ODELL BITTERLY REFUTES CHARGES

Declares Mr. Hyde's Statements Are Base Calumny.

DEPEW ALSO A WITNESS

New York, Nov. 21.—Former Governor Benjamin B. Odell, Jr., and United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew as witnesses before the Armstrong legislative investigation committee denied parts of the testimony of James Hazza Hyde in which their names were used. Mr. Odell in the course of his testimony called Mr. Hyde's statements "base calumny," and when he was asked whether he directly or indirectly had made threats to have the charter of the Mercantile Trust company revoked, his face flushed, and striking the arm of the witness chair with his fist, he exclaimed: "There is no truth in that statement, so help me God."

Mr. Odell said no political pressure was brought to bear in the settlement of his suit against the Mercantile Trust company, and that it was settled the same as suits brought by others. He said he had been advised by counsel that his claim was a just one and that any court would have awarded him more than he received in settlement.

He knew of the introduction of the Ambler bill, which it is said, might have affected the Mercantile Trust company's charter, and while he did not suggest its introduction, he saw no objection to it. Mr. Odell denied that he ever made a statement to E. H. Harriman or any one else that retaliatory measures would be taken against the Mercantile Trust company. The witness said he and Mr. Harriman were personal friends, but that they had no business relations. He wrote a letter on behalf of Mr. Hyde's candidacy for the post of ambassador to France. This was at the request of William H. McIntyre, one of the vice presidents of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Mr. Odell said he had never solicited political contributions, but possibly some moneys might have come to him through the national committee or Senator Thomas C. Platt, as the latter had always gathered together the funds in New York state except in the last year.

Senator Depew was examined with regard to his syndicate participation and his duties as counsel to the Equitable Society. Regarding the ambassadorship to Paris, Senator Depew said Mr. Hyde came to him and solicited his influence to secure the appointment. Senator Depew brought the matter to the attention of the president, although he told Mr. Hyde that he was too young, and the president said it was utterly impossible to make such an appointment.

While admitting that he had been in many bond syndicates of late years, Mr. Depew said he had realized very little profit from them, in fact only $1200, although he had $200,000 tied up at one time. He said he had a high regard for the abilities of James H. Hyde, and thought he earned his $100,000 salary.

Samuel S. McCurdy, assistant registrar of the Equitable, and not related to the McCurdy's of the Mutual Life, said he had charge of the vouchers for legal service. From him was gleaned a story of trouble in California in 1897, when the insurance commissioner of that state demanded an examination. Thousands of dollars were spent by the Equitable in this matter, as accounted by Mr. McCurdy, and he justified the expenditure on the ground that it would have cost the Equitable about $40,000 had no defense been made, hence the expenditure for counsel. He seemed to think the demands of the California commissioners were exorbitant.

Gage E. Tarbell told of his 26 years' connection with the Equitable and his activities in the interest of the policyholders. He started as a solicitor in Greene, N. Y., and later was given a general agency for the southern tier of counties of this state, with headquarters at Binghamton. He was opposed to money being spent for legislative purposes, and thought the policyholders in a body could defeat any legislation inimical to their interests. He said he had tried to interest the New York Life and the Mutual Life in an agreement to appoint a committee of one to look after such matters, but the officers of the Mutual Life said it was impractical. Mr. Tarbell knew of no money expended for legislative purposes.

Want National Pure Food Law. Washington, Nov. 21.—Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, emphasized the necessity of a national pure food law in an address before the annual convention of official agricultural chemists, in session here. He complimented the chemists on their accomplishment in abolishing food adulteration. While there are a few people, he said, who do not want to know that what they eat is pure, and who may be found importing compounds not to pass a pure food law, the secretary told the chemists he was sure the great majority of the American people were heartily in favor of the purity of the market basket.

Died After Eleven Operations. New York, Nov. 21.—Charles H. Lease, a son of Mary Ellen Lease, the well-known Populist advocate, died at his mother's home here. His death was the result of 11 operations, which commenced with an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Lease, who was a customs house inspector, was first operated on 11 months ago.

600 KILLED AT VLADIVOSTOK

Nearly Half the City Was Burned During Rioting.

Tokio, Nov. 20.—An eye-witness of the recent riot at Vladivostok, who has arrived at Nagasaki, reports that nearly half the city was burned and that 600 of the garrison were killed, that the jail was thrown open and that General Kappok is missing. The damage is estimated at $25,000,000. Soldiers from Harbin are reported to have joined the rioters.

Russian Strike Falls.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 20.—The strike demonstration begun by the radical elements against the government, which for the past several days threatened the life of the very empire, collapsed like a bubble. By a decisive vote the workmen decided against a continuance of the strike, and there is now hope that the Liberal element will rally to the support of Count Witte in putting into operation the reforms granted by the emperor.

In announcing its decision to call off the strike the workmen's council claims a great victory has been won, and that the lives of 1600 Cossack mutineers have been saved. This, in fact, is true, the government having backed down from its purpose to execute the bulk of the revolting soldiery.

WILL SUE CONTRACTORS

Philadelphia to Try to Recover Money

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—Strikingly similar to the action taken by the district attorney last week, John L. Kinsey, city solicitor of Philadelphia, announced that he was in accord with Mayor Weaver and would carry out to the utmost of his ability the prospective litigation in connection with the building of the filtration system of the city. Mr. Kinsey's appointee is William M. Meredith, and he takes the place of Thomas D. Finletter, an assistant city solicitor, who resigned. The district attorney and the city solicitor are elected by the people, and the mayor has no authority over them.

City Solicitor Kinsey in a statement said that he would co-operate with the mayor and Judge Gordon in an effort to recover money due the city as a result of frauds alleged to have been committed by certain contractors, and that he would aid in every way to bring about the reforms instituted by the mayor. He also announced that there would be a "complete reorganization of his office, so that in all its parts it will be so constituted as to be in thorough sympathy with the movement for municipal regeneration."

MOLCAUPT IN GLASGOW

Thirty-nine Dead and Thirty-two Hurt in Fire in Lodging House.

Glasgow, Nov. 20.—The most terrible fire that has occurred in Great Britain for many years broke out here in a cheap lodging house for men in Watson street and resulted in the loss of 29 lives and the severe injury of 32 others.

The flames were first noticed on the fourth floor of the building, which was occupied by 350 men. An alarm was raised, and the firemen responded quickly, but flames and smoke were then issued from most of the windows on the fourth floor. An extraordinary scene was created by a procession of almost naked men rushing out of the entrance to the building, and against their frantic efforts to escape the firemen had actually to fight for admission.

The dead men were mostly workmen in the prime of life. They presented a horrible spectacle, their blackened faces bearing evidence of the terrible struggle to escape.

$16,000,000 AT ONCE FOR CANAL

Part of Sum Needed as Soon as Congress Meets or Work Must Stop.

Washington, Nov. 21.—An estimate of $16,000,000 for continuing work on the Panama canal has been sent to the treasury department from the war department to be sent to congress. The estimate is for expenditure up to and including the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907. A part of this money will be necessary at once, and an emergency appropriation will be asked as soon as congress convenes in order that the work may proceed. It is stated at the office of the commission that unless money is provided as soon as congress convenes all work must cease.

MURDERED AND ROBBED

Trackwalker's Body Found Near Bristol, Pa., Riddled With Shot.

Bristol, Pa., Nov. 20.—Raphael Mayles, a night track patrolman, was found dead near the tracks of the New York division of the Pennsylvania railroad at Penn Valley, five miles above here. The body had been riddled with buckshot. Mayles was last seen talking to two Italians. He was known to have carried a money belt, and as this is missing the Bucks county coroner believes he was murdered. Mayles has been a trackwalker only a few weeks, his predecessor on the Penn Valley section of the railroad also having been found dead on the tracks.

STEAMER WRECKED, OVER 100 LOST

The Hilda Foundered on North Coast of France in a Fog.

ONLY SIX PERSONS WERE SAVED

London, Nov. 21.—One hundred and twenty-eight persons lost their lives in the wreck of the London and Southwestern Railway company's steamer Hilda off the northern coast of France Saturday night, according to an official estimate given out by the officers of the company. This death roll includes 21 saloon passengers, 80 French onion sellers and 27 of the crew.

The Hilda left Southampton on Friday night for St. Malo. Her passage was greatly delayed by a fog in the channel, and when nearing St. Malo she ran into a severe snow storm, apparently missed her course and foundered on the rocks off Jardin lighthouse, three miles from St. Malo. The company's steamer Ada, outward from St. Malo, rescued five of the passengers and one of the crew. They are the only survivors.

A telegram from St. Servan, adjoining the town of St. Malo, gives the few particulars yet available. The Hilda was near St. Malo Saturday morning. She struck the rocks yesterday morning in the roadstead off the Island of Cezembre, having missed the tide owing to bad weather and the fog.

The majority of the crew and passengers were asleep at the time of the accident. A lifeboat was picked up empty at St. Cast, where 13 bodies were washed ashore. The top of the Hilda's funnel and her mast are visible at low tide, according to the telegram from St. Servan.

The disaster was first suspected through the washing ashore of a body, and the port authorities immediately sent out a tug. It was then learned that the Hilda was wrecked on a treacherous reef close to the Island of Cezembre, called Les Portes. She had apparently struck, broken her back and immediately sunk, leaving no time to launch the boats. The Jardin light is quite close to the spot. It cannot be explained as yet at what time or how the disaster occurred. The entrance to St. Malo is dangerous, the currents and rocks needing the exercise of considerable caution at all times, but more especially in bad weather.

Many bodies have been washed ashore at different points, some wearing life belts. Six of the survivors, according to a report in circulation here, were rescued by the Ada from the rigging.

[The Hilda was built at Glasgow in 1882, and registered 848 tons. She was a screw steamer, of iron construction, and was 235 feet in length.]

PLOT AGAINST PRESIDENT PALMA

Arms and Ammunition Found in Havana May Implicate Prominent Men.

Havana, Nov. 21.—Evidence obtained by the commission which is investigating the discovery by the secret police Saturday last of a considerable quantity of arms, ammunition and accoutrements in a house in the Cerro suburb is tending to implicate a few men of some prominence. The government has no doubt that the materials came from the United States, and it is seeking to learn who were the purchasers.

Government officials now admit that they have received various secret advices regarding contemplated uprisings before election day in various parts of the island, particularly in the provinces of Santiago, Santa Clara and Pinar del Rio, with a probable attack on the palace in Havana. The object of the latter, according to the officials, appears to be the removal, possibly by assassination, of President Palma. The plotters, it is pointed out, are well aware, since there is no vice president, that the election of President Palma's successor would, according to the constitution, be in the hands of congress, and that the Liberals, with the help of a few independents, could control both houses.

STEAMER WRECKED, CREW LOST

The Turbin Dashed to Pieces On Rocks Off Nova Scotia Coast.

Clark's Harbor, N. S., Nov. 21.—The Norwegian steamer Turbin, with her captain and crew of about 16 men, is thought to have foundered in a terrific gale which swept over Nova Scotia last Friday. The coasting steamer Edna R., which arrived here from Mud Island, brought news that on Friday a large steamer, supposed to be the Turbin, struck Black Rock Ledge, off the south coast of the province, and in a few minutes and persons on the island who saw the steamer strike on the ledge were a considerable distance away, and owing to the tremendous sea running it was impossible to launch a boat.

No person could be discerned aboard the craft, and so quickly did the steamer go down that no opportunity was given the crew to fight for their lives. No boat could have lived in an instant in the sea that was running. While the craft hung on the rocks the seas made a clean breach over her. Suddenly a giant comber lifted her from her resting place, and the next instant she took the fatal plunge, carrying it, it is believed, all on board down with her.

ATLANTIC CITY HAS A MYSTERY

Attempts to Wreck Pennsylvania Flyer May Bring Arrests.

GOODRICH'S STORY DOUBTED

Atlantic City, Nov. 21.—Two attempts to wreck a Pennsylvania railroad train and what may have been an attempt to murder the man who says he frustrated the first effort are the salient features of one of the most baffling mysteries that has ever come to the attention of the police of this city.

As the scene of the would-be crime is out of the jurisdiction, the police here are not bound to make an investigation, but they are, nevertheless, paying great attention to the case and Captain of Detectives Maxwell says that the developments promise a sensational climax. Captain Maxwell freely admits that he has some startling evidence in his possession which he divides now would defeat the ends of his examination, which will probably result in an arrest.

In the tangle of peculiar circumstances only one thing is certain and that is that the train for Philadelphia was saved from a disastrous and unquestionably fatal wreck by the merest chance.

The remainder of the case hinges on the truthfulness of Lloyd Goodrich, a young man 22 years old, who is staying with Dr. W. H. Walling, at 1209 Pacific avenue. Goodrich tells in detail a narrative of a remarkable experience when he was bound to a pile of railroad ties and left on the tracks to be killed. He says he escaped by cutting the ropes with his pocket knife.

Certain discrepancies in his statements have led the police to be skeptical of their entire truth and they mean to question him more closely.

When seen at Dr. Walling's residence the young man exhibited both wrists, which were chafed as though by cords, and a long red welt on the back of his neck was just such a mark as would have been made by a rope. On his forehead there were marks of a severe blow.

Goodrich has not yet been catechized by the police, but will be closely questioned after they have secured what other evidence they can and it will then be seen how closely his version fits the known facts.

The second attempt was made at exactly the same spot where Goodrich says he had his battle. The position was so chosen that had the ties not been removed they would have plunged the locomotive into the stream and there would have been a fearful wreck.

It was Charles Adams, a bay fisherman, and William Hackett, an employee of the railroad, who averted the disaster.

Adams was on his way to visit his sloop when he saw what looked like a man lying across the tracks. On investigation he saw that five ties had been laid there, one across both rails and the other four across the outside rail. As he was wondering who could have attempted such a crime he heard the whistle of the train and calling for help to a man who was approaching he set to work to clear the tracks.

The other, who was Hackett, assisted in the work. The two had not removed the obstructions a minute before the train dashed by.

Adams and Hackett at once reported the incident to police headquarters and detectives were set to work. They found an overcoat, a cap, a necktie, an open penknife, a pair of cuffs with cheap links in them, a plug of tobacco and pieces of freshly cut rope all near the pile of ties, and in the pocket of the coat was a note book with Goodrich's name and address in it, thus directing the police to him.

While the young man's account by no means explains the case satisfactorily, it is nevertheless the only plausible explanation thus far advanced which accounts for everything.

FAVOR SEA LEVEL CANAL

Work to Take 20 Years and Cost Over $100,000,000 More Than Lock Canal.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Another crisis in the history of the Panama canal undertaking was reached, when the board of consulting engineers by a vote of 9 to 5 reached the momentous decision that the great waterway should be of the sea level type. If this action of the board is approved by the president, as it is confidently expected to be, it will precipitate a new and probably prolonged and acrimonious debate on the whole question of the canal in congress when the report embodying the action of the engineers goes to that body.

This may be looked for, because the digging of a sea level canal will take from 15 to 20 years and perhaps longer, while conservative estimates of the difference in cost between a lock and sea level canal run from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000.

Further announcement of other gifts brings the total amount of the fund already raised to $182,500.

THE BOAST OF HEALTH.

It Often Precedes Serious if Not Fatal Sickness.

All doctors know that just before death the patient often experiences what is called a "rally," nature making apparently her last stand against the symptoms which we call death, and it is quite likely that the feeling with the induces men to boast of health is of the same kind—an effort of nature to protect us against the coming sickness which the body has recognized, though the mind has not. The phenomenon occurs every day in the cases of consumptive patients, who brighten up and grow hopeful just when the disease is about to strike its hardest blows, and it is quite possible that it is more frequent than has yet been recognized that the approach of fever, for example, is signalled by an unusual consciousness of health. "I have never felt so well in my life," says the patient, who twenty-four hours after is lying prostrate and whose friends quote his statement as illustrating once more the ancient and depressing belief.

The boast had nothing to do with the illness, but it preceded it, and men, attracted by the violent contrast, almost instinctively link the two together as in some way and to some extent cause and effect. Next time those who heard it, if they feel that rush of health in their veins, will avoid boasting of it, and the relation of the two will escape attention. Moreover, it must not be forgotten that boasting is of itself a sign of weakness, either temporary or permanent, and that consequently false follows boasting more frequently than it follows silence.

The perfect driver says he is perfect just when his mistakes are most frequent, and the resulting skill is remembered when the thousand and one escapes due to the same driver's skill and hardihood are clean forgotten.—London Spectator.

LAMPS THAT ARE CLOCKS.

They Were Commonly Used in the Seventeenth Century.

Of the various examples that have been given of early specimens of the clockmaker's art not the least interesting are the several types of lamp clocks. One of these was of a kind quite common in the seventeenth century and consisted of a lamp burner placed at the base of a glass oil receptacle mounted vertically on a suitable standard. The oil reservoir had attached to it a scale, facing the burner and showing the hours, beginning at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the lamp was to be lighted in winter, and ending at 7 o'clock in the morning. The lamp being lighted, the gradually descending level of the oil, as combustion proceeded, marked the hours.

The other device, of later origin, dating back to the beginning of the present century, utilized the same principle. It consisted of two communicating oil chambers, superposed by a clock dial. In one of the chambers was placed a night lamp to illuminate this dial, and in the other was suspended a float from a cord which passed around a small pulley. The latter was mounted on a horizontal axis ending in the center of the dial. The float of course descended as the oil was consumed and carried the index hand along with it, thus making the hours precisely as in the case already cited. At their best these timepieces could have had only an indifferent degree of accuracy, yet they probably served their purpose well and certainly are interesting at the present time as illustrating some of the expedients adopted by mechanical men of an earlier period.—Cassier's Magazine.

Power of Niagara.

What makes Niagara falls' power possible is the fact that Lake Superior, Lake Michigan, Lake Huron and Lake Erie, with a combined area of 90,000 square miles, representing the great reservoirs of some 250,000 square miles of watershed, are situated 600 feet above the sea level.

The great volume of water falling over the vast territory flows on its natural course to the Atlantic ocean with but a slight descent until it is brought into the narrow Niagara river, when, in the rapids just above the falls, it declines fifty-five feet and then, with a single plunge, drops into the abyss 165 feet below. Eminent engineers have computed that 275,000 cubic feet of water pass over the falls every second, representing in theoretical energy over 6,000,000 horsepower.

Chemists' Job Done.

"Mankind is suspicious," said a chemist of the board of health. "One last week a wealthy clergyman sent me a piece of pie for analysis. He suspected that his daughter, a beautiful and good girl, wanted to put him out of the way. The pie contained, of course, none but the usual ingredients.

"Some people send me pickles, sauces, packings—profitable and widely advertised compositions that they want to learn how to duplicate and vend themselves.

"There isn't a well known patent medicine that hasn't been submitted to me for analysis twenty or thirty times."—New York Press.

A barnack was also burned together with 40 tons of hay, a carload of oats and beans and a quantity of corn. Two calves perished in the flames.

A remarkable coincidence connected with the fire is that it occurred just as the owner of the property was starting on his wedding tour, his bride being Miss Eva Osborn, whose home in Aberdeen, they had just left for a Pennsylvania train south. A few of the guests at the reception went in automobiles to the scene of the fire, which, owing to the favorable direction of the wind, did not reach the dwelling, a new and handsome structure.

Her body was discovered floating on the water by William McDermott, who had gone out duck-hunting. Mr. McDermott immediately notified the people at the city waterworks, and the body was taken from the river into the engine-room by Fireman Robert Reed. Reed states that the body was warm when he took it from the river.

Young Woman Shot.

The careless handling of a revolver by a young man named Charles Wetzel came near being the cause of a fatal accident at the residence of Dr. C. L. Stately, near Dennings, Carroll county. Young Wetzel was visiting a young woman named Lula Hooper who is employed in Dr. Stately's family, and was showing her the revolver, which he playfully furnished and at the same time said: "Take care; I will shoot you." To his horror the weapon was discharged and sent a bullet crashing into the young woman's head. Fortunately it did not penetrate the brain, though it inflicted a severe wound and for a day or two the injured girl was in a critical condition. She is now, however, reported as improving, with a fair prospect of her recovery. The bullet was extracted. The young people are said to be lovers. There seems to be no doubt that the shooting was accidental.

ANTE-MORTEM STATEMENT

Story of A Homicide As Told by The Victim.

The ante-mortem statement of James A. Whalen, of Cabin John Bridge neighborhood, who died in Georgetown University Hospital, Washington, Tuesday night, of last week after being shot by Deputy Sheriff William R. Embrey Monday night, was taken to Rockville Thursday and placed in the hands of State's Attorney Robert B. Peters. The substance of the statement is that Whalen and Embrey left the car at Cabin John Hotel on the night of the tragedy and walked along the road together in the direction of their homes; that they conversed in a friendly manner until Cabin John Hotel was reached, when Whalen invited Embrey to go into the hotel with him. Embrey declined the invitation and accused Whalen of being drunk. The latter replied: "I am not as drunk as you are." This led to words between the two men, and the quarrel continued as they walked along the road. Embrey finally threatened to shoot Whalen, and when asked by the latter his reason for wanting to harm him, replied by drawing his revolver and firing. Whalen admits in his statement that he had been drinking some, but denies that he attacked Embrey or even laid his hand on him. After the shooting Embrey said to the injured man: "I told you I'd shoot you, and I did." Immediately after the shooting, according to the statement, Embrey ran and did not return to assist Whalen. He did, however, notify a Mr. Benson, who lived near by, and the latter went to look after the injured man, finally finding him at the home of Mr. Frank Embrey, a relative of the deputy sheriff. Benson and Frank Embrey procured a conveyance and took Whalen to the electric car line and sent him to Washington. It is understood that Embrey has retained Mr. Edward C. Peters, of the local bar to defend him. Mr. Guy Bradley, of Washington, who was in Whalen's room when the dying statement was made, testified before the grand jury.—Sun.

TWO KILLED IN WRECK

Freight Train On B. & O. Crashes Into Rear Of Another.

An eastbound freight train on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad ran into the rear end of another freight train about one mile from Rawlings last Saturday morning. Brakeman C. V. Marks and Fireman "Jerry" Collins were killed and Engineer McNamania badly scalded. The engine was badly broken up and five cars derailed, blocking both tracks and closing traffic. One train had become stalled after pulling out of Keyser, and the other train ran into the rear. It is said the stalled train had not sent out a flagman. Engineer McNamania, it is thought will die from his scalds. He is at the Keyser Hospital. The body of Marks was taken to Cumberland. It was some hours before the wreckage was cleared. Both tracks were blocked. All three men were caught under the wreckage. It was several hours before the body of Marks was recovered.

Fracture of Leg Results Fatally.

Luke Carroll, aged 50 years, of Rock Creek, Md., who had his right leg fractured while unloading a wagon at Rock Creek November 9 died at St. Joseph's Hospital, Baltimore, Monday afternoon. Coroner Carothers, of the Northeastern district, rendered a verdict of death due to accident. Carroll was taken to Baltimore the day of the accident on the steamer Petrel, and was conveyed to the hospital in the Southern district ambulance. An effort was made to save the limb, but blood poison developed and an amputation was made necessary in an effort to save his life. Carroll was in the employ of Mr. August Jenkins. Peter Hoefing, aged 35 years, 125 South Durham street, Baltimore, who had his right leg cut off by a Orleans street car at the corner of Chase street and Patterson Park avenue November 12, died at St. Joseph's Hospital Monday morning. Death was due to congestion of the brain superinduced by Bright's disease, and not from blood poison, which was said to have followed the amputation of the limb. The body was removed to his late residence, from whence the funeral took place.

No Case of Pneumonia on Record.

We do not know of a single instance where a cough or cold resulted in pneumonia or consumption when Foley's Honey and Tar had been taken. It cures coughs and colds perfectly, so do not take chances with some unknown preparation which may contain opiates, which cause constipation, a condition that retards recovery from a cold. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. W. Tyson Lansing.

Trains were passing in opposite directions, and in escaping from one he was run down by the other.

CHURCH CENTENNIAL

Addresses By Cardinal Gibbons and Dr. McSweeney—The Pope's Blessing.

The one-hundredth anniversary of the founding of "The old Church on the Mountain," at Mt. St. Mary's College, near this place, was celebrated with imposing religious services on Sunday last. These services were held in St. Anthony's Church, the handsome new edifice at Mt. St. Mary's, and which was built during the pastorate of Rev. J. B. Manley, now of Washington, D. C. Rev. G. H. Traggesser is the present pastor of this church, which was tastefully and elaborately decorated for the occasion. A Cablegram from Pope Pius X, was as follows: "Our Holy Father, uniting with the faithful of Mt. St. Mary's, who are going to celebrate the centenary of their parish, blesses from his heart the clergy and people assembled to give thanks to our Lord."

"CARDINAL MERRY DEL VAL"

Address of Cardinal Gibbons.

The English translation of the cablegram was read by Cardinal Gibbons, who graced the occasion with his presence and who imparted the blessing in a solemn manner. "I cannot deny myself the pleasure," said his Eminence, after reading the cablegram, "to add a few words to the very appropriate remarks of Dr. McSweeney. I congratulate you all on this interesting event. On an occasion of this kind it behooves you to honor and reverence both your fathers in the faith and your fathers in the flesh for that venerable old church. When we consider their limited resources we can justly say that they were giants—men who were remarkable men. How much we should revere that old church and those who made it possible! Many of you were baptized and confirmed there, and there you partook of the other sacraments and there you laid to rest your forefathers.

To Remember College Days.

"Oh, you ought to remember those days and cherish the legacy of their faith! Not in speaking of those great men who ministered here—a DuBois, of a Beute, of a Flaunt and the others, should we forget to mention good Mother Seton and her band of noble companions. These men and women have sanctified this place and the mountains by their presence, and I can say with truth that you are indebted to the good fathers at Mount St. Mary's College for many blessings. These mountains have, so to speak, been a pillar of cloud by day and the college a pillar of fire by night, guiding you in the way you should go. "All of these memories would have faded if they were not kept alive by the great college of Mount St. Mary's and St. Joseph's Academy—those twin institutions which have kept alive the faith in this community. You are, indeed, the glory of Jerusalem, the joy of Israel and the honor of the people."

Impressive Services.

Bishop Allen, of Mobile, a former president of Mount St. Mary's and therefore a pastor of the old church, pontificated at 10:30 o'clock. The church was profusely decorated for the occasion and was crowded to its utmost limits by members of the parish and by many visitors from the surrounding country and distant points. While the celebration was held under the auspices of St. Anthony's parish, of which Rev. George H. Traggesser is pastor, Mount St. Mary's College, which up to the building of the new church had charge of the old parish, was represented by the president, Very Rev. Dr. D. J. Flynn; by the vice president, Rev. B. J. Bradley, and by Rev. Dr. E. F. X. McSweeney, who delivered the sermon.

Dr. Flynn served as archpriest at the mass. Rev. C. O. Rosensteel, of Brightwood, D. C., was deacon and Rev. C. E. Eckenrode, of Washington, was subdeacon.

Rev. Hugh J. Monaghan, of the Apostolic House, Washington, assisted by seminarians of Mount St. Mary's, was master of ceremonies. Rev. J. O. Hayden, C. M., of Emmitsburg, and Rev. J. P. McDermott, of Waynesboro, Pa., were deacons of honor to the Cardinal. Others in the sanctuary were: Very Rev. Thomas B. Donovan, superior of St. Joseph's Society, Baltimore; Rev. M. F. Foley, Baltimore; Rev. W. J. Kane, Frederick, Md.; Rev. Francis Doory, of Elkridge, Maryland.

Pontifical respers were sung in the evening by Bishop Allen, and Rev. M. F. Foley, of Baltimore, preached the sermon.

An Interesting History.

The old church is as gloriously situated as its history has been interesting. Built in the very mountain side, from it the view is one of surpassing loveliness, comprising in its extensive range the beautiful and fertile valley of the Monocacy and all of the country from Round Top and the battlefield of Gettysburg, in Pennsylvania, to Sugar Loaf Mountain, separated from Virginia only by the Potomac. Historically the church is one of the most interesting in the country, because of its founders and of the long and prominent line of churchmen and laymen who have worshipped within its venerable walls. These include the first American Cardinal, Most Rev. Dr. McClosky, of New York; archbishops, bishops and priests and laymen, who afterwards became Governors of States, Senators, Congressmen, Judges, lawyers, physicians, litterateurs, poets, scientists, artists, architects, merchants and manufacturers; a veritable host—men who love and revere the "old church on the hill," wether they climbed in the happy days of youth.

Tributes To Brute.

The early labors of Dr. Dubois in founding and ministering to the parish were shared by Rev. Simon Brute, the first Bishop of Vincennes. Archbishop Bayley, of Baltimore, in his life of this prelate, says: "It is no disparagement of those holy and eminent men who have adorned the annals of the Catholic Church in this country—a Carroll, a Chervus, a DuBois and a Flagot—to say that no one has ever exerted a more beneficial influence in favor of the Catholic religion than Bishop Brute, who has been styled "the Angel Guardian of the Month."

Dr. McSweeney preached from the text "The glory of children are their fathers" (Proverbs, xvii, 6). In part he said: "When the enemies of religious liberty repealed the generous act of toleration by which our Catholic forefathers had opened this land of the sanctuary to all Christians, the Catholics gradually moved into the interior of the country. This it was that in 1728 William Elder, an ancestor of your late beloved Archbishop Elder, struck for the West and for freedom. He stopped on this side of the Blue Ridge, however, and built his log house on the lovely site where the Zentz homestead now stands and where, according to tradition, mass was first said in this neighborhood. In 1741 Cincinnati was founded and successive Jesuits from there and from Frederick, then the largest town between Baltimore and St. Louis, visited our part of Frederick county until Father DuBois received this mission. He was one of those noble French missionaries sent by God to be the founders and fathers of the church in so many parts of America. They were magnificent specimens of the race, and the story of their zeal, their toils, their perseverance would take an archangel's pen fitly to recount. The eminent non-Catholic historians, Bancroft and Parkman, took up this theme and their pages are warm with admiration for the deeds of those heroes, while many a Catholic chronicler, such as Shea, Spalding, Webb, Aldering and Bayley, have striven to preserve for posterity their likeness shown in their apostolic lives.

Work Of Dubois.

"Father Dubois came from France in 1791 with letters from Lafayette to James Monroe, to the Randolphs, Lees, Deverleys and other Virginia families. He landed at Norfolk and at once conquered the respect and affection of those cavaliers who recognized and welcomed the polished Parisian gentleman and scholar, so much so that even in the bigoted dominion, which had so rigidly excluded the children of the church, he was allowed to say mass in the Capitol at Richmond itself. Patrick Henry gave him lessons in English and Father Dubois supported himself by teaching French. After doing mission work in various parts of Virginia and Maryland he came in 1794 to Frederick. In that year there were but 50 priests and but 1 bishop in the territory of the United States with its 30,000 Catholics. "Casting about for a site for a church in these parts, he selected a bluff on the Catoctin spur of the Blue Ridge Mountains. The farmers naturally objected to a place so high and inaccessible, but the resolute will of this ecclesiastical Napoleon, as they called him, prevailed, and on the 19th day of November, 1805, he himself struck the first blow into the first tree. "One hundred years have passed since that event took place, and we, with God's blessing, are together here today to recall it with gratitude and humble satisfaction. How many priests, nuns and laymen have administered and received the sacraments within the walls of Father Dubois' old church! How many other churches have been built by men who as boys and youths worshipped God within those holy walls! "Father Dubois started his little log college (Mount St. Mary's) October 6, 1808, and June 21, 1809, Mrs. Seton and her nine companions arrived from Baltimore. He cheered these noble women in their struggle, and was, in fact, the father of the Sisters of Charity, who now have 120 houses in this country. "In 1826 Father Dubois was made Bishop of New York, and Father Michel Egan became pastor of the church, which was enlarged about this time to double its capacity. "Another name prominent in the history of the old church is that of Father John McCaffrey, who was pastor for 44 years. He was a man among men—a counselor of bishops, who had twice refused the mitre. Father John McCloskey was connected with the church for 40 years. To name all would be to recall all the presidents of the college. The families who worshipped here were, among others, the Roddys, the Elders, the Shorbs, Henleys, Taylors, Rosensteels, Cretins, McNultyys, Kellys, Breinluns, Welyts, Livers and Tiers. "In 1895 the parish separated from the college, and two years later this pretty church was opened by the zealous Father John Manley. Although the college is no longer responsible for the parish it does, and always will, cherish and help it, for the college and parish are twins—the children of Dubois and Brute.

Held In Loving Memory.

"Though the old church must disappear from the landscape, the heartstrings of its lovers will cling around every beam and every stone. We toiled up that hill too often ever to forget or cease to love the old church. "Can anyone that has been present ever forget the services there—the 'Stabat Mater' in Holy Week, the 'Gloria to God' on a Christmas morning? "Who did not feel his heart burn within him at the charm of the Corpus Christi procession, or who has not felt near to God when on All Souls' Day we visited the sleeping place of the departed? "Indeed we cannot forget you, O venerable mountain church. "Sad will be the inevitable day, and may it be a distant one, when your consecrated walls will yield to the common fate! But you will rise again, while strangers from distant lands shall hear still more of your history and shall come as pilgrims to see and to pray at one of the spots made holy by the lives of the early apostles of the church in America."

Visitors To The Mountain.

Among the visitors from a distance were Chief Judge James McSherry, of the Court of Appeals; Mr. A. V. D. Waterson, of Pittsburg; Mr. and Mrs. William Shriver, Jr., Mr. John L. Shriver and the Misses Shriver, of Westminister; Mr. James Brannen, of Philadelphia; Dr. Maurice Lazenby, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Smelser, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Englar, of New Windsor; Rev. PARDON ASKED FOR.

Robert Keller, The Slayer Of Walker, Seeks Release.—Court News and Notes

Frederick, Nov. 22.—Robert Keller, formerly of Knoxville, this county, who was at the Peabody Term of the Circuit Court in February, 1897, convicted of killing a man named Walker at his (Keller's) saloon, near Knoxville, and who was sentenced to the penitentiary for 18 years, now seeks a pardon from Gov. Warfield. Keller is now 63 years of age and during his nearly nine years confinement has always been an exemplary prisoner. Hon. Wm. P. Maulsby, accompanied by James Keller, a brother of the convict, on Wednesday last, called upon Gov. Warfield, at Annapolis, and presented the petition for pardon, which has been signed by all the surviving jurors and many prominent citizens of the county. Keller has also promised never to re-enter the saloon business or take intoxicants, and his friends offer to give bond for his good behavior. Since his confinement his wife has died, leaving three young children without support. The Governor promised to give the petition careful consideration and will consult the State authorities before taking action.

Edward Kinny, of New Market, was given a hearing on Tuesday last before Judge Smith, of that place, upon a charge of unlawfully driving over a new road which had not yet been opened for travel. The evidence developed the fact that some one had removed the sign, also the obstructions placed at one end, and Mr. Kinny thinking the road open for travel entered it. He was discharged. The road in question is being built under the supervision of the Highway Bureau of the Maryland Geological Survey and lies between New Market and Monrovia.

Local Presbyterians on Sunday last celebrated in a fitting manner the 125th Anniversary of the founding of the local church. Rev. T. Freeman Dixon, pastor of the church, preached an historical sermon in the morning. At the afternoon and evening meetings special programs were rendered, including addresses by ministers of the other churches of the City, and prominent laymen. The church, while having a small membership, is in a very healthy condition financially and otherwise. The present pastor, Rev. Mr. Dixon, has, during his pastorate, brought about many improvements to the church property and the Congregation is practically free of debt.

G. B. Burhans, of Carlisle Center, N. It entirely stopped the brick dust sediment, and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommended Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble." Fell With Derrick Pole.

The rope which was holding the pole in position suddenly broke, causing it to fall. White was clinging to the heavy timber as it fell, and he was caught beneath it when it struck the ground. He was hurried to the Emergency Hospital, but died from his injuries an hour after the accident.

BEDDING FOR STABLES.

Sawdust or Shavings Ideal For the Comfort of the Dairy Cow.

It is not likely that sawdust is available in many localities, but where it can be procured it will cost about 1 cent per hundred pounds, which makes it a comparatively cheap bedding.

Practically all that can be said in favor of the sawdust is true of the shavings, and it is also quite dry. It is without the objectionable dust of straw and stover.

In the city markets rye straw sells for about twice as much as any other material intended for bedding.

SOUTH AMERICAN JAGUARS

The Only Animals That Will Purposefully Attack Alligators.

The most interesting thing about crocodiles and alligators, declares the author of "The Romance of the Animal World," is the way they get their food. This they do mostly and by preference in the water, but they have also a habit of lying in wait upon the mud of river banks until some animal approaches sufficiently near to be within their reach.

With a sudden swift rush the alligator is upon him, and seizing the body by the skin, which it holds puckered up between its front teeth, it shakes it furiously, as a terrier would a rat, and then half drags, half pushes, it before it as it crawls through the mud to the water's edge.

There is only one wild animal, says the author, that will purposefully attack an alligator, and that is the jaguar of South America. The jaguar springs on the back of the alligator and with all his might tears at the roots of the reptile's tail.

The fear of both these weapons may deter the jaguar from drawing the throat of the serpent, for were he to be shaken off in the latter struggles he would be more exposed to either than if he fell farther back.

DON'TS ON NAMES.

Don't name a girl Violet when her disposition may be that of a tiger lily. Don't hamper a boy with a name that will prove a heavy handicap in life.

Don't name a baby after a hero unless the hero has been dead several years.

Don't name a girl after a flower. Think of an old woman called Pansy or Daisy!

Don't take a fancy name on a kid. It makes him a target for his companions.

Don't name a child after a relative from whom you have "expectations." The relative may yet marry.

The Fox and the Hoop. A writer in Land and Water, an English publication, says: "Few would consider the fox an enemy of the rook and yet he is an inveterate foe whenever he gets a chance. It is doubtful if he would stick a tooth into a tough old rook if opportunity permitted it, but a young rook is a delicate reward much appreciated and which he often enjoys. If a rookery and a litter of cubs exist in the vicinity of each other, the vixen belonging to the latter spends most of her time during a rough night beneath the trees and busily carries the blown out nestlings to her youngsters."

You can't spend any time hating people if you want to go forward. After a man has worked hard to get a thing he has to fight hard to keep it. No one loves a crying baby, and the same is true of people who are grown up.

While your friends promise you big things, the "if" they put in the promise is bigger. All your troubles are exaggerated, including the uneasiness that conscience causes.

When friends urge you to come and see them "any time" it requires some figuring to find out just when that time is. Decisions after mature reflections are so often wrong that greater respect should be paid the decisions of a penny coming down heads or tails.—Acheson Globe.

Old Time Football.

Football has never been a very gentle game, to judge from what Master Stubbs says about it in his "Anatomy of Abuses," published in 1583: "For, as concerning football playing, I protest unto you it may rather be called a friendly kind of fight than a play of recreation, a bloody and murdering practice than a sport or pastime, for doth not every one lye in wait for his adversary, seeking to overthrow him and to picke him on his nose, though it be on hard stones, so that by this means sometimes their necks are broken, sometimes their backs, sometimes their legs, sometimes their armes, sometimes one part thrust out of joynt, sometimes one part with blood, sometimes their eyes start out."

All Wabblly in Their Walk.

"Nobody in New York walks straight," said the gray-headed citizen of the metropolis. "Watch a score of pedestrians on the sidewalk, and not one of them sticks to a straight path. Those deviations are not always due to the crowded condition of the pavement either. During the rush hours a man is supposed to dodge this way and that in his efforts to make progress, but when given a clear road there is no excuse for so much sidetracking. Yet no matter how favorable the conditions the New Yorker zigzags just the same. He might have a stretch of sidewalk a block long all to himself and be perfectly sober, yet in that distance he would veer from curb to stoop line and back again several times."

The Singers.

"You opera singers are all jealous, aren't you?" quizzed the friend of the prima donna. "Oh, no," replied the prima donna, "lots of us never sang in church choirs."—Philadelphia Record.
