Pressed Flowers From the Holy Land.

BY M. F. WINTER.

From Friendship's hand these flowers fair

Were waited on a winter day;
From Holy Lands, to me they bear
The brightness of perpetual May.

This fair papyrus once it peeled
Its snowiest scrolls for sacred John.
More rich this lily of the field,
Anemone, than Solomon.

Oh scented anise, starry gold,
Best loved by haughty Pharisee—
Oh little lentil, once was sold
A heritage, for sake of thee.

So anise sweet and fruited vine,
Bend low and whisper in thy place;
For some may sing of joy, but thine,
Must be to sigh for man's disgrace.

Lo, here, in Christly beauty lies,
The Rose of Sharon, loveliest name
By angels breathed in Paradise,
Whence this low, gentle flower came.

And he who wears this crocus rose,
His soul shall bloom like Sharon'
dale;
Lord, let it on my heart repose,
And blossom down the grassy vale.

PERSONS who suffer from indigestion cannot expect to live long because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

THE man who was accused of marrying with two great frequency was asked what he had to say for himself.

"Your Honor," he said, "I was merely accumulating wisdom."

"Accumulating wisdom?" exclaimed the judge.

"Yes, your honor," answered the prisoner. "It is my impression founded on historical research that by such methods alone Solomon secured his wonderful reputation. You cannot fail to have noted that there has been no one since so wise as he and no one with so many wives."

Here the three prosecuting witnesses hastily interrupted and blushing refused to prosecute.—Chicago Post.

CUT this out and take it to T. E. Zimmerman & Co.'s drug store and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets the best physic. They also cure disorders of the stomach, biliousness and headache.

ABNER APPLEBY—Jay Green ain't got no more pride and independence 'bout him than a rabbit.

PEPSIN preparations often fail to relieve indigestion because they can digest only albuminous foods. There is one preparation that digests all classes of foods and that is Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It cures the worst cases of indigestion and gives instant relief, for it digests what you eat. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

OUR cotton industry has grown from 120,000 bales a century ago to 9,430,000 bales last year.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought. SOLID SILVER American Lever Watches. WARRANTED TWO YEARS, ONLY $8. G. T. EYSTER.

His Words Were Prophetic.

"Making a photograph of James Harper was the most startling experience of my life," says George G. Rockwood, the New York photographer. "In the year 1869 it transpired that no good picture existed of the four Harper brothers, and it was determined that they should sit to the same photographer and have a uniform series of photographs made. A very successful photographer of Fletcher brought them all.

"James Harper was the second to sit for me, and as he was passing out of the door of my studio he saw a portrait of Rev. Dr. Muhlenburg, the founder of St. Luke's hospital. We entered into a brief discussion of the mighty results of the well and wisely directed efforts of one man as illustrated in the establishment of this beneficent institution. He said, 'If anything should happen to me, I believe I should like to be taken to St. Luke's hospital, for there organized, practiced skill would perhaps be paramount to even the tender care and love one gets at home.'

"His words were prophetic. After declining his warm invitation for me to ride with him he left the gallery. I think near 2 o'clock in the afternoon. About 5 o'clock a gentleman rushed into the reception room and asked, 'Was James Harper here today?' 'Yes,' 'Did he sit for a photograph?' 'Yes, and here is the negative—a superb one.' 'Thank God! He was thrown from his carriage this afternoon and now lies dying in St. Luke's hospital.'"

They met in front of the Head House. One was fat and black, with a wonderful expanse of mouth and a voice like a couple of fog horns. The other was black and lean and weazened.

Said the fat black to the lean black, "Why don't you 'gratulate me, Brudder Johnsing?" "Wan't fer I 'gratulate you?" said Brudder Johnsing.

"Wan't fer you 'gratulate me! Why, man, kase I done mar'd de Widder Jefferson?" "You is—you dun mar'd de Widder Jefferson?" squeaked out the lean one. "I sho' is you mar'd dat lady," said the fat one, with an air of great satisfaction.

"Den I does 'gratulate you wif my whole heart; I sho' does."

The two separated, when the lean one turned to a knot of white gentlemen who had been interested and amused auditors of the conversation and remarked:

"Yes, I 'gratulate him! Haw, haw, haw! He, he! I sho' does. He's de wus enuf I has, an I cert'ly 'gratulate him. Why, boss," he said confidentially, singling out one of the spectators, "I wus mar'd to dat 'noman for a year myself. Yes, I sho' do 'gratulate dat man." And he moved off toward Market street, chuckling and muttering to himself.—Chattanooga News.

WOULDN'T BE POOLED AGAIN. A shepherd once, to prove the quickness of his dog, which was lying before the fire in the house where we were talking, said to me in the middle of a sentence concerning something else, "I'm thinking, sir, the cow is in the potatoes."

Though he purposely laid no stress on those words and said them in a quiet, unconcerned tone of voice, the dog, who appeared to be asleep, immediately jumped up and, leaping through the open window, scrambled up to the turf roof of the house, from which he could see the potato field. He then, not seeing the cow there, ran and looked into the barn where she was and, finding that all was right, came back to the house.

After a short time the shepherd said the same words again, and the dog repeated his lookout, but on the false alarm being the third time given the dog got up and, wagging his tail, looked at his master in the face with so comical an expression of interrogation that he could not help laughing aloud at him, on which, with a slight growl, he laid himself down in his warm corner with an offended air, as if determined not to be made a fool of again.—Exchange.

A COLD WETTER JOKE. A business man came down to his office on a winter morning when it was bitterly cold.

"Whew, how cold it is!" he said to one of the clerks. "Just shut that safe, if you please."

A Change in Leading Men.

They had been engaged for a whole week and met at the same social function. After he had missed her for an hour he explored the conservatory and was mean enough to listen to a conversation that she was having with a young man whom she had rejected that she might accept the eavesdropper.

"Believe me," the discarded one was saying, "I wish you every happiness. I thought all the time that you were too good for me, and I think that he will make you the best of husbands. It is everything to me that you are content. It will probably never come, but should you ever need a loyal friend tend for me, wherever I may be."

"Pardon me for interrupting so happily an interchange of confidences," sneered the jealous claimant, who suddenly appeared in front of them, "but they are waiting for you to sing and naturally wondered where you were hidden."

He led her away, but it was into the hall. "See here," he began, "it is high time that you and I understood each other. I forbid you running after your old flames, and particularly that end you have just left. We're the same as married, and there was a ring in that chap's tone that I don't like and won't have."

"And here's a ring that I don't like and won't have." One swift movement, and he was alone, looking at the sparkling solitaire in his hand. She called at once on her "loyal friend" to see her home, and there is not the slightest chance that the real end in the case will be among the wedding guests.—Detroit Free Press.

HONORS OF MISPRESENTATION. Married lady, "hospital trained," advertises that she will receive into her home any "lady requiring care and comfort, including epilepsy, hysteria or slight mental case." The advantages of being "hospital trained!"

The South Bucks Standard has a similar mistake in a delightful paragraph describing some photographs taken by a local artist at a fashionable shooting party. "Excellent portraits had been secured," runs the paragraph, "of the Duke of —, Earl —, the Hon. —, the Countess —, who has the little Lord — on her knee, and, indeed, all the members of the party."

In Texas a man once advertised for "a boss hand oved 5,000 sheep that can speak Spanish fluently." Then there was the horse dealer who boldly advertised, "A splendid gray horse, calculated for a charger, or would carry a lady with a switch tail." A member of a well known club was standing on the steps of his clubhouse when a stranger approached and asked, "Does a man belong to your club with one eye named Walker?" "I don't know," was the answer. "What's the name of his other eye?" An advertisement contains the request for "a coachman to look after a pair of horses of a religious turn of mind." One is reminded of the countryman who went round to borrow a "recombent posture" in which to take his medicine.—London Globe.

INSTANT DEATH. "The instant of death," says The Indian Lancet, is a vague and indefinite expression when viewed from the point of physiology. An animal or plant cannot be considered dead until it has reached that period in disintegration where it is impossible to revive life. Some physiologists still further restrict the definition to that point in decay where every cell in the body of an animal or plant has ceased to contain or consist of living protoplasm—in other words, each cell must have lost beyond recall its life powers.

Probably one of the most striking examples of instantaneous death was that of the person who accidentally fell into a large vat of boiling caustic potash, which at once consumed the entire body, leaving only the metallic plates from the heels of his shoes and a few buttons from the clothing as remains. Death from electric shocks also borders on the instantaneous process. It has been found that living cells taken from the body can be preserved in a normal state for a long time and then have life processes revived if they are properly treated.

ONLY A WOMAN. The good man, weighing a hundred stone, knocked timidly at the portal of the culinary department and as the door swung heavily back upon its hinges doffed his tattered hat and pitifully whispered:

"Kind lady—" "I'm not kind," she interrupted rudely.

"Excuse me, lady"— "Don't lady me!" was her quick response.

"You don't mean ter say yer only a woman?" he asked eagerly.

"That's what I am!" she shouted. And as the heavy bolts shot back into their places the vagrant took another reef in the clothesline about his waist and sighed, "Oh, my, why didn't I take notice of dat bicycle on de stoop before I spoke?"—Leslie's Weekly.

Dosed Her With Cold Water.

"One autumn in Naples I was suddenly and seriously seized with a severe cold," says a society woman. "I couldn't but be frightened, away off there in a strange land from my own doctor, and my husband was more frightened than I was. By the advice of the hotel proprietor, however, we did not call in the resident American physician of the place. There always is one, you know, but his chief use, I've observed, seems to be in Mr. Howells' and Mr. James' international novels, where he acts as a splendid foil to the foreign lover of the heroine by falling in love with her himself too, but always being rejected.

"No foreign hotel proprietor was ever known to recommend a resident American physician. Our Neapolitan host sent out for a regulation 'dottore,' who prescribed no more stringent course of treatment than drinking as much water as possible; not a pennyweight of medicine. I simply kept a pitcher of pure cold water and a glass upon the table at my side, and about every 15 minutes I quaffed a good, long draft. That cold was scattered like magic. After the first day I should scarcely have known I had been on the borders of one. Here at home in America whenever I want to scatter a threatened cold I promptly follow the prescription of my Neapolitan 'dottore' and dose myself with pure, cold water."—New York Sun.

CIGARS AS CLEWS. "Valuable clues toward the detection of criminals are obtained through an examination of cigar stubs," said a Scotland Yard detective. "This applies to those who smoke cigars, the stubs of which they carelessly throw away in the street or elsewhere.

"If you pick up any stub and examine it closely, you will be able to learn something as to the personality and social position of the man who threw it away. In the case of criminals the first point to be considered is the manner in which the end was cut off from the cigar. If a knife or any other instrument was used for this purpose, then this instrument will doubtless be found on the criminal; if, on the other hand, it was bitten off with the teeth, a thorough examination of the tip will show what kind of teeth were used for this purpose.

"A man with a row of even teeth will bite off the end of his cigar squarely and evenly, whereas one with jagged, uneven teeth will bite it unevenly and in such a manner as to leave clearly visible the marks of his incisors. By comparing the marks on cigar stubs with the teeth of suspected criminals prosecuting officers and detectives are able to obtain information which they could not possibly obtain any other way."—London Ansvers.

NOT HER FATHER'S FRIEND. A doting Chicago father whose first name is Arthur has a little daughter 4 years old. The family recently moved to a new locality in the city only a few doors away from a street car barn, where several mules are kept.

The next morning after arriving at the new home the little girl heard one of the street car mules braying. It was the first time she had ever heard a mule bray, and she listened for a long time before she said:

"Mamma, is that one of papa's friends calling him?" "No," said her mother; "I hear no one calling your father."

"Yes, there is," said the small girl. "Listen now. Don't you hear him calling, 'Ar-thur, Ar-thur, Ar-thur?'" "Oh, yes," replied the mother; "I hear him calling now. But that isn't one of your father's friends. He has more sense than most of your father's friends."—Chicago Tribune.

SMART ELECTORS. At an open air political meeting in the north of England a man cried, "Hurrah for Jackson!" to which a bystander replied sarcastically, "Hurrah for a jacksack!" "All right, my friend," explained the first speaker; "you can hurrah for your candidate, and I'll do the same for mine!"

All electors are not so gifted, as the following experience of a canvasser in Devonshire clearly indicates:

"Whom are you voting for, my good fellow?" he asked. "I votes for the lady."

"But there is no lady candidate standing?" "Well," replied Hodge, "Poll Early's name comes on my voting paper before the names of the two men, and I thought I'd vote for her. See?"—Chambers' Journal.

SIXTEEN TO TWO. An instance of the humor which the civil war called forth is found in a story told of old Parson Helton, a Baptist preacher of Tennessee.

Peanut Plants.

"Few persons are perhaps aware that a thing of beauty is a common peanut plant growing singly in a six or eight inch pot and grown indoors during the colder months," says an up-to-date florist in the Washington Star.

"Kept in a warm room or by the kitchen stove, a peanut kernel planted in a pot of loose, mellow loam, kept only moderately moist, will soon germinate and grow up into a beautiful plant. It is in a similar way that the peanut planters test their seeds every year, beginning even early in the winter, and the facility with which the seeds will grow in this way has suggested to many southern flower lovers the possibility of making the useful peanut an ornamental plant for the parlor or sitting room window.

"As the plant increases in size and extends its branches over the sides of the pot in a pendulous manner, there are few plants of more intrinsic beauty. The curious habit of the compound leaves of closing together, like the leaves of a book, on the approach of night or when a shower begins to fall on them is one of the most interesting habits of plant life.

"Later on for the peanut is no ephemeral wonder, enduring for a day or two only—the appearance of the tiny yellow flowers and putting forth of the peduncles on which the nuts grow impart to this floral rarity a striking and unique charm all its own. There is nothing else like it, and florists throughout the country might well add the peanut plant to their list of novel and rare things."

THE dream of the key. Some small article had been lost—I forgot now what, let us say a key—belonging to one of two sisters who were traveling together. It could nowhere be found. But one night one of the sisters dreamed that she saw the key in the pocket of her traveling bag. She told this dream on waking to the other. "And have you looked in the pocket?" the sister asked. "No, I have not," said she, "for the very good reason that there is no pocket in my traveling bag." "Well," said the other, "there is a pocket in mine. I will just have a look there on the chance." And there the key was found.

The inference is that the dreamer had seen with the eye of sense, though not with the eye of observation, the key put into the pocket. Even when the key was so found she had no recollection of seeing it placed there, but the brain had unconsciously recorded the sensation. In course of sleep it had stumbled on that record, and by good luck the sleeper on awaking recalled to remember the mental operation that had taken place during sleep. It is a singular and almost alarming reflection that our brains are stored with countless such records of which we know nothing, nor ever shall know unless the association of ideas or some peculiar mental state brings them to our notice.—Longman's.

SKINNED HER ALIVE. In Russia are horse robbers fully as brutal as those in the United States, who are accustomed, by fire, knife and club, to torture the aged and crippled in efforts, sometimes vain, to extract the secret of hidden valuables.

In a village not far from Bobrova, a town near Moscow, several robbers, knowing the proprietor to be absent, broke into his house, of which the sole occupant was his mother, 70 years old.

They asked her where the money was kept, to which she replied that her son had taken it with him, although she was at the moment seated on a chest containing the money.

The robbers beat and kicked her, knocking out her teeth and breaking her nose, yet she steadily maintained that there was no money in the house.

They had just started peeling off her skin with a knife and pricking her with an awl when the bells of a wagon were heard, at which the robbers fled. From that wagon leaped the old lady's son, who found his mother lying drowned in blood and insensible.—Exchange.

IBSEN'S TABLE COMPANIONS. Upon Ibsen's writing table a visitor saw a small tray containing a number of grotesque figures—a wooden bear, a tiny devil, two or three cats (one of them playing a fiddle) and some rabbits. Ibsen said: "I never write a single line of any of my dramas without having that tray and its occupants before me on my table. I could not write without them. But why I use them is my own secret."—Cosmopolitan.

A COMMON FALLACY. It is a common fallacy that impure water becomes sterilized at a temperature of 32 degrees. One of the most curious facts about bacteria is that, while a single ray of sunlight will extinguish the life of innumerable hordes and while a very moderate increase in the temperature around them will have the same effect, they are absolutely uninjured by any degree of cold.

SUSPENSION BRIDGES. There is no doubt that the first idea of a suspension bridge was suggested to primitive man by the interlacing of tree branches and parasitical plants across rivers. Probably monkeys used them before man did. In very mountainous countries, such as Tibet and Peru, they have apparently been used since the dawn of history, possibly earlier.

GREEN VICTORIA IS DEAD.

The Victorian era has ended. After a reign of nearly sixty four years Victoria, Queen of Great Britain and Ireland and Empress of India, is dead. She passed away at the Osborne House, Isle of Wight, at 6.55 Tuesday evening, or about 1.55 p. m., according to our standard of time.

Victoria's fatal illness began with a paralytic stroke suffered on Wednesday of last week. It was her first serious illness in all her long life, and she did not submit to prompt precautions. Her condition rapidly grew worse, and in the last few days all hope of saving her had been abandoned.

The Queen passed away peacefully. She suffered no pain. The wheels of the world were jarred when the announcement came, but at the palace at Osborne everything pursued the usual course.

The body was embalmed and will be taken to Windsor.

The following is a condensed history of the dead Queen.

Ascended throne of Great Britain and Ireland on June 20, 1837. Died January 23, 1901, at Osborne House, Isle of Wight.

Length of reign—63 years, 7 months and 2 days.

Length of longest previous reign in English history (George III's)—59 years, 3 months and 4 days.

Length of reign exceeded in European history only by Louis XIV of France—72 years, 3 months and 18 days, and by Sancho II of Navarre and Castile, 65 years.

Born May 24, 1819, at Kensington Palace, London.

Age at death—81 years, 8 months and 29 days.

Most aged sovereign in English history, 1 month and 4 days older than George III.

Married February 10, 1840, to Prince Albert, of Saxe-Coburg, who died December 14, 1861.

Had 4 sons and 5 daughters, 40 grandchildren and 36 great-grandchildren; 2 sons and 4 daughters survive.

Had 20 Premiers at the head of Government during her long reign, from Viscount Melbourne to the Marquis of Salisbury. The Parliament recently elected was the fourteenth of her reign.

Leaves private fortune estimated at $20,000,000.

Formally crowned in Westminster Abbey, June 28, 1838.

Proclaimed Empress of India January 1, 1877.

On Wednesday Prince Edward took the oath of accession, and is known as King Edward VII.

King Edward VII proceeded from Osborne to St. James' Palace where the oath was administered, becoming King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Defender of the Faith and Emperor of India.

The new King in his accession speech said: "I am fully determined to be a constitutional sovereign in the strictest sense of the word, and so long as there is breath in my body to work for the good and amelioration of my people."

King Edward VII is in the sixtieth year of his age.

ARRANGEMENTS are in progress by which the independent telephone companies of the Cumberland Valley will unite to compete with the Bell Telephone Company in the matter of long-distance business.

If the plans of those at the head of the project are successful, there will shortly be established a long-distance service throughout Western Maryland, Southern Pennsylvania and a portion of Virginia. There are now being strung copper wires between Hagerstown and Chambersburg. The stringing of these copper wires will continue on north as far as Harrisburg, Pa., and from Hagerstown south as far as Winchester, Va. Later it is expected to make connection with Baltimore, via Gettysburg.

Word Out of an Increase of His Pension.

A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes: "Seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48, I contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension for over every renewal a dose of it restores me." It is unequalled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by T. E. Zimmerman & Co., druggists.

ELISHA GRAY IS DEAD.

Prof. Elisha Gray, of telephone fame, having been associated with Professor Bell, and more recently prominent in connection with the invention of submarine signaling, died suddenly last Sunday night at Newtonville, Mass. He was evidently returning to Boston after having visited Arthur J. Mandy, the inventor of the signal service, and with whom he was associated. The Professor had been East about a year and a half, actively engaged in developing this idea. His home was in Chicago.

He was picked up in an unconscious condition in Newtonville square and carried into a nearby house, where he died.

Elisha Gray was one of the best known of the electrical inventors of the day. His death at the age of 66 years call to mind a life which was vexed with a conviction of having been wronged by those who purchased from him the rights which he held in the perfection of the telephone.

Preserving even to his maturer years the plasticity which characterized younger inventors he contributed invaluable additions to the mechanical resources of the world and was ranked among such men as Sir William Thomson, Professor Helmholtz, Werner von Siemens and A. E. Dolbear. Close up to the day of his death he was engaged in his last notable experiments, which resulted in the discovery of a method whereby fog signals at sea could be transmitted through the medium of the water. He spent the evening of his life in pessimistic poverty, his retrospect the vision of millions his brain had harvested for others.

Professor Gray was born at Barnevillie, Belmont county, Ohio, August 2, 1835. His father, who was a Quaker farmer, died when the boy was 12 years old.

Elisha was apprenticed to the village blacksmith for a time, but his strength gave way under the strain and he had recourse to carpentry. He worked as a joiner until he came of age, and then, without a cent of capital, secured an education by working his way through Oberlin College, an institution where poor boys were given every opportunity. Every hour he could spare from his studies was spent at the carpenter's bench. He was graduated from Oberlin at the head of his class. Gray then settled down as a farmer. At the same time he married an Oberlin girl. Farming was distasteful to the young man and nearly all his time was spent in perfecting himself in the study of physics.

His first great invention was a self-adjusting telegraph relay. General Steger, then superintendent of the Western Union telegraph office at Cleveland, was so pleased with the invention that he sent for young Gray to come to Cleveland to make experiments.

Here the inventor had a free rein. He perfected the typewriting telegraph, telegraphic switch, the annunciator and many other electrical appliances. But he got no money for them. Others made millions. Gray was a miserable financier and was constantly imposed upon.

When threatened by pneumonia or any other lung trouble, prompt relief is necessary, as it is dangerous to delay. We would suggest that One Minute Cough Cure be taken as soon as indications of having taken cold are noticed. It cures quickly and its early use prevents consumption. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

BIG SALES OF COAL LANDS.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 23—J. P. Morgan & Co., of New York, have purchased 75,000 acres of coal lands in Greene county. It is said that the Morgan syndicate paid $200 an acre and that the lands will be worked for the benefit of the steel concerns in which Morgan and Rockefeller are interested.

The Pittsburg Coal Company has purchased 2,100 acres of coal lands between Veneta and Washington on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for $215,000. The tract was recently purchased for $33 an acre, while in the transfer to the Pittsburg Coal Company the owners got $150 an acre. The coal vein is one of the richest in the Pittsburg district. In this purchase the Pittsburg Coal Company has control of all the valuable coal lands in sight, and has practically blocked out all signs of competition.

Successful experiments in photographing surgical operations have been made in the Albany Hospital. It is expected to be of great value in giving surgical instruction.

WAR TAX REDUCTION.

From reports received it appears to be the purpose of the Senate committee to undo the work of the House Ways and Means Committee on the Tax Reduction bill. The House measure wipes out bodily certain taxes, while the Senate committee has a "discriminating reduction" plan, it is said, which may include a further reduction in the tobacco and beer schedules. The bank check stamps it is now intended to reduce to one cent. A distinction between the mutual and the stock insurance companies, in favor of the former, seems to be in favor. Telegraph and express taxes it is proposed to retain at half the old rates, with some system of collection from the companies direct.

Senator Cockrell introduced the following amendment to the War Revenue Reduction bill:

That the provisions of the existing laws in regard to exportation of distilled spirits are hereby extended so as to permit the exportation of rectified or blended spirits in packages of not less than 20 wine gallons with the privilege of drawback of taxes paid on such distilled spirits, provided that the taxable gallons of such rectified or blended spirits subject to rebate shall be determined according to such regulations as the commissioners of internal revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, may prescribe.

Senator Martin also introduced an amendment to this bill providing that no deed or contract made or entered into since the War Revenue act went into effect shall be considered invalid because of the failure to attach a stamp as required by law.

BLOW TO SMALL MEN.

Hereafter men that weigh less than 140 pounds or more than 180 pounds will stand no show of securing employment as firemen and brakemen on the Pennsylvania Railroad system. Nor will the successful applicants for these positions stand less than 5 feet 6 inches or more than 6 feet in their stockings. On the Pennsylvania firemen become engineers and brakemen conductors.

The introduction of the new style of engines being adopted by the system caused the management to make the additional requirements of applicants.

On the new engines the throttles and levers are so far apart that men of small stature find considerable difficulty in holding both at the same time.

The prevalence of grip and other ailments in a measure prompted the road's action. The management, after consulting doctors and medical statistics, was convinced that men weighing less than 140 pounds or more than 180 pounds were easier victims for germs than men weighing between those figures.

NIAGARA FURNISHES POWER.

In the central station of the Niagara Falls Power Company there are now 10 huge dynamos in operation, each one of which generates 5,000-horse power, which is said to be the largest amount of electricity generated under a single roof in the world. Ground was broken for this remarkable plant on October 4, 1890.

When the plan of the Pan American Exposition was conceived it was quickly recognized that the presence of Niagara electrical energy would be a wonderful factor in the success of the Exposition, and as the plans of the Exposition have been developed the value of the transmitted force from Niagara has become so pronounced in connection with the Pan American Exposition that its application and use in various ways are expected to be a leading feature of the Exposition.

INDIANS BENT ON MURDER AND RIOT

WASHINGTON, January 23.—At the instance of the Attorney General the War Department today took steps for the preservation of law and order at Muskogee, Indian Territory, where the Creek Indians are making trouble for the authorities.

The Department telegraphed General Fitzhugh Lee, commander of the Department of Missouri at Omaha, authorizing him to act in his own discretion in the matter of sending troops.

The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has received a dispatch from Indian Agent Shoefeldt, of Muskogee, I. T., advising him of the serious trouble among the Creeks, and urging immediate assistance to quell the outbreak. The agent says that the disappointed Creek Indians known as the Snake Band have established a government and elected officers. Their light horsemen have murdered one man, whipped and intimidated others and issued warrants for arrests of friendly Creek Indians who have selected allotments. The Indians are heavily armed, and his police force is insufficient to cope with their strength. He states that unless vigorous action is taken at once, compelling the Indians to disband, many innocent people will be murdered, and requests that a troop of cavalry be sent from Fort Reno to Henrietta.

The telegram has been forwarded to the Secretary of War, with the request that troops be dispatched to the scene of the trouble.

MRS. KREBS, of Reading, writes: I have been surprised to notice articles in the papers stating that I have come out as a candidate for School Controller in the 16th ward of this city and that I propose to carry on an active canvass. The facts, let me emphatically say, are quite the reverse. I have not been nominated and will not accept any nomination.

In his address to the cadets at West Point congratulating them upon the resolution they had adopted to put an end to hazing in every shape General Dick of the congressional committee, foreshadowed that the report would hold the academy not responsible for the death of Cadets Booz and Brett, and would commend Commandant Mills.

General John P. Shanks Dead.

PORTLAND, IND., January 23.—Gen. John P. Shanks, who commanded a brigade at the battle of Bull Run, and who for years was prominent in Indiana politics, died at his home here today, after a short illness. Gen. Shanks served ten years in Congress, and for two terms was chairman of the Committee on Indian Affairs. He was born in Virginia in June, 1826.

ANDREW CAMPBELL, one of the convicted murderers of Jennie Bosschietter, is reported to be breaking down, and the others are also said to be much disappointed.

SALOONS fitted up to entice children and cultivate a taste for spirits are said to have been found in Chicago.

THE GRIP EPIDEMIC.

The Disease More Prevalent than Ever and Quite as Fatal. The Best Treatment.

The grip has surprised the doctors and health authorities this season by its rapid spread and by some novel symptoms. While it spares nobody it is proving especially dangerous to middle-aged and elderly persons. In many cases either a fatal onset of pneumonia, or a complete breakdown of health and strength, is apt to follow an attack of grip.

The wise course for all is prevention. By wearing a Benson's Porous Plaster on the chest and back you protect the lungs from cold and chill (with ordinary care) you are safe from grip.

For those who are already suffering from grip, or from the usual winter coughs and colds, Benson's Plasters are a sure and speedy relief and cure. Highly medicinal and scientific.

Refuse imitations and substitutes. Only the genuine are effective. Examine when you buy. Seabury & Johnson, Manufacturing Chemists, New York. Jan 25-4ts

DELAYED PAY FOR SOLDIERS.

Complaints are reaching the War Department from the officers and men in the Philippines over the delays in the payment of their salaries. Owing to the small number of pay officers in the present organization and the large extent of territory in the Philippines over which the army is dispersed, with its best efforts the pay department has not been able to pay off troops oftener than once in two months. The troops at home who are doing no fighting, but are at easily accessible posts, are paid regularly every month, and the Philippine soldiers feel that they have a real grievance.

For a Comfortable Wrap.

No caprice of fashion can relegate the Cape to obscurity as a winter wrap; its friends are too firm for that. The cape may be changed a little from season to season—made a little longer or shorter, or fuller or smaller or may be trimmed or kept plain, but it is always worn. It's so comfortable and convenient, unfastened and thrown back it is warm enough on a mild day or in the house, wrapped closely around one it seems to possess so much more warmth than a jacket; easily thrown off or on, doesn't muss the gown; so is it any wonder that many prefer a cape. In order to get better, and better made capes we place orders for them in June, we have to guess at what the weather is going to be in October and November and this year we guessed wrongly, expecting to have the usual cold weather, in which we were disappointed, consequently we did not gauge the cape demand correctly, the result is loss to us—gain to you. We still have a great many capes—Plush, Cloth, Golf and Astrakan, in best shapes and lengths and we want to sell them at once; so down goes the price to force them out quickly.

The earlier you come of course the greater will be the choice as the new prices will move them fast.

FRIDAY, JAN. 25, 1901.

THROUGH the kindness of Mr. L. M. Willson, of Altoona, Pa., we have received a copy of the Altoona Times.

SINCE the recent attempted bank robbery in Cumberland the city authorities are weeding the police force of derelict officers.

Mrs. WILLISON, wife of Mr. Andrew J. Willson, a lumber merchant of Frostburg, fell on the icy pavement and broke her arm.

AN oyster supper for the benefit of St. Joseph's Catholic Church will be held at St. Euphemia's Hall, on February 14, 15 and 16.

Mrs. SUSAN BRUSH, one of the oldest residents of Boonsboro district, Washington county, died at her home there, aged 90 years.

A SYNDICATE of Baltimore capitalists has leased for 45 years a part of the G. W. Sotton farm in Cecil county for the purpose of mining kaolin.

The horse disease is raging at Armitger, Anne Arundel county. A dozen horses died during the week and a number of others are very sick.

THE furnace foundations of the new tinplate mills in South Cumberland are nearly completed, a force of 20 men being at work on it last week.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Vigilant Hose Company will be held at the Firemen's Hall, this evening, at 7.30 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

THE people of Harford county are alarmed over the prevalence of diphtheria, and as grip is also working havoc, the doctors have their hands full.

THE Democrats of Liberty township, Pa., will meet at Longanecker's store, on Saturday, Jan. 26, between the hours of 2 and 4, to nominate a township ticket.

The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, at Lake, Allegany county, have received in one shipment 14 carloads of sulphur for making paper by the new process.

WHILE engaged in changing one of the pickling tubs at the tinplate mill in Cumberland Charles Ralston and three others were badly burned by acid splashing on them.

REV. F. W. BALD, pastor of Grace Reformed Church, Baltimore, has accepted the call by the congregation of St. Paul's and St. John's Reformed Church, at Clearfield, Md.

THE first snow of the present winter to amount to anything fell here last night to the depth of five inches, and was still snowing at the hour of going to press this morning.

THE Thurmont furnaces of the Blue Mountain Iron and Steel Company are to start in full blast again. The legal complications which have kept them shut down have all been settled.

CARPENTERS, masons and laborers are making many repairs to locks, aqueducts and other property along the Chesapeake and Ohio canal before the opening of the waterway in March.

EDWIN P. DUNS, of Hagerstown, and Howard Young, of Clear Spring, Washington county, have been appointed United States Revenue Storekeepers and Gaugers for the district of Maryland.

THE Consolidation Coal Company has leased to William A. Somerville a coal tract near Midland. Mr. Somerville is to mine not less than 12,000 tons of 2,240 pounds per annum, and is to pay a royalty of 18 cents per ton.

THE census of the town of Port Deposit is being retaken by Washington W. Davis and Reuben Bond. The report of the census taken by the Government showed a decrease of 333 over the population of 10 years ago.

BALTIMORE county is to have a taxpayers' convention February 4th, at Towson. The object of the meeting will be to discuss the finances of the county and the best method of reducing taxation.

BRUCE WALFORD, of Hagerstown, who enlisted in the United States Army for duty in the Philippines, has returned home, having been discharged because of broken health. He was in a hospital for some time.

LAST evening Mr. Joshua H. Norris was stricken with paralysis at his home in this place. He is paralyzed in the right side of his face, and in his left arm and leg. There was very little change in his condition this morning.

GOVERNOR SMITH was the guest of Gen. L. Victor Baughman at his home in Frederick county. Prominent Democrats of the county dined with the Governor. The visit, it is believed, will have marked bearing on the question of the legislature.

EFFORTS are being made to recover the body of Capt. Zeb Pritchett, who was drowned from his boat, the Richard Smith, in South river. His brother-in-law, J. Frank Hearn, and citizens are searching for the body and have received assistance from the Naval Academy, but have as yet been unsuccessful.

A NUMBER of school boards of the various counties of Maryland are considering the introduction of manual training into the county high schools, the State having provided $1,500 a year for each county that maintains this department.

THE Burgess and Commissioners of Smithsburg have appointed Albert Pheasant policeman. There has been much disorder in the town lately, and an effort will be made to break it up. Heretofore the town has been without police protection.

ON the farm of Mr. Samuel Brown, near Simpsonville, Howard county, a spring which had never before been known to be affected by drouth, dried up some weeks ago entirely. Lately the water was seen spouting a foot or more high from a crevice in a rock thirty yards below the exhausted spring.

CATHERINE BARNES, an old and respected colored woman, living at Pine Orchard, Howard county, Md., died last Thursday. She was formerly a slave of the late Caleb Powers, of Howard county. She was in the 110th year of her age. A large family of children and grandchildren survive her.

THE case of Peter Joyce, of Cumberland, against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, removed for trial to Washington county, has been settled. Joyce was struck by a shifting Baltimore and Ohio train in Cumberland while crossing the track, was injured permanently and sued for $5,000 damage.

PERSONALS. Mr. Frank P. Topper and wife, of Woodfield, Ohio, are the guests of Mr. Topper's brother, Mr. Jacob L. Topper, of this place. Mrs. Mary Myer, of Pen-Mar, is visiting friends in town.

ADAM GARLICK, a Union veteran, was struck by an engine at Tatesville, in Bedford county, Pa., near the Maryland line, and killed. He was riding horse back. Garlick was noted for his hairbreadth escapes, having been wounded in the army, stung by rattlesnakes, run over by heavy wagons, fingers chopped off, knocked down and crushed, and he always said he would die with his boots on. He leaves a widow and several children.

A FORGOTTEN WILL. The will of Mrs. Emma J. Spielman, who died a couple of years ago, was filed for probate in the Washington County Court of Tuesday. The will, which was thought to be lost, was found in a lawyer's office. He forgot he had it. She was the wife of Justice Anos Spielman, who died about a year ago. She devised to her husband her personal property, and her real estate in Clear Spring to her brother, Levi B. Steele, of Albany, N. Y.

SUNDAY LAW VIOLATIONS. Nine workmen who are employed on the Baltimore and Ohio improvements at Washington Junction were arrested by officer John A. Simpson, charged with violating the law by working on Sundays. They had been cautioned, but they ignored the warning. Mr. E. G. Gummel, of Washington, who had charge of the work, appeared for the men and on paying the costs in the case and promising to see that the men would refrain from working on Sunday in future the State's Attorney agreed to their discharge.

HURT BY A DYNAMITE EXPLOSION. Isaiah Monaghan's left hand was nearly blown off and his face and hair burned while he was working in a stone quarry, near Waynesboro, Monday. He had put a big charge of powder and dynamite in a hole in the rock, and when he asked his helper for the usual paper he had received a quantity of paper in which were, unknown to either, half a dozen matches. The matches were ignited by the tamper, and a big explosion followed. Monaghan received the full force of it.

PAYNE-MCGUIGAN. Miss Leppie B. McGuigan and Mr. J. William Payne, both of Thurmont, were married at the parsonage of St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church, in Baltimore, on Wednesday afternoon, by Rev. Thomas E. Stapleton, the pastor. The bride wore light brown broadcloth, with hat and gloves to match. After a few days spent with friends in Baltimore city they will visit Philadelphia, New York, Washington and Frederick. They will make their home for the present at Thurmont.

HAGERSTOWN SEWERAGE. The Hagerstown Sewerage Commission has received a proposition from a Philadelphia firm which is desirous of constructing a system of sewerage in Hagerstown. The firm was represented by William H. Armstrong, of Hagerstown. The Legislature in 1892 gave the city power to contract with a corporation or with individuals for the work providing the citizens at an election ratified the contract. It is said the system could be constructed for $100,000. The city does not have the power to build its own sewerage plant. The commission consists of Dr. E. M. Schindler, John B. Sweeney, Dr. T. W. Simons, ex-Mayor S. M. Bloom and Walter D. Wilson.

PROTECT YOUR MEAT. If you do not want your meat tainted and spoiled by "skippers" use the celebrated "Peerless" Paper Meat Sacks. This is the safest, surest and most economical method of preserving meat and the sacks are fully guaranteed when the simple directions, which are printed on each sack, are followed. They are made in three sizes and sell at 8, 4 and 5 cents each. If you had any trouble with "skippers" getting in your meat do not fail to use these sacks this season. Orders amounting to $2 or over will be delivered prepaid to any express office. Cash must accompany order. Great Southern Printing and Manufacturing Company, Frederick, Maryland.

MOONSHINE RAID.

Within a few weeks the second moonshine still has been raided near Garrett, Pa., in the Alleghany Mountains, along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, about 30 miles northwest of Cumberland. On Saturday last Revenue Inspector W. J. Dixon, accompanied by Officers Fred Dupont and David Gilmer, were led to the still in the mountains by two paid guides. When within 200 yards of the still a rifle report rang out, and when the officers arrived on the scene there was evidence of someone having been there just before, but all had fled, the rifle report evidently having been a signal from a sentinel. The still, it is thought, belonged to "Pal" Henry, John Pritts, a son of the aged "Bill" Pritts, now in jail for moonshining, and John and Solomon Gerry. The officers found two large copper kettles with a capacity of about 240 gallons and eight copper coils or worms. They destroyed one barrel of moonshine, many gallons of some kind of wine, 25 gallons of molasses and 150 pounds of mash.

SCATTERED GRAIN. In the recent numerous wrecks of freight cars on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, which have been attended with great loss, hundreds of bushels of corn have been scattered along the tracks. In the present rush of traffic on the road it is unprofitable to take up much time in clearing away wrecks, and for this reason a carload of corn has generally been abandoned when the car became derailed and demolished. The grain comes out of the West. The other day in a wreck at Ilchester one man, with a hired force of assistance, gathered up about 100 bushels of this abandoned corn, and at Elliott City, where a grain train met with bad luck, scores of people raked and shoveled up corn, one man recovering 20 bushels from the wreck as his share of the spoil.

CUMBERLAND WAGON LICENSE. The Court of Appeals affirming the lower court in declaring Cumberland's vehicle license ordinance valid means that a large number of farmers who held off in securing the license, pending the decision of the higher court, will have to take out the license or be subject to arrest and fine or imprisonment. The farmers made a determined fight against the ordinance, which has been unpopular with the business men, who claim it has diverted trade from the city. Joseph E. Mason, daryman, who was foremost in fighting the tax, promptly took out his license upon the announcement of the higher court. It means considerable revenue to the city, as all farmers selling products from their wagons will have to take out his special license.

SUITS FOR ALLEGED SLANDER. It is thought the suit against nine citizens of Germantown for alleged slander of reputation, etc., instituted by John McCullough, may be tried in either Hagerstown or Cumberland. The affair has created an endless amount of gossip. The citizens whose names were signed to the note of warning to McCullough are persons of excellent reputation and standing in Montgomery county. McCullough was before Justice Norris last week on the charge of local option violation, and he waived a hearing and was held in $500 bail for his appearance in court at Rockville in March next. He furnished bail. Several very prominent lawyers will be connected with the cases on both sides.

THE Ecclectic for February opens with the complete text of Lord Rosebery's recent rectorial address at Glasgow University, upon the British Empire, which has attracted wide attention abroad by its literary qualities hardly less than by its political timeliness. Another important political contribution is Signor Crispi's review of Italian affairs "After Eighteen Years," which is translated from the Nuova Antologia. Some interesting views of the causes which led to Preservation of the Foreign Legations at Peking are presented by the Rev. Roland Allen. A clever article by S. G. Tallentyre on French Wit in the Eighteenth Century; the story of the Evolution of a Wheat Crop, by that graphic writer, Harold Bindloss; and an out-of-door paper by "A Son of the Marshes" are among the other striking features of the number. Published by The Living Age Company, Boston.

HOW TO TAKE COD LIVER OIL. Nearly everyone knows that when they are thin there is no remedy in the world equal to cod liver oil to make them fleshy. Yet there against which they rebel more promptly. There were a great many ways recommended for making cod liver oil pleasant. Among these we would mention placing a pinch of salt in the mouth before and after taking the dose of oil. Syrup of bitter orange peel was also recommended. But now all this is unnecessary. Science has found a way of making cod liver oil not only pleasant to take, but easy to digest. Messrs. Scott & Bowne have brought this science to perfection in their Scott's Emulsion, which is cod liver oil free from disagreeable odor and taste, and already partly digested.

QUALITY and not quantity makes DeWitt's Little Early Risers such valuable little liver pills. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

MINISTER AVERTS TRAGEDY. A tragedy was averted in a church in Polecat Hollow in the mountain back of Clear Spring by the minister interfering in the affray between two men named Blair and Wiles. There was bitter feeling between the men and they met during services and agreed to settle matters. Guns were drawn and the congregation fled, expecting that blood would be spilled. The minister quelled the trouble and one of the combatants has fled.

CHARLES A. EYLER DEAD.

Monday night Charles A. Eyler died in Eyler's Valley, Frederick county, on the farm where he was born and resided all his life and where his father also was born and died. The valley was originally settled by his grandfather, about 125 years ago. Charles Eyler belonged to a long-lived family. His father died, in 1859, aged 83 years, he himself was 82 years old and his brother Fred, who resided with him at the old Eyler homestead, died last March, aged 86 years. His uncle, Capt. John Eyler and Adam Eyler, both lived to be 83 years old.

General debility or a gradual weakening of his physical powers, without any ache or pain, was the cause of Charles Eyler's death. He was universally esteemed as a worthy and upright citizen. He was married to Charlotte Ginley, by whom he had 10 children. The five youngest are dead. Thomas F. Eyler, merchant and late postmaster of Sabillasville, is the oldest of his surviving children. The other four are: Mrs. Jennie Cauliflower, Mrs. Emma K. Fior, Ross F. Eyler and Charles R. Eyler.

DEATH OF MRS. McNULTY. The funeral of Mrs. Genevieve McNulty, the wife of Mr. Denis McNulty, an esteemed citizen and an old resident of this county, took place January 15, from St. Anthony's Church, where a mass of requiem was sung by the pastor Rev. J. B. Manley. The remains were interred in St. Mary's Cemetery by Rev. B. J. Bradley, of the College, who had administered the sacraments to the deceased during her illness. The pall bearers were Daniel Roddy, J. C. Fox, J. Shafer, John A. Peddicord, John D. Henlar and John Shorb.

THE deceased was a devoted wife and mother, possessed of a kindly disposition and was always ready to help in any movement set on foot for the benefit of the church. Besides her husband, she leaves four daughters, Genevieve, Caroline, Louisa and Adelaide, and a son, Denis McNulty, Jr., who is now a resident of McKeesport, Pa. The family have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

GREEN MOUNT ITEMS. Quite a number of our people have the grippe. Quite a lot of ice has been stored, but the ice houses are not yet all filled. Mr. D. G. Wood, of York, spent several days with his mother, Mrs. A. L. Wood, of Middle Creek. Mr. H. Benchoff is on the sick list. Mr. W. Shelleman, of Middle Creek, is spending some time with his daughter, Mrs. W. Hentsel, of this place. The Republican nominations will be held this Saturday afternoon.

One of our neighbors give us an infallible cure for stopping blood which is as follows: Make three small wooden wedges, dip them in the blood, then drive them in a small opening. The last stroke on the last wedge will stop the blood. Curious remedy, but it is said to cure.

BARN AND CATTLE BURNED. The barn on the home farm of the late Abram S. Zentz, three miles north of Thurmont, was destroyed by fire about 7 o'clock last Saturday evening. A large wagon shed, two corn cribs and every outbuilding on the place were burned. Large quantities of hay, straw and corn and a valuable list of farm machinery and implements, together with one horse, one colt, 13 head of cattle, several fat hogs and about one hundred chickens perished. The barn and some of the cattle was the property of Adam R. Zentz; the produce, a large part of the cattle and the farm machinery belonged to the tenant, W. C. Jacobs. The buildings were insured. The remainder of the property destroyed was uninsured. The barn was the largest in the north end of the county. The dwelling was saved by hard work.

OLD OR OHLER. Jacob Old, who was committed to jail last week by Justice John L. Jordan, of Brunswick, charged with stealing a pig, was taken before Judge Motter Monday on a writ of habeas corpus and released from custody. Before he was given his liberty an old resident of Emmitsburg swore before the Court that the man's name was Joshua Oler and that he was wanted for several charges. He said some years ago a herd of steers was stolen in Emmitsburg district and the crime was laid at Oler's door. Some time after this a lot of meat was stolen and Oler was arrested, charged with the crime and gave bail for his appearance in court, but before court convened Oler jumped his bail and left for parts unknown. Afterward he was located in Virginia, but since that time he has not been heard of until Monday. Mrs. Old swore her husband's name was Old, and he was not held.—Sun.

THE Republicans of Hamilton township will hold their primary election on Monday, the 28th, between 5 and 7 o'clock, P. M. The Democrats on Saturday the 20th. Mr. Harry Musselman, of the Seminary at Gettysburg, was home over Sunday. Harry is looking well. Mr. Neb. Marshall, of Fairfield, is at Taneytown learning harness making. Mr. C. H. Walter is dealing in horses and mules. Mr. Walter is one of our fair dealers.

There is one thing Fairfield needs badly, and that is a town hall. There is no place to hold suppers or concerts, etc., that is convenient. Mr. Henry Keener, of Fairfield, our prognosticator, is working near Himmelmstown, Dauphin county, Pa. He has predicted good weather until February 15th. Guess work is all right when it hits.

Nearly all the schools in this district are having spelling bees once a week. It is certainly nice to be a good speller. Such little pills as DeWitt's Little Early Risers are very easily taken, and they are wonderfully effective in cleansing the liver and bowels. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

SALE REGISTER. January 26, at 12 m., Wm. H. Boyer will sell on the premises, 1/2 mile northwest of Emmitsburg, all that farm known as the Weigand farm.

February 15, at 1 p. m., Mes. Mary M. Mentzer will sell at her residence in Emmitsburg, Personal Property, and also her House and Lot. See adv.

February 15, at 1 p. m., Mrs. C. H. Welty will sell at her residence on the road leading from Fairfield to the Station, 1 horse, cow, heifer and other personal property.

February 14, at 10 a. m., J. E. Welty will sell at his residence, 3/4 mile west of Emmitsburg, on the farm lately owned by Jacob Smith, horses, cattle and farming implements. See adv.

STATE AUDITOR AT WORK.

Examining Into The Accounts of County Officers. Governor Smith, in compliance with an act of the last Legislature, is having the accounts of the several incumbents of offices, which receive State fees, audited by experts. The work has not progressed sufficiently as to show any remarkable results, though great things are expected of the new law.

The object of the law is to secure greater returns from the State fees. Before the enactment of the law the comptroller of the treasury fixed the number and limited the compensation of the deputies in the clerks' and registers of wills' offices, and there his power ended. The duties of his position were exacting, requiring all his time, making it physically impossible for him personally to look into these various offices throughout the State. The result was that with the exception of two or three offices the expenses absorbed the whole of the income, and the State received nothing.

There are 23 counties in Maryland, and from the comptroller's report in 1900, it is shown that the aggregate sum derived from fees in the 23 clerks' offices making returns was $126,838.41, while the surplus returned from these same counties to the State aggregated the sum of $45,000. In other words, the average cost of each clerk's office was over $6,000 a year, and the receipts were fully absorbed except as to the pittance of $45,000. The auditing of such offices it has been urged, would result in this: Instead of the offices being run on the plan of low nearly or entirely the receipts can be absorbed, they will be conducted by officials not only thoroughly qualified, but willing to do as much work themselves as possible, in order to lessen expenses, and thereby make larger returns of the surplus to the State.

The clerks of the courts and the registers of wills in the city and counties are allowed to take their salaries from their fees and to retain directly the receipts can be absorbed, they will be conducted by officials not only thoroughly qualified, but willing to do as much work themselves as possible, in order to lessen expenses, and thereby make larger returns of the surplus to the State.

The report of Comptroller Hering, recently issued, shows that the total amount of returns from excess fees last year were $44,538.27. In 1898 this sum was $64,363.99. In 1899 it was $82,200.28. In each of these years the surplus revenue came almost entirely from license fees of Baltimore.

The new law has not been in operation sufficiently long to prove its efficacy in increasing these excess fees in both city and counties, since there has not been enough time to look fully into accounts, to determine if the State is receiving all that is due it. Only three counties, one of which was Frederick, reported any surplus payable into the State Treasury last year. The surplus from Frederick county was $12.75. Baltimore county reported a surplus of $3,340.45, and Carroll county one of $44.62. The expenses of the local office were $9,434.75, which was an increase of more than $500 over the expenses for 1899.

FAIRFIELD ITEMS. FAIRFIELD, Jan. 22.—Last Friday and Saturday were cold days, but the ice was only about 3 inches on the ponds at Fairfield. Monday and Tuesday being warmer, no ice could be put up at this place; while at Mr. Gingle's dam the ice was from 5 to 6 inches thick. Messrs. Allison hauled a few loads from the dam for Mr. J. Shoemaker, in Fairfield.

Mr. Henry Welty and family, who were going west, have given up the idea. They concluded to stay in old Adams county. There is no place like home, let it be ever so humble.

Dr. W. G. Dubs can be seen on the road nearly every day attending some diseased horse. The doctor is somewhat disabled with rheumatism, however, he makes it a rule to go out when called on if possible.

A more accommodating hotel keeper than Mr. J. Shoemaker you cannot find. When vegetables get scarce in the town he sends to the city, and buys and sells out to accommodate the people. He also knows how to run a first class hotel. He despises drunksness, therefore he does not sell to any who have enough. That is certainly a good thing.

Mr. Wm. Benchoff, who lives near Pine Hill schoolhouse, is reported sick with pneumonia; also Mr. Wash. Benchoff, near Charrman.

Gettysburg will be lively next week, it being court week. A hunting case will be tried. One Gilbert was hunted on Manny King's land and was ordered off. He said he would not go and pointed his gun, it is said, at King. King instituted proceedings against him, and the case will be tried at this term of court.

Nearly all who were sick in this community are convalescent. The people at Highfield and Blue Ridge Summit are bad off for a doctor. Dr. Wachter, of Sabillasville, who attended and served the people at that place is sick at this time, with pneumonia, and a great many are complaining of bad colds.

Mrs. John Butt, of Ortaana, and Mrs. Milton Butt, of Reading, are the guests of Mr. F. Shulley and family. The Republicans of Hamilton township will hold their primary election on Monday, the 28th, between 5 and 7 o'clock, P. M. The Democrats on Saturday the 20th.

Mr. Harry Musselman, of the Seminary at Gettysburg, was home over Sunday. Harry is looking well. Mr. Neb. Marshall, of Fairfield, is at Taneytown learning harness making. Mr. C. H. Walter is dealing in horses and mules. Mr. Walter is one of our fair dealers.

GEN. BAUGHMAN ON EXTRA SESSION.

The Baltimore Sun of Tuesday published the following interview of Gen. L. Victor Baughman, on the subject of an extra session of the Maryland General Assembly: "I feel that Governor Smith should have the endorsement of his party on all great questions affecting the interests of the people and that it should not be expected of the Governor to attempt to force such a matter upon the State. The people always respect a man who is bold enough to advocate what he thinks to be right, and, therefore, if the Democratic leaders have any good reasons for calling an extra session they should be willing to give them to the public and thus give the Governor reason to act, even if he is throughly convinced himself of the importance of such a step. One great issue seems to have been overlooked. The apportionment of representation in the House of Delegates is made either according to the return of each national census, or upon the basis of an enumeration made under the authority of the State. An enumeration under the authority of the State is permitted by Sections 3, 4 and 5 of Article 3 of the State Constitution. Unless such an enumeration is made the national census must govern. Now it is generally known that the census of 1900 is inaccurate. It is at least singular that there should be a pronounced increase of population in those counties where we are most certain to return Republicans to the House of Delegates, while in counties usually Democratic there has been, with the exception of Montgomery, no increase at all, or not sufficient to increase in proportion to give an additional representative. If the belief that there are errors in the census is well founded it would be manifestly wrong to base the representation upon the census, and yet this would have to be done unless the Legislature make provision for an enumeration under the authority of the State. But there will be no regular session of the Legislature until after the next election, and at the next election the apportionment made by the census would have to be acted on if there were no intervening legislative session. There can be no intervening legislative action unless an extra session of the General Assembly be convened. If, then, it be possible to thwart an apportionment founded on an inaccurate census the Legislature must be convened so that it may make provision for an accurate enumeration. This would not be calling the Legislature together to do something which ought to have been done, but which it failed to do, at the regular session; but it would be calling the Legislature together to remedy an error which no one could reasonably anticipate would be committed and which has arisen since the adjournment of the regular session. If it be, as has been intimated, that the enumeration made by the census was designedly made to give Republicans an advantage in the membership of the House to which upon an accurate count of the population they are not entitled, it ought to be no hesitation in defeating the scheme. And as the only way to defeat the scheme is to substitute a State enumeration for the census, and as that can only be done by the Legislature, it necessarily results that there should be an extra session convened for the purpose of enacting such legislation as may be requisite on this subject.

This is a view altogether apart from and independent of the suffrage question, even though there may be differences of opinion as to the policy of that measure there can scarcely be a dissent from the propriety of an enactment of appropriate legislation to prevent an improper apportionment of the membership of the House of Delegates."

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE. A fire broke out in the large stables and dairy of Frank C. Hutton at Clappers, Montgomery county, near Boyd's, and the entire contents of stables, etc., were burned. The fire started at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning and it was not until 30 minutes later that it was discovered, and the floors of the upper part had fallen in, sealing the doom of 8 fine horses and 27 Jersey cattle. Mr. Hutton was in Washington City at the time of the fire, and the information of the burning of his barn and stock was sad news to him. He took especial pride in his excellent breed of horses. Some of the cattle cost him $150 each. Many of them, had taken prizes at the State fairs of the counties. Only two horses, valued at $75 each, were saved, and one cow, which he recently bought in the West and cost him $100. While the fire was burning the horses and cows could be seen straining at their halters. They were not frantic in the least, but their sufferings must have been intense. They were smothered by the black smoke which rose in volumes over their heads. No one could save them. The fire was burning so rapidly and the heat was so intense it was impossible to get close enough to help them. The eight horses burned were valued at about $900 and a safe estimate on the fine stock of Jerseys would be near $1,800. The barn itself could not be replaced for less than $1,500. The total loss is estimated at $4,000. It is supposed the fire caught from sparks from an engine which had been used in hauling water for scalding hogs.

BETSY SHIFLER'S PROPERTY. George J. Shifler, by his attorney, ex-Mayor M. L. Keeley, of this city, in the Washington County Court on last Friday evening for the sale of the Betsy Shifler farm of 200 acres near Keedysville, for the purposes of partition. Shifler is a nephew of Betsy Shifler, supposed to have been the daughter of her house January 9. The bill describes the fire and says it was so hot that a stove made of iron an inch thick was heated red-hot, and because of the intense heat only a few charred bones of the old lady were found. It was necessary to prove that the old lady was dead before the farm, her interest in which she had deeded during her lifetime could be sold.

In 1889 Catherine and Betsy Shifler, each reserving a life interest in her undivided portion, deeded the farm one-third each to William Shifler and John Shifler, one thirty-sixth to George J. Shifler, five thirty-sixths to Otho J. Shifler, six thirty-sixths to Daniel Shifler. A relative stated he was satisfied Betsy Shifler had $10,000 in the house when it was burned. Only $650 was recovered.

SELCIDE WITH A BUTCHER KNIFE. Relatives at Frostburg, where he had two sisters and a brother, were advised of the suicide at Homestead, Pa., of Moz Eberline, a German, aged about 45 years, who left Frostburg a few days ago in search of work. Eberline became despondent because of this failure to find it. He went to a watchmaker's shop of T. C. Coleman, at Homestead, where Harry Robinson, formerly of Cumberland, is manager, and quietly obtained a large butcher knife while Robinson's back was turned. He rushed into the street and cut his throat from ear to ear before he could be overtaken. He at once decapitated himself, and death resulted in a few minutes.

FIRE IN CARROLL.

A large barn, wagon shed and other outbuildings on the farm of Mr. William Feeser, near Bashon's Mill, in Taneytown district, Carroll county, were destroyed by fire Monday afternoon. The farm, which is only about two miles from Taneytown, is leased by Birnie Feeser, the son of Mr. Feeser, the owner. The fire was first discovered in a straw stack near the barn. The stack was soon consumed, but a spark ignited the barn, which was in a few moments a mass of flames. The live stock had been already taken out of the barn and were saved, although everything else of consequence was destroyed, including 50 bushels of wheat, farming implements, wagons, straw, hay, corn and harness. A wagon shed was also destroyed. The loss is estimated at about $2,000, which is partly covered by insurance in the Dag Hill Insurance Company of Carroll county.

A RUNAWAY TRAIN. Coming down Sand Patch grade, on the Pittsburg division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, early Sunday morning, a freight train became unmanageable and started down the steep grade at a fast rate. The trainmen knew that a helping engine was just a short distance ahead, but hoped to control the train before reaching it and prevent a collision. The train rapidly overtook the helper, and the men jumped just before the two trains came together. Engineer Thos. Burton, of Glenwood, and Fireman James Higgins, of Cumberland, were badly cut and bruised in jumping from the freight engine. Both men were removed to their homes. Helper Engineer Hetrick was badly injured, and narrowly escaped being caught in the debris.

Rheumatism. Nobody knows all about it; and nothing, now known, will always cure it. Doctors try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, when they think it is caused by imperfect digestion of food. You can do the same. It may or may not be caused by the failure of stomach and bowels to do their work. If it is, you will cure it; if not, you will do no harm. The way to cure a disease is to stop its cause, and help the body get back to its habit of health. When Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil does that, it cures; when it don't, it don't cure. It never does harm.

The genuine has this picture on it, take no other. If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl St., N. Y.
