RUSSIAN STUDENTS JOIN STRIKERS

Suspend Studies and Adopt Political Resolutions at Mass Meeting.

GRAND DUKE SERGIUS KILLED

St. Petersburg, Feb. 21.—With the decision of the student body of the great University of St. Petersburg to suspend studies for the remainder of the university year, almost the whole educational system of Russia has entered upon a period of stagnation, the protest of the youth of Russia against the bureaucratic system and other governmental grievances. Other universities of Russia, gymnasia and even grammar schools were already on strike, and the military in various portions of the empire have been obliged to resort to force to restrain school-boys of tender years who are joining the general movement.

The meeting of the St. Petersburg students, at which over 3000 participated, besides voting with practical unanimity to suspend studies until September 1, adopted a set of political resolutions demanding the formation of a constituent assembly and characterizing the proposed summoning of the Zemsky Sobor as inadequate for the emergency. The resolutions, after speaking of "the progressive demoralization of Russia under the influence of the absolute regime," declare for freedom of speech, the press, conscience, the right of association and assembly and to strike, which are described as necessary conditions for the further progress of Russia.

When a recess was taken the whole student body began singing the Russian "Marseillaise," which begins: "You fell victims of love of your country."

A wild scene followed. The students unfurled a red flag on which was written: "Hail to the constituent assembly." With this flag the students began parading the auditorium and adjoining corridors.

A portrait of Emperor Nicholas was also taken down from the wall and carried in the procession. The portrait was torn in a slight skirmish, but this called forth a protest from the vast majority of those present, who were careful to avoid even the appearance of disrespect to the emperor. Many proclamations were distributed.

After the meeting broke up a band of the more violent students tore up the emperor's portrait, stripped and demolished the frame and carried off bits of canvas and gilding as souvenirs.

Grand Duke Vladimir Seriously Ill. Tsarskoe-Selo, Feb. 21.—Grand Duke Vladimir is still seriously ill, not having recovered from the apoplectic fit caused by the news of his brother's fate and the warning that his turn would be next. The intelligence of the assassination reached him while on his way to see the czar. Vladimir was taken home in an ordinary cab, as he feared to expose himself in the conspicuous grand ducal coach.

The terror-stricken grand dukes assembled around Vladimir's sick bed. A few words were exchanged, and it was decided to take no repressive measures, and to insist on the czar's recall of Grand Duke Paul.

Martial law has been declared at Tsarskoe-Selo, owing to numerous threatening letters being received at the palace.

The chief of the secret police has ordered special precautions to prevent any outrage on the imperial family.

GRAND DUKE SERGIUS MURDERED

Blown to Pieces by Bomb Thrown Under His Carriage.

Moscow, Feb. 18.—Within the walls of the far-famed Kremlin palace, and almost underneath the historical tower from which Ivan the Terrible watched the heads of his enemies falling beneath the axe on the famous Red Square, and within a stone's throw of the great bell of Moscow, Grand Duke Sergius, uncle and brother-in-law of Emperor Nicholas and the chief of the reactionary, met a terrible death. The deed was committed by a single Terrorist, who threw beneath the carriage of the grand duke a bomb charged with the same high power explosive which wrought Minister Von Plehve's death. The missile was packed with nails and fragments of iron, and its explosion tore the imperial victim's body to ghastly fragments, which strewn the snow for yards around. Every window in the great lofty facade of the palace of justice was shattered, and bits of iron were imbedded deeply in the walls of the arsenal, a hundred yards away.

The scene of the crime was the great open triangle within the Kremlin, bounded by the arsenal, treasury and courts of justice, in one angle of which is the Nicholas, or Italy palace, where the grand duke dwelt. A few minutes before the bell of the gate sounded the hour of 3 the equipage of the grand duke emerged from the gates of the palace and proceeded, followed by sleighs containing secret police. It swept at a smart pace towards the Nikolsky gate. In a minute the carriage was in front of the courts of justice, where the walls of the triangle approach, forming a narrow entrance to the Nikolsky gate. There a man, clad in workman's attire, stepped forward from the sidewalk and threw a bomb which he had concealed beneath his coat. A terrible explosion followed and a hail of iron pelted the grim stone walls of the arsenal and courts of justice. A thick cloud of smoke, snow and debris arose. When it had cleared a ghastly sight was presented. On the snow lay fragments of the body of Grand Duke Sergius, mingled with the wreck of the carriage. The grand duke's head had been torn from his body and reduced to a shapeless pulp, and the trunk and limbs were frightfully mangled. A finger bearing a rich seal ring was found lying several yards away. The crimson tint and a sickening smell of blood were everywhere. Only a few fragments of cloth indicated that the body had been once clothed. The coachman lay moaning with pain beside a deep hole in the pavement. The horses, dragging the front wheels of the carriage, had dashed off, maddened with pain to sink dying before they reached the gate.

The sound of the explosion was heard throughout the city and even beyond the river. A crowd began to assemble and even to handle grim evidence of the tragedy while the police officials rapidly gathered, but before anything could be done towards collecting the scattered fragments of the body, Grand Duchess Elizabeth drove up in an open carriage. She had dropped her work at the headquarters of the Red Cross and sped to the scene of the crime without waiting to don her outer wraps. She broke down completely at the sight and dropped to her knees, sobbing bitterly. After a few minutes she was led away. Then a stretcher was brought, and, covered with a plain soldier's cloak, the remains of Sergius were borne to the Chiodoff cloister, where officials and members of the grand duke's suite had assembled.

The assassin was thrown to the ground and stunned by the force of the explosion; but he quickly arose and ran toward the gate, attempting to escape. His haste and the blood streaming from his face, where he had been wounded by fragments of the bomb, attracted the attention of a sergeant of police, who seized him before he could draw his revolver. The man did not deny his crime, but on the contrary gloried in its success. He expressed his satisfaction that he had been able to kill the grand duke without involving the latter's innocent wife. He avowed his membership in the social revolutionary organization, but refused to give his name, and at the fall his papers were found to be forged.

Roosevelt's Condolences.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—Emperor Nicholas has received, through Ambassador McCormick, a message of condolence from President Roosevelt, which contains a strong expression of the abhorrence with which both the American government and people view the crime perpetrated at Moscow on Friday.

WILL APPOINT NEW CARDINALS

Pope Will Name Them at Next Consistory, But None For United States. Rome, Feb. 21.—As there are nine vacancies at present in the Sacred College, Pope Pius X. has expressed his intention to appoint new cardinals at the next consistory, the date of which has not yet been decided, as a great deal depends on negotiations now going on regarding the conferring of these offices. It has been almost definitely decided to nominate for the first time a South American cardinal in the person of the archbishop of Rio de Janeiro, but as the appointment might revive a claim on the part of Argentina, and possibly on the part of Chile also, for like honors, the Vatican has informed all the South American republics that the distinction is being conferred, not on one special country, but on a deserving man. It is probable that cardinals will be given to Hungarians and Italians, but none will go to Great Britain or the United States.

TURKS BURN A VILLAGE

Bodies of Fourteen Women and Several Children Found in Ruins.

Salonica, Feb. 20.—In a fight between Bulgarians and Turks at the village of Kuklitch, near Strumitza, on February 18, the Bulgarians lost 20 killed or wounded. The Turks subsequently burned the village. A commission of inquiry sent to the spot from this city discovered in the ruins of the village the charred remains of 14 women and several children.

Two Children Died of Burns.

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—After starting a fire in the kitchen of their home here, three children of Samuel Prosciucski ran upstairs and hid. The flames reached the bedroom in which the tots were concealed before the blaze was discovered. Two of them, Jennie, 3 years old, and Albert, 2 years old, were burned so badly that they died in a hospital. The life of the third child was saved by a policeman.

MRS. CHADWICK HAS $1,000,000 HIDDEN

It is All in Cash and Where Only She Can Get It.

CAUGHT WHEN ABOUT TO FLEE

Cleveland, O., Feb. 20.—One million dollars is the amount believed to be hidden by Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick.

Collector of Customs Leach has so minutely traced the operations of this woman during the last four years that he is in a position to know that the item saved from her many financial transactions is $1,000,000 in gold cash. In addition to this sum, the woman has just as safely placed $150,000 worth of jewels.

Her arrest netted plans right at a time when they were about to bloom. A delay of a few more days would certainly have placed Mrs. Chadwick, her son, Emil Hoover Chadwick, her husband, Dr. Leroy S. Chadwick, in Brussels, and Mrs. Chadwick's fortune would then have been $2,000,000.

It was her desire to make just one more deal with $500,000 as the stake. The action of United States Attorney John J. Sullivan in causing her arrest when he did was the checkmate over which spelled the word defeat. Strange as it may seem, the men from whom she wished to get this last $500,000 were the most severe in the criticism of the action of the United States attorney, which they, at the time, characterized in bitter language as hasty and ill-advised.

Among the federal authorities the belief is strong that Mrs. Chadwick was sanguine of carrying to success her deep-laid plans up to the time she made her sensational flight from the Holland House in New York city. She never wavered from her purpose of carrying them out until that time, notwithstanding the publicity which the suit of Herbert Newton, of Brooklyn, had precipitated. Had she been successful in eluding the secret service men detailed to watch her, and the newspaper men who thronged the hotel where she was stopping, she would have made her escape to Brussels in as direct a way as might be. There she would have settled down to enjoy the proceeds of her meteoric career among bankers and money lenders.

In the event that Mrs. Chadwick should escape conviction under the present indictments against her, the United States treasury department will take action against her.

MIDVALE ENTERS PROTEST

Officers Tell President They Were Unjustly Treated in Armor Contracts. Washington, Feb. 21.—A vigorous protest was lodged with the president against the recent award by the navy department of a contract for armor plate to the Bethlehem Steel Works. The protest was made by Charles J. Harrah, president of the Midvale Steel Works; J. F. Sullivan, vice president, and Axel Petre, chief engineer, who were introduced to the president by Representative Morrell, of Pennsylvania.

They declared their ability to fill the order of the government as promptly and as satisfactorily as the Bethlehem works. They urged that the fact that their bid for the armor was much lower than that of the Bethlehem company entitled them to consideration which they did not receive at the hands of the navy department. They said they felt an injustice had been done them by awarding the contract to a much higher bidder.

The president said he would take the matter under consideration.

BIG FIRE IN INDIANAPOLIS

Eight Buildings Destroyed, Entailing a Loss of $1,500,000.

Indianapolis, Feb. 20.—A fire which started in the warehouse of Fahney & McCrea, wholesale millinery, destroyed property valued at $1,500,000. For four hours the wholesale district, bounded by Georgia and Meridian streets, Jackson place and the Union Depot sheds, was menaced. Three general alarms brought into action every engine in the city and suburbs. When the fire was brought under control eight buildings, among which were three hotels, had been completely destroyed. One fireman was hurt by falling walls.

VACCINATION UPHELD

Protection of Health of a Community May Be Exercised By the State.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Justice Harlan, of the supreme court of the United States, delivered the opinion in the case of Jacobson vs. the United States, involving the validity of the Massachusetts state law giving authority to the health authorities of cities and towns in the state to impose compulsory vaccination regulations. He held the law to be constitutional on the ground that the protection of the health of a community may be exercised by the state as a police regulation.

Miss Alice May Visit Philippines.

Washington, Feb. 21.—It is understood that Miss Alice Roosevelt will accompany Secretary and Mrs. Taft on their visit to the Philippines next July unless other engagements prevent. It is probable that the trip will be made on the army transport Sumner and will occupy about three months, allowing one month each way and one month in the islands.

Fined $50 For Selling Monkey Veal.

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 20.—Adjudged guilty of violating a city ordinance by selling "monkey veal," Edward Dross was fined $50 and costs in city court. He was prosecuted by Meat Inspector Devine.

MINE DISASTER IN ALABAMA

Between 110 and 135 Men Entombed by Explosion.

IT IS BELIEVED ALL ARE DEAD

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 21.—By an explosion in the Virginia mines, about 13 miles southwest of Birmingham, between 110 and 135 union miners were entombed, and it is now believed that the entire number suffered death. Scores of vigorous rescuers are at work digging into the mine to relieve their friends and comrades on the inside.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by an accumulation of gas, although the mine has heretofore been noted for being entirely free from gases.

The news spread like wildfire over the whole district. The camp is almost isolated from the rest of the world, as there is no telephone station at Virginia, and the only wire running to the place is a dispatcher's wire of the Birmingham Mineral railroad, on which Virginia is located. Details of the disaster were slow to come in.

The class of miners employed was the best in the district, and all belonged to the United Mine Workers of America. Since the strike has been on in the Birmingham district many of the most industrious and thrifty miners of Pratt City and other important mining points have removed to the Virginia mines, so that the mines were being worked to their full capacity by the most skilled miners of the community.

Relief trains with surgeons and workmen were dispatched from both Birmingham and Bessemer as soon as the news of the disaster was received.

The mines belong to the Alabama Steel and Wire company and are leased by Reid & company. Both white and colored miners are employed, and only recently union miners went to work. The mines are considered models of their kind.

BURSTING BOILER KILLS FOUR

Fourteen Others Injured By Explosion Near St. Clairsville, O.

St. Clairsville, O., Feb. 21.—Four men are dead and 14 injured, three of them seriously, as the result of the explosion of a stationary boiler at No. 1 mine of the Providence Coal company, near here.

The mine shaft, which has just recently been completed, has not been operated daily on account of installation of new mine machinery, but the employees reported every day to learn if their services were needed. Being wet and cold, the men congregated in the boiler house, a temporary structure, equipped with an old boiler, which had been used in sinking the shaft and was still in use pending the installation of the new boiler.

Without a moment's warning, the boiler exploded with a terrific report, hurling the men in all directions and blowing the building into fragments.

Fatalities in Anthracite Mining Region.

Mahanoy City, Pa., Feb. 21.—Eighty-two fatalities have occurred in the anthracite mines since January 1. Mine Inspector Fenton, of the 13th district, who reports nine fatal accidents up to date, says that if this proportion continues the year 1905 will be one of the most fearful years in loss of life in the history of hard coal mining.

NEGRO ATTACKS WOMAN

Farmer's Wife Near Burlington, N. J., Bound, Gagged and Beaten.

Burlington, N. J., Feb. 18.—Bound and gagged by an unknown colored man, by whom, it is feared, she was also criminally assaulted, Mrs. Fannie Burkett was found almost unconscious by her husband in their home, near Burlington, N. J. She is now in a serious condition, under the care of a physician, who believes, however, that she will recover.

According to the account of Mrs. Burkett, who is about 32 years old, the colored man, who was of medium height and heavily built, asked where her husband was. When she told him, he forced his way in through the partly open door, and seizing her, threw her to the floor. She managed to free herself and rushed to one of the inner rooms. There she seized a blackjack from a shelf in order to defend herself. This was snatched from her by the man, who brought it down with a crushing blow on her head. Mrs. Burkett staggered under the blow, and would have fallen to the floor had not the man caught her.

He dragged her to a lounge in the corner of the room. Laying her there, he ran to another room and procured a piece of clothes line. With this he tied the woman securely to the lounge. The rope was passed around her waist several times and then tied in a hard knot; her arms were then fastened to her side and she was gagged so that no alarm could be raised.

Doctored Her by Telephone.

Shamokin, Pa., Feb. 20.—Miss Lucy Chamberlain lay in a dying condition at her home in Irish Valley, five miles from here, having accidentally taken an overdose of medicine. No doctor was in the neighborhood; but as a last chance her parents called up various drug stores by phone, and for two hours a night clerk at one of them directed the use of stimulants until the patient finally recovered consciousness and was out of danger.

ADDICKS LOSES ANOTHER VOTE

Fourteen Union Republicans Will Vote For No One But Him.

Dover, Del., Feb. 21.—Two ballots were taken by the Delaware legislature in joint session, and J. Edward Addicks lost one more vote. This was the vote of Speaker Denny, of the house. T. Coleman DuPont gained two votes which had been among the scattering in last Friday's ballot. The ballots resulted:

Willard Saulsbury, Democrat, 20; J. Edward Addicks, Union Republican, 14; T. Coleman DuPont, Regular Republican, 5; Colonel Henry A. DuPont, Regular Republican, 9; Harry A. Richardson, Union Republican, 1; Henry C. Conrad, Union Republican, 1; absent and retired, 2; total, 59; necessary to a choice, 36; no election.

On the next ballot the Richardson vote went to Coleman DuPont, giving him 5. This was the only change.

Fourteen Union Republican members held a conference, at which it was said they pledged themselves to vote for no one for senator except Mr. Addicks. It is asserted that Speaker Denny will be deposed from the secretaryship of the Union Republican state central committee for deserting Addicks. The opinion prevails that the Addicks dissenters will launch a boom for Governor Lea for United States senator.

ONE KILLED, FORTY INJURED

Erie Train Rolls Down Embankment Near Paterson, N. J.

Paterson, N. J., Feb. 21.—One young woman was killed and about 40 persons were injured, 15 of them badly, by the derailing of a commuters train on the Erie railroad near Fairlawn, four miles north of this city. The train was an express from Middletown, N. Y., and was running on the "Bergen cutoff," a new piece of fast track. All five of the cars composing the train were thrown off the track, either by the dropping of a brake shoe on the head car or the falling of the rear cross beam of the locomotive tender.

The head car ran for nearly a mile on the ties and rock ballast before it toppled over, and followed by all the other cars, rolled down a 12-foot embankment. The dead girl, Miss Grace Matthews, of Suffern, N. Y., was leaping out of the window to see what had happened. She was thrown out and crushed. Two of the cars landed in a big snow drift, lessening the injuries to their occupants.

Prompt medical attendance was given by doctors who were rushed to the scene on three special trains.

SAD CASE OF STARVATION

Aged Sister and Brother Dead and Another Brother in Serious Condition.

Philadelphia, Feb. 20.—A sad case of starvation and exposure, which resulted in two deaths, has been revealed by the police of this city. The police of Germantown, a suburb, were called upon to investigate a mysterious death on East Haines street. They found Sarah Smith, aged 62 years, dead; Benjamin Smith, 70 years old, a brother, dying, and Louis Smith, 64 years old, another brother, in a serious condition. The house they lived in was a two-story frame affair. There was no fire in the place, nor was there any food to be found. Benjamin Smith was removed to a hospital, where he died, and the other brother was taken to the almshouse. A strange feature of the case is that the brothers had been pensioned by their former employer, and a balance was still standing to their credit. Neighbors say that all three were eccentric.

MIDSHIPMAN DROPS DEAD

Samuel W. Battle Succumbs to Heart Disease at Annapolis.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 20.—Midshipman Samuel Westray Battle, of the second class at the naval academy, and a son of Surgeon Samuel W. Battle, U. S. N. (retired), of Asheville, N. C., dropped dead as the brigade of midshipmen were called to dinner formation. Young Battle had just taken his place as third petty officer of the Second Battalion's Ninth Company, when he was stricken with heart failure. He fell before any one reached him, and was dead when picked up by his mates.

BISHOP McLAREN DEAD

Passes Away From Heart Failure in New York.

New York, Feb. 20.—Right Rev. William E. McLaren, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Chicago, died here. Death was due to heart failure. The bishop had been ill for more than a month, during the greater part of which he was confined to his bed. The members of the bishop's family, with a few friends, were at the bedside when the end came. Besides a widow, the deceased is survived by one son and two daughters.

Dr. Harper Victim of Cancer.

Chicago, Feb. 20.—President William R. Harper, of the University of Chicago, was taken to the Presbyterian hospital, where he will be prepared for the operation to be performed on him Wednesday. According to the statement of the patient's physicians, Dr. Harper's condition remains unchanged. At a conference with the professors of the university before his removal to the hospital, Dr. Harper said he believed he was the victim of cancer and that his chances of recovery were slight.

Date For Nan Patterson Trial.

New York, Feb. 18.—District Attorney Jerome sent a notification to counsel for Nan Patterson, accused of murdering Caesar Young, that a new trial of her case will be begun on March 6, in the criminal branch of the supreme court.

REAPED AS HE SOWED.

The Crop That Was Raised by Meissonier's Clever Gardener.

Meissonier, like many other celebrities, had a passion for gardening. His gardener, an accomplished botanist, knew to perfection the seeds of every plant, and his master had often tried in vain to throw him off his guard.

"This time I have him," the artist remarked to a party of friends at the dinner table. And he showed them a packet containing the dried roe of a herring. He then sent for the gardener.

"Do you know this seed?" Meissonier inquired.

The gardener carefully scrutinized the grains.

"Why not?" he said at last. "They are the seeds of the 'Polnis finassus,' a very rare tropical plant."

"How long will they be coming up?" Meissonier asked, with a chuckle of suppressed exultation.

"About a fortnight," was the reply.

Two weeks later the guests were again assembled at Meissonier's table, and after dinner the gardener was announced.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1905.

BLOPERS SWIM RIVER.

New York, Feb. 22.—If you loved a girl good and hard, would you swim an ice-clogged river to get to her; and if your friend loved the girl, would you swim to help him? Harold Wood McConnell and Jane W. Browning of Pocahontas, Va., have just been made one, and are living at the Grand Hotel until Col. James S. Browning, her father, can be pacified. There was such objection to the match on account of youth that her father finally took her to Richmond. But Robert Cornell, a friend of the groom, fixed it all up for an elopement on Saturday night, and the two men rode horseback to a station by Bluefield river to meet the girl in Richmond. The Bluefield happened to be a raging torrent at the time, filled with ice and dangerous, but the men plunged in regardless and emerged at the other side nearly frozen to death and their clothing stiff with ice. They got the girl, went to Washington, had the ceremony performed and then came on to New York. He is 33; she is 18.—Baltimore News.

BRUTAL NURSE FOUND GUILTY.

New York, Feb. 22.—Mary Hart was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday for scalding to death little four-year-old Elsie May Ernst in a mustard bath in the Elizabeth (N. J.) Day Nursery, on January 14 last.

The case of the little girl was rendered more pathetic by the fact that she was deaf and dumb.

After listening to a wide range of medical testimony for two days, the jury deliberated for only two hours, and then declared that the woman had feloniously put the young one in a bathtub of boiling water, ducked its head and then slapped it, with the result that the child died.

She will be sentenced today. The jury made a recommendation of mercy, but the women of Elizabeth are so worked up over the case that it is not thought she will get off lightly.

The testimony brought out showed that the child had been subjected to horrible cruelty, and that, so far as Miss Hart was concerned, the Day Nursery was turned into a Dotheboy's Hall. It was alleged that she was frequently intoxicated.—Balto News.

LL.D. FOR PRESIDENT.

President Roosevelt and Emperor William Wednesday received the degree of doctor of laws from the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. The degree was conferred upon the German Emperor by proxy Baron Speck von Sternberg, the German Ambassador, accepting the honor for his sovereign.

The conferring of the degree was a feature of the commemoration of Washington's Birthday by the faculty and students of the University. President Roosevelt went from Washington to be the orator of the day. He delivered a patriotic address on "Some Maxims of Washington."

The exercises were held in the Academy of Music, and not since 1898, when President McKinley delivered the oration, has the University-day celebration assumed such large proportions. The Academy of Music seats 3,000 persons, and at least 20,000 requests for tickets had been made.

The Federal Court at St. Louis has cleared away legal obstacles to the erection of a $4,000,000 home for the poor at Colorado Springs, Col., by the estate of W. B. Stratton.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hull's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hull's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, O., by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

STOLE HOUSE AND OWNER.

Bunestel, S. D., Feb. 20.—As a result of the strife, "claim jumping" and general lawlessness that have prevailed among settlers on the Rosebud Indian Agency lands, recently thrown open to settlement, a house was picked up, put on bobsleds and hauled several miles across the prairie last night while the owner thereof, Han Olsen, and his family were asleep.

The house movers intended to appropriate the building to their own use. They thought it was unoccupied, but when they opened the door yesterday morning they found Mr. Olsen and his family at home and, taking fright at the discovery, they drove hurriedly away.

Not a member of the family was awakened by the moving of the house, which is a little one-story frame cabin, and they were greatly surprised on awakening this morning to find what had been going on in the night.—Sun.

VESSELS REACH CAMBRIDGE.

The steamers McLane and Governor Thomas fought their way through the heavy ice of the Choptank and reached Cambridge, Md., at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Not since January 24 has there been a steamer in this port, and when the McLane blew her whistle Wednesday afternoon it sent a thrill of delight through the city and hundreds of men, women and children rushed to the pier of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Company to welcome the steamers and their commanders. A number of men and boys ventured far out on the ice and boarded the steamers while they were crushing their way to the dock. Commander Howard's purpose in coming up the river was to release a number of ice-bound oyster boats, some of which lie in very dangerous positions, but he did not attempt this Wednesday, finding the ice heavier than he anticipated. As soon as conditions are more favorable the steamers will start on a relief trip.

McCue's Life Insurance.

Some of the life insurance companies will refuse to pay the insurance on the life of former Mayor J. Samuel McCue, of Charlottesville, Va., who was hanged for the murder of his wife. They raise the question that a legal hanging makes void a life insurance policy.

McCue was heavily insured in six companies—The Travelers, of Hartford; the Northwestern, of Milwaukee; the New York Life, the Life Insurance Company of Virginia; the Fidelity Mutual, of Philadelphia, and the Equitable, of New York.

President Durham, of the Travelers, says that the hanging voided the $10,000 insurance McCue carried with his company. President Walker, of the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, has referred the payment of the policy to the legal department of his corporation.

A few of the companies will pay without taking the question in the courts.

Learned From The Japs.

As a result of the Japanese smashing of theories the Government is not able to make any more rifles just now at the Rock Island, Ill., arsenal.

The United States magazine rifle, model of 1903, on which millions of dollars have been spent, has proved at the first actual test to be wanting. It took two years of experiments to decide on the model of this 1903 weapon. The men who designed it were convinced that there never would be any more bayonet charges, because the charging party would be exterminated before it had got within 500 yards of its objective. Long-range magazine rifles would do this. The bayonet provided for this arm was simply a slender steel rod, more adapted for cleaning the barrel than offensive purposes. The new rifle is too short for bayonet practice and must be entirely made over if the bayonet is again to be accepted.

Once Claimed Several States.

Jerry McCraith, once a unique figure in the early history of the Northwest, is dead at the county poor farm, Walla Walla, Wash. McCraith gained considerable notoriety years ago by filing a claim in San Francisco to the largest part of what is now Oregon, Washington and Idaho, under an old Spanish grant. He fought the case until his means were exhausted and he was obliged to work his passage back to Walla Walla.

GEN. L. G. ESTES DEAD.

General L. G. Estes, commander of the Medal of Honor Legion and a prominent officer of the Army of the Potomac, died in Washington of pneumonia Tuesday.

General Estes was prominent in the Grand Army of the Republic. He was engaged in business in Washington.

The General enlisted as a sergeant in the First Maine cavalry in October, 1861, and served with distinction throughout the Civil War, being brevetted several times for gallant and meritorious services, the last time as a brigadier-general of volunteers. He was awarded a medal of honor for having voluntarily led troops in charge over a burning bridge at Flint River, Georgia, in August, 1864.

$10,000,000 LOPPED OFF.

New York, Feb. 21.—Ten million dollars additional was lopped off the market value of Standard Oil stock on the Broad street curb today. Under the steady selling of small lots the price declined from 610 to 596, a drop of 14 points, but it recovered 4 points before the closing, which was 600.

At the extreme low price of 596 today the stock sold exactly 50 points under the price prevailing a week ago, when it changed hands at 646. As already explained, however, 15 points of this is due to the quarterly dividend.

The actual net decline, therefore, at today's closing price was 31 points, equal to a shrinkage of $31,000,000 in the selling value of the company's $100,000,000 outstanding stock.—Sun.

Navy Wants Good Teeth.

Reports to the Navy Department from recruiting parties at various points in the United States show that, of all the applicants for enlistment, two-thirds are rejected because of physical deficiencies. The naval requirements are for sound and healthy young men. More are rejected because of bad teeth than for any other one reason.

Naval surgeons hold that a man who has lost a majority of his molars cannot properly masticate his food; is, therefore, susceptible to stomach trouble and disorders of the digestive organs. His efficiency and energy as a working machine is thus impaired.

The food question aboard ship is one of great importance. If it does not agree with the bluejackets they are quick to complain.

May Blow Up Gorges.

Alarm is felt among the people living along the Potomac river between Washington Junction and Harper's Ferry over the possibility of high water. It is expected that a continuation of the thaw will cause a disastrous freshet. The river is icebound nearly its entire length, the ice ranging from 6 to 20 inches in thickness. A sudden movement of such a mass must result in serious damage. The proposition to blow up the ice gorges above the big dams, if carried into effect, may lessen the danger which is now threatened.

Philippine Bill Passed.

The Philippine tariff bill was passed by the House Tuesday, practically as the measure came from committee.

Secretary Taft transmitted to Congress a petition from tobacco producers in Manila praying for a modification of the tariff rates.

In view of the lack of buyers, say the producers, the production of Filipino cigars has diminished in a most alarming manner, and the amount of work now done is hardly one-third of what it was. One-half of the Manila operatives are without work. The Japanese, Australian and Hawaiian markets have been lost, and the present American tariff is ruinous.

Oil Producers Organizing.

Chicago, February 18.—Representatives of about 60 crude-petroleum-producing companies met here today and took the first steps toward the formation of an organization which they declare will be of national strength inside of a year. A committee was appointed to draft laws and a constitution and to report at a meeting which will be held in this city on February 25. W. J. Van Keuren, of Indiana, was elected temporary secretary.

Four delegations, representing taxpayers of Berlin, Pocomoke, Snow Hill and Indian town districts of Worcester county, presented petitions to the Worcester County Commissioners asking that roads be built under the provision of the Shoemaker Road Law.

Not For Sectarian Schools.

The Indian Appropriation bill as agreed on by the Committee on Indian Affairs and reported to the House Monday contains the following amendment, offered by Senator Bard, of California:

"That no portion of the funds appropriated by this act, nor the principal or interest of any Indian trust or tribal funds held by the United States for the benefit of any Indian tribe, shall be available nor be expended for the support of any sectarian or denominational school.

The Fine, $30,000.

Just as Herman Beck, a wealthy farmer, was unloading several boxes containing 3,000 quail at the railroad station at Elk Point, S. D., Tuesday State Game Warden James Holiday appeared. Beck fled, leaving the quail behind. An officer was sent after Beck. The fine for having quail out of season is $10 a bird. This would make the total fine against Beck $30,000, which Game Warden Holiday says Beck will have to pay.

Girl Found Riding on the Trucks.

Bramwell, W. Va., Feb. 31.—A young girl, 17 years of age, dressed in men's clothes, was found hidden under the trucks of passenger train No. 16, at Bramwell. She was numb from the cold and said she was on her way home to Knoxville, Tenn. Being without money she thought she could ride safely on trucks, as she had heard boys talk of doing the feat with ease. She is very pretty and will not give her name.

Six Hurt In Collision.

Early Wednesday the Pittsburg special, westbound over the Pennsylvania Railroad, was wrecked between Altoona and Tyrone by running into a light switching engine. Engineer Burris and Fireman Grove, of Harrisburg, who were on the passenger train, were both badly injured, while the engineer and fireman on the light engine were also hurt.

Smoot Case Goes Over.

The Smoot case will not be reported to the Senate at this Session. It is recognized that no action can be held by the Senate on the case before March 5, and that its introduction at this time would simply take up much valuable time that is required for matters that must receive affirmative action.

Train Frozen To Tracks.

A day or two ago the morning milk train from Mt. Airy for Baltimore stopped at Gaithers to take water. A quantity of the water splashed out of the penstock to the rails and locomotive wheels. The water froze where it fell, and soon the rails and wheels were frozen together, causing a delay of nearly two hours before help arrived.—Sun.

Joseph Ginter, the 20-year-old son of William Ginter, living on a farm two miles east of New Oxford, died Monday night of last week of consumption. Funeral services were held in the New Oxford Catholic Church last Friday morning, conducted by Rev. Fr. Reudter. His father, several sisters and brothers survive.

Brakeman Killed.

Virgil Weber, aged 21 years, a Baltimore and Ohio brakeman, was crushed to death last Friday near Elvitts creek. He was setting brakes upon a moving train when a brake chain snapped, causing him to fall under the train. He was crushed so badly that he died in a few minutes. He was the son of the late Geo. Weber, and resided with his mother on Giesche street, Cumberland.

Harry L. Amdur, of Aberdeen, a member of the firm of Baker & Arthur, engineers of that town, who operate the Elkton Cannery, spent part of the past week at Elkton, Md., making arrangements for the coming packing season. Last year the price paid for tomatoes at the Elkton Cannery was $3 per ton, but Mr. Arthur says he will not be able to pay more than $4 per ton the coming summer. The present price of canned goods is low, and the demand poor at that. Many farmers in that neighborhood claim that it is not profitable to raise tomatoes at $4 per ton, and as a result it is likely that the acreage planted the coming spring will be much smaller than usual.

Sermon Delivered By A Colored Boy, Walter Wallace Edwards, aged 11 years, a wonderful colored boy preacher, delivered two sermons Sunday before large audiences at the Metropolitan African Methodist Episcopal Church, Cumberland. He was born in Winchester, Va., and although he has never attending school a day in his life, his preaching has attracted much attention. He claims he received his wonderful powers through a vision which appeared to him while he was sick.

His Dodge Did Not Work.

George Stuckley, who was arrested in Cumberland Friday while attempting to work the sore arm dodge, was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction by Justice Humbird. The boy who accompanied Stuckley, and drew a knife on the officer when the arrest was made was sentenced to be confined in the House of Correction until he is 21 years old. He gave his age as 14. There was considerable trouble in arresting the pair.

For Dutch Treat.

A bill introduced at Harrisburg, Pa., would make it a misdemeanor for any person to buy or give to a thirsty companion a drink of any kind of intoxicating beverage whatever; and any person convicted of this offense will have to pay a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $50 for the first offense, and for a repetition of the act he will be fined not less than $20 or more than $100 and serve from ten to ninety days in jail.

Killed By His Train.

The body of Merrick M. Dean, of Cumberland, aged 24 years, was found badly mangled on the Baltimore & Ohio tracks near Rowlesburg, W. Va., Sunday morning. He had been employed on the railroad for several months as brakeman, and it is supposed he accidentally fell from his train under the wheels. He was a son of Mrs. Catherine Dean, of Cumberland, and was a member of the Independent Order of Mechanics of South Cumberland.

After Hawk; Shot Himself.

George Smith, son of John Smith, a prominent farmer living near Kasiessville, Md., accidentally shot himself and narrowly escaped being killed while getting a gun to shoot a hawk. In lifting the weapon from the corner of a room the hammer caught and, falling, discharged the load, which tore away part of his left hand and plowed a furrow in his breast and neck. If the load had gone two inches farther to the right his head would have been blown off. His injuries are not regarded as being dangerous.

Car Landed On Rails.

It was not until late Saturday night that the tracks of the Cumberland Valley Railroad were cleared of the debris resulting from the serious freight wreck Friday. Perhaps one of the most remarkable things known in railroading occurred in connection with this wreck. One of the cars that left the rails, but was not smashed up, was a heavy Baltimore and Ohio box car. It jumped from the main track and, according to the statements of railroad men, it landed on the siding, about eight feet away, all eight wheels going on the rails as nicely as if the car had been placed there with the aid of an engine.

Died From Exposure.

On February 13 Lewis Johnson, colored, of near Oriole, left his home to go to his boat, which was lying on the Manokin River, at the mouth of Broad Creek, but did not return. Search was made for him on several occasions, but not till late Tuesday evening was his dead body found. It was discovered on the marsh near the shore on the Manokin River. A coroner's jury decided that he came to his death from exposure. Johnson was about 45 years of age. He was captain of an oyster boat, and in the employ of Muir & Bro., of Oriole.

Dead Body on the Rails.

The body of an unknown colored man was run over Sunday on the Pope's Creek line at the junction of the Chesapeake line, near Marlboro. From the evidence of the engineer, Sylvester J. Charters, it was apparent that the man was dead and was lying with both feet on the rails. After an examination of the jury the clothes were found to contain the numbers 21,365, and it is supposed he was wandering through the country and fell from the overhead bridge of the Chesapeake road. Both legs were cut off and the man's neck was broken. Word was wired to Washington to identify the remains.

Hauling On Frozen Waters.

The ice in Dividing creek and Trappe river, Talbot county, is 14 inches thick, and since the county roads are blocked by snow the farmers are using both as a highway with sleighs and horses in perfect safety. Lee N. Seymour drove seven miles down the middle of the river to Trappe Landing and returned, saying that the ice never cracked under the weight of two men, a mule, a wagon, body sled and four barrels of tar. There are 16 oyster dredging vessels frozen up at the mouth of Trappe river. People drive out to the vessels with teams to buy oysters.

Sineuxent Bay Frozen Over.

Sineuxent bay, which ranges from a few hundred yards to more than eight miles in width, is a solid sheet of ice from end to end, and at any point the ice has been of sufficient strength to bear two horses and a wagon. Along the Atlantic Coast near Ocean City the ice from the sea has been piled high on the shore and has attracted throngs of visitors from nearby points. Beyond the break of the surf as far as the eye could reach was a sheet of heavy ice, which rose and fell as the water rolled under it and reflected the rays of the sun like millions of magnificent diamonds.

SUICIDE IN A BARN.

John Ramsburg Uses Hay-Fork Rope to Hang Himself.

John Ramsburg, aged 35 years, committed suicide Tuesday afternoon by hanging himself in the barn on the Hankey farm, about one mile north of Cregarstown, this county.

Ramsburg, who was a drinking man and some years ago was convicted in the circuit court for desertion and non-support of his wife and children, had recently been living with them at the home of William Kolb, tenant of the Hankey farm. He was a son of George Ramsburg, who lives near the Hankey farm.

Sometime Tuesday afternoon Ramsburg went into the barn and climbed in to the hay loft. Taking the rope of the hay fork, he tied one end of it about a beam and the other end of it in a noose about his neck. He then jumped from the beam, dropping about twelve feet and breaking his neck.

The body was found about 5 o'clock, but was left hanging from the rope until about 10 o'clock, when it was cut down and taken to the home of his father.

Ramsburg leaves a widow and six children. Justice J. Graham Johnson, of Walkersville, who was summoned after the body was discovered.

DROPPED DEAD.

Midshipman Battle Suddenly Expires in Dining Room, at Naval Academy.

Midshipman Samuel Westray Battle, Jr., second class, and a son of Surgeon Samuel W. Battle, of Ashville, N. C., a retired naval officer, dropped dead at the Academy at Annapolis Sunday. The young man's death was due to heart failure, and came just as the brigade of midshipmen were assembling for the regular dinner formation and when the surrounding grounds were filled with the usual Sunday crowd of Academy and Annapolis society people and many young girls from other cities who had attended the hop Saturday night.

Young Battle had just taken his appointed place as third petty officer of the Ninth Company, Second Battalion, when he was seen to stagger and fall before anyone reached him. He was taken at once to the Academy Hospital, where a hasty examination showed that he was beyond human aid and had been dead when picked up.

Midshipman Battle, entered the Naval Academy from Ashville, N. C. on August 29, 1902, and since that time had taken on a prominent place among his classmates. He was a member of the hop committee both last year and this year, and last season pulled stroke oar on the varsity eight.

The trouble with his heart developed during the past summer, and for this reason he did not come out for the crew again this year.

Exploring A Cave.

John W. Fisher and Ephraim Miller, of Bakersville, on Sunday started to explore a cave on the farm of Mrs. Showman, in Washington county, Maryland, half a mile below Dam No. 4 of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal. They took six candles and a lantern along. Three of the candles were burned in going into the cave and the gentlemen think they went back fully one and a half miles from the entrance. They passed through numerous rooms and passages, some of which had running water. The cave opens along the canal and has been known to exist for a long time, but has never been as fully explored as it was on Sunday. At a great distance from the mouth the explorers discovered traces of a fire. It is proposed to make further explorations of the cave.

Telegrapher robbed.

J. F. Dunn, the Baltimore & Ohio night telegraph operator at Hickman Run, a block station, been Bradford and Dawson, on the Pittsburg division, was bound, gagged and robbed by two robbers late last Thursday night. Dunn did not pay much attention to the men when they came into the office, thinking them railroad men, but after a revolver was put under his nose he knew the men had come to rob him. The thieves secured a gold watch and some money. Dunn managed to release himself from his bonds and telegraphed the news to his fellow-operators. An engine, with armed men, was sent out, but the highwaymen were not caught.

Story of a Mustache.

Frederick Easton, who is serving five years in the penitentiary for the murder of Lorenzo D. Kline, sent his wife his iron-gray mustache, which had been cut off by the prison barber. The package was neatly done up, and with it was a letter in which Easton stated that he thought his wife would like to keep the mustache to remember him. She was so enraged that she threw the package into the fire.

BAPTIZING EXCITEMENT.

Fifty Spectators Break Through the Ice On A Pond.

During baptismal services Sunday afternoon by Rev. Mr. Bowersox, of the Church of God, in a large pond on the farm of County Commissioner Joseph Ernst, in Blair's Valley, Washington county, 50 persons, who were standing on the ice watching the ceremonies, were precipitated into 12 feet of water by the ice breaking, and many of them had narrow escapes from drowning.

Misses Irene Boyer and Mary Suffa-coll were rescued in an exhausted condition. A dozen or more would have perished but for the prompt and cool-headed action of a number of men who assisted in the rescue.

About 100 persons assembled on the banks of the pond to witness the Baptism. The pond, which is 15 feet deep in some places, was covered with ice, which had to be broken before the candidates could be immersed. In order to get a better view of the ceremony about 50 persons walked out on the ice, which was about six inches thick where they stood. Suddenly the ice gave way and the spectators, men and women, found themselves struggling frantically in the water and ice for their lives.

The greatest excitement prevailed and shouts for help and the despairing screams of women were heard on all sides. Many of those rescued were taken with violent chills, due to their watersoaked garments. The dripping victims were hurried to nearby farmhouses and given dry clothing and medicine. After the excitement had subsided Rev. Mr. Bowersox proceeded with the baptism of five persons.

FAIRFIELD ITEMS.

Mr. Russel Marshall, of Fairfield, who was in business near Harrisburg, has returned to his home in Fairfield.

Mrs. Joseph Cragger, of Fairfield, is spending a week with her daughters in Baltimore city.

Miss Lillie Bennett, of Seven Stars, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Flor.

Mr. George Kobil, Hotel keeper, at Gettysburg, brought a sledload of ladies to Fairfield on last Wednesday night, stopping at the hotel.

Two sled loads of children attended a social near Seven Stars last Wednesday night.

Mr. Hoffman, of Smithsburg, is a visitor to Fairfield.

Messrs. Jesse and Clarence, sons of Mr. Jesse Beard, of Waynesboro, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Maunherz, of Fairfield.

Mr. James DeGroot, of near Salem, attended the G. A. R. Bean Soup at Fairfield on last Saturday night.

Mr. Samuel Allison, of Fairfield who is suffering with cancer, is a member of Post 83, G. A. R. of Fairfield.

Miss Maggie Reid is visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Shulley, of Fairfield.

F. Shulley and family were certainly glad to receive a long letter from their friends in Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel K. Hostetter, who sent your correspondent a birthday present in the shape of their photos. They are looking well and as natural as ever. We appreciate the gift very much. Their prices at Longmont, Col., is 35 cents for eggs per dozen. Butter 25 cents per pound the year round. The thermometer is from 20 to 25 degrees below zero. They have no sleighing of any account. There has been 50 days sleighing in this county. We are having an old fashion winter here, but the lowest degree was about 6 degrees below zero. It is cold enough here though people will sleigh everyday.

GRACEHAM LETTER.

The project of a town hall for Graceham is to be considered Friday night.

Wanted.—500 witnesses at "The Trial of February," next Tuesday evening, at Moravian church. Fee, ten cents for the church.

The young boy, Ross Fior, suffered a relapse of his trouble and returned to the Frederick City Hospital last Saturday, 16th inst., where a second operation was performed. This time the appendix was removed. His case became very serious, but at present, Wednesday morning, he shows some improvement again.

JOHN PAUL KILLS HIMSELF.

John Paul, a native of Germany, who went to Cumberland when a young man, committed suicide on Highland street by cutting his throat with a barlow knife. He was 80 years old and had been an invalid for more than 20 years, suffering from torturing rheumatism, from which he obtained the greatest relief by occupying a sleeping chair. He was found dead in the chair Tuesday morning by his son, John Paul, Jr., his throat horribly jagged, the jugular and windpipe severed. The wound was from ear to ear. Of late Mr. Paul showed evidence of mental decay. For 12 years he had been unable to walk. He was a Union veteran. A note was found in German, which was translated as follows: "I have done this myself. I was tired of living. I have no rest until I am dead. My wife and children cannot forgive me for what I have done. I can't stay here any longer, so good-by beloved wife and children."

He leaves two sons and two daughters residents in Cumberland.

$10 Telephones.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company is arranging to install a Farmer's Exchange in Washington county. REUNITED.

Two Old Slaves Remarried Near Hagerstown, After Long Separation.

Following a separation extending over a period of nearly a half century Robert William Anderson and wife, colored, have been reunited. During the time they were separated they supposed each other dead, each married again and reared a large family, and in time became widow and widower. Probably the most interesting chapter in the history of this remarkable couple came a few days ago when they were remarried at the Anderson home, a well-kept cottage at the foot of South Mountain, in Washington county. Rev. G. L. Danbridge, pastor of the Free Will Baptist Church, performed the ceremony. Anderson is 74 years old and his hair is as white as snow. His wife is rapidly approaching the threescore-and-ten mark. They are well preserved and enjoy the best of health.

Both were born and reared in slavery, being natives of Virginia. Their first marriage took place in 1858, and was with the consent of their respective masters, who lived on adjoining plantations. Soon after the marriage, however, Anderson was sold, and his new master took him to another part of the State. He never saw his wife again from that time until this winter, when he by accident learned that she was alive and well. Mrs. Anderson had been owned by a man named Moffatt, of Augusta county, Va. At his death the slaves in his possession were divided among his children, that being the custom in those days. The Anderson woman became the property of Moffatt's daughter, Mrs. T. J. Black, whose husband is still living in the vicinity of Stuarts Draft, Va.

Anderson changed hands a number of times, and finally joined General Hunter's army when the latter swept through the Valley of Virginia. He became cook for Captain Saginaw, of the Twenty-first New York Cavalry, and later joined the quartermaster's department. At the close of the war Anderson went in search of his wife and was informed that she was dead. He then settled in Maryland and remarried. "Aunt" Caroline, as Mrs. Anderson has been known for years, likewise received information that her husband was dead, and she married again. Eight years ago her husband died. Anderson's wife died 11 years ago. During the present winter Anderson accidentally learned through a traveling man that his Caroline was living at Staunton, Va. The news seemed almost too good to be true, but Anderson determined to lose no time in ascertaining the facts. He boarded a train for Staunton, and there the aged couple met face to face, after being separated for just 47 years. Both having been married again since the first marriage, they decided to be remarried. A license was procured in Hagerstown and in due time the ceremony took place.

Wants Hagerstown High School.

The Western Maryland Railroad Company has under consideration the purchase of the Male High School Building in Hagerstown. The lot contains 11 acres. The School Commissioners want $25,000 for the property. The railroad company, it is reported, desires the schoolhouse for an office building and the 11 acres of ground for additional yards. The commissioners want to sell the property because it is difficult and dangerous of access. In case the property is sold the commissioners purpose erecting a new male high school more centrally located.

School Building Afire.

The Easton, Md., primary school building caught fire from a gasoline stove Tuesday evening. When the firemen reached the scene of the fire the second story of the building, which is used as a kindergarten school, was ablaze, and it was thought the building was doomed. After a tedious fight with smoke and flames, however, the firemen managed to save the building with but a slight damage. The school furniture was badly broken up and the maps and other school articles totally destroyed. For the past two or three weeks the school children have been practicing for an entertainment to be given in Music Hall in honor of Washington's Birthday.

COUNTY SEAT NEWS.

Court News.—A Justice Arrested.—Cafe Robbed.—Arrest of Outerbridge Horsey.—Other News.

Frederick, Feb. 22.—In the case of Cooper vs. Seymour, the Court, Judges Mottter and Henderson, took case on the jury Wednesday last and a non pros entered.

In court Thursday the case of Wilcoxen & Brown vs. Wiles & Isanogle, was heard before the Court. Judges Mottter and Henderson. Court reserved decision.

In case of E. H. Sharp vs. Mayor and Aldermen of Frederick, a suit involving certain water rights, plaintiff took a non pros as they failed to show a contract with the city. Alfred Ritter appeared for plaintiff and Chas. P. Levy, City Attorney, and C. O. Keedy, for defendant.

Upon conclusion of this case the jury was discharged till Thursday next when the criminal docket will be taken up.

The case of Richard C. Barnum vs. the Cumberland Valley Railway, a suit for damages instituted at Hagerstown, has been removed to this county for trial.

Maggie H. Funk has been granted a divorce a mensa et thoro from her husband, Hamilton E. Funk. They had been married 27 years. Judge Mottter signed the decree.

Charged With Unlawfully Operating A Certain Still.

Outerbridge Horsey, Jr., of near Burkettsville, was arrested Tuesday evening by U. S. Deputy Marshal L. F. Carter, of Frederick, charged upon oath of Wm. Logan, Deputy Internal Revenue collector, with violation of Sec. 3311 of the Revised Statutes in reference to the operating of distilleries, the specific charge being that he operated a certain still at the "Outerbridge Horsey Distillery." Mr. Horsey was taken before United States Commissioner Roscoe C. White, at Frederick, Md., who held the accused in $2,000 bail for a hearing on Thursday, March 2 at 11 a. m. The penalty prescribed for violation of this section is very severe, being a fine of $1,000 to $3,000, or from one to 3 years imprisonment. Mr. Horsey stated that he felt that the evidence would show that no violation of law was committed either by him or anyone under his directions. Jacob Kohrbach appears for Horsey, and Jno. C. Rose, U. S. Attorney, for the Government.

Personal.

S. Elmer Brown, of the firm of Wilcoxen and Brown, of this city, has been elected Vice Commander of the Maryland Division, Sons of Veterans, U. S. A. This division comprises the States of Maryland, Delaware and Virginia and the District of Columbia. Mr. Brown is a member of W. S. Schley Camp, No. 3, of Frederick.

Deaths.

Mrs. Mary E. Kolb, wife of Chief Engineer David A. Kolb, of the Independent Hose Co., died at her home on West Church street, Feb. 20, as the result of injuries sustained by a fall some days ago. Mrs. Kolb was quite as active as any member of the Fire Department, often assisting in getting out the apparatus at the engine house, where she resided. As a special mark of respect the Company ordered its engine house draped for 30 days, and the members of the Company and delegations from the other Companies attended the funeral, which took place Wednesday at 2 p. m. All the fire bells were tolled during the funeral.

Wm. Morgan, a veteran of the Civil War, died suddenly Sunday night at his residence, West 4th street, of neuralgia of the heart. Mr. Morgan had been in failing health for some time but his death was unexpected. He was a member of Reynolds' Post, G. A. R., and was buried Tuesday afternoon, the beautiful service of the Order being used. The usual salute was fired by a firing party from Schley Camp, Sons of Veterans, and "Taps" were sounded. Mr. Morgan was 64 years old and is survived by one son and two daughters.

John W. Sullivan, the well known B. & O. Station Agent and Postmaster at Monrovia, died Saturday evening of heart disease. His funeral took place Tuesday morning from the Quaker Church at Monrovia.

To Renumber Streets.

The Mayor and Aldermen are considering the matter of renumbering the town, each block to be known by hundreds, the numbers north and South to commence at Patrick Street. This is favored by the citizens as the present system of numbering is decidedly out of date.

Cafe Robbed.

The "Buffalo" cafe, run by Louis Otte, was entered Friday night last by parties unknown and $20 in money taken from the cash register, and a quantity of liquor was stolen. From indications, the thief must have been well acquainted with the premises. The premises were entered from the rear.

A Justice Arrested.

Justice Winebrenner, of Walkersville, was given a hearing Friday before Justice J. F. Smith, charged with disturbing a religious meeting at Walkersville some days ago. After the examination of a number of witnesses Justice Smith found his brother Justice guilty and fined him $1 and costs. Justice Winebrenner appealed. Mr. F. L. Stoner appeared for defendant; D. P. Buckey and Hammond Urner for State. Justice Winebrenner is president of the Town Commissioners of Walkersville and claims that his arrest grows out of matters connected with his enforcement of the ordinances of the town.

Successful Bazar.

The Bazar of the United Steam Fire Engine Company, which has been in progress for a week past, closed Saturday night and proved both a social and financial success. About $2,500 was cleared and will be used in improving the equipment of the Company. The banner and foreman's coat were won by the Independent Hose Co.

BR'ER RABBIT ON A RAID.

Extensive Damage Done to Nursery Stock In Worcester.

The nurseries of J. G. Harrison & Son, of Berlin, Worcester county, have been damaged to the extent of at least $300 by rabbits within the last week. The field in which young fruit trees have been attacked lies close to the woods, and the protracted cold weather has driven the rabbits to foraging for food. During the open-game season hunters thoroughly hunted these woods, and it was thought that every rabbit in the neighborhood was killed or driven far away, but the raid on the nurseries shows that there are scores there yet.

The rabbits have become so famished that they come out in the open fields even in the daytime and gnaw the young trees. Apple trees are the ones that they have damaged most. It seems that the skin of certain shoots is more palatable than others, for there is one variety which is only nibbled here and there, and of another variety whole rows of trees are killed entirely. The young trees are nibbled clear around close to the ground.

Unfortunately for the Messrs. Harrison the nursery stock thus killed was sold by them and resold by their customers. If the rabbits cannot find food somewhere else soon Mr. Harrison's "grub" bill for them will be a considerable item in his expense account. The season now is closed and there is a fine of $5 for each rabbit killed. It is suggested that the best thing to be done for the rabbits

GARDENING NOTIONS.

Some Reasons For Seeds Not Coming Up as Expected.

When seeds do not come up satisfactorily the gardener is apt to lay it to poor quality in the seed, but even good seed may not turn out as well as it might through unskillful handling. At any rate it is worth the inexperienced gardener's while to bear in mind certain little precautions, and these are made clear in some statements of the causes of the failure of seeds made by a leading eastern seedman to prospective customers:

First.—That some cultivators, through ignorance or forgetfulness of the fact that the products of a garden are natives of various soils and climates and require peculiar management, sow their seeds at an improper season. The most tender species should not be placed in the open ground until settled warm weather. The half hardy are subject to risk if sown when frost prevails. The early and most hardy species and varieties should not be planted until the ground can be brought into good condition, as some species of plants that in an advanced state of growth will stand a hard winter are often cut off by a very slight frost while young, especially if exposed to the heat of the sun after a frosty night. To guard against disappointment reserve some of the seed for a later sowing.

Second.—That some species of seeds, such as beans, beets, cabbage, lettuce, radishes, sunflower, turnips, etc., being from their nature apt to vegetate quickly, are often liable to be devoured by insects within forty-eight hours after they are sown and before a plant is seen above ground unless a suitable remedy is applied in time to destroy them.

Third.—That some species, such as carrots, celery, leeks, onions, parsley, parsnips, spinach, etc., being naturally of tardy growth, taking (in unfavorable seasons) from two to four weeks to vegetate, are apt to perish through insaturation of the soil or other circumstances which cannot always be controlled.

Fourth.—That failures often occur through seeds being deposited too deep in the ground or left too near the surface. Sometimes, for want of sufficient seed in a given spot, solitary plants spring, lacking strength to open the pores of the earth, and very often injudicious management in manuring and preparing the soil will cause failures.

To insure a fair chance, plant your seeds moderately thick, and thin out the surplus plants while young. In planting seeds in drills, which is the most desirable plan, the size of the seed and strength of its germ should be considered. Large seeds, producing vigorous roots, require deeper planting than diminutive seeds, producing delicate roots and slender stalks. The smallest seeds should not be covered more than a quarter of an inch.

To Drive Three Horses Abreast. I send you a diagram of lines that work all right to drive three horses abreast, writes a correspondent to National Stockman. I have been using them myself for two years. For drive ing three in a binder they are very convenient. The lines are made the same as for two horses, only the No. 3 must be added, which must be ten inches longer than the No. 2. The way the lines are crossed is the way they must be put on the horses. The bits in the diagram represent the horses.

A Foe to the Flock Master. Stagnant water is the best master for conveying the parasites that infect the sheep. If you have not an abundant supply of clear, pure water, easy of access for sheep, do not attempt sheep raising. Low, marshy or stony land is an abomination to the flock master. Either drain the ponds or fence the sheep out.

Agricultural Notes. Too much white silo corn is grown and offered to consumers as sugar corn, according to a Jersey trucker.

It should be remembered that fowls are not fitted to depend too largely on bulky foods and that the proportion of grain in the ration must always be fairly large.

The "cabbage snake fake" still glides easily along, although a harmless little worm appears to be its only foundation, and this worm has repeatedly been cleared of suspicion by leading entomologists.

The scale and the robin are two of the New Jersey fruit growers' greatest troubles.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale said at the American forest congress that he had lived to see many great old forests in New England destroyed. He declared that King George III. knew more about taking care of the woodlands than we of today know, judging from appearances.

Good Cause For Sorrow. An uncle who has just lost his only nephew is in despair and cries continually: "What kills me is the knowledge that no one now will be sorry when I die. It's horrible, horrible, to think of it!"—Parks Journal.

AN EVERLASTING POST.

An Ohio Man's End Post Arrangement—Resilient, but satisfactory.

An end post "likely to be there at the dawn of the next century" is sketched by a correspondent for the Ohio Farmer, with the following comments: A (see the figure) is a cubic pit 4 by 4 by 4 feet, filled with cobblestones and portland cement, about eight inches of the top being as strong as is used for walks. The post, B, is in three inch gas pipe, well galvanized, with a screw cap on top at D and a short piece of five-eighths inch rod, C, through a hole in the lower end. The top end also has five-eighths inch rod, C, through a hole top end of the three-quarter inch brace rod, E, which has a short double bend at the top, as shown, so as to hold firmly when in the position shown.

For a gatepost I use a one and a quarter inch rod brace drawn at the top so the end will enter the three-quarter inch hole and place the brace on the other side of the post, forming a brace instead of a tension brace in the other style. Possibly a smaller cube of cement might hold, but I wished to make sure, so used a four foot cube. I have four of these posts which have been in use nearly four years, and they show no indication of moving or deterioration. The materials cost me about $5 each, which some may consider expensive, but for road-way or other places where a post will always be needed they are not expensive when durability is considered, for they may well be called everlasting.

Here's to the Average Farm Hen. Important factors in the production of a superior quality of poultry, breeds and strains and other conditions affecting poultry raising have been investigated at the Canadian experimental farms, and the information gained in connection with testing and hatching eggs laid during the cold season is summarized as follows:

The generous and gently stimulating rations given to the fowls kept in cold houses did not seem to affect the strength of the germs of the eggs laid by them, as similar rations apparently did in the case of the hens kept in artificially warmed quarters.

Eggs laid in early December by the hens in artificially warmed houses showed a greater percentage of strong germs than did eggs laid by them later in the season.

Eggs laid by the same hens in early spring showed a satisfactory percentage of fertility, but the weakest germs.

The most striking and gratifying results were obtained from the fowls which, like their parent stock, had never known warm quarters.

Results were strongly in favor of the average farm conditions.

One Man Saw Machine. The cut shows a device that a Rural New Yorker correspondent has found convenient when running a crosscut saw alone. The standard, A, is 2 by 4 feet, and 10 feet 4 inches from the pin, G, to the ground. The swing, B, is 3 by 2 inches wide and 7 feet 3 inches long. The guides, C, for B to play in, are 3 feet 2 inches clear. The pitman, D, is 4 feet long and 1 inch thick. The saw is 6 feet long and projects 4 feet 2 inches. The handle is set slightly slanting. The saw is bolted to the side of the pitman. The forward two bolts have large washers. The two bolts, B, E, are joined together and nailed to the standard. They are about 3 1/2 feet in length. The saw "carriage" is simply two straight logs placed at a convenient height.

Sword Stands In Churches. Sword stands came into use in London churches when it became customary to carry the city sword before the lord mayor as he went to church in state. During service the sword was placed in the stand or case provided for it, and in his own church the lord mayor generally had the stand placed conveniently near to or in his family pew. This custom, which was quite common before the end of the sixteenth century, apparently began in the reign of Elizabeth. The state visits to the city churches were discontinued in the mayoralty of Sir R. N. Fowler, 1883.—London Standard.

FAMOUS ENGLISH WELLS.

Some Whose Waters Are Charged With Magic or Miraculous Power.

Though there are hundreds of wells supposed to possess magical power scattered all over England, the general public is ignorant of their locality or the romantic stories connected with each one. There may be a possible exception in the well of St. Keyne, in Cornwall, for Southey has made it famous in a witty little poem. The magic of its waters is such that the husband or wife who drinks first from it after leaving the altar will have the upper hand over the mate for their joint lives. The bride of whom Southey tells us did not wait till after the marriage ceremony to pay a visit to the well, but took the precaution of taking a bottle with her to the church.

Another well, in Monmouthshire, which has a peculiar fascination for the unmarried maidens is known as the "virtuous well." For generations the maidens of that locality have accredited it with marvelous powers in forecasting their futures. They have only to drop a pebble into its water and count the resultant bubbles, for each bubble represents a month of waiting for the day which will make them brides. In order to propitiate the genius which presides over the well it is necessary to decorate the brambles which shade it with bits of white cloth.

Then there are the so-called holy wells which have many medicinal virtues. Such a one is St. Winifred's, at Holywell, which is accredited with cures that are almost miraculous. The legend of its origin is a very pretty one. It is said that twelve centuries ago St. Winifred, the winsome daughter of a Welsh chief, was wooed by Prince Caradoc, a prince of ill repute. She declined his persistent advances, and at last he killed her in a fit of rage. From the spot on which St. Winifred's lifeblood fell there gushed forth a stream of crystal water which has worked miracles in her name for so many centuries.

Practically all the ills to which the flesh is heir can be cured by one or another of these wells. St. Ninan's, in Cornwall, is said to restore lunatics to sanity, but the patient must be immersed in the water and held there until the breath has nearly left his body. This seems a heroic measure. But even this is not so severe as the treatment which must be endured if a madman is to be cured at Llandegla well, in Wales, for after the victim is nearly drowned he is trussed like a fowl and laid under the communion table of the neighboring church for the night.

"Have you congratulated our hostess on her birthday?" "No," answered Miss Cayenne; "I have consoled with her."—Washington Star.

TASTE AND TOUCH.

Touch, Dr. Andrew Wilson has reminded us, is probably the oldest of our senses. It is also, we may add, the most active where taste has always been assumed to be paramount at the dinner table. It is a fact overlooked that we like what we like less because we taste it than because we feel it. What is there wonderful in the taste of your perfect, your ripe potato? Nothing of little. But, ah, the feeling! What have the resistances of bread, the sudden coolness of butter, the tenderness of asparagus, the crispness of biscuit, to do with taste? Something almost negligible.—London Chronicle.

The Sunny South

The South's Standard Literary Weekly,

FIFTY CENTS PER YEAR,

SENT AT ANY ADDRESS IN AMERICA.

Circulation Over 60,000 Every Week.

THE SUNNY SOUTH is the recognized literary leader of the South, popular throughout its wide territory, and known by its great work in the introduction of new Southern writers to the literary world. Many of its short story contests have brought to light authors whose fame and fortune have been made possible by The Sunny South.

This great Southern Literary Weekly, while it bears all the best that is current in Southern Literature, is by no means sectional in its nature. It has become a great national story paper, at a popular price, for all American fire-sides. It will blend all that is excellent from every source and be acceptable wherever Sunny climes are agreeable and light hearted good cheer is acceptable.

A sample copy will be mailed free to you by a postal card request containing also the names and addresses of six of your neighbors.

The Great Agents' Offer

Fifty Dollars a Month to Active Agents. We have a most attractive offer—the most liberal of any American publication—by which active agents may earn Fifty per Month. Agents wanted in every community. Young Hunter's Hard Luck.

"Some years ago," said a hunter, "when I lived down on the eastern shore of Maryland, where I was born, I had passed a whole day gunning rabbits and had not killed one. On my way home through the woods I met a boy who had a live rabbit. Ashamed to go home empty handed, I gave the boy 25 cents for his rabbit."

"I then said to myself, 'I will tie Mr. Rabbit to a bush and kill him, and the folks at home will say I shot a rabbit.' I took a shoestring and fastened the rabbit to a bush and then stood off, took aim and fired. When the gun had stopped kicking I saw Mr. Rabbit flying through the woods. My bullet had cut the shoestring in twain and had set the little animal free."

The Situation.

Mrs. Knicker—Does your cook know her place? Mrs. Becker—That's just the trouble; she knows any number of them.—Harper's Bazar.
