Develop More Rapidly. "There is an easy way, if you are a sigarette smoker, to tell whether or not the habit injures you," said a physician. "Do you feel, after smoking, a languor, a sinking and a great depression? Do you feel melancholy, hopeless, weak? If you do you should aban-

It is not felt at all, and these persons tobacco cannot; be said to injure. But in persons whose hearts and constitution are frail the effect is strongly felt, the symptoms being those that I have just described, and such persons ought not to smoke."

This specialist has tabulated the records of all the smoking and nonsmoking medical students of his acquaintance for a period of nine years. He has found that the smokers are shorter in stature than the nonsmokers and that they do not develop as well. Perhaps the tersest and most effective election speech ever made, says a London weekly, was that of Mr. John Peel at Accrington, when at last and after the most urgent solicitation he was induced to address there the electors of northeast Lancashire. "Men of Accrington, if you are so backward in coming forward, we shall all be behind as we were before." The only deliverance comparable with this in terseness and effectiveness was the sermon of be from Acts xx, 'And after the uproar | Dean Swift's, which, taking as its text, "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to mon's end, retorted neatly with the the Lord," began and ended thus; "Brethren, if you like the security down with the dust?"

Not Used to Pulling Corks. A slight fire occurred on the fourth floor of a downtown establishment. At first the president was adamant, though he would not deny that the Chicago Tribune's man had stolen a march on his rival. At last, being convinced that failure meant the close of his caller's journalistic career, Mr. Haves said:

"I can't send you to any one for a copy of the message, as you suggest. You can't be helped by any one but me, and I am crowded for time. But, under the circumstances, I will outline the message briefly on condition that you keep the source of your information a secret. You must not take notes, but write wholly from memory. I may repeat the exact phraseology of the message in part and that wouldn't do in your dispatch." Then for the space of twenty minutes the president talked steadily, the correspondent listening meanwhile as if his life depended upon good hearing and good memory. THE CIRCUIT COURT ADJOURNS.

The circuit court adjourned for the September term Tuesday afternoon. This term of the circuit court was marked by the fact that it was the shortest grand jury term that has been held in this county for some time. The September term usually lasts about six weeks and this term lasted about three weeks. There were 169 cases on the civil and criminal dockets for trial at this termsixty-six criminal and 103 civil cases. Of the cases on the criminal docket 29 were found by the grand jury for this term and 37 were carried over from other terms. Ten criminal cases were tried, 9 were marked "stet" and in ten cases the traversers plead guilty. Of the cases on the civil docket thirty

THE LEONINE DUMAS.

One evening in the beginning of June I was taken to the residence of Dumas, on the Boulevard Malesherbes, by an intimate friend of the great novelist. As one thinks of a lion, with his shaggy mane full of the jungle burs of adventure, so I can see the author of memorable evening. Standing about were women friends, actresses, writers, poets, attracted by a world of romance symbolized in the figure seated in the middle of the salon. I was instantly impressed with two things—the frescoes on the walls and the attitude of the host. He sat like a silent oracle, surrounded by a crowd of female admirers, the whole company set off by panels representing life sized figures from Goethe's great drama-Faust, Mephistopheles, Marguerite. There were no other pictures in the room. The influence of these figures, the attitude of Dumas and his worshipers, concentrated the mind on the quifitessential ele-

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo. Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cared by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worth-less stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it be possi-ble to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows from the harmony of idea and personality-the company of women might have been part of the frescoes and Dumas the creator of "Faust" instead of "Monte-Christo." There was an engive more milk.
