THE PEPPERMINT STICK.

Some Words of Praise For the Candy

of Our Daddies. The old style stick candy has red stripes running around it in spiral form. The body of the stick is white. It is slightly flavored with peppermint. It is very sweet and wholesome. Good enough for a king! So cheap that the spoorest may have it. Six sticks for 5 cents. Enough to last a family of six two days. Break a stick in two in the mind. for children. Keep it in the house. Away up in the pantry where the children can't help themselves. After dinner is over take it down, break a stick in two and pass it around. The children will like it immensely. They will like it all the better for not being able to get too much of it. Never let them have all they want of it. A half stick is enough, although a whole stick might be allowed occasionally. All the Yancy stuff put up in boxes that cost a dollar or more cannot equal the old fashioned stick candy. Six sticks of it contain more solid comfort and more nutrition than a wagon load of caramels and painted bonbons. It is the candy of our forefathers. Our grandmothers used to eat it. Accept no other. Be sure that you get the proper trademark-red stripes running spiral-Ty round the stick. Beware of substitutes.-Medical Talk.

THE WILD BIRD.

When the Naturalist Gets a Chance to Study Him at Close Range. For the greater part of the year fear is the dominant instinct in the life of nearly every wild bird or mammal which has to contend with man or overt enemies of any kind. But with the periodic revival of the reproductive functions profound changes occur not only in the bodily parts, but in the instinets which govern their mevements and life. The parental instincts, which are essential to the generation and or supplanting the sense of fear hold them to the focal point-the nest and Sater the young-during the period when parental care and even parental sacrifice 4s mecessary.

This wonderful parental instinct, or series of instincts, rises gradually like two sisters of eighteen and twenty a fever, reaches a maximum and then as slowly sabsides.
