

Miners Entombed.

An extensive cave-in occurred at the Gaylord mine of the Kingston Coal Company, at Plymouth, Pa., Tuesday morning.

Thirteen men are hemmed in one of the gangways. The air supply is cut off and the chance of living for any length of time is very small.

The section of the mine in which the men are imprisoned is a portion of the Baltimore vein, which at this point is very thick, and the men were engaged in placing large timbers as a prop and support for the roof.

The affected part covers an area of six hundred yards, and there is a strong disposition on the part of the men who are well acquainted with the mine to say that there is little hope of their being rescued, especially if the fall is one that has had sufficient force and no resistance to fill up the worked-out gangway and chambers of the Baltimore vein.

It will be several days and the most heroic work must be done before the men can be reached and their fate ascertained.

The men were warned Monday that there was danger ahead, but they were of the opinion that the danger was not sufficient for them to stay out. They said, however, to the hoisting engineer as they went down the pit, that should anything occur they would be in the big branch in the Bennett vein.

The scene about the mine is heartrending, and from the present outlook there will be at least eleven widows and many orphans to suffer the loss of their only support.

The officials are hard at work to devise some plan or means of rescue, but in order to get the men they will have to penetrate through four hundred feet of solid coal and rock.

The work of digging their way through the coal from the foot of the shaft to reach the entombed men began Tuesday evening. It is not known how long it will take and it is possible that they will never be reached or found.—Sun.

The wind and snow storm of Monday caused much damage in many sections of the country. At Chicago the wind reached a velocity of seventy-five miles an hour and the snow blocked travel.

Perished in the Storm.

Reports received from Oklahoma and the Indian Territory make it almost certain that at least thirty lives were lost during the great storm of Sunday. Many isolated homesteads where the families were poorly prepared for the winter cannot be heard from for days and possibly weeks, and there is reason to believe that thirty will not represent the total of the dead.

Four trains that have been snow-bound near Red Rock, in the Cherokee Strip, for 30 hours are again running. Besides two families reported frozen near Cross, an unknown man was found near the Poncha Indian Agency frozen stiff. Near Stillwater a man was frozen to death under his house, and south of Cleveland, in county Q, a family of three perished.

It stood the Test. Saturday a great steel armor plate, a part of the 11 1/2-inch barbettes armor of the battleship Monadnock, was set up as a target for the big eight-inch rifle at the Indian Head proving grounds, on the Patomac River, and successfully stood the tests, on which depended the acceptance of about 300 tons of armor, worth $180,000.

Representatives of the company were on the ground to witness the test. A 250-pound solid shot, with a charge of seventy pounds of powder was fired, and penetrated the plate, but failed to crack it. The second projectile of the same variety, but with 98 1/2 pounds of powder behind it, was a test for penetration, and the plate was to be acceptable, provided the shot did not pass through both the steel plate and backing.

Fish in the Potomac.

A bill limiting the time for catching shad in the Potomac river was introduced in the Legislature by Mr. Baer. It provides that it shall be unlawful to catch fish above the "Little Falls" by means of sledging, trot lines or with live bait. It also prohibits the catching of salmon between May 1 and June 1 and the destroying of fish with any poison or other means at any time.

He has three times obtained the necessary license, made ready the marriage feast, and bidden the guests, and three times he failed to pull off the happy event.
