

CHINA MAY SUFFER.

The China negotiations have reached a most serious stage. The actions of the Powers are making partition almost inevitable.

There is only one ray of hope which is that the United States may succeed in reducing the demands of the other Powers.

The whole question hinges on the amount of the money indemnity to be demanded. The Powers are now doing their utmost to swell the damages to as high a figure as possible.

China cannot pay such a sum, which is well understood by all the Powers. Two courses are considered for the payment of this large indemnity.

The other plan is to have China issue bonds guaranteed by the Powers. This, in the opinion of the American Government, means partition just as surely as the first scheme.

The Powers, of course, know that partition will be the ultimate result of whichever one of these plans may be adopted.

The population of the State of New York was announced to be 7,268,015, an increase of 21.1 per cent. since 1890.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh.

Should the territorial pledge scheme be carried out without the

United States as an accomplice, America could not collect its indemnity, because all the indemnity payable would go into the pockets of the powers holding the pledges.

THE COAL REGIONS.

The branching out of the Consolidation Coal Company, the main operator in the George's Creek region, to the Meyersdale field is taken to mean that the Maryland corporation will become an active competitor of the Berwind-White Company.

FOR ONE BIG TRUST.

To Absorb All The People And Their Property Besides. If the "Co-operative Association of America" succeeds in carrying out its purposes there will exist in this country, in 1925, the greatest trust ever contemplated.

Bradford Peck, a wealthy business man of Lewiston, Maine, who was in New York City Wednesday, is the prime mover in this project. He declares that it is only a question of time when the people will resolve themselves into one great trust to control everything.

Mr. Peck said that the association had been incorporated under the laws of Maine and that 250 members had already been received. Each member pays $5 initiation fee, and all the money thus received is to go into a fund for the purchase of property.

The present federal government, Mr. Peck says, will not be abolished, but it will be changed in many respects to conform with the plans of the association.

Every member of the community is to be paid for the work he or she does, but payments will be credited and a coupon book issued. No money will be issued in the new Utopia. Coupons will be used instead.

It is intended to have a president of the association and many vice-presidents and chiefs, who will compose the executive board. There will be departments of real estate, agriculture, manufacturing, supply service, shipping, transportation, boards of engineers, architects and physicians.

CHARLES H. HOYT DEAD.

Charles H. Hoyt, the famous playwright, died at his beautiful home in Charlestown, N. H., at a quarter past 7 o'clock Tuesday evening of paresis.

The best of medical attendance had been provided and everything possible was done to stay the advance of the disease. It was at first thought that Mr. Hoyt showed some signs of improvement.

Mr. Hoyt had no relatives in Concord, and during his sickness had been attended by Drs. Brooks, of Charlestown, and Billings, of Concord, two trained nurses, and Dr. Davis, who had served as his valet for the past seven or eight years.

IN AN EARTHQUAKE.

Mrs. Charles Middlekauff, of Hagerstown, is in receipt of a letter from her son, Frank Middlekauff, who is manager of a steam laundry at Caracas, Venezuela.

"It is startling to see the earth rolling like the sea. People cannot stand up. The first shock came at 4.45 o'clock on October 29. I was awakened. I got up and was thrown back into bed. I got up again and was knocked to the floor. I finally succeeded in reaching the street. There everything was confusion and buildings were falling on all sides.

"For five nights I slept in the plaza. Everybody had been sleeping in the plaza since the first shock. Everybody is sick and very nervous. It is depressing to see people praying, expecting every moment to be killed. There have been from four to six shocks every day for five days.

"People are really going mad. Nearly every town along the coast is a total wreck. There are over 400 dead in one small town along the coast. The authorities cannot even estimate at this time how many are killed and injured. The earth opened where the land was low, and that is the reason the coast towns were most affected.

The earthquake created terrible havoc in Caracas, though the city is very highly elevated. The city is in ruins. About 80 buildings out of every 100 are wrecked.

"Every place is closed up. Business of all kinds has been suspended. There were not many killed in Caracas, but many were injured. The trains cannot run to Caracas over the mountains, therefore the mail has to be taken to the coast on mules.

A GREAT MEDICINE.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and find it to be a great medicine," says Mr. E. S. Phipps of Poteau, Ark. "It cured me of bloody flux, I cannot speak too highly of it."

WARSHIP SENT TO TURKEY.

The first-class battleship Kentucky, now in Mediterranean waters, has been ordered to touch at Smyrna, Turkey, on her way to the Philippines.

The Kentucky has been in Mediterranean waters for some time, has made a stop at an Algerian port and is now at Naples, Italy. She is going to Manila via the Suez canal route, and is in command of Capt. Colby M. Chester.

The Kentucky's presence in Turkish waters will coincide with renewed efforts on the part of the Administration to collect from the Turkish Government payment of the indemnity claimed by the United States for the destruction of missionary property in that country some years ago.

SCORES OF LIVES LOST IN STORM.

Terrific windstorms swept through Mississippi, Tennessee, several Western States and portions of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania Monday night and Wednesday, causing loss of life and immense damage to property.

High winds prevailed in Baltimore and throughout the State. A Baltimore and Ohio express train was wrecked near Cumberland by the wind blowing a car roof on the track. The engineer, firemen and others were injured.

In Tennessee and Mississippi a tornado tore through a dozen towns. In the aggregate over sixty people were killed and over 100 injured. Several of the towns were partially demolished.

The storms played havoc with the telegraph and telephone wires between Baltimore and the West, and for some hours communication was cut off.

On Lake Erie the wind reached a velocity of nearly seventy miles an hour. At Buffalo, N. Y., several buildings of the Pan-American Exposition were damaged and two or three workmen injured.

At Schenectady, N. Y., a number of people were injured and other property damaged. Several buildings in course of erection at Paterson, N. J., were blown down and one man killed and five others injured.

In York, Shippensburg, Chambersburg and other Pennsylvania towns the storm did much damage.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 19.—The Wheeling Iron and Steel Company began today tearing down the old Benwood out nail factory to make room for the new steel tube mill which it will erect at Benwood. The Benwood was once one of the largest out nail factories in this city, but for ten years it has been idle, its product having been replaced by the steel wire mill. The machinery and building to be destroyed were worth $100,000 ten years ago. The new tube mill will be independent of the trust and will be operated in opposition to it. It is stated on good authority that the Wheeling Iron and Steel Company the past year has cleared over $900,000 on a capitalization of $1,000,000. The new tube mill will be built entirely out of profits of the year and will leave a handsome dividend besides.

THE SOLDIER'S LIFE.

Only to stand in the red of the fray, Only to battle for glory, you say; Only to leap to the bright song of death, Murching, "My country" with last feeble breath.

This is the life of the soldier, you dream, Wreathed with the flag in the battle's red gleam! Night on the road, and the mud to his hips; Visions of little ones leaning with lips Just to be kissed through the dream and desire— Sweetheart and home hearts and love by the fire! This is the life of a soldier, to fare Far from the tenderness waiting him there.

Mourn on the march and the war drums ahead, Beat the call to the battle, the tread Of legions down in the ranks in this man. On to the front, file by file, man by man! Soldier, so valiant, so brave and so true, Honor and glory to yours and to you!

Noon on the field and the battle's fierce heat Flamed to the faces unfathered that meet Death in the flash of the shot and the shell. The crash of the canon, the rattle, the roar! Still flash the folds of the flag that he fight, True to his country and true to the right!

Night on the hills, and, oh, the wide eyes Under the shadow and grief of the skies! Night in the hamlets where broken hearts wait In vain for the heroes that fought against fate! This is the life of the soldier—some time A wreath for a tribune and a crown for a king!

—Folger McKinley in Baltimore News.

THE TRAIN WAS STOPPED.

And Then the Question Was Who to Hold the Responsibility?

"One night last week," said a Boston man, "I came up from the south with two friends of mine. They occupied the stateroom, and I was lodged in a section outside. They were in a hot discussion before they retired, and one of them had finally become so sleepy as to abandon the argument. I turned finally, as they did, but the man to whom the argument had been abandoned did not seem satisfied with the victory he had won, and when I left them he was busily engaged in trying to prove the talk with his sleepy companion."

A RED FIRE COMPANY.

IT STARTED OUT TO SHAKE THINGS UP IN JERICHO.

Pap Perkins, the Postmaster, Tells How the Enthusiastic Organization Was Busted Up by One of Lish Billings' Franks.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. E. Lewis.] The Jericho fire company, which consisted of 40 men, 10 pairs, 2 axes and a ladder and all painted red except the men, is no more on earth. It was organized 13 years ago and never turned out to but one fire. Nobody had found any fault with it, however, up to two months ago, when Reube Holdfast came into the postoffice one day and says to me:

"Look here, Pap, this town of Jericho is leader in a dornail, and unless sunthin kin be done to rouse her in another year," "What kin you do?" says I.

"That's what I've bin thinkin' of fur the last month. We can't git up dog fights nor hoss races, and nobody will go in fur a brass band or a camp meetin'.

WEST WHOOPING DOWN THE ROAD.

Reube looked into the embers fur the bones of his husbands and husbands shoveln over hot coals in search of the remains of wives and children even Joe Truelove was seen to wipe a tear from his left eye. Fur once everybody seemed to be agreed, and when Reube was named fur foreman of the company nobody kicked.

Jericho woke right up. Real estate began to jump, Tom Bigelow put down six rods of new sidewalk, and Homer Le repaired his barn and put new hinges on his gate.

"Thinking of Her." In the "Recollections of a New England Town" is the story of Mr. Bush, an inventor and a very studious man, who sometimes became so absorbed in thought as to forget both place and people.

His wife was a notable housekeeper, but she did not always go to church. One Sunday she was awakened by her husband thither, and glad and proud was he. But when the service was over he walked away home, leaving her behind.

"My dear," she said when she reached the house, "I don't know what people will think. You came away without me. It was plain to be seen that I was entirely forgotten."

Mr. Bush looked at her in comical dismay. "Forgotten, my dear?" said he. "Oh, no! I don't think that's possible. Why, a brilliant idea struck him, 'now I remember, I was thinking of you all the way home. I was thinking what a good dinner you'd give me!"

"Dangers of Hostings." Clara—When George and I are married, I am to have my own way in everything. Dora—Guess you won't. Clara—Indeed I will. That's the bargain. Don't you remember I told you he proposed to me in a rowboat and asked if I'd float through life with him just that way?

"Yes." "Well, he was rowing, but I was steering."—New York Weekly.

VEGETABLES.

Why Are Some Vulgar and Others Aristocratic? Why do we respect some vegetables and despise others? The bean is a graceful, confiding, engaging vine, but you never can put beans into poetry or into the highest kind of prose.

"Corn—which in my garden grows alongside the bean, and so far as I can see, with no affectation of superiority—nevertheless the child of song." It waves in all literature. But mix it with beans, and its high tone is gone.

"I was in hopes it was wuss. Thar's wuss men nor you, Pap Perkins, but if you'll only die our fire company will git ye a sendoff to make yer widder proud fur the rest of her days."

Reube was on the watch day and night fur a funeral, and he'd almost made up his mind to turn out the company fur the next cow that died of holter horn when a crisis came like a flash.

"Lish, whar you bin since yesterday noon?" "Up stairs in the house," says Lish. "What was your object?"

"To boom Jericho by gettin up a funeral. Thar's my old hat, and you kin take it along and bury it in good shape."

Reube called off his company, and they marched back to town with red water pails before folks was laughing at 'em, and before sundown the doom of the fire company was sealed.

"Madam," he said one day to the landlady, "if you will let me take the steaks you buy before you cook them I will make them just as tender as can be without any cost to you whatsoever."

"Now, he had paid his board regularly, and he was at that moment virtuous in the extreme. The landlady handed him the next morning without hesitation the bundle of steaks just as it came from the butcher, and the hammer boss just took 'em over to the mill, this being before the regular starting time in the morning, and adjusting one of the four ton hammers to about the right gauge, started it up and ran the steaks a couple of times under the hammer.

"Good? Why, they were just simply beautiful, and every morning after that the gentle hammer boss used to run across to the mill before breakfast and quietly, without the knowledge of any one, run the landlady's steaks back and forth once under the four ton hammer. The fame of the landlady's tender steaks grew rapidly, as did also, naturally, the number of her boarders.

"An Unconscious Discipline." Trotter—It's a favorite amusement among the eastern fakers to twist them selves into some muscle straining, nerve racking, bone cracking posture, and—

"Trotter—What do you mean?" "Miss Rivalton—Really, haven't you ever seen Maud Wauyappe play golf?"

"Few things are impossible in themselves. It is not so much means as perseverance that is wanting to bring them to a successful issue."

"What makes you assume such a loud and aggressive tone in proclaiming your own merits?" asked the very candid friend.

STRENGTH IN ALUMINUM.

In reply to the question which, it is said, mental workers frequently ask, "What is the strength of aluminum?" The Aluminum World says that cast aluminum is about equal in strength to cast iron in tension, while in resisting compression it is comparatively weak.

"A Contractor." Knicker—You say your son is a contractor. What is his special line? Bocker—Debits.
