HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Taneytown High School began another year on Wednesday, September 7, with a total enrollment of 426 pupils. Eight new teachers joined the faculty. Kenneth Brown is teaching boys' physical education; George Fringer, French and English; Stephen Held, biology, chemistry and physical science; David Horton, social studies; Christena Kreiling, girls' physical education; Nicholas Samios, business education; Diana Skiles, 7th grade English and social studies; and Martha Wickless, 7th and 8th grade general science. Mrs. Jean Bowers has returned after a year's leave of absence and is teaching vocal music.

An assembly was held on opening day. Thomas Baumgardner, retiring Student Council president, introduced and installed the new Student Council officers. They are: Kenneth Strickhouser, president; Beverly Fair, vice president; Connie Mummert, secretary; Mary Jane Bletner, treasurer; and Marjorie Stutzman, reporter. Robert Martin, high school supervisor for the Carroll County Board of Education, spoke to the student body concerning their responsibilities to their parents, teachers, school and themselves.

The STEP and SCAT tests will be administered to the 10th grade next week. The STEP (Sequential Tests of Educational Progress) are achievement tests which measure how well a pupil is able to use what he has learned, not just how much he has remembered.

The SCAT (School and College Ability Tests) were designed to help students and their teachers estimate his general ability to do the work of the next school year. They do this by measuring the student's ability to use and understand words (verbal ability) and his ability to use and understand numbers (quantitative ability).

Parents are asked to see that their children are present at school so they may take these tests when scheduled.

Jaycees and Jayettes Complete $750 Park Project

Early this summer the Taneytown Jaycees and Jayettes proposed to combine their efforts to place basketball and tennis equipment and facilities on the blacktopped area at Taneytown's Memorial Park. The project consisted of erecting four basketball backboards, two tennis nets, and the purchase of basketballs, tennis rackets, tennis balls, volley balls and badminton sets.

The Jayettes donated three hundred dollars toward the construction of the backboards and tennis nets. All playing equipment necessary was purchased by the Jaycees at an additional cost of over two hundred dollars. Various club-sponsored projects, and the combined efforts of all members over the past year made possible the Jayettes contribution of over five hundred dollars.

The Jaycees in turn donated two hundred and fifty dollars toward the cost of construction, plus labor for the construction and erection of the basketball backboards and tennis nets. This phase of the project took around five weeks of work in evenings and week-ends, or a total of around 1000 man hours.

George B. Crouse headed the planning and construction which consisted of a committee of Dean Brown, Cecil Lewelling and Dean Nusbaum and the member work force of Ed Hahn, Tom Lambert, Donald Smith, Bill Stone-sifer, Larry Heltebride, John White, Ed Sauble, Junior Dougherty, Kenneth Crouse and Gary Myers. A Jaycee committee of Carroll Dell, John White, Donald Smith, Tom Lambert and Dean Nusbaum are now in the process of painting the basketball and tennis court lines.

The project as proposed and carried to completion by the Taneytown Jaycees and Jayettes has not only given the community another valuable recreational asset, but has shown the value of service clubs to our community. Projects of this nature can only be successful with full cooperation of the clubs involved, businesses and the community itself. This has been the case with the successful completion of this project and all projects designed to build Taneytown as a stronger and better community.

SEPTEMBER

September is a delightful time of the year, when summer and autumn walk together, hand-in-hand. Now the days are becoming noticeably shorter, although they are still hot and bright. The pleasantly cool evenings hint of coming frost, and of a crackling fire in the stove or fireplace. Gay summer birds are banding together, preparing to embark on their mysterious migratory flights to warmer climes. Before long, we will thrill anew to the sight and sound of the wild geese flying over. Squirrels and chipmunks are scurrying around, intent on preparations for winter. Goldenrod sparkles along country lanes, and the milk-weed pods are swelling. Wayside stands are piled high with peaches and apples, and fragrant grapes are ripening. The corn fields have turned from green to gold, and the trees are changing hue. Crickets chirp and katy-dids sing a September song, a farewell to summer and a greeting to autumn.

From the total tested there were 87 students and 20 teachers who have positive reaction. "SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The late planted gladioli are just about bursting into bloom and I observe them with much anticipation. The petunias are beautiful and plentiful and the scarlet sage is very thick and over two feet tall.

The crickets are singing their delightful tune which makes me feel that I truly am living in real country. I used to think it was the frog but a country girl told me it was the cricket.

Did you know that the first edition of The Reader's Digest was in the year of 1920 and the most interesting book by James Playsted Wood explained it from the very first time down to the present day. De Witt Wallace surely knew just how to go about it all and his wife, Lila Acheson Wallace helped him.

Many have asked me if I would write the Horoscopes again and to this, I will say, "yes, very shortly!"

Take the children to see, "Born Free", although adults will enjoy it just as much. At first I thought it was a Walt Disney production but it is really more interesting than anything he produced due to the wild animal which has been tamed for the picture and is based on the true story by Joy Adamson. The lion cub was "adopted" by this author and her husband and they named her Elsa, whose parents had been killed. They really raised this lion cub as a pet in their household. Elsa was an affectionate as a dog, but of course, as time went on it became harder and harder to keep her. It is a sweet story and you will love it from start to finish. The best scene in the picture involves an encounter between Elsa and a warhog who can't believe that she isn't going to eat him. It all was photographed beautifully. The nice part is that it is playing at three theatres—Little, Cinema II and the Reisterstown Plaza; so whichever is the nearest to you, take my advise and see it.

Ever notice, folks when children buy a soda, they will have the girl read off the flavors and then say, "Make mine chocolate."
A young girl about to be married asks if I think it smart for the groom to be married with a wedding ring. Well, honey, thousands are doing just that but I do not care particularly for a man wearing a wedding ring. Only if he desires it, go ahead with the thing or don't ring ceremony. I always felt that the brides who demanded that must be a wee bit jealous and wanted to have other girls know that he was already caught!

Gentlemen, don't forget, as soon as you start getting bald, be sure and start the treatments of Cuticura ointment and the same brand soap. You do not have to wait until you are all bald although if you are be sure and do something about it. Each night massage gently with your finger tips some of the ointment and leave it remain overnight, then in the morning wash it off with the soap and rinse well, keep this up for three months and you will have the biggest and most pleasant surprise of your lives!

If you are not going to continue it each night and morning, don't start for it takes patience and perseverance and so little money.
Did you know that the state of Maryland has the oldest trees in these United States?
So long, folks. Be good and be careful and always be interested in life and LIFE WILL BE INTERESTED IN YOU! Go to church and if the day is a rainy one and you are a distance from your church, attend the one nearest you. And if you should happen to meet a brother bowed down by the sorrid cares of life, never be too busy or preoccupied with your own affairs to stop and offer a helping hand and a courageous word.

I am,
Faithfully yours,
Irene deLeon Love.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1966

EVERY TEN SECONDS!

Every ten seconds in the month of June, based on a 40-hour week, the Johnson-Humphrey Administration added a new Federal employee, Sen. John J. Williams (R., Del.) reported to the Senate August 1. This startling increase was the equivalent of 450 new Federal employees each hour, or 3,600 extra employees added to the public payroll every working day! In June, alone, 73,088 more persons were hired at public expense, and in the past fiscal year a total of 195,658 employees have been added. The June total of 2,738,248 Federal workers exceeds the Korean War peak! Senator Williams called for alerting the country to the reckless manner in which the Administration is expanding the public payroll.

—The Republican.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Representative Richard Poff, (R., Va.) said recently: "Since 1961, the federal budget has not been balanced a single time. Said differently, in each of the last five years Uncle Sam has spent more than he has taken in, and the deficit has been added to the national debt. In that same five-year period, the annual interest payment on the debt has risen from $9 billion to $13 billion. It helps to put things in proper perspective to understand that this $4 billion increase would finance the school milk program (which the President asked Congress to curtail) for the next 40 years."

Fatality statistics on file in the Portland, Oregon, Traffic Safety Commission show that 33,000 persons died in this nation last year of head injuries received in traffic accidents. The same report estimated that some 16,000 of these deaths could have been prevented by the use of seat belts.

Two years ago, a public opinion poll showed that 43 per cent of those polled did not know that Viet Nam is in Asia.

Mr. Charles Haar, an assistant secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, has a point when he observes, in a recent Wall Street Journal article, that "too much of our urban growth has been helterskelter, wasteful and inefficient." The Journal further adds, "This process has been aided no little by the failure of too many state and local governments to assume their legitimate responsibilities. In the circumstances it's hardly surprising to see the cities leaning ever harder on federal grants; funds requested in one eight-state area recently were four times the amount available. Nor is it exactly startling—or improper—for the federal government to insist on some say-so as to how the local governments spend the money. What is a little difficult to understand, at this stage of the giveaway game, is how both sides can go on soberly declaring that federal hand-outs are in no way inconsistent with the cities' independence."

We are only beginning to appreciate the fact that this country, as vast as it is, is nearly a third again as big as we thought it was. Land area of the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, is a little over 3.6 million square miles. But, this is not the total area available to us, not by about another million square miles. Those extra million square miles are the continental shelf regions—an undersea area of "tremendous economic potential," says a report issued by the Environmental Science Services Administration of the Department of Commerce.

Less than 10 per cent of the nation's 6.5 million alcoholics make a start toward recovery, said Jack Swift, Kansas City director of Alcoholics Anonymous. In typical cases, he said, from five to nine years elapse before an alcoholic's wife approaches the family physician or minister for advice.

The economist Dr. Arthur F. Burns, testifying before the House of Representatives said: "In all countries and throughout the ages, it has been common practice of governments, when prices rose materially, to point the finger of blame at the tradesmen or at industrialists or, in recent times, at trade union leaders as well and to call them irresponsible and greedy. In a time of war still another epithet is frequently hurled at private groups: they are then described as unpatriotic. Very rarely does any government have the courage to blame its own management of finances or its own failure to keep a tight rein on the money supply."

New Nectarine Relish Bedecks Burgers

That cookout king, the hamburger, wears a mantle worthy of culinary royalty for "Nectarine Relish Burgers."

A relish notable for its regal appearance and fit-for-a-monarch flavor bedecks each hamburger. It combines diced fresh nectarines with some other mighty appealing ingredients to give a burger a new lease on life.

California orchards supply the country with fresh nectarines all summer long. The fuzz-free fruit can't be beat as out-of-hand eating at home and on picnics or simply sliced over breakfast cereals. But it's also a winning entry in meat sauces, salads, appetizers and, above all, desserts. The nectarine habit, so easy to form, is a real summertime blessing.

Nectarine Relish Burgers

4 or 5 medium-size fresh nectarines	2 tablespoons chili sauce
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper	1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon chopped onion	Few dashes Tabasco
2 tablespoons brown sugar	6 grilled hamburgers
	6 toasted hamburger buns

Dice nectarines to make 2 cups. Combine green pepper, onion, brown sugar, chili sauce, mustard and Tabasco. Stir in nectarines. Mound on hamburgers. Serve on or with buns as you wish. Makes 6 servings.

Green Thumb Tips

Even in warmer climates where the instructions "wait until frost danger is past" do not apply to seed planting outdoors, there still is a change in soil temperature during the winter months. So, instead of checking the frost-free date, why not check soil temperature to make certain that the coldness and general clammy feeling of soils in winter is gone. When soils have warmed up, the time to plant outdoors has finally arrived.

Days are longer now and sunnier. It's time for wide-awake gardeners to sow seeds of slow-growing annuals like the gorgeous double-flowered petunias and the useful ageratum. These seeds should be started in your sunniest window; the container set close to the glass.

If you live in a climate where snow melts and thaws several times during winter, examine your lawn each time there ar-clear areas. Look for patches of dead grass or the areas of pinkish-gray that are characteristic of a disease called "snow mold."

If you find such signs, soak the area with a wide spectrum fungicide. This will not cure the snow mold but will kill other fungi in the area which thrive under the same conditions. Re-seed in early spring.

Snow mold usually is the result of a gardener's not mowing his lawn in fall until grass stops growing. Long grass or too many clippings on the lawn area keep soil underneath from freezing and thus encourage the snow mold fungus.

The more experienced a gardener is, the more likely he is to plant a garden on paper before he plans. This applies to flower gardens as well as vegetable gardens. With a plan in hand, he orders seeds early so that he obtains the varieties he wishes. Have you ordered your seeds yet?

CURRENT EVENTS
FIFTY YEARS AGO

The dry, hot weather has been very unfavorable to seeding and corn cutting; and most of our farmers have delayed operations until a more favorable time. Considerable corn, however, has been cut.

Last Saturday about 4200 bushels of wheat were brought to the elevators in Taneytown, most of it in the forenoon, which made our street present an unusually active appearance. The price paid on Saturday was $1.50 a bushel.

Mary, the 14-year-old daughter, by adoption, of Mr. and Mrs. Martin D. Hess, developed a case of infantile paralysis last Sunday. It is not a serious case and recovery with almost complete use of the affected arm is expected. Every precaution has been taken by the authorities to prevent the spread of the disease, a strict quarantine being observed.

HARNEY . . . The sale of the Miranda Bishop property on last Saturday was largely attended. The personal property brought reasonable prices. Mrs. Mary J. Thompson bought the lot for $305.00, which makes a very cheap home.

FRIZELLEBURG . . . Corn cutting has begun, for which the farmers are paying good wages, and some as much as $2.00 per day. . . Dr. Rufus Weaver of Philadelphia is spending some time with Wm. Arthur and family. . . Edward Haifley and wife who were on an extended trip to Boston and other points have returned home.

DETOUR . . . Milton Cutsail and Charles Bowers of Taneytown are drilling a well at the school house with O. T. Shoemaker's machine. . . The roads in this section are very dusty, especially in town owing to the lack of rain.

The Congress that adjourned, last week, appropriated nearly Two Billions of Dollars. A few years ago when a Congress appropriated One Billion Dollars it was used in the campaign following as a disgraceful exhibit on the part of the party in power. Times appear to have changed.

Wantz Chevrolet, Inc. Proudly Presents . . .

Fastback roof line distinguishes

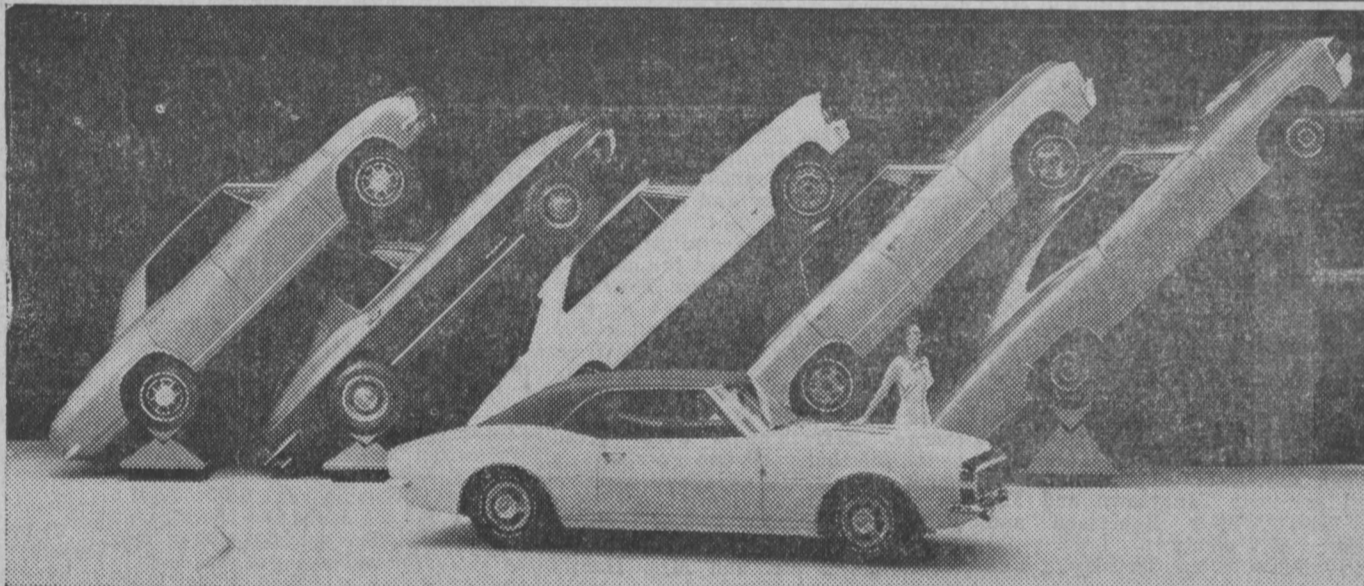

1967 Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe

The 19 Chevrolet models in five series for 1967 are entirely new in appearance with freshly styled fenders, hood, grille, bumpers and taillamps. Bright fender wrap-arounds extend grille styling on all models, while fender lamps are featured in the wrap-around area on Caprice models. The exclusive new sport coupe roof line (above) stresses fastback styling with the rear window blending into the deck in an unbroken line. A four-way hazard flasher is now standard equipment on all '67 Chevrolets. Dealers throughout the nation will display the new Chevrolets on September 29.

New Camaro makes

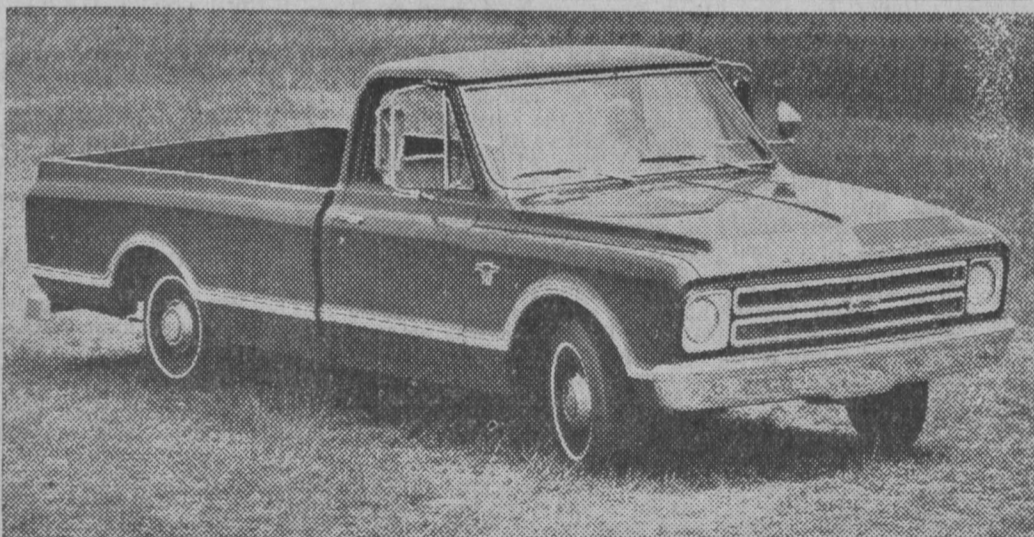

Six Distinct Car Lines for Chevrolet in 1967

Five 1967 Chevrolet models appear to be standing at attention as the CAMARO, newest member of the family, makes its introductory bow to the public (foreground, CAMARO Super Sport). While each Chevrolet model has distinctive styling motifs, the all new CAMARO features a new approach to the "long hood-short deck" design so successfully introduced to U.S. buyers by the Corvette. All Chevrolet-built passenger cars go on public display at dealers' September 29.

Many Improvements In

Restyled 1967 Chevrolet Truck Line

Clean, trim practical styling that gives a low, fleet look to this Fleetside pickup is only one of many advances in the 1967 Chevrolet truck line. Vision, cab comfort, and corrosion-resistance are improved. Other new features in the line include longer bodies and more power for Chevy-Vans, a redesigned, lower four-wheel-drive series, and diesels in forward-control delivery vans. In some larger models, a new shorter cab and front sheet metal design give a shorter wheelbase for improved maneuverability with no loss in load space.

Chevrolet's newest and sprightliest—

'67 Camaro Is Offered In Two Models

The all new CAMARO will be built in sport coupe and convertible models (Super Sport shown above). The Camaro line incorporates many sprightly options that include concealed headlamps behind a lattice grille which opens and closes when lights are turned on and off, plus a hood with simulated louvers and a wide "bumble bee" paint band on the nose. A 350-cu.-inch V8 engine is used in the Super Sport version of the CAMARO. They go on display September 29.

In the Union Bridge area, please put your bundles on your porch or in front of your house and they will be picked up as the trucks make their rounds. Thanks!

Haven't the days quieted down since school began? Sure there are a number of mothers like myself who have sent their "baby" off this year and find it hard to believe the house can be so quiet and still. It is a bit sad in a way but it makes you feel proud, too, to see them go off in the morning—so proud to be joining older brothers and sisters—in such high spirits and thrilled with the idea of learning to read and write by themselves. The real beginning of independence?

MARRIED

REED - BOWERS

Miss E. Jane Bowers, Taneytown and Mr. Galen F. Reed, Riner, Va., were united in marriage on Thursday, September 8, 1966, by Charles C. Conaway, Clerk of the Circuit Court at Westminster, Md.

all who sent cards of sympathy with words of comfort, in this, our time of sorrow; although we expected dad's passing for a long time. He was ready to meet the Lord and he anxiously waited his call—but when the call comes it is hard for us to accept. We think when others pass on to their reward we can sympathize with those left behind. But no, not real, it is only when we have lost a real close loved one can we sympathize—it is our loss but the Master's gain.

There were some tracts placed in one of our cards we received and all was greatly appreciated and one especially so. I would like to share this poem with you in the hopes all can receive comfort from it, as we, my husband and I.

"Loved Ones Gone Before"

Fallen asleep in Jesus
How precious is that word!
Enjoying now, forever more,
The presence of the Lord.
This is not death! 'Tis only sleep,
The Lord doth now thy loved one keep.
Tis not good by, beloved,
'Tis only just "farewell,"
A little while—a moment,
We too with Christ shall dwell;
And so we dry the falling tear,
Because we know the Lord is near.
Oh! May the God of comfort
His richest grace impart.
Himself fill up the arching void,
Bind up the broken heart;
And give Thee power to look above,
And rest in his unchanging love.
Thanks Mrs. Mason, words cannot express our deep appreciation.

Your Fairview correspondent,
Catherine Frock and husband, Levi.

"God's Greatness"
(S. F. Dunlope)

He has set the stars in the heavens;
And placed there the moon and sun;
He knows every sparrow that falleth;
He appoints the course that we run.
God is our strength and fortress;
Why should we doubt or fear?
Though our world is stirred and restless,
If we trust, He will draw us near.
Though others are torn with life's trials,
In his care we can surely rest.
For he will give peace and comfort,
And courage to meet every test.
God's mercy is so great that it forgives great sins to great sinners, after great lengths of time and then gives great favors and great privileges and raises us up to great enjoyment in the great heaven of the great God.
As John Bunyan well says, "it must be great mercy, or no mercy; for little mercy will never serve my turn."

LIBERACE
by
Irene deLeon Love

From the time Liberace enters and runs to the stage floor of "The Painter's Mill" the audience is well aware they are going to enjoy the show. This wonderful versatile individual is really different from any other celebrity the world over. He not alone is a remarkable pianist but a dancer and a singer and one might say, "A natural comedian." There is no other personality that could compare! When he first makes his appearance he is wearing a ruby colored jacket or coat with sequins and rhinestones with black trousers, socks and shoes. He is a powerfully built man (much larger than TV shows him to be) and his hands are huge and very strong. He does not play from any sheet music but all from memory. He clowns around a lot before he is seated at the glass-topped piano and talks about his ring, which he designed after the Candelabra on the piano. He came to the first row where I was seated and showed the ladies this ring which is a replica of the candelabra exactly with the diamonds the full length of the candles.

I observed much as he played the beautiful numbers and that man is truly only interested in music and is most serious when he is playing and so deep that he appears older in expression as he continues playing. He was born in Wisconsin on May 16 (The Taurus sign) and the latter is the reason for his handsome physique. His father was an Italian and his mother Polish. At the tender age of F O U R, he began playing the family upright piano with his father guiding him and soon he was playing classical works (such as Liszt's Second Hungarian Rhapsody). His father recognizing his talent handed him over to the late eminent composer-pianist, Florence Betray Kelly. At eleven years of age he made his concert debut as a piano prodigy in the town in which he was born, in Milwaukee. After graduating from high school, he was a Classical success and went East to begin his professional career.

A spinal injury kept him out of the U. S. Service but did not deter him from entertaining for long hours without any compensation in the USO's and hospitals. From the very beginning he wanted to go on TV but many of the executives of studios said, "Who wants to see a piano player?" This did not discourage Liberace for he is to this day a very determined man and he kept striving for what he thought the public wanted to see and hear. His first job netted him fifty dollars a week! Then, he returned to California and his first show was right there and A L I V E ! He was so magnetic right from the beginning that in just one year, his show went national!

He was simply wonderful! "The Painter's Mill" and I would not have wanted to have missed him for anything pretty! There is so much warmth about this man whom everyone loves and admires. All the numbers that he played on the glass-topped piano were delightful and there was truly a "Full Tent!"

His second change of attire was to the handsome white satin suit (which is the one he wore for his show in England for Her Majesty, the Queen) which is trimmed with huge scrolls of Rhinestones and he did joke a lot how he ached from sitting on them! He had about five changes and all were fabulous affairs. He designs all of his costumes for his tailor and one he wore was a copy that Harrison wore in "My Fair Lady." Liberace is six-foot tall, very handsome and I judge that he is much over the 175 pounds which he is supposed to weigh. He has dark brown eyes and dark brown hair which is very thick and wavy and is slightly turning gray. To see him is to love him for he interests one from the start with his magnetic personality. (That part, too is a real Taurus!) His clothes fit him to perfection and he surely knows how to comb his hair! He truly is as advertised, "Mr. Showman." TV does not really do him justice and one must see him in person to understand the character he is. Liberace states after summing up his success that it was all through "The Magic of believing, my sincere love of people and my Faith in God!"

It was sweet to hear his last number, "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver" and a couple of other old numbers which always go over big and the audience sang along! It was a real standing ovation when he said, "Goodbye!"

There were two other performers, a delightful singer, Karen Wessler, and a very clever magician billed as "Fantasio" who were excellent but who wants to hear or see anyone else when Liberace is around?

TIGER SKIPPER BOB FOGLE RESIGNS

Taneytown Manager Calls It Quits After 12 Years

THE WAY I SEE IT... Observations on the World of Sports - John Breth

A frustrating season, personal reasons and a team that was slowly dis-integrating were the reasons given by Tiger manager Bob Fogle as he announced his resignation from the team. Bob just completed his twelfth season with the local sandlotters, a season that was the worst in five years as far as the team was concerned. With all deference to Bob, the team's fall from second to ninth in just one year was not his making. If some more of the players had shown his drive, dedication and devotion to baseball, the past season would not have been so frustrating. Skipper Fogle had threatened to call it quits several times during the past year, but finally decided to remain at the helm for the best interests of the squad. Now with the regular South Penn season at a close, he has officially hung up his spikes. Reaction to Bob's resignation was not slow in coming from other baseball men in town. Reaction was sympathetic to the Skipper's reasons and all wished him well.

NEW WOOLCO STORE

Pretty models and bright flags added to the attraction of the opening of the new WOOLCO Department Store on Wednesday, September 7th, 1966 in the West 7th St. Shopping Center in Frederick. Numerous area officials were on hand for the opening.

This is the 37th store in the chain to be opened. At the present time 60 additional stores are either under construction or scheduled for opening within the next two years.

The huge 70,000 sq. ft. building is modern in every respect. It has wide aisles with carpeted floors in some areas.

They even have a restaurant in the building with a seating capacity of over 75. How nice while shopping to be able to stop for a snack or a complete meal.

I observed cars on the parking lot from Maryland, Penna., Va., W. Va., Washington, D. C. and New Jersey. WOOLCO truly is a nice addition to the shopping center.

I even did a little Christmas shopping while there. Now I must get the things wrapped and hid because if your children are like ours they really do like to look around for things bought for them.

One thing I saw that I did not like was a station wagon with a lot of little crying children left alone in it. How parents can go away and leave small children (pre-schoolers) is a mystery to me! (Just one woman's opinion.) I feel better now having voiced my opinion. Maybe some of you will agree with me.

I would like to thank so many of you who have written to tell me you enjoy the column.

Pineapple Punch For Best Parties

Refreshing canned pineapple juice is flavor perfect for all kinds of punches. This one made with raspberry sherbet, cranberry juice and a lively carbonated beverage is based on pineapple juice straight from the can. It has a pink and pretty look with a foamy layer of sherbet on top. You can divide or multiply the recipe with the greatest of ease, depending only on the size of the crowd. But be sure and allow at least 3 servings per teenager!!

Those in the know are buying up pineapple juice a case at a time . . . just to be sure it's on hand for whenever one of the children says "I'm thirsty."

PINEAPPLE SHERBET GRADUATION PUNCH

1 cup fine granulated sugar	2 (1-quart) bottles lemon-lime carbonated beverage
½ cup strained lemon juice	1 quart raspberry sherbet
2 (46-ounce) cans pineapple juice	Pineapple chunks
1 pint bottle cranberry juice cocktail	Maraschino cherries

Have all liquid ingredients well chilled. Dissolve sugar in lemon juice in punch bowl. Blend in pineapple juice, cranberry juice cocktail and carbonated beverage. Add sherbet, stirring until softened and partially dissolved. Garnish bowl with pineapple chunks and maraschino cherries strung on picks and sprigs of fresh mint, as desired. Makes about 1½ gallons.

Easy Games Put A Party In Motion

The best way to get a party in motion is to plan some form of participating activity for arriving guests. In this era of active outdoor sports, there are also simple games suitable for modern parties in casual indoor settings.

Cards, darts, checkers, bingo, for example. They can be ideal "mixers" for getting a party going. The host provides the equipment and then makes a big wall chart listing all the guests vertically and the games horizontally. There are no teams; each person plays for himself and the winner of a set plays the next person. The only rules are that everyone must play every game on your list—regardless of whether he's ever played it before; and every person must play one game of each with every other guest. It gets sort of confusing at times but that's part of the fun. And obviously, everybody has to meet everybody else.

During the games, offer simple snacks and a popular beverage. Beer is perfect for an action party because it can be kept well chilled and handy for guests to refresh themselves at leisure. Afterwards comes the main buffet of hearty foods served attractively. One suggestion is a brace of glazed hams, each garnished brightly and differently.

GALA GLAZED HAMS

2 canned hams, about 3 pounds each
 2 cans (12-oz. each) beer
 Pineapple slices
 Maraschino cherries
 Mandarin orange sections
 Ripe olives, pitted and halved
 ½ cup orange marmalade

Cover hams with beer and let stand at room temperature for several hours. Remove hams from beer; place on rack in a shallow roasting pan and bake at 350°F. for 1 hour. Remove hams from oven. Decorate top of one with pineapple slices and maraschino cherries. Top second ham with alternate rows of Mandarin orange sections and ripe olive halves. Beat orange marmalade until smooth and light and spoon evenly over the decorated tops of hams. Bake an additional 15 minutes. Serves 12 generously.

NOTE: Manus, recipes and a host of decorating tips and unique party themes are given in a gay new 32-page booklet, "Parties in Motion." A copy can be obtained by writing to the United States Brewers Association, Box MS, 535 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.

One Piece Chair
It's Back To School Again

Healthy, growing young bodies just don't sit still very long. But when they are forced to, as in the schoolroom, it's important that the chair they're sitting in be properly contoured.

Increasing popularity of shell molded plastic chairs has been due not only to the economy of the chairs, but also because plastics can be formed into comfortable contours more easily than other chair materials.

A new, semiflexible one-piece chair has been developed by Artco-Bell Corporation, Temple, Texas. Called the Uniflex chair, it provides proper profile and support for youngsters, is lightweight, durable and pleasing in appearance. The design staff of ABC utilized body contour data from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and other sources, in determining appropriate chair profiles for healthy body growth and comfort.

The chair is molded from a special high-density polyethylene developed by The Dow Chemical Company, Midland, Michigan. Because of the strength and flexibility of this plastic, the chair manufacturer has been able to eliminate unsightly show-through fastening bolts and heavy steel back-frame support.

An added benefit of the polyethylene is its freedom from static electricity, which assures that the chair will always keep its clean appearance.

A Substitute For God
Lesson For September 18, 1966

Background Scripture: Luke 11:20-22; Proverbs 23:31-33; Hosea 4:11-13; 7:5-7; Luke 21:34-36; Ephesians 5:15-18; Devotional Readings: Hosea 4:1-3, 6-11.

In his book, Dare To Live Now!, Bruce Larson tells of an incident that happened one evening as a men's prayer group was meeting in a New York office. A man came in whom no one knew. Each man in the group

Rev. Althouse, who assumed that the stranger had been invited by someone else in the circle. So they told him to pull up a chair and join the circle of men who were meeting for prayer and fellowship.

Several of the men talked about their present troubles and struggles toward becoming whole people and effective Christians. The stranger sat and listened in silence. Finally, the leader of the group turned to the stranger and asked him to introduce himself. The group was not prepared for what they heard him say.

"My name is Paul," he said, "and I am a dope addict." While they digested that revelation he went on: "I came here to rob this office to get a fix, but I think I have found something better." Because he had heard a small group of men being honest with each other about their Christian faith, Paul stayed to pray to God and ask him to help him with his problem.

Where God Should Be

This story points to a fact that we often miss: Alcohol and narcotics may be used as substitutes for God. Narcotics occupied a place in Paul's life that should be reserved for God alone. The same is often true of alcohol. It often becomes the means whereby people try to cope with their problems and the awesome realities of life.

Alcohol is often used by people as a stimulant, as a means of gaining inspiration. This, as the writer of Ephesians makes clear, is something for God's spirit alone. "And do not get drunk with wine, for that is debauchery; but be filled with the spirit" (Ephesians 5:18 RSV).

Alcohol or narcotics may become a person's god and provide him with a way of life — or more precisely, of death. The Japanese have a proverb:

First the man . . . takes the drink.
Next the drink . . . takes the man.
Then the drink . . . takes the man!

In short, it becomes a substitute for God, occupying the place in our lives that ought to be reserved for God alone.

Beyond Drunkenness

The moral issue of drink does not end with drunkenness alone. Drunkenness is harmful by itself, but it is even more significant when we consider how drunkenness may contribute to other moral failures. Drink may lead us to dishonor our father and mother, or it may be the cause of the loss of such honor before our own children. It may cause us to take the life of another human being, accidentally or willfully. It may tear down our defenses against adultery or cause us to cheat, lie or steal. It may provide the one necessary ingredient to turn covetous thoughts into covetous actions. If a man takes the Lord's name in vain, it is often drink that loosens his tongue.

When drink becomes a substitute for God, we violate the commandment, "You shall have no other gods before me," and we stand in danger of violating all the rest as well. Alcoholism and Christianity are competing religions. Both are a total way of life. The real answer to alcoholism, then, is not a matter of hiding the bottle, but in finding and experiencing the power of God.

The star-spangled street where you live

You can't always see the stars and stripes on the homes and apartments in your neighborhood, but they're there just the same.

A big percentage of American families own U.S. Savings Bonds. Many of these star-spangled families have been buying Bonds since they were first issued 25 years ago.

Altogether, Uncle Sam has sold $150 billion in E and H Bonds. About $100 billion of these have been cashed in for college, retirement, new furniture, emergencies, and down payments for those homes.

Americans still own a nest egg of nearly $50 billion in Bonds for tomorrow's needs. And as the nest egg grows, Uncle Sam uses the dollars to help support our fighting men in Vietnam—and help keep our economy strong.

You can help make Uncle Sam's future, and your own, more secure by joining this star-spangled savings plan. Why not start now? Sign up for Payroll Savings where you work, or buy Bonds regularly at your bank.

The Taneytown Lions Club News

The Taneytown Lions Club held their 20th Charter Night on September 13, 1966, at Frock's Sunnybrook Farm in Westminster. The call to order was given by Lion President, Delmont Koons, followed with the invocation by Lion Merwyn Fuss. Program Chairman, Donald Lawyer, who was assisted by Harry Dougherty, Sr., and Glenn Reeve, introduced the toastmaster for the evening, Mr. John Marsh.

Charter members of the club—Murray Baumgardner, Harry Dougherty, Sr., Charles Eckard, Theodore Fair, Robert Feaser, Merwyn Fuss, Delmar Riffle, Thomas Tracey, Wilbert Hess were then recognized. These are the remaining Charter Members out of a total of 28 members that organized the Lions Club on July 2, 1947. Perfect Club Attendance for the past 12 years has been obtained by the present 46 members.

Special guests recognized by the toastmaster were Lions and Lionesses Charles Joy, Charles Fishack, Murray Ryan, Russell Marsh, Harry Dougherty, Sr., Don Williams, Alton Dutterer. Other official guests present were: District Governor 22-W. Wm. Lauterbach, Jr.; Deputy District Governor, David Brauning; Cabinet Secretary-Treasurer, Harry Lippy; Zone Chairman, Dennis Yingling.

Musical entertainment for the evening was given by Taneytown Lion, "Keith Brown and his Misfits."

Mr. John Marsh introduced the speaker for the evening, Mrs. Helen Tullis, Maryland Traffic Safety Commission. Although blind, Mrs. Tullis is Chairman of the Pedestrian Program of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission. She is well known as a lecturer, writer, and television personality. A graduate of Hunter College of the City of New York, and of Columbia University, Mrs. Tullis has been a speech therapist and a teacher.

Since 1957, Mrs. Tullis has worked with the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission to prevent traffic accidents—especially pedestrian accidents—through education. In these activities she is assisted by Victor, a Golden Retriever, who is indispensable when it comes to instructing elementary school children in an entertaining way. Mrs. Tullis and Victor has special training in crossing streets safely during the course of instruction at Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., San Rafael, California.

Mrs. Tullis showed us a very informative film on the training of these dogs from birth to their actual use. German Shepherds, Golden Retrievers, and Labradors are used as guide dogs.

The dogs are tested for intelligence, even temperament, willingness to work, and keen senses, by licensed instructors that last from 3 to 5 months after the dogs reach the age of one year.

After the dogs are well trained, the blind students must study at the school for four weeks to work with their dog. During this period, the dog is exposed to every possible situation that he and his blind master will meet when they return home.

Not every dog given this extensive training will meet the rigid specifications. However, the school has a proud record of 95% accomplished guide dogs as compared with the average of 15% of other schools.

Mrs. Tullis considers her talks to adults very important since responsible and well-informed adults can set the proper example for children and reinforce the safety education they receive in classrooms and assemblies.

Following this interesting program, the ladies were presented with a small gift by the club. Closing remarks were then given by Lion President, Delmont Koons.

County Government Study Commission Created

A fifteen member Carroll County Government Study Commission was created by joint action of the Senator, members of the House of Delegates, and County Commissioners in accordance with an Act of the General Assembly passed during the 1966 Session. The new Commission is "for the purpose of studying and making recommendations concerning the structure or form of the government of Carroll County." Its members serve without compensation.

Those persons selected for the Commission included: Murray M. Baumgardner—324 E. Baltimore St., Taneytown, Md.; Norman B. Boyle—137 E. Green St., Westminster, Md.; Wm. V. Lauterbach, Jr.—Park Ave. Ext., Manchester, Md.; Mrs. Earl M. Blankner—Route, Sykesville, Md.; Melvin E. Leppo—Rt. 2, Box 199, Sykesville, Md.; J. Thomas Sinnott—70 John St., Westminster, Md.; Walter V. Bennett—Sykesville, Md.; Gary R. Brauning—Rt. 2, Finksburg, Md.; James W. Davis—123 E. Main St., Westminster, Md.; Harold E. Thomas—Keymar, Md.; Frank H. Libman—Poole Rd., Westminster, Md.; Arthur B. Shipley—Sykesville, Md.; Clark M. Loper—Gaithersburg, Md.; Earl D. Beard Route 3, Box 278, Westminster, Maryland.

The new Commission held its first meeting on Monday evening under guidance of Norman B. Boyle, its chairman. Mrs. Earl M. Blankner was selected as secretary. Chairman Boyle took action after an orientation session by appointing Walter V. Bennett to head a committee to recommend a program of study to be followed by the commission during its initial months of operation. Mr. James W. Davis was selected to head a committee which will outline the procedures and format to be followed by the commission.

The legislative act setting up the commission's powers and duties requires that its official report be submitted on April 1, 1968. The commission itself will be terminated on June 1, 1968.

THE FAMILY LAWYER — HELPING HAND

Has a bus driver barked at you lately? Has a trolley conductor been rude? Complain to the company or write to your newspaper—but don't sue. Bad manners that merely ruffle your feelings are not enough grounds for a lawsuit.

But when bad manners also menace your safety, then the law is concerned indeed. Suppose you need a helping hand getting into or out of a public conveyance. You are entitled to have that helping hand, not just as a matter of courtesy but also as a matter of law.

Consider this case: A young mother, carrying a suitcase, a bundle, and a baby, started to descend the steps of a train. Although two railroad employees saw her struggling, they made no move to help. She fell, suffered injuries, and—later—collected damages from the railroad.

"Where personal assistance is seen to be needed," said the court, "duty demands it should be rendered."

Not only the condition of the passenger but also the condition of the stopping place may create a duty of assistance. Thus, a taxiab passenger won a court case partly because the driver let her off—unaided—at a place where the pavement was broken up.

Furthermore, help that is given must be given with care. When a trolley passenger missed a departing car, the conductor reached down and seized his arm. For 100 feet he dragged the reluctant man along, trying in vain to pull him aboard. When the conductor finally let go, the man hit the ground with a thud. A court held the company liable.

On the other hand, you cannot expect help if your need is not evident. A woman with an arthritic knee, who stumbled while entering a bus, failed to win damages from the company. The court noted that her handicap was not obvious to the bus driver—and that she neglected to ask him for aid.

In short, while the travelling public is entitled to a decent regard for its safety, there are limits. One woman, complaining that a trolley conductor didn't help her alight, based her claim on the undeniable fact that she was fat.

But the court turned her down with this comment:

"The mere fact that a woman weighs over 200 pounds cannot make it the duty of the conductor to drop all other duties and help her get off."

HOMEMAKER'S CREED
—Rebecca W. Hobbs

I believe in my home, the every day altar to God, where we live, love, work and play, ever striving to keep its avenues open to an enriched living.

I believe in my home as a place where minds are developed, where we work together toward the attainment of ideals, and where our richest traditions are cherished as a sacred heritage.

I believe in my home as a place to find joy and contentment in the simple things of life, a place of hospitality, helpfulness, and friendliness, of work that satisfies, balanced with creative leisure.

I believe in my home as a school for the building of character and the training for citizenship.

I believe that progress toward a better world must have its beginning in the influence of a Christian home, a home where one of the fondest desires is that those who come for comfort and inspiration, may not be denied.

"HELP YOURSELF TO BETTER LIVING" is the theme of the extension economics program. The Carroll County program is designed to help families reach these goals: to spend our money wisely. To make the best of our time and energy. To understand individual members of our family and strengthen family living. To continue to keep healthy families. To take care of our families clothing needs. To plan and have attractive homes. To improve the community in which we live.

These goals will help us to achieve the over all goal of: A one hundred percent home—A one hundred percent home is one that is economically sound, mechanically convenient, physically healthful, morally wholesome, spiritually inspiring, mentally stimulating, socially responsible and a center of unselfish life.

25 Churches Unite to Present Sunday School Convention

To keep up in this day of advanced technology and specialized fields, 25 area churches have combined their efforts to give the Sunday school, special training in the areas of administration and Christian Education.

There is a present trend, in the main stream of Christianity, that is trying to bring the church's teaching up to the high standards of the public school systems. In order to help area churches to advance in teaching techniques, six nationally known Christian Education leaders have been invited to the planned convention.

These leaders will present seventeen, one and one-half hour workshop periods, on such topics as, standards for a good Sunday School, effective lesson preparation, monthly workers conference, the art of story telling, Sunday School superintendents at work, teaching aids, teaching methods, best use of equipment and housing, visitation, winning pupils to Christ plus a special workshop on how to teach in the various departments in the Sunday School.

The leadership personnel of this Sunday School Convention will be coming directly from the National Sunday School Association Convention, Boston, Mass. They will be bringing to this local convention, new and fresh ideas that really work in a growing Sunday School.

The leaders of this convention are all editors or consultants on the staff of a large non-denominational, fundamental Christian literature, publishing house, they are all experts in their respective fields.

It is believed that this convention will draw approximately 500 dedicated Sunday School teachers and officers. The convention is open to all churches who are interested in advancing in the field of fundamental, Biblical, Christian education.

The convention will be held at the First Church of God, 203 Summit Ave., Hagerstown, Md. Registration begins at 6:30 P. M., Friday evening, September 23rd. There will be three sessions. The first at 7:30 P. M., Friday, September 23rd. The second at 9:00 A. M., Saturday, September 24; and the final session begins at 1:00 P. M., Saturday and ends at 3:45 P. M.

All interested churches needing more information should contact: pastor Gerald D. Carbaugh, 203 Summit Ave., Hagerstown, Md.; or pastor, Frederick E. Horner, Uniontown, Maryland.

A Sunday School teacher was priming her class of eight-year-olds about the Sermon on the Mount. To start things off, she asked the class, "Where do you find the Beatitudes?"

After a long silence a little girl in the back piped up in her most helpful manner: "Have you looked in the Yellow Pages?"

The teacher is like a candle which lights others in consuming itself.
