THANKSGIVING DAY 1965

On Thanksgiving Day, the average American family comes together from far and near, frequently joined by relatives and in-laws, and sits down to enjoy a Thanksgiving dinner of roast turkey and all the "trimmin's." It is at this moment, observing a most admirable custom handed down to us from over three centuries ago by the Pilgrim Fathers, that the average American family pauses to give thanks for the blessings received during the past year.

At this time of year when all Americans unite to give thanks for the myriad blessings they have received, we at The Record office wish to especially thank you, the patrons of The Carroll Record who have given so generously of your support.

Mrs. Marion Francis, who is still a patient at Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, had as special visitors But the court, taking into consid-eration the purpose of the statute, decided that "food or drink" did include cigars. As one judge explained, we can "drink" the wind—so why can't we "drink" a cigar?

That is an extreme case, of course. But it illustrates why the law is not always content with the definition given in the dictionaries. A dictionary would scarcely define a cigar as some-thing to drink. Yet the court felt that, to fulfill the purpose of this particular statute, it must reach beyond a mere dictionary definition.

Oddly enough, one reason Lawyer Noah Webster wrote his dictionary was that he found Samuel Johnson's dictionary inadequate in its defini-tions of legal terms. Still, the law constantly finds it necessary to look further for the last word on words. Suppose, for instance, that some-body sues you for calling him a "crook."

A dictionary will provide the gen-eral meaning of that word. But ex-actly what did you mean when you said it? Did you shout it, in fun, at the umpire in a baseball game? Did you growl it, in earnest, at the corporation president in a stockhold-ers meeting? The difference in meaning is enormous. The same is true of words you use in making a contract. A dictionary will define "profit" and "approximately" and "guarantee." But the law must discover what those words meant to these particular individuals when they entered into this particular contract.

Judge Learned Hand once wrote: "Words are chameleons, which re-flect the color of their environment." It is only by exploring that envir-onment, and measuring that reflection, that justice can truly be done. -An American Bar Association pub-lic service feature by Will Bernard.

Since that time the enrollment in this project has increased to include 35 in-school girls and boys, ages 16 through a grant made possible under the Federal Economic Opportunity Act. The program has been reviewed and approved by local Community Action Committee

All senior high schools are now participating, as well as one junior high school. Youth from the senior high schools are working in their own schools and are working part-time in six elementary schools. These youths are working in the capacities of aides in custodial, grounds keeper, library, office, cafeteria, and teacher-assistant

Prior to beginning work, interested youth were screened by counseling sessions conducted by school principals and counselors. Each enrolled youth will benefit from additional counseling sessions during the school year. Each enrollee had a physical examination and each, under 18 years of age, was issued a work permit for his present position.

The enrollee may earn to a maximum of $445.00 in the current school year ending June 15. His work must be judged satisfactory by the supervisory personnel, and should con-tribute to his general benefit in the continuation of his public school education.

At the present time of the budget of $15,850 provided by Federal funds for this project, approximately $12,-850 is being accounted for by present

The Board was further assured that the Commissioners would reach a decision not later than the first week in December regarding the possibility of financial support. The Commissioners were advised by the Board members that unless prompt approval can be achieved it will be cessary to delay the actual opening date from September 1966 to September 1967.

The Board was furnished with copies of a summary of the operation and results of the Outdoor School at River Valley Ranch operated during the fall. This report indicates that through this service 551 out of a total of 623 fifth graders had had the privilege of attending the Out-door School and had enjoyed the educational and recreational benefits. This was 88 per cent of the total enrollment in the schools participat-ing. The program will be continued during late April and May for those scheduled at that time.

The Board was made aware of certain items for the agenda for the December meeting. Members of the Board of Educa

Following the luncheon, the PTA committee of the Westmin-ster High School requested their works to take a town of the West guests to take a tour of the West-minster High School to observe the areas now felt to be neglected or inadequate. Superintendent Jenness spoke briefly at the luncheon meeting to explore some of the history and problems related to providing and ex-panding secondary education facilities in the Westminster area.

The antiques are displayed beautifully and such handsome pieces; One could really purchase an entire house-full of Antiques if you desire to decorate your home that way. Then, what a surprise when I learned of that dear little Cherub after seventeen long years arriving to the sweet couple, Mr. and Mrs., Keith Brown, and he is the image of his grand-father! Such a sweet disposition baby! There is so much that I love 'around the town', even the brick pavements!

What surprises me so much is that after so many years people remember me, even to the Clerk in the P. O. building when I went in to get postage stamps!

So do try, Folks and stant fixing up the store fronts and make it as attractive as you can.

The only place to borrow money is from the banks right there and no other place!

Of course, I dropped in to "The Taney Inn" and there is a very cheap special for lunch which is being served and from which I understand many enjoy. One thing that I do not understand that all down through the years the movie around the town has been closed. A wonderful new business could be opened right there. And I did get a big "Kiss" upon my return!

Have a wonderful Thanksgiving, for there is nothing like the country on the two holidays — that of Thanksgiving and Christmas!

Will be seeing you again, Folks and until next week D. V.

THANKSGIVING 1965

How swiftly the years and the seasons pass! That may be the tritest of real guts to keep from joining him." truisms, but it is one that frequently enters the minds of all us. And, probably, it is felt with the greatest weight each fall and winter, as the holiday season approaches.

Now another Thanksgiving is almost here. This, with the 4th of July, is the most thoroughly American of all our holidays. It celebrates the very beginning of this nation. And, when properly observed, it honors the courage, skills and dedication of long-gone men and women who faced and conquered dangers and difficulties of an unbelievable scope.

This is a year of plenty. Most dinner tables will be piled high with the traditional Thanksgiving feast. There will be, inevitably, an emphasis on the material aspects of the day. Speakers will dwell on the abundance that is known so generally throughout the land.

But abundance is not enough. The strength of peoples and powers lies in the qualities possessed by those who celebrated the first Thanksgiving-independence, a profound sense of individual responsibility, a deep spiritual belief, and dedication to freedom for all

This is what we should remember Thanksgiving Day-and every other day of the year.

Simpers George, deceased. Allen T. Collins, duly qualified as the Administrator of the estate of Hello, Dear Ones everywhere:

Hello, Dear Ones everywhere: "Bless your dear hearts." As we sit down by our kitchen table to write a letter to all you dear ones, we find words are far to frail to put into writing to express the great love and Luther H. Haight, duly qualified writing to express the great love and "sincere thanks and sympathetic un-derstanding," that we feel within our nearts and souls to each and everyone of you, who so gracefully shared with us your love, words of comfort, prayers, flowers, gifts, visits, food, phone calls, cards and letters and gave of your time to help lighten the burden of grief and sadness we suffered by the sudden death of our dear son, Douglas Sterling LesCalleet, who slept out into eternity at such an early age. Just when life seemed at its best, God called him home. So sad and sudden was the call, but it is not ours to question the reason why, Koons of Keymar, and a number of for a loving God doeth all things well. We may not understand just why the Lord saw best to call and yet we know the God of love, does all things best for you and me. As He rules and reigns eternally: therefore fficiated. Burial was in Haugh's Church Cem- good will and way and when we leave these earthly parts, we'll fully, fully understand We so often think and look back on the past, when he was small, of the dear little arms that used to entwine around our neck and he would whisper, "I love you, Mommie, a bushel and a peck." I think of the crib in which he slept and when sick, how we prayed and wept and felt his pulse and watched. I think of all his childish cries and frets, how he rode stick horses and made castles in the air, the world a place of glee where test and trials could never be. I think of how he knelt in the pale dim light and said his prayers and a sweet, "Good night, I love you, Mommie and Daddy, too," and then we would tuck him in. I think of the days when off to school he went, with lessons to be learned. I think of games of balls tossed and the marbles rolled. And then the years of man-hood came and off to make a home of his own he went. A fine young man with his wife, and then two dear precious little children came to bless his heart and life as mine. We are made to realize now more than ever before, the young must go as well as the old, in good health or in sickness. So, dear ones, let us all prepare now to meet God and do all we can one for the other. Truly each of you have been a real blessing and a great help to usward. May we ever prove our sincere love to you is our prayer. Again may we say, "Thank you all so much" and "May God bless all." Do remember us in your prayers now and always.

Now we all can sit around and wait 'till next April when Tiger skipper Bob Fogle will call the first of the Spring training drills.

Actually we hope that the fans will sit around and wait, but the Tiger management has been burning the midnight oil already in preparation for next season. What can you pos-sibly do now for baseball that can't be done, say in March? For one thing, bats have to be ordered immediately for shipment next Spring. To ensure that each player gets his particular model, they must now be ordered.

Secondly, some new players must be acquired to replace those who say they are "retiring" or won't be back next go-around. Some fine players have already been contacted and indicated a desire to play for Taneytown next April.

Last season must now be assessed to see what went wrong. Maybe you, the fans, who watched the Tigers in Memorial Park can supply that ans-wer. Certainly second place wasn't bad and many teams would have been pleased to finish that high. But we think the local nine should have gone oll the way with a perpent all the way with a pennant. ERRORS! Errors, plain and simple proved to be the undoing this past year. What can be done to correct it—to get a pen-nant for Taneytown? That my friends is what's causing Tiger manager Bob Fogle to burn the late night oil.

This is the year the New York Yankees' American League dynasty was supposed to end, and Chicago manager Al Lopez predicted that the White Sox would win the Pennant. The Yanks' string of five straight league championships did come to an end, but it was not the White Sox who stopped it. Instead, the Minnesota Twins took the title. The same thing may happen in PRO BASKETBALL this season. Followers of the National Basketball Association believe that the Boston Celtics' streak of nine consecutive East-ern Division titles and seven straight League Championships may be halted. The team that figures to put the skids under the Celtics is Cincinnati, which was runner-up in the East the last two seasons. But both the Cel-tics and Royals may be overhauled by the Philadelphia 76-Ers.

Hearing Date Set for Zoning Petition

The Carroll County Planning and Zoning Commission set November 30th at 2:00 P. M. as the hearing date for its first rezoning case. In-volved is a petition filed by David Jones with the County Commissioners on November 2nd requesting a change in the zoning map of 139 acres from an "A" (Agricultural) District to an "I-R" (Restricted Industrial) District.

In considering the case at its meet-ing on Tuesday, the Commission read a letter from the County Commissioners requesting an initial hear-ing by the Planning Body prior to its submitting recommendations back to the County Commissioners. This action would thus insure a double hear-ing if the County Commissioners were to make the zoning district change.

The 139-acre tract for which the rezoning is requested lies along the northwesterly side of New Windsor Rd. (Md. 31) about one-half mile west of the city limits of Westminster. The owner was stated in the petition to be David Jones and wife and Gar-land P. Moore, Jr. and David Jones, Co-partners T/A New Windsor Partnership.

Plats filed with the petition indicate that the Genesco Company would utilize approximately 20 acres along the frontage of the tract to be rezoned.

HOW TO ROAST TURKEY LIKE A PRO

You may have talked turkey, Brush skin with fat. If a roast danced the turkey trot, sung "Turkey in the Straw"-but do you know how to prepare roast turkey like a pro?

According to the experts, correct roasting is slow cooking by dry heat on a rack in an open pan. It requires no water, little basting, no cover and no searing. Low temperatures assure better flavor and appearance, less shrinkage and less loss of juices. A shallow open pan allows for the heat to circulate around the bird, roasting it evenly.

For best results, follow these simple steps recommended by the makers of Wild Turkey Bourbon:

1. Preheat oven to 325°F. (slow).

2. Rinse bird with cold water, drain and pat dry. Rub cavity of bird lightly with salt, if desired.

3. Insert stuffing, if used, just before the turkey goes in the oven for roasting. Push drumsticks under band of skin at tail, if present; or tie them to tail.

4. Place turkey on rack in shalmeat thermometer is to be used, insert it so that the bulb is in the center of the inside thigh muscle or in the thickest part of the breast meat.

5. Place in preheated oven. If desired, baste or brush occasionally with pan drippings especially any dry areas. When turkey is two-thirds done, cut cord of band of skin at drumsticks

6. When the meat thermometer registers approximately 185°F. the turkey should be done. A bird weighing between 6 to 8 lbs. will take about 2 to 21/2 hours before it registers that temperature. An 8 to 12 lb. turkey will have to be kept in the oven anywhere from 21/2 to 3 hours, while a bird of from 12 to 20 lbs. will need

3 to 4½ hours for completion. If you're wondering what to serve your guests along with the main dish to enhance their dinner, you might bear in mind the fact that Wild Turkey Bourbon in glasses is often seen beside roast turkey on a platter. In fact, that's a good way to low roasting pan, breast side up. serve roast turkey like a pro.

THE SPEAKS BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

God and Justice Lesson for November 28, 1965

Background Scripture: Amos 1 through 9. Devotional Reading: Isaiah 42:1-7.

TT TAKES all kinds of Christians to make a church. It takes all kinds of servants to carry out the work of God. The four greatest prophets of the 8th century before Christ were very different men. One of them,

Isaiah, by name,

a man of wealth

Hosea, was a

own home, a man Dr. Foreman never far away from a heartache. A third, Micah, was a small-town humorist and punster. The fourth, named Amos, was right from the bottom of the pile, a very poor man, a migrant farm-hand, a sharecropper we might call him. This Amos was not a professional prophet. As far as we know he did not join any prophetic association; he had no friends among other prophets. He was a "loner," with only God for an intimate friend.

God's plain man

Amos could well be called God's plain man. He had no advántages of what we call "back-ground." His college was the "university of hard knocks." Such a man often knows more about what's really going on in the world than those who live more sheltered lives. If you had gone to Samaria - Israel's capital city, where Amos delivered his fiery messages—and asked almost anybody what conditions were like in Israel, you would have got a glowing report. The country was at the peak of prosperity, all was at peace, every-body was making good money, people in plenty could afford two houses, one for winter and one for summer, imported silks orated with ivory, everything were common, homes were decpointed to continued prosperity for a long time to come. Into this complacent optimism Amos threw his bombshells. As he saw it - or as God had shown him through his personal experience -things were not well with the country. The fact was, the citisens of the country had made comfort and money and luxury into gods. Amos (coming as he did from the submerged classes) knew what it was to be poor, underpaid, ignored, robbed by the wealthy land-owners. The

The way to Grandmother's house these days leads over expressways, through cloverleaf turns. Nevertheless, the warm welcome, wonderful aromas from the kitchen and travelers' appetites are as hearty as ever.

The meal, of course, revolves around the tur-key, plump, juicy and golden brown. This year the Thanksgiving turkey is even more convenient to carry home from the supermarket. Frozen stuffed Butterball Swift's Premium turkeys are backed in a gold mesh shopping, bag with a looped handle which makes a good grip possible on even the very largest turkey. The mesh is open enough so that weight, price and roasting directions are readable through the mesh.

The complete menu is as traditional as the The complete menu is as traditional as the trip to grandmother's; turkey, stuffing, cran-berries, sweet potatoes and pumpkin pie. Each is as up-to-date as a big super highway. The turkey is a good example. Homemakers can buy these beautiful frozen birds al-ready cleaned, pinfeathered and stuffed with a delectable old-fashioned bread stuffing. The drumsticks are tucked neatly into a slit of skin at the base of the body cavity. This handsome stuffed bird goes from wrapper to oven in one step. Major leg stuffed bird goes from wrapper to oven in one step. Major leg tendons have been pulled for ease at carving time. The youngsters find it mighty hard to wait for a drumstick.

Once the Blessing has been asked, it is time to pass the plates!

Justice is people

Justice does not go around by itself, fighting with injustice also going around by itself. Justice and injustice are in the hearts and lives of men. We often speak of unjust conditions and unjust laws; but back of every law and condition, good or bad, are the people who make it so. Justice means more than anything else equality - not equality of ability and character, for hardly any two persons are equal in this way. But justice means equality of opportunity. It means (as far as it is within power) that no human being shall find the road to his highest achievement artificially blocked off by conditions which can be changed.

Justice is religious

Is America a country where justice reigns? Yes and no. Everybody (especially politicians) is in favor of justice; but history shows that there have been whole classes of persons who have not had a square deal. Amos would be on their side. Indians first, then Negroes, Orientals, immigrants, children, the mentally ill, sharecroppers, people who cannot find jobs, — these have always found the underside of life in America rough indeed. Lately the church has begun to sit up and take notice. So long as religion has to do with the way we deal with our fellowmen, all problems of man are the Christian's problems. Religion is many things, but not least of them is Justice.

D'Arcy and her sister have made a pumpkin head and two "turkeys" to use as a holiday center piece. They've had fun doing this and so will you when you copy their handiwork.

Just look what D'Arcy and her older sister have made! A pumpkin head and two "turkeys." What fun! Especially since they grew an unusual plant called unicorn plant or devil's claw, just in order to make the turkeys.

Sis made the turkeys from the hard, dry seed capsules of the unicorn plant. On the end opposite that attached to the stem were two long "claws." Sis cut these off first, then made a "leg" for the turkey to stand on.

She cut a small oblong piece of corrugated cardboard from an old carton, poked a 34-inch-long screw through the middle of it, and screwed the tip of the screw into the seed capsule. She did this on the side of the capsule that has a sort of "fringe" because the fringe looks like feathers for the bottom of the turkey. Now the body of the turkey could stand.

Next she cut off the tip end of the seedpod where it had been attached to the stem while growing on the plant. She doubled a pipe cleaner, pinched the two parts together, bent the piece into an S to resemble a turkey's head and neck, and poked one end of it into a tiny slit she made at the end of the seedpod. The other end of the seed capsule, from which she had cut the claws, had an opening through which the seeds had fallen out. Into this opening she poked 3 tips of the seedheads of grasses for the tail of the turkey. To make the turkey look even more "natural," she painted the body and the "leg" and platform brown, touched up the tan grass seedheads with brown, and put a bit of red paint at the "beak" end of the head and again under the turkey's "chest.

Meanwhile, D'Arcy chose the tiniest pumpkin she could find in the garden so that it would not be too large for the little turkeys to pull. She found it was easy to cut out eyes, nose and mouth with a sharp knife.

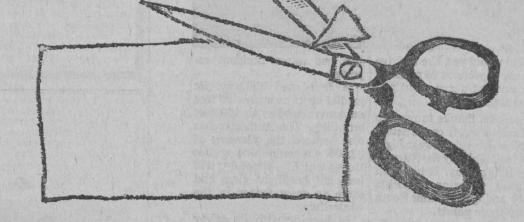

When the turkeys were finished she tied a piece of string to the neck of each for "reins" and draped the string over the stem of the pumpkin so it would look as if the turkeys were pulling it along the table.

How to make more money by taking a small "cut" in your pay

Saving part of your income isn't really like taking a cut in pay, though it might seem like it at first.

It seems a lot less like it when you save U. S. Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan.

Remember this, too: all the time your Bonds are working for you, they're helping to make freedom more secure for people throughout the world.

Now join the millions of Americans who have been taking a "pay cut" for years. And are that much the richer for it.
