TWO FORTUNES.

BY ALICE CARY.

I'll tell you two fortunes, my fine little lad,
For you to accept or refuse,
The one of them good, and the other one bad;
Now hear them, and say which you choose.

I see by the gifts within reach of my hand
A fortune right fair to behold:
A house and a hundred good acres of land,
With harvest-fields yellow as gold.

I see a great orchard, its boughs hanging down
With apples both russet and red;
I see droves of cattle, some white and some brown,
But all of them sleek and well fed.

I see flocks of swallows about the barn-door,
And the fanning-mill whirling so fast;
I see them, too, threshing the wheat on the floor;
And now the bright picture has past.

And I see rising dimly up in the place
Of the beautiful house and the land,
A man with a fiery red nose on his face,
And a little brown jug in his hand.

Oh, if you behold him, my lad, you would wish
That he were less wretched to see;
For his boot toes they gape like the mouth of a fish,
And his trousers are out at the knee.

In walking he staggers now this way, now that,
And his eyes they stand out like a bug's;
And he wears an old coat and battered in hat;
And I think that the fault is the jug's.

For the text says the drunkard shall come to be poor,
And that drowsiness clothes men in rags;
And he doesn't look much like a man, I am sure,
Who has honest hard cash in his bags.

Now, which will you have? To be thrifty and snug,
And to be right side up with your dish,
Or go with your eyes like the eyes of a lug,
And your shoes like the mouth of a fish?

How Fire Sweeps a Wooden House.

The astonishing rapidity with which fire sweeps off a wooden building is well explained in an article on house-building, by E. C. Gardner, in Our Continent:

Let me show you how a wooden house is built. The sills and joists of the first floor are comparatively safe, because they are not boxed in with dry boards, and even with furnace and ash pits in the cellar, there would be little danger from a fire down below, if it were not for the careful provision made for carrying it into the upper part of the structure.

This provision, however, is most effectively made by means of the upright studs and furrings that stand all around the outside of the building and reach across it wherever a partition is needed. Accordingly every wooden house has from one hundred to one thousand wooden fues of a highly inflammable character, arranged expressly to carry fire from the bottom to the top, valiantly consuming themselves in the operation. Furthermore, they are frequently charged with shavings and splinters of wood, which, becoming dry as tinder, will respond at once to a spark from a crack in the chimney, an overheated stove or furnace pipe, or a match in the hands of an inquisitive mouse.

They are, likewise, so arranged that no water can be poured inside them till they fall apart and the house collapses, for they reach to the roof, whose sole duty is to keep out water, whether it comes from the clouds or from a hose-pipe, but which, for economical reasons, is made sufficiently open to allow the air to pass through it freely, thus insuring a good draught when the fire begins to burn. To complete the system and prevent the possibility of finding where the fire began, the spaces between the joists of the upper floors and these highways and byways for rats and mice, for fire and smoke, for odors from the kitchen, noises from the nursery, and dust from the furnace and coal-bin, are also strewn with builders' rubbish, which carries flame like stubble on a harvest field.

Brick houses, as usually built are not much better, but that is not the fault of the bricks—they are tougher than good intentions; they have been burned once and fire agrees with them. In fact, there is no building material so thoroughly reliable, through thick and thin, in prosperity and in adversity, as good, honest, well-burned bricks. But the ordinary brick house is double—a house within a house—a wooden frame in a brick shell. Like logs in a coal-pit, the inner house is well protected from outside attacks, but the flames, once kindled within, will run about as freely as in a wooden building, and laugh at cold water, which, however abundantly it is poured out, can never reach the heart of the fire till its destructive work is accomplished. Thrown up on the outer walls, it runs down the the plastering, washes off the paper, soaks the carpets, ruins the merchandise, and spoils everything that water can spoil, while the fire itself roars behind the wainscot, climbs to the rafters, and rages among the old papers, cobwebs, and heirlooms in the attic, till the roof falls in, the floors go down with a crash and an upward shower of sparks, and only the tottering walls, with their eyeless window sockets, or the ragged, blackened chimneys, remain.

But one thing is needful to retard the progress of hidden fire ever in a wooden building, long enough at least for one to go up the hill and fetch a pail of water. This remedy consists simply in choking the flues and stopping the draught, which can easily be done by filling in with bricks and mortar between all the studs of both outer walls and inner partitions at or near the level of each floor. A cut-off half way up is an additional safeguard. The horizontal passages between the floor joists should also be closed in a similar manner. These occasional dampers are a partial remedy, and if carefully fitted in the right places will save many tons of coal and greatly diminish the charges of total destruction in case of fire. The complete remedy is to leave no spaces that can possibly be filled. One of the best and most available materials known for filling spaces is "mineral wool," a product of iron slag. If the open spaces between the studs and rafters of a wooden building, or in a brick building between the furrings, are filled with this substance, houses might possibly be burned, but the inmates would have ample time to fold their night-gowns, pack their trunks, take up the carpets, and count the spoons before vacating the premises.

[The inventor who has genius enough to study out an economical way of partitioning an ordinary dwelling so as to avoid the spread of fire, will deserve well of his fellowmen.—Ed. Scientific American]

Daniel Webster's Advice.

Other boys may find the advice of Daniel Webster to his grandson of value to themselves. He wrote it about three years before his death. Two or three things I wish now to impress on your mind. First you cannot learn without your own efforts. All the teachers in the world can never make a scholar of you, if you do not apply yourself with all your might. In the second place, be of good character and good behavior—a boy of strict truth and honor and conscience in all things. Have but one rule, and let that be always to act right and fear nothing but wrong doing.

Finally, "Remember your Creator in the days of thy youth." You are old enough to know that God has made you and given you a mind and faculties, and will surely call you to account. Honor and obey your parents, love your sister and brother, be gentle and kind to all, avoid peevishness and fretfulness, be patient under restraint, look forward constantly to your approaching manhood and put off every day, more and more, all that is frivolous and childish.

THOUSANDS of ladies to-day cherish grateful remembrances of the help derived from the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It positively cures all female complaints. Send to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamphlets.

UNSEEN HELPERS.

"Take, O boatman, thrice thy fee—
Take, I give it willingly;
For, invisible to thee,
Spirits twain have crossed with me."

"Can you give me a day's work?" asked a poor woman of a well-to-do matron.

"You look very delicate," said the lady. "I need some one to wash, but you do not seem strong enough for the work."

"Oh, yes'm; only try me, and you will see. I have been sick and got behindhand, and my children need bread. Besides, Charlie will help carry the water and lift the tubs," concluded the woman, eagerly.

"Who is Charlie?" asked the lady of the house.

"My husband, ma'am," was the low answer.

The woman was engaged and did her work well, but there was some thing that troubled the mistress of the house greatly. As soon as she left the kitchen the woman would call Charlie, and she would hear her voice talking and laughing, and holding converse with some one; but when she went into the room there would be no one there. The water was carried and the tubs all lifted into their places; but the slight woman who washed was the only person who was visible. When the lady of the house paid her, she said:

"Call your husband; I would like to see him."

"He wouldn't come, ma'am," said the woman, simply. "No one ever sees him but me."

"What do you mean?" asked the lady in astonishment.

"Why, ma'am, Charlie is dead himself, but his spirit comes and helps me—how could I work this way if it didn't? I could no more lift one of those tubs of water than you could, ma'am. He's come ever since I was sick, and helped me that way."

The compassionate lady placed another coin with those she had already given. "For Charlie and the children," she said, with tears in her eyes, and she saw afterward that the sick and wearied mother was helped by living hands.

But there must be many people bearing burdens greater than they are able to, who are helped and made stronger by invisible guides—the memory of some dead Charlie, who lifts unseen the heavy load, with whom they commune as they work. How would the dull routine of daily life be glorified could we for one moment see the angel helper at our side! When the pious monk left his duties to go out on a deed of mercy, he returned to find all his homely work done, and, for one moment, he saw in the doorway of his cell his blessed Master smiling upon him. It may be only a vague theory—the delusion of a sick brain—and there is an infinite sadness in it; but surely

"It is a beautiful belief
That e'er round our head
Are hovering on angel wings
The spirits of the dead."

To feel that unseen hands we clasp,
While feet unheard are gathering round;
To know that we in faith may grasp
Celestial guards from Heavenly ground."

It Sounded Funny.
Scotch Highlanders have the habit when talking their English of interspersing the personal pronoun "he" when not required, such as "the King he has come." Often in consequence a sentence is rendered extremely ludicrous. A gentleman says he lately listened to the Rev. Mr. —, who began his discourse thus:—"My friends, you will find my text in the first epistle general of Peter, fifth chapter and eight verse. 'The devil he goeth about like a roaring lion seeking whom he may devour.'"

"Now, my brethren, for our instruction I have divided my text in to four heads. Firstly, we shall endeavor to ascertain who the devil he was. Secondly, we shall enquire into his geographical position, namely where the devil he was and where the devil he was going? Thirdly, who the devil he was seeking. And fourthly, and lastly, we shall endeavor to solve a question which never yet has been solved—what the devil he was 'roaring about.'"

KIDNEY WORT moves the bowels regularly, cleanses the blood, and radically cures kidney disease, gravel, piles, bilious headache, and pains which are caused by disordered liver and kidneys. Thousands have been cured—why should you not try it? Your druggist will tell you that it is one of the most successful medicines ever known. It is sold in both dry and liquid form, and its action is positive and sure in either.—Dallas Tex. Herald.

Advice to Young Men.

Remember, my son, that the world is older than you are, by several years; that for thousands of years it has been so full of smarter and better young men than yourself, that their feet stuck out of the dormer windows; that when they died the old globe went whirling on, and not one man out of ten million went to the funeral, or even heard of the death.

Be as smart as you can, of course. Know as much as you can without blowing the packing out of your cylinder heads. Shed the light of your wisdom abroad in the world, but don't imagine a thing is so simple because you say it is. Don't be too sorry for your father because he knows so much less than you do. Remember the reply of Dr. Wayland to the student of Brown University who said it was an easy enough thing to make proverbs such as Solomon wrote. "Make a few," tersely replied the old man. And we never heard that the young man made any; not more than two or three, anyhow. The world has great need of young men, but no greater need than young men have of it. Your clothes fit you better than your father's fit him; they cost more money, they are more stylish, your mustache is neater, the cut of your hair is better, and you are prettier, oh, far prettier than "pa!" But young man, the old gentleman gets the biggest salary, and his homely, scrambling signature on the business end of the check, will drain more money out of the bank in five minutes than you could get out with a ream of paper and a copper-plate signature in six months.

Young men are useful and they are ornamental, and we all love them, and we couldn't engineer a picnic successfully without them. But they are no novelties, my son. O. O., nothing of the kind. They have been here before. Do not be so modest, as to shut yourself clear out; but don't be so fresh that you will have to be put away to keep from spoiling. Don't be afraid that your merit will not be discovered. People all over the world are looking for you, and if you are worth finding, they will find you. A diamond isn't so easily found as a quartz pebble, but some people search for it all the more intently.—Burdette in Hawkeye.

In The Yellowstone.

A member of a party in Yellowstone Park fell down the crater of a geyser while trying to secure a beautiful specimen of a mineral formation. His companions shrieked as they saw him fall. They lowered a light into the crater as far as they could. Nothing could be seen. By dropping pebbles they discovered that at a depth of about fifty feet the crater was filled with water. They gave him up as lost, and, with sad hearts, left the scene. The next noon he came into camp with another party of gentlemen, alive and well. He fell into the water, but came again to the surface, and hung to a rock. He heard his friends' voices, but could not make them hear him. He stayed there until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when he heard a sound like distant thunder. Suddenly the water was rising, and continued to rise more rapidly. At last he found himself at the point from which he had fallen. Although exhausted he exerted his remaining strength in climbing to the surface. This reached, he managed to crawl some distance away from the mouth of the crater, where he lost consciousness. When he recovered he was being cared for by strangers—the men who conducted him to his comrades. The water was warm, but a few moments before he left it began to be hot and to boil furiously.

AMONG the most remarkable natural echoes are that of Eagle's Nest, on the banks of Killarney, in Ireland, which repeats a bugle call until it seems to be sounded from a hundred instruments, and that on the banks of the Naha, between Bingen and Coblenz, which repeats a sound seventeen times. The most remarkable artificial echo known is that in the castle of Simonetta, about two miles from Milan. It is occasioned by the existence of two parallel walls of considerable length. It repeats the report of a pistol sixty times.

Arthur, President of the United States, do hereby set apart Thursday, the 30th day of November next, as a day of public thanksgiving. The blessings de manding our gratitude are numerous and varied. For the peace and amity which subsist between this re public and all the nations of the world; for the freedom from internal discord and violence; for the increasing friendship between the different sections of the land; for liberty, justice and constitutional government; for the devotion of the people to our free institutions and their cheerful obedience to mild laws; for the constantly increasing strength of the republic while ex tending its privileges to fellow men who come to us; for the improved means of internal communication and the increased facilities of inter course with other nations; for the general prevailing health of the year; for the prosperity of all our industries, the liberal return for the mechanic's toil affording a market for the abundant harvests of the husbandman; for the preservation of the national faith and credit; for wise and generous provision to ef fect the intellectual and moral edu cation of our youth; for the influ ence upon the conscience of a re straining and transforming religion, and for the joys of home—for these and for many other blessings, we should give thanks. Wherefore, I do recommend that the day above designated be observed throughout the country as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, and that the people ceasing from their daily labors and meeting in accordance with their several forms of worship, draw near to the throne of Almighty God, offering to Him praise and gratitude for the manifold goodness which He has vouchsafed to us, and praying that His blessings and His mercies may continue. And I do further recommend that the day thus appointed be made a special occasion for deeds of kindness and charity to the suffering and the needy, so that all who dwell within the land may rejoice and be glad in this season of national thanksgiving.

"In witness whereof I have here unto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be af fixed."

[Seal.] Done at the city of Wash ington this twenty-fifth day of Oc tober in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty two, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and seventh.

By the President:
CHESTER A. ARTHUR,
FREDERICK T. FREILINGHUYSEN,
Secretary of State.

And our Governor Hamilton has recommended and appointed the same day for appropriate observance.

To the true spirit and meaning of the occasion, we presume, no right thinking person will find objection.

We have on former occasions ex pressed our views as to the unfit ness of the seemingly more secular character of the appointment of the Day, when of right and in all pro priety, it should emanate from the Church. The ecclesiastical judi cialities meet annually or oftener, and yet they never utter a word, by way of provision or in sanction and re commendation of the Day. They who are supposed immediately to reach the hearts of the people, and to provide for their spiritual direc tion, are utterly unconcerned and indifferent on the subject, and thus the occasion is for the most part, looked upon as lacking the reli gious character which attaches to other observances, hence the day becomes one of jollity rather than of solemn concern, and the thoughts of wor ship are mingled with prospective festivities to follow the short time spent in the houses of Prayer.

Thanksgiving Day as now ap pointed comes too high unto Christ mas, and for this latitude, too late in the season, to elicit the consid eration which its meaning rightly in volves. As the church year contin ues to gain more and more in gen eral recognition, the fact will become more and more apparent, and we trust the occasion, as to its time and its authorization will receive the consideration which its importance as a national observance demands.

Accepting the relations of things as they now stand, we wish you, good readers, all the blessings of the occasion, with abundant good cheer and many happy returns for gra titude and thankfulness, may it be yours to enjoy, whilst at the same time ye remember—that "the poor ye have always with you,"

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22nd '82

For visitors to be turned away from the Capitol building is an un usual thing, but it has daily occurred during the last week or more, rather to the dissatisfaction of those who hap pen to be the ones refused admission.

The occasion for it was found in the Garfield Fair preparations, visitors interfering with the workmen and rendering necessary a guard over the many articles of value lying about waiting to be placed in position. All is now about completed, but for a few weeks heaps of lumber and piles of chips and shavings have encum bered the marble floors of the rotunda and statuary hall. Squads of workmen have been sawing and hammering under the dome, their blows reverberating with weird acoustic effects from the converging walls. The taroon drapery that is to form a background for the exhibi tion of paintings covers the entire circle of the rotunda to a height of twenty feet, and hides the large historical paintings upon the walls. A plat form four feet high has been built against the latter, and many valu able pictures lent for the occasion have been resting on this with their backs turned to the spectator. This is the appearance the Capitol has presented during these days of bustle and fixing. This will be the fourth time that the national house of legisla tion has been utilized for social purposes. The Centennial Tea Par ty, in December, 1874, under the auspices of ladies interested in the great exposition at Philadelphia a year and a half later, was the first occasion. In November of 1879 the Society of the Army of the Cumber land, whose tent had blown down during their annual reunion, were permitted to hold their ball, with which it closed, in the rotunda, on one of the coldest and windiest nights I ever saw. The Garfield Hospital managers held a fair there in May last, and now comes this ex hibit, on a larger scale than any of the preceding.

The President still resides at the Soldiers' Home and will remain there until after the assembling of Congress as the changes in the White House will not be completed until the early part of December. The fresco artists have possession at present. The ceiling of the central corridor and the ceiling and walls of the state dining room, red parlor, and blue parlor are being covered with very rich designs in color. The people's gold is being laid on these areas by the square foot—beaten gold, of course. In the main corridor both gold and silver are used with dazzling effect; that is, the effect will be dazzling when the chandeliers are lighted. The state dining room is going to be so hand some that when you are asked to a state dinner and find yourself un able to carry on a conversation with the guests around you, you can feast your eyes on the ceiling and not regret the absence of your ap petite or the opportunity to talk.

Of course there will be brilliant entertainments after the house is again ready for use. Somebody has re cently said that this is a "gilt edged Administration, because the palings of the fence around the White House grounds are tipped with gold leaf. When the new $300,000 addi tion to the mansion is erected we shall have a capacious and present able Presidential residence.

Congressmen and Senators are turning up by every incoming train, and getting their houses in order for the winter's work. Some of them have houses and some haven't. Those who take lodging find that prices have "risen" since last year.

For several weeks the Washington landlady has been abroad in the streets, haunting second hand fur niture stores and renovating old car pets, to make ready for the influx that comes with the session. Rooms of all sorts, desirable and undesir able, rent for at least one third more than twelve months ago—at least they are expected to rent so much higher. It used to be that the Con gressman was considered the star lodger, and persons having quarters to let held back until the advent of Senators and Members. Now, al most without exception, all the rich Senators and Members not of a pen urious disposition have their own houses, and the average Senator or Member who goes around hunting for lodgings will stick for the last farthing. They have thus come to be regarded as rather undesirable ten ants, and persons with rooms for rent no longer think of holding back until Congress comes. So many people of means and leisure come here now for the winter that land lords are comparatively independent of Members of Congress.

Some of the correspondents repre sent P. M. General Howe as being en gaged in devising means to reduce the revenue of his department which has suddenly become not only self supporting but actually a source of profit to the Government. Of Mr. Howe's suggestions it is said to be a gratuitous envelope scheme; that is, to sell stamped en velopes for the price of the stamp, the envelope being thrown in. But it does not seem necessary for the P. M. G. to get excited over the fact that his department is self sus taining. It should have been so for many years past, and would if it had been properly managed, and if star route frauds, straw bills, and other swindles had not been tolerated and encouraged. There is, however, no reason for being "prevailing" about plans for reducing the net revenues. The present three cent letter rate is as low as anybody can desire, much lower considering the average dis tances that mails are carried in the United States than is the two cent postage of Great Britain. Just think of the early days when pos tage was twenty five cents, or more, and the total expense of writing a letter to your girl about a dollar, more or less. Sweethearts were dear creatures in those days.

A LESSON IN EQUESTRIANISM.—Horseback riding as an art and as a beneficial exercise is one of the most judicious habits that one could cul tivate. While it affords the eques trian every opportunity for the cultivation of graceful posing, it comprises all the healthful elements of the most invigorating pleasures. Like all else in this world, however, if indulged in immoderately, the re sults are extremely painful, and oft times dangerous. Galled limbs, and Piles that itch intensely, particu larly after getting warm in bed, are not infrequently the outcome of ex ercise in the saddle. In such cases, however, the evil can be thoroughly eradicated by applying Swaine's Ointment, which, as a cure for Piles—itching or otherwise, has no equal.

A Powerful Contrast.

When the soldiers of the dark ages were attacked with tetter, they could do naught but suffer. Medical science had not yet developed a cure. This labor of love and humane duty was left for Dr. Swinney, whose Ointment for skin diseases is infallible in its results, as was the inspiring potency of Patrick Henry's memorable words, "Give me liberty or give me death."

Gored by a Cow.

Nicholas C. Stansbury, Esq., County Commissioner from Emmitsburg district, went into his barn-yard, on last Saturday morning, when his hired man directed his attention to dog near by, that seemed to be hurt. Mr. S. stooped down to examine the dog, and thereupon a cow which had a calf about two weeks old, with her on the yard, in making an attack upon the dog, gored Mr. S. severely, in the upper third and inner portion of the thigh, separating the muscles.

The wound, though fortunately not serious, will confine the sufferer to the house for some weeks. Dr. J. W. Eichberger, Jr., rendered surgical attention, and has the case in hand. Mr. Stansbury is to be congratulated on his escape from what might have proven more serious injuries.

In the Whole History of Medicine

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so high a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its healing effects, and will always cure where cures are possible. For sale by all druggists.

From the Odd Fellow.

Mr. John D. Seigman, residing half a mile from Smithsburg, was recently attending a sick horse belonging to a neighbor, when the horse suddenly threw his head around, striking Mr. S. upon the leg with sufficient force to break the limb below the knee.

Mr. Daniel Geiser, President of the Geiser Manufacturing Company, of Waynesboro, Pa., died at his residence in that place on Thursday evening, Nov. 16, 1882, from Bright's disease of the kidneys, aged 58 years, 5 months, and 22 days.

From the Valley Register.

Civil Engineer Joseph S. Gitt, of Adams county, Pa., will begin to make a survey of the route of the proposed Branch Railroad between Frederick and Middletown, on Tuesday next. A week or ten days will probably be occupied in making this survey, and when it is completed, a more accurate estimate can be made of the probable cost of the road. In the meantime efforts will be continued to increase the amount or stock subscriptions.

Mr. Ezra Slifer, a highly esteemed and prominent citizen of this county, residing at Burkittsville, had been suffering for some time past with cataract of the eyes, which had left him almost sightless. Quite recently he went to Baltimore and placed himself under the treatment of Dr. George Reutling, the noted oculist of that city. A few days ago the gratifying announcement was made in the American that his sight was entirely restored, that the operation was performed without chloroform, and that Mr. S. has not experienced the slightest pain since the operation.

We are informed that a few days ago Mr. John H. Kepler, living about three miles southwest of this place, on going into his barn, found it filled with a stifling vapor, and upon making an examination discovered that it arose from the mow in which he had packed his fodder, much of the fodder having been put away in a rather green state. He called together his hands and all went to work to remove the fodder, which, some distance down in the mow, was found to be very hot and in a fiery condition. Mr. K. believes that by making the timely discovery and removing the fodder he saved his barn and contents from destruction through spontaneous combustion.

The Retirement of Judge Motter.

A meeting of the Bar Association of Allegany county was held in Cumberland last week, with Hon. William Walsh, chairman pro tem, and J. W. Thomas, secretary pro tem. The committee, consisting of Hon. William Walsh, and Messrs. Ferdinand Williams, D. J. Blackiston, B. A. Richardson and D. W. Sloan, appointed at a former meeting relative to the retirement from the bench of Judge Motter, reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The Hon. William Motter, Associate Judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of this State, is about to retire from the bench, and the Bar Association of Allegany county, is unwilling to sever its relations with him without placing upon its records the sincere expression of its estimate of his character and services in the exalted position which he has held for the last fifteen years. Therefore be it

Resolved, That the Bar Association hereby declares that Judge Motter, in his judicial career, gave an example of integrity, firmness, impartiality, kindness of heart and conscientious devotion to the duties of his office, worthy of all praise and emulation; be it further

Resolved, That fully appreciating the high qualities, illustrated in his career as a judge, and also bearing in mind his uniform courtesy and his kindly and pleasant relations with each of its members, the Bar Association hereby expresses the reluctance with which it severs its official relations with the Hon. Wm. Motter, and tenders to him the earnest assurance of its abiding good wishes for his future prosperity and happiness.

Resolved, That these resolutions be recorded among the proceedings of the Bar Association, and that a committee of five of its members be appointed by the president to communicate a copy of the same to the Hon. William Motter.

Hon. William Walsh, D. J. Blackiston, F. Williams, D. W. Sloan and J. F. Seiss were appointed as the committee to communicate the resolutions to Judge Motter.

The following is the correspondence between the committee and Judge Motter: CUMBERLAND, Nov. 13, 1882.

HON. WILLIAM MOTTER. Dear Sir: We were appointed a committee of the Bar Association of Allegany county to communicate to you a copy of resolutions adopted by the Association, on the 9th inst., expressive of its sentiments in reference to your retirement from the bench, and in the discharge of the duty thus assigned us, we herewith enclose a copy of said resolutions.

It gives us pleasure to assure you that the resolutions are the earnest expression of the appreciation of the bar Association of your character and conduct as a Judge and of the feelings of each of its members towards you personally.

With sincere regard and hoping to have the pleasure of meeting you often in other relations, we remain,

Yours truly,

WILLIAM WALSH,
D. J. BLACKISTON,
FRED. WILLIAMS,
J. FRANK SEISS,
D. W. SLOAN.

H. GEISTOWN, Nov. 15th, 1882.
TO THE HON. WILLIAM WALSH; D. J. BLACKISTON, FRED. WILLIAMS, J. FRANK SEISS, AND D. W. SLOAN Esq's.

Gentlemen: I had the honor, yesterday, of receiving your favor of the 13th inst., enclosing me, as your committee, a copy of certain resolutions adopted by the Bar Association of Allegany county, the 9th instant, in which they are pleased to speak, in most kind and complimentary terms, of me and of my services upon the bench for the last fifteen years.

I assure you, gentlemen, that these expressions of the Association are most gratifying to me in many respects, and particularly as assuring me that my humble efforts to discharge the duties of my high office faithfully, impartially and to the best of my ability, has not been altogether without success, but has met with the approval of the members of your Association, for whose opinion and judgment I have always entertained the greatest respect and consideration.

Please present to the Association, individually and collectively, my sincere thanks for their complimentary testimonial, and best wishes for their health and welfare.

Thanking you, gentlemen, for the complimentary manner in which you have communicated the resolutions of the Association, believe me, most truly,

Your friend and obedient servant

WM. MOTTER.

At a meeting of the members of the Bar of Washington county, held at the office of H. H. Keedy, Esq., at 10 a. m., Wednesday, Nov. 12th, 1882, for the consideration of several matters of general interest Mr. H. H. Keedy was called to the chair, and Mr. T. H. Edwards was appointed secretary.

The retirement of Hon. William Motter from the bench, by reason of the expiration of his term of service, being announced, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the members of this Bar desire to place upon record the high esteem and regard which is felt by each of us for the Hon. Wm. Motter.

Resolved, That during the fifteen years in which he presided in this Court, as one of the Associate Judges, his unsparing integrity, as illustrated and shown in all the phases of business which came before him, is a cause for congratulation both to the county and to us, and the highest and most pleasant memory which can accompany him through life.

Resolved, That the knowledge which comes to us, after the loss of so long a term of the impartiality, kindness, firmness and ability, both as a man and as a Judge, which has illustrated his judicial life, causes us to be unwilling to sever our official relations with him without such an expression of our admiration for the high qualities which have characterized his administration of justice, and that our most earnest and sincere assurance of high respect and good wishes are tendered to him, with every hope for his continued success and prosperity.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, signed by the officers of the meeting, be sent to the Hon. Wm. Motter and be presented to the Circuit Court for Washington County at its approaching session, with the request that they be entered upon the minutes of the Court. —Hagerstown Mail, Nov. 17, 1882.

The Departure of a Worthy Useful and an Exemplary Priest from Mt. St. Mary's College.

COMMUNICATED. Mr. Editor: The departure of the Rev. Thos. J. Fitzgerald from the old Mountain has been a subject of much comment in the community. It is really a sad thing to see Mt. St. Mary's College losing her most exemplary and devoted sons, men of irrefragable character who stood by her in her hardest and severest trials and saved her from annihilation and ruin. We all know with what fidelity, zeal and self-sacrificing devotion those two priests who recently left the college, served the old Mountain for many years past. It was through their influence a compromise with the creditors was effected and to that compromise and to the generosity of the Maryland creditors in accepting it, the college owes her existence. The departure of the good Father Fitzgerald from the old Mountain has been the subject of much comment in the community, and as he was a priest of irrefragable character many say that it looks as if there was something wrong at the head quarters of the Camp. Father Fitzgerald was acknowledged by all as the most efficient officer the college had for many years. He was at his post late and early and was ever ready to administer the consolations of Religion to the poor as well as the rich. Late and early he could be seen among the Mountains visiting the sick, and the severity of the weather never proved any obstacle in his way whenever called upon even by the remotest members of the congregation. He entered the College from Brooklyn in the spring of 1867 and after spending two years in the classical department he was admitted into the Theological Seminary. He was appointed Prefect in 1871 and continued in that position up to February 1874 when he and one of the clergymen of the house opened the Junior Department; Having established thorough discipline in the Junior Department he was again made first Prefect of the College. He received deaconship in Brooklyn at the hands of the Rt. Rev. Bishop Laughlin in August 1875, and the Pastor of the Mountain Congregation in reference to his ordination spoke of him as the most exemplary seminarian of the house. Immediately after receiving deaconship he returned again to the college, and was appointed disciplinarian which duty he filled with gratifying satisfaction alike to his superiors seminarians and students. He was raised to the dignity of the priesthood in August, 1876 and was made Principle of the Junior Department in September 1877, retaining at the same time his former duty as disciplinarian. He was elected Vice President of the college in 1880, and the scholastic year of 1880, and 81 is the most memorable year in the history of the college. In that year one President was taken away by death, another, immediately elected, ran away, after appointing a Receiver, so that the old college was looked upon as doomed to extinction. It required indeed no ordinary tact to keep the students under control, as they were wild with excitement, but the good Father Fitzgerald in his unassuming quiet way proved himself equal to the occasion, he proved himself a man of nerve and back bone capable of restoring and maintaining order. The students loved and revered him because they always found in him a man who could lead and govern others by word and example, they always found him a man that would not infringe established rules for the sake of popularity, and yet he was the most popular man of his time at the college, because he was just, kind, impartial and charitable to all, and hence he was always successful in all his undertakings. Though he fulfilled the most difficult and trying positions at the college he has left the Mountain with unblemished record, and bears with him the best wishes of the Seminarians Students and the members of the Congregation. May God bless him wherever he goes.

How the Doctor Got Even.

The late Dr. C. of Ashtabula, used in the early days to take long rides through the wilds of Ohio. One day he stopped at an old fashioned tavern and called for dinner. Among the homespun dainties was a glass of whiskey beside his plate, which he did not trouble. After dinner, when paying his bill the landlord said:

"Twenty-five cents for whisky." "Which I did not touch, and never do," said the doctor. "Well, it was there, and you could have had it," replied the landlord.

The doctor said no more, paid his bill and left.

Calling again not long after it was noticed that the doctor, upon sitting down to dine, placed his medicine case upon the table. However, nothing was said at the time.

When he went to pay his bill he brought in $1 for medicine and advice.

"But I have had no medicine," said mine host.

"Very well," replied the doctor, "it was on the table, and you could have had it; and I also gave you good advice all the while I was at the table."

The nonplussed host squared accounts.

How to Make a Telephone.

To make a good and serviceable telephone, good for three blocks or so, only requires enough wire and two cigar boxes. First, select your boxes and make a hole about half an inch in diameter in the center of the bottom of each, and then place one in each of the houses you wish to connect; then get five pounds of common iron stove-pipe wire, make a loop in one end and put it through the hole in your cigar box, and fasten it with a nail; then draw it tight to the other box, supporting it, when necessary, with stout cord. You can easily run your line into the house by boring a hole through the glass. Support your boxes at their ends with slats nailed across the window, and your telephone is complete. I have one that is two blocks long, and cost forty-five cents, that will carry music when the organ is played thirty feet away in another room.

Alcohol from Acorns.

It is said that alcohol equal to that made from grain can be produced from acorns. The acorns are freed from the shell and ground finely; then they are mashed with malt, and allowed to ferment. Acorns contain about 20 per cent of starch, and eighteen per cent of gluten. They would be a valuable article for human food if it were not for the tannic acid (about 3 per cent) which they contain. Vast quantities which go to waste every year, where hogs are not fed in the woods, might be gathered by boys, and converted into alcohol for use in the arts, thus freeing an equivalent amount of grain for use as food. Or some young student of practical chemistry might make a good thing for himself and for the world by devising an economical process of separating the starch, gluten, and tannic acid, the last for technical uses and the others for food.

COLOURLESS AND COLD.—A young girl deeply regretted that she was so colourless and cold. Her face was too white, and her hands and feet felt as though the blood did not circulate. After one bottle of Hop Bitters had been taken she was the rosiest and healthiest girl in the town, with a vivacity and cheerfulness of mind gratifying to her friends.

Antiquity of the American Man.

How long has man been on this planet? is a question often asked, but the answer is always unsatisfactory. The remains of implements and articles used by human beings have been found in strata hundreds of thousands of years old. Ages must have passed since the savage man first emerged from a semi-brute condition. Mr. Wiggins, of Waverly, N. J., found on the Alleghany mountains, in Perry county, Pennsylvania, a piece of metaphoric limestone upon which was clearly visible the print of the right foot of a human being. The impression is about an inch deep and shows the five toes and the perfectly formed foot of a man. This piece of stone has been sent to the Smithsonian institution. The rock is of great antiquity and must have antedated the oldest memorials of Egypt. It certainly is the oldest trace of man in America.

MISTRESS—"Bridget, I really can't allow you to receive your sweetheart in the kitchen any longer." Bridget: "Thank you kindly, mum, but he's too bashful for the parlor."

BRAIN AND NERVE.—Well's Health Renewer, greatest remedy on earth for impotence, leanness, sexual debility, &c. $1. at druggists. Prepaid by express, $1.25, 6 for $5. E. S. Wells, Jersey City, N. J.

CAUSE and just impediment.—There is an Iowa clergyman who charges for the performance of a marriage ceremony according to the weight of the parties—two cents a pound for the bridegroom and four cents a pound for the bride. In that parish it is not an uncommon thing to hear a young man remark, "No, darling, it cannot be immediately; you're too fat."

My good woman, why are you so out of sorts, never able to tell folks that you are well? Ten to one it's all caused in the first place by habitual constipation, which no doubt finally caused deranged kidneys and liver. The sure cure for constipation is the celebrated Kidney-Wort. It is also a specific remedy for all kidney and liver diseases. Thousands are cured by it every month. Try it at once.—Toledo Blade.

An umbrella story: A gentleman, who had no umbrella and who had just come into town on a local train, perceived before him as he stepped into the street a person whom he took to be an acquaintance and who had a fine new umbrella hoisted over his head. Running up to him, therefore, he clapped him on the shoulder, saying, as he did so, by way of a joke: "I'll take that umbrella, if you please." The individual thus addressed looked around and disclosed a perfect stranger, but before the other could apologize he said, "Oh, it's yours; is it? Well, I didn't know that. Here, you can have it," and broke away, leaving the utensil in the hands of the first party to the conversation.—Boston Journal.

The Telegraph Explained.

A couple of colored girls were standing about the Relay depot yesterday, awaiting the departure of their train. They observed nearly everything about the locality, and commented upon the same. The numerous telegraph wires about the depot did not escape their notice, and one of them expressed his wonder at the rapidity with which a message could be sent a great distance.

"Why, that's easy enough to understand," said the other.

"How?"

"Well, suppose you had a dog 3,000 miles long."

"Pshaw! You can't have a dog 3,000 miles long."

"I know that; but we suppose that there was one. Don't you understand me?"

"Well, what then?"

"You take this dog 3,000 miles long and place his fore feet in New York and his hind feet in California."

"What then?"

"You just tramp on this dog's tail in California, and you bet he'll growl in New York."

"That's so," said the darkey, and he assumed an expression of deep thought while the other appeared quite satisfied with his apt and original illustration of the telegraph.
