THE CELLAR IN SUMMER.

The following seasonable advice in the American Agriculturist for July is so manifestly important that we make no excuse for laying it before our readers.

"At this season the cellar must be kept cool, dry, ventilated and clean. The doors must be kept closed as much as possible during the day, but they may be opened about midnight, and remain open until early morning.

THOMAS S. BALDWIN, a foolhardy young man, who has made himself conspicuous on several occasions by coming down from tremendous heights for the amusement of a gaping crowd, went up from Rockaway Beach, on Tuesday afternoon, in a balloon and when it had reached the height of about one mile, let himself down through the air, clinging to the parachute, and jumped into Jamaica Bay.

THE investigations into the manner of conducting Insane Asylums in New York, by the Sheriff's jury, have resulted in the liberation of quite a number of unfortunates who were found to be perfectly sane, and whose confinement was the result of either ignorance, carelessness, or a desire on the part of relatives to get them out of the way.

INDIGNANT citizens in Wilkes-barre, Pa., had the mayor the street commissioner and nineteen councilmen arrested for failing to keep the streets in good condition. If other cities should follow this precedent there would be an enormous boom in police court business.

FOREST and prairie fires are doing a vast amount of damage throughout parts of Michigan, Illinois and Iowa, not only grass, timber and crops are destroyed, but dwellings and even entire villages. Between the fires and heat of the sun, the suffering is terrible.

"I CANNOT praise Hood's Sarsaparilla half enough," says a mother whose son, almost blind with scrofula, was cured by this medicine.

THE severe drought in the north west still continues, and from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi river, over an area of 75,000 square miles everything in the way of vegetation is completely scorched up, cattle are suffering and dying, and the people have the fear of forest and prairie fires which threaten them on every side, added to the suffering from heat and want of water, it having been nearly 10 weeks since rain fell to any extent.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

Special to the Emmitsburg Chronicle. Our people are trying to get up a little "boodle" sensation here. At a citizens meeting held a few evenings since it was charged that there was a deficit in our Water Department of about $300,000.

Water rents have been raised all over the city and without cause except it may be to endeavor to cover up the deficit. Our people were terribly exercised for "home rule" (Irish fashion) and finally the President gave it to them appointing Commissioners from the District. At present there is a general howl for their removal. One bill presented for audit at the Treasury dept. was for a set of decorated table ware $151. The goods were delivered to the poorhouse and the commissioners gave as an excuse that they were necessary to properly entertain inspectors when they came around.

A good thing has just leaked out about the wedding presents of the daughter of Sam Randall. Secretary Whitney was invited of course, Mr. Whitney received his invitation and, as is his usual custom in personal matters, called in his private secretary, Mr. Hanna, and asked him to attend to the matter of selecting a wedding present. He gave Hanna a good sized check and left the selection in his hands. The latter visited every jewelry store in town, and although he is a married man and has the reputation of being au fait in matters of this kind he was at his wit's end to know what to select for the fair young bride. After cogitating over the matter for four days he thought it would be an excellent idea to call on Miss Randall, explain his predicament in which the Secretary had placed him, and offer her the check as a wedding gift. He could not possibly have adopted a worse plan, and he found himself thoroughly deceived. Miss Randall was not at home, and he asked for her mother, who presently appeared, wondering who Hanna was. Stating his errand before many moments had elapsed, he found who Mrs. Randall was. Hanna was torn in a thousand shreds. To think of his daring to thus insult a Randall! And Secretary Whitney, how could he dare to offer money to her daughter? "No, sir; if Secretary and Mrs. Whitney could not find time to select a present, they could keep their money," quoth Mrs. Randall. "The invitation was not sent, sir, with any expectation of receiving a present, and we do not want a present selected by filtration through his secretary. You tell Mr. Whitney he has got hold of the wrong family, sir, and we spurn his check." With this she was about to leave, when Mr. Randall, hearing the conversation, came down stairs. The matter was explained by Hanna, who begged Mrs. Randall not to place the blame on Mr. Whitney, and assuming it all himself. He further asked, as a matter of self-protection, that Mrs. Randall should not "give him away" to the Secretary, as it would go hard him (Hanna), and a great public sensation would ensue. After much tribulation, abject apologies and persuasive coaxing, Mr. Randall finally consented to accept a present for his daughter selected by Mr. Hanna, and thus avoid the publicity of a political estrangement with the Secretary of the Navy. Hanna was rejoiced, selected an appropriate gift, and returned to his duties a sadder and a wiser man.

Prince Devawongse, the eighth of the nineteen brothers of King Chulalongkorn I., Siam, and his four little nephews, Kitiya, Rabi, Pranit and China, and the Marquis de Mautri, arrived in Washington this morning. The dusky royalty of white elephant proclivities went at once to the Arlington, where they found their national banner floating from the flagstaff. The royal party have with them a tutor, ten secretaries and five servants. After breakfast, which was served soon after their arrival, the Prince smoked a cigar, and his valet made ready for him to bathe, a la Siamese. The four nephews range in age from eight to fifteen years of age, and all of them, including the eight-year-old, were arrayed in a Prince Albert coat and a Derby hat. They will remain in the city five or six days. There are no ladies in the party.

In 1872 there was imported into the United States entery to the value of $10,500,000, and very little was exported. Last year the imports of cutlery were less than $500,000, and the exports were over $2,000,000.

There are 78,000,000 acres of land in the United States planted in corn. This is as much as all the cultivated land in the country in 1860. Great Britain and Ireland together, if every acre was planted, would not equal this great American cornfield. This is a great country, ALIC.

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

SMALL-POX is raging in Cuba. TERRIBLE forest fires are raging in the northwest.

SEVERAL new cases of yellow fever have been reported at Key West, J. C. FLOOD, president of the Nevada Bank, is dying from an abscess in his head.

THE Southern Exposition at Louisville, Ky., opens August 27, 1887, and closes October 22d.

THE public debt of the United States was reduced over four million dollars during the month of July.

AN excursion train on the Toledo, Peoria and Warsaw Railroad went through a bridge at Chatsworth, Ills., Thursday night and 100 people were killed and injured.

MILLBROOK, Graham Co., twenty miles north of Kansas City, was almost destroyed about sundown on Thursday, by a straight wind coming from slightly west of north. The place contains about five hundred inhabitants. Only one house escaped serious damage. Four persons were killed and twenty-five injured, some having broken limbs. The towns of Hill City and Plainville also suffered extremely.

A PRAIRIE fire, which broke out about five o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the vicinity of Eighty-ninth and Halsted streets, Chicago, resulted three hours later in the total destruction of the Weber Wagon Works, at the corner of Eighty-first and Wallace streets, the Auburn school building, just across the street, a two-story flat adjacent to the school building, and four cottages on Wallace street, north of Eighty-first street.—Sun.

News from rice fields south of Charleston confirms the reports of the disaster to the crops. Over 15,000 acres of rice on Savannah river, almost ready to be harvested, is almost totally destroyed. The freshest of ten days ago has just reached the coast. Since then two other freshets have occurred in the upper river, and Augusta, 25 miles in the interior, is for the third time under water. Very little of the rice on Savannah river will be saved. On the Ogeechee river 1,500 acres are under water, and on Altamaha river, 5,000 acres are threatened, but not yet lost. The rice territory around and near Charleston is still unharmed. The annual product of rice in this State is about 100,000 barrels. It is thought now that fully one-half will be entirely lost.

GEO. RODGEY, eighteen years old, who resided near Williamsport in Grant county, W. Va., was struck by lightning on Sunday and instantly killed. He was sitting near the fire-place in his father's house, when the bolt came down the chimney through a stovepipe hole. The only mark left by the subtle fluid was a small blue spot on the young man's right shoulder. The stage driver just returned from Petersburg, in the same county, says that just as he passed Rodgey's house on Sunday a large ball of fire, about two feet in diameter, fell from the clouds, and when about six feet from the ground burst with a terrific report, scattering streaks of flame in every direction, and so frightening his horses as to render them almost unmanageable. This was a few minutes after Rodgey was killed.

THE storm of Tuesday night was pretty general throughout the Northwest, according to reports received at the railway offices and government signal station. At Milwaukee, Green Bay and St. Paul the rainfall was a quarter of an inch. At Duluth and Lacrosse only a trifle of rain was reported. Rain was reported Wednesday morning from the Hastings and Dakota division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad. The long drought in this state may be considered as broken. Reports from the lumber districts, where forest fires were raging, are to the effect that the rain has checked the progress of the flames, and given relief for the time being. Specials to the Evening Wisconsin from the interior of the state indicate that the wind storm which accompanied the rain was very violent, and that much damage has resulted in consequence. In the vicinity of Wauquan, hay-stacks and barns were leveled on all sides. A number of new buildings on the farm of John Burnham, of Milwaukee, were completely demolished. Frank Johnson, a farmer, living two miles south of Wauquan, was buried under the debris of his barn, and killed. At Portage a large number of buildings on the fair grounds were demolished, and the corn crop in that section almost ruined. A number of bridges in Fond du Lac county were swept away. At Horicon a number of buildings were unroofed. A regular panic ensued on Horicon Marsh, which was filled with haymakers when the storm struck, and tents, wagons, hay-stacks, etc., were sent flying in every direction.—Baltimore American

An Unwelcome Visitor.

Recently while engaged in preparing supper at the residence of Mr. Frantz, at Laurel Hill, in Clearspring, Washington county, Maria Taylor, the colored cook, had her attention attracted toward the door of the summer kitchen by a peculiar rapping upon the screen. Investigating the cause, she found that a large rattlesnake had taken possession of the porch.—Globe.

In the combination, proportion, and preparation of its ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures where other preparations entirely fail. Peculiar in its good name at home, which is a "tower of strength abroad," peculiar in the phenomenal sales it has attained, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, giving strength, and creating an appetite.

RECORDS are afloat that the Baltimore & Ohio railroad proposes building a branch road from Mt. Airy, this county, to Gettysburg, Pa., and an official of the road is reported to have said that the building of the line might not be so far off. Several months ago it was said that the Baltimore & Ohio proposed to build a road from the Relay to Westminster, thence on up into Pennsylvania. It is likely that neither branch will be undertaken for some time.—Westminster Advocate.

Death of Ex-Gov. Amos Reed.

In 1861 he established a paper in Madison, Wis., but removed the next year to Utah, of which Territory he was appointed secretary in 1864. He continued in office until 1868, acting as Governor part of the time.—Baltimore Sun.

The reservoir that supplies Union Bridge with water is said to be leaking considerably, and we learn that it will probably be repaired with stone and cement, which will require about 200 perches of the former and 200 or more barrels of the latter.

OUR readers have doubtless often noticed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is well spoken of in the newspapers. The press is quick to recognize merit, and does not hesitate to give praise where it is due. The following is from the Baptist Weekly, a leading religious paper: "Advertising may bring an article prominently before the public, but no advertising can long help it if it has not real merit. Hood's Sarsaparilla is well advertised; but the best proof of its value is that so many persons use it on the recommendations of friends who have proved its peculiar virtues."

Physicians Have Found Out

That a contaminating and foreign element in the blood, developed by indigestion, is the cause of rheumatism. This settles upon the sensitive subcutaneous covering of the muscles and ligaments of the joints, causing constant and shifting pain, and aggravating as a calcareous, chalky deposit which produces stiffness and distortion of the joints. No fact which experience has demonstrated in regard to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has stronger evidence to support than this, namely, that this medicine of comprehensive uses checks the formation and at once removes the cause of the disease, and is it less positively established that it is preferable to the poisons often used to treat it, since the medicine contains only salutary ingredients. It is also a specific remedy for neuralgic fevers, consumption, dyspepsia, kidney and bladder ailments, debility and other disorders. See that you get the genuine.

Pianomakers' Celebration.

The fiftieth anniversary of the firm of Wm. Knabe & Co., piano manufacturers, which occurred August 6, was celebrated on Wednesday by a gigantic picnic at the Eastern Schuetzen Park, on Belair road. As early as 10 o'clock in the morning the employees of the firm, together with their families and numerous friends, began to gather at the park, and at 3 P. M., about 5,000 had assembled there. This number was constantly increasing, and it is estimated that altogether from 12,000 to 15,000 people went out during the day.

Mr. Wm. Tades, one of the foremen of the Knabe piano factory, was the orator of the day on the part of the employees. He spoke about the history of the business, and the success which it met with during the 50 years of its existence. From a very small beginning it has risen to its present standpoint, being now one of the leading piano manufacturing of the world, whose instruments are being shipped all over the country. Every one of the employees, he said, felt proud of the honor of being connected with a firm which had gained such a reputation, and where only the most skillful workmen could be employed. He welcomed those present, and concluded with three cheers for the firm of Wm. Knabe & Co., which were heartily responded to by the assemblage.

Mr. Ernest Knabe, Mr. Charles Keidel and Mr. Wm. Knabe were then presented with a handsome solid gold medal about 12 inches in circumference. The medal is inscribed, "Presented to William Knabe & Co., 1837-1887, 50th anniversary, by the employees of the manufacturing department, August 6, 1887." In the centre of the front side there is engraved a grand piano, encircled by a raised wreath of laurel and a sunburst to represent the bright future of the work of the firm. The reverse side shows a very fine picture of the factory. The medal was designed by Mr. John Trockenbrodt.

Mr. Ernest Knabe was deeply moved by this token of esteem on the part of his workmen. He said: "A festival like the one to-day, a semi-centennial, is one vouchsafed to but very few manufacturing firms, and I only regret that I am not able to do the occasion justice in a speech. The magnificent present which you tender our firm is a complete surprise, for which I give you the most heartfelt thanks on the part of the entire firm. We shall always cherish it as a memento of this day and of your kind good-will and wishes." Mr. Knabe paid a high tribute to his father, the founder of the firm, and then referred to the history of the concern. There are still a great many men who have been with us 10, 20, 30 and 40 years, a fact which but few firms can show, and which would certainly not be the case had our mutual relations not been most satisfactory. You may rely upon our being the true friends of our employees. We hope that on your part it will always be a matter of pride and of friendly interest to use your best endeavors for the perfection of your work. I will close with the hope that we may celebrate many more of our annual festivals together, and that our sons, two of whom are working among you, will be able to celebrate with you and your sons the centennial of the firm."

Mr. Wm. Rohlfing, the Milwaukee (Wis.) agent of the firm, who has been connected with Messrs. Knabe for 29 years, and came to Baltimore for the special purpose of taking part in the celebration, made a few remarks.

The afternoon and evening were spent in pastimes of various kinds, including bowling, shooting, dancing and singing. Diversions were provided of many other kinds, including fireworks. All the German singing societies were represented, and congratulatory dispatches were received from friends in all parts of the country.—Sun.

Free them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of these. That is, to take Boschee's German Sgrupp, which any druggist will sell you at 25 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

The following is a list of the players and their positions given in their batting order:

Gettysburg—McCammon, 1st base; Minnigh, 2nd base; McPherson, catch; Hentzel, pitcher; Wolf, c. f.; Martin, l. f.; Shapley, r. f.; Martin, Jr., s. s.; E. McCammon, 3d b.

From the Boonshoro Times.

The hog cholera is reported as having made its appearance in this end of the county. Several hogs in the vicinity of Appletown and Dog Street are down with the disease.

A second and successful robbery was committed at the farm house on the farm tenanted by Mr. Martin R. Nicodemus, near Funkstown, Saturday evening. About 6 o'clock in the evening Mr. Nicodemus and family after locking up the house went to Hagerstown, leaving the hands at work in a field some distance from the house. The hands after finishing their day's work returned to the house and were surprised upon arriving there to find that one of the doors had been broken open. A search of the house was made to see if anything had been stolen, which resulted in one of the hands, Mr. Wm. Nannamaker, finding that $9 had been taken from the pocket of a coat left hanging in his room.

The exhibition of August meteors, which was advertised for Wednesday and Thursday evenings, did not come off in this locality according to programme. A few sight-seers looked in vain toward the stary heavens in hopes of witnessing a grand display of heavenly pyrotechnics, but were rewarded only by the sight of an occasional "shooting star," such a sight might be seen almost any evening. A few of one party of ladies and gentlemen that watched from an upper balcony far into the night, and grew quite enthusiastic whenever one of them saw a single meteor gleam across the sky, and excitedly exclaimed "there's one," and a young lady of the party, who remained watching long after the others left, was rewarded by seeing three meteors, one of which had a tail about two yards long.

Resignation of a Pastor.

Rev. A. S. Weber, pastor of St. Paul's Reformed Church of Westminster, has sent to the joint consistory his resignation of the pastorate of the church, adding that it be accepted, to take effect not later than October 1. The request was a surprise to the congregation, and occasions general regret. Mr. Weber also announced that he has received two calls—one to the presidency of a new college at Wichita, Kansas, and his other on the board of missions of Kansas City, Missouri, both under the control of the Reformed Church, and he was undecided as to his acceptance of either. Mr. Weber has been pastor of the church here about five years, and succeeded the Rev. Mr. Noes.—Sun.

A Hint to Farmers.

Isn't it a great mistake for farmers to crowd all their stock, farming implements, provender and grain, into their barns, so that if the barn takes fire, the flames destroy everything at one fell swoop? Wouldn't it be better to have hay, straw and fodder under barracks at a safe distance from the buildings? And wouldn't it be better to have horses and cattle housed in a stable separate from the barn? In a word is it prudent and economical to build large and costly barns and store them with the most inflammable material, so that the structure and contents may be reduced to ashes. In view of the many and heavy losses sustained by farmers by fires, this is a matter worthy of consideration.—Ex.

Miscellaneous.

County Roads and Supervisors. A correspondent writing to the Massachusetts Ploughman on the subject of county roads and supervisors, says: "There is hardly any place in our country roads but where is uphill and down, springy paces and soft places; and if they have a tile drain run through the center of the road, about four feet deep, with a two-inch tile, they would be remedied very much in muddy weather. Of course, it has been stated, this drawing back year after year of what has washed off of soil and sand on the side of the road and putting it in the middle of the road again is worse than nothing. There are often many places on our roads where there is gravel, and the road may be helped greatly by plowing it up and carting it down and filling the low places. There is very little dissection used in road repairing and road building by those who are supervisors, for they are men who know little or nothing about the business. I find that there are not many men who have intelligence enough to hold this office, because there are not many who understand the business and can do good work. Some of those who fill these offices work out their own salvation in them; but it is not much to the advantage of the people who have to use the roads, and it is very much to the detriment of the public. A man who has once been appointed highway supervisor takes two or three years to learn the business. After having learned it, if he does pretty well, it is better to keep him in for a while than to go to the expense of teaching somebody else who knows nothing about it. We poor farmers and taxpayers have to submit to poor officials, and then pay them for their waste."

Carbolic Acid and Insects.

This is the season for insects of all kinds, and the London Lancet of a late date contains the following recipe: Many people do not know how easily they can protect themselves and their children against the bites of gnats and other insects. Weak carbolic acid sponged on the skin and hair, and in some cases the clothing, will drive away the whole tribe. A great many children and not a few adults are tormented throughout the whole summer by minute enemies. We know persons who are afraid of picnics and even of their own gardens on this account. Clothing is an imperfect protection, for we have seen a child whose foot and ankle had been stung through the stocking so seriously that for days she could not wear a leather shoe. All this can be avoided according to our experience, and that we believe of many others, by carbolic acid judiciously used. The safest plan is to keep a saturated solution of the acid. The solution cannot contain more than six or seven per cent, and it may be added to water until the latter smells strongly. This may readily, and with perfect safety, be applied with a sponge. We have no doubt that horses and cattle could be protected in the same way from the flies, which sometimes nearly madden them, and it even seems possible that that terrible scourge, the African Tsetse fly, might be kept off in the same manner.

Quiet Domestic Life.

A waiter, in speaking upon this important subject, says: "I cannot help thinking that a set of Abbott's Franconian Stories placed in the hands of every family in the United States would do away with nine-tenths of the trials of both parents and children. For instance, Beecham's five rules of the government of children—they almost deserve to stand side by side with the Ten Commandments: 1. When you consent, consent cordially. 2. When you refuse, refuse finally. 3. When you punish, punish good naturedly. 4. Commend often. 5. Never scold."

Green Tomato Pickles.

Take green tomatoes, slice evenly and finely with or without sliced onion. To one gallon allow two quarts of vinegar, well spiced with cloves, cinnamon and ground mustard, with a half pound of sugar added.

Miscellaneous.

New Use for Sugar. Mr. Thomas Hankey, of Shipborne Grange, Tunbridge, writes to the London Times:—"My attention has been called by a gentleman well known in the scientific world to a new use for sugar, which, at the present low price of that article, might be capable of being practically applied. Experiments have recently been made proving that sugar is a valuable ingredient in mortar and cement, having strong binding qualities. Equal quantities of finely powdered lime of a very common kind were mixed with an equal quantity of good brown sugar, with the addition of water, and the result was a cement of exceptional strength. This has been tried at Peterborough Cathedral, two large pieces of stone of the broken tracery of a window having been joined firmly together by sugar mortar. The severest test is joining glass, which gives no hold to mortar without the use of sand, and this has been successfully done. The fact appears to be certain that sugar produces an extraordinary effect on lime when the latter has been allowed to fall into a fine powder and has been thoroughly slaked. Particles of unslaked lime would destroy the result, because of their expansion, which would make the mortar lift. The sugar mortar thus made will be found, I believe, to be as good as Portland cement; and the only question, therefore, would be one of cost, and it is probable that Portland cement itself would be made much stronger by the addition of sugar. Treacle might have the same effect. It is not necessary to mention in detail the numerous small experiments which have been made. It is a matter which any one can test for himself by joining bricks with Portland cement alone, and by joining others with sugar and water added to the cement. The fact that cane sugar and lime form a definite chemical compound has long been known. It is used, indeed, for various purposes, and it may be hoped that the suggestion of its use as an ingredient in mortar may be turned to practical account by builders and cement manufacturers. It has been suggested to me that the use of sugar is the secret of the success of the old Roman mortar."

Flies Walk Up.

"I have only known of one instance where baldness proved remunerative," said an old gentleman to a St. Louis Globe writer. "A friend of mine, who had a shining pate, fell into the habit of watching the actions of his tormentors, the flies. He noticed that a fly always walks upward. Put a fly on a window, and up he goes toward the top; he can't be made to walk downward. So my friend hit upon an idea. Why not use that habit against them? Forthwith he made a window screen, divided in half. The upper half lapped over the lower, with an inch of space between. Well, as soon as a fly would light on the screen he would proceed to travel upward, and would thus walk straight outdoors. On reaching the top of the lower half he would be outside. Not being able to walk down, he had no way to return to the room. By this means a room can be quickly cleared of flies, which always seek the light. My friend has got out a patent, and proposes to begin a systematic war against the household pest."

Drink Water Before Breakfast.

According to Dr. Leaf, when water is taken into the full, or partly full stomach, it does not mingle with the food, as we are generally taught, but passes along quickly between the food and the lesser curvature, towards the pylorus, through which it passes into the intestine. The secretion of mucus by the lining membrane is constant, and during the night a considerable amount accumulates in the stomach; some of its liquid portion is absorbed, and that which remains is thick and tenacious. If food is taken into the stomach when in this condition, it becomes coated with this mucus, and the section of the gastric juice and its action are delayed. These facts show the value of a goblet of water before breakfast. This washes out the tenacious mucus and stimulates the gastric glands of secretion. In old and feeble persons water should not be taken cold, but it may be with great advantage then taken warm or hot. This removal of the accumulated mucus from the stomach is probably one of the reasons why taking soap at the beginning of a meal has always been found so beneficial.

"I DON'T believe I shall be able to go to the grave," said the bereaved widow; "the ordeal through which I have passed seems to have taken away my strength entirely." "I can quite understand it," responded a sympathizing friend, "but I would make an effort to do so. The ride will do you good."

"I RECKON we'll have to give up the idea of puttin' pictures in the parlor, Miranda," remarked Jeremiah Turnipseed as he threw the bundle under the table. "Why?" asked Miranda. "Too dear. Why I priced one at the city to-day, and the dealer sez, 'That's an old master; it's price is $5,000.'" "Why," sez I, "it looks like a second hand pictur'." "Yes, it is," sez he. Then, thinks I, if a second-hand pictur costs that much, it's no use to price a new un. So, Miranda, I reckon we'll have to hang up a few mottoes, 'God Bless Our Home' and the like, and let the pictures go."

A NEW reporter had joined the staff. He was writing up his first assignment, which was the resuscitation of a half-drowned woman. The city editor looked over the scribbler's shoulder, and this is what he read: "The fair form lay on the dock, and her short pants—" "Put, tut, young man," said the city editor, "none of your Zola realism; not on this great religious daily; drop that pants business." The new reporter smiled softly and wrote on: "And her short pants for breath showed that consciousness was returning."—Williamsport (Pa.) Breakfast Table.
