German Hotel Keeper's Opinions on Hotheaded Peoples.

"I think that the Americans are altogether too quick to pick a quarrel," said a German hotel keeper in Harlem who had just had a petty tussle in putting out an unwelcome customer.

"They are not to be compared with the French," said an American lawyer who happened to drop in. "Why, you know about those French apprentices, how they are always ready to fight and often lose their lives over a few words."

"I've heard about these apprentices," said the German. "We have them in our country. They roam around the country. But what of that?"

"Yes," was the answer. "A party of them, with a leader and representing some craft, will, for instance, meet another party of apprentices. They are organized into different societies, each intensely jealous of the other, and if two such bands are different societies there is a fight in an instant. First the leaders come to blows, and then the melee becomes general. They fight with fists and sticks until the road is littered with the wounded and sometimes the dead."

The German, not to be outdone by the French, said before he had thought twice: "That's nothing. Why, our students in the universities have fights. They belong to different societies and fight with sabers. Because of some little insult often one will have his head fairly cut open.'

Don't Overdraw Your Account In the Bank of Mature.

You have a deposit of nervous energy placed to your account in the bank of your body. It may be large, in which happy case you are a millionaire in strength and accomplishing power, or it may be so microscopic as to need careful husbanding and little expenditure to keep it from dwindling out altogether.

But many millionaires become pau pers, and some "dime savings" swell into millions. It depends upon the way the capital is managed. You may think you have so much that there is no need to be economical. You get up in the morning and feel the blood bounding through your veins like mountain cataracts, and you think you can turn the mill wheels of the world.

You work day and night or you play day and night, which is sometimes more exhausting, and go at the limit of your speed all the time. You are overdrawing your bank account of energy, and that needlessly, for you probably have enough to last a long and useful lifetime. With a bitterly savage exclamation the aged man seizes his winnings, throws them about him and hurries from the room to disappear, no one knows where. In his first burst of enthusiasm he told his brother of how much better he felt since his conversion and urged Ed to come into the fold. The latter pondered gravely for a time and then said: "Ain't any doubt but what religion's a good thing, and I'm glad you've got it, Jim, but I guess you better let me alone just now," he continued reflectively. #### SILAGE TALK.

Results of the New Hampshire and other stations invariably agree that the best silage is obtained from corn that has nearly reached maturity, with ears fully formed and well filled. At this stage of growth also a corn plant has reached its maximum of food production. Varieties of corn should be selected which yield the largest crops at this stage rather than those which produce large plants, but are yet immature at cutting time. This practice is already followed by many farmers. For New Hampshire a standard variety is the Leaming dent corn, while in those portions of the state with too short a season for that variety the Sanford flint corn can be advantageous-

The Sugar In Green Fodder. The sugar in the green fodder is pracsically all destroyed in the silo, and since it is most abundant in the corn plant in the early stages of ear development it is an additional argument for postponing cutting until the grain is full size and the sugars have changed largely to starch. The amount of seed per acre affects the yield of green fodder and also its composition. A medium stand is essential for the best results in both quantity and qual-

Dressed Turkeys For Shipment. In shipping dressed poultry there are some essentials to be considered. The prospective city buyer may not know a dry picked fowl from a scalded one, but the commission merchant does. Now, the fowl should be killed by inserting a knife in the roof of the mouth, thereby penetrating the brain. Hang the bird up by the feet to bleed out. When this has stopped, dip hastily in hot water, then at once in cold water and pick. This process hardens the flesh and makes them easy to pick. The packing boxes should be lined with white paper and fowls laid in, alternating head and feet-that is, if ten birds constitute a row, have five heads point one way and five the other. In this way they fit snugly. Some dealers like a ruffle of paper added at the knee. Lay a piece of paper over this layer and proceed to fill the box, not crowding, but fitting snugly. The best paper to use can be obtained very cheaply is one day, and one day only, in the at any newspaper office and is such as year on which the rooms of the casino is used in printing. > Fashions In Butter Color. A bright, reddish yellow color in but' result of using a dangerous aniline dye. Of course natural butter is of a very light amber color, but for reasons not easy to explain this tint is not popular. People demand a golden or else reddish tint, the public taste in this regard having become steadily more marked. The butter in the market today is several shades darker than the average of fifteen years ago, and the difference represents merely an additional percentage of dye. It is a curious fashion, and as a reaction against it one notices that the butter served at the best class of restaurants and hotels is almost white. -Exchange.

CINNAMON, DELICIOUS AND SUGARY, AROMATIC AND PUNGENT.

The Discovery of Its Valuable Properties Antedates Recorded History. Something of Its Uses and the Way In Which It Is Produced.

Cinnamon is in itself unquestionably the most delicious of all spices, being sugary as well as aromatic and pungent. Many thousands of pounds are consumed annually in every civilized country, and it is also highly appreciated by even semicivilized and barbarous nations where culinary art and medicine have as yet made little prog-

Its uses in sweet cookery are innumerable. There are very few fruits which are not improved in preserves, pickles and pastries by the addition of an essential flavoring in all spice cakes and in many varieties of pies and puddings. So highly was the sweet bark esteemed by the ancients that even a small piece was considered a fit gift for a king. It is always mentioned as an especially choice substance by Greek writers previous to the Christian era. It is said that the Arab traders, who first brought it to Egypt and western Asia, surrounded its history and production with special tales of mystery and

Unsuccessful Inventions That Preceded Howe's Patent In 1846. The technical beginning of the sewing machine industry in this country was Sept. 10, 1846, when Elias Howe, Jr., obt: ed a patent for what grew into the first really practical sewing machine. Only three of the first Howe machines were made, however, and one of these was deposited in the patent office in Washington as a model. It was not a success, but some of the features of the Saint machine appear in the perfected machine of today:

Bartholemy Thimonnier patented in France in 1830 the first sewing machine put to practical use. Eighty of his machines were in use fer sewing army clothing in 1841, when a mob destroyed them because convinced they would drive seamstresses out of employment. Thimonnier built new and better machines, but all his work was again destroyed by angry artisans in

A small army of inventors appeared after Howe's patent had proved successful, and their genius was devoted to perfecting every part of the machine. Malfa, Cowpens and Crimson Clo- They Feast Themselves Before They Physic Their Patients.

When a man in China becomes ill, his has been studying the substitution of family sends for a doctor, and as no Chinese physician of established reputation will walk to a patient a carriage or a donkey must be sent to fetch him. As soon as he reaches the house he is conducted into the best room and is entertained with tea, brands and sweetmeats; or, if he has come a good distance, with a meal of several courses. No matter how ill his patient may be he will not approach him until he has thoroughly refreshed himself in this

When at last he goes to his bedside, he first asks the patient if he is still able to eat, and he next examines his pulse. After the patient has bared his entire forearm the physician places his finger on the pulse and for several moments does not utter a word. Sometimes only one of his fingers and at other times all of them are employed at this work. When he breaks his silence, he describes minutely the disease from which the patient is suffering and writes a prescription.

Then the doctor takes his leave; promising to call again if necessary. He receives, as a rule, no fee for this service, but if he is a druggist he charges a large price for the medicine, or if he is not a druggist he receives a satisfactory commission from the one Who prepares it. Moreover, the patient, if he recovers, generally gives him a handsome present.

A True Friend.

It takes a great soul to be a true friend-a large, catholic, steadfast and loving spirit. One must forgive much, forget much, forbear much. It costs to be a friend or to have a friend. There is nothing else in life except motherhood that costs so much. It not only costs time, affection, strength, patience, love-sometimes a man must even lay down his life for his friends. There is no true friendship without self abnega-

Consumption Cured

Foley & Go., Chicago.

Gentlemen:—FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR cured me of consumption after I had suffered two years and was almost desperate. Three physicians failed to give me any relief and the last one said he could do me no good. I tried almost every medicine I heard tell of without benefit until FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR was recommended to me. Its effect right from the start was magical. I improved steadily from the first dose and am now sound and well, and think FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR is a God-send to people with Throat and Lung Trouble.

Yours very truly, Mrs. Mary Ambrose.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR contains no opiates and does not constipate like ordinary cough medicines.
