LETTER TO THE EDITOR

CITY ELECTION

June 3, 1967

Dear Editor, An Open Letter to Our Adminis-tration and My Fellow Citizens of Taneytown.

Can we get together? Now that the elections are over and we, as a group, have elected the men that we feel will best serve in the administration of the town, I would like to suggest that we as citizens and administrators, work together and eliminate some of the foolish-type publicity that we have received during the past couple of years. I believe this goal can easily be obtained if our administration will show some signs or organization, and show some signs or organization, and we, as citizens, show some faith and understanding to them. Especially during the past two years, there has been times when I have been extremely proud, and times when I have been utterly ashamed to be a part of our town. A good reason of the above, can be found in most of the recent issues of "The Carroll Record." On one side of the front page we read of the splendid stand that our town has taken on the school issue, the acquisition of new And thinking about food, here is my own lemon meringue recipe which everyone raves about. Beat egg school issue, the acquisition of new facilities in our park, the work of our high school, and fire department, etc., while on the other side, we find our administration leaving the Town's Clerk-Treasurer (an appointed em-ployee) to defend himself and his authority against public ridicule, Let-ters to the Editor (which should not have to be written), etc. It also was left up to our Clerk-Treasurer to interpret part of our Town Charter. From his interpretation, I personally was left with the impression that we was left with the impression that we as a town, not only have charges of half-truths (which are going both ways) to combat against, we also have a half-written Town Charter. The Clerk-Treasurer cannot be blamed for this, because he should not have been left in the position of could interpret been left in the position of explaining the Charter to begin with.

In my opinion, this Executive Ses-sion stuff was nothing more than a phrase borrowed from our neighbors down the road. As the local papers clearly show, this type of political nonsense is not helping them, and most certainly won't help us.

I'm very glad to know that he realizes that the town hasn't pro-gressed and developed to its present position solely on the intelligence of our past administration.

4.) He asked the citizens of Taneytown to THINK before they cast their vote on election day. Now, as a citizen, I ask our new administration to THINK before they make decisions. In the past eight years I have spent hundreds of hours in helping to develop our present park, and I cannot honestly believe that the recent acquisition of additional acreage for the park was a result of intelligent thinking.

It is my desire, that the contents of this letter be taken only as a suggestion for better organization and understanding between our administration and we citizens, and not as criticism or complaints towards any individual. I will also add that believe better organization and understanding is essential for the town because a number of our young-er citizens with young families (including myself) are presently resid-ing in Taneytown while working in other towns. I can assure you that we are not going to this bother and expense because we don't like Taney-

BE A BACON SAVER

As one reads the newspapers from all over the country, it is increasingly clear that people are becoming more tax conscious. Taxes are variously estimated as taking from one quarter to one third of the average family's income. More people are wondering how much of the rest of the world we can continue to supply with money to one third of the average family's we can continue to supply with money and products while at the same time we are fighting a war and setting up a welfare state at home. It is becoming clear to more people that when we demand gifts, grants and aid from federal and state governments we must pay the bill out of our own pockets via taxation.

There is one way to save our bacon -curb our own demands and vote "no" on men and measures that require the spending of tax funds beyond government's normal increase in tax revenue that accompanies the growth of the country. Only in emergencies involving national security should major exceptions be made. In the long run, government is no different than a family. It will wind up bankrupt if its members follow a spendthrift course. The country needs officials who will stress this fact.

I, Arthur Henry Griffee, a candidate as a delegate to the Constitution Convention from Carroll County to be elected on June 13, 1967 invite you to read the following paragraphs that set forth how I feel about this important problem.

My Dear Mr. and Mrs. Voter:

I solicit your support and vote on June 13, 1967. The writing of a new Constitution for the State of Maryland is one of the most important that has ever faced a legislative body. The Constitution Important that has ever faced a legislative body. The Constitution for Maryland must protect and guarantee the rights of today's citi-zens and the unborn of tomorrow those rights set forth in the Bill of Rights of the United States Constitution (Amendments I through X) as proposed by Resolutions of Congress as of September 25, 1789, and ratified on December 15, 1791. These rights can be traced to the Magna Carta of 1215.

and ratified on December 15, 1791. These rights can be traced to the Magna Carta of 1215. I realize the necessity and importance of revising the Consti-tution of Maryland to better serve our citizens by making it possible for the establishment of Home Rule in the Counties. Home Rule for the counties shauld free the Legislature to devote their time to solving problems affecting the entire state. The new Constitution should require members of the General Assembly to devote their full time to the services of the State of Maryland and not use the meeting of the General Assembly as a MOONLIGHT JOB for young lawyers and political hacks. There are several revisions and adjustments in the executive department that are needed to better serve the people of Maryland but care should be exercised to prevent undue political power being lodged in the hands of the chief executive. The new Constitution should limit and control and prevent the vast expenditures by candi-dates and political organizations. It is essential to reorganize the courts to better serve the cause of justice. The primary purpose of our court system is first the protection of citizens rights, second, the reabilitation of those un-fortunate persons that have become violators of our laws. A greater responsibility is the prevention of conditions that give rise to acts of violence. The Constitution should prescribe that type of citizen selected to be a judge should be a person of broad understanding of marking and his problems and not just an avenger with a club. The voters should have more than one candidate to choose from. I challenge those candidates that as public officials for years have been responsible for costly mistakes due to place sound judg-ment and progressive planning that would have saved vast sums of tax money. DO YOU WANT THEM TO REPEAT THIS KIND OF PERFORMANCE IN REWRITING THE CONSTITUTION? I represent no special interests either political or commercial. I have solicited no contributions. I have made no political commit-ments. If I should

I served the people of Carroll County as school principal and teacher for 48 years. I can if elected give full time to the work of the Constitution Convention.

ARTHUR HENRY GRIFFEE, Rt. 3, Box 317, Sykesville, Maryland 21784 - Phone: 848 - 7429.

I solicit your thoughts, suggestions and advice on this important subject.

THE WAY I SEE IT . . .

Observations on the World of Sports -John Breth

The BASEBALL SEASON is one fourth over which is not long enough for anything conclusive but which is long enough for things to take shape. There haven't been too many surprises. The few that have appeared have all been on the negative side. That is, teams that have failed to live up to expectations. Like the Dodgers and Phillies in the National League, both teams be ing troubled by injuries. And the Orioles in the American League, a team that has encountered early pitching problems but which should be challenging for the lead before very long.

With a long three-fourths of the season stretching out ahead, let's re-view the two pennant races with some opinions slightly revised from opening day. The National League once again appears headed for a wild drive through the stretch with any one of five clubs a likely winner. At the start of the season it was estimated that any one of seven teams might win in the National with only Chi-cago, New York and Houston ruled

Los Angeles and Philadelphia seem headed for that same designation now, thanks to injuries and what strong challenger and there is no reason to suspect any slackening off by the Pirates who have a lot of muscle at the plate. They may be a trifle light in pitching but they expect the hitters to carry the hurlers.

San Francisco has a fine one-two pitching punch in Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry and also has Willie Mays. The Giants would look twice as strong if they only had a solid man at shortstop but they have as good a chance as any.

Atlanta has punch at the plate, good fielding and needs only consis-tent pitching to be close to the pace. The Braves will have to get the ail-ing Tony Cloninger back, however, to rate a good shot at the pennant. The Dodgers and Phillies will have to improve soon to remain in the contending class. Chicago has been an early-season surprise but can it last? The Mets and Astros are likely to fight a private duel all year to see who finishes last . . . or rather, who doesn't.

who doesn't. In the American League, Baltimore is too strong not to be in the thick of the fight before long. Baltimore has a happy blend of batting and fielding and only needs a slight lift in pitching. It should get one from southpaw Pete Richert, just obtained from Washington. Detroit and Chicago and solid teams Detroit and Chicago and solid teams with the Tigers seemingly having better hitting and the White Sox more depth in pitching.

Cleveland will need a winning Sam

> Why in this age shall we be satis-fied to inscribe in our Constitution a system of education "sufficient" for all children—why not inscribe in our Constitution that the State should provide for and maintain a public school system "dedicated to excellence"

There would appear to me little point in giving space to this nice objective of encouraging the advance-ment of knowledge which states the obvious in today's society if it says nothing about the extent of its re-sponsibility.

I believe that this provision should

The California Angels may do little better than they have so far but they are not likely to bother the teams in front. And the Washington Senators will consider it a successful year if they can escape the cellar and a great year if they can go as high as sixth place.

EDUCATION:

VETERAN:

World War II, Served on Saipan and Iwo Jima.

EMPLOYMENT:

Statistician with the Social Security Administration.

QUALIFICATIONS:

I have always been accustomed to independent decision making. My employment continuously demands clear analytical thinking. I am not subject to pressures for political or monetary gain, and seek no favors

I approach the drafting of this new Constitution with a personal philosophy of individual freedom, rights and responsibilities — a respect for law.

REASON FOR RUNNING:

This convention presents a unique opportunity to make an unselfish contribution to the future. I have chosen to take the advice of President Theodore Roosevelt, who admonished that any man dissatisfied with government should involve himself with government. The Convention needs dedicated people, who should be encouraged to exercise their independent judgment. I would be proud to participate in this historic proceeding. I believe I can make a contribution.

The decision is yours -

BIBLE SPEAKS Sunday School Lesson BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

No, Lord! Lesson for June 11, 1967

Background Scripture: Acts 9:32 through 11:18. Devotional Reading: Acts 10:34-43.

Several months ago, while attending a meeting in Dallas, I had a chance conversation with a man who obviously wanted very much to talk with someone. We were sitting at neighboring tables in a restaurant. I'm not sure how the conversation began, but we hadn't talked for more than a few minutes until he was unburdening himself of something that apparently troubled him

Rev. Althouse very deeply. He was an engineer, a civil engineer with a master's degree, to be exact. He had just started a new job that day, but it was his previous job, the job he had just left, that bothered him. Weeks ago, he had been approached by a firm that offered him a substantial raise in salary. Desiring to be fair with his present employer, he informed his employer that he was con-templating the offer and asked whether he might want to consider meeting it.

"I Don't Understand"

His employer refused, saying: "I know that other engineers of your ability are getting that much and more, but it is more than enough for an Indian!" With that, the employer began an abusive tirade, demeaning the man and bis man. his race. The engineer was a highly competent man, but because he was an American Indian, his employer could not fully treat him as an equal human being. "I don't understand," the man at the next table kept saying: "I worked for him twelve years and he never called me a d----d dirty Indian before!"

This incident just happened to occur in Dallas. The man across from me might just as easily been a Puerto Rican in New York City, a Negro in Phila-delphia, or a Mexican in San Diego. Or - and this is hard for me to admit — it might have happened in the little town where I live or the county-seat metropolis nearby.

This is not a new problem in the world. The New Testament recalls for us the wall that stood between Jew and Genüle. It was a wall so great that Peter refused to have anything to do with Gentile converts to Christ. So strong was the heritage of prejudice in Peter that he responded with an out-right refusal: "No, Lord!"

To Avoid Corruption

The barrier between Jew and Gentile (and we must remember that at that time the followers of Jesus still regarded themselves as Jews) seemed reasonable enough. Throughout the history of the He-brew people there had been a constant and obvious temptation to adopt the pagan (Gentile) religious practices of their neighbors. Time and again the Lord sent his prophets to warn the people to give up their Gentile ways and worship him alone. The Hebrew therefore, learned to people, avoid all contact with Gentiles in order to avoid being corrupted by pagan influences. It began as a "reasonable" idea. In time, however, it developed into prejudice and racial pride. It was carried to the usual human extremes.

Peter said, "No, Lord!" It was rare for Peter to defy his Lord's wishes. So it is today. If we are going to say, "No, Lord!", it is more than likely that it will be over some issue of pride and prejudice. He shows us clearly what is his will for society and we respond, saying: "No, Lord, I don't mind 'them' having equal rights, so long as they don't get "uppity." "No, Lord, I'm not prejudiced, you know, but I don't have to have 'them' in my home, do I'm "No. Lord do I?" "No, Lord, our property values will plunge." "No, Lord, you don't know them as we do." "No, Lord"... (and you fill in the rest).

Insulting The Creator What the Master said to Peter, however, he says also to us: "What God has cleansed, you must not call common." When we demean any of God's creatures — and he created them all, didn't he? — it is an insult to the Creator, not the creature. It was hard for Peter to rise above his prejudice, but he did it and so must we: "Who was I that I could withstand Jesus Christ?" Let our "No" be-
