AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs;
none so trifling with the majority of sufferers.
The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unobtrusive ex-posure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am enabled by this Cherry Pectoral to save my throat and lungs from disease."
—ROCKINGHAM, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Group.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup.
It seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried, and in a few days the child was delivered from his illness. He is now a delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,
—MISS EMMA GEDNEY,
150 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effective remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried."
—E. E. BRADDOCK,
Lake Crystal, Minn., March 10, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL."
—J. J. WALDEN,
Dyalla, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles."
—E. E. BRADDOCK,
Palatka, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

AT PEACE.

BY JAMES BERRY BENDEL.

And I said, "She is dead; I could not brook.

Again on that marvelous face to look."

But they took my hand and they led me in.

And left alone with my nearest kin.

One again alone in that silent place,

My beautiful dead and I, face to face.

And I could not speak, and I could not stir,

But I stood and with love I looked on her.

With love, and with rapture, and strange surprise

I looked on the lips and the close-shut eyes;

On the perfect rest and the calm content,

And the happiness there in her features
blent:

And the thin white hands that had wrought so much,

Now nerveless to kisses or fevered touch.

My beautiful dead who had known the strife.

The pain and the sorrow, that we call

Life.

Who had never faltered beneath her cross,

Nor murmured when loss followed swift on loss;

And the smile that sweetened her lips always,

Lay light on her blessed mouth that day.

I smoothed from her hair a silver thread

And I wept, but I could not think her dead.

I felt with a wonder too deep for speech,

She could tell what only the angels teach.

And over her mouth I leaned my ear,

Lost there might be something I should not hear.

Then out from the silence between us stole

A message that reached to my inmost soul:

"Why weep you to-day who have wept

before

That the road was rough I must journey o'er?"

Why mourn that my lips can answer not

When anguish and sorrow are both forgot?"

Behold, all my life I have longed for rest—

Yea, even when I held you in my breast.

And now that I lie in a breathless sleep,

Instead of rejoicing, you sigh and weep.

My dearest, I know that you would not break.

If you could, my slumber, and have me

wake;

For, though life was full of things that bless,

I have never till now known happiness."

Then I dried my tears, and with lifted head

I left my mother, the beautiful dead.

HOLDING THE LIGHT.

A dear little boy, of five years,

who had an old-fashioned Spartan mother was brave enough ordinarily, but was afraid to be left alone in the dark. To cure him of this fear his mother decided to send him to bed alone, and to have the light taken away, which had usually been left until the little fellow was asleep.

This was a sore trial to the boy and possibly to the mother, but most of all to the boy's sister, a girl of about ten years of age. She could not forget her own times of trembling and of terror; of looking under the bed and hiding her head under the blanket. Her heart ached for the little fellow undergoing such heroic treatment, and she as-sed to steal softly up stairs with her bed-room candle, and stand just outside her brother's door.

"Are you there, sister?"

"Yes, Willie."

"Can I have the light?"

"No, Willie; mother says no."

"Do bring it."

"No; but I'll let it stay right here."

"Will it shine in?"

"Yes, all across the floor, don't you see? You must go to sleep or mother will take it away."

Then a pause, and soon the sleepy voice asked:

"Are you there, sister?"

"Yes, Willie."

"Will you surely stay?"

"Surely."

"Till I'm all—every bit asleep?"

You won't let the light go out till

I'm gone?"

"No, Willie."

"Nor leave me alone?"

"No, brother, never."

And all this in the briefest whisper possible, and if the mother heard she did not heed, for the children were not forbidden to comfort each other in their own fashion, until by and by the boy outgrew his fear.

Years passed, and the lovely boy-hood and brilliant youth were left behind. Willie had outgrown his sister in size, and strength, and knowledge, but not in goodness or faith. Life parted them early, and their lives went separate ways. Her love and her letters and her prayers followed him, but evil temptations crept closer to him than these, and little by little he became the victim of drink. It did not conquer all

The latest suggestion about roof gutters is to place wove wire lids over them to prevent accumulations, such as bird's nests and other annoyances.

MR. HENRY WINTER, who has a stock farm near Elkton City, shipped to Jersey City, N. J., recently twenty-three young blooded horses for sale.

In the matter of the fall outside of the Chronicle office, the Chronicle certainly has the fun on its own side; but personally the pain still adheres to itself.

REV. WILLIAM SIMON, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, in this place has received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Delaware College, Newark, Del.

Am your chambers early in the morning, and close them up about eight o'clock, and you can retire when you see fit for comfort and coolness where the flies come not.

Our venerable friend and neighbour Capt. McBride, has been ill for several days from erysipelas, and his many friends are earnestly and anxiously hoping for his speedy recovery.

On the arrival of the 7:10 p. m. train on Thursday evening, the train hands discovered that they had left the mail pouches at Rocky Ridge, and had to make an extra trip to get them.

CAPT. H. CLAY NAIL, Surveyor of the Port of Baltimore, will be one of the speakers at Patterson Park, Baltimore, on July 4, at a meeting in the interest of the Francis Scott Key monument.

The regular quarterly distribution of the public school fund was made by the Comptroller on Tuesday, Frederick county receives $5,518.35 for white schools and $872.07 for colored schools.—Union.

The thing to do now, is not to throw open all the doors and windows, but aim to create a draft of air that will cool the room, and you with it; if everything is open, it soon becomes as warm within as without.

On Sunday last the fine Presbyterian Church at Shippensburg, Pa., was destroyed by fire. It was one of the finest in the Cumberland Valley. Its cost was $25,000, insurance $10,000. Pastor, Rev. Dr. McCarrall.

In Cecil county it is said that fully 75 per cent. of the early varieties of peaches are dead, and even a larger percentage of the late fruit. The Chronicle says: "If one-fifth of an average crop (which is usually put at one-half of a possible one) is gathered, the growers will be lucky."

Woodcock.

It is lawful since last Monday to shoot Woodcock till February 1st.

The New Soap.

The latest development in regard to the locusts is that being crushed for their fat they make an excellent soap.

Re-nominated.

The Democratic Convention of Adams county, Pa., re-nominated Dr. John A. Swope for Congress in that district on Monday.

Charter Extended.

The corporate existence of the Frederick County National Bank, has been extended to June 13th, 1905, by the Comptroller of the Currency.—Frederick Citizen.

Bacon constantly occupied will secure more solid comfort in this present weather, than can be otherwise obtained. The most wretched of all are those who run around telling everybody how warm it is as if they only felt the heat.

We have been requested to announce that the Archbishop of Baltimore will give Consecration in St. Joseph's church (Emmitsburg) on Sunday next, at 10 o'clock, a. m., with Solemn High Mass, at which His Grace will preach.

A Rattlesnake Killed.

Roger Elder a pupil of Miss Kate L. Baker, teacher below the College, and near Dr. Troxell's store, while hunting for a ball on Wednesday, killed a rattlesnake near the school house that was 2 ft. 11 inches long.

The Herald and Torch Light newspaper of the late Capt. Mentzer of Hagerstown was sold on Tuesday, to Chas. W. Adams, late State and County tax collector of Washington county, Md., and James P. Matthews, for the sum of $7.—T.C.

SUNDAY and Monday of this week were very warm days, the thermometer registering 88 degrees for a short while, since then we have had rains, and a cold wave on Wednesday evening, but upon the whole the weather has been very pleasant.

We have not learned whether the Court House railing at Frederick, is to be painted this season or not. But doubt if the good people would appreciate any effort to relieve its dinginess; they would rather cut away the trees and make it more apparent.

The Maryland House of Correction is full. The inmates number 253 males and 51 females; total 304. A meeting of the directors, held Thursday, appointed a committee to notify the different courts in the State that the house is crowded to its utmost capacity.

The Littletown Era is respectfully notified, not to cut out work unnecessarily for us. We are abundant in labours. Any personal service wherein we can aid will be heartily attempted; but outsiders are expected to make personal application with the fee in hand.

Located in Frederick.

Mr. Jacob Rohrbach, who recently graduated from the Maryland Law School, at Baltimore, with honors, has located in Frederick, where he will practice his profession. His office is with Wm. P. Mansby, Esq., on West Second street.—Union.

The Littletown Era says while James Shancbrough, of near Two Taverns, was sawing timber on his farm with a portable saw his coat caught in a shaft and in a moment was whirled around several times, stripping him of his clothes and inflicting a number of bruises and sprains.

For Public Printer.

A report comes from Washington that Col. L. Victor Baughman, of this city, and president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, is a candidate for Public Printer, the head of the government printing office. The salary of the position is $4,500.—Union.

An Adjective of Doubtful Quality.

They had a "magnificent" shower at Libertytown, recently, says the Banner. We could recognize a splendid heap of gold if we should encounter one, we can appreciate the splendour and grandeur of an electrical storm, or a magnificent building, but for the shower?

For constitutional or scrofulous catarrh, and for consumption induced by the scrofulous taint, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the true remedy. It has cured numberless cases. It will stop the nauseous catarrhal discharges, and remove the sickening odor of the breath, which are indications of scrofulous origin.

End of the School Year.

The closing of the scholastic year at The Annapolis Institute, was celebrated by a reception at which the pupils entertained their parents and friends, with readings, recitations, &c. The programme was quite varied and the selections well chosen and well rendered, reflecting great credit on both teacher and pupils.

The American Agriculturist for July, has been received, and contains all the necessary information regarding rural occupations at this season, kitchen and market garden, flower garden and lawn, orchard and fruit garden, care of chickens and farm stock, hay making, bee notes, grasses, greens, berries, birds, household hints, and useful information generally. Published at 751, Broadway, New York.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York City, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire and stop at the Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot.

Elegant rooms fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1.00 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all points. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first class hotel in the city. oct 18-ly

THE TOWN HALL.

Through the kind offices of a friend, our special artist for the occasion, we are enabled to present the Town Hall in elevation.

It will be recognized as an ideal sketch, an adumbration of what is possible in a better form.

The figures 1, 2, 3, 4 on the lower story are intended to indicate the location of the steel-lined cells that are to contain law-breakers.

The three story building is a suggestion simply, that the lower floor may be for rent; the second for the Hall; and the third for Council Chambers. If the organization should prefer a four story building, all the better.

We suggest that our citizens have this subject in mind, and will bring into reality, what for the present we can but contemplate in design.

MR. GEORGE CONRY, Sr., of Williamsport, who about two weeks ago joined the Bijou Theatre Company, returned home last Wednesday evening, says the Leader, foot-sore and weary, without a penny in his pocket, having walked all the way from Gettysburg. He is thoroughly disgusted with the show business.

SAYS the Opinion: Franklin county contains some very large trees and nowhere in the county are they larger than in Path Valley. Mr. S. M. Skinner, of Dry Run, recently felled and cut a white oak which made 4,201 shingles, 519 feet of fencing boards, and almost 4 cords of wood, besides four 2-horse loads of shavings. The value of the tree, in the home market, was $38.08.

It is said that the hogs, grazing in the mountains near Clearspring, have been peculiarly affected by eating the locusts. They seem to make them wild; they knock their heads against trees or anything that comes before them, root up the ground and appear to be in the greatest agony. Several of those thus affected have died.—Herald and Torch Light.

The need of merit for promoting personal aesthetics is due to J. C. Ayer & Co., whose incomparable Hair Vigor is a universal beautifier of the hair. Harmless, effective, agreeable, it has taken rank among the indispensable articles of the toilet. To scanty locks it gives luxuriance; and withered hair it clothes with the hue of youth.

List of Letters.

The following letters remain in the Post Office, Emmitsburg, Md., June 15, 1885. Persons calling will please say advertised, otherwise they may not receive them:

Miss Lizzie B. Briggs, Miss Emma J. Baker, Emanuel Eckenrode, Felix Motter, Holland Weant.

Attempted Arson.

The arrangement of means to a definite end were such on Sunday morning, as to point unmistakably to an attempt on the part of some miscreant to fire Dr. J. W. Eichelberger's stable in town. We must have vigilance; some due should be forthcoming, that outlaws should be banished from the haunts of men, and go to their own place.

Wedding Bells.

Quite a large number of people were assembled at the Lutheran Church, of this place, Tuesday evening, to witness the marriage ceremony of Miss Hannah M. Fickel to our editor, Mr. I. M. Pearson, Jr. After the ceremony was over their many friends were heartily entertained at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Wm. A. Fickel.—The Chronicle.

The Presidency Accepted.

FREDERICK, Md., June 18.—Dr. W. H. Purnell, president of Delaware College, Newark, Del., has signified his acceptance of the presidency of the Frederick Female Seminary, recently tendered him by the trustees of that institution. Mr. Purnell was selected out of about sixty applicants from all sections of the country. The retiring president, Mrs. M. W. Hackelton, has had charge of the seminary for the past nine years, and her husband, Prof. James H. Hackelton, deceased, occupied the same position for three years previous. Mrs. Hackelton expects to remove to the South.—Sun.

Work of the School for Deaf and Dumb.

FREDERICK, June 16.—The annual meeting of the board of visitors to the Maryland School for the Deaf and Dumb was held at that institution today. Among those present were Messrs. Enoch Pratt, president; W. R. Barry, vice-president; Alonzo Berry, James Blair, W. G. Baker, Dr. F. Schley, Geo. Markell, Isaac D. Jones, James McSherry, Wm. H. Falconer, Jno. H. Williams, treasurer, and Capt. H. Clay Nail, secretary. The receipts and expenditures for the year amounted in each case to $26,000. There were 99 children, male and female, in the school, and according to the report of the principal, Prof. C. W. Ely, the most gratifying progress was made by nearly all the pupils. The mechanical department, in which are taught printing, cabinet and shoemaking, were especially successful and mainly self-sustaining. In the art department, in charge of Miss Floy Danby, there were a number of specimens of painting and drawing which were highly creditable. All the old officers, teachers and employees were re-elected for the next year.—Sun.

Might Have Been Serious.

On Monday last Charles Hoffman, aged about 18 years, a son of Charles Hoffman, of near Fairfield, Pa., was trying to draw the rubbers of a wagon loaded with bark when near the railroad station at this place; he fell somehow in his efforts and the wheel passed over his foot. But as he rode home on the wheel horse in the evening it is presumed his injury was not serious.

Burglary at Union Bridge.

WESTMINSTER, Md., June 12.—On Wednesday night the house of Mr. Geo. Love, of Union Bridge, Carroll county, was entered by a burglar, who obtained entrance through a basement window. He went to Mrs. Love's bedroom and took $10 from a dress which was hanging at the foot of the bed. Mrs. Love being aroused called her husband, who fired two shots at the burglar from his revolver. The burglar, however, escaped.—Balto. Sun.

Bright and Clean.

Peter Burket, made his annual visit to our office on Friday, and washed the windows. The incrustations of months had made them look as if regularly frosted, and their state was simply translucent; and now that the blessed light of Heaven shines through, we are happy as can be, and have a faint apprehension of how the whole universe broke forth in exultation when the command went forth—"Let there be light and there was light!"

Washington County Matters.

HAGERSTOWN, June 13.—The State Agricultural Association has decided to hold its next annual exhibition in connection with the Washington county fair next fall. In addition to the state fair, the same agricultural associations from counties in adjoining states which were present last fall, will also take part in the coming exhibition. The Berkeley County, W. Va., Fair Association has not yet decided to be represented.

The Maryland State Teachers Association will be held at Deer Park, Garrett county, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, July 7th, 8th and 9th. It is desired that every member of the Association will be present at the opening session on Tuesday, at 8 p. m., when Hon. H. W. Hoffman of Cumberland, will deliver the address of welcome, and P. A. Witmer, Esq., of Hagerstown, will respond. Special inducements in railroad fare and boarding are extended to persons desiring to attend the meeting.

Burglaries.

The drug store of A. H. Huber, this city, was broken into last Friday night. Entrance was effected by a rear window, but only a few cents were found missing.

The same night, Perry Warfield, who spends his nights at Geo. W. Albright's at the West End, discovered a man standing on Mr. Albright's front porch when he went there about 12 o'clock. Perry called to the man, thinking him to be Mr. Albright, when the man beat a hasty retreat. On Thursday night of last week—the night previous—the house of Mrs. Emma Lockard, near the tollgate on the pike just below this city, was entered. The thief got into Mrs. Lockard's room, and she was aroused by the burglar striking a match. Thinking that he was her brother, Mrs. Lockard called to know what he wanted, when the burglar ran out.—Advocate.

About the Digger Wasp.

Almost everything about locusts, or connected with locusts, has been made familiar to the public by frequent mention in the newspapers recently, and yet there seems to be some lack of acquaintance with one feature of locust-year which more nearly concerns the safety of the people than any other. This is the digger wasp and its sting. Quite a number of readers of The News have written inquiring concerning them, what they look like, why they are found with the locusts, to what extent they were really dangerous, and what should be done by a person when stung. Professor Otto Lueger, the well-known entomologist of the Johns Hopkins University, said to a News reporter this morning:

"The cicada or locust, as you know, does not sting. The little instrument with which it bores into trees is never used in self-defense or for attack by the insect. There is no poison sac attached, and should this ovipositor pierce the hand, it would be no more harmful than the prick of a needle. The real proprietor of the sting, which is sometimes erroneously attributed to the locust, is the digger wasp. This insect is as large as a locust, with a round body and yellow markings. The digger wasp lives on honey, but its young is fed up on insect food. The mother wasp selects a hard soil, usually a road or pathway, and burrows into the ground. This burrow she stuffs full of insects—locusts when they are to be found—and deposits her egg. The young are hatched and fed upon the supply of locusts until they are strong enough to find food for themselves. The wasp stings a locust just back of the neck and paralyzes without killing it. It is while flying to the hole that it usually stings anyone interfering with it. The wasp carries the locust under it, between its legs, but the latter being even heavier than its captor, renders the flight of the wasp unsteady, it being often obliged to rest. Quite frequently, when tired, the insect alights upon a human being, who brushes it roughly off and is stung."

"Is the sting dangerous, professor?" "Yes; this is the most dangerous wasp we have, and there are instances where its sting has proved fatal. These wasps will be more numerous next year than this, owing to the unlimited supply of food they have had this season to nourish the young wasps in their cells. Whenever any one is stung by a wasp, continued the professor, "liquor and ammonia should be applied at once; or as soon as possible, Ammonia neutralizes the poison and relieves the pain in a short time."—Baltimore News.

Proceedings of the Firemen.

The Vigilant Hose Company of Emmitsburg, at a meeting held June 12th, unanimously passed the following preamble and Resolutions.

Whereas, the friends of our company, both here and in other places, so liberally contributed to the success of our recent Fair and Festival, therefore.

Resolved, that we publicly give expression to our gratitude for their kindness and good will toward Emmitsburg, and her fire Department.

Resolved, that we return our thanks to the ladies of Emmitsburg, for their untiring efforts in our behalf, and that to them the successful issue of the undertaking is due; and as firemen we shall endeavor by future usefulness to more effectively express our gratitude.

Resolved, that we extend our sincere thanks to our Friends in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Frederick, and elsewhere, who so generously remembered us by valuable donations, and while we recognize the unselfishness of their kindness we more deeply feel grateful for the same, and do hereby as citizens and firemen of Emmitsburg, thank them for their help.

Resolved, that as a company we return our thanks to Mrs. H. Motter for the use of the Hall, and other kindnesses shown the firemen during the Fair.

Resolved, that these resolutions be published in the Emmitsburg Chronicle.

What Others say of Our New Departure.

Our contemporary, the Emmitsburg Chronicle, opens its seventh volume with an entirely new outfit of type, a new press, and an enlargement of the columns both as to length and breadth. The reading matter is up to the Chronicle's usual high standard, no patent tone, no inside, an exalted moral tone, no fifth or frivolity and excellent original editorial matter.—Frederick News.

The Emmitsburg Chronicle entered upon its seventh volume last week. The Chronicle presents a neat appearance in its new dress, and we congratulate its editor upon the success he has met with in the past.—The Examiner.

The Emmitsburg Chronicle appears in a new suit, bright and handsome as a fresh dollar. Glad to see this renewed evidence of the Chronicle's prosperity.—Gettysburg Compiler.

Bro. Motter's Emmitsburg Chronicle entered its seventh volume with its last issue and celebrated the event with an entire new dress of type. The Chronicle is one of the best edited and most consistent exchanges that reach our sanctum. It is as clean as a new pin and deserves the patronage of every individual within the territory he seeks to serve, enlighten and elevate. The Chronicle can be nothing but a first-class, conscientious journal under the inspiring pen of its talented editor.—Hanover Citizen.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Emmitsburg Chronicle, on last Saturday entered upon its seventh volume, and celebrated the event by appearing in a brand new dress of type, that adds much to the appearance of the paper. Brother Motter, its enterprising and wide-awake publisher, not only arrayed his paper in new type, but has also placed in its office a new press and other appurtenances, that will aid him greatly in publishing his usually neat and spicy journal. Besides making the typographical improvements, he announces that the subscription price will be one dollar, if paid in advance, which cannot fail of the appreciation of his numerous patrons, and redound to his benefit by a large increase of subscribers. The Chronicle has our best wishes for a prosperous future.—Frederick Union.

The Emmitsburg Chronicle signalized its entrance upon a new volume by appearing on Saturday last in an entire new dress. The event was the theme of a few facetious remarks on part of the editor. The Chronicle is neat and attractive in appearance.—The Transcript.

With its last issue the Emmitsburg Chronicle entered upon its 7th volume. It appeared in a brand new dress, printed on a new press, and fairly shines. The Chronicle has been a success from the very start, and the enterprising proprietor has our best wishes for future prosperity.—Keystone Gazette.

Last week's issue of the Emmitsburg Chronicle commenced its seventh volume, clothed partially in a new dress from the foundry of Messrs John G. Mengel & Co., Baltimore. The Chronicle has been much improved, and we hope to see brother Motter reap the reward he deserves from the citizens of that community.—Banner.

The last issue of the Chronicle is the initiatory number of the VIIth Volume of that valuable newspaper. It celebrated its birthday by donning a new dress; it is now one of the well printed papers as it has always been one of the well edited. Vive la Chronicle—Chronicle.

That's a sort of French?—Ed. The Emmitsburg Chronicle has entered upon its seventh volume with new press and type, and much improved appearance.—Boonsboro Times. The Emmitsburg Chronicle has entered upon the publication of its seventh volume; in doing so it shows unmistakable signs of prosperity in purchasing new presses and an entire new dress of type. The Chronicle is an admirably conducted journal, and richly merits the success it has met with.—Frederick Citizen.

The Emmitsburg Chronicle, in entering upon its seventh volume last week, made its appearance in a new dress and with its columns both widened and lengthened. This issue was also printed upon a new press which has just been put up in the Chronicle office. We congratulate friend Motter upon this evidence of the success of his excellent journal and sincerely hope that the new departure will bring him increased prosperity. The Editor and his paper both deserve it.—Valley Register.

Promotion.

The Westminster Advocate says that Mr. M. C. Stoner, formerly of Union Bridge, for two years the ticket and freight agent of the Western Maryland Railroad, in Chambersburg, has resigned his position in consequence of the increased business at the W. M. Grain Elevator, which now requires his undivided attention. Mr. A. C. Rossman, telegraph operator, has been promoted to the vacancy created by Mr. Stoner's retirement. Mr. R. is a son of Mr. E. Rossman of this place.—Liberty Banner.

The Wrong Man.

A professed book agent who represented himself as a student from Gettysburg College, by the name of Zimmerman, some months ago, deceived sundry persons in the vicinity of Emmitsburg. It happens that there is a student of that name in the Theological Seminary at that place, and he had been subject to the reproach of being confounded with the deceiver; Justice demands that the matter be corrected. The Theological Student has never been an agent of any kind, nor presented himself to the public in any such relations.

PERSONALS.

Miss Martha Moore, of Mechanicsville, Pa., visits this her native place and is the guest of Mrs. S. N. McNair.

Mr. W. G. Horner, made a visit in W. Va., and bought himself a pair of thoroughbred horses.

Miss Emma Motter, and Mrs. Geo. T. Motter, of Taneytown, made a visit to friends in town on Thursday.

Misses Helen and Kate Rowe, made a visit to Frederick this week.

Mr. Edgar L. Anna, returned home from a visit to Philadelphia.

Messrs. Geo. W. & Harry H. Myers, the former of Chambersburg, and the latter of Hagerstown, made a visit to their mother in this place.

Mr. Samuel Wilhide, of near Mechanicsville, made a visit to his friends here on Tuesday.

Mr. Alfred Ball of Washington county made a visit to his former home in these parts.

Misses Maggie Byers and Annie Shrivener, returned from a visit to Middletown.

Rev. G. Z. Besser of Lebanon, Pa. made a few days visit.

Attractions at Pennmar.

The liberality and excellent management of the Western Maryland Railroad Company have introduced so many improvements that, popular as was the well-known resort last season, it can hardly fail to be vastly more so during the present summer and fall. The space of ground surrounding the Pennmar hotel for a distance of nearly a mile, which has heretofore been destitute of grass, has been carefully sodded, and many beds, in which choice flowers already flourish, have been laid out. Seats similar to those in Druid Hill and other parks of Baltimore have been liberally interspersed. The walks and drives from the station to the hotel and in the vicinity have been covered with fine slate and gravel; and the presence of drains, which in time of rain will carry off all superfluous water, ensures pleasant exercise both to pedestrians and those who wish to ride or drive. The facilities for reaching High Rock and Mount Quirauc have been added to; and the amusement department, which, as has heretofore been the case, will be under the management of Mr. J. A. Krichlin, will be found to contain many new features, some of which are intensely amusing. Mr. J. E. Croun, whose successful management of the hotel has been appreciated by many thousands in the past, will again look after the comfort of his patrons. He will be assisted by his son, Harry Croun. The outlook for the season is very bright, and there is scarcely a doubt that the volume of travel by excursionists will greatly exceed that of last year, when it was much larger than at any time since Pennmar was opened to the public.—Baltimore American.

The Century Magazine for June reached us at the regular time, but owing to an unusual stress of business, the notice of its appearance was unavoidably omitted. The frontispiece, a likeness of Sir John Herschel, with a sketch of his life, is one of the other two Heraschels, William and Caroline, will be found exceedingly interesting to many readers, whilst number 2 of the humorous, graphic and interesting sketches, entitled, "In and out of the New Orleans Exposition," by E. V. Smalley, Howard "Florentine Mosaic," No. 3, "The Rise of Silas Lapham," and "The Bostonians," are continued; "Hilary's Husband," "How shall we help the Negro?" "Stone-wall Jackson in the Shenandoah," "The Battle of Gettysburg," "Memoranda on the Civil War," "Topics of the Time," "Open Letters," and a particularly entertaining collection of Bric-a-Brac, make up this June number of one of our most popular Magazines. The Century Co., New York.

The July Eclectic is embellished with a beautiful steel engraving of the Neapolitan Girl which is alone worth the price of the number. The table of contents is interesting and varied. The opening paper by Mr. Williams, Soudan correspondent of a great London journal, makes a very serious charge against a high military official, that Gordon's death was owing entirely to his disobedience of orders. Prince Outsky's paper on Prince Bismarck is one of great interest and acumen. Among the other powerful timely articles are those on "Egypt and Soudan," the "Coming War," and the "Advance of Russia toward Central Asia." Special attention may be called to the purely literary articles, among which are "Border Ballads," "The Kalevala," "Mary Swinnerton's Godwin" and "Mr. Swinnerton's Poetry." The miscellaneous papers are all bright and readable and the magazine in its entirety a highly entertaining number. As this number begins a new volume it affords an excellent opportunity for the beginning of new subscriptions. Published by E. R. Pelton, 25 Bond Street, New York.
