junior Choirs for their inspiring selections, the very fine, instructive, inspiring sermon by Dr. Spotts, and of course, that excellent dinner, so thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. It was a day and an occasion of which Grace Church can be very proud, celebrating the birthday anniversary of a Congregation which came into existence a long, long time ago.

In these days when we are in the midst of constant change, believing somehow (but often mistakenly) that mere change is a sign of progress that leads to the realization of all our hopes, it is profitable for us sometimes to take time and occasion for a backward look; for what this congregation has and is in this year of 1965, is there because of what the congregation began to be in 1750 and has added gradually to that beginning through the years that followed.

It is a long cry from the original log church, without a wooden floor, lights or heat, organ or hymnals, even without the services of a minister except during the summer months, to the fine, modern equipment which makes the periods of worship in the church to be the source of peace and inspiration to those who attend its services.

The first church building, erected in the 1750's in what is now the oldest part of the cemetery, presumably served the congregation for nearly 70 years. At some time, however, the outside walls were covered with weatherboarding and painted yellow; hence the name "The Old Yellow Church." In 1811 and 1812, the Lutheran congregation in Taneytown, which had shared the use of the Yellow Church, bought land and built a church on the site of the present Taneytown Lutheran Church; the cornerstone laid in 1811 and the church dedicated in 1812.

Then in 1820, the Reformed Congregation bought two lots (Numbers 78 and 80) on West Main Street from Elizabeth Hughs for $89.68 1/2; and on this site the present church was erected and dedicated in 1822. A group of Presbyterians, organized as a congregation in 1828, shared the use of the building until 1883 when the Presbyterian Church in Taneytown was built. It was at this time (1822-1828) that preaching in the English language was introduced, furnished mostly by the Presbyterian ministers.

In 1890 major alterations and repairs were made to the church building and grounds. The galleries were removed and a second story floor laid, thus making the building two-storied; also the building was enlarged by extending it 20 ft. toward the street, providing room for the large memorial window in the front wall and the bell tower. Also, the altitude of the church was raised to the level of the second story floor. The auditorium was furnished with opera chairs instead of pews.

Renovations were made to the Sunday School room in 1919. Then in 1934 another major remodeling took place. The structural walls were strengthened by the addition of iron cross-beams, an arched ceiling added, a new tupelo floor laid, new circular pews, arched pulpit area, new lights, the entire building re-painted, inside and outside, also additional improvements made to the Sunday School room.

In the early 1950's the Sunday School building was erected, thus adding not only more needed space, but also many facilities in the educational and recreational program of the Church. Later, an air-conditioning system and a new organ were added, so now we can say that Grace Church in every respect a modern building with every facility for ideal worship. All this has come about because of the faithful service of a devoted membership.

Personally, I found great pleasure in being able to greet an old friend, Dr. Spotts, with whom I was rather closely associated during my residence in Lancaster. It is to be regretted that he and Mrs. Spotts had to leave so soon after the Service, as I am sure, those present would have enjoyed conversing with them. I was glad, too, to greet Rev. Andrews, my successor at Grace Church, who attended with his family.

Of course, that wonderful dinner must not be forgotten—really a royal feast. It was a fitting climax to the experiences of a day of joy, the memory of which will linger for a long while.

This was, indeed, a day of pride for the pastor, Rev. Wiley, for in addition to all "the goings on" at Taneytown, earlier that morning, in connection with the services at Grace Church of Keysville, he had the pleasure of dedicating a set of carillon bells, the gift of the late Mrs. Georgia Reaver to the Keysville Church, in memory of her grandfather (Myerly) and parents (Dutpara.) I am waiting for an opportunity to bid the bells and then I intend to beg you, Mr. Editor, for some more

The opening ceremony, presided over by Senator Thomas R. O'Farrell, began at 11 A. M. two miles west of Westminster on the new highway. Mr. Funk was the featured speaker.

Guests included the Carroll County Commissioners, the County Delegation to the General Assembly, Mayor Joseph H. Hahn, Jr., of Westminster, Mayor Raymond J. Perry of Taneytown, and their respective City Councilmen.

THE ENCHANTMENT OF INDIAN SUMMER

That gaily gypsy, October, holds me so firmly under her spell during the Indian Summer days that I find it all but impossible to remain indoors. Who can concentrate on housecleaning the living room when the trees, and indeed, the whole universe, cry out with color? I, for one, cannot, for Indian Summer always brings out the vagabond in me.

And so I exchange my vacuum cleaner for a half-bushel basket and promptly head for the nearest black walnut tree. Naturally, both dogs go along, and Beau, the lively puppy, almost goes wild with excitement. Skippy, on the other hand, takes it all in stride, for he has accompanied me on similar nut gathering expeditions for a good many autumns now.

Feeling very akin to a squirrel, I bend to my task, with the mellow sunshine warming me through and through. All around me, there are pleasant sounds—the chirping of a cricket, the whisper of falling leaves, the rustle of dry corn stalks, the cry of a bluejay, the thud of a walnut as it hits the ground, the humming of our neighbor's tractor. And as I gaze at the magnificent tapestry which October has so skillfully woven, a lump comes up in my throat. It is the same feeling I get when stirring music is played, or when our flag goes by in a Fourth of July parade. Never were colors so perfectly blended! The flaming banners of the trees, the emerald meadows, the azure depths of the sky, the purplish haze around the woods, the somber gray of our old house, the blue wisps of smoke ascending from its brick-red chimney create a scene that any artist would love to portray on canvas. But of course God Himself is the Artist Supreme, and how anyone could deny His presence and glory, especially at this season of the year, is unthinkable.

After awhile, a pleasantly aching back, a full basket and lengthening shadows convince me that I had best repair to the house and begin supper. My living room was not divested of cobwebs or dust, but both my mind and spirit were wonderfully cleansed and freshened by the enchantment of Indian Summer!

—Zola Cantwell

CORRECTION

In a recent issue, the caption under a picture incorrectly identified the Rev. Howard W. Miller as supply pastor for the St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Harney. Pastor Miller is of Taneytown, and is dean of the Westminster District. In this latter capacity he officiated at a groundbreaking at Harney. Until his recent hospitalization, the Rev. Willis Brenneman was supply pastor at St. Paul's; the Rev. Dr. Elwood S. Falkenstein is now the supply pastor.

The Carroll Record regrets this error as the "copy" was given to us incorrectly.

Mrs. John C. Schaeffer Explains New Christmas Seal

A charming little girl and a beautiful evergreen were chosen by Frede Salomonsen for the 1965 Christmas Seals. Inspired by the thought of "man's desire and obligation to help his stricken fellowman," the artist calls his dual design, "Kernels of Life." Dressed in a bright red scarf and green mittens, the little girl holds a basket of grain as she kneels to feed the hungry birds in winter time. An evergreen tree in ornamental splendor invites the birds to rest and shelter from the cold. Each depicts the goodwill and gladness of the holiday season.

Frede Salomonsen was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, where the Christmas Seal originated. As a boy, he contracted tuberculosis and spent two years recovering from the disease. Having earned his living as a commercial artist since he was 16 years old, Mr. Salomonsen came to the United States in August 1946 at the age of twenty-six. He joined the art department at Brown and Bigelow of St. Paul where he is still employed. "Big Fred" who stands 6'6" tall is a creative designer and illustrator. He specializes in calendars, greeting card and playing card art.

With his wife, Betty, and their two children, Steven and Robin, Mr. Salomonsen enjoys life in Saint Paul, Minn., where he is a "Queen" of the Clown Club and a Vulcan in the winter carnival.

An ardent spokesman for Christmas Seals, Mr. Salomonsen believes that Christmas Seals provide a priceless opportunity for everyone to take part in the effort to eradicate tuberculosis and control other respiratory diseases. His colorful 1965 Christmas Seal design, "Kernels of Life" is his artistic expression of this belief.

Mrs. Schaeffer, Carroll County chairman of the Christmas Seal Campaign urges the Carroll County residents to use the pretty Seals on all their letters and packages. Many ideas for decorating packages, tables during the holiday season and home decorations may be had by stopping in the Carroll County TB Association headquarters.

Mayor Perry Proclaims Christmas Seal Week

Mayor Perry placed his official seal on the Christmas Seal Campaign by proclaiming November 22 to November 27, 1965, as Christmas Seal Week.

"The entire community benefits from the Tuberculosis Association's work throughout the year," said Mayor Perry. "I am happy to use the power vested in me to call attention to the Carroll County TB Association's program for protecting the public health, and to urge strong support for the Christmas Seal Campaign."

The proclamation read as follows: "WHEREAS Tuberculosis and other Respiratory Diseases continue to present a serious health problem in Carroll County; and

"WHEREAS with adequate help from the community and application of medical and scientific knowledge, TB can be wiped out and other Respiratory Disease controlled; and

"NOW THEREFORE, I, Raymond J. Perry, Mayor of Taneytown, do hereby proclaim the week of November 22 as Christmas Seal Week and do further urge every citizen to answer their Christmas Seal letter and to contribute generously to the Christmas Seal appeal of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association, to help support and expand its program of spreading knowledge, finding the sick, helping them recover, and aiding search for the ultimate protection of all from TB and other Respiratory Diseases."

Signed, Raymond J. Perry

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning I wish you shall last until the next day's dawning. I smile that health—life's greatest wealth; I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Were you disappointed as to "What Is A Baltimorean?" on TV last week? Frankly, I was as I expected to see more than the kids playing on the streets, "The Thinker" at the Art Museum, the Pimlico Race Tracks, the Colts, the horses, a quickie of the Duchess of Windsor, our Chesapeake Bay, Johns Hopkins, the Fish Market, Civic Centre, "The Block" and of course all the WHITE marble steps, row after row. There were many beautiful homes in the Counties but not any of the Baltimore aristocracy set which should have been a must. It showed where the City of Baltimore was a "melting pot" and that was it! Just like all other big cities. Eh?

And thinking about TV . . . Did you see the wedding of Katy Holstrom and Congressman Glenn Morley (Inger Stevens and William Windom)? All that was a big write up yet did not show anything as the advertisements stated. However, Your Observer was the guest of the young school teacher whom I met enfligh returning from Yuma. Remember? The wedding and such a beautiful bride (also a school teacher) which took place in Catonsville at the St. Marks Catholic Church and never have I seen a more beautiful and sacred ceremony! It was most impressive and yet quite different to any other Catholic wedding where I have been the guest. It was a simplified form of the Grace Kelly and Prince Ranier wedding. The wedding music at dinner was delightful!

A bunch of beautiful deep blood red roses stand before me and reminds me of my beloved Dad when he used to call me "His Last Rose of Summer!" What a beautifully colored photograph and a surprise from that nice Merv Griffin!

And only in America can this happen—Elvis Presley will make $5,000,000 this year. Did you ever notice seeing signs in any park as you drive along, "No Dogs Allowed"? Yet you will see the owners taking them right there for a stroll! So signs do not count! Eh? The other day, I accompanied a Jewish bachelor girl to the grave of her mother and as we walked around the cemetery, I read some of the old, old names of very prominent Jewish people. There was a beautiful statue of a lady grieving over the husband's grave and at the lower end there it was . . . "I love thee with the breath, smiles, tears all my life, the better after death." How very beautiful!

How sad it was . . . the passing of Miss Dorothy Kigallan. Never did I miss a 10:30 Sunday evening on "What's My Line?" which she was on the panel!

Have a grand week-end and be so careful when you drive. Think how many from the ages of 16 to 26 are killing themselves and killing others, too!

Until next week, D.V.

I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

NATIONAL FARM-CITY WEEK

It is an ancient truism that ignorance breeds suspicion, even enmity. That applies to the relationships of nations and their peoples. And it applies, to a considerable extent, to different groups within a nation.

On the other side of the coin, the road to understanding lies in knowledge. And this truth gives a deep significance to the annual observance of National Farm-City Week.

This year's observance will take place during the November 19-25 period. As in the past, businessmen will visit farms, and farmers will tour factories. Urban and rural young people will gather together. The schools and churches will lay stress on the Week and its purpose. Newspapers and other media will provide an individual aid by publicizing the Week and what it is intended to achieve. Clubs, civic organizations and all manner of other organizations will play their roles.

It would be difficult to exaggerate the importance of an observance such as this. In the complex, fast-moving world in which we live and work we tend to become totally immersed in our own concerns. We give too little thought to the problems, aspirations and achievements of others. So envies and jealousies tend to arise.

From the modern farm, with its highly advanced production techniques, comes the meats, the vegetables, the fruits, the grains and dairy products that make us the best fed people on the earth. They are consumed, with gusto, in the towns and cities. The farmer and the urban dweller are partners in the broadest sense of that word. The more they know about each other, the better off the nation will be. And that is what makes National Farm-City Week so outstanding an event.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Writing in The Reporter, Max Ascoli says: "Lin Piao describes in full detail the two successive revolutions that China intends to foment in the 'rural areas of the world': the first is national, or rather nationalistic and democratic; the second purely socialist. In the first, all bourgeois and patriotic elements can be used; in the second, they are to be crushed. This is very much what the Maoists did in their own rural areas, when they got the peasants on their side by promising them the land and then took over both the peasants and the land. They are ready to do the same all over the three 'rural areas of the world': Asia, Africa, and Latin America. Our resistance and counter-action are to be welcomed, for thus we shall hopefully fritter away our strength and our resources."

The Journal of the American Medical Association says that there may be an increase in influenza this winter and adds that most people can avoid the disease by proper immunization. The forecast is based on the two to three-year periodicity of the disease. The last major outbreaks were in 1962-63, and on the west coast in 1963-64.

David Lawrence writes: "We have built space ships that can orbit the earth many times in one day. We have developed person-to-person communication in our everyday life. Why cannot the inventive mind of man find ways to transmit the doctrines of self-discipline and human love from nation to nation?"

The Association of American Railroads reports that one of the most significant self-improvement projects ever attempted throughout the American industry now involves more than 20 Class I American railroads in formal or proposed rail merger, lease or control plans. In the nine-year span of the modern merger movement, a total of 38 unifications has been proposed. Of these, 23 have been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission and made effective; two have been sanctioned but have been held up by court action; three have been denied; two have been deferred at applicants' request; one was withdrawn; and seven are pending.

The nation's gas industry will spend $7.5 billion during the next four years on construction of new production, transmission, distribution, storage and general plant facilities. In the 1961-64 period, the outlay was $6.6 billion.

Former President Eisenhower says: "Throughout my eight years in the White House I opposed any effort to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. I emphatically believe that each State has an inherent right to determine whether or not unionism is or is not to be compulsory within its borders. I am against impinging further on the freedom of the individual; I believe that maximum personal liberty within an orderly society is an essential to a strong, prosperous and happy America. . ."

American highway users paid $12.4 billion in special state and federal taxes during 1963, the last year for which statistics are available, according to Oil Facts. This amounted to $151 for every motor vehicle in the United States.

Time magazine reports: "At most, there are 600,000 married men with families in the U.S. who can be classed as long-term, hard-core cases of unemployment. Though the commonly cited figure for the jobless is nearly 5,000,000, among them are close to 1,000,000 youths under 24, more than 2,000,000 'short-term' jobless and many others who are seeking only part-time work."

A number of the Keysville Luther League members attended the Luther League Rally held at Taneytown on Sunday afternoon.

There are always a number of death notices in the papers but it seems (to me) as though there have been more than usual lately involving families I have come to know in the area. Truly our hearts are always stirred in sympathy for the loss of a loved one for anyone—whether or not we know them personally. These are nearby ones: Pastor Thomas, (I believe) of Greencastle, Pa., a brother-in-law of Mrs. Gerald Myers; Douglas Lesalle of Taneytown and brother of Mrs. LeRoy Coshun, John Wood of Westminster, was president of The Detour Bank and known by everyone; Mrs. Carroll Reese of Union Bridge and half-sister of Edwin Gartrell of the Keysville Road; Mrs. Robert (Edna) Green formerly of Union Bridge and the mother of "Dick" Green of Middleburg and Mrs. D. Saylor (Anna) Weybright of Thurmont, who was also known by almost everyone.

The season of Thanksgiving and Christmas are rapidly approaching and they will be saddened for the above families by their loss. However, there is always so much for which we have to be thankful and I extend the greetings of my family and our families for next Thursday for happy family get-togethers.

I know of what I speak for my mother died on Dec. 17, 1951, and it still puts a tinge of sadness on the Christmas holidays, especially since the 25th also happened to be her birthday. Of course the children enjoy the four days away from school!

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my dear husband, Milton E. Crouse, who passed away one year ago, November 17, 1964.

The shock was great, the blow severe, I little thought the end so near; And only those who have lost can tell The pain of parting without farewell.

You have left this world of sorrow You are free from pain and harm; May you rest in peace and comfort On the blessed Saviour's arm.

I suffered when you left me Your face no more to see But my thoughts are full of memories In my heart you will always be.

God gave me strength to bear it And courage to fight the blow But what it meant to lose you No one will ever know.

By his wife, MRS. PAULINE CROUSE

Services, to which the public is invited, will be held at 11 o'clock A. M. in Westminster by Christian Science Society, Westminster, at 6 East Green Street.

The first Christian Science Thanksgiving Day service was held in Baltimore in 1901, according to Lloyd E. Contant, Committee on Publication for Maryland.

The hour-long service is divided into three 20-minute periods; one for the singing of hymns, reading of Scripture, and prayer; one for the Lesson-Sermon; and one for the giving of testimonies. These testimonies, Mr. Contant said, are considered an essential part of the service.

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING They must have had a merry day That first Thanksgiving day When Indian and Pilgrim lads Went out to run and play; They had roast turkey, venison, And other kinds of meat And many other good things, to The mothers fixed to eat. Cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie They had so rumors say— And so we still make them a part of our Thanksgiving day; They were all very thankful That they had abundant store To last the long cold winter through; They did not ask for more And so they asked the Indians To feast with them that day, And after all had had their fill They all went out to play— The Pilgrims with the Indians Divided what they had; So let us try Thanksgiving Day To make somebody glad!

Words of Cheer by Bertha I. Michael.

GOD'S TIMING God's help is always sure; His methods seldom guessed; Delay will make our pleasure pure, Surprise will give it zest.

But most of all be thankful for our provider, the Lord Jesus. Phil. 4:6, "In everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your request be made known unto God."

THE WAY I SEE IT . . . Observations on the World of Sports —by John Breth

There are many PRO FOOTBALL devotees who argue that the points after touchdown attempts should be abolished because they are automatic. Lending their support are the kickers in the American Football League. They have tried 154 conversion attempts this season and made every one of them.

Another argument for abolishing the points after touchdowns can be found in the record of Tommy Davis of the San Francisco 49-ers of the National Football League. The 31-year-old veteran from Louisiana State University, has kicked in his seventh NFL season, has nicked 217 points after touchdown for the 49-ers without a miss.

Davis long since has passed the previous League record of 156, set by former Chicago Bears quarterback George Blanda. Incidentally, Blanda still is playing pro ball, with the Houston Oilers of the AFL and he is one of the many kickers who have helped to keep the American League's record unblemished in the conversion department this season.

Davis is closing in on Blanda in another NFL category—most consecutive games scoring. Davis has scored in 58 straight games and passed former San Francisco Star Gordy Soltau for the number three spot in the all-time list. Blanda is second, with 83 games, and the still-active Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns is the leader with 107 straight games. Groza's string ran from 1950 through 1959.

The late Commissioner of the NFL, Bert Bell, used to ridicule the points after touchdowns. Bell said: "It doesn't belong in the game. It looks bad for professionals to attempt anything so easy."

If Bell had his way, players such as Groza and Davis would not have their names in the record books. And also, they would not have lasted very long in pro football. Others who depend on their kicking talents also might have been without jobs in the NFL or AFL. And furthermore, there are occasions when points after touchdown attempts are missed — and games are won or lost, depending on the situation.

Davis gives credit to two of his teammates for keeping his streak alive. They are quarterback John Brodie, who sets up the ball, and center Karl Rubke, who passes it to Brodie. Without their coordination, Davis would have little to brag about.

Davis realizes that his streak might end at any time. But he says he won't feel too badly when it does. Davis explains: "A man can't expect his luck to last forever."

Bert Bell wouldn't consider Davis lucky; just automatic.

Last season, BOBBY HULL scored 35 goals in his first 37 games and seemed like a sure bet to shatter the National Hockey League record he shares of 50 goals in one season. But knee injuries slowed down the swift left winger of the Chicago Black Hawks. Hull played in only 24 of his team's last 33 games and scored only four times for a total of 39 goals, eleven short of the record.

This season, Hull seems more determined than ever to smash the record he shares with two former Montreal Canadiens—Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and Maurice (The Rocket) Richard. In seven games, Hull has collected eleven goals, the fastest start ever made by an NHL player. Already he has scored three goals in one game twice.

Hull has two assets that will greatly help him in his record run. He is one of the fastest skaters—if not the fastest—in the league. And he has one of the hardest—if not the hardest—slap shots in hockey.

But there are other factors that may hinder Hull as he attempts to become the first NHL player to score more than 50 goals in one season. One, he is a gentleman on and off the ice. Off the ice is fine. But on the ice, he lets too many players rough him up and doesn't hit back often enough. Hull won the Lady Bong Trophy last season, and among the requisites was gentlemanly play.

And secondly, Hull spends between 40 and 45 minutes on the ice each game. Not only does he play on his regular line and as a penalty killer, he also is used as a penalty killer. All that activity helps to tire him out last season. Hull hopes it doesn't happen again this season.

Today's Sport Laugh — When third baseman Pete Ward of the Chicago White Sox broke into the major leagues with the Baltimore Orioles in 1962, he used a batting style similar to the one made famous by the late Wee Willie Keeler. Ward had his hands spread far apart on the bat.

His teammate, outfielder Barry Shetrone, claimed that "Pete is the only batter who can get a base hit between his hands."

TIGERS BANQUET HUGE SUCCESS With more than forty players and guests present, the Taneytown Tigers held their banquet Saturday night at the Westminster American Legion, Baltimore Oriole rookie centerfielder Paul Blair was the principal speaker.

The people who worked behind the scenes were honored for their services this past season to make it the best year for the local nine since 1954.

A Soldier's Faith
Lesson for November 21, 1965

Background Scripture: II Kings 5:1-27.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 103:1-12.

ARMY MEN and religion are not ordinarily thought of together. But some soldiers have been famed for their religious faith. It would interest the reader to run through the Bible and note the many soldiers mentioned there who were as religious as they were brave. In modern times it is the same. One of the first things General Eisenhower did on becoming president was to

Dr. Foreman be baptized and join the church. An American seminary recently had in its student body a retired British Major-general. And so it goes. One of the most dedicated Christians this writer ever knew was a regular army captain.

Faith and humility

It is humbling experience for a man with the habit of command and used to giving orders to enter the Kingdom of God like a child, as Jesus expressed it. But the bravest can also be the humblest. The story of Commander Naaman in II Kings 5 is a very interesting case in point. This man was a servant of God without perhaps knowing it. At any rate the writer of II Kings gives God the credit for Naaman's victories over Israel. For that was what he was, conqueror of Israel. In his time he was commander of all the Syrian army, and by his victorious campaigns had reduced Israel to an unimportant and impoverished province of the Syrian Empire. An Israelite girl at the time of this story was serving as lady's maid to the Commander's wife. Now you would not expect a great commander to pay much attention to the ideas of a little slave girl.

Faith and healing

The Commander may have been in desperation, for he was suffering from a disease for which at that time there was no known cure: the dreaded affliction of leprosy. To be a leper was to live under the visible shadow of death. The little maid had said there was a prophet in Israel who by God's help could cure even lepers; so off Naaman rode, with bags full of silver and other gifts fit for a king. Now the story tells itself how the Commander wanted the cure to be done in noble style, like a magic spell, and was angry when he was given the simple command, "Go wash in the Jordan seven times," how he was persuaded to try it, and how he was healed. But this raises many questions today. Does God today ever cure persons without treatment? Are miracles of healing things of the past? God used Naaman to punish Israel though Naaman did not realize it, so now God works miracles of healing through the genius and skills of professional physicians. God is in the hospital just as surely as he is in the Jordan.

Faith and the halfway house

Naaman was sure that God had cured him. But he was not about to come out and live with the Israelites. Instead he was going to keep on going to the "House of Rimmon," the temple where the Syrian God Rimmon was worshipped. The startling thing here is that the prophet Elisha did not object to this but gave his blessing. "Go in peace," he said, in farewell. You would have expected that Elisha would roundly rebuke the Commander, perhaps saying, "Come all-out for the true God, the God of the prophets, Elisha's God, and don't stay in the half-way house of a pagan temple." But Elisha did not take this intolerant attitude. Naaman was coming as far as his situation allowed. Full faith might have drawn him clear away from his heathen homeland, would have made him in fact a traitor to his own king. Elisha recognized that this would have been asking too much. Better a faith that stops in the half-way house of Rimmon than no faith at all. Better a faith unconfessed than no faith. God could see Naaman's heart.

Home Baking "In" Again

Home baking is making a big comeback. It's no longer just Grandma's kitchen that entices visitors with the heavenly scent of freshly baked bread and rolls, apple pies and cherry tarts, Christmas cookies and birthday cake.

Today, both the teenage bride who's a cooking novice and the busy suburban homemaker are turning out tasty pastries that delight husbands, houseguests and even "picky kids."

Why the home-baking boom? Not the least of the reasons is the non-stick aluminum baking pan. Originally introduced for fat-free frying, non-stick pans have caught on with homemakers because they're so easy to clean, whether or not grease is used. Now there is a good selection of aluminum pans with non-stick finishes designed for oven use. Since aluminum is by far the best heat conductor among materials used in cooking utensils, baking results are consistently good in aluminum oven ware.

When the baking's finished, a quick wipe with a sudsy sponge or dishcloth completely cleans the pan that's lined with Teflon—or one of the other quality non-stick coatings. Even those hard-to-clean muffin tins and fancy cake molds come clean quickly without soaking or scouring, and baked-on casserole foods such as macaroni and cheese wash right off, too.

Non-stick aluminum oven ware includes cookie, cake, bread and muffin pans, and casseroles that can also be used over direct heat for top-of-the-range cooking.

How To Avoid Party Headaches

A birthday party is a big event in a little life, but it can be a big headache for mother. The makers of Bayer Aspirin suggest these tips for making a party a happy, memorable event for child and mother.

- Your child's birthday party can be a happier occasion if you leave nothing to chance. Make out a list of things to be done and check them off as you go.
- It's best to keep guest lists short. As any schoolteacher will tell you, large groups of children can quickly become uncontrollable.
- Indicate on the invitations exactly how long the party will last. A party for very young children—four to six years old—shouldn't last longer than an hour and a half.
- Since all children are not picked up at the same time, plan some kind of activity to keep those remaining busy until their parents arrive.
- Extra help—a mother, sister or friend—can keep things running smoothly. And keep the refreshments simple. Paper plates, cups and decorations can make the job easier by eliminating after-party wash-up.
- Mother should have fun, too. If time permits, take a hot bath, two aspirin tablets and lie down before the party begins. This will help you be a nicer mommy.

How to succeed in saving without really trying

It's hard to sock away money at times, especially when you just can't spare much for savings. And therein lies the real beauty of buying U. S. Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan.

You never even see the money you're saving until you've suddenly got your hands on a brand new Savings Bond—and it's all yours.

Here's how the plan works: just tell your employer to set aside a small amount of your pay toward the purchase of a Savings Bond. Before you know it, you've got a mate to that first Bond. And your Bonds are already busy—earning another dollar at maturity for every three you invest.

Bonds are busy in another way, too. While they're earning money for you, they're helping to keep your country strong.

So join the millions of Americans who have made a success of Payroll Savings. You'll find you really don't have to work very hard at it. Try it and see.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity
- You can get your money when you need it
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can buy Bonds where you bank, or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work

Instant wrapping of odd-sized gifts can be yours with colorful drawstring gift-wrap bags.

When your shampoo in a plastic tube seems to be all used up just cut through the tube and you will find enough for another shampoo that wouldn't be squeezed out otherwise.

If you would like your records to last longer and for static-free sound, there is a device known as a disc-wisk that removes all dust, lint, even microscopic-size particles you can't see.

Colorful pot holders with built-in magnets pretty up your kitchen and are always conveniently at hand.

Save yourself a lot of backache when moving heavy furniture and appliances by purchasing a set of rollers. Four of these rollers can move 500 pounds.

If your children aren't especially fond of drinking milk, make them a bread pudding or something else that has milk in it. Ice cream furnishes the same nutrients as provided by milk but in different amounts.

More than one-third of all women work for pay away from home, or in a family business, or on a family farm. When asked why they work, they said to maintain higher standards of living and to provide more education for children.

THEFT: A TAX DEDUCTION

During divorce proceedings, a court awarded part of the family's money to the wife. Her husband, outraged, reacted very much like the proverbial pugilist who cries:

"I wuz robbed!" In that spirit, he solemnly claimed a deduction for "theft" on his next income tax return. But the government took a dim view of his claim. And, after a court hearing, the judge ruled this was not exactly the kind of theft that the tax law had in mind.

Generally speaking, you do have a right to deduct for loss-by-theft of your personal property, above a $100 minimum. Unless you are covered by insurance, you may subtract the amount of the loss from your gross income.

But the government will insist on a reasonable showing that you really did suffer a theft. Mere unexplained disappearance is not enough.

For instance: In one case, a man's wallet vanished from his pocket at some unknown point during a walk downtown and a ride in an elevator. The court found "only the suspicion of a theft"—not enough to justify a tax deduction.

In another case, a valuable bird dog, released for exercise, simply disappeared. The court, observing that the dog might as probably be lost as stolen, denied tax relief to the owner.

On the other hand, you do not need overwhelming, ironclad proof to establish a claim. The circumstances of your loss may be convincing enough, even though no thief is ever caught.

For example: A traveler was advised, at an airport stopover, that it was safe to leave his camera in the plane. But upon his return he found the camera gone. Theft was held sufficiently likely, in these circumstances, to support his claim for a tax deduction.

A woman kept a diamond pin in a locked drawer, but with the key accessible to her maid. When she returned home after a few days' absence, the pin was missing. So were some clothes, so were some linens, and so was the maid. Held: good enough evidence of theft. —An American Bar Association public service feature by Will Bernard. —Distributed by the Maryland State Bar Association, Inc.
