RUSSIAN WARSHIPS REACH MANILA

Cruisers Aurora, Oleg and Jemchug Escaped Togo's Pursuit.

ALL ARE BADLY DAMAGED

Under Command of Rear Admiral Enquist, Mino Asie Fourteen Days' Time to Repair—Russian Torpedo Boat Destroyer Found Helpless at Sea and Towed to Shanghai—Togo and Rojostevsky Meet in Hospital.

Manila, June 6.—After having been given up for lost by the Russian government, three of the warships which participated in the great naval battle of the Sea of Japan a week ago have arrived here, seeking the hospitality of the American authorities. They are the protected cruisers Aurora, Oleg and Jemchug, and are under the command of the Russian Rear Admiral Enquist.

The naval board appointed by United States Admiral Togo, which has examined into the condition of the REAR ADMIRAL ENQUIST.

Russian warships here, reported that the Oleg will require 60 days, the Aurora 30 days and the Jemchug seven days to effect repairs. Admiral Enquist has requested permission to repair here, saying that he would be unable to sail except in a smooth sea on account of his vessels needing patching near the water line.

Thirty-four seriously wounded Russian sailors were placed in the naval hospital at Cavite. Rear Admiral Enquist left the scene of the fighting before the battle was finished, and he did not learn the final details until he reached Manila.

The deaths aboard the Russian ships showing the total of killed up to 70, and there are five additional cases in the hospital. American navy surgeons are assisting the Russian surgeons in their work of caring for the wounded.

Rear Admiral Enquist now claims that he lost his flagship in the naval fight and then transferred his flag to the Aurora and left the fight Saturday night. He said that he did not know that the fight was continued Sunday.

He declared that the Japanese attack was so sudden and ferocious that his fleet was completely overwhelmed.

The ships of his fleet, while attempting to reach Vladivostok, were at the same time looking for a fight with the Japanese, and when they encountered their opponents fought gallantly.

The Russian ships steamed into Manila at a speed of 15 knots. The Russians are now talking on food supplies.

Saturday afternoon Rear Admiral Enquist was maneuvering outside Manila Bay with the battleships Oleg, Wisconsin and the cruisers Raleigh and Cincinnati, when the Russian squadron approached. The Russian Aurora fired the flag of a rear admiral and fired a salute of 13 guns in honor of the flag of Rear Admiral Enquist.

When the Oleg had answered the salute the Russian flagship signaled that there were many wounded on each of the three ships, and that they would put into Manila harbor. They were accompanied to an anchorage by the American squadron, and formal visits were exchanged by Rear Admirals Enquist and Togo.

Rear Admiral Enquist is injured. Captain Enquist, of the Aurora, was killed by a shell which struck the conning tower, and he was buried at sea the day before reaching Manila.

On the Aurora three officers were wounded, 20 of the crew were killed and 83 were wounded.

The losses on the Oleg were 13 of the crew killed and 18 wounded.

On the Jemchug the casualties were 21 junior officers killed and one wounded, and 12 of the crew killed and 26 wounded.

INTERNE OR LEAVE MANILA

Russian Warships Not to Be Permitted to Make Repairs.

Washington, June 6.—Admiral Enquist will not be allowed to repair his ships at Manila. The government has decided that the injuries to the vessels were not caused either by the sea or storm they will be obliged to refuse permission for the vessels to be repaired there. Secretary Taft cabled the following instructions to Governor Wright at Manila regarding the ships:

"Time cannot be given for the repair of the injuries received in battle. Therefore the vessels cannot be repaired unless interned until the end of hostilities."

Admiral Enquist has been instructed accordingly. It was stated by Secretary Taft that if the Russian vessels agreed to leave Manila in their present condition they were welcome to do so, but as it did not appear that they suffered from any damage caused by the sea or storm this government was obliged to take the position above outlined.

Russian Warship Towed to Shanghai. Shanghai, June 3.—The British steamer Kaitum has arrived here, towing in a Russian torpedo boat destroyer which was found helpless north of Shanghai with three crew aboard. The vessel had been drifting for six days with 180 men on board and water sufficient for only one day left and with very little food. The vessel was damaged forward. Her crew has already been transferred to the Russian transport Interned at Wusung.

TOGO VISITS ROJOSTEVSKY

Praised Russians' Bravery and Sympathized With Wounded Admiral.

Tokio, June 5.—Vice Admiral Togo visited Vice Admiral Rojostevsky at the naval hospital at Sasebo Saturday and expressed his sympathy for the admiral's wounds. He praised the desperate courageous fight of the Russians and expressed the hope that Vice Admiral Rojostevsky would soon be able to return to Russia.

Rojostevsky was deeply moved by the admiral's words and thanked him. He congratulated Japan on the courage and patriotism of her sailors, and said it lessened his regret and the sorrow of defeat to know the high character of the victors.

Admiral Yamamoto, minister of the navy, has dispatched flowers for the room of Admiral Rojostevsky. Accompanying the flowers was a letter to the wounded Russian officer saying: "I beg to express my respect for you in fighting desperately for the sake of your fatherland. I cannot refrain from sympathizing with you in your wounded condition, and hope the accommodations of our hospital will ease your suffering and speedily restore your health."

BELIEVE RUSSIA WILL FIGHT

There Are Many Peace Reports, But Nothing Definite.

London, June 5.—Accounts of President Roosevelt's interview with Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister at Washington; Count Cassini, Baron Speck von Sternberg and other ambassadors, which are alleged to have been along the line of efforts to bring mediation, are receiving much attention here, but in diplomatic circles it is not believed that they will result in securing peace. The belief is firm in all quarters that Russia will continue the war.

Peace reports come from Paris, Berlin and St. Petersburg, as well as from Washington, but no single definite indication of peace or even of intervention can be obtained.

UKASE CREATED SENSATION

Russian Ministers Oppose Making General Treppoff Dictator.

St. Petersburg, June 6.—Emperor Nicholas' ukase virtually creating Governor General Treppoff dictator has given rise to a mighty sensation. It is the imperial recognition of the crisis

The possibilities involved in the investigation into the matter of fraudulent registrations alone are vast. Should the police, under the persuasive influence of Assistant Director South, elect to tell all they know about the padding of assessors' lists, and the men who ordered that work done, it would give the courts something to do for months to come and insure honest elections in the future.

Two Killed by Train

Father and Son Terribly Mangled and Daughter Fatally Injured.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 5.—John Tittle, a farmer, aged 55 years, and his son, James, aged 17 years, were instantly killed, and his daughter, Bertha, aged 13 years, was fatally injured, by being struck by an express train on the stone arch bridge over the Pennsylvania railroad between Mexico and Port Royal.

Tittle lived one mile from the scene of the accident, and he and his children were on their way home from Port Royal, where they had been attending Sunday school. They were crossing the bridge on the railroad tracks, and on the opposite track was a fast freight train, the noise from which prevented their hearing the express coming toward them. The locomotive struck the party, terribly mangled the father and son, whose remains were picked up and taken home in a freight car, and injuring the daughter so badly that she cannot live.

WILL ATTACK WASHINGTON

Joint Operations of Army and Navy to Continue Six Days.

Washington, June 5.—Sixteen warships will attack the defenses of Washington and Baltimore at midnight June 11, and continue their offensive operations for six days and nights. Meanwhile the fortresses along Chesapeake Bay and the Potomac river, constituting the artillery districts of the Chesapeake, Washington and Baltimore, will put forth every defense of which they are capable. With it all, the struggle is to be bloodless, practically noiseless, devoid of the spectacular, and intensely interesting only to the army and navy experts, who know the constructive effect of the unloaded mines and the empty shells. These exercises are to constitute the only joint operations of the army and navy during the year.

Pennsylvania Train Breaks Records

Chicago, June 6.—Pennsylvania railway train broke all records for fast traveling between New York and Chicago by making the run of 897 miles in 17 hours flat. The feat was accomplished by two special trains, one running from New York to Pittsburgh in 8 hours and 50 minutes and the other making the run from Pittsburgh to Chicago in 8 hours and 10 minutes.

DISMISSED BY MAYOR WEAVER

Chief of Philadelphia Highways Requested to Resign.

CITY CONTRACTS TO BE PROBED

Philadelphia, June 6.—At the request of Mayor Weaver, William H. Brooks, chief of the bureau of highways, resigned from office, the resignation taking effect immediately. Mr. Brooks is the first bureau chief dismissed under the new political conditions inaugurated by the mayor. His successor has not yet been named. "For the good of the service" is the reason given by Mr. Weaver for asking the resignation. Mr. Brooks had been in the highway department upwards of 10 years. He is well known throughout the state, as the present state liquor license law bears his name, he having introduced the bill in the legislature while a member of the house of representatives.

The new directors of the departments of public safety and public works are making a thorough examination of their departments. Director of Public Safety Hester discovered that a policeman who was recently appointed had been arrested once for larceny, once for highway robbery, four times for breach of the peace, three times for drunkenness, and served two years in prison for assault and battery. He was immediately dismissed from the service as "unfit to be on the police force."

Colonel Sheldon Potter, director of the department of public safety, started to swing his own axe, and his first "chopping bee" proved to be a big blow to the 100-odd Republican clubs scattered throughout the 42 wards.

He notified every officeholder in the seven departments under him that hereafter they need not make the usual political contributions to such clubs, and also that membership in such clubs will not in the future be considered necessary to hold the public positions or the means of obtaining preferment or promotion in the public service.

It is not in the wholesale dismissal of useless officeholders, however, that the mayor will strike his hardest blow at the organization, but rather in the investigation into the manner in which municipal contracts have been awarded in the past; the United Gas Improvement company's financial dealings with the city; the padding of the assessors' lists, and the part played therein by the police; and the manner in which street railway franchises have been distributed in recent years by the organization-controlled councils.

Mayor Weaver is now probing into each and every one of these questions, and the probe will go deep. So deep, in fact, that it is likely to bring to the surface revelations which will shock the entire community and land some men behind prison bars.

The possibilities involved in the investigation into the matter of fraudulent registrations alone are vast. Should the police, under the persuasive influence of Assistant Director South, elect to tell all they know about the padding of assessors' lists, and the men who ordered that work done, it would give the courts something to do for months to come and insure honest elections in the future.

FRICK RESIGNS FROM EQUITABLE

Committee's Report Rejected by a Large Majority.

OPPOSED BY BOTH FACTIONS

New York, June 3.—Disputed claims of victory by the conflicting factions in the Equitable Life Assurance Society and an apparent readjustment of interests marked the meetings of the directors of the society held for the purpose of passing on the report of the committee of seven, of which H. C. Frick is the chairman.

The only positive results of the meeting, of which official announcement was made, were the rejection of the report of the Frick committee by a large majority, the resignation of Mr. Frick from the board of directors and the passage of the resolutions embodied in the following statement given out by the directors after the final adjournment:

"The board, after full discussion and after replies on their own behalf to the committee by President Alexander, Vice-president Hyde and Vice-president Tarbell, on motion of Mr. Schiff, adopted the following resolutions:

"(1)—That a chairman of the board be created with plenary powers over all departments and affairs of the society.

"(2)—That a nominating committee, consisting of D. O. Mills, John A. Stewart, A. J. Cassatt, T. Jefferson Coolidge, August Belmont, J. B. Forgan and Robert T. Lincoln be requested to report at a meeting of the board to be called on Wednesday next a candidate for chairman.

"(3)—That at that meeting of the board the executive committee be reorganized and that appropriate amendments to the by-laws should be prepared for submission to that meeting for the purpose of carrying out these resolutions.

"(4)—That Mr. James Hazen Hyde be requested within three months to divest himself of the control of the stock of the society on such terms and conditions as shall be satisfactory to him and to the board."

The directors remained in session for several hours, the time being taken up with statements by President Alexander and Vice-president Hyde, both of whom opposed the adoption of the Frick committee's report.

RIGHT HANDED FOLKS

WHY ARE THEY SO VERY LARGELY IN THE MAJORITY?

There Are Two Factors in the Problem, an Inherited Tendency and Constant Practice—The Origin of the Innate Precocity.

That the great majority of persons use the right hand with greater skill than the left is doubtless due to two influences—an innate precocity and constant practice. The preference shown by most infants at the age of one year for the use of the right hand proves that there is an inherited tendency. Further evidence of it is found in the greater ease with which any entirely new act is performed by the right than by the left hand. Training, however, is an important factor. A mature person, having lost the right hand by accident, can achieve wonders with the other if he only exercises patience, perseverance and a strong will.

The more mysterious of the two factors in this problem is the inborn tendency. How did it arise? There are exceptions to the rule. Perhaps two out of every hundred babies are left handed. But when you stop to think of it the natural inclination of the other ninety-eight is remarkable. A great many physiologists have speculated in regard to its cause without reaching any conclusion upon which all could agree.

Dr. George M. Gould says in the Popular Science Monthly that right handedness is so thoroughly ingrained in human nature that it must have been partially developed in the savage ancestors of the race. Primitive man, in his opinion, must have felt a definite need for the exercise of his right hand in preference to his left, and that necessity must have been recognized and obeyed for a long period continuously.

The impulse could not well have dictated his habits in eating, for knives and forks are of recent origin, the modern gun had not been invented, and writing was practically unknown. Moreover, in such operations as chipping arrowheads, weaving baskets and yielding clubs, bows and arrows it could not have mattered much which hand was employed.

When warfare had been carried to such a stage of advancement as to involve the use of a shield, however, that object was probably held on the left side in order to protect the heart. Then as a matter of convenience the right arm was left free for the more active function of fighting with spear and sword, and with habitual exercise came special skill. An attendant phenomenon was a finer organization of that particular center in the brain which controlled these movements and which was situated in the left half of the organ. The brain is the real seat of all dexterity, and something takes place there in correspondence with external efficiency. With an increased use of the right hand, Dr. Gould thinks, there must have been greater demands upon the right eye, because vision must precede the order to strike or to give peaceful signals. In this way there may have been developed a keener power of vision in the right eye than in the left. Dr. Gould assumes that there was and declares that "right handed people are right eyed" and that in their brains the center of vision is on the left side, in close proximity to that governing the right arm.

While civilization was yet at a low level communication was carried on, especially with strangers, largely in the sign language. Barter laid the foundations of arithmetic and called in to play the digits. The preference already given to the right hand and bottle may have guided men in the choice for this service and also in official and social ceremonies. Computation, Dr. Gould points out, was an intellectual process which was conducted in the speech center of the brain. Nature was compelled to take sides in locating the latter, and she placed it to the left of the middle. Dr. Gould thinks that the choice was governed by the employment of the right hand for giving signals. So intimately related are the functions of speech and vision and the control of the muscular efforts with the right hand that action would be quicker if the cerebral centers controlling them were closely associated.

Before discussing the cause of left handedness Dr. Gould calls attention to the fact that with right handed people the left hand is occasionally called upon to perform a task of greater importance than its mate. In eating the fork is used more than the knife. In playing a violin or violoncello the fingering is done with the left hand and the bowing with the right. It is suggested that some of these operations may result from the superiority of the right eye. Perhaps the latter can watch and guide them better when they are performed with the left than with the right hand.

Left handedness is considered by Dr. Gould an inheritance from ancestors, savage or civilized, who were obliged by some misfortune to abandon the use of the right hand. An even more influential cause, he thinks, would have been as to the right eye. With the cultivation of skill with the left hand, he believes, there followed a change in the organization of the brain. Owing to disease the center, which had formerly controlled action, lost its vigor and that on the opposite side acquired increased power. Dr. Gould says that the speech center was also transferred from the left side to the right of the brain in consequence. In the transposition of the cerebral peculiarity to offspring he finds the key to the manifestation of left handedness at a tender age.—New York Tribune.

Experience is a jewel, and it need be so, for it is often purchased at an infinite rate.—Shakespeare.

A MIGHTY "LAND GRABBER."

Chenonceaux was one of the earliest chateaux that represented the new spirit. It was built on the site of the old feudal fortress in a sort of freak of the sense of opportunity. It was meant to give room and verge enough to a generation bent on having a good time in a hall and bower. It was still a fortress of a kind, but this only as an afterthought. In the main it was a palace for sport and festival. It might have stood on dry land; it preferred to bridge a river. There was no want of space in other directions, but this seemed best as a stroke of constructive impudence. The architect at the bidding of Diana of Poitiers jumped the Cher as a schoolboy would have jumped a brook. The huge arches never carried anything of use to mankind at large, not even a right of way.

At first most of them had no superstructure, and the bridge might have been called "Diana's folly." But she knew what she was about. She was a mighty hand, subtle, with a heart as cold as the stone of her new dwelling and a face and form kept beautiful forever by the studious avoidance of every pang—a wonderful creature withal, for she contrived to die in her bed, though she crossed the path of Catherine de' Medici. She ruled a king by the usual methods and by studious deference to him kept him obedient, humble servant to the day of his death. She inspired one of the greatest sculptors of her time in his creation of a Venus that rivaled the antique.

She was one of the mightiest land grabbers of history, adding chateaux to chateaux with a purpose that never faltered and by methods of smooth, unemotional persistence that never failed. She started with everything against her in that epoch of the worship of youth when she began her siege of the heart of the dauphin of France. She was a widow, and a widow with a family, yet she knew no pause in her triumphant career till she had married and dowered them all and provided herself with a choice of palaces for her old age. She never made an enemy or——which was quite as much to the purpose—a friend who was not likely to be of use. She died in the sanctity of a faultless manner and an unruffled brow. Her heart of ice kept her a Venus to the last. Had her prototype been anything but a goddess Diana might have given her points in the wise avoidance of the ravages of temperance.—Century.

MITCHELL TO THE MINERS

Intimates Eight-Hour Day and Reorganization Will Be Asked Next Year. Scranton, Pa., June 5.—At Moosic, in the first of 11 speeches to be delivered in the anthracite region, President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, suggested, rather than declared, that the eight-hour day and a signed agreement with the organization will be insisted upon by the miners when the present agreement expires on May 31, 1906.

"The present agreement is the best you have ever had," said Mr. Mitchell, "but it is not good enough. We should have an agreement between the union and the operators. We should have the generally established short working day of eight hours. Whether these things will come next April or not is not for me to say; it is for you."

"What you get or fail to get," said Mr. Mitchell, "depends on yourselves. The anthracite coal operators are no better or no worse than they were three years ago. They don't like the union better or hate it worse than they did three years ago. We will be recognized if we deserve to be; we will be fought if we deserve to be fought. If we have only 60,000 members in the anthracite field, where there are 150,000 mine workers, don't blame the operators if they refuse to recognize us."

WILD EXCITEMENT AT MINE

Fan House Destroyed By Fire and No One Was Injured. Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 6.—The fan house at Mount Lookout colliery, at Wyoming, six miles from here, was burned to the ground. The structure was located close to the top of the main shaft, from which the coal is hoisted. The flames communicated to the timbers of the head shaft, which was also destroyed. As soon as the fire was discovered news was at once sent to the foot of the shaft and men were hurried in all directions in the various openings of the mine, warning the miners and boys to hurry out. As quickly as possible many of them congregated at the foot of the shaft and were hoisted to the surface, all escaping without injury. As they jumped from the cages they were met by fully 1000 men, women and children, who had flocked to the scene, where immense excitement was occasioned until it was made known that all were saved. There was little danger of the fire communicating to the inside workings. The only danger that was to be feared was from smoke and gas accumulating in the workings, as a result of the stoppage of the fan used to ventilate the mine.

"DECEASED" TO DIE JUNE 23

Hoch Dramatically Asks Mercy On Souls of Prosecutors. Chicago, June 5.—After dramatically forgiving his prosecutors, the police, jurors and witnesses who testified against him, Johann Hoch was sentenced to be hanged June 23 by Judge Kersten.

Motions for a new trial and stay of judgment were overruled and Hoch was asked if he wished to say anything. Rising, Hoch blurted out:

"I am convinced my poor dear wife was murdered, but I am not her murderer. I am willing to die tonight if you think I am guilty. I am innocent. God forgive you all. God have mercy on your souls. I have no feeling against you. If you think I am guilty of this murder, I am willing to have my life put out tonight."

Hoch sank into his chair. He was pale, and profuse perspiration covered his face.

THREATENS THE PAPER TRUST

Wisconsin's Attorney General Will Move to Revoke the Charter. Milwaukee, June 5.—"I shall probably begin an action to revoke the charter of the General Paper company as soon as the present session of the legislature is over," said State Attorney General Sturtevant, Mr. Sturtevant said.

"I have been furnished with a copy of the evidence obtained in the federal examination thus far. The great amount of evidence that has been hidden by the refusal of witnesses to testify must come out. We shall see if there is not a way to do it. The fact that a federal investigation is being made and that a federal suit has commenced does not bar us. The company is a Wisconsin corporation and comes within our jurisdiction."

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address:

Building Association to Wind Up. Lancaster, Pa., June 6.—A rumor was circulated to the effect that the Pennsylvania Building and Loan Association was about to be placed in the hands of a receiver. The officials deny it, but state that under the recent decision of the attorney general forbidding the use of salaries officers for the collection of dues, the association would close out its business in a short time. There are about 6000 stockholders, mostly in Lancaster, Chester and Berks counties, and a meeting has been called for June 26 to vote on the matter of closing up its affairs. # ORDER OF PUBLICATION

NO. 7014 EQUITY.

In the Circuit Court for Frederick County sitting as a Court of Equity.

Eugene L. Rowe, Plaintiff, against Joseph C. Beard and Bertha Beard, his wife, Albert Beard and ———— Beard, his wife, Callie Warren and Lewis Warren, her husband, the heirs of Maurice Beard, a deceased son of Isaac Beard, deceased, ———— Beard, widow of Maurice Beard, the heirs of Clara Eshelman, a deceased daughter of Isaac Beard, deceased, and William Eshelman, the former husband of Clara Eshelman, deceased, Defendants.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate situated in Frederick county and State of Maryland, which was mortgaged by Isaac Beard in his lifetime to the plaintiff, Eugene L. Rowe, The Bill states:

1. That a certain Isaac Beard in his lifetime, to wit, on the 18th day of July, in the year 1903, being indebted unto the plaintiff in the full and just sum of one hundred and fifty dollars, the same being the balance of the purchase money of the real estate mentioned in the Bill, advanced by the plaintiff, gave to the plaintiff his sealed waiver judgment note for said sum so advanced, drawn to the plaintiff, or order, and payable six months after date, with interest from date, and the plaintiff files with the Bill as part thereof said sealed waiver judgment note marked Exhibit A.

2. That being desirous to secure the payment of the said sealed waiver judgment note when the same should become due and payable, as also the interest thereon, the said Isaac Beard, by his deed of mortgage of said date, conveyed unto the plaintiff, certain real estate situated in Frederick county and State of Maryland, and particularly described in said mortgage, to which deed there is a condition annexed that it should be void upon payment to the plaintiff or his assigns, of the aforesaid sealed waiver judgment note for one hundred and fifty dollars and the interest thereon, on or before the 18th day of January, in the year 1903, all of which will more particularly appear by reference to said deed of mortgage filed with the Bill as part thereof marked Exhibit B.

3. That the said Isaac Beard is dead, having died in the month of May, in the year 1904, and that no letters testamentary or of administration have been granted on his estate in the State of Maryland.

4. That the said Isaac Beard left surviving him as his heirs at law:

(a) Joseph C. Beard, a son, whose wife is Bertha Beard, both adults.

(b) Albert Beard, a son, whose wife is ———— Beard, both adults.

(c) Callie Warren, a daughter, whose husband is Lewis Warren, both adults.

(d) The heirs of Maurice Beard, a deceased son, whose names and ages are unknown to the plaintiff and whose widow is ———— Beard, both adults.

(e) The heirs of Clara Eshelman, a deceased daughter, whose names and ages are unknown to the plaintiff, whose former husband was William Eshelman, an adult.

5. That all of the defendants reside in the State of Pennsylvania, except the unknown heirs of Clara Eshelman and William Eshelman, her former husband, who all reside somewhere in the West but whose places of residence are unknown to the plaintiff.

6. That the whole of said sum of one hundred and fifty dollars and interest thereon, from the 18th day of July, in the year 1903, except twelve dollars and forty cents is indebted paid to the plaintiff by the said Joseph C. Beard on the 5th day of December, in the year 1903, still remains due and owing to the plaintiff, although the time limited for the payment thereof by said sealed waiver judgment note and the condition of said mortgage has long since passed.

The Bill then prays for the following relief:

1. That the said real estate conveyed as aforesaid to the plaintiff by said Isaac Beard, deceased, may be decreed to be sold to pay said sum of one hundred and fifty dollars so due as aforesaid to the plaintiff together with all interest accrued thereon.

2. For general relief.

3. For an order of publication against the defendants.

It is thereupon this 7th day of June, 1905, ordered by the Circuit Court for Frederick county, sitting as a Court of Equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper published in said Frederick county, once a week for four successive weeks before the 18th day of July, 1905, give notice to the said defendants of the object and substance of this Bill, and warning the said Joseph C. Beard, Bertha Beard, his wife; Albert Beard, and ———— Beard, his widow, whose name is unknown; Callie Warren and Lewis Warren, her husband, all adults, and residing in the State of Pennsylvania; and to the said unknown heirs of Clara Eshelman, deceased, and William Eshelman her former husband, an adult, whose residences are unknown, and warning them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 24th day of July, 1905, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

LARGE CAVE DISCOVERED

Brought To Light By A Blasting Operation.

The discovery of a natural cave at Cavetown, Washington county, Md., was recently made under peculiar circumstances by George M. Bushey, who is operating stone quarries along the Western Maryland. He had a number of men operating steam drills for four weeks, the blasting of which was expected to loosen about 500 carloads of stone. When the blasts were set off, however, the result was not a single carload did heget. The entire force of the explosive went through the bottom and into a monster cave, all of the work being a total loss. Mr. Bushey has since made an investigation of the cave and found it to be from 10 to 20 feet deep and covering a wide area. He, with a number of other men, explored the cavern to some extent and found numerous bones of wild animals, evidently having been a rendezvous for the sick or wounded denizens of the wilds. Among the remains were a tusk over three inches in length and an elk tooth in perfect condition and valued at $30. Since work over the cave Mr. Bushey has dumped at least 100 carloads of stone into the opening, but it is not filled yet, and has so far proved an expensive find for him. The exploration being made in the main cave by Professor Peabody, of Harvard College, are resulting in some valuable finds of Indian relics and bones of wild animals.

TO TEACH BOYS HOW TO FARM

Director William L. Amoss Will Experiment in Carroll County.

William L. Amoss, director of the department of farmers' institutes of the Maryland Agricultural College, accompanied by Charles L. Goodrich, was before the Board of School Commissioners of Carroll county with a proposition to make the public schools of that county the basis of a test for an experiment, having for its object the introduction of a system of instruction in scientific farming in all the public schools of the state.

Mr. Goodrich, who is a practical farmer, from a scientific standpoint, and the author of a valuable book on the subject, gave the members of the Board, some of whom are prominent farmers, a detailed outline of the plan proposed and also told them some practical things about scientific agriculture of which they had not had previous knowledge.

The plan, in brief, is this: During the fall and spring terms Mr. Goodrich will visit three of the schools in this county once every week and instruct the teachers and pupils of the sixth grades in scientific method of farming. Schools convenient to farms using modern agricultural machinery will be selected, and the pupils will be shown this machinery, and its various uses will be explained. Then the soil will be considered and the conditions under which it will be best able to produce the different products raised in farming; the best methods of preparing and of planting the seeds, cultivating after planting, where cultivation may be necessary, and, in fact, all the details essential to scientific farming.

In the intervals between the fall and spring terms the pupils of the grade under instruction will be required to experiment by planting and cultivating farm and garden products in pots and boxes under the direction of the teachers. The experiment will be carried on without expense to the school board and will not be tried in any other county until it shall have been thoroughly tested in this. The proposition was accepted by the board.

DROPPED TO HIS DEATH

Nicholas Tarzia Killed By A Fall at The Hub Building.

The pathetic spectacle of 10 Italians standing with bowed, uncovered heads about the mangled body of one of their countrymen was seen at the northeast corner of Baltimore and Charles streets, Baltimore, last Friday afternoon, when Nicholas Tarzia fell from a scaffold and was instantly killed.

Jas. Faulkner, colored, 9 Howard court, saved himself from falling by clinging to the ropes of a scaffold until he was hauled in a window by his fellow-laborers.

Both were employees of the Woodberry & Leighton Company, doing work for the Hub, whose new building is being erected there. The scaffold is of the swinging variety. Faulkner completed the work and turning to Tarzia, who was near by, asked where Mr. C. C. Turner, the foreman, was, meaning to ask him to help him lower the scaffold. Tarzia had not seen Mr. Turner, but he volunteered to help in lowering the scaffold.

"You don't know enough about it," said Faulkner as the two men stood suspended far above the street, at the fourth story of the building.

"O, yes I do," replied Tarzia. Faulkner protested, but Tarzia according to his story, began to loosen the ropes on the side on which he was standing. Faulkner did not loosen his and suddenly one end of the scaffold dropped. The pedestrians in the street below heard a cry and a crash, and looking up, saw Tarzia drop through the air. He struck a partition and fell to the floor of the cellar, his head being crushed out of shape.

Among those who had seen the accident were Luigi Tarzia, a brother of the dead man, a nephew and eight other Italians employed as laborers. Their grief was pitiable, particularly that of the brother, as they crowded about the body. As though by common consent hats were lifted and while the officers waited for the ambulance they grouped themselves about the body, sobbing and praying, the crowd pressing behind them.

In the meantime Faulkner was holding to the ropes and was finally taken up to a third-story window. He was very much frightened, but unhurt.

Tarzia's body was sent to the City Hospital, but the physicians needed only a glance to see that he was dead, and it was sent to the morgue. A few minutes later, while Tarzia's countrymen were sobbing before the rail at the Central Police Station, a patrolman entered with the victim's brains in a cigar box.

Tarzia was 35 years old, married and had two children. He lived at 113 Albermarle street. —Sun.
