tragic one! Whatever you do, Mrs. or Miss—don't wear those hideous curlers when you go out, even if you slightly cover them up! Have you ever heard a man's opinion about that one? Last Saturday, I interviewed a few gentlemen and one who was with one of these women in curlers! He said to me, "I'm glad you asked that question for it is really disgusting to every man and now they even ride in busses with their hair done up in this fashion. Frankly, I rarely see my wife without them!"

In other words they blow hot and cold at the same time and are so yery changeable. No man will ever have a dull moment with a "Gemini" around the house. These people have a firm will, love to command, yet are without any conceit, tyranny or pride. They are truly most sympathetic and make excel-lent nurses. They delight in driving sharp bargains, regardless of need for the merchandise they may pur-chase. They must be careful of their love affairs which means they have two going at one time and when they marry one of these people they usually are sorry it was not the other one! They usually are most generous and yet are schemers. Many times to their sorrow, they long for a change. And many times they undertake too many things at one time. OUR GOLD IN FRANCE

The story goes that Charles de Gaulle, he of the vast ego, became permanently miffed at the United States during World War II because he was not considered properly important to the conduct of that conflict. Considering that France had here will help us in other ways . . quickly succumbed, thanks to its perhaps the greatest promise of all Maginot Line mentality, one scarcely wonders that the planners of Allied strategy treated him less than befitted majesty or conquering heroes.

Be that as it may, Big Charlie has become as friendly to the United States as a disinherited third cousin. Most people know that he is doing his best to bring on a crisis in the U.S. by draining off our gold reserves. To date he has demanded, and gotten, $3,000,000,000 in gold from us. But most Americans don't realize how much La Belle France has cost us since World War I.

After that war, acting the deadbeat, France defaulted on its debt to the United States to the tune of $6,580,000,000. Even so, we rescued her again during World War II. No one has had time yet to tot up the total cost of that one, but you may be sure that the figure was far more than the above amount spent during the first World War. Nor was that the end. When Big Charlie got out of Africa, the United States was implored to step in and supply economic aid to France's former colonies. So far we American suckers have been privileged to sink $910,000,000 into what should have remained France's responsibility.

Tast waar NATO (meaning the U.S.) out of France, However, he obligingly kept the bases and installations we had built at a cost of hundreds of millions of dollars. Meantime, of course, he has been acting the role of a Sun King, wheeling and dealing with North Vietnam, Moscow and Peiping to our detriment.

His economic warfare campaign of demanding gold from our reserves in return for U.S. dollars has jeopardized the value of every dollar in your pocket and ours. As a result, France's economy has become strong, with a gold reserve now placed at $5,745,-000,000. This recently led Rep. Vernon Thomas (R., Wis.) to call for an end to further handouts that benefit France. The Congressman suggested that, since France has so many American dollars, it's about time she started paying something on that $6,580,000,000 debt.

She won't. But it's something Americans might ponder when they plan a trip, contemplate the purchase of a foreign car, or order a bottle of wine or a flacon of parfum.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Oil facts, published by the American Petroleum Institute, recently noted: "The United States retained its title as the world's leading oilproducing nation in 1966 with a record output of more than 3 billion barrels. . . . U.S. crude oil production averaged 8.3 million barrels daily during 1966, according to Bureau of Mines estimates. This was a 75 per cent increase over the average produced in the year 1946. The nation's percentage of total world production has been shrinking in recent years, as oil deposits have been found and developed in many parts of the globe. However, the U.S. still produces onefourth of the world's crude oil. . . The U.S. and other Free World nations accounted for 82 per cent of the world's oil production in 1966. The non-Communist countries have THE CARROLL RECORD 91 per cent of the world's oil reserves. The growth in U.S. oil production reflects the growing demand for petroleum products and the ability of oilmen to increase recovery from underground reservoirs through advanced techniques and more efficient conservation practices."

The president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce said labor should be willing to accept - "as government has repeatedly urged business" some short-run sacrifices in order to ensure greater long-run benefits.

According to a news report from Atlantic City, N.J., a survey of more than 16,000 school children in Atlantic County showed one in five, or a total of 3,300 youngsters, smoked cigarettes. A total of 2,092 began smoking between the ages of 8 and 12.

> The Union Pacific Railroad says it virtually rebuilds its original transcontinental line every eight years through its maintenance program. In terms of cash, the maintenance task is even greater by comparison. The dollar outlay for maintenance of way and structures last year alone was greater than the cost of building U.P.'s original line from Omaha, Nebraska, to Promontory, Utah -$59,166,272.

> "The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation is urging an end to the wheat and grain subsidy programs. This would assist in trimming the federal budget and avoiding a tax increase," says the National Association of Manufacturers. "It should be recognized that a free market in agriculture, as else where, is the most productive market. The direct cost to the taxpayers is in excess of $3 billion annually for the control and subsidy programs."

April Is Citrus Value Time

Come spring, a gal's mirror often reflects the need for a little calorie counting. Losing pounds needn't be a chore when you discover how many foods are not only low in calories but good tasting and good for you. High on the list are juicy Florida citrus fruits—oranges and grapefruit.

April is Florida citrus value time. Richly-flavored oranges and plump pink and white grapefruit offer healthful eating at low prices, so it makes good "cents" to enjoy them at least once every day. Both oranges and grapefruit are listed as plentiful foods by the U.S. Department of Agriculture this month.

Luscious Valencia orange slices and juicy grapefruit sections combine with shrimp and cottage cheese for a colorful, appetizing low-calorie salad. A perfect dressing for this, or any, fruit salad uses frozen Florida orange juice concentrate for tart-sweet, refreshing flavor.

Dressing For Citrus Salad

1/4 cup frozen Florida orange 1/4 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon minced fresh juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted tarragon leaves, or ½ teaspoon dried tarragon

1/4 cup plain yogurt 1 tablespoon honey In medium size bowl, combine undiluted orange concentrate, yogurt, honey and salt; blend until smooth. Add tarragon; refrigerate at least one hour until flavors blend. Pour 1 tablespoon per serving over salad.

YIELD: 1/2 cup.

FAIRVIEW

They always say, "don't look for nice weather until after Easter." Well how long after Easter? We couldn't ask for a more beautiful day than today, Tuesday, but, oh, so windy and cold; at 7:15 this morning the temperature was down to 36 degrees and calling for 30 degrees tonight. Storm door glasses have been taken and replaced with screens-makes one turn their stoves up a little higher as it is rather chilly inside. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Selby and Mrs.

Grant Baker spent Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Leslie Biddinger and daughters of Woodsboro, Md.

Dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs.

"JUST IN TIME"
by Helen T. Wilkes When I forget who is the potter,
He warns—by urgent touch;
Upon these feet of clay I totter—
'Till Christ becomes my crutch.

Though my hand grows limp and slack In gesture of defeat—
His clasp of love will draw me back
In restoration sweet! When my ears refuse to listen

As the truth is told-Christ releases me from prison By revelation bold. When I sometimes choose the road I would walk today— It never leads to his abode;

I'm lost along the way! He gently sets my feet aright And I in childish shame Realize His "end in sight"

Is reserved in my name!
Come one, come all, let us praise
His Holy Name;
He gave His life upon the cross
To save the lost at the uttermost cost. And arose again to show to us He hath power over death and the grave.

That we who accept Him as He is, Will have life everlasting.

DAR HONORS TWO MEMBERS

NOW DECEASED

Memorial services for two deceased members were marked at the meeting Friday afternoon of the William Winchester Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

A brief business meeting was held at the Westminster Trust Company, presided over by Mrs. Theodore D. Jump, chapter regent.

Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. Joseph W. Shirley, Jr., and Mrs. Garrett F. Weersing.

The members visited the mausoleum of Mrs. Herbert Cover in Krider's Cemetery. Mrs. Cover, a long-time member, had resided on Bond Street, Westminster. The grave marker was presented to her niece, Mrs. Sher-wood Kay, Finksburg.

The members then went to Emmanuel Lutheran Church Cemetery, Manchester, where a service was held for Miss Cecilia Shower, a charter member of the chapter.

The grave marker was presented to her nephews, George Shower, Manchester, and Robert Unger, Westminster. Miss Shower had reached over 100 years of age, and had spent a number of years in the Long View Nursing Home in Manchester. The memorial services were conducted by state chaplain, Mrs. Edgar return home. G. Barnes, and the chapter chaplain, Miss M. Louise Matthews, Westmin-ster, assisted by the regent, Mrs.

Guests were Mrs. Fern Smith, a niece of Mrs. Cover, and Mrs. Eugene L. Ensor.

The next meeting will be held Friday, May 12, with a luncheon at the First Westminster Presbyterian Church, Washington Road, beginning at 12:30 P. M.

MEETING OF GARDEN CLUB

The Silver Fancy Garden Club met on April 20 in the Social Hall of the Presbyterian Church in Taneytown with Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner, the new president, in charge of the business meeting. Following are the new officers for a two-year period: president, Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner; vice president, Mrs. Vernon Keilholtz; recording secretaries, Miss Liza Carpenter and Mrs. Andrew Eyster; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John D. White, and treasurer, Mrs. John Zent. Mrs. Andrew Eyster gave a report of a recent board meeting. Programs were set up for the next year with the vice president, Mrs. Keilholtz, in charge. Mrs. Hewitt MacPherson showed slides of the Orton Plantation in North Carolina, also of the Brook Green Gardens in North Carolina during azalea time, which were very lovely. Mrs. MacPherson and Miss Carpenter were hostesses for this meeting. The annual Card Party will be held ting on in years but well and happy.

Observations on the World of Sports

-John Breth Center fielder MACK JONES has a unique distinction in the Atlanta rave lineup . . . he is the only lefthanded hitter among the regulars.

That should mean that he will face lot of right-handed pitching if you figure that the other clubs will save their right-handed mound strength to throw at the Braves. Jones says no. He says that when teams get their mound rotations go-ing they don't change for one club.

you believe, the Jones of 1965 or the Jones of 1966.

Two years ago, in his first full season as a major league player, Jones belted 31 home runs for the Braves in Milwaukee. Almost half of those, 14 to be exact, were against left-handed pitching.

Last year, with the Braves moving to Atlanta, Jones hit 23 homers and not one came off southpaw pitching. sent. An enjoyable evening was had by all and upon leaving wishes were extended for many more happy birth-spring hampered Jones at the bat spring hampered Jones at the bat

It certainly didn't help his throwing when he returned to play after missing the first month of the cam paign.

Jones looked good against southpaws in spring training this year and manager Billy Hitchcock of the Braves is optimistic about the coming season, both at the bat and in the field.

Says Hitchcock: "Mack is coming along fine and getting stronger all the time. He should have a big season.

When Wilt Chamberlain is on the court for the Philadelphia 76'ersand he usually is-it's hard to notice anybody else.

That may be one of the reasons that HAL GREER, one of Chamberlain's teammates, is not recognized as one of the top stars of the National Basketball Association.

Oh, Greer is recognized as a first-class player. But he may even be more than that. And playing alongside Chamberlain, who dominates the court when he's on, few people notice Yet, he has scored more than 13,000 points in NBA competition. And he is currently playing a leading part in Philadelphia's fight for the NBA championship. Coach Alex Hannum knows how good the six-foot-three Greer is. Says Hanum, "Hal plays a complete game. He's an offensive threat every minute. He has the perfect disposition and is well liked by everybody. We wouldn't have near the record we have if not for Hal."

Although Greer is a fine shooter and recognized as such, he also can play a big game on defense. Often Coach Hannum will ask him to guard against such top gunners as Oscar Robertson, Jerry West, Rick Barry and Sam Jones.

temperament is when he's taken out game. Every time an Oriole homers, of a game.

He explains why. Says Greer, "I hate to be taken out of a game. I always remember what my coach in college told me. He said, 'If you never' See complete details reput a guy in the game you never know what he can do.' I believe that." Greer was the first Negro ever to play for Marshall University in West

Something to Explain

Lesson for April 30, 1967

Background Scripture: Acts 4:1-22.

Devotional Reading: Romans 10:8-17.

In the early chapters of Acts there are a number of passages that are often referred to as the sermons of Peter." This, however, is a misnomer, for these utterances are nothing like what we know today as "sermon." They are not planned or even anticipated by Peter. In fact, it is apparent in these chapters that the early church had no strategy or pro-gram at all for communicating the gospel and

Rev. Althouse winning converts. No one prepared himself for street-corner sermons or public debates. How then do we explain these "sermons" of Peter?

When we study these "sermons", we discover that each time Peter "preaches" it is not a planned speaking occasion, but an attempt to answer an urgent question. On the first such occasion, the day of Pentecost, people witnessed the power of the Holy Spirit working mightily in the lives of the followers of the Nazarene. "What does this mean?" they wanted to know. What is com-monly called "Peter's first sermon," then, is simply an an-swer, an attempt to explain "What's going on here?"

We see this same pattern again at the gate of the temple (Acts 3). An astonished crowd wants to know how Peter and John were able to heal the crippled beggar. Again, Peter attempts to explain: "Men of Israel, why do you wonder at this . . . ?

Once more in Acts 4 we find that another of Peter's "sermons" is — simply an attempt to answer a question: "By what power or by what name did you do this?" Once more people want to know "What's going on here?" Once more Peter sive the some people want to know "What's going on here?" more Peter can give the same answer: "Jesus Christ!" "Be it known to you all . . . that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth . . . this man is standing before you well" (Acts 4:10 RVS).

All They Had

In each circumstance the little band of disciples had been channels of God's power. People witnessed this power and, amazed, could not help asking, "What's going on here?" Thus, the earliest "sermons," the earliest attempts to witness for Christ attempts to witness for Christ. attempts to witness for Christ, were simply attempts to answer a question and explain the presence of the Holy Spirit.

Perhaps then, our problem in evangelism today, in communicating the gospel, is not so much a lack of zeal, of cleverness, or expertise in either theology or communication, but the absence of the Spirit from our lives. Often we are in the position of giving Peter's answer to "What's going on here?" to people who aren't asking the question because they don't see anything "going on." We are witnessing to a power with which it seems we are not personally acquainted.

This was the only thing the primitive church had. It had no lofty theology or philosophy to attract those who were shopping for some new idea. It had no mysterious ritual to draw the curious. These people lacked education, culture, training, money, power, and influence. By themselves there were a most un-impressive lot. Yet, it became evident that they did "have some-thing." That "something" was God's power shining through those otherwise-unimpressive

Nothing So Compelling

There is nothing so compelling today as a life in which the power of God is evident. That power may, but need not, be spectacular. The style of one's life may be just as impressive as a striking gift. The important thing is that we have something to explain, something to inspire those questions: "How did you give up the bottle?"
"How do you stand a job like that?" "Why are you always so cheerful?" "What makes you so trustful?" "You're a different person: how come?

Today, as in the beginning of the church, we need not compose sermons in order to witness. All that is required of us is that we have an answer when someone wants to know: "What's going on here?" The answer, of course, however we say it, is "Jesus Christ!"

Do you have something to explain?

Quick Chick

When it's time for a great company meal, most homemakers turn to chicken. And for many an elegant recipe, she turns to tender flavorful chicken breasts. These are available in most supermarkets according to the National Broiler Council. One fine dish is Chicken Superb. Strips of white meat are coated with seasoned flour, fried, and served on rice with tangy Lemon Cream Sauce. Best news of all, the dish takes only about 10 minutes cooking time.

Chicken Superb 3 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts ½ cup flour 2 teaspoons salt

2 teaspoons sait
2 teaspoons paprika
1/2 cup milk
Salad oil
4 cups hot cooked rice

Bone chicken breasts; remove skin. Cut into ½-inch lengthwise strips. Combine flour, salt and paprika. Dip chicken strips into milk, then roll in seasoned flour. Pour oil to ½-inch depth in skillet; heat. Add chicken strips and fry until golden brown. To serve, mound rice on platter. Pour Lemon Cream Sauce* over rice and top with fried chicken strips. YIELD: 6 servings.

*Lemon Cream Sauce: Melt ¼ cup butter or margarine in sauce-pan. Blend in ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon paprika. Gradually stir in 1½ cups water. Add 2 chicken bouillon cubes and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add 1 cup heavy cream and heat to serving temperature. Because from heat triving 1 temperature. perature. Remove from heat; stir in 2 teaspoons lemon juice.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

No. 1 MAN IN COURT

Not the scientist, not the sociologist, not the philosopher is the mostcited-expert in today's courtroom. Far more influential is a fictitious fellow known as the Reasonable Man. Created by an English court more than a century ago, the Reasonable Man has become a basic yardstick for measuring right and wrong. To avoid being held negligent, you are expected to drive like the Reasonable Man, shave like the Reasonable Man, and the Reasonable Man are the Reasonable Man and the Reasonable Man are the Reasonable Man and the Reasonable Man are th like the Reasonable Man, and drink like the Reasonable Man.

Then what sort of person is he?

In the purely physical sense, he looks very much like you. If you have only one leg, so does he. The law would expect you to cross the street only as fast as a Reasonable One-Legged Man. In this way, when judging your conduct, the law makes fair allowance for personal handicaps which you simply cannot help.

But in the mental sense, the Reasonable Man generally resembles not you but the average man—which is quite a different matter. Thus:

Suppose you are a person who is forever overlooking traffic signals or dropping lighted eigarette butts. You cannot expect other people to suffer, without complaint, the consequences of your absent-mindness. For this is without complaint, the consequences of your absent-mindness. For this is a handicap which, presumably, you can overcome if you really try.

So the Reasonable Man has the average degree of alertness to danger, the average degree of consideration for the safety of others. He also has, broadly speaking, an average memory, average bravery, average judgment, and an average amount of useful information in his head.

hay will burn, that a wet floor is slippery, that worn tires may blow out, and that a loaded gun is dan-

In other words, the Reasonable Man is a composite—partly like you, partly like the average person. He has your built-in defects, but not your defects that could and should

But isn't that a pretty loose standard for deciding legal issues in the courtroom? True enough. Yet, experience has shown it to be a wise and workable compromise between the rights of the individual and the rights

By using this compromise, the law itself has acted like the Reasonable

REGIONAL PLANNING COUNCIL

The County Commissioners have been given a petition to file a suit in our courts contesting the constitu-tionality of the Regional Planning Act which was passed several years ago by our legislature without protest from our state senator and the four delegates to Annapolis. The legislature committed Carroll County o this Regional Council and the leg-to this Regional Council and the legislature has the power to remove us from it if they so choose.

Our county government is also a body created by our legislature and we have the powers granted us by the legislature. We have legal advice to the effect that the county commissioners have no right to contest the validity of an act of the legislature in the courts. I feel that we would be in a foolish position if we employed one or more lawyers to take this matter to the courts and take this matter to the courts and we were told by the local court that the county commissioners have no right to file action. Of course we could take an appeal to the Court of Appeals, also at the expense of Carroll County taxpayers. The cost of court action has been estimated to court action has been estimated to be as low as $200 and as high as $5,000. It is pertinent that not one of the eight men representing Carroll County in the last five years have advocated the introduction of legislation to get Carroll County out of the Regional Planning Council. This is a legal procedure but our representatives to Annapolis must first be convinced that this is in the best interests of Carroll County. To date they are unconvinced and no such bill age memory, average bravery, average judgment, and an average amount of useful information in his head.

Thus the Reasonable Man knows (even if you, personally, do not) that hay will burn, that a wet floor is slimery that worn tires may blow the delegations from the other counties and Baltimore City if a withdrawal bill was introduced but that Carroll County would be voted down by the delegations from the other counties and Baltimore City if a withdrawal bill was introduced but that the logislature. still have faith that the legislature will vote the wishes of Carroll County if our delegates and senators present a united front. However, this is not being considered by those citizens of Carroll County who wish us out of the Regional Planning Council.

Our legislators and a majority of your County Commissioners regard the Regional Planning Council as an advisory body the Regional Planning Council as an advisory body without power to enforce its plans on our county while the signers of the petition apparently regard it as a threat to our well being. It is my opinion that it can only be such a threat if it is granted further powers by the legislature.

The way is open for a test of the

The way is open for a test of the constitutionality of the law through a taxpayers suit. I believe that all lawyers will agree this is a proper action since tax money supports the Council. It may be wasted effort as it is hard for me to believe that our state government does not have the constitutional right to outline and follow through on development planning within our state.

Virginia M. White Dear Mrs. White: - After three or four washes my white nylon looks dirty. I know it's clean, but it appears yellow or gray. Can you help? . . . D. N.

Dear D. N.: - You haven't said how you're handling your white nylon now, but it's a good bet you're doing at least one of the following: (1) Washing it with white cottons and other materials, (2) Washing it with colored synthetics, or (3 Using a chlorine bleach. These are taboo for all synthetics as they are dye scavengers and pick up foreign color from chemicals in other fabrics. To whiten your nylon, soak in warm water, detergent, an oxygen (not chlorine), bleach and Miracle White. Then wash and rinse. And remember the

from now on. Dear Mrs. White: - I bought a beautiful white spandex bathing suit, never wore it but stored it in a drawer last summer. When I took it out for a winter vacation, I found it had turned color. What can I do?

taboos for all your new nylon

Florida-Bound. Dear Florida-Bound: - Spandex should be washed frequently, whether worn or not. Even in storage it discolors. To renovate your bathing suit, wash in warm water, oxygen (never chlorine) bleach and a touch of Miracle White. Bon Voyage.

Dear Mrs. White: - No matter what deodorant I use, the underarms of blouses dresses pick up a soil which does not wash out. Is there a way to restore my washable wardrobe? . . . Nothing to wear.

Dear Nothing: - Antiperspirants contain aluminum salts. To remove the resulting scum, rub with vinegar and if that doesn't work, saturate with denatured alcohol. Then launder, according to procedure for given fabric. After this, allow enough time for your deodorant to dry before dressing.

Dear Mrs. White: - My sixyear-old gets chewing gum stuck all over his clothes. How can this be removed? . . . All Chewed Out.

Dear All Chewed: — Rub the gum with ice until it hardens and then scrape off the bulk of it. Sponge the area with car-bon tetrachloride (with room well ventilated), rinse and launder. Happily, your son won't be six for long.
