ORDER RESTORED IN TOKIO

Godzyadani, Manchuria, Sept. 11 .-At 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon a Japanese commissioner bearing a white flag and escorted by 50 soldiers, arrived at a post near the railway and handed to the Russian officers who went to meet him a letter from Field Marshal Oyama to General Linevitch, congratulating him on the conclusion of peace, and begging him to appoint Russian plenipotentiaries to arrange workmen, killing 17. an armistice. Field Marshal Oyama appointed General Fukushima as plenipotentiary for his side, the letter announced, and he suggested Chakhedza as the meeting place.

General Fukushima left Kai Yuan trict. for the north to meet the Russian generals and arrange the details of an incendiaries tried to land at Bibiebat armistice. General Fukushima refused to allow the press correspondents to accompany him. New York, Sept. 11.-Baron Ko mura is ill in his apartments at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel and all the social engagements of the Japanese envoys were either cancelled or indefinitely postponed. Mr. Sato, spokesan for the Japanese part Baron Komura became suddenly ill Saturday night, and Dr. William B. Pritchard was called in attendance. The senior envoy of the Japanese emperor is suffering from intestinal trouble. While the illness is not regarded as serious, Baron Komura has been told he must rest for a few days.

The Japanese have planned to leave New York next Thursday for Seattle, Wash, whence they will sail direct Russian Envoys Visit Washington. Washington, Sept. 11. - Mr. Witte and Baron Rosen, the Russian peace plenipotentiaries, accompanied by five members of the former's suite, spent Sunday in Washington. They spent the entire day visiting the historic points in and about the city and left again for New York, from which place Mr. Witte will sail for Hamburg tomorrow. While here they were in charge of Acting Secretary Loomis, of the state department, and Major Charles M. Mc-Cawley, of the Marine Corps, who at the special request of the president acted as their escorts to the various places visited. Beginning at the White House, the party in turn went to the Russian embassy, the capitol, the congressional library, Mount Vernon, Arlington and Rock Creek Park. As he left for New York, Mr. Witte expressed to Mr. Loomis his keen appreciation of the pleasure which his brief stay in the American capitol had given him. It had been, he said, very interesting and very instructive, and he had been well repaid for the trip.

MOB RESPECTED AMERICA

No General Anti-Foreign Sentiment In Oyster Bay, Sept. 12.-A definite resume of the conditions in Tokio is given in a cablegram from Minister Griscom to the secretary of stat e,,S Griscom to the secretary of state, which was transmitted to President Roosevent. Minister Griscom indicates that there is no general antiforeign or anti-Christian sentiment in Tokio, but points out that the recent rioting was due to sporadic antagonism to the Russian church and to some native Christians. Minister Griscom's cablegram, so far as it relates to the rioting in Tokio and the causes which led up to it, is in exact accord with the statements made by Baron Kaneko. The cablegram follows: *

"Tokio, Sept. 10 .- The violence to a few foreigners and the attacks on Christian churches reported in my previous telegrams should not be considered to indicate any general antiforeign or anti-Christian feeling. MORE THAN TWO SCORE HURT

New York, Sept. 12.—The death list Raku reports that the situation there of the accident on the Ninth avenue elevated railroad, when a car crowded with workers on their way down town pitched headlong into the street, now stands at 12. Three men are in hospitals with fractured skulls. One of these, who as yet remains unidentified at Roosevelt hospital, is unconscious and not expected to live. More than two-score persons were injured, many of them seriously.

The dead are: Jacob M. Anspach, of the Newark (N. J.) board of trade; Ernest P. Scheible. Theodore Morris, John Cochrane, Solomon Neugass, Cornelius McCarthy, William Lees, Joseph Bach, James Cooper, Emma Conhoven. Albert Weilster and Louis

Of the dead the most frightfully mutilated was James Cooper, whose head was completely severed from his

The cause of the accident and the immediate responsibility remain to be settled. The motorman of the wrecked train is a fugitive, while a switchman, conductor and four guards are under Rome, Sept. 9.-All Italy is suffering arrest. The switchman is charged with manslaughter and the trainmen are held as witnesses.

The list of dead and missing is as follows: Fred Waterstraw, Jr., William McIntyre, Albert Woods, Omer Humphries, George Llewellyn, Harry Underwood, Elmer Hughes, Clyde Woods, James Breakiron, George Martin. Charles Barclay, died at the hospital; Gilbert Mitchell, a small boy; Anawalt Gribble, Fred Waterstraw, Sr., Charles Fritz, William Llewellyn, Isaac Metcalf, Omer Swaney, Frank Ryland.

Scores of people in the town of Fairchance, within half a mile of the powder mills, were more or less painfully injured.

The shock of the explosion was distinctly felt in Connellsville, 20 miles away, buildings being rocked on their of panes of glass were broken. In the town of Fairchance there is scarcely a house that did not suffer damage. The sides were battered in as though axes had been used. Hay stacks were toppled over in the fields and live stock were stunned. The rails of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and the Western Pennsylvania Traction company were rooted from the roadbed and traffic was delayed from four to six hours. No. 52 train on the Baltimore & Ohio had a narrow escape from annihilation. It had just passed the Rand mills when the explosion occurred. The windows in the passenger coaches were shattered and the passengers thrown into a panic. Had the train been a few seconds late it would have been blown up, as the mills are within a few rods of the tracks.

There were seven explosions in all. Every one of the 10 buildings was totally demolished. Not a vestige of them remains. The debris that was strewn over the 10 acres of ground where the plant was located took fire soon after the explosion and added its terrors to the disaster. The dismembered parts of the dead were burned in many instances. Identification of many was made by parts of clothing alone. The first three explosions were not as serious as the last four. Then the packing house, pressing room and mangazine blew up, followed by two cars of dynamite standing on a nearby railroad siding, which were set off by the concussion from the powder mill explosions.

All day at short intervals searchers would bring in bits of bodies or clothing. Some of these finds were carried in dish pans or damaged powder cans. with which the ground is strewn for acres. One little boy carried in on a shingle part of a man's hand.

All of the dead and injured, with the exception of C. M. W. Rand and Clyde Woods, lived in Fairchance.

THE BLACKFEETS' STORY OF THE GREAT WHITE HORSE.

Daring Strategy by Which This Fleetest of All Steeds Was Secured For His Own Tribe by the Sniartest

All Indians who use horses are very fond of horse racing and not only face their own horses against one another, but they race their own against those of other tribes and used to do this even in the wild era of the buffalo and of constant warfare. Even at that time friendly tribes and bands joined in the two grand buffalo hunts of each year and after the hunting was over pitted Spaniards began to prepare cork for the fastest horses of the various bands one against the other. At one time not forest situated at the northeast of the so very long ago the Blackfeet had the very fastest horse that any one knew of, the fastest horse of which any one could tell or which any one had seen. He was a source of wealth to the tribe. for Indians are very fond of betting. and this animal always won everything that was bet against him. You can imagine how proud the Blackfeet were of this creature. You can also imagine how envious were the Stone the Crows, the Sioux, the Creeks and all the other Indians of the plains. Stealing is considered fair between tribes, and if it can be successfully done those savage people think it very honorable, even glorious. The Blackfeet, therefore, kept the wonderful race horse in a tent at night. They did not dare leave him out with their other horses. They bought a string of bells at the Hudson Bay company's nearest fort, put the bells around the horse's neck, tied him to a tepee pole inside a big tepee and set four men to sleep in the tent with him. This was the rule every night, and on no night did the men forget to close the door of the tepee and "cinch" it tight with thong; of buckskin. Whoever could steal that big white beauty of a horse had to be a very elever thief, they thought; but, in truth, they never dreamed that he could be stolen, The smartest thief among the Crow Indians told his chief and the head men that he was going to try to get that horse away from the Blackfeet. One evening he crawled through the grass to the tall bluff along the Bow river (north of our Idaho, I think, was the locality), where the Blackfeet had their camp. He saw the noble horse led into a certain tent, and he saw the four watchers go in and close the door. Night fell, and he crept down the slanting bluff into the camp. The only thing he had to fear was the barking lays off some ten or twenty feet and of some dog. If a dog saw or heard then makes a rapid dash right into and him and barked, that would set all the under the "long face," forcing him to other dogs barking, and he would be obliged to run for his life. Stealthily, badly that he is hors de combat. The fact has been established that bass inthe thieving Crow Nation crept into the erel will ultimately destroy the latter. Blackfeet camp. He had to step over several sleeping dogs, and he did not awaken one. He came to the tent of the white horse. He looked it all over. He went to another tepee and took a travois from its side and carried it and set it up against the horse's tent.

Though suffering many bruising blows on the face and body, and being at times very tired, Nelson never gave ground. He came back after every attack by Britt, always ready to exchange blows. The Californian tried every blow known to him to stop his tireless opponent. In every way Britt failed, although he punished Nelson severely, knocking him down once and staggering him sev-

The 18th proved the end for Britt. A detailed account of that round, which at the races. lasted about two minutes, shows little difference from the preceding rounds. Nelson forced Britt about the ring and gave many body blows, always boring INSURANCE in. He cornered Britt and drove him against the ropes. Quick as a flash Nelson sent in a short, sharp left-hand blow to Britt's stomach. He gave way and stepped back, crouching to receive Nelson and give himself time to recover. Nelson saw the damage his blow had inflicted, however, and pressed on. He forced Britt into his own corner, and there, in a rally that lasted only a few moments, the end came. Britt went down suddenly. Nelson says it was from a blow on the jaw. Britt had no clear idea after the fight what put him out, but in the opinion of those who were close by, it was the blow in the stomach that took all his remaining strength and he fell from exhaustion. Britt fell in his own corner, flat on his face, and was count-

Treatment Advised. The sick animals and all of the young cattle under one and one-half years old which had been at pasture with them were to receive a dose of coal tar creosote shaken up in a pint of water, the Atchison Globe, dose being graduated according to age, as follows: Calves three to eight yearlings, seventy-five drops; one to many amusing stories are told, was a persistence and determination to folone and a half years old, two tea- resident of Bridgewater, Mass., and it low your ideal. spoonfuls. #### THE WEREWOLF.

A Human Monster In Which the Ancients Firmly Believed.

The word "werewolf" simply means a man transformed into a wolf, and the belief in such transformation seems to have been at one time widely diffused over all the countries of Europe, Asia and some parts of Africa.

According to the ancients, a man

thus transformed into a wolf or other ravenous beast was believed to become possessed of all the powers of such a beast in addition to his human abilities to reason. His appetite also became enormous and could only be appeased by being glutted upon human flesh. During the latter centuries of the dark ages the belief in werewolves was as common and as widespread as was the belief in witches, which it in some respects resembled. The belief, senseless as it was, gave rise to much brutal persecution of the accused, and the various systems of torture were usually successful in getting a confession of guilt and the subsequent burning or hanging of the wretched confessor.

In Great Britain, where wolves were scarcely known, the werewolf tales of the continent were hardly credited, but later on, even in "enlightened England," they believed that witches Luckly for the hunter fishes have as | could transform themselves into cats

DEFECTIVE SIGHT.

Persons With Weak Eyes. Systematic examination of the eyes of school children seldom fails to show that a considerable proportion of them have defective sight and will therefore be placed at a disadvantage if in after life they engage in employments for which normal vision is desirable. Some useful suggestions on the practical side of this question will be found in Dr. Wilhelm Feilchenfeld's "Gesundheltspflege des Auges." He says, for instance, that sufferers from sensitive eyes, with easily irritated conjunctiva or with chronic or frequently occurring inflammation of the lids, ought not to engage in work which is either assoclated with the production of much dust, such as baking or milling, or which involves exposure to a dazzling light, such as the occupation of a furnace man. Individuals in which symptoms of ocular fatigue easily come or ought not to choose an occupation which requires straining of the eyes by long continued near work, such as sewing, knitting, copying or shorthand writing. Individuals with progressive shortsightedness must avoid all occupations which entail great exertion upon the eyes. They should not engage in study or become clerks or mechanics, tailors, dressmakers, fancy needle workers or quilters.-London Lancet.
