

ANOTHER DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Those democrats who repudiated the platform adopted by the democratic convention which was held in Chicago some time ago, declaring for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, are holding a convention in Indianapolis, Ind., and will adopt a platform which will declare for the gold standard as the basis of our money system.

The convention was called to order in Tomlinson Hall, at 12:30 o'clock, Wednesday, by United States Senator Palmer, of Illinois. Ex-Gov. Roswell P. Flower, of New York, was selected temporary chairman of the convention and made a speech.

At 4:30 o'clock the convention reassembled and the committees reported. United States Senator Caffrey, of Louisiana, was made permanent chairman and addressed the delegates.

After some further speech-making the convention adjourned until 11 o'clock Thursday, when it is expected that a platform will be adopted and nominations will be made.

Yesterday John McAuley Palmer, of Illinois, was nominated for president, and Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, of Kentucky, for vice-president.

Disappeared from Harper's Ferry.

About a month ago a well educated man, supposed to have come from Washington, stopped at the boarding-house of Mrs. Trail, on Main street, Harper's Ferry. When he had been there a few days he expressed a desire to go bass fishing, and on leaving paid his bill in full, as he said he might be gone several days. His valises and other baggage were left at the house when he departed.

Colored Judges of Elections.

Colored men will serve as election officials this year in Baltimore for the first time in the history of the city. Three of that color have been selected by the present board of supervisors on account of the impossibility, it is said, of securing white republicans for the positions.

The selections are J. T. Bradford, ninth precinct of the eleventh ward, and J. C. Minnis, seventh precinct of the eleventh ward. Brown is a barber, Minnis a confectioner and Bradford a provision dealer, and all three are said to be representatives of the better class of colored people and well-to-do.

When Bradford, who is said to be worth $60,000, was notified to appear at the office of the supervisors and qualify, he wrote from Panquier White Sulphur Springs, near which place he was spending his vacation, inquiring if it were necessary that he should appear at the office on the day named in the notice.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The Republican County Convention, which was held in Frederick on Thursday of last week, will be remembered as the most notable of its kind ever held in Frederick county. The convention adopted resolutions endorsing Mr. John C. Motter for Congress, and elected delegates and alternates to the Congressional Convention, which meets at Oakland, September 9. The following are the delegates and alternates:

Delegates—Hon. M. G. Urner, Charles S. Snook, Melvin P. Wood, David W. Whip, George W. Crum, J. P. T. Matthias.

Alternates—Hon. Chas. F. Markell, Walter Myers, Dr. D. F. McKinney, E. E. Harn, E. R. Zimmerman, Thomas P. Hightman.

The convention was divided into two factions—Motter and Haffner factions,—and the fight for supremacy began with the selection of a chairman. Mr. Lewis Shoemaker was named for chairman by the Haffner men.

The Sun says: Mr. Chas. F. Rowe, of Emmitsburg, nominated Charles S. Snook, a Motter man, but the chair did not recognize the motion, and declared Mr. Shoemaker chairman. This precipitated a scene of excitement. Instantly men yelling, screaming and struggling were rushing toward the stage entering their protests, and yelling "gag law," "snap judgment" and "unfair," "shameful treatment." The convention actually went wild.

Pandemonium ensued. Yelling men surged upon the stage, clamoring for Motter and Haffner.

Motter was vainly appealing for order when George Brune, a powerful built man, a hotel proprietor of Brunswick, went upon the stage and lured over toward Mr. Motter. Mr. Motter's friends, considering the action of Brune as in the nature of a threat, rushed to his rescue. Robert Delanter dealt Brune a blow which knocked him down into the auditorium, where men jumped upon him and stamped him amid screams and shouts. The wildest kind of excitement now prevailed. It was a reign of brute force. Men were kicked, knocked and thumped around like rags. Chairs and canes and umbrellas were flying right and left.

In the midst of the scrimmage Fuller B. Rice, a miller, of Buckeystown, raised a chair and dealt Wm. E. Nuss, of Frederick city, a blow over the head that laid him out, giving him a bad scalp wound from which the blood flowed freely. Frenzied by excitement, Rice again whirled his heavy oak chair and brought it down with great force on the head of Daniel E. Burras, also of Frederick city. The force of the blow broke the chair into pieces and sent them flying through the hall. Seeing his weapon was gone, Rice then beat a hasty retreat through the crowd over the fallen men for the street, where he jumped in his buggy and left the city pursued by officers. Burras sustained two scalp wounds and left the hall to have them dressed and remove his clothing which was saturated with blood.

During the excitement calls were made upon the sheriff and police for protection. Many men rushed pell-mell for the doors and windows expecting every moment to be knocked down by flying chairs.

Peace was finally restored by Sheriff A. C. McBride and his deputies ejecting Brune from the hall.

J. K. COWEN BADLY HURT.

J. K. Cowen, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, who is summing at Nantucket, Mass., with his family, met with a painful accident Saturday evening while riding his bicycle.

In trying to pass over an unused horse car track he was thrown to the ground, dislocating his shoulder and badly bruising his body.

At the election held in Vermont Tuesday the republicans carried the State by between 35,000 and 40,000 majority. Josiah Grout, republican was elected Governor, as was also the entire State ticket. The majority is the largest ever given for a Governor in the history of the Green Mountain State.

BLAIR LEE FOR CONGRESS.

The democrats of the sixth congressional district met at Oakland, on Thursday of last week and nominated Blair Lee, of Montgomery county, for Congress without opposition.

Charles M. Miller, of Swanton, was made chairman and Lewis D. Seyster secretary.

During the absence of the committee on organization Maurice Talbot, of Montgomery county, spoke upon the political question of the day. He said the democratic platform of today was typically Jeffersonian.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"The democratic party, true to its history as the representative of the common people and the defender and advocate of legislation calculated to carry out the idea of government based upon the doctrine of guaranteeing to all the people an unqualified right to liberty and the pursuit of happiness, give their unqualified indorsement to the platform adopted by the national democratic convention recently held in Chicago, and we pledge ourselves to prosecute an active and earnest campaign with the intent and purpose of giving an overwhelming majority to Bryan and Sewall in Maryland.

"We condemn with all the emphasis we have power to express the undemocratic attempt of the republicans, of banks and other corporations of wealth and power to steal the name of democracy and debauch its pure history by making it the champion of the element who in their selfish hunger for power over their fellows have ever been oppressive to the masses.

"We especially indorse that plank of the Chicago platform which declares for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold.

"We believe the demonization of silver twenty-three years ago was an act which more than any other piece of legislation ever enacted has decreased the value of the products of labor until we now witness the spectacle of discontent and starvation in the midst of bountiful harvests."

Mr. Blair Lee, the nominee, is the nephew of the late Montgomery Blair. He is a lawyer of Montgomery county and practices largely in Washington city. He has never held any public office. He is about thirty-eight years of age and graduated at Princeton College in the class of 1880. He stood high in college and was also distinguished for his athletic attainments, being half back of the college football team. He has been a free silver advocate for a number of years. He is one of the wealthiest citizens of Montgomery county.

Eight hundred delegates, representing forty-one states and territories, compose the Democratic gold-standard convention at Indianapolis. President Cleveland's close friends oppose the suggestion of his nomination. While a number of names are mentioned, there is a strong sentiment in favor of Bragg and Buckner as the ticket.

PERIODICALLY DIA? AND DUMB. While talking to some friends Sunday, Patrick Healey of Wilkesbarre, Pa., was stricken deaf and dumb. He wrote on a piece of paper: "Do not be alarmed. This will pass off in three days. I know what it is. I've had it before." It seems that Healey, while in Ireland twenty years ago, was thrown from a horse. As a result of injuries received, he was deaf and dumb for three days. Every four years since then he has had a similar attack, lasting in each instance three days.

MAYO AT REHEARSAL

HOW THE FAMOUS ACTOR TRAINED THE MEMBERS OF HIS COMPANY.

His Fondness For "Pudd'nhead Wilson's Ambitious Attempts as a Manager Which Failed—His Betselling Penchant For Arguing Was His Worst Fault.

"The late Frank Mayo, whose sudden death on a train near Omaha was such a painful shock to the whole dramatic profession, was one of the most severe and at the same time most just managers that it has ever been my pleasure to act under."

Mr. Mayo acted every role in the play for the purpose of showing the members of the company how he wanted it played. He would get to the bottom of the idea, and if a good reason was advanced for it, it found ready acceptance.

He was this way in everything. I remember that he taught me fencing when I was a mere boy, and in return I taught him what I knew about boxing. I usually boxed about one minute and explained 15. I would make a lead or a counter or a guard, and Mr. Mayo would say: "Stop, now. Why do you do that?"

It was his great success was very gratifying to Mr. Mayo, and he deserved it. He wasted several fortunes in the effort to give the public first class productions of the classical drama, which they would not receive.

Mr. Mayo's county seat at Canton, Pa., adjoined that of my father. It was at his home that the nobleman was seen at his best—and his worst. His worst consisted of a penchant for arguing.

Mr. Mayo loved to argue, and he would never let up until you acknowledged your error. He would come on and fall into a chair in admiration of his earnestness, his sincerity and his marvelous command of language and words.

Mr. Mayo once told me that he had discovered the secret of true elocution. You must emphasize only those words which could be left out of a sentence without destroying the sense he argued.

"I'm told you were at the theater last evening. How did you like it?" "No good." "Well, what did you see anyhow?" "Oh, I saw a dozen imbeciles on the stage who were trying to amuse the audience, which consisted of a dozen idiots."—Figaro.

ENGLISHMEN AND AMERICA.

Many Who Have Been Warm Friends of This Country.

The fact is that the English public men who have understood America, or who have seemed to care to understand her, have, at least until recently, always represented a small minority.

The Englishmen who have understood American life have judged it by something besides the froth of the irresponsible press and the antics of provincial "statesmen."

In the northern part of Georgia I came upon a negro cabin, and, as I approached, it became evident that some extraordinary commotion was going on within. In fact, shouts and yells of terror succeeded one another so rapidly that I hastened to see what could be the trouble.

The best tacks are made of imported Swedish iron, the next grade of American soft iron and the cheapest of common American iron. Tacks are also made of copper. Some tacks are tinned, and for ship use tacks are galvanized.

Tacks that are sold in papers are put up in full weights, half weights, and quarter weights, the weight indicating the size of the package. Almost all kinds of tacks are also sold in bulk in 25 pound and 50 pound boxes and in 100 pound kegs.

I learn several great truths—as that it is impossible to see into the ways of futurity; that punishment always attends the villain; that love is the gold sower of the human breast.—Goldsmith.

WHAT THEY EAT IN EGYPT.

Kabob and Green Cakes Form an Epicurean Meal For Five Cents.

Margherita Arlina Hamm, a clever writer on the New York Herald and Express, says that every country has its own little delicacies, and the British soldiers who pour into Egypt undoubtedly buy from the street hawkers the green cakes, and possibly the kabobs, for which the land of the Nile is famous.

The green cake is not a cake in the ordinary sense of the word, but is a sort of meat, mutton or goat, the latter being broiled in so ridiculous a fashion as to be really funny.

The green cake of the market varies from 2 to 4 inches in width, but is rarely more than a quarter of an inch thick. About one-half are made by bakers and one-half by the women of the working classes.

As I drew near before the door half a dozen ragged pickaninnies ran out. All but one of them were screaming and crying at the tops of their voices, while the odd one, as merry as the others were, began tumbling cartwheels and standing on his head.

There is to this day something terrible in laughter. The laugh of madness or of frenzy is a sound more awful than that of the hissing lamentations.

By means of that strange phonograph that we call literature we can listen even now to the laughter of the dead, to the hearty guffaws or cynical titterings of generation after generation of bygone men and women, and if we are curious in such matters we can probe into the nature of the changes that have passed over the fashion of men's humor.

Putting ear to our phonograph, we catch the echoes of a strange and merry tumult; boisterous, cruel, often brutal, yet here and there a tender cadence from some solitary voice; and presently this lonely note grows stronger and sweeter, as we travel slowly toward our time, until at length, through all the merriment, we can hear the soft under-murmur of pity. Does the picture not seize the imagination—the long laughter of the ages which begins in cruelty and ends in love?—Westminster Review.

It would probably take many generations of undesired and undesirable adversity to train Americans into the far-seeing thriftiness of the Scotch. An illustration of this thrift is contained in the story of a Scotchwoman who had been promised a present of a new bonnet by a lady. Before she made the purchase, the lady called and asked the good woman: "Would you rather have a felt or a straw bonnet, Mrs. Wilson?" "Weel," said Mrs. Wilson, "I think I'll tak' a straw one. It'll maybe be a mouthful to the coo when I'm done wi' it!"—Youth's Companion.

Wonderful Vitality of Seeds.

Professors Webster and Pouchet, who have recently been engaged in experimenting on the vitality of seeds, find that the seed of Medicago americana (lucerne) may be boiled uninterruptedly for four hours without losing their vitality.

Seeds so treated sprouted and sprung up in from 12 to 17 days.—St. Louis Republic.
