HISTORY OF MARYLAND.

Patriotic Achievements Recalled By Gov. Warfield.

Maryland Day was celebrated at the World's Fair on Monday, September 12. There were speeches by President Francis, Governor Warfield, General Baughman and General Brent and a parade, in which the Governor's staff was resplendent in their new gorgeous uniforms, and a reception. Governor Warfield made a notable speech recounting the glorious history of the State. He said:

"We have come on this 12th day of September because it is one of the proudest and most sacred days in Maryland annals. It is the anniversary of the battle of North Point—the battle that turned the tide against the triumphant British Army saved Baltimore from destruction and virtually ended the War of 1812."

The Governor then told the story of that historic day and the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by Francis Scott Key. He then said:

"The people of the United States owe to the State of Maryland a great debt for the part she played in establishing our independence and the formation of the Union."

"It was her bold, determined and unswerving stand against the ratification of the Articles of Confederation that resulted in the cession to the United States of what was then known as the Northwest Territory."

"Many of the original colonies which had received charters from the crown believed that there was no set boundaries at the west, and that their grants extended to the 'western water.' New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Virginia were foremost in making such claims. Virginia, whose charter antedated all others, had the best title to the lands in dispute. Hence she was the most tenacious in her claims."

The other States naturally felt that as these larger States grew and waxed powerful they might tyrannize over their smaller neighbors."

"Of all these protesting States it was Maryland alone that rose to the occasion and suggested an idea which at first seemed startling, but which became a fixed fact, from which mighty and unforeseen consequences afterward flowed."

"The Articles of Confederation were about to be presented to the respective States for ratification when the question naturally arose as to how the conflicting claims to these Western lands should be settled."

"A Marylander, Daniel Carroll, offered in Congress a resolution that 'the United States, in Congress assembled, should have the sole and exclusive right and power to ascertain and fix the Western boundary of such States as claimed to the Mississippi, and lay out the land so ascertained into separate and independent States from time to time as the number and circumstances of the people may require.'"

"To carry out this motion it was necessary for the States claiming this Western territory to surrender their claims into the hands of the United States and thus create a domain which should be owned by the confederation in common."

"This was a bold step taken by Maryland, and was considered to smack somewhat of centralization of power. Maryland was the only State that voted for it. She stood firm, pursued her purpose resolutely and was rewarded with complete success."

"New York, Virginia, Connecticut and Massachusetts finally ceded their title to these lands and Maryland ratified the confederation, having first secured as the common property of the United States all of the immense territory which has since been parceled out and established by Congress into the free and fertile States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin."

The Home of Toleration

"The very foundation of the Colony of Maryland was of national importance because the principle of religious toleration was introduced by the founder. From the time of the landing at St. Mary's until today liberty of conscience has been the fundamental right of every person in Maryland."

"Much has been written upon the subject of the Act of Toleration of 1649. The true history may be briefly stated. Cecilus Calvert, being vested with extraordinary power over a great territory, determined to found there a free English State, where all the rights and liberties of every English freeman would be protected. To do this he divested himself and his heirs of the princely prerogatives granted to him by his charter. He caused to be drafted at home, and then adopted by the freemen of Maryland, codes of laws which transferred English institutions to Maryland. By orders, proclamations and conditions of plantation he strengthened and fortified these institutions thus transplanted."

Believing that Magna Charta and the right of petition guaranteed every Englishman the right of liberty of person and security of property, he was wise enough to see and brave enough to declare that these rights were worthless without liberty of conscience."

"He, therefore, adopted and declared that to be the principle on which the foundations of Maryland should be laid. From the first he intended to secure all those rights, privileges and franchises not alone to Roman Catholics, nor yet alone to Englishmen, but to all Christian people of all the nations of the world."

"In doing this he was supported by the whole social influence of the Roman Catholics of England and by the power of the Society of Jesus."

"Under this institution the Puritans settled at Providence, the Quakers at West River, and the Presbyterians on the Patuxent. It gave shelter to the Huguenots after the massacre of St. Bartholomew, and to Roman Catholics from the murders and burnings of San Domingo."

In Colonial Times

"Notwithstanding its repeated external overthrow by force or faction, it has always been imbedded in the life of the people. In the wars, insurrections, revolutions, rebellions and civil broils which swept the province in its earlier days neither life, liberty nor property has ever been sacrificed in the fury of religious fanaticism. Blood has been shed in the struggles of factions, but no man has ever been put to death on account of his religion in Maryland."

"The growth of popular government was early manifested in colonial Maryland. In the very first Assembly, in 1635, every freeman was entitled to a seat and voice in the proceedings. The second Assembly was held in 1637, and the freemen rejected the code of laws offered by Lord Baltimore, although liberal and just, claiming the right to originate legislation for themselves. Thus began the fight in Maryland for the rights of freemen."

"In 1739 the Assembly successfully opposed taxes being imposed without their consent, and this fight went on until 1765, when the attempt to place taxes by Parliament and the Tea Tax of 1767 so aroused the people that the protest was universal throughout the colony."

"Meetings were held throughout the State to protest against the closing of the port of Boston, and provisions were sent to aid the almost starving people of that city, thus showing the earnest sympathy of the people of Maryland in their fight for the great principle of 'No taxation without Representation.'"

"In all of the movements that led up to the Declaration of Independence and the Revolutionary War Maryland stood in the forefront."

Proud Revolutionary History

"The first overt act of her people against the authority of the King of England was on October 19, 1774, when her fearless patriots compelled Anthony Stewart to burn his brig, the Peggy Stewart, with her cargo of tea, in the harbor of Annapolis. This was done in broad daylight, by men undisguised, whose motto was 'Liberty, or death in the pursuit of it.'"

"Thomas Johnson, of Maryland, nominated George Washington to be commander-in-chief of the American Army."

"The Maryland Riflemen, under Michael Cresap, were the first organized troops to respond to the call of liberty. They fought side by side with the Puritans of Massachusetts at Concord and Lexington."

"It was Maryland's 'Four Hundred' under the intrepid Gist, who, after six successive bayonet charges, saved Washington's army at Long Island in August, 1776. The greatest crisis in that battle was the superb action of these immortal Marylanders."

"They held the British Army of 4,000 in check until the Americans moved across to the Jersey shore."

"Two hundred and sixty-seven of their number were killed or wounded."

"Their bravery and heroism caused General Washington to exclaim: 'Great God! what brave men I must this day lose!'"

"The 'Maryland Line,' under command of Colonel Smallwood, composed Washington's rear guard in his masterly retreat through New Jersey."

"Maryland soldiers participated in every hard-fought battle of the Revolution from Long Island to Yorktown, and were especially distinguished for bravery at Camden, Eutaw Springs, Guilford Courthouse, Hobkirk's Hill and Cowpens. They were the 'Old Guard of the Continental forces,' the Bayonets of the Revolution."

Colonel Tilghman's Ride

"It was a son of Maryland, Col. Trench Tilghman, Washington's aide, who rode from Yorktown to Philadelphia, carrying the news of Cornwallis' surrender to the Continental Congress. He crossed the Chesapeake Bay to the Eastern Shore of Maryland in an open boat, where, procuring a horse, he started on his way, riding in the dim watches of the night. When his horse gave out he would ride up to a house and call out, 'A horse for Congress—Cornwallis is taken.' There was a flash of light, a patter of glad feet, a welcome and a god-speed. This was repeated time and again, until, finally, thundering into Philadelphia at midnight, Independence Bell was rung, Congress convened, and the watchman on his round proclaimed, 'Twelve o'clock; all's well, and Cornwallis is taken.'"

"Maryland has taken a foremost place in our wars since the Revolution, and in every movement for the advancement of liberty, the welfare of the people, and the maintenance of the peace, prestige and dignity of our government."

The War of 1812

"She contributed more money and men for the War of 1812 than any other State. The annals of that war show that of the 240 naval officers who served on our ships, Maryland furnished 46, nearly one-fifth, and more than any other State; all of the New England States together sending only 42, and New York but 17. And in the number of privateers sent out to prey upon British commerce, Baltimore headed the list of cities."

"Her quota of volunteers for the Mexican War was promptly recruited. They were a brave band of soldiers, and won glory for their State. When General Taylor called for 'A little more grape, Captain Bragg,' it was Ringgold's Flying Artillery (from Maryland) that furnished the grape."

"In 1860 Maryland's electoral vote was cast for Bell and Everett, showing that a majority of her people were for the Constitution and the Union. Although a majority of her most substantial citizens sympathized with the cause of the South, she refused to secede from the Union. Her sons were divided in the contest. Those who wore the gray believed that the South was right, and so believing, fought bravely, and endured suffering and privations for the faith that was in them and the cause they espoused. So with those who volunteered to sustain the Union. Maryland honors the valor of all of her sons, those who wore the gray as well as those who wore the blue."

"In evidence of this spirit she has erected a monument upon the battlefield of Antietam to commemorate their devotion to duty. On the tablets are inscribed the names of the commands—Union and Confederate—and the battles in which they participated."

"This monument was presented to the National Cemetery Commission by the State of Maryland in the presence of old soldiers of both armies, and was accepted by our martyred president, William McKinley, who did more than any other public man to obliterate the animosities of the war and reunite our people."

"Maryland's quota of volunteers for the Spanish war was quickly furnished. Her National Guard responded enthusiastically, each regiment clamoring to be sent to the front."

"Maryland took the initiative in many important matters of legislation."

"She passed the first law to naturalize a foreign-born citizen."

"She was the first State to recognize by law the possibility of steam navigation. She did this by granting to James Cumsey the exclusive right of steam navigation in the waters of the State. She was the first after Virginia to embody in her form of government the famous Bill of Rights formulated by George Mason."

"Many interesting historical events have taken place upon her soil."

"It was in the Senate chamber in the old Capitol, now standing at Annapolis, that Washington resigned his commission as commander-in-chief of the Army and returned it to Congress and retired to private life—the sublimest act of his sublime life."

"It was in that hallowed chamber that the treaty of peace with England, which ended the war, was ratified by Congress."

"It was in that same historic chamber that the initial convention was held to promote the organization of a more permanent government. It suggested the calling of a convention to formulate a constitution and founded the Union."

Cradle Of The Churches

"Maryland was the cradle of the Presbyterian Church in America. The first regularly constituted church of that denomination in the United States was erected at Rehoboth, Somerset county, now Wicomico county, with the Rev. Francis Makemie as its first minister. Maryland was the only colony where the Presbyterians could get toleration."

"It was in Maryland that the first bishop of the Episcopal Church consecrated in America resided—Right Rev. Thomas John Claggett, bishop of the Diocese of Maryland, who performed an important part in laying the foundation of this great and historic church."

"It was in Maryland that the Methodist Episcopal Church of America was established, and the first house of worship by that now powerful Christian denomination, that has done so much for the upbuilding of both civilization and religion in this as well as in other countries."

"In Maryland is the oldest Roman Catholic diocese in the United States—the Archdiocese of Baltimore. The first Archbishop of that church in this country was a Marylander, and it is fitting that the name of Archbishop Carroll should be linked, in State pride, with that of his kinsman, Charles Carroll of Carrollton, the signer of the Declaration of Independence."

Maryland today is the head of the Roman Catholic hierarchy. Representing that church we have in Baltimore its only cardinal in the United States—Cardinal Gibbons—that man of simple high patriotism."

"Thus it will be seen that upon Maryland's soil was first established in the United States these four great Christian churches that have been such potential forces in shaping the destiny and greatness of our nation."

Home of Invention

"Not only has Maryland been the scene of historical events, but many of the important industrial, inventive and scientific conceptions have been born within her borders."

"It was in Maryland waters that the first steamboat was floated. It was invented by a Marylander—James Rumsey—25 years before Fulton launched the Clarendon. General Washington, who witnessed the trial on the Potomac, gave a certificate of the success of the experiment."

"It was in Maryland that the first steam railroad in America was built and the first electric railway in the world was operated."

"It was in Maryland that the first iron plates for shipbuilding were made."

"It was in Maryland that the first telegraph line in the world was constructed, and the first water company and the first gas company were organized."

"It was a Marylander—Obed Hussey—who invented the first sickle knife for reapers, and the first perfect and successful self-raking reaper was invented by Owen Dorsey, of Howard county, Md."

"The heraldic device of the Great Seal of Maryland discloses the fact that the supporters of the shield are a farmer and fisherman. In the days of the province these two avocations were the only ones, and to-day they form the most important factors in the prosperity of the State."

"The agricultural products of the State amount to $43,823,419 annually. No more favored land for agricultural purposes can be found in the United States. While corn, wheat and tobacco are the staples, yet every product of the temperate zone can be produced within her borders in the greatest abundance."

"Frederick county, the home of General Baughman, ranks as the third agricultural county in productivity in the United States."

"Of Maryland's total area of 12,210 square miles 2,350 are covered by the waters of the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries, which teem with terrapin, oysters, crabs and fish in almost endless variety, while to the swamps and the marshes annually come thousands of ducks, geese and other wild fowl. The value of the annual yield from the products of these waters is over $10,000,000."

"Maryland is also taking her place in the front rank of manufacturing States. Her output of manufactured goods amounted last year to $242,752,990. By reason of her proximity to the stores of raw material, to the great coal fields and her splendid water-power, with unequalled watercourses and great railroad connections, there is every inducement for the establishment of manufacturing plants."

"The mineral resources of Maryland are extensive and but partly developed. Iron ore is abundant and of good quality. Limestone and marble of fine quality and granite unequalled are profusely distributed throughout the State. Her coal mines are practically inexhaustible and yield more than $5,000,000 annually. Her deposits of clay and kaolin furnish material for brick and pottery."

"Her climate is salubrious and healthy. Her hills and dales are pleasing and attractive to the eye. Her people are hospitable and cultured. Her public schools rank with those of any State in the Union. Her taxation, for State, county and municipal purposes, is moderate. Her churches are numerous and her people are moral and law-abiding."

"In fact, Maryland can boast of a citizenship, of a culture, of everything that promotes happiness and contentment. In the words of her distinguished poet, Randall, the author of 'Maryland, My Maryland,' 'There is faith in her streams; there is strength in her hills; there is life in the old land yet.'"

"I cannot close without referring to our metropolis, Baltimore, our beautiful city, famed for her fair daughters, her monuments, her beautiful parks, her churches, her colleges of medicine and law, her great Johns Hopkins University, which has in a quarter of a century won a position in the front rank of the universities of the world; of her hospitals, unsurpassed in their equipment for administering to suffering humanity; of her libraries, her old Historical Society, filled with the data that tells the brilliant story of our commonwealth, and above all, of her progressive, wide-awake and up-to-date merchants."

"Our city ranks next to St. Louis in population, but she stands upon an equal footing with her in all of the characteristics that go to make up an enterprising community. Baltimore sends greetings to St. Louis and hopes that this exposition will prove advantageous to her and be an aspiration that will yield fruit in the future."

"A great fire swept away the very heart of our city on the 7th of last February and destroyed property valued at $75,000,000. Our people, with a courage and grit unsurpassed, turned at once to the task of restoration and worked with a vim, so that today the work of reconstruction is so well under way that within a year a new substantial and beautiful city will have been built upon her ruins, thus demonstrating that other people are of that type that knows no failure or discouragement, and who can meet with stout hearts any emergency."

"Without aid, but with warm sympathy from every quarter, our merchants have rehabilitated themselves, taken care of their customers and pushed forward Baltimore's fame."

"These facts about Maryland justify the love that every Marylander bears for his native State. He can point with pride to her record of patriotism, to her contribution to the progressive work of the world, to her statesmen, her soldiers, her sailors."

"Her sons and their descendants have furnished much of the brain and brawn which have contributed to 'The Winning of the West.'"

"Missouri is a large debtor of Maryland. Many of her sturdy, enterprising, wide-awake business men are of Maryland stock or natives of our State. We are proud of such sons. They reflect credit upon their Maryland ancestry."

A Power For Good

"The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are Dr. Witt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: 'During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than a calomel, blue mass or any other pill I ever took and at the same time the effect was pleasant. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill.' Sold by T. WROTE OF LOVE, DIED.

A tragedy occurred at York, Pa., Sunday night which has stirred society from top to bottom.

At 7.30 o'clock Monday morning gas was discovered coming from the apartments of Miss Nettie Gotwalt, at 110 West King street.

Both gas jets were turned on full and the room was so filled with gas that it was almost impossible for anyone to enter.

Schall, it is said, had been paying attentions to Miss Gotwalt for some time. She was formerly the typewriter at the Keystone Company's office, but about a year ago quit that position and has been employed by D. Y. Hallock & Sons.

Miss Gotwalt resided in the apartments where the tragedy occurred. With Mr. Schall she spent Sunday at Pen-Mar. Returning Sunday evening about 9 o'clock, they went to her rooms.

Before becoming unconscious they tore up the notes which they had written. The fragments were put together by the coroner.

Both said the world was cruel and regretted that they could not get married. Schall was unmarried. He and his companion had both been suffering from nervous affections and were receiving medical treatment.

THE LIFE OF NIAGARA.

There were 465 Russian officers killed or wounded in the battle at Liaoyang.

The story that the Japs have crossed the Hun River turns out to be untrue.

The Russians are mobilizing nine army corps to be sent to the front.

LIMITS OF POST SCHOOLS

Maj.-Gen. John C. Bates, United States Army, commanding the Northern Division, in his annual report to the War Department says that the experience of many years is that no great public advantage is derived from the post schools for enlisted men and that they should be conducted as night schools, with permission for any soldier to attend who so desires.

General Bates urges serious consideration of the question of desertions, which continue to be quite numerous.

He also says that inspection of the different colleges, universities and other institutions of learning within the limits of the division where an officer of the army has been detailed by the War Department for duty shows that the amount of military instruction given in the various institutions varies greatly, as does the military discipline imposed on the student.

100,000 WOMEN TO VOTE

Fully 100,000 women entitled to vote at the coming Presidential election have been registered in the States of Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Idaho this year, and it is admitted by politicians that they practically hold the balance of power in the States.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, president of the Woman's National Republican Association, has been sent West by the national committee to conduct the campaign among the women of four States. It is expected that the Mormon question will be the principal feature of the campaign in Utah, Idaho and Wyoming, while the labor question will be the most important issue in Colorado.

TO MEASURE RURAL ROUTES.

Rural free delivery carriers are being supplied with a contrivance for measuring their routes, in order that the Postoffice Department may be enabled to adjust salaries and other questions on an equitable basis.

The machine is a bicycle wheel, larger in diameter than the ordinary wheel, and having attached to it a cyclometer. To the bicycle wheel is attached a pair of iron rods of the nature of shafts, which are made to fit over the axle, the other ends being fastened to the middle of the axle of the vehicle carrying the mails.

It is accurate, because it records the actual distance traveled by the vehicle to which it is attached, and not the length of the main roads. If the wagon is obliged to go around a mud hole the cyclometer records the fact, and the distance thus forced upon the horse and the driver by a bad road is placed to the credit of both.

There are about 100 of the machines in operation now, and more are to be purchased and distributed whenever the demands of the service call for them. It, therefore, will be a comparatively small matter for the department to at an early date have its rural delivery routes accurately measured and the many thousand miles they cover in figures available at any time.

NO COLOR LINE IN BUSINESS

Never was a truer thing said than was said by John Mitchell, Jr., the colored president of a Richmond savings bank, at the recent meeting of the American Bankers' Association, when he declared that no antipathy exists in the South between the better class of whites and the better class of blacks.

"There is," he said, "no trouble between my race and his race in Georgia; both the loafing white men and the loafing black men are despised in my State. I am glad Mitchell has spoken and given it on record that the bankers' association draws no color line, and welcomes successful bankers, be they white or black, as members."

The attitude of white business men toward colored business men is in the South wholly sympathetic and friendly. Social relations are, of course not thought of—and here the Northern man commonly gets mixed—but business relations are of the most cordial character.

It is the thriftless, idle members of both races that cause most of the lynchings throughout the Union.—Sun.

As a result six fine beagle hounds in the kennel were electrocuted. Mr. Gill is an enthusiastic dog fancier, and owns some of the finest beagle hounds in the country.

"A Wise Old Owl." A farmer near Chestertown adopted a shrewd method to overcome the scarcity of labor and to get his corn harvested. One night last week he caught two negroes stealing his seed wheat from his barn. He recognized the men as good workers and offered to "keep 'em" provided they would go into his cornfield and cut corn at $1 a day. They willingly accepted the proposition, and the farmer got his corn harvested.

AUTOBILIST FIRED. Charles Emmert, of Hagerstown, was fined $1 and costs, in all $3.10, by Justice Hoffman, of Hagerstown, on the charge of speeding Miss Leonora Hamilton's automobile faster than six hour. He was there simply to enforce the law and administer punishment to violators.

DIED OF HIS INJURY. John Cashman died at the Hagerstown Hospital Sunday evening from concussion of the brain, aged 60 years. He was knocked down by an automobile Tuesday night. S. Wertz, of Dunsmuir, where they took in the sights on the battlefield. The party arrived in this place Tuesday evening, camping during the night near Mr. John S. Hollinger's residence, about two miles west of town. They were in Hagerstown, visiting the Antietam Battlefield, from which place they drove to Winchester, Va., thence northward via Bedford and Hollidaysburg to Dunsmuir. Among the gentlemen composing the party were Prof. H. S. Wertz, Messrs. Andrew Selwitz, Henry Heltzel, Leighty brothers, Cox, Sheels and Forsht.

BREACH OF PROMISE. Verdict $10,000 For Failure to Keep Engagement. In the Circuit Court for Frederick County the case of Miss Nannie Brengle daughter of George K. Brengle, against George Johnson Ross for breach of promise to marry was decided by a verdict of $10,000 for Miss Brengle. The amount sued for was $15,000. Practically no defense was made.

The father of the lady in this case is a member of the Frederick police force. The defendant George Johnson Ross, is the son of Mr. Charles W. Ross, Sr., banker of Frederick. Miss Brengle testified that she gave up a position in Washington after Mr. Ross asked her to marry him. Her father, Policeman Brengle testified that he had tried to influence Mr. Ross to desist in his attentions to Miss Brengle because the family of Mr. Ross were opposed to the match. It is also in evidence that the father of young Ross offered to establish him in business if he would break off the match and that the young man thought of getting into business and afterward marrying the young lady, but subsequently he married someone else and then Miss Brengle brought suit. Chief Judge McSherry, who was on the bench with Associate Judges Henderson and Motter, instructed the jury that the only thing to be done was for them to fix the damages. They were out 25 minutes and rendered the verdict of $10,000 for Miss Brengle.

While the damages are large, it is said that the judgment will amount to nothing, as the young man has nothing to satisfy it with, and that before he comes into possession of his share of his parents' wealth he will avail himself of the bankrupt law. —Sun.

ANOTHER BREACH OF PROMISE. Verdict For $125.00 In A Suit In Frederick. After brief deliberation the jury in the Circuit Court at Frederick in the case of Mrs. Eliza E. Bohrer, of Brunswick, who sued Michael Carey, of Knoxville, for $5,000 for breach of promise to marry, brought in a verdict of $125 as a compensation for her wounded affections. Mrs. Bohrer is a young woman with two children, and is of attractive appearance. She testified that Mr. Carey, who is nearly three-score and 10 and who admitted that he had been in the service of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for 45 years, had been courting her for two years; that frequently, notwithstanding his age, he called to see her. He pressed his attentions with such ardor that he asked her to marry him, she consenting and setting February 14 last as the wedding day. This being St. Valentine's Day, Mr. Carey considered it unlucky and he set April 22 as the day for their wedding. Mrs. Bohrer was substantiated in her testimony by Mrs. McBride, who said Carey had told her he was going to marry Mrs. Bohrer, who had given up several positions to please him.

It was shown that Carey was married to another woman on February 9, 1904. In his testimony he alleged the suit to be nothing more than a "squeeze game," and that while he did call upon Mrs. Bohrer he never promised to marry her. The jury, however, found a verdict for the woman as above stated.

Shocked by Lightning. Mr. August Schaub, who for many years was a resident of Catonsville, but who now resides at Whiteleysburg, Caroline county, Md., while driving along the road running from Denton to his home was severely shocked by a bolt of lightning which rendered him unconscious several days ago. Mr. Schaub was driving a team at the time, and Mr. Stewart, a neighbor, was seated on the seat beside him. There was a blinding flash, followed by a loud crash of thunder, and Mr. Schaub fell unconscious in the bottom of the wagon. The crash frightened the horses, and they started to run away. Mr. Stewart, who was badly stunned by the bolt, but not seriously hurt, succeeded in getting upon the back of one of the animals and substituted that death was due to acute indigestion. Coroner R. C. Clarke decided an inquest unnecessary.

Mr. Schaub had been in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for more than 40 years, and had been assigned to the crossing where he died for more than 11 years. During the long period of his faithful service he had never missed a day from his post. He was 64 years old, a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Junior Order United American Mechanics. A widow, who was Miss Mary Owens, and two children (Mrs. Agnes Giering, of Baltimore, and Mr. Fulton Shuttler) survive.

Cornerstone Unearthed. Monday the cornerstone of the first Catholic Church in Frederick was unearthed by workmen employed in widening Chapel alley, on the property where the Jesuit novitiate first stood and which was recently sold. The stone was found several feet beneath the surface and bears the following inscription: This first stone of St. John's Catholic Church was laid by the Rev. John Dubois on the fifth day of May, 1829.

HORNER—DONALDSON. David W. Horner, formerly of Gettysburg, and Miss Grace Donaldson, daughter of John A. Donaldson, of near Fairfield, were united in marriage at Washington, September 8, by Rev. Donald C. MacLeod. Mr. and Mrs. Horner will make their home in West Chester, where Mr. Horner is employed by the Sharpless Cream Separator Company.

FRIGHTENED BY AUTOMOBILE. Horse Driven By J. R. Staub Made Frantic By Machine. Mr. John R. Staub, of Sharpshurs, Pa., was badly cut and bruised on Sunday afternoon by being dragged by a horse which became frightened at an automobile, near Hagerstown, this county.

Mr. Staub has been visiting his brother, Mr. James Staub, Frederick and on Sunday Mr. Staub and Mr. and Mrs. James Staub drove to Creagers-town to visit the cemetery there, where their parents were buried. They were returning to Frederick and had arrived at a fork in the road, when they met the automobile. The horse became violently frightened and started to back over the side of the road.

Mr. John Staub, who was driving, jumped out and grabbed the bit, but was unable to stop the animal. Mr. Staub was thrown off his feet and dragged a number of yards over the stony road. The two gentlemen in the automobile came to their assistance as quickly as possible and the horses were quieted. Upon investigation, it was found that Mr. Staub was badly bruised and his hands were terribly lacerated, being cut to the bone. His right leg was also badly cut.

The gentleman owning the automobile told Mr. James Staub that his name was R. S. Crawford and that he was the owner of the Crawford automobile factory in Hagerstown.

On returning to Frederick Mr. Staub had his wounds dressed and was able to return to his home Tuesday morning. He is chief of Police of Sharpshurs.

Mr. and Mrs. James Staub were not hurt.

FELL DEAD AT HIS POST. Mr. Wm. H. Stutler, familiarly known as "Uncle Billy," watchman at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad crossing between St. Denis and Relay, fell dead Tuesday morning after he reported at his post for duty. Drs. Stevens and Eareckson were summoned, and they stated that death was due to acute indigestion. Coroner R. C. Clarke decided an inquest unnecessary.

Mr. Stutler had been in the employ of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for more than 40 years, and had been assigned to the crossing where he died for more than 11 years. During the long period of his faithful service he had never missed a day from his post. He was 64 years old, a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Junior Order United American Mechanics. Shocking Shotgun Suicide. John Winkler, aged 65 years, committed suicide at his home in Westport, Allegany county, Monday evening by blowing off the top of his head with a shotgun. He had been despondent and had locked himself in his room upon several occasions for more than a day at a time. Monday evening he locked the door, seated himself upon a chair and, placing the muzzle of the gun in his mouth, fired it with his foot. His brains and blood were scattered all over the room, a ghastly sight meeting the eyes of the family when they forced their way in. Winkler was a stonemason.

MOUNT ST. MARY'S COLLEGE. For The Chronicle. The chapel bell tolled on Thursday morning, and solemn requiem was held over the remains of the oldest member of the domestic department of the college, Miss Catherine Call. "Kate" Call, as she was called by everybody, aided in the work of the institution for at least sixty years. She identified herself with this noble work of education, plied the boys separated as they were from their parents, and loved them with a mother's love. "They're all my children," she used to say in the days when age and long service gave more freedom of expression. Three generations honor her memory and hundreds of priests and bishops now pray for her soul. The present writer made her acquaintance thirty years ago when first visiting the College in company with Archbishop Elder, Corrigan, and many other prelates, every one of whom saluted Kate who had known them all as boys or at least young men, and claimed the honor of waiting on the distinguished party that evening at supper. It was the most glorious day of the College and of her life, the day when Cardinal McCloskey came fresh with the honors of the Cardinalate on his brow to lay them at the feet of his Alma Mater.

The Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Bernard J. Bradley of the Faculty, with Rev. Patrick Kitzick, of Pittsburg, as Deacon, and Rev. Mr. Lawless, of Pittsburg, as Subdeacon. In the Sanctuary were Father Traggesser, Rector of the neighboring parish church; Very Rev. W. L. O'Hara, LL. D. President; Rev. Dr. Flynn, Vice-President; Rev. Dr. McSweeney, Fathers Brown and Coad of the Faculty, Rev. Dr. Tierney, with classic allusion as became the place she filled, and with Christian text as fitted the hope in which she died, portrayed her character and rehearsed her meritorious career, asking that her soul and the souls of all the faithful departed through the mercy of God might rest in peace.

The Sisters and other attaches of the College, the lay professors, seminarians and lay students, and many outside friends attended the funeral. The interment took place in the Mountaintop Cemetery where so many professors, students and domestics of the College lie sleeping. Messrs. William R. Weaver, John Hoke, James Seltzer and William Walters acted as pallbearers.

JAIL-BREAKERS FRUSTRATED. Between 2 and 3 o'clock Tuesday morning an attempt of the prisoners confined in the Eastern (Md.) Jail was made to gain their liberty. They were all securely locked in their cells Monday night, but during the night or early morning Louis Wilson, colored, who is awaiting the action of the grand jury for alleged larceny, and Frank Mitchell, also colored, sentenced to the House of Correction for 12 months for carrying concealed weapons, managed to escape from their cells into the corridor by picking the bricks from over the top of their cell doors and removing an iron bar, making a hole large enough for a man to crawl through. Once in the corridor they climbed to the top of the bars and commenced to tear away the laths and plastering with a view of reaching the attic, but their efforts were frustrated by the noise of the plaster falling, awakening Sheriff Gannon, who went into the jail and held them at bay, making them crawl down the bars and re-enter other cells which were more secure. Mitchell would have had difficulty in getting away as he had legions on.

The county commissioners will have all of the doors leading to the cells overhauled and fixed securely, the bars in the windows will be run to the top and fastened in the stone masonry, and all the floors in the cells and corridors will be cemented, thus making the jail more secure.

NEWS FROM LOYS. Loys Sept. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, of Cleveland, Ohio, are visiting their cousin, Mrs. E. R. Mort, of this place, for a few days, after which they intend visiting in Waynesboro, Gettysburg and Frederick, finally returning via Boston, Mass., to their home. Several persons visited Gettysburg on last Saturday and Sunday. Mr. C. W. Loy and family, and on Sunday, Mr. W. L. Miller, family and relatives from Marion, Pa., drove to Gettysburg and over the Battlefield and had a enjoyable time. But in returning home Mrs. Miller lost a valuable shawl somewhere between Emmitsburg and Loys's Station.

Mrs. Solomon Shaffer, formerly of this place, but now of Hagerstown, Md., is visiting friends here, after being away more than twenty years.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mumma, of Stony Branch, are visiting at Mr. G. M. Robinson's.

Mr. William Martin, who has been on the sick list, is still unable to be out.

SCIENTIFICALLY BUILT ROADS. The People of This Section of Frederick County Should Make An Effort To Have Our Roads Improved Under The New Law. The people of the State are fast awaking to the fact that the poor condition of roads, wherever they occur, has not been altogether the result of shortness of road appropriations, but due, in part, to the manner in which the money has been applied, and that the same amount of money scientifically applied will in comparatively few years guarantee a system of satisfactory roads which the outlay and toil of years has failed to produce. The State Aid Road Law, which was passed at the last legislature has already aroused more than ordinary interest, as is shown by the many applications to the Maryland Geological Survey for plans and estimates of the cost of modern macadam roads. It is one of the Boards of County Commissioners purpose to make under the new road law.

The most earnest advocates of scientifically built roads have never urged that a system of modern roads could be secured at once, but it has been repeatedly pointed out and demonstrated by experience that a system of good roads can be gradually and conveniently built up by adding each year small pieces of modern roads wherever the conditions most demand improvement. As an example of the comparison between the results produced under the wasteful methods of the past and the results of scientifically built roads, it has been shown that had Montgomery county spent one-half of the amount of money its roads have cost in the past fifteen years in the building of modern roads during the same length of time, forty-five miles of good macadam road would now furnish easy access to all the main points of the county. But such is not the case, and forty-five miles of good macadam roads have not been built in this time in Montgomery or any other county of this State. It has been shown also that should the counties of Maryland take up the total amount of State aid under the Shoemaker law, it would be possible to build one thousand miles of modern or State roads within ten years, enough to insure easy traffic between all parts of the State. And the residents of the counties under the new law have the matter eagerly in their own hands for they know that by the pledge of two-thirds of the property owners along a piece of road to pay ten per cent. of the cost of building, the Road Commissioners of the county can be forced to petition for the allotted share of State aid. Again, it is well to emphasize the fact that the Shoemaker law puts within reach of the real producers in a community a very good thing at a very reasonable price to the county, namely, one-half the actual expense.

Recent mention has been made of movements in Montgomery, Howard, Prince George's and Caroline counties to take advantage of the State aid road fund. A number of the counties have provided themselves with expert Road Engineers to handle or direct most of their work. Prince George's county is planning on a large scale, Harford county has actually begun some of its work, and Baltimore county wants to build a mile of State road in each of her fifteen districts.

The County Commissioners of Wicomico county have called a large public meeting to be held at Salisbury at 10:30 o'clock next Tuesday morning, Sept. 27, to discuss whether Wicomico county will take up its $10,000 allotment of the State road fund in the interest of better county roads. To obtain the State fund it will be necessary for the county to appropriate an equal sum, and the Commissioners wish to know whether the people are willing to be taxed to do this.

Mr. A. N. Johnson, Highway Engineer of the Maryland Geological Survey, will be present to explain the features of the new law, and to point out the best material available for Wicomico roads and the estimates upon the cost. The Commissioners desire a full attendance, and the meeting is expected to be an important occasion.

Letter to John T. Long, Emmitsburg, Md. Dear Sir: If it took 10 gallons to paint your house last time with somebody else's paint, and takes 8 with Devoe, we save you $8 or $10; for painting costs two or three times as much as paint.

Mr. Ezra Rathmell, Williamsport, Pa., always used 11 gallons of mixed paint for his house; Devoe took 6. But that isn't all; that's only first cost; how long will it wear? The paint, that goes furthest in covering, wears best too. All paint, true paint, and full-measure are on one side; part paint, false paint, and short measure are on the other. What can you expect? ROBERT EARSON IN NIGHTSHIRT. Robert Earson fled from his home in South Cumberland last Friday evening in his nightshirt while officers fired at him. He jumped into a boat and rowed to the West Virginia shore and has not been seen since. Over 350 ducks, turkeys and chickens were hauled away in a wagon from the premises of John Barton, Robert C. Wilson, Chas. Harness, J. C. Cannon, Henry Kniericia and Daniel Parker, all farmers residing along the Potomac river a few miles above Cumberland, on Tuesday night last week. One of the farmers, R. C. Wilson, followed the wagon tracks 15 miles to the residence of Earson, in South Cumberland. Articles found at Earson's home were identified, and when a search of the house was attempted Earson's wife gave the alarm and he fled.—Sun.

Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Sold by T. E. Zimmerman, Druggist.

A Feud In Garrett. A feud in Garrett county had its culmination at Oakland last week in a damage suit between E. H. and W. C. Sincell and John Shartzler, all of Oakland. The basis for the suit was a street fight between the parties to the suit, which occurred in May, 1895, when the two Sincells attacked Shartzler on the street and badly used him up, breaking his jaw, and for which they were both convicted of assault and fined at a previous term of the Circuit Court. The present suit is for the recovery of damages by Shartzler from the Sincells. A great array of testimony has been offered on both sides and able counsel have represented the belligerents.

FIRE AT MOUNT AIRY. Four Business Houses Destroyed.—Loss $6,000. At 1 o'clock Saturday morning a fire in Mount Airy destroyed the two-story frame building occupied by E. M. Anderson & Co. as a furniture store. The loss is $2,500. The fire communicated to J. W. Wilson's meat store, owned by A. J. Baker, whose loss is $1,000. The flames spread to Robert Sellman's saloon, which was destroyed with a loss of $900. Adam Ruland's bakery, owned by Mrs. M. G. Clary, was also destroyed, entailing a loss of $2,500. The buildings, being all frame structures burned rapidly.

Bucket brigades were formed but were unable to check the progress of the fire. Word was telephoned to Frederick for assistance, but before the firemen started they received orders that the fire was under control. It was checked by burning itself out.

Mount Airy is in Carroll county, on the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The town was almost completely destroyed by fire some months ago and was just recovering from that blow. The only thing that saved it from being swept away again Saturday morning, it is believed, is the fact that there are several vacant lots between the Ruland bakery, the last property on fire, and the next building, which is the town hotel.

The total loss on the houses destroyed is about $6,000, and it is believed that the occupants of the stores burned lost about as much more.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATION. In compliance with the directions of Chief Judge McSherry to the grand jury to investigate charges of pollution of the sources of the water supply of Frederick a special committee of that body visited Hagerburg, where the Tuscarora creek runs, which is one of the sources of the city's water supply. After making a thorough inspection of the creek and surroundings the committee filed its written report with the Court Saturday. This report more than substantiates the allegations contained in the Court's charges. The jury found that families living along the creek have no out-houses; that horse stables and pigpens empty and drain into this creek, and that various other nuisances exist along this source of water supply. It is believed that forceful and speedy steps will be taken by the Court to have the nuisance remedied and the persons living along the creek ordered to adopt sanitary methods of living to purify the water supply of the city.

TEAS THAT ARE WORTH FORTUNES

Twelve Hundred Kinds Are in China's Show at the World's Fair—The Most Popular Nation of the World For the First Time Makes an Exhibit Worthy of Her Greatness.

Many exhibitions of stupendous character make up the World's Fair of 1904. Each part is a vast and distinct show.

The fact that China has not been a large exhibitor at world's fairs gives to her great exhibit here a prominence quite exceptional. It is a wonderland of ingenious productions.

In sealed glass jars China displays in the Liberal Arts Palace some 1,200 kinds of tea. Young Hyson and Old Hyson have a string of tea relations longer than the genealogical chain of a Plymouth Rock.

The teas exhibited vary in price from a few cents a pound to some rare and exclusive kinds that are worth their weight in gold.

Mention has been made of the word "chop" in connection with tea, and it may be interesting to the everyday reader to know what the word actually signifies.

large areas of ground which are often mistaken for single plantations. This is hardly ever the case, as the large tracts are very often owned by hundreds of different men, whose individual plots of ground bearing the tea plants are carefully mapped out.

It must not be imagined that all these different owners of the tea get the same price for their commodity—far from it, as each of these individual tea growers has his own secrets for improving the quality and flavor of the tea.

St. Louis, like all cities, experienced several hot days during July, but her highest temperature recorded was 92 degrees against 94 degrees registered by the thermometer at Chicago.

St. Louis may therefore rightly claim to be a summer resort this summer, positively one of the most comfortable and delightful places on the map.

One of the curiosities of New York city travel on Sunday afternoons is the number of young women riding in taxicabs.

They're just another pair of world-bes, said the cabman in disgust. "They're the kind that think riding in a taxicab is the real thing, and they save up all week to blow themselves to a ride on Sunday. They always try to beat us down, and sometimes we let them do it—when business is bad."

A SNOW EXPERIMENT.

Frozen Vapor From the Action of Sulphide of Carbon.

Two solid bodies, one yellow, sulphur, the other black, carbon, unite under certain circumstances to form a colorless liquid called sulphide of carbon, which must be handled with much precaution on account of its great explosive property.

Without operating on your clothes you may make the experiment in the following way: Fill a small vial with sulphide of carbon, taking great care to do it far from all flame or heated stove.

First Stogie Made in Pennsylvania.

"The first stogie was made by hand in the wilds of Pennsylvania," said a tobacco man of Allegheny City. "The story which they tell once in awhile in West Virginia and which must be true is that the long cheroots derived their name from the town of Conestoga, Pa."

CONCERTS BY MASSES BANDS

Prizes Aggregating $30,000 to Be Distributed at the World's Fair.

Never were musical events in America planned upon such an elaborate scale as those of the World's Fair. A series of concerts will be given by competing bands in contest for prizes offered by the World's Fair.

Nine cash prizes, aggregating $30,000, are offered for the successful bands. The prizes are divided so as to give to the organization scoring the highest number of points $3,250; $2,500 will be given to the band scoring the second highest number of points and $1,500 to the one getting the third highest number.

The above division is made for bands in Class A, which consist of twenty members. In the B class $10,000 will be given in prizes—first, $1,500; second, $800; third, $2,000.

Class C, which includes bands of thirty-five members, will enjoy the division of $12,750. For the organization scoring the highest number of points a prize of $6,000 has been named. The second prize is $4,000 and the third $2,700.

Bands employed by the Exposition are not permitted to contest. All players must be bona fide members, and each musician must have been enrolled at least three months prior to the date of the contest.

Festival Hall concerts by masses bands will be given at 7:30 each day during the contest, in which all contesting bands will take part under the direction of a distinguished conductor.

A separate programme has been prepared by the Bureau of Music for each class, and each band will play through the full programme of its class.
