IN THE DARK.

BY M. E. P.

"It is the strangest, most unaccountable thing I ever knew. I don't think I am superstitious, but I can't help fancying that—"

Ethel left the sentence unfinished, wrinkling her brows in a thoughtful frown as she gazed into the depths of her empty tea-cup.

"What has happened?" I inquired, glancing up from the Money Article of the Times at my daughter's puzzled face. "Nothing uncanny, I hope? You haven't discovered that a 'ghost' is included among the fixtures of our new house?"

This new house, The Cedars, was a pretty, old-fashioned riverside villa between Richmond and Kew, which I had taken furnished, as a summer residence, and to which we had only just removed.

Let me state, in parenthesis, by way of introducing myself to the reader, that I, John Dysart, am a widower with one child; the blue-eyed, fair-haired young lady who sat opposite to me at the breakfast table that bright June morning; and that I have been for many years the manager of an old-established Life Insurance Company in the city.

"What is the mystery?" I repeated, as Ethel did not reply.

She came out of her brown study, and looked at me impressively.

"It really is a mystery, papa, and the more I think of it the more puzzled I am."

"I am in the dark at present as to what it may be," I reminded her.

"Something that happened last night. You know that adjoining my bedroom there is a large, dark closet, which can be used as a box or storeroom?"

"I had forgotten the fact, but I will take your word for it. Well, Ethel?"

"Well, last night I was restless, and it was some hours before I could sleep. When at last I did so I had a strange dream about that closet. It seemed that as I lay in bed I heard a noise within, as if some one were knocking at the door, and a child's voice, broken by sobs, crying piteously 'Let me out, let me out!' I thought that I got out of bed and opened the door, and there, crouching all in a heap against the wall, was a little boy; a pretty, pale, little fellow of six or seven, looking half wild with fright. At the same moment I woke."

"And lo, it was a dream!" I finished. "If that is all Ethel—"

"But it is not," she interposed. "The strangest part of the story has to come. The dream was so vivid that when I woke up I sat up in bed, and looked towards the closet door, almost expecting to hear the sounds again. Papa, you may believe me or not, but it is a fact that I did hear them, the muffled knocking and the pitiful cry. As I listened, it grew fainter and fainter, and at length ceased altogether. Then I summoned courage to get out of bed and open the door. There was no living creature in the place. Was it not mysterious?" she concluded. "What can it mean?"

I glanced at her with a smile, as I refolded the paper and rose from my chair.

"It means, my dear, that you had nightmare last night. Let me recommend you for the future not to eat cucumbers at dinner."

"No, papa," she interrupted. "I was broad awake, and I heard the child's voice as plainly as I ever heard a sound in my life."

"Why didn't you call me?"

"I was afraid to stir till the sound had ceased; but if I hear it again, I will let you know at once."

"Be sure you do. Meantime, suppose you come into the garden," I continued, throwing open the French windows; "the morning air will blow all these cobwebs from your brain."

Ethel complied, and for the present I heard no more of the subject. Some days passed away, and we began to feel quite at home in our new quarters.

A more delightful summer relax than The Cedars could hardly be imagined, with its cool, dusky rooms, from which the sunlight was excluded by the screen of foliage outside; its trellised veranda, overgrown with creepers, and its smooth lawn, shaded by the rare old cedars which gave the place its name.

Our friends soon discovered its attractions and took care that we should not stagnate for want of society. We kept open house; lawn-tennis, garden-parties, and boating excursions were the order of the day. It was glorious summer weather, the days warm and golden, the nights starlit and still.

One night, having important letters to finish, I sat up writing after all the household were in bed. The window was open, and at intervals I glanced up from my paper across the moonlit lawn, where the shadows of the cedars lay dark and motionless. Now and then a great downy moth would flutter in and hover round the shaded lamp; now and then the swallows under the eaves uttered a faint, sleepy chirp. For all other signs and sounds of life I might have been the only watcher in all the sleeping world.

I had finished my task and was just closing my writing-case when I heard a hurried movement in the room above—Ethel's. Footsteps descended the stairs, and the next moment the dining-room door opened, and I beheld, in a long, white dressing-gown, with a small night-lamp in her hand.

There was a look on her face which made me start up and exclaim:—

"What is the matter? What has happened?"

She set down the lamp and came towards me.

"I heard it again," she breathed, laying her hand on wrist.

"You have heard—what?"

"The noise in the box-room."

I stared at her a moment in bewilderment, and then half smiled.

"Oh, is that it?" I exclaimed, in a tone of relief. "You have been dreaming again, it seems."

"I have not been asleep at all," she replied. "The sounds have kept me awake. They are louder than the first time; the child seems to be sobbing and crying as if his heart would break. It is miserable out of bed and opened the door, and there, crouching all in a heap against the wall, was a little boy; a pretty, pale, little fellow of six or seven, looking half wild with fright. At the same moment I woke."

"And lo, it was a dream!" I finished. "If that is all Ethel—"

Emmitsburg Rail Road. TIME TABLE.

On and after June 13, 1886, trains on this road will run as follows:

TRAINS SOUTH. Leave Emmitsburg at 8.45 a. m. and 3.30 and 6.45 p. m., arriving at Rocky Ridge at 9.15 a. m. and 4.00 and 6.15 p. m.

TRAINS NORTH. Leave Rocky Ridge at 10.40 a. m. and 4.15 and 6.41 p. m., arriving at Emmitsburg at 11.10 a. m. and 4.55 and 7.10 p. m.

JAS. A. ELDER, Pres't. We are always pleased to receive communications from our friends, containing an account of the news of their localities.

LOCAL ITEMS. WHEN we reduced the Subscription Price of the EMMITTSBURG CHRONICLE to One Dollar a Year, it was unmistakably announced that that sum would be received for advance payments.

MAJOR JAMES G. PANGBORN, since 1880, the Assistant General Passenger Agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has resigned that position.

The cold spell set everybody to house-cleaning this week, a good way to keep warm and what with dusting and scrubbing and hammering and the din of adjusting stovepipes, the village has been lively this week.

It is a misnomer to say a person is speaking through the nose, when what is called the "nasal twang" is heard. It is just the reverse; the sounds come out of the mouth instead of through the nose.

ONLY six weeks till Christmas from today. The recent elections in Baltimore cost the city $13,843.26.

Rev. Wm. H. Chapman, Pastor of M. E. Church, Georgetown, D. C., wrote us:—Having had an opportunity to taste the excellent qualities of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, I hesitate not to say, it is the best remedy I have ever used in my family.

THE snow storm of last Sunday was very general over the country. A snow of knowledge. The person with a lot of books under his arm.

BLACK PILLS dispel melancholy. MR. PHILIP LAWRENCE has moved into his new house near the square.

MEAT sold in Hagerstown on Tuesday of last week at ten cents a pound. EGGS are selling at 18 cts. per doz.; butter, 15 cts. per lb. at Boonsboro.

IF you wish to make money without advertising—you should join the Mint. A BOTTLE of Victor Cough Syrup is an ornament to your mantel as well as useful.

THE York Springs Comet appeared last week, enlarged and much improved. It is a good local paper. BLACK PILLS prevent sea-sickness and cure headache, the result of costiveness or acid stomach.

WANTED—5,000 logs at Iron Dale Saw Mill, to saw on shares, Wm. L. McGinnis, one mile west of Emmitsburg.

THE Town Commissioners have laid a stone pavement across the alley next to Mr. Oliver Morrison's. Mr. Ashbaugh did the work.

THE Piano factory of William Heinemann & Son in Baltimore was burned on Sunday last, damage estimated at $35,000, insurance $7,000.

THOSE unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness, headache, and dyspepsia, should use only "Dr. Sellers' Liver Pills." Sold by all druggists.

REV. DR. LANAHAN will preach in the M. E. Church, in this place, on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, also on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 o'clock.

IT is only a slight cold, it will soon wear away, you say. If it does not and complicated lung diseases follow, you will be sorry that you did not take Victor Cough Syrup and avoid trouble.

BLACK PILLS aid digestion. THE high-minded pessimism after this morning will realize that before the wily breath of J. Frost all things must fall.—Frederick News.

IT used to be that the person with the longest pole, gathered the fruit of his or her projective efforts. HOWEVER paradoxical it may seem, the trials and difficulties incident to our existence are essential to our well-being; without them the stimulus to effort would end; benevolence could not exist, and selfishness would reign supreme.

BLACK PILLS relieve palpitation. By using Victor Liver Syrup you will become healthy, wealthy, happy and wise. nov13

Prompt Payment. The Royal Fire Insurance Company of Liverpool, paid their loss of $450.00 to A. Eyster, on the sixth of November, the fire occurred on the 3rd.

Republican Jollification. The republicans will jolly over the late election on Tuesday evening next. It promises to be a lively time.

The Silver Certificate. We saw a Silver Certificate bill the other day, for the first time, they are real beauties, greatly to be desired; we are ready to receive all that may come to us, whether for subscriptions, book accounts or otherwise. Don't hold back on us.

Myriad-Act. The Clarion represents the Mechanic-stown Band as having dissolved. The pity for the organization was a good one as regards its performances. We trust it will be renewed and come forth in melodious trim better than ever.

Mr. JAMES A. ELDER and Dr. Eichelberger, have taken possession of their respective new Drug Stores, and the glittering array of things to be taken and retained or otherwise, surpasses everything ever before presented in the town.

MAJOR JAMES G. PANGBORN, since 1880, the Assistant General Passenger Agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has resigned that position.

The cold spell set everybody to house-cleaning this week, a good way to keep warm and what with dusting and scrubbing and hammering and the din of adjusting stovepipes, the village has been lively this week.

It is a misnomer to say a person is speaking through the nose, when what is called the "nasal twang" is heard. It is just the reverse; the sounds come out of the mouth instead of through the nose.

ONLY six weeks till Christmas from today. The recent elections in Baltimore cost the city $13,843.26.

Rev. Wm. H. Chapman, Pastor of M. E. Church, Georgetown, D. C., wrote us:—Having had an opportunity to taste the excellent qualities of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, I hesitate not to say, it is the best remedy I have ever used in my family.

THE snow storm of last Sunday was very general over the country. A snow of knowledge. The person with a lot of books under his arm.

BLACK PILLS dispel melancholy. MR. PHILIP LAWRENCE has moved into his new house near the square.

THE Piano factory of William Heinemann & Son in Baltimore was burned on Sunday last, damage estimated at $35,000, insurance $7,000.

THOSE unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness, headache, and dyspepsia, should use only "Dr. Sellers' Liver Pills." Sold by all druggists.

REV. DR. LANAHAN will preach in the M. E. Church, in this place, on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, also on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 o'clock.

IT is only a slight cold, it will soon wear away, you say. If it does not and complicated lung diseases follow, you will be sorry that you did not take Victor Cough Syrup and avoid trouble.

BLACK PILLS aid digestion. THE high-minded pessimism after this morning will realize that before the wily breath of J. Frost all things must fall.—Frederick News.

IT used to be that the person with the longest pole, gathered the fruit of his or her projective efforts. HOWEVER paradoxical it may seem, the trials and difficulties incident to our existence are essential to our well-being; without them the stimulus to effort would end; benevolence could not exist, and selfishness would reign supreme.

WRAT it insures.—A pleasant home is insured to all mothers that use Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. 25 cents.

Take warning.—For want of Day's Horse Powder many horses, cows, sheep and hogs are daily lost.

You can save time and trouble, and may be life itself, by prompt and judicious use of Dr. Bull's Baltimore Pills at the beginning of a bilious attack.

Property Changes. The Corporation of the Church of the Incarnation, representing the Reformed Church at this place, conveyed by deed to Miss Harriet J. Smith, the Parsonage property of said Church for the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, and Miss Smith conveyed to the above Corporation her house and lot number 92 on the plat of Emmitsburg for $2,500.

The property of Mr. W. H. H. Hardman was sold on Monday at mortgagee's sale for $700. I. S. Annan & Brother being the purchasers.

The first Confederate monument ever erected on the Gettysburg battlefield arrived and was put in position on Saturday. It is of Richmond granite and marks the position of the Second Maryland Infantry, formerly First Maryland Battalion, which was stationed at the foot of Culp's Hill on the Confederate left, and which also participated in the short but bloody charge made on the Federal troops stationed on Culp's Hill on the evening of July 2, 1863.

SEVERAL weeks ago we said in effect, that when the Indian Summer began early in October, as it did this year, winter might be expected to set in by the middle of November, but when the Indian Summer delayed till November, winter would begin the first week of December.

The rain of Saturday last broke the long continued drought and gave a chance for the wind to change its course, thus Sunday came in with a light coat of snow on the roofs and over the ground, the northwest wind blew its chilling blasts and the general aspect of the day was wintry.

Letter from Mt. St. Mary's College. Few events of public interest have occurred in our College Calendar, during the past month.

On last Monday afternoon, Right Rev. Mgr. Straniero, visited our Institution, and he received a right legal, "mountain" ovation.

Coming to us as the representative of Rome's Ruler, we greeted him with lusty cheers and loyal hearts, and no doubt he will remember, and with pleasure too, his visit to the "Mount."

In an address to the students, among other things he said: "I have been pleasantly surprised to find what progress Catholicity has made in this great and free country, delighted that in a country so new Catholics are so numerous and influential."

"But there is one great want I noticed in my recent travels in America, and that is Priests who have been educated, brought up in this country. I hope therefore that many of those now before me will pray for a vocation to the Holy Priesthood.

I hope that many of the students of Mt. St. Mary's will feel themselves called to the altar, that they will hearken to that call and obey it and thus draw down upon themselves and others Heaven's choicest blessings.

I am very sorry indeed, that I can not remain in the midst of you for a few days and thus enjoy the beautiful scenery, but business and duty call me elsewhere and I must respond. I will not forget you, however, but will ask the Pope as soon as I go to Rome, to bestow his Apostolic Benediction on the Professors and Students of this Seminary and College."

Nov. 10th, 1886. WHILE Peter Rimbaugh, an aged man living alone on his farm near Boonsville, Adams county, was at work in his barnyard a few days ago, he was attacked by a savage boar, thrown to the ground, and the flesh torn from one of his legs from the knee to the hip.

He managed to crawl into the feeding entry and in this way shut off the enraged animal. From there he managed to crawl on his hands and on one leg to the house and into his bed where he remained until the next day.

He then crawled from his bed to the house of his sister, about one mile distant, before any one knew of his injuries. The bed on which he lay during the night was thoroughly saturated with blood as was also the floor underneath.

The injured limb has become black from the knee to the foot, and it is feared it may cause his death.—Item.
