WHICH NAME IS BEST?

One of The Dilemmas that Confronts a Married Woman.

What shall be a married woman's name? This is the question one of the women's papers has been trying to answer for its readers. Shall a married woman take her husband's name and drop her own, being known as Mrs. John Smythe Rogers? Or shall she keep her maiden name in full, and add to it that of her husband, writing herself as Mrs. Mary Jones Rogers? Or shall the wife and husband unite their names and call themselves, Jones-Rogers? Or shall the woman keep strictly to her own name, discarding entirely that of her husband, and call herself Mrs. Mary Jones? These are the possibilities offered in the way of a woman's name, and they ought to satisfy the ambition of the most individualistic college graduate of this opening year of a new century.

That not many women care to retain their own name without taking that of their husband simply shows how powerful is social custom. It might be said that it indicates that women are wanting in individuality; but such an assertion can have little weight in view of the fact that a social tradition reaching back for thousands of years practically settles what shall be the form of a woman's name. Few women have the time or the energy or the courage to battle with an established rule of this kind; and the number of men cannot be much larger. If it were, they would wage the battle for the women, which they now show no inclination for doing.

However, there are not wanting indications that women are gaining in individuality, a fact that is shown by the increasing number who do not wish to lose their maiden names when they are married. Yet there also seems to be an increase in the number of women who respect the conventions of society, and merge their names in those of their husbands. If John Smith is a prominent man in business or politics or literature, it is natural that his wife should wish to have the social advantage of his popularity. If she calls herself Mrs. John Smith, it serves not only to identify her in the minds of all who know her husband, but it adds to her social standing and position. That most business men and politicians would take advantage of such an opportunity ought to excuse the women for so doing.

As women come to do things for themselves, however, it is of advantage for them to keep their own names, just as it would be to men. No man of a positive individuality wishes to appear under the form of "Co." in the firm to which he belongs. He may submit to it because he has no money or experience enough to take any other position; but he is pleased to have his own name appear whenever it is possible.

Why should a woman wish to abandon her own name, that has become identified with her personality, and that is in a real sense a part of her individual self? The fact seems to be that as soon as women make a place for themselves in the world they do not desire to abandon their maiden names. Professional singers, actors, artists and others refuse to give up what has become identified with their successes. This increased sense of personality, that identifies itself with a name known to the public, and that has its professional and business value, has, no doubt, its influence in causing women to refuse to marry. The popular idea of marriage, that merges the wife in the husband and in his children, must have its influence on women who have sought to work out a career for themselves. Now, whether we think women ought to be contented with husband and children or not the fact is that an increasing number of women, and those the most intelligent and capable, refuse to marry. We may write or speak as we like in favor of women keeping to the good old way of housewifery, we are quite wasting our words so far as a very large class of the most capable young women are now concerned. They have found a mission, and no man can claim them as wife. They have found that the world needs mothering, and not one little brood of children only, and they have set themselves to that work. Having entered upon it and gained some success in it, why should they break its continuity and its purpose by taking another name and adding other interests? But this question opens up the whole problem of woman's position today, and it is too large and momentous to settle here.

It is highly significant, however, that women should wish to keep their own names, not merely because they do not wish to marry, but because they have gained the vantage ground of the full recognition of personality. Is Mrs. Rogers herself, or is she merely an appendix to Mr. Rogers? Is she to seek in her own name, or must she always refer to "him" in order to know what to think? Perhaps suffrage for women is not gaining rapidly, but a vast change has been brought about in the last half century in the recognition of the individuality of woman. The women who quote "him" are growing small in number, and the women who have opinions of their own are rapidly increasing. In the meantime marriage does not go on quite so smoothly as formerly, simply because the husband is no longer "lord and master," and two wills must be reconciled, instead of one being ignored.

In due time, however, when the transition has been made to the full recognition of individuality in woman, it will be found that marriage has become more ideal and happier. That women will ever go back to the old submissive way, having once tasted freedom, is not to be supposed. Therefore, marriage must henceforth be a real partnership of two personalities or else women will more and more refuse to marry.—Boston Transcript.

The blood is constantly being purified by the lungs, liver and kidneys. Keeps these organs in a healthy condition and the bowels regular and you will have no need of a blood purifier. For this purpose there is nothing equal to Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, one dose of them will do you more good than a dollar bottle of the best blood purifier. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at T. E. Zimmerman & Co's drug store.

THE GREAT AUK EXTINCT.

There is pathos unspeakable in the final disappearance from earth of any of its prominent life forms. Naturalists of the nineteenth century have had opportunity to watch the passing of a remarkable animal in the great auk or gale fowl, which still existed in a number of flocks at the beginning of the century, but is now known only from relics so prized that a skeleton has been sold for $600, a skin for $650 and an egg for 250 guineas. The bird was poorly fitted for the modern life struggle. While practically wingless and collecting together in helpless multitudes, it tempted man by the food quality of both flesh and eggs, and the continuance of the race depended upon a single egg a year laid by each female. Extinction, however, was gradual. Boatloads of the eggs were collected more than four centuries ago in Iceland and the neighboring islands, and the ruthless destruction of eggs and birds was continued irregularly by sailors until, in 1820, the sinking of a volcanic island buried in the sea the last important breeding place of the auks, and the few survivors were left on the small Elderly Island. Here, on June 3, 1844, three sailors captured two specimens, the last of their kind, which were strangled and sold for $45.

"Last winter I was confined to my bed with a very bad cold on the lungs. Nothing gave me relief. Finally my wife bought a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure that effected a speedy cure. I cannot speak too highly of that excellent remedy."—Mr. T. K. Houseman, Manatowney, Pa. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

THE DOCTOR'S DEVICE TO GAIN PRACTICE.

Amusing Scene Suggested To Him By His Niece.

A lady residing in the northern section of the city, not far from the Woman's College tells a droll story about one of her uncles, who is now a prosperous physician with an extensive practice in Northeast Baltimore. Of course, the physician himself never would have told the story, and it is presented here with profuse apologies.

The story was told by the lady because she was responsible for the clever ruse that raised her uncle from an unknown M. D. with a patientless office to a prosperous doctor with more patients than he could possibly attend.

Dr. Blank had just received his certificate from the State Board and besides being minus of experience and practice he was alarmingly short of money. When his office was rented and furnished he had very little left, and, naturally, he was anxious to do something. But no one seemed to be willing to give him a start as a practitioner. Plenty of people were ill, but all called other doctors. Months went by and the situation remained unchanged. Finally, in desperation, he went to his niece, the author of this story, in whom he was accustomed to confide serious things, and told her that it was his candid belief that he was not meant to be a doctor and that he could never make a living by medicine. The niece, who was then unmarried and full of pranks, half seriously and half jestingly formulated a plan which, she assured him, if carried out to the letter, would make him well-to-do in a short while.

She told him to go home and that very day begin her instructions. Whether the niece patterned her plan from the one resorted to by the doctor in Dickens' "Pickwick" is not known, but it was certainly just as successful. Her uncle was to get a horse and carriage and keep them in front of the office. He was to have a telephone. At intervals during the day he was to rush hurriedly from the office, get into his carriage and drive away in a gallop, returning some three hours later, also in a hurry, the performance to be repeated as often as was compatible with the health of the horse and his own nerves. Also, he was to do the same thing once or twice every night. For this exercise he was to receive a practice that would increase and wax great.

The young doctor went home feeling as if he had read a tale from the Arabian Nights. He counted his money and studied long whether he should invest in the scheme. He spent a sleepless night and worried all next day, but he finally decided to get the horse and carriage and try.

Two days afterward when a handsome rig stopped in front of the doctor's office several ladies on the opposite side of the street came to the window and the doctor, from behind the curtains of his office window, could see that considerable speculation was going on. The neighborhood children on their way to school stopped and made remarks. The doctor, his heart beating away in his throat, waited until about 9 o'clock and then, according to instructions, rushed out, jumped into the carriage and drove off like mad. He repeated the strategy twice that day and once that night. He made two hurried trips the next morning and that afternoon he got a real call. A man down the street was taken suddenly ill and Dr. Blank was wanted there at once. He attended his patient and was so nervous that he spilled his powders. That night he made a wild drive, for a sham, and about midnight was called out of bed to see a woman with inflammatory rheumatism.

He continued his sham practice for exactly two weeks, his real practice increasing daily, and then he stopped because he didn't have time for anything but bonafide calls. During his last sham drive two sick calls came in, and one of the cases went to another physician.

Dr. Blank long ago moved to a more fashionable locality; his telephone is ringing constantly and a handsome carriage conveys him on his round of calls. He and his niece often have a quiet half hour together and talk it over.—Baltimore News.

TO PAY DENMARK $3,500,000.
This Government Has About Come To Terms on Danish West Indies.

Negotiations with Denmark for the acquisition by the United States of the Danish West Indies have, it is admitted at the State Department, reached such a stage that it is now practically certain that a treaty will be drawn up and signed, whereby the United States will buy the islands.

The dispatch from Copenhagen, professing to give details of the conditions on which Denmark will sell, is inaccurate in several particulars.

In the first place, the United States will not give $4,000,000 for the islands. The price will be nearer $3,500,000. It is not intended that there should be a reference to the people of the islands of the question whether the sale should take place. There has already been a plebiscite on the subject, and the people voted for annexation to the United States by a large majority. The question will not be re-submitted, but after the United States has concluded the purchase of the islands the inhabitants will have a certain time in which to decide whether they will remain Danish subjects or become American citizens. This same course was followed in the case of the Spaniards lying in Porto Rico and the Philippines when these islands came into possession of the United States.

Woman's Unique School In China.

While not many miles away the Boxer fanatics were murdering missionaries and converts, Mrs. Annetta Thompson Mills, who is at the head of the only school for deaf mutes in China, was living in perfect safety at Chefoo, with natives of all classes and beliefs ready to come to her assistance in a minute. Mrs. Mills, who formerly lived in Chicago, has been in charge of this unique school ever since the death of her husband, Dr. Mills, who died in 1895. The school itself is 14 years old, and is entirely a private enterprise, never having received the aid of any of the various missionary boards. Before Dr. and Mrs. Mills began their work in China deaf and dumb people were looked upon as outcasts, who were punished in that way for some crime, and were treated even by their parents with great cruelty. Even today the Mills school is the only place in the great empire of 400,000,000 people where such unfortunate can be properly educated. Contributions for the support of the school are received from all over the world, and the Chinese people themselves are contributing more and more to its support.—Chicago Tribune.

"Your letters to me," said his affianced bride one day, "are so cold and formal." A Trifle Backwoods.

The baker's dozen of Washingtonians who spent the holidays at a country house down in Virginia are still laughing at the little adventure of one of their number, a fashionable young married woman, who has ways her grandmother would turn in her grave if she knew about. She never touches tea or coffee, but now and then she takes a cigarette after dinner, and, as everybody knows, smoking is a horrid thing, while one may drink gallons of the strongest coffee and still be an example for the young. The lady drove to the infinitesimal village near one day, and with several friends went into the drug store and asked for a package of cigarettes. The man behind the counter handed out a brand, dark and heavy, and strong as stogies.

"Oh, I don't want those," said the lady, "I want something exceedingly mild—something for ladies."

The man behind the counter looked very much grieved.

"We haven't any like that," he said, regretfully. "We don't keep 'em. You see, all the ladies 'round here that smoke smoke pipes."

AGUINALDO TAKES ALLEGIANCE OATH.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Secretary Root has just made public a cablegram received at the War Department this morning at 8 o'clock. The cablegram is dated Manila, addressed to the Adjutant General at Washington, and signed by Mac-Arthur. It is as follows:

"Since arrival at Manila, Aguinaldo has been at Malacanang investigating conditions in archipelago. He has relied almost entirely upon the instructive advice of Chief Justice Arellano. As a result today he subscribed and swore to the declaration on page 11 of my annual report.

"The oath referred to is as follows:

"I, ———, hereby renounce all allegiance to any and all so-called revolutionary governments in the Philippine Islands and recognize and accept the supreme authority of the United States of America therein; I do solemnly swear that I will bear true faith and allegiance to that Government; that I will at all times conduct myself as a faithful and law-abiding citizen of the said islands, and will not, either directly or indirectly, hold correspondence with or give intelligence to an enemy of the United States, nor will I abet, harbor or protect such enemy; that I impose upon myself these voluntary obligations without any mental reservations or purpose of evasion. So help me God."

Four asterisks in the cablegram mark a passage withheld from publication, about which the officials will say nothing now.—Baltimore News.

DROWNED WHILE AT PLAY.

A drowning occurred at the Alberton Cotton Mills, five miles west of Ellicott City, Wednesday afternoon; Maynard Russell, the 15-year-old son of Mr. Theodore Russell, being the victim. Young Russell and a schoolmate—Warren M. Shawen—both pupils of the public school at that place, ran down to the mill dam at recess and playfully stepped into a small boat which they supposed was fastened securely to a tree on the bank. The boat broke loose from its fastening and floated toward the falls. Both of the youngsters, in dread of going over the falls, jumped into the water, which was about 20 feet deep. The rapid current drew both of them under the race-gate. Young Shawen by a strenuous effort, saved himself by grabbing a log, but young Russell was taken down by the rapid stream and drowned. His body was not recovered until Wednesday evening, after the water had been let out from the race. The drowned youth was the second son of Mr. Theodore Russell, an employee of the Alberton Mills, and young Shawen is the son of Mr. D. M. Shawen, agent of James A. Gary & Sons at that place.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials.

INVENTION, A FOE TO TRUSTS.

The announcement that Mr. Thomas A. Edison has invented a new process for converting iron ore into steel at the cheapest possible cost is a matter of deep interest to the world at large. The news is of special significance just now, because it follows so closely behind the consummation of Morgan's colossal steel combination. The engineering of that gigantic project excited much feverish discussion, because its overwhelming power was looked upon as being more or less menacing. If the news about Mr. Edison be correct, the world, in his invention, will be furnished with one more proof that fortune will always provide the means with which humanity can combat its problems. A few weeks ago the Steel Trust was believed to be the master enterprise of the age. Its vast capital and numerous industrial ramifications seemed endowed with power to maintain its ascendancy. So true did that appear that the masses had already begun to murmur at the prospect of being bound by this last industrial prodigy.

Mr. Edison's work if correct as reported, will demonstrate how readily the future will take care of itself. That wizard of the laboratory, we are told, is in a position to force the steel giant to its knees. Instead of the trust being the king of the hour, Mr. Edison is able to make it a supplicant at his throne. Genius once again promises to triumph over capital. All the ballooned hopes of perpetual domination in the steel business are likely to be punctured by this new process of Mr. Edison. Steel products, therefore, instead of moving up in price, may be brought ultimately to a much lower level. Competition will be the magic to work out that sequel.—Baltimore American.

In the prompt announcement of General Funston's promotion to be a brigadier general in the regular army, President McKinley shows a creditable recognition of popular sentiment. It may not be the most appropriate reward for the particular exploit that has made the Kansas soldier famous but it will meet with general approval and will avoid the criticism that would certainly have resulted in any less generous recognition.

The appointment is properly coupled with the promotion of General Wheaton, who has done much good service in the Philippines and under whose command the recent expedition was carried on. Adjutant General Corbin has embraced the opportunity to offer "congratulations to all," though it is probable that his delight is not unalloyed.

The appointments just announced fill up the list of general officers in the permanent establishment. It is not expected that the war in the Philippines will furnish many more opportunities for special distinction. If such occasion should arise, the fortunate man will have to be satisfied with a brevet.—Philadelphia Times.

TO OPPOSE THE STANDARD OIL CO. AUSTIN, TEXAS, April 2.—A movement has been inaugurated to consolidate all the independent oil companies and firms operating in the Beaumont oil field into one great corporation. The promoter of this enterprise is Judge Robert A. Greer of Beaumont, member of the State Legislature, and one of the most prominent lawyers in Texas.

Mr. Greer said that the capital stock of the company would not be less than $5,000,000 and it is not unlikely that it will be capitalized at $10,000,000,000. It is proposed to bring into this company all the oil interests of Messrs. Guffy and Galey, the pioneer developers of the new field, as well as the interests of all the other companies, firms and individuals who have oil land holdings in that field.

The new company will be a direct competitor of the Standard in producing and marketing fuel oil.

A LARGE PURCHASE OF LAND.

Senator William M. Stewart made one of the largest purchases of land last week that has been recorded in London county, Va., for many years. He purchased from Mr. Henry Harrison, attorney for Mrs. R. A. Paxton, the Cotton estate, owned by her late husband, and containing 2,500 acres of land. This estate lies along Goose creek and the Potomac river and extends out to the Georgetown pike; it comprises a quantity of splendid river bottom and some excellent upland. It is about five miles east of Leesburg and about three miles north of Alaska, the handsome estate already owned by Senator Stewart, and is about two miles from the line of the Southern railway. This purchase puts Senator Stewart in possession of something over 3,000 acres of land. A pretty good evidence that he likes it. It is understood that the Senator intends going very largely into the stock raising and dairying business, to which his properties are admirably adapted. The price paid for Cotton has not been made public, but is understood to have been a fair one.

TAX OF BROKERS.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Yerkes has issued a comprehensive set of regulations governing special taxes of brokers, dealers, traders and taxes on transactions set out in paragraphs 2 and 3, of schedule A, of the new revenue reduction act of March 2, 1901. These regulations are addressed to collectors of internal revenue for whose guidance they are intended. They hold broadly that a tax of $50 per annum is imposed on all persons and associations pretending to deal in grain provisions, cotton and securities, but whose customers understood that settlements are to be made by difference and that the transactions are to be deemed terminated on certain prices being reached.

DEPUTY COLLECTORS DISMISSED.

WAYNESBORO, PA., April 3.—The United States government is preparing to reduce its expenditures by cutting down the number of deputy revenue collectors. Two have been dismissed in this district and three now do the work of five. Mr. M. Stover, of Waynesboro, has been given Franklin and Fulton counties as far east as and including Carlisle. Nathaniel Adams, of Harrisburg, has parts of Cumberland, Dauphin and York, and Harry A. Rodbaugh, of Lebanon, has parts of Lebanon, Dauphin and York counties. The new arrangement puts much additional work on the deputies.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism. QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN.

All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which it affords. When speaking of this Mr. D. N. Sinks, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief until I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co.; druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it so highly that I bought a bottle. I was soon relieved of all pain. I have since recommended this liniment to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for muscular rheumatism in the market." For sale by T. E. Zimmerman & Co., Druggists.

MAYDOLE'S HAMMER.

(Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master.)

When Maydole was told that he made "a pretty good hammer," he said, "No, I don't make a 'pretty good hammer,' I make the best hammer that ever was made."

Every carpenter who saw a Maydole hammer wanted one. It was of the best material, perfectly balanced, and the head never flew off. Hammers were divided into two classes—1st, Maydole's; 2d, all the rest. Plasters are separated by the same line of cleavage; 1st, Benson's Porous Plaster; 2d, all the rest. When for rheumatic pain, a cold, a cough, kidney trouble or any other disease or ailment that may be treated externally, you ask for a plaster, any honest, reputable druggist will give you a Benson's. He knows it is incomparably the best, and he assures you that you know it too.

As the name of Maydole stood for hammers the name of Benson stands for plasters—the "real thing." All the medicinal potencies that are valuable in a plaster are in Benson's. Strong, strengthening and Belladonna plasters are out of date.

An army of physicians and druggists, and millions of the people, have written of Benson's Plasters as a remedy to be trusted. Benson's Plasters have fifty-five highest awards. Accept no substitutes.

For sale by all druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States, on receipt of 25c. each. Seabury & Johnson, Mfrs. Chemists, N. Y.

A MOVEMENT is to be started in New York to put a stop to the shooting of live pigeons and the torture and maiming of little creatures under the name of sport. It is charged that the spirit of cruelty is being encouraged to an extent that threatens to be demoralizing, and that as skill with shots can be displayed in other harmless ways, this torture of birds is a wantonness that calls for a check.—American.

At a conference held by Governor Odell and other New York officials at Albany it was decided to recommend the expenditure of $26,000,000 for a State canal.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

James Earley was arrested in Hagerstown on the charge of forging two notes. Justice Hoffman held him for court in $500 bail on each charge and committed him in default. Earley admitted before the Justice putting the names of Henry Holzapel, his landlord, and City Councilman Lewis Wiebel to a 90-day note for $140, which he had cashed at the Hagerstown Bank, and the names of Mr. Wiebel and George A. Cressler to a 90-day note for $65, which he had cashed at the same bank. He paid part of the amount of one note at the bank, but admitted that the renewal of the Cressler-Wiebel note was also a forgery. He said he spent the money obtained on the notes in paying some old debts.—Sun.

COL. SCHLEY APPOINTED SUPERINTENDENT OF CENSUS.

Governor Smith has appointed Col. Buchanan Schley, of Hagerstown, superintendent of the State Census, and Mr. William J. Ogden, of Baltimore, assistant superintendent. The announcement of the appointments was made known last Friday morning. The headquarters of the State Census Bureau will be in Baltimore city. The work of taking the census of the State will begin May 1, and the limit of time for the enumerators to do the work is 15 days. The enumerators will receive $3 a day.

Colonel Schley, the superintendent of the census, will bring to the work earnestness of purpose and intelligent direction. His coadjutor, Mr. Ogden, is well known as a capable man of untiring zeal. He is at present holding the position of a civil justice of the peace in Baltimore city by appointment of Governor Smith. He has been a member of the City Council of Baltimore and was a candidate for Congress. He took an active part in both the Presidential campaigns for Mr. Bryan. He is a practical business man in manufacturing lines; he is conversant with public affairs and familiar with public statistics, and is not quite 40 years old.

THE damage to the stockrooms of the Baltimore Cap Manufacturing Company, 31 Hanover street, caused by fire Tuesday evening, is estimated at between $2000 and $2200. The loss is fully covered by insurance. The origin of the fire, which started on the fourth floor, is yet a mystery. It had gained considerable headway before it was discovered and an alarm sent in by Patrolman Tress, of the Central district. District Chief Shipley and Chief McAfee were on the scene a few minutes after the first alarm was turned in, and realizing that the situation of the building might lead to a serious conflagration, a second alarm was sounded. In 20 minutes the fire was under control, although by this time it had burned through the roof. The second floor of the building is occupied by Messrs. Friedlander, Dietz & Co., clothing manufacturers, and their loss is between $200 and $300. Messrs. Stein & Co., mill agents for dry goods, occupy the first floor. Their loss is very slight. During the fire a section of hose burst, deluging the spectators.

TEACHING THEM TO READ.

The newspapers report the opening of many schools in different sections of this State for the purpose of teaching the illiterate negroes how to read before the next election. This state of affairs is commendable, yet it seems strange that no effort was made in this particular direction for the benefit of the colored man prior to the enactment of the new election law, which allows no assistance to be given the voter unless he is blind or physically unable to mark his ballot. According to statistics there are 44,923 illiterate voters in Maryland, and of this number 18,307 are white and 26,616 colored. How about the white man who cannot read? As yet, we have not seen anything concerning the establishing of schools to teach these 18,307 white men how to read in order that they may be able to go to the polls on election day and mark their ballots correctly. It is natural to suppose that the unfortunate white men who are unable to read will not take kindly to this sort of discrimination.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT.

Robert Burns, white, aged 35 years, who has a wife and three children residing at Endicott, Butler county, Pa., is dying at the Western Maryland Hospital from an assault committed last Friday night by an unknown negro at Pinto, Allegany county, where the Baltimore and Ohio cut-off is being built. Burns was seated by a fire warming his hands, when a negro slipped up behind with a revolver and demanded his money. He handed out 25 cents, all that he had, and a gold and a silver watch. Burns then started to run and the negro followed, shooting him in the back. He fell and the negro beat him over the head with a club. The man lay unconscious for some time but finally recovered and crawled a half mile to a telegraph station and had the operator summon a doctor. The bullets perforated the intestines in four or five places. The negro escaped. The doctors say there is no hope of Burns' recovery.

Tipton, the Gettysburg, Photographer, will be at Emmitsburg Saturday, April 13, from 9 a. m. till 4 p. m., prepared to make the latest and newest styles of photographs. No Penny Pictures.

TO ERECT CHILDREN'S HOME.

Arrangements are being made for the erection in the near future in the neighborhood of Catonsville of the Holywood Children's Summer Home, the purposes of which are to supply outings for children from the congested parts of Baltimore city during the hot months.

For the last nine years the work has been carried on in the old Ingleside school building, which was loaned for that purpose by its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Baker.

With a view to erecting a permanent home for the institution the managers have purchased for $2,400 12 acres of the James estate at the corner of Rolling and the Old Frederick roads. Plans for the house which it is proposed to erect on a portion of this lot have been prepared by Mr. F. B. Pyle of Washington and will be submitted to the board at a meeting to be held this week.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

The furniture factory of Martin L. Main & Sons, in Hagerstown, was burned to the ground early Monday morning, entailing a loss estimated at from $15,000 to $18,000. The building was of brick, 100 feet long and 40 feet wide and three stories high. It was used for making oak bedroom suits.

A small frame house owned by J. T. Laws, colored, the watchman, was also burned, as was the engine house, about 10 feet from the main building.

There were stored in the building between 300 and 400 finished oak bedroom suits and material to make that many more. These were burned and the machinery, of the latest patent, valued at $8,000 were destroyed. The bed room suits were valued at $7,000. The workmen lost nearly all their tools.

The building was situated in the southern suburbs, along the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and cost, eight years ago, when it was built as a bicycle factory for R. G. Surbridge, about $5,000.

In less than an hour after the fire was discovered the factory was in ruins, the inflammable material causing it to burn with rapidity. A frame dryhouse north of the factory was on fire several times but it was saved, as was also the lumber in the yards.

The origin of the fire is not known, but it may have started from hot coils from the boiler. The watchman said that when he saw the fire it was on the outside of the boiler room.

Three firemen—Lewis Ernde, Charles Kuntz, and Jacob Schuler—made narrow escapes from being buried beneath a falling wall. They had run a line of hose through the factory and were fighting the flames from the south end when the wall fell in, almost covering them with bricks and mortar. They were nearly blinded by the dust and it was some time before they could extricate themselves. They escaped with bruises. Three links of new fire hose were buried under the wall and burned.

Mr. Main said that the firm had just completed negotiations with a Michigan firm to take all the quartered oak polished furniture they made. They expected to put 75 hands at work soon. There was only $10,000 insurance on the building.

ALL SIGNED AND SEALED.

Gov. John Walter Smith, after visiting Baltimore early Tuesday morning and remaining at his city office, in the Merchants' Bank Building, until after 5 o'clock, took a train for Annapolis and completed the signing of bills passed at the extra session of Legislature. President John Hubner, of the Senate; Gen. F. C. Latrobe, Speaker of the House of Delegates; Alfred Ritter, Secretary of the Senate, and Dr. Benjamin L. Smith, chief clerk of the House of Delegates, were promptly on hand. At 5 o'clock they all met in the Executive Chamber of the State House and signed the following bills:

Authorizing Election Supervisors to subdivide election precincts.

Ceding certain lands in Montgomery county to the United States.

Appropriating $25,000 for State representation at the Buffalo and Charleston Expositions.

Waterworks for Hyattsville.

Waterworks for Laurel.

Regulating elections in Frederick city.

Sanctioning a number of requests to churches.

Regulating the taking of oysters in Sinepuxent bay.

Removing tax from men employed on scarp boats in Dorchester county.

Appropriating $500 to pay the Electoral College.

Creating a Board of Visitors to the Anne Arundel County Jail.

Increasing the number of County Commissioners for Anne Arundel county from three to seven.

As soon as the bills were signed and delivered into the custody of Secretary of State Bateman, President Hubner and Speaker Latrobe returned to Baltimore. The Governor remained at Annapolis.

Treasurer Murray Vandiver and State Comptroller Joshua Hering were among those who witnessed the signing of the bills.

Governor Smith announced that he had commissioned W. D. Wright, of this city, a justice of the peace, vice W. E. Sinclair, resigned.

Thomas H. Tankersly was appointed Oyster Inspector, vice John Black, deceased.

UP-TO-DATE PHOTOGRAPHS. Tipton will be at the Rowe Gallery, Emmitsburg, prepared to make them, Saturday, April 13. Specimens on exhibition a few days before. This will be my only visit to Emmitsburg this spring.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Joseph Montague, aged 60 years, a resident of Waynesboro, Pa., had both legs cut off at Brunswick, last Saturday night while attempting to board train 14 after it had started to move from the station. He was a passenger on the train enroute to New York and, having relatives at Brunswick, got off to see if any of them were around the station, and in attempting to get on the train after it had started he fell under it.

He was taken to the Baltimore and Ohio Hospital at Brunswick and placed in charge of the Baltimore and Ohio surgeons, but his injuries were of such a serious character that he died from the effects of them at 2:40 o'clock Sunday morning. The remains were taken charge of by his relatives at Brunswick.

STATE CENSUS JOBS.

Work for 669 Men for 15 Days at $3 Per Day.

There will be jobs for 669 men in taking the census of Maryland provided for by an Act of the Legislature at its late session. It will require that number of enumerators to perform the work. Forty-five dollars will be the enumerator's pay for his job, which will last fifteen days.

The Legislature appropriated $40,000 for the census and $2,500 to have transcripts made of the Federal returns for the counties of St. Mary's, Charles and Anne Arundel. The transcripts have been asked for by the Governor, and it will be remembered that his inquiries of Director Merriam in this connection first aroused the attention of the Government officials in Washington and caused such inquiries to be made that the St. Mary's census scandal was unearthed and followed by arrests of persons charged with delinquencies.

The forms of the blanks have been prepared and put in the hands of the printers. The large force of clerks and enumerators will be selected promptly, and it is expected that within 10 days at farthest the State Census bureau will be pretty well organized, with headquarters in Baltimore city. The force of enumerators, one for each voting precinct, will be 669, of whom 308 will be in the city.

Each enumerator is required to take the age, color, sex, place of birth, literacy or illiteracy, naturalized or not and length of residence in precinct, county and State. Every enumerator is required to visit each dwelling house in his subdivision. Every person is required to be counted.

The enumerators are not to return any person who is not a bona fide resident of the State or who is only temporarily employed on Government reservations, navy yards, proving grounds, Naval Academy or forts belonging to the United States, or persons who are temporarily residing in hotels and boarding houses.

The law requires a separate list of temporary residents to be made, but the individuals must not be included in the sum total of the population of the State.

The enumerators are also required to return on separate blanks the names of all registered voters who cannot be found and a separate list of all male persons above the age of 21 years whose names do not appear on the list of registered voters. The supervisors of election are required to aid in promoting this object of the bill.

FAIRFIELD ITEMS.

FAIRFIELD, April 2.—Miss Bena Marshall and Mr. John Bream, who are attending the C. V. S. N. S., at Shippenburg, are home for a few days. They are looking well.

Mr. F. Shulley and wife were visitors to Emmitsburg last Saturday.

Mr. C. M. Shulley and Miss Maggie Reed, of this place, were guests of Harvey Sanders, in the Valley of Rocks.

Mrs. Archibald Curry, who lived with her daughter, Mrs. John Cool, of Liberty township, died on Saturday last. Funeral Monday. Mrs. Curry was an aged lady.

Mr. Urias Shiner, who lived at the old Maria Furnace, is dead. He was sick one week with pneumonia.

Dr. J. E. Glenn, who was reported very ill, is improving since an operation was performed. The Doctor may be able to resume his practice again.

Mrs. John Manherz, of Fairfield, is very ill at this time. Her children were sent for and all have come to see their mother.

Miss Mabel Marl, who taught school at the Valley Church, in Liberty township, died of pneumonia on Monday.

Mr. Jacob Shoemaker, the hotel keeper at Fairfield and who is one of our accommodating men, has sent to the city for several barrels of potatoes.

Miss Nancy Wilson, of Fairfield, had said on last Friday, having sold her property to Mr. John Irwin. She will remove to Mr. Robert Hill's, near Green Mount, Pa.

The stores in Fairfield are getting their spring goods. However, the weather is pretty cool as yet, but after Easter we may expect good weather.

The schools in Hamilton township are nearly all closed, having completed the seven months' term.

There will be communion services in the Lutheran church, in Fairfield, the first Sunday in April.

A Testimonial from Old England.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mr. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years, being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." It is a great pleasure to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be able to publish testimonials of this character. They show that great good is being done, pain and suffering relieved and valuable lives being restored to health and happiness by this remedy. It is for sale by T. E. Zimmerman & Co. druggists.

You cannot enjoy perfect health, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes if your liver is sluggish and your bowels clogged. DeWitt's Little Early Risers cleanse the whole system. They never gripe. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

My only date this spring, Saturday, April 13, 9 a. m. till 4 p. m.
