TOLD BY SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

This is the latest, and possibly the best, story which Sir Thomas Lipton is telling upon himself. "Recently," he says, "I stepped into a smoking compartment of a Caledonian train, and was followed shortly by an elderly lady who carried a small and obtrusive dog.

"This is a smoking compartment, madam," I said.

"It is not," the old lady answered with asperity.

"I beg your pardon," I persisted, pointing to the legend on the window, "it is."

"I don't care," she retorted. At any rate, I never allow any one to smoke in my presence."

"Bye and bye I produced a favorite pipe and began to smoke. A moment later the woman snatched the pipe from me and flung it far out of the carriage. Thereupon I lifted the pet dog and hurled him after the pipe. The lady raved until the next station was reached, when she had me arrested. The argument bade fair to last for several hours, when the difficulty was solved by the arrival of the little dog carrying the pipe in his mouth."—Philadelphia Record.

GREECE.

Greece to-day compels attention, just in a measure, as she did two thousand years ago. Whether it be that the same untainted blood still flows in the people or that the soil gives to those who now dwell on it the qualities of the ancient inhabitants, there is no doubt that many of the traits our classical reading prepared us to expect are found in the present inhabitants of this country.

Intellectually. They are extremely bright and quick intellectually, more so perhaps than the Italians. Hence this land produced the masters of the Western world in the domain of philosophy, and no doubt would have developed Aquinas and Liguori in theology but for the blight of the schism which rent it from the centre of unity one thousand years ago. Even the two doctors just named are probably of Greek blood.

Religion. They seem to be quite religious, keeping up churches that would do credit to any race in the United States with the voluntary system we are acquainted with at home. The Government gives nothing to the Church nor to the clergy. The latter seem to us to be grave, decent self-respecting men, who are accordingly esteemed by the people.

Fasting. The spectacle of a score of men in a small public eating-house making their dinner of bread and vegetables in this their Holy Week is so extraordinary that one cannot help noticing it. And these men doctors, professors of high attainments, officers in the army, etc.

Temperance. Their temperance is simply marvelous. We have seen them everywhere, and their favorite beverage is water, their stimulant half a gill of coffee or perhaps (for laborers) as much as a very weak spirit called mastic.

Honesty. They are as honest as any other people we have met. Indeed, one finds that it is an awfully risky business, this accusing another people of dishonesty. When one hears travelers tell of what they experienced in one's own country the blood rises to the cheek.

Polliteness. The Greeks are not polished and attractive in the same degree as the French. Not at all. What nation can approach "la belle France" in fascination? But they are easy and courteous, finding it no trouble (as we do) to say "good day" to the passer. Astonishing what virtue there is in this little salutation! Would that we in the United States could understand and adopt it!

Cleanliness. Southern people in no part of the world are noted for this trait. But the most memorable recollection of our visit to Mycenae is the sight of a hatless, shoeless urchin in ragged shirt and trousers, which were as clean as soap and water could make them. We asked his mother's name. "Penelope." We write it here to our own immense satisfaction and to the honor of this unknown poor woman, who doubtless lived in a hut which a donkey, chickens, etc., shared with her family.

Music. The natural civilized way in which the men and their wives and children stroll along the splendid road, through miles of olive grove, of a Sunday afternoon and take their glass of water at some "piperian spring," has an everlasting charm, while the taste of the youths and children that displays itself in their impromptu songs of an evening is very delightful.

Patriotism. The Greeks burn and blaze with love of country. It will bring tears to your eyes to hear the poorly-clad boys in a village school sing, under the direction of their teacher, their "Klept" songs, those songs which their noble fathers, branded as "robbers" by the trumpet of tyranny, sang in the mountains of Albania, of Macedonia, of Thessaly, in the days before freedom came again.

Teachers.

As far as one can judge, Greece is far ahead of the United States in the training and capacity of her teachers. We were charmed with their information, their culture and their devotion to their high calling. Indeed, we never visited nor heard of schools, primary or secondary that had teachers of such advanced preparation. And they were so glad to receive visitors at any time, and they invite you to examine the pupils whenever you drop in. Oh how different from certain institutions with which we are associated at home! The gentleman in the village school referred to not only displayed his boys for our pleasure (and perhaps for his glory,) but positively wouldn't let us go without the temperate refreshment of a cup of coffee.

Education. The Greeks, like the Scotch and many of the Irish, are eager, hungry for knowledge, partly because it is the only riches they may acquire. Hence they must go abroad, for their own little country has not places enough for so many scholars. And they will go abroad and have great to do in the teaching of other nations, as of old.

The pupils correspond to the ability and zeal of the masters and show remarkable talent and industry. Something novel for Americans to hear. The boys of school age are forbidden to smoke cigarettes and the teachers may admonish them even out of school hours for violation of this rule. In fact, the fourth commandment is observed in Greece, as it is in Italy. A school boy was actually known to refuse a cigarette offered him.

Poverty. There is poverty in Greece, but no pauperism. The schools are rich in learning, often poor in furniture, surroundings, etc., because the Government, doing all it can, cannot do any better. But how indefinitely preferable the unpainted desks made by the village carpenter and the cheap coverless editions of Homer, Xenophon, etc., with application, zeal and intellectual brilliancy, to polished furniture, splendid school-rooms, pianos, rolling maps, etc., where the main qualities are wanting in pupils and in teachers!

Religion in Schools. Every session in the public schools is opened and closed with prayer by one of the pupils. A priest teaches catechism in every school, as well as sacred history.

Leucis. The little town is very clean and well paved. It is in a very famous situation, right opposite Actium, near which the "noble Brutus" tried his last fall with the imperial pretenders and Augustus vanquished his effeminate rival.

Small wonder that with such surroundings and the numberless examples of their own glorious history, the people here should be full of the spirit of liberty and ambitious of noble deeds for their country and for humanity.

We are about leaving beautiful, glorious Iellas. May God bless and keep her, bring back her church to the old fold, which in former days her doctors so splendidly adorned, and help her children to carry out their vocation, to be as of old the chief cultivators not only of philosophic and literary thought, but of individual manliness and civil liberty!

EDWARD McSWEENEY, Leucis, Greece.

"THERE'S one paradoxical thing in politics," said the successful politician. "And that is?" queried his admirer. "That you've got to have good backing if you want to make a good front."

TIMBER 1,000 YEARS OLD.

Odd Bits of Information About The World's Timber.

Experts seem to be divided as to which of the two hard woods—Jarrah and Karri—of Western Australia is the most durable, says the London Leader.

Jarrah wood piles two feet two inches square, driven thirty-three years ago at the Largs Bay pier, were found, upon examination, to be as sound as the day they were put in.

Some specimens of Karri wood taken from a fence were examined in London, and, though the wood had been underground for twenty-five years, it was perfectly sound. A specimen of Jarrah wood under similar circumstances showed serious decay.

Timber of the Tamarisk or Shittim wood has been found perfectly sound in the ancient temples of Egypt in connection with the stonework which is known to be at least 4,000 years old.

In some tests made with the squares of different woods buried one inch in the ground the following results were obtained: Birch and aspen decayed in three years; willow and horse chestnut in four years; maple and red beech in five years; elms, ash, hornbeam and Lombardy poplar in seven years; oak, Scotch fir, Weymouth pine and silver fir decayed to a depth of half an inch in seven years; larch, juniper and arbor vitae were unharmed at the expiration of the seven years.

Cocus wood is the hardest known wood; oak is the strongest. The heaviest British wood is that of the box tree, which sinks in water. Hornbeam is the strongest and toughest wood for mechanical use.

The strongest American wood is the nutmeg hickory; the most elastic, the Tamar oak; the heaviest, the bluewood of Texas.

In situations so free from moisture that we may practically call them dry the durability of timber is almost unlimited. The roof of Westminster Hall is more than 450 years old. In Stirling Castle are carvings in oak, well preserved, over 300 years of age. Scotch fir has been found in good condition after a known use of 300 years, and the trusses of the roof of the basilica of St. Paul, Rome, were sound and good after 1,000 years service.

Wood constantly wet in fresh water is quite as durable. Piles were dug from the foundations of the old Savoy Palace in a perfectly sound state after having been down 650 years. The piles of old London Bridge were found sound and perfect 300 years after they were driven.

A Typical Chinese Menu.

Here is the menu of a Chinese dinner eaten in Peking just prior to the massacre: The first course was a kind of square tower formed of slices of breast of goose—fat, rich goose it was, too—and of a fish which the Chinese call "cow's head," with a large dish of hashed tripe and hard eggs. Next came grains of pickled wheat and barley, shellfish, enormous prawns, preserved ginger and fruits. All these were eaten with ivory chopsticks, which the guests brought with them. On grand occasions the first dish is always birds' nest soup which consists of a thick, gelatinous substance. The second course is a ragout of sea snails, their taste resembling that of the green fat of turtle. The snails are followed by a dish of the flesh covering the skulls of sturgeons. Other dishes consist of sharks' fins mixed with slices of pork, ducks' tongues and deers' tendon—a royal dish. Stewed plums and boiled rice are often added, and last of all, tea is served.

Western barbarians do not wish to be bigoted, but it strikes the fastidious American who has been "feeding" at his club and the best restaurants, not to mention at the expense of his friend's French chef, that this sort of diet is sufficient to make Boxers and pretty much anything else out of the human being who indulged in it. Tell me what a man eats and I'll tell you what manner of man he is, is the new aphorism.—Boston Herald.

HINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS.

Modern Arrangement of Furniture. Informality of arrangement is the proper thing these days in living rooms, libraries, dens, etc., or, in fact, in any room where the family live. Reception or drawing rooms may be made as elaborately handsome as desired, but those for daily, comfortable use should be tastefully consistent in their furnishing, yet not one thing to appear as too good for constant and careless use.

To Set Off the Mantel. A bas-relief placed over the fireplace or mantel is a late idea in house decorating that is usually effective. A number of quite artistic pieces may be had from the plaster-cast vendors that give admirable results.

Bagdads to Order. Do you know the Bagdad stripes, so popular for heavy hangings, are the easiest thing in the world to rip apart and sew together again. Many of the best shops now allow of a choice of combinations when buying a good grade of these curtains, and it makes all the difference in the world how they are combined.

In The Matter of Rugs.

One of the artistic home decorator's unwritten laws is always to have one centre rug in the dining-room large enough to hold the chairs comfortably when people are seated at the table. A number of small rugs dispersed at intervals may be permissible in other rooms but not in the dining-room. Brass nails and sockets now come for fastening rugs to the floor, and these are often used. Strips of lead fastened in an invisible facing underneath is another way of preventing rugs from curling up or slipping on a polished floor.

Wall Coverings That Are New.

Plain wall coverings throw out pictures better, but are not so new or fashionable as other kinds. Bar-laps in green or dark reddish shades of brown in heraldic designs are very smart for the library. Up-and-down stripes in paper are very stylish. A dado of dark green velour paper running up about four feet, with a large rose design above, is one of the newest and most charming effects for parlor paper.

The yellow papers patterned after those so much used in old colonial mansions are great favorites just at present for covering dining room walls, as they bring out the blue and white china, the present craze for dining room decoration.

White grounds predominate in bedroom or boudoir papers.—Philadelphia Record.

Not Ashamed To Own It.

Judge Ed Jared, in his recent experience as a census enumerator in Murfreesboro, had to get a "cald lad's" census, and the following dialogue was called off:

"How old are you Mary?" "Oh Lordy, mister, I dunno." "Were you born in Tennessee?" "No sah. I was bawn in Salem." "Where was your father born?" "He bawn dar too." "Where was your mother born?" "She bawn in Eagleville." "Can you read?" "Yes sah." "Write?" "Yes sah." "Speak English?" "No sah."—Murfreesboro News-Banner.

Force of Habit.

The eminent statesman was talking his speech into a phonograph. "That's a new idea," said one of the bystanders. "Why does he stop every few minutes and seem to wait for something?" "He's listening for the applause," said the other bystander.—Chicago Tribune.

The progressive nations of the world are the great food consuming nations. Good food well digested gives strength. If you cannot digest all you eat, you need Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat. You need not diet yourself. It contains all of the digestants combined with the best known tonics and reconstructives. It will even digest all classes of foods in a bottle. No other preparation will do this. It instantly relieves and quickly cures all stomach troubles. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

A BIG STRIKE.

The great strike of the Pennsylvania Anthracite coal miners began on Monday and nearly all the collieries in that region are now idle.

W. S. V. Thorne, vice president of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, who was in Scranton on Wednesday, made the following statement concerning the miners and the conditions in the mines of his company:

"During the month of August the miners at all the collieries of the Pennsylvania Coal Company earned an average of $2.60 per day, or a total of $52 for the twenty days worked, after paying all their expenses for powder, oil, etc.; their average wages received per day worked from January 1st until August 31st was $2.55.

At Hurd's Lane, about four miles west of the city, the water ran to a height of 14 feet. Hung up in the trees and fences are the bodies of men, women and children, which are being collected and cremated as rapidly as possible.

All is in readiness to turn on the current for the arc light in the business district, but because of the danger from hanging wires on the circuit the matter of lighting will be postponed. Three telephone wires are now working between Galveston and Houston.

Clara Barton, President of the Red Cross Society, has issued an appeal to the American people for money and supplies for the sick and wounded. Her idea is to spend some of the money with local merchants wherever practicable.

6,000 PROBABLY PERISHED.

All estimates of the number of dead in Galveston have been made as conservative as possible, but the evidence grows stronger that the figures have been only too small. It is now believed that 6,000 persons perished in the flood.

The work of extricating bodies from the mass of wreckage continues. Tuesday over 400 were taken out of the debris which lines the beach front. With all that has been done to recover bodies buried beneath or pinned to the immense drift, the work has scarcely started.

Under one pile of wreckage 20 bodies were taken out and cremated. In another pile a man pulled out the remains of two children. For a moment he gazed upon them and then mechanically cast them into the fire. They were his own flesh and blood.

A WOMAN IN COURT.

In the Circuit Court for Garrett county this week a case of criminal libel was tried against Mrs. M. J. Raymond, of Mountain Lake Park, who printed and published a circular charging L. A. Rudisell with stealing crossties and also charging him with numerous other crimes.

"If necessary we could allow our mines to lie idle six months, but we hope the good relations which have existed so many years between the Pennsylvania Coal Company and its employes may continue, and that our men will soon return to work."

Thomas Oliver Colt died in Bellevue Hospital, New York City, last Sunday, of Bright's disease. He was well known at Bellevue for having undergone an operation by which his finger was grafted to his face for a nose, that organ having been eaten away by a tubercular ulcer.

The doctors first removed all that was left of Colt's nose in order to stop the progress of the disease. Colt told them that he would rather die than go through life without a nose, and it was decided to graft a finger. The fingers were attached to the face by means of a plaster of paris cast which held arm and hand immovable.

OUR DEAD IN OTHER LANDS.

Col. William S. Patten, of the Quartermaster's Department, on duty at the War Department, has completed arrangements for the free transportation to the United States of the remains of soldiers and sailors and civilians who lost their lives and were buried in the island possessions of the United States and in China.

At the request of the Secretary of the Navy the same burial corps will undertake to perform similar service with respect to officers and enlisted men of the navy and marine corps buried in China and the islands of the Pacific. The corps will be in charge of D. H. Rhodes, Inspector of National Cemeteries, who was sent to the Philippines in November 1899, on a similar errand.

When the transport stops at Honolulu to coal the bodies buried there will be taken up and made part of her cargo. Similar action will be taken at the Island of Guam and the Philippines.

Colonel Patten says that the prevailing conditions in China will scarcely render practicable any disinterments in that country earlier than next spring. All the remains recovered are to be given honorable burial in the United States, at places selected by the next of kin.

The approximate number of remains to be exhumed is 1,331, distributed in the following places: Honolulu, 36 enlisted men of the army; 1 marine.

Guam, 8 men of the navy. China, 2 officers of the army, 58 enlisted men of the army and 37 men of the navy.

Philippines, 17 officers of the army, 1,150 enlisted men of the army and 28 men of the navy.

PENNSYLVANIA MINERALS.

A compilation of the annual returns to the State Bureau of Industrial Statistics shows that in 1899 Pennsylvania produced 6,542,998 gross tons of pig iron, the value of which was nearly $100,000,000. An average of 15,348 workmen were employed during the year in the making of pig iron, the average yearly earnings of skilled and unskilled labor being $495.18.

Pennsylvania produced 6,446,159 gross tons of steel of all kinds in 1899, or over 60 per cent. of the production of the United States. The number of workmen employed in the steel industry of the State, independent of those employed in the rolling of black plate, was 69,082, their average yearly earnings being $559.

The aggregate value of the 331,033,734 pounds of tin and terne plate produced by the 25 establishments in Pennsylvania last year was $12,165,870.

Twenty-three counties produced pig iron in 1899, Allegany heading the list with a production of 3,278,420 tons. Allegany also leads with 63.68 per cent. of the year's production of crude steel and 55.30 per cent. of the production of rolled iron and steel.

Pennsylvania produced more pig iron in 1899 than in any previous year in its history.

SHAMOKIN, PA., Sept. 17.—Two burglars broke into the home of Mrs. Leona Kress, at Big Mountain, near here, today, and upon the woman's refusal to give them money they crushed her skull and clubbed her daughter, Mrs. Mary Marcinek, so badly that it is feared both women will die.

Mary Marcinek, daughter of Mrs. Marcinek, while handing her mother a hatchet to defend herself, was also clubbed until she fell senseless to the floor. Neighbors scared the burglars away.

DEATH OF A VETERAN CONDUCTOR.

Edward Calendar Caskey, one of the most widely known passenger conductors in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, died at his home in Martinsburg, W. Va., Sunday night, aged fifty-four years. Death was caused by consumption after a lingering illness. Mr. Caskey had been in the employ of the railroad for thirty-two years. He leaves a widow, who was formerly Miss Martina Nixon, of Keyser, and nine children.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

In his forthcoming annual report Rear-Admiral R. B. Bradford, chief of the Bureau of Equipment, will recommend that appropriation be made sufficient to make an advanced equipment of vessels of the navy with a wireless telegraph system.

According to reports received by the Navy Department, every maritime nation of Europe has been experimenting with wireless telegraphy for its naval service, and the British nation has gone so far as to make arrangements for equipping 32 of its vessels with instruments. The Admiralty some months ago authorized the expenditure of nearly $50,000 in wireless telegraph experiments.

This Government has been endeavoring to educate naval officers in operating wireless telegraph instruments, and the system has been installed at the Newport Naval Station. The results are not entirely satisfactory, as on account of the limited funds Admiral Bradford was not able to purchase improved instruments.

It is expected he will ask Congress to appropriate at least $25,000, which will be used to develop a practicable system.

The emergency bags sent by a church society to Kansas soldiers in the Philippines contained among the necessities a box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the well known cure for piles, injuries and skin diseases. The ladies took care to obtain the original DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve knowing that all counterfeits are worthless.

WAR STAMPS ON RECEIPTS.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has just handed down a decision of much importance to the merchants and shippers of this country.

Last summer an order was issued that all packing and forwarding companies must attach a one-cent revenue stamp to each receipt issued for goods received and forwarded. Such an order prevents merchants from receiving, packing and forwarding goods for fellow-merchants.

The Merchants' Association of New York, on behalf of the merchants interested and of the packing and forwarding companies, protested against this ruling. As the result of the protest the Commissioner of Internal Revenue gave a hearing to the Merchants' Association. The association was represented at the hearing by Arthur J. Baldwin as counsel. Mr. Baldwin held that these packing companies were not carriers in the sense that express and railroad companies are, to which the order originally was made to apply, and that, therefore, they should not be taxed.

The Commissioner has reversed his ruling, thereby sustaining the position assumed by the Merchants' Association.

THE SITUATION IN CHINA.

It is reported that Minister Conger and General Chaffee differ as to the question of the withdrawal of troops from Peking, the former opposing and the latter favoring it. President McKinley returned to Washington Tuesday to consider the matter.

The Berlin Foreign office sent a note to the powers declaring that the delivery by the Chinese government to the foreign authorities of the officials responsible for the outrages was imperative before the beginning of peace negotiations.

Field Marshal Count von Waldersee and his staff have arrived at Hong Kong.

MORE PHILIPPINE TROOPS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Arrangements have been made for placing nearly 2,000 additional troops in the Philippines in November.

Recruits are being accumulated at the following named posts in numbers approximately as follows: Fort Slocum, 500; Fort Wood, 350; Fort Hamilton, 150; Fort Schuyler, 100, all these posts being in New York, and Columbus Barracks (Ohio), 620.

This is a total of 1,720. Assuming that recruits will be thus assembled, it is proposed that those from Forts Slocum and Wood, say 850, be sent on the transport Buford, to sail about November 1, and those from the remaining posts, say 870, on the transport Kilpatrick, to sail about November 7.

Prosperity is built on a cash foundation. The merchant who gives credit generally finds that his debtors use their cash where they can buy cheapest. Big profits and long credits never build a big business. It's the pushing, restful, bargain selling spot cash merchants who are doing the bulk of the business and the people who buy at I. S. Annan's with their cash get a big discount of 5 per cent on all cash purchases.

Straw Hats at Half Price, they must go, come quick before they are all gone and get your 5 per cent. Come and examine our Lawns, greatly reduced in price they must be sold to get room for fall goods. Come quick and get the bargains.

ROLLER BLINDS

complete for 10 cents a piece, and get 5 per cent. off if you pay the cash. I have a new lot of Boys' and Men's Caps just arrived, and am selling a boy's cap worth 25c. for 10c., and a man's cap worth 35c. for 15c. Come and examine them and if you want a cap I know you will purchase. Men's Night Shirts 50c. a piece, a good one. Boys' and Men's Working Shirts from 25c. and up, a big line of these.

Men's Working Gloves

10c. a pair and up. I have a bale of Unbleached Muslin of about 1500 yards, worth any person 8c. per yard, which I am selling at 5c. per yard. In pieces of 2 to 15 yards by the piece. Come and look at this muslin, I know if you see it it will sell itself. Thanking you for past favors and hoping to receive a part of your future trade.
