Fishing For Tuna, Santa Clara. The fish ranged from 4 to 6 feet in weight, judging from their size. Like wolves they had rushed in from the deep snapping at them and following them up into the air. Moving on, we found the school of unfortunates, a brownish patch of solid fish in the water, into which the tunas were charging. I have fished in the haunts of the tarto be found in American waters, but ounce rod or a tarpon outfit. We baited with large smelt and began trolling through the school. I soon had a strike, and, while not unused to surprises, I lost 300 feet of line and the tip of my rod so quickly that I hardly realized what had happened. My companion had his fine rod jerked from his hands, and I believe the fish was of the largest size, which nothing could stop. - Sportsman's Magazine.

Wilder Fools His Cows.

Dairyman Wilder, whose milkproducing establishment is about ten miles north of Santa Cruz, is one of the most ingenious men in all California, and has done what no other dairyman ever attempted. Everybody that has ever tried to milk a cow before daylight knows what a job it is. Bossv is generally of the opinion that there is a time for all things, and firmly objects to being awakened and milked when she thinks that she should be asleep. Many cows will refused to be milked to the extent of kicking and lying down. All of these troubles have been Dairyman Wilder's and not long ago he determined to overcome them. In fact, in was necessary that he should, as he was often late in getting milk to his customers in Santa Cruz. It cost considerable money, but he has more than made up for the outlay. At present he has one of the finest individual electric light plants in the State and his cows are as easy to milk as in broad daylight. When the electric plant was in position and ready for work there were three big arc lights over the centre of the yard where the cows slept at night and dozens of others fixed all over the different buildings, the entire lot capable of producing about 10,000 candle-power enough to make the yard as bright as day. The plant was of the best quality and everything was tried in the daytime before the surprise was sprung on the cows. It worked like a charm. The bright rays of the light had no sooner been turned on than the cows commenced to get up. Most ed the poultry, for the cocks commenced to crow and the hens went around hunting for nests. Ducks

It has not proved a case of the animals getting used to it, for they behave the same way now after the artificial sunrise has been in operation for several months. Poor ance of Mr. Wilder's shabby trick.

When "The Philadelphia Record" untool ninet en years ago to demonstrate that the best of morning newspapers could be made and solf for one cent, publishers were generally skeptical. But the world of readers was not asleep. Consequently "The Record" was not long it reaching a commanding position, and, improving upon this, its circulation and influence werifinally recognized among the foremost of America's great formals. Hence the compliment of initiation which is now paid to it in every city of note from the Atlantic coast to the Mississippi Valley. Every city worth mentioning now has one or more good one-cent morning dailies, though so recently as only 19 years ago Philadelphia and The Record" stood alone is this respect.

News Concisely Published without the omission of any essential footure is still the BEST NEWS, not-withstanding the once prevalent tenden-cy to pad it and stretch it out.
