Madyadani, Manchuria, Feb. 28 .--After fighting of the most desperate nature the Russians remained in possession of Che and Da Passes, against which the Japanese had been flinging themselves madly from noon until dark.

The Russians, who were greatly outnumbered, sustained repeated attacks, some units losing as high as 70 per cent. in killed or wounded in hand to hand fighting with the bayonet, to which they were reduced owing to having fired their last bullets. In order to hold Da Pass the last reserves were sent to the firing line.

The Japanese turning operation in the region of Gauto Pass was checked by a battalion of Russian infantry and several squadrons of cavalry, who repulsed the Japanese with heavy loss. The Japanese also tried to advance on Nangon and Vanupudzi, but were repulsed.

Chicago Policeman Shot Heiress and

Then Committed Suicide. Chicago, Feb .28 .- Miss Mary Cath erine Mulveil, an heiress, was murdered by Daniel Herman, a policeman whose love she had refused. The crime was committed in the most fashionable part of Michigan Boulevard at a time when the avenue was filled with pedestrians and carriages. Herman, after killing the young woman, escaped and committed suicide in a lodging house by shooting himself through the brain with the same revolver with which he had killed Miss Mulveil:

Herman became infatuated with the girl through hearing her play at St. James' Roman Catholic Church, where she was organist, and he had for a long time annoyed her with his attentions, constantly urging her to marry him. Miss Mulveil had refused him repeatedly, and had told several of her friends a short time ago that he had threatened to kill her unless she married him. She said she feared that she might meet Herman, who followed her wherever she went. Herman had been a member of the

WILL EXILE GORKY

Noted Russian Author Released On Bail and Immediately Rearrested. St. Petersburg, Feb. 28. - Maxim Gorky had but a short glimpse of liberty. Released on $5000 bail, the noted author was immediately rearrested and conveyed to a place of confinement pending deportation to some distant city or province, where his continued residence, it is thought, will not be so dangerous to the welfare of the goyernment as it would be here in St.

Petersburg. The release of M. Gorky was effected by order of Governor General Trepoff, after the friends of the writer had overcome obstacle after cbstacle and had won the grudging assent of the heirarchy and officials to the signing of the mandate admitting him to bail. The rearrest also was the act of the all-powerful governor general, who is unwilling to allow such a firebrand to be at large in the capital of which he is practically the supreme ruler.

M. Gorky knew nothing of the governor general's decision when the doors of the cell which had been his home for the past five weeks swung open. His disappointment, therefore, was pitiable when, just as he was passing out of the great gate of the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, he was again placed under arrest. His appearance indicated that his health had suffered from the effects of his confinement, even though the rigors of prison life had been relaxed in his perts declare the conditions identical LAVOR.

Tricked the Stamp Fiend.

Stamp collectors are delighted when they secure a specimen which was issued before some mistake in printing was detected. During the Buffalo exposition the government issued a stamp to commemorate the occasion which depicted the Empire express train. A practical joker cut out the central part of one of the stamps which contained $2000 borrowed several years ago, the train and carefully replaced it so that the train was in an upside down position. This he pasted on an envelope and mailed it to a friend who was a rabid collector.

The practiced eve of the stamp fiend been appointed consul general at at once discovered the misplaced posttion of the train, but did not notice the The battleship Minnesota will be deception, and the collector was almost wild with joy until he offered it for sale, when he was informed that it was not a "rare" but a "cut out" stamp he preserved .- New York Press.

Eggs.

It is not only cigars that vary in name without varying in quality. The present writer was once told when hesitating between "fresh eggs" at ten a shilling and "good breakfast eggs" at eight a shilling or something to that effect that these two brands were precisely the same, but had to be sold as two qualities because no customers would buy eggs at a shop where only one quality was advertised. That may or may not be so. The fact remains that there are many qualities of eggs known to all housewives before we get down to what a late comedian termed briefly "eggs."-London Chronicle.

Where Wealth Is Wooden

At Goumbi a man's wealth is reckoned first by the number of slaves he owns, next by the number of wives and then by the number of chests, empty or otherwise, he possesses. To give security to these chests, locks of American make are in great demand all over the country, and keys in large numbers are worn by the natives as the outward symbol of abundant property, though it is quite likely that many of the chest are entirely empty.

ORIGIN OF WHIST.

The Game Was First Called Triumph and Afterward Trump.

Whist was tirst called triumph, a name which was afterward corrupted into trump. The eighteenth century saw whist in its primitive form, the whole object of the game being to win tricks by leading high cards or by trumping. Then came the era of Hoyle, which may be said to have lasted from 1730 to 1860 and taught players to think not only of their own hands, but of the other hands also, and to take advantage of the positions of the cards in them. Hoyle also taught that trumps might be more profitably employed than in simple trumping and showed that they might be used to disarm the adversary and to obtain secondary advantage in trick making by other suits of less apparent power. It was not until 1860 that the philosophical era can be said to have begun, and the origin of the new movement was a knot of young men at Cambridge, Eng-land, known as the Little Wist school. This body kept records of its games, but no one thought of making the data known until 1861. Coherence in the system of play was still wanting, and this was supplied in 1864 with Dr. Pole's essay on the theory of the modern scientific whist.

THE ART OF EATING.

Food Must Please the Mind as Well as the Palate.

Pawlow has established the physiological importance of the mental state on digestion, having shown, for instance, that delicacies produce secretion of gastric julce as soon as they are perceived by the eye, even before they are eaten.

The food must not only be palatable, but must be served in an attractive front of a bank in Ballarat and coolly manner-fine disnes, table decorations,

In eating we must take time to chew our food thoroughly. This serves a double purpose-first, through the act of mastication the coarser particles of food are broken up; second, more saliva is secreted and is thoroughly mixed with the food. The digestion of starch is thus materially aided, and the proteids are made more easily accessible to the action of the gastric juice. Water should accompany each meal. It increases the appetite and the enjoyment of food. After eating we should rest a little while before returning to our work .--Dr. Max Einhorn in Medical Record. tralia.-Chicago News.

AMERICA'S SALAD PLANT.

Frown In More Than a Hundred Distinct Varieties.

By W. W. TRACY, Jr. Lettuce is our most important salad plant and one of the most varied of our cultivated vegetables. In this country alone it is listed under more than 800 varietal names and represents the plow will probably be the tool more than a hundred really distinct va- used. hundred acres, producing about 25,000 pounds of seed, are planted in California every year for seed alone. More than 8,000 pounds of one variety have been used in a single year by one American seed house.

Lettuce is a cool weather plant, which succeeds best when grown in the spring and autumn. It succumbs to frost and cold if previously grown in warm weather, but stands severe "weather if gradually hardened to it, so . much so that gardeners even as far north as Long Island sometimes sow the seed in September and winter the plants over outdoors, either entirely unprotected or with only a slight covering of brush. Under favorable conditions the seed sprouts within three or four days, but it may sometimes be greatly delayed, When the weather is dry or cold seed planted in September may not sprout until the next spring. Self sown lettuce is common, and inferior seed is sometimes obtained from such crops. Practically all the seed used in this country is raised in California. Only a very small part of it is imported, though perhaps not farther back than 1880 the larger part of it came from abroad,

Lettuce does not readily cross fertillze in the field, and different varieties are planted side by side with little danger of mixture. The plants are generally grown for seed in the same way as for market. Sometimes they are left so close together that no heads are formed, and this is said to produce inferior seed. It requires from thirty to sixty plants to produce a pound of

Second.-After plowing do not allow the soil to dry too long before it is gone over with a spike tooth harrow or, better under some conditions, with a roller, followed shortly by a spike tooth. The object of the harrowing is to prevent the forming of hard lumps at the surface in the drying of the soil, as is almost sure to occur in the soils named if allowed to dry too long before a mellowing tool is used. It is easy enough to tell by feeling or even by the eye when this mellowing process should begin. It is not practiced as much as it should be. The use of the roller as suggested will often improve the quality of the mellowing, but in any case will bring the newly plowed soil in more complete contact with that below, which is a thing to be desired in spring plowing, and will at the same time improve the capillary conditions of the newly plowed soil.

If the soil has already been either fall or spring plowed, then the use of one of two tools may be suggested:

SEWING COTTON. The Humble Origin of the Great

Thread Industry.

The origin of sewing cotton was told at a cotton manufacturers' meeting by the head of the great thread house of Paisley, Scotland. It was discovered in 1803 by his grandfather, who had a tools. This is an art, and a great art, little business in Paisley, making silk which every farmer should master. A twine for heddles, which were used by every weaver. The experiment succeeded, and from this grew the idea that cotton could be substituted for flax in the manufacture of sewing thread and would not be so coarse and harsh. He began the manufacture of the thread in a very small way. It was at first put up in skeins and had to be wound into little balls by the purchaser, and then Mr. Clark invented the modern spools. He had them made by a wood turner, half a gross at a time. They cost him sixpence a dozen, and he charged the purchaser of the thread a halfpenny for the spool, which, however, was refunded when the spool was returned. The ladies of Paisley used to come to his shop with their spools and wait while he wound

the thread on them. From this small beginning grew a great industry. Authorship of Ancient Literature In the earliest examples we posses of ancient literature we are not allowed even a glimpse of the individualities of their authors. The works themselves, if they had been prized because of the wit, ingenuity, fertile fancy, brilliant conceit or any other individual peculiarity, mental or temperamental, of the men who produced them would have been preserved. In some cases, as in that of the Iliad and Odyssey, the reputed authorship has been as obstinately questioned as that of the fourth gospel and several of the epistles. In the very earliest literature the individual was of no account in the matter of authorship; he was only the collector or editor of spontaneous and unwritten folk song and legend or, if he gave these First.-If the soil is loose, the roller their final shape, was only joint author with his race .- H. tory, and known by its great work in the introduction of new Southern writers to the literary world. Many of its short story contests have brought to light authors whose fame and fortune have been made possible by The Sunny South.

 This great Southern Literary Weekly, while it bears all the best that is current in Southern Literature, is by no means sectional in its nature. It has become a great national story paper, at a popular price, for all American firesides. It will blend all that is excellent from every source and be acceptable wherever Sunny climes are agreeable and light hearted good cheer is acceptable.

A sample copy will be mailed free to you by a postal card request containing also the names and addresses of six of your neighbors.
