VIEW FROM MY KITCHEN WINDOW

The lively red kitten, Amber, shares my kitchen window view on this lowering December day. His interest in the birds rivals mine (but for very different reasons), and when the friendly little nut-hatch darts into the window-sill for his daily treat of sunflower seed, Amber almost goes wild.

It is rather unfortunate, really, for anyone to be equally fond of birds and cats, for the two simply do not go well together. However, the presence of several felines around our place has not noticeably altered the bird population, for this morning the feathered creatures are everywhere. A brilliant cardinal flashes up from the woods and cautiously approaches the feeder, for the rude house sparrows often drive him away. This beautiful bird is so often a harbinger of snow, and indeed it would seem that some kind of precipitation is swooping into the feeder, and devour the sunflower seed as fast as I can put it out.

Looking out toward the fields, I notice a huge flock of crows, also feeding up in lieu of bad weather, and down by the shellbark tree, Gray Squirrel is holding conversation with several juncos and a downy woodpecker.

The thought comes, with a kind of shock, that this is my last "view" of 1965. I am looking forward to the New Year of 1966, and to sharing many more "kitchen window views" with my readers. To all of you, a most Happy and Prosperous New Year!

"NO PARKING" BEING VIOLATED AT POST OFFICE

The restricted area in front of the Post Office marked "No Parking" is constantly being abused by motorists. The purpose of this "No Parking" area is to provide the motorist access to the U.S. collection box to deposit mail without dismounting from his vehicle. When the restricted area is blocked, a motorist is not only denied access to the mail receptacle, but the main purpose for which this type of "motorist-chute-type" box is intended, has been defeated.

In consideration for your fellow motorist, your cooperation is asked to help keep this area clear of parked vehicles. The rule of common sense should prevail upon every motorist of the parking violation incurred when parking in front of a U.S. mail collection box.

Sincerely,
George A. Fream,
Postmaster.

Most family men know that this is the time of the year when their better halves require new outfits.

The man who spends his dollars in Taneytown always has a chance to get some of them back.

Rural Mail Carrier Retires After 48 Years' Service

James C. Myers, Graceham, will retire this week after 48 years as a rural mail carrier. He has served residents of the Keymar-Taneytown area for the past 35 years.

James C. Myers

Myers received his appointment as a rural mail carrier while serving in the U.S. Army in 1917. His first route was Taneytown R.D. 4, and he covered the 17 miles of the route in a horse and buggy until 1919, when he got a Model T. The horse and buggy were not forgotten, however, since only six miles of roadway along the route were paved in those days.

Myers served several years with the Railway Mail Service, Baltimore Branch, before being transferred in 1930 to the Keymar to Taneytown-Keysville Road, Keysville and Sharretts Road. Later, the Middleburg Route 1, which included Otterburn Mill Road and Crouse Mill Road, and part of Taneytown Route 1 were added to Myers' route.

Today, under Postmaster Cora Sappington of Keymar, Mr. Myers serves 1482 patrons over a 55-mile route. This route serves the residents of historical Terra Rubra, birthplace of Francis Scott Key, and Myrtle Hill, home of Norman Bruce, as well as many businesses, contractors, truckers, farmers and private citizens.

"Jim," as he is known to his friends, recalls very clearly the one trip that could have been his last one had it not been for local residents. While serving mail on the route in the vicinity of Harney, he was crossing a swollen stream with horse and buggy, they struck a submerged log, broke a trace and the buggy with Jim went in one direction while the horse went in another. Jim climbed atop the buggy and guided it like a boat, as he watched in the distance as the horse tried to reach the bank only to be swept back into the water. Thanks to Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Weybright, Benchoff boys and Frook boys, Jim was rescued from the buggy by a boat, about a mile down stream from the accident, the buggy was pulled in with a hay rope and the horse, exhausted and floating in the water was pulled out with a rope. Fortunately Jim and his mail were only a little shaken and damp, the buggy slightly damaged, and the horse with very special care recovered and was returned to duty in a day or so.

Postmaster Sappington stated that over the years Mr. Myers has served his patrons well, doing many things above and beyond the call of duty. For example, he has initiated and followed through on requests for many road repairs, and construction which have greatly benefited the community. He has gone out of his way to deliver parcels in safe places for working people, just to mention a few.

After his retirement, Mr. Myers and his wife are planning a Caribbean cruise in January. In July, a cruise through the Isthmus of Panama to Los Angeles, Calif., is planned. While in Los Angeles they will visit his son Gerard and family. They will return by plane via New Orleans where they will attend the Rural Letter Carriers' Convention in August. When not traveling they will be engaged in their many other hobbies and activities.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

PLAINTIFF'S SECRET WEAPON

Just as scientists tell of the famous apple that fell on Isaac Newton's head, so do lawyers tell of a famous barrel that fell on the head of a certain Mr. Byrne. If you should ever have occasion to sue for damages, the case of the falling barrel may well give you your strongest single weapon in the courtroom.

Byrne was walking past a warehouse in an English town when a barrel of flour dropped out of a second-story window and laid him low. Suing afterwards for damages, Byrne was faced with the task of proving negligence on the part of the warehouse employees. But he had no way of knowing why the barrel had fallen. Nor would any of the company's employees admit fault.

Luckily for Byrne, the judge came to his rescue with an apt Latin phrase: "res ipsa loquitur." That means "the thing speaks for itself." The judge reasoned that barrels simply don't fall out of warehouses that are being run in a careful manner.

Being ipsa loquitur, or something roughly similar, is now recognized in all American courts. It does not excuse an injured claimant who is charging negligence from proving his charge. But if he lacks direct proof, it does give him the benefit of common-sense deductions from the facts that he can prove.

A girl, eating a candy bar, bit on a pin embedded in the chocolate. Neither she nor anyone else knew how the pin had gotten there.

Yet, with no sign that the bar had been tampered with, a court ruled—"res ipsa loquitur"—that the accident itself was good evidence of negligence at the candy factory.

However, the res ipsa loquitur doctrine, being based on common sense, is also limited by common sense. The bare fact that the plaintiff suffered an injury does not necessarily justify in inference that the defendant was negligent. There may be other plausible explanations for what happened.

For example: A passenger in a car was injured when one of the tires had a blowout. This fact alone was held not grounds for finding the driver guilty of negligence. Blowouts, said the court, can and do befall even the careful driver.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

HAPPY NEW YEAR! THE BEST—EVER—this 1966!

Just to think that Woolworth's Five and Dime is the largest restaurant operator in these United States! The restaurants in the 2,000 stores can accommodate 60,000 persons and in addition to this, 15 Harvest House Restaurants which operate separate and apart from the stores have been put into operation! So you see, as I, always state—to make money, one must spend money to get into any kind of business!

How sad will be the day when "Sherwood Gardens" (the bit of Heaven in Guilford) yearly is no more! The seven acre estate may be sold due to the death of the owner, Mr. John Sherwood. He started that just 37 years ago and thousands would visit it yearly, coming from all directions. This coming Spring may be the last and it will really take something beautiful away from Baltimore. So if you and you have never witnessed this gorgeous sight, you may do so for the last time according to the son of this gentleman.

And if you have guests be sure and treat them not alone to Haussner's restaurant, on Eastern Ave., in Highland town; but there is something so very beautiful there of an addition of two panels from the Pantheon de las Guerres, the largest painting in the world! The painting is now on display where "The Christian and Christ," "The Christian and Prayer," "The Christian and Faith," and "The Christian and His World."

Your Observer has kept for just one year of 1965—Columns of accidents of the Maryland Highways and it is mainly the ages from 16 to 26 years of age who are killing themselves and killing others! In Danville, Kentucky, there is a Police Judge, Jack May, who has come up with a new penalty and that the Teens' Fine is Writing One Obituary—Theirs—besides other stiff sentences for traffic violations. He also states, "that although teen-agers may be physically fit and even alert are not good drivers for the simple reason that they have no experience and do not know the horror that can result from wrecks!" So, therefore he feels in writing about horrible accidents resulting in death or one being crippled for life may solve the question. He continued further that so far only two students have received that punishment but said there would be others. A 17-year-old H. S. student described how his speeding violation resulted in two deaths, two injured and a broken home!

So this Column will just be out in time to see "The Fatal Fuel" on TV on December 30 at 8:30 P. M. Don't miss it!

Now, there are thousands of "The Kennedy Half Dollar" and as the store clerk handing me one in the change after I told her that I had several she stared, "Ugh—they are a dime a dozen!"

Did you know that every e i g h t e e n m i n u t e s a ship arrives in Rotterdam, The Netherlands.

Be sure and treat the entire family with a year's subscription of "THE CARROLL RECORD"—nothing to compare with your own home newspaper in any town!

Be sure to stick to those New Year Resolutions! Now, I am telling you and I hope and pray that I will be sticking to mine and I surely will let you know! I promise, and you know what that means with me!

So long, folks. Have a grand week-end and this year make it a MUST—for loving your neighbor! Try to make this year a real one for attending church—for you get more out of church than anything you may ever put into it!

Until next week D. V.
I am,
Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

"GRASSROOTS OPINIONS"

CLEVELAND, MISS., BOLIVAR
COMMERCIAL: "... confidence men approach elderly persons and offer to help them to avoid the 'logjam' for registration for Medicare benefits.
This is a scare tactic, authorities point out, because no registration logjam is anticipated. Unfortunately, a smooth-talking, well-dressed man who poses as a Social Security agent often has little trouble getting a fee when he proposes such bogus services. ... The Federal Bureau of Investigation has launched an investigation, as has the Senate Committee on Aging. In the meantime, elderly citizens should remember anyone seeking a payoff for any Social Security service is probably a phony and certainly breaking the law."

NEW ROCKFORD, N. D., TRAN-SCRIPT: "Some of the vociferous advocates of government-owned electric systems have suggested the government should move into the electricity field to prevent another blackout. ... They imply, of course, that such a thing could never happen if Uncle Sam ran the show. Let's see, now, who'd take care of the place
when all the government holidays come along and every office shuts down? And more obvious yet—have these public advocates checked into the efficiency of the government-operated mail service? We'd be back to the coal range, kerosene lamp and lignite furnace in short order if the bureaucracy controlled the power system in our nation."

LAKE CITY, S.C., TIMES-HER-ALD: "Businessmen learned long ago that it pays to advertise. Education of employees and customers pays, too.
It's the only form of insurance against destruction that free enterprise can buy."

ARLINGTON, TEXAS, JOURNAL:
"There was a happening in Chester, Pa., recently which, in its own small way, is a kind of horror story which tells a lot about how well-intentioned Federal programs can turn into instruments of compulsion that touch individual freedom. Two grade students in Chester were suspended from school for three days. Their only crime was that they brought their lunch from home instead of paying the 35 cents for school-supplied meals.
The school board president explained that the school lunch program is subsidized by the Federal government, and for a school to qualify, all the children must participate. The parents of the two boys had refused to go along."

ROCKVILLE, MD., MONITOR:
"Believe it or not, Peace Corps officials have started a recruitment drive for foreign workers among members of the communist-backed youth group, Students for a Democratic Society. This is the group behind recent anti-Viet Nam student demonstrations and draft card burnings."

EAST POINT, GA., REPORTER:
"It's a strange world: The U. S.
Supreme Court has ruled that it is unlawful to require Communists to register as such as heretofore required. ... Freedom is a great thing—that is what these Communists have vowed to destroy. Yet, we give them every aid and encouragement that is possible."

ONTARIO, CALIF., REPORT:
"Much public discussion has centered about the rights and actions of conscientious objectors, including the draft card incendiaries. ... Ironically, there never has been any need for a genuine conscientious objector to burn anything. Like everyone else in this amazingly flexible society of ours, he has a place in the social structure even in wartime."

TONGANOXIE, KAN., MIRROR:
"Government economists (supposedly drawing fat federal salaries) say there is no present danger of inflation; (and if so) the government will step in to prevent it. Anyone can see things are priced two or three times what they were formerly. This is inflation. And instead of preventing inflation, government policies cause it. ... What we've got left seems to be paper and tin money.
Meanwhile the financial pages reassure us constantly that the value of the gross national product keeps going up—up—up. ... But these potential rates of increase in—say—1970, could be higher figures due to inflated dollars."

WYNNE, ARK., PROGRESS: "The Gadsden, Ala., Times reported so many dropout students had dropped out of some of the poverty program's Youth Corps projects 'it has been rumored that a dropout school for dropouts who dropped out of the dropout school will be started.' —Or why not just drop it?"

CARLSBAD, N. M., CURRENT-ARGUS: "This newspaper each day receives mail addressed to former employees, some of whom have (been) gone for years. ... one letter received from Washington, D.C., was addressed to a young man who moved from Carlsbad a dozen years ago.
Another was addressed to a former society editor who has not been on the staff for 20 years. How much money is spent, and how much time wasted, in processing and mailing such literature?"

Dress-Up Idea For Hearty Ribs And Baked Russet Potato Dinner

Tasty spare ribs and fluffy baked potatoes make an appetizing dinner that's chock full of hearty good eating and easy because it all cooks in the same oven. Add a "help yourself" assortment of toppings for the potatoes and let everyone feast. Right now is a good time to plan this menu because those popular Russet potatoes from Washington State are plentiful and you can rely on this choice variety for both finest texture and flavor. Washington growers say it's the mineral-rich lava soil which gives these all-purpose Russets their special flavor quality and mealiness so you can enjoy them in all your favorite potato dishes.

EASY SPARERIB & BAKED POTATO DINNER

Spareribs Large Washington State Russets Crumbled, crisp bacon bits Grated American cheese or crumbled blue cheese

Chopped green onions or chives
Commercial sour cream
Salt and Pepper

To prepare spareribs place in shallow open pan. Roast in hot oven (425°F.) 30 to 40 mins. Pour off fat. Sprinkle generously with seasoned salt. Reduce heat to 350°F. and roast uncovered 45 to 60 mins. or until fork tender. Serve hot with baked potatoes. If desired, ribs may be spread lightly with orange marmalade during last 5 mins.
of baking time.

Select Washington State Russets of nearly uniform size. Wash, dry and oil. Arrange on baking sheet or oven rack. Bake from 350°F.
to 450°F. depending on other oven needs. Bake 45 to 60 mins. or till fork tender. Remove from oven and prick to let out steam. Cut 1½ inch cross in top of each potato and press gently from bottom until snowy white potato bursts thru. Break up lightly with fork.
Top with salt, pepper, butter and a tablespoon of commercial sour cream. Serve at once with help-yourself toppings of crumbled, crisp bacon bits, chopped green onions or chives, grated American or crumbled blue cheese.

NAME, MARYLAND DELEGATES TO NATIONAL 4-H CONGRESS

Miss Brehm

Miss Wilhide

Miss Wolfe

Dodrer

Four Maryland teen-agers, all from Westminster, have excelled in their respective 4-H projects and will journey to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago Nov. 28 to Dec. 2.

The young people named best in the state by the Cooperative Extension Service are: Henry Dodrer Jr., 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dodrer; Linda Wilhide, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wilhide; Alice Wolfe, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wolfe, and Yvette Brehm, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brehm.

Dodrer, who topped all competitors in the agricultural project sponsored by International Harvester, is in his seventh year of club activities.

His swine record book won him a purebred Hampshire gilt in the 1963 4-H county achievement program. He has since purchased two sows and a boar with profits earned through his sweet corn project.

After collecting a number of championship ribbons in swine and vegetable judging on the county and state level last year, the youth returned to sweep the agronomy demonstration in both county and state contests.

Miss Wilhide was judged best in the health project sponsored by Eli Lilly and Company. Her efforts were concentrated on helping members of her community realize the benefits derived through being nutrition conscious. This project involved speaking before a number of youth groups and preparing displays to place in merchants windows and schools. One of these displays appeared in the county office building.

Miss Wilhide's local leader, Mrs. Russel Frock, credits her numerous contacts with other young people as being instrumental in helping another 4-H Club get started. Miss Wilhide is presently a junior leader in the new club.

Miss Wolfe, who placed first in the safety project sponsored by General Motors, began her project shortly after her family moved to their new 142-acre farm two years ago. After helping her father tear down a number of old sheds judged to be fire hazards, she began developing safety demonstrations to present to local 4-H Clubs.

Her efforts paid off this year when she won a number of ribbons and medals at the county fair for her artificial respiration and first aid demonstrations.

Miss Brehm, who was judged best in the bread project sponsored by Standard Brands, has been a 4-H Club member for 11 years.

Her bread demonstrations and record books have consistently received championship recognition on the county and district levels.

In addition to her studies at Western Maryland College, Miss Brehm continues to remain active as both a leader and project participant in her 4-H Club.

lovely box of fruit and the beautiful flower; also our thanks to Miss Miriam Doble who had our Christmas dinner sent out to us. We deeply appreciate it. Again many thanks and as we pray together we ask God's blessings upon each one.

Face The New Year—How?

Another year will soon dawn upon us; another period of 365 days will be ushered in, in one particular moment of time we cannot stay the flight of time, however much we desire too. And though the burden of years may rest heavily on some, all living must soon enter a new one.

We cannot turn our back on the New Year as we could on a person. We would not deign to notice, we must face the New Year whether we will or no. After all, we do not really have to face the whole of the New Year at once, only a day at a time; and if we can arrive at a conclusion as to how we should face the opening day, we may apply the method to each succeeding one, confident of it. Workability first, then, let us face the New Year as a gift from God, with an expression of gratitude, courageously, prayerfully and always with a smile.

May the New Year be a happy and prosperous one to one and all.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports

—John Breth

ROBERTO CLEMENTE is a paradox . . . he's a temperamental player who somehow manages to go unnoticed.

That is, until the official batting averages are released each fall. That's when baseball fans notice that once again rapid Roberto has led the National League in batting.

He did again this year, with an average of .329. It was the second year in a row that Clemente topped the National League hitters and the third time in the last five years. He won the batting crown with a mark of .339 in 1964 and with a handsome average of .351 in 1961.

Roberto patrols right field for the Pittsburgh Pirates and in addition to his solid hitting he also does well in the field. He has a tremendous arm and loves to throw. He hustles and on one play last year managed to field a ball in the shortstop position, charging all the way from right field. That sounds impossible but it happened. The batter bunted in an attempt to sacrifice. The third baseman came in and the ball went between him and the pitcher. The shortstop ran to third to cover on a throw. The ball rolled to the outfield grass and the first man to reach it was Clemente.

But with all of this Clemente is sometimes less than a household word among American sports fans. Just why is hard to say. One reason might be the fact that Roberto likes to complain. He often claims that he is hurting or sick and can't do his best. Then he steps out and knocks the stitches out of the ball.

Roberto won the batting title this year the hard way. First of all he underwent leg surgery in the off-season and then in spring training he contacted malaria. That took 20 pounds off him and, of course, weakened him.

He did not hit well in the early part of the campaign and on May first was benched. A few days later he said he would like to be traded. His batting average at that time was .257.

Late in May Roberto took off. He had one stretch where he made ten hits in 15 trips to the plate. He skyrocketed after that and late in the season was batting .345 with the batting title in his locker. Late-season fatigue caused him to slump a bit but he still won by a comfortable margin, finishing eleven points ahead of the runner-up, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, who hit .318.

Roberto is a line-drive hitter and is fast enough to get his share of "leg hits." That helps him win the batting championship but it doesn't get him into many headlines.

When an overly aggressive athlete decides to show more caution you can take your choice of whether it is dictated by age or wisdom. Sometimes the two things are the same.

DICK McAULIFFE, the Detroit Tiger shortstop, says he will not be quite as aggressive next year as he has been in the past. Dick is all of 26 years old and is beginning to think of himself as a veteran. And why not? He was the American League All-Star shortstop last year.

McAuliffe insists that his newly acquired caution is not the result of his injury on August 20 of last year when he vanished from the Detroit lineup for the season. He broke a bone in his left hand sliding into first base in a game in Boston.

Dick says: "I'm not getting lazy or anything like that. But when you lose a little something in aggressiveness. Maybe you eliminate some of the foolish things you've done in the past."

McAuliffe had a brilliant first half of the 1965 season, which earned him his All-Star job. He was hitting .298 at the time of the All-Star intermission and had eleven home runs. He also hit one off Jim Maloney in the All-Star game.

He thought that would be a good springboard for the second half of the season, but it wasn't. At one time after the All-Star game Dick had a stretch of 29 times at bat without a hit. He was down to .260 when he broke his hand and had to quit for the year.

Dick is certain that 1966 will be a better season for him.

Today's Sport Laugh — Outfielder Leon Wagner of the Cleveland Indians wore contact lenses last season. One day, a teammate, kidding him about the lenses, said: "Wags, do you see that fly sitting on top of the scoreboard out there?" Wagner squinted and said: "You mean the one on the right with the short front leg?"

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL!

Everyday Christianity is something we all desire to practice. Of the many ways that we can exemplify the principles of honesty, charity and generosity, there is one that merits more attention than it sometimes receives.

We have been asked to "mind our motor manners." Motor manners suggest courtesy — and more than that — honesty in observing all traffic laws, charity for the awkwardness or bad manners of other drivers, and generosity in the use of streets and highways. In other words, minding our motor manners should mean walking and driving with consideration for others, for their convenience as well as our own, and especially for the greater safety of all.

In closing our worship services, it has long been the custom to commend our lives to God's care until we meet again. In so doing, we acknowledge our awareness of the hazards of living. Not the least of these hazards in this modern day are the dangers of highways and streets lined with traffic. So, let us each do our share to drive and walk safely in order to avoid accidents. Let us follow the Golden Rule in traffic too, and drive as we would have others drive.

When we stop to think that most traffic accidents result from thoughtlessness and disregard for our own safety or the safety of others, we will no doubt come to realize that the Golden Rule has application to our conduct on the highways as well as in the many other aspects of our daily living.

"I Believe"

Lesson for January 2, 1966

Background Scriptures: Matthew 8:5-13; Acts 16:25-34; Hebrews 11:1-6; James 2:18-26; 1 Peter 3:15.
Devotional Readings: Acts 16:25-34.

IN MOST of the Christian churches around the globe sometime during the public worship the people will stand and say together "I believe..." Why should this seem so important that it is repeated Sunday after Sunday? Why do they say "believe" and not "know"? In many parts of the world Christians are called Believers and have in fact borne this name since the earliest Christian era. What does it mean to believe and why do Christians set so much store by believing?

The word believe has more meanings than one. What we are looking for is the strong and living meaning that makes it important. Christians will tell you, because they learned it from the Bible and in experience they find it to be a fact, that believing or not believing makes all the difference in the world. But this is not true with some meanings of the word Believe. That word sometimes means "seem to remember" as "I believe you said you would bring the salad." Sometimes it means only "The preacher (or my parents or some book) says it's so and I'm willing to go along with him."

Marks of belief

What are some marks of belief in the vital sense of the word? What kind of thing is faith? What is it that is called "saving" faith, something that makes the difference between life and despair and destruction? For one thing, vital belief, or faith, is active. The writer of the Letter to the Hebrews brings up one illustration after another to show what faith means, and in every case he mentions, the faith was the beginning of action. Alleged faith or belief that leaves the believer passive, no different than he was, is not genuine belief of the vital sort. True belief is confident, also, as all the illustrations in Hebrew 11 show. If you say you believe a bridge is safe, but won't cross it yourself, it shows you don't have confidence in the bridge and don't really believe in its safety.

Above all, Christian belief is personal. It is not first of all belief in a doctrine, not belief about, it is belief-in... But genuine faith does not hang in the air with only a row of dots after it. Belief-in is nothing unless it is belief in some one. For the genuine Christian this means belief in Jesus Christ. Belief about him, belief in him, belief with him — this all blends together in a pulsating threefold cord through which power flows from him to the believer.

Belief-in and belief-about

But personal faith in Christ does not exist in a vacuum. Many of the beliefs of Christians are beliefs about. Central always is personal trust and confidence in the Lord Jesus. Around this center gather many other beliefs, and some of these are of immense importance. For the next six months the Bible lessons deal with what Christians believe. It is right and may be much needed to study "doctrines" — but we cannot afford to forget that the heart and center of Christian faith is not a doctrine, but a faith. The devil could write a more learned book of theology than you could. But it would not be the Christian faith. A doctrine is words; it is intellectual. Faith concerns the whole life. It is inevitable that doctrines should exist and be studied. But much study is still not faith. As has often been said, Christian truth can best be understood from within, not from the outside. The center of Christian belief is not a proposition but a person. We cannot rate ourselves as Christ's men and women by the number of Bible verses we have memorized; the question is whether we have heard Christ say "Follow Me" and have followed him. A proposition will inform us; but a Person can transform us.

BRIGHT IDEAS

FOR INDOOR PLANTINGS

Light supplies the energy on which all plant life is based. Research shows that plants actually absorb and use the sun's red and blue light energy. This light is what plant chlorophyll needs to turn water and carbon dioxide into sugars and starches for growth.

To grow beautiful flowering or nonflowering plants in a sunless area, Sylvania Gro-Lux fluorescent lamps provide all the red and blue light energy needed to stimulate and maintain growth. They use no more electricity than standard fluorescents.

Gro-Lux units are ready-made or you can design your own decorative ideas by building them into bookcases, hutch cabinets or room dividers. Brighten up a room by creating a "flowery bower" in a corner that sunlight never reaches.

Rep. Long Reports on Trip to India

Rep. Clarence D. Long said that the United States may have to find another Herbert Hoover to avert widespread starvation in India in 1966.

"The problem of feeding hungry Indians is possibly as great as when Mr. Hoover did his brilliant food relief for victims of the Boxer Rebellion and World Wars I and II," Rep. Long said.

Rep. Long returned several days ago from a visit to India as the guest of Ambassador Bowles. The Congressman is a member of the House Appropriations Committee and its subcommittee on foreign operations.

The failure of the 1965 monsoon caused India the worst drought the nation has experienced in this century, Rep. Long noted. "Even in good times, millions of Indians die each year from starvation and malnutrition."

Rep. Long reported that in one of the best-fed parts of India, the Punjab, "I picked up babies whose skin was wrinkled with starvation. Babies are vainly nursed by mothers who are themselves nearly starving. In a squatters camp in the Punjab I helped the Church World Services ladle out two spoonfuls of gruel each to 700 children lined up with their spoons and tin cans. When I was not able to dish it out fast enough, I was mobbed, as kids trampled on each other to get to me."

"The representative of the Church World Services, Mr. Cook, told me he dreaded what this camp would be like next May," Rep. Long said.

Present estimates—admittedly tentative—are that the grain deficit may go beyond twelve million tons, in addition to the six million tons that we now provide through Public Law 480. This would mean food for about 70 million persons.

"A food shortage of this magnitude will strain both India and the United States," Rep. Long said. "The U.S. has this much food, though it would put a dent even in our great surpluses. But the strain on India in receiving it is hard for an American to comprehend."

"First is the problem of unloading on the docks. We are already sending two 10,000-ton ships a day the year round; but without modern equipment it takes a week for the Indians to carry off the grain in bags."

"Second is the problem of storing and transporting the grain after it is unloaded from the ships. Warehousing, roads, trucking and rail facilities among the 500,000 villages are extremely primitive."

"Third is the problem of keeping the food from getting into the wrong hands and getting it to the hungry people at prices they can afford."

"These critical short-range problems," Rep. Long said, "should not blind us to the fact that India has not acted effectively over the long-run to increase its own agriculture output. Its great need is for fertilizer, irrigation, better seeds, insecticides, deeper plowing, better storage to keep out rats and birds, extension services, and above all incentive pricing."

"Indian leaders such as Food Minister Subramaniam know the problems and their solutions," Rep. Long said. "I visited some excellent agricultural research programs in the Agricultural Research Institute in New Delhi. The top leaders in Parliament and the government are both intelligent and far-sighted. Unfortunately, they have to work with a paper-shuffling bureaucracy, a largely illiterate and tradition-ridden population, and a lack of the most elementary equipment and facilities."

"Nevertheless," Rep. Long said, "India is truly an exciting country which offers great hope for the future, if we continue to help it. In any case, it is our only hope to keep Asia and most of the under-developed countries from going down the Communist drain."

For Southern Maryland, allotments of $46,000 to provide additional central office lines and associated dial equipment at Brandywine and Prince Frederick with $140,000 for placing outside wire and cable in Bay Ridge, Brandywine, Crofton and Waldorf exchange areas were approved.

For the fast growing Maryland area suburban to Washington, projects totaling more than $641,000 were authorized. An expenditure of $182,000 will provide 2,870 additional central office lines to meet customer demands for service and add additional TOUCH-TONE equipment at Bowie. To provide additional outside cable and wire to take care of growth in the fast growing Gaithersburg, Maryland, Temple Hills, Suitland and Wheaton areas, $334,000 was approved. The board also earmarked $125,000 to expand information facilities in the Temple Hills wire center.

An allocation of $600,000 for future additions and replacements of motor vehicles required for serving the rapidly growing communications needs of Maryland telephone users was also approved.

WOMEN HUNTERS ON THE INCREASE

The number of women hunters in this country has been rapidly increasing during the last five years, a U.S. Department of Interior survey shows. The survey also shows that Pennsylvania leads all other states in number of hunting licenses issued annually.

One of the most recent, and prettiest, converts to the sport is Judith Lynn McConnell of Pittsburgh, the reigning Miss Pennsylvania.

For other members of the fair sex who plan to try their hand at bagging game, Judy has prepared a checklist of special tips which will make hunting safe and enjoyable.

1. Treat all guns as though they were loaded.

2. Be sure of your target.

3. Wear a bright-colored cap or vest when hunting all game species, so that other hunters see you.

4. Some states, including Pennsylvania, require that you pin your hunting license on the back of your jacket so that the license is easy to see.

5. When hunting with other people, always carry your gun pointing towards the ground or away from your companions.

6. When laying your gun on the ground, be sure that it's placed in a safe position so that it won't discharge accidentally.

7. When aiming, stay relaxed so that your aim is steady, and you won't be jarred by the recoil when your gun is fired.

8. Wear comfortable clothes—slacks, sturdy boots, and a hunting-type jacket with big pockets.

Judy's home state now boasts over one million hunters of whom many are women. So she adds one more special tip for lady hunters everywhere, "Pennsylvania," she says proudly, "I think offers the finest hunting in the East."

C. & P. Telephone Company Reports

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Maryland has approved during the past 12 months expenditures amounting to nearly $94,000,000 according to L. Mercer Smith, vice president.

This total includes more than $15,400,000 authorized at the board's regular meeting on November 29.

The largest single amount approved in the November meeting was more than $10,000,000 for a number of projects throughout the state for the construction and expansion of telephone facilities.

To expand and improve service in the Baltimore Metropolitan area, about $1,500,000 was approved for 11 projects. Additional dial switching equipment is planned for Catonsville, Dundalk, Fork and Pikesville; and for the Brooklyn section in Baltimore City and the Catonsville and Glen Burnie exchange areas, additional outside cable will be placed. Also included were expenditures for enlarging the information center in the Wolfe Street building, as well as installing equipment in various Metropolitan area wire centers for the addition of 192 voice channels.

For the Eastern Shore, $170,000 was allocated to provide outside wire and cable at Wingate, together with the provision of additional dial central office switching equipment at Chestertown, Millington and Ocean City.

An expenditure of $65,000 was approved to provide additional dial switching central office equipment at Lonaconing and Oakland and establish additional interoffice facilities between Cumberland and Oakland.

For the Hagerstown area, the board approved the expenditure of $198,000 for the provision of additional Hagerstown-Williamsport interoffice trunks.

For the company's Westminster district, $323,000 was allocated to install additional dial central office switching equipment to meet growth at Bel Air, Havre de Grace, North East, Silver Run and Taneytown. The allocation also provides for additional service at Havre de Grace.
