

SAN FRANCISCO IN RUINS.

Several Hundred People Killed And Thousands Injured By Terrible Earthquake And Fire.

Earthquake and fire Wednesday caused the greatest calamity California has ever known. In San Francisco alone it is estimated that at least 500 persons have perished, while over 1,000 are suffering from injuries. The entire business portion of the city is in ruins, and the flames which, owing to the lack of water, cannot be checked except by the blowing up with dynamite of buildings in their path, are still sweeping through the city.

The property loss in San Francisco alone is estimated at $80,000,000 to $100,000,000. The losses in other California cities will aggregate $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 additional.

A hundred thousand people are homeless, and many are huddled in the parks and public square beside their household goods they were able to save.

The city is under martial law, and all the downtown streets are patrolled by cavalry and infantry.

Details of troops are also guarding the banks.

Most of the principal buildings have already been destroyed and others are in imminent danger. Over all the scene of desolation hangs a dense pall of smoke.

Communication with outside towns is almost entirely cut off, but the report comes from Palo Alto that a number of the buildings of the Stanford University have been wrecked, and that the splendid memorial church, one of the finest structures of its kind in the world, is a mass of ruins. One student is known to have lost his life. In Oakland five persons were killed. San Jose and Sacramento, Berkeley, Alameda and other places heard from suffered severely, but report no loss of life.

The dreadful earthquake shock came without warning at precisely 5:13 o'clock Wednesday morning its motion, apparently, being from east to west. At first the upheaval of the earth was gradual, but in a few seconds it increased in intensity. Chimneys began to fall and buildings to crack, tottering on their foundations.

The people became panic-stricken and rushed out into the streets, the most of them in their night attire. They were met by showers of falling buildings, bricks, cornices and walls.

Many were instantly crushed to death, while others were dreadfully mangled. Those who remained indoors generally escaped with their lives, though scores were hit by detached plaster, pictures and articles thrown to the floor by the shock. It is believed that more or less loss sustained by nearly every family in the city.

The tall steel-frame structures stood the strain better than brick buildings, few of them being badly damaged. The big 11-story Monadnock office building, in course of construction, adjoining the Palace Hotel, was an exception, however, its rear wall collapsing and many cracks being made across its front. Some of the docks and freight sheds along the water front slid into the bay. Deep fissures opened in the filled in ground near the shore and the Union Ferry depot was injured. Its high tower still stands, but will have to be torn down.

A portion of the new city hall, which cost over $7,000,000, collapsed, the roof sliding into the courtyard and smaller towers tumbling down. The great dome was moved, but did not fall.

The new postoffice, one of the finest in the United States, was badly shattered. The Valencia Hotel, a four-story building, sank into the basement, a pile of splintered timbers, under which were pinned many dead and dying occupants of the house. The basement was full of water, and some of the helpless victims were drowned.

Scarcely had the earth ceased to shake when fires broke out simultaneously in many places. The fire department promptly responded to the first calls for aid, but it was found that the water mains had been rendered useless by the underground movement. Fanned by a light breeze, the flames quickly spread and soon many blocks were seen to be doomed. Then dynamite was resorted to, and the sound of frequent explosions added to the terror of the people.

All efforts to stay the progress of the flames, however, proved futile. The south side of Market street, from Ninth street to the bay, was soon ablaze, the fire covering a belt two blocks wide. On this, the main thoroughfare of the city, are located many of the finest edifices in the city, including the Grant, Parrott Flood, Call, Examiner and Monadnock Buildings, the Palace and Grand Hotels, and numerous wholesale houses.

At the same time the commercial establishments and banks north of Market street were burning. The burning district in this section of the city extended from Sansome street to the water front, and from Market street to Broadway. Fires also broke out in the Mission, and the entire city seemed to be in flames.

The flames, fanned by the rising breeze, swept down the main streets until within a few hundred feet of the ferry depot, the high tower of which stood at a dangerous angle. The big wholesale grocery establishment of Weelman, Peck & Co., was on fire from cellar to roof, and the heat was so oppressive that passengers from the ferryboats were obliged to keep close to the water's edge in order to get past the burning structure.

It was impossible to reach the center of the city from the bay without skirting the shore for a long distance, so as to get entirely around the burning district. At 8 o'clock the Southern Pacific officials refused to allow any more passengers from transbay points to land, and sent back those already on the boats. The ferry and train service of the Key Route was entirely abandoned owing to damage done to the power house by the earthquake at Emeryville.

A thousand men from the Presidio were hurried down town to patrol the city streets. The Thirtieth Infantry, 1,000 strong, arrived from Angel Island a little later, and went on patrol duty. The soldiers have been ordered to shoot down thieves caught in the act of robbing the dead, and to guard with their lives the millions of dollars worth of property which has been placed in the streets that it might escape the ravages of the flames.

The First California Artillery, 200 strong, two companies, have been detailed to patrol duty on Ellis street. Two more companies are patrolling Broadway in the Italian section.

Mayor Schmitz, who has established his office at police headquarters, has named a committee of safety, comprising many prominent citizens.

Mayor Schmitz sent out word to the bakeries and milk stations throughout the city that their food supplies must be harbored for the homeless. Tents have been placed in every park in the city, and those who have lost their homes will be given food and shelter.

All efforts to prevent the fire from reaching the Palace and Grand Hotels were unsuccessful, and both were completely destroyed, together with all their contents.

All of San Francisco's best playhouses, including Majestic, Columbia, Orpheum and Grand Opera House are a mass of ruins. The earthquake demolished them for all practical purposes and the fire completed the work of demolition. The handsome Rialto and Casserly buildings were burned to the ground, as was everything in that district.

The Postal and Western Union buildings and the magnificent new Trust Company building, 11 stories high, have been dynamited.

The Parrott Building, in which were located the chambers of the State Supreme Court, the lower floors being devoted to an immense department store, was ruined, though its massive walls were not all destroyed. A little further down Market street the Academy of Sciences, the Jennie Flood Building and the History Building kindled and burned like so much tinder. Sparks carried across the wide street ignited the Phelan Buildings and the Army headquarters of California, General Funston commanding, were burned.

The entire district surrounded by Vallejo, Howard, East and Sansome streets, embracing practically the entire wholesale portion of the city, has been swept clean by the fire.

Commissioner E. Myron Wolf announced at noon that the 80-odd fire insurance companies interested had decided to pay dollar for dollar to everyone insured with them. The companies will not discriminate between fire and earthquake, and everyone insured will be paid to the extent of the loss. Only two of the companies affected are Pacific Coast concerns, the others having principal offices in the East or in Europe, and will stand the loss without danger of failure.—Baltimore American.

Died After Month in Prison.

John Slifer, aged 71 years, who was convicted of murder in the second degree in Hagerstown and sentenced to eight years in the Maryland Penitentiary, died in that institution about 7 o'clock last Friday night of Bright's disease. Slifer had not been in the penitentiary quite a month, having been received March 17 last. When he came in he was suffering from the disease, and his condition was such that he could not do any work. The crime for which Slifer was convicted was the murder of Jacob Poffenberger. The two were farmers and lived on adjoining farms. They became involved in a dispute over the ownership of a small strip of land, which broke up a friendship of years standing. One day Poffenberger went to Slifer's house and the two had a fight, in which Slifer rushed into his house, and getting a gun, shot his opponent.

Old Hostelry Burned.

The dwelling of Vitalis B. Wertz, on Dry Ridge, a few miles north of Flintstone, burned Tuesday, as did the old store building adjoining, which was away from the other buildings. Wertz was away from home at the time. The house destroyed was the old Wertz mansion, built in 1812, and was a well-known hotel and stopping place for drovers and others before the era of the railroad. Nothing was saved.

GOOD PROMOTERS.

They Must Possess the Power of Inspiring Confidence.

A story is told about a young fellow who applied at a big banking establishment for a position and who upon being told that all the clerks were filled said quite confidentially, "I've never worked at the promoting business, but can't you send me to some friend of yours who needs a promoter?" Strange indeed it is that almost every one of the successful promoters of the present day is a man who went into the exceedingly difficult work with scarcely more preparation than had gone the venturesome youth of this year.

Gifted with good address, control of the English language, fluency of speech and determination, a man who embarks in the field has in his possession the qualities that have made many promoters rich and powerful. Many of them were lawyers to begin with. Others were life insurance agents. One or two sold stock in a small way. Gradually each of these men came to see that carrying out a new way for himself would give him a wider and more substantial future. And then at that moment the promoter was born.

But whether these promoters have won their spurs by organizing big concerns or corporations or by selling those already in the field there is not one of them but will tell you that most of his success was due to his power to inspire confidence. A promoter that can't make "the other fellow" believe in him and in his proposition might better be cleaning the streets. He never will succeed.

The successful promoter must be able not only to look men in the eye, but he must also be able to face the most discouraging circumstances and fight his way through them. "Fall" is a word the meaning of which he must never learn. And the rewards? They range from millions to a fee of $7 that was once paid to a promoter who successfully promoted the amalgamation of two competing woodlacking establishments.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Where Circulation Is Feeblest.

Those who lead a sedentary life find the circulation feeblest about the nose, lips and temples, and those parts of the face should be energetically kneaded several times a day. When the pores become distended the fine, invisible dust in the air enters and clogs and blackens them. Mere ordinary face washing, even when warm water and soap are used, is not sufficient to remove the dirt in the pores, but the vigorous acid of the lemon will cleanse and carry off all such unsightly blemishes.

Care of the Feet.

The feet should be bathed at night, and this treatment is an excellent sleep producer. The water should be salted. The feet should be scrubbed all over with a nailbrush, which will often prevent the formation of corns, while hard spots on the soles may be reduced with a piece of fine emery paper or fine file before the feet are placed in water.

Not Evenly Matched.

"Have you anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon you?" asked the judge. "Nothing, your honor, except that I hope you will make allowances for the fact that the lawyer who convicted me had a louder voice than the one who defended me."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Flowers.

The instinctive and universal taste of mankind selects flowers for the expression of its finest sympathies, their beauty and their fragrant serving to make them the most fitting symbols of those delicate sentiments for which language itself seems almost too gross a medium.—Hilary.

Killed in An Instant.

Norfolk, Va., April 13.—Thomas Jones, lineman for the Norfolk Railway and Light Company, met death strangely and suddenly this evening. He was in the local yard of the Norfolk and Western railroad stirring an electric-light wire. With this in hand he stepped upon a steel rail on the track and fell dead as suddenly as if struck by lightning.

Coroner Knight, who examined his body, found a scorched spot upon the hand that held the wire and another one upon the sole of the foot. Further examination revealed the fact that Jones had an iron brad in the sole of his shoe. The outer end of this touched the steel rail, the inner one his flesh. That formed the connection over which the high voltage passed through him which shocked him to death.

Was Broken On Wheel.

David A. Guyer, 50 years old, was killed in a horrible manner in Northern Rockingham, Va., Monday morning. Accompanied by his young son, he was driving a colt through a wood road, when the animal became frightened and ran over a stump. Mr. Guyer was thrown out of the vehicle and his head caught between the spokes of the wheel.

He was whirled around for a distance of fifteen or twenty feet before he was extricated, and died before a physician could reach him. His skull was fractured. He leaves a widow and 10 children.

Gnats Killing Live Stock.

A special dispatch from Jackson, Mississippi, says gnats are killing live stock in large numbers in the delta counties of Mississippi. Instances are reported where horses have died within an hour after being stung by the gnats.

Two negroes accused of assaulting a white girl and a third charged with murder were taken from jail at Springfield, Mo., to the public square, hanged from an electric-light tower and burned.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

After making a bequest of $4,000 for the Board of Foreign Missions and several other minor bequests the will provides that two dwellings on East Market street and all the rest of the decedent's property are to be applied to the fund for the proposed home for crippled children. The estate is valued at about $75,000.

FIRE AT FREDERICK.

Dwelling House Badly Damaged.—Lady Became Sick Through Excitement. [Special to The Chronicle.]

Frederick, April 18.—Fire this afternoon almost totally destroyed the dwelling house and contents owned and occupied by Luther F. Stone, a well-known ex-policeman. The house is situated on East Church street, extended, near the gas house. Some of the furniture on the first floor was saved, but everything was badly damaged by water, as the fire was burning too fiercely when the fire department reached the neighborhood to use the chemical apparatus. The residence owned and occupied by John H. Holdcraft on the west side, was also on fire, but little water was thrown in that dwelling. Only the brick walls and the floors are not injured. The rest of the building will have to be repaired. The property is partly insured and the loss will be about $1,000. Damage to the Holdcraft property will not exceed $200. The fire is said to have been caused by sparks from burning brush in a neglected cemetery situated on Wisner and East Church Streets. Mrs. Loyne, the mother-in-law of Wm. H. Mehrling, who lives next to the east of the burning building, got very excited and at this writing is very sick with with heart trouble.

A Little Child Drowned.

Harry Bowser, 5-year-old son of Isaiah Bowser, tenant on Emmanuel Martin's farm, was drowned in Little Antietam creek Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock near Mills, Washington county. The boy attempted to cross the stream which is 20 feet wide on a foot log, opposite his father's house to join his father, who was fishing a mile down stream. The child's older sister, Nellie Bowser, saw him start across the log and when she looked again he had disappeared. She notified her mother, and in a short time 50 men were dragging the stream. The body was found down stream half a mile, lodged against a tree trunk in the fork of the stream. The stream was about four feet deep where the boy fell in and had been swollen from late rains.

The damage suit of Sarah Alice Pinches against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for the death of her husband on a crossing has been removed from Cumberland to Washington county for trial.

A MIX UP SOMEWHERE

Bills Sent Out For Publication Which Have Not Been Signed.

Governor Warfield's attention was Monday called to the fact that certain bills, which had never reached him or which he had vetoed, had, notwithstanding that action, been sent out for publication. Among these was the Brunswick Local Option bill, which never reached the Governor, it having been killed in the Senate. Others which have been brought to his attention is a bill prohibiting the sale of liquor in Election district No. 5 of Garrett county, which the Governor vetoed, and a bill regulating fishing in the waters of Frederick county, which did not receive his approval.

These were all House bills, and the Governor is not responsible in any way for the action of the chief clerk of the House in sending out such local bills for publication. As Mr. Percy is charged with the duty of sending out these laws for publication, the responsibility rests entirely with him, the Governor having no way of knowing what is being done in the matter. The only bills with which the Governor has anything to do are those which actually become laws copies of these are required under the law to be made in the office of the Governor, under the supervision of the Secretary of State.—Sun.

PRAKER CONFESSES

William O. Fraker, a Cumberland Valley Railroad engineer, who was arrested at Chambersburg on the charge of stealing a satchel containing $3,500 worth of jewelry on a train between Harrisburg and Hagerstown from Jeweler Lewis C. Reiser, of Lancaster, Thursday night, of last week, confessed he took the satchel.

Fraker was seen leaving the car with Reiser's satchel by Edward Shertz, of Waynesboro. Fraker had been sitting several seats from Reiser, who left his seat for a few minutes. Fraker then picked up the satchel and left the car at Oakville. Shertz informed Reiser of Fraker leaving the train and Reiser, upon his arrival, notified the officers, who learned that Fraker had gotten off at Oakville, walked to Shippensburg and there boarded another train. He was arrested when he stepped off the train at Chambersburg. At first he denied any knowledge of the robbery.

At the jail in the presence of eight witnesses, he confessed he had taken the satchel. When he got off at Oakville he filled his pockets with jewelry and hid the satchel, containing the remainder of the jewelry, in a pile of crosses near the station. Two boys found the satchel where he had put it and turned it over to the railroad agent at Oakville.

Fraker said he afterward threw away the jewelry he had secreted on his person. None of this has been recovered. Reiser said his loss was $1,815.

The jewelry consisted chiefly of pins and emblems of the Order of Elks and other secret societies. Reiser is a prominent Elk.—Sun.

SAVED BY CORSET STEEL.

Mrs. Sarah Smith Has Narrow Escape From Death.

Mrs. Sarah Smith of 241 South Wolfe street, Baltimore, probably owes her life to a corset steel, which Sunday deflected a bullet from a 38-calibre revolver aimed almost directly at her heart.

Mrs. Smith has in her employ a small colored boy, Alvin Clark, whom she took to Baltimore with her from the South some years ago. Sunday night the boy was toying with a revolver, when it was discharged, the bullet striking Mrs. Smith who was standing only a few feet away, in the left side just below the heart. The shock knocked Mrs. Smith down, and it was at first thought that she had been mortally wounded. A physician was summoned, and for a time the greatest excitement prevailed. An investigation revealed the fact that the injury sustained by Mrs. Smith was nothing more than a flesh wound. The marks on the woman's corset showed that the bullet had struck her just below the heart, but that it had been diverted by the steel and had merely grazed her body.

FIND OLD HOME BURNED

The home of Judge G. Smith Norris, about a mile from Belair, was burned about midnight on Monday. The flames were discovered by a negro man who lives in a nearby tenant house. Mr. Norris has been spending the winter with his son-in-law, Mr. S. W. Bradford, in Belair, and there was no one in the house except a little colored boy sleeping in the kitchen, who barely escaped with his life. The two negroes tried to put out the fire, but it was beyond control. Judge Norris and Mr. Bradford responded to the call, but when they arrived the house was destroyed. There is no clue as the origin of the fire, as there had been no fire in the house for several days. Judge Norris was preparing to move his family there Tuesday, and the place was being cleaned up.

The frame part of the house was built in 1740 and made brick present to John Norris, great-grandfather of Judge Norris, and Susanna Bradford, the daughter of the great-grandfather of Mr. Bradford. The property was originally patented by Thomas white, from whom it was purchased by Mr. Norris's ancestors, four generations of whom have been born and reared within its walls. The old Belair road to Baltimore at one time lay within a few feet of its front door. The stone part of the building was erected by Mr. Alexander Norris in 1821.

The loss is one that is hard to reckon in dollars and cents, as the house contained many old things on which no value can be placed. Among these were a number of pieces of antique furniture, a desk presented to Susanna Norris by her father, who, together with her brother, was a signer of the Harford Declaration. A great many priceless papers were also burned. A water color painting of the battle of North Point which was given by the artist, Thomas Ruckel, to Thomas Kell, grandfather of Mr. S. W. Bradford, was also destroyed. The insurance, $3,500, was in the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Harford county and will not replace the dwelling.

Judge Norris for two terms occupied the position of Register of Wills, and is at present deputy under Judge Hugh T. Bay.

TO FUMIGATE MONEY

Pennsylvania Health Commission Appeal To Bankers.

Bankers of Pennsylvania will at once get ready to fumigate all money that passes through their hands. State Health Commissioner Samuel G. Dixon will call upon bank officials throughout Pennsylvania to assist him to check the spread of disease by taking the precaution to fumigate the money before it passes out of the Bank's hands.

Dr. Dixon has found disease-producing germs on filthy paper money in circulation and says that undoubtedly many cases of disease throughout the State must be traceable to infected money.

He has prepared the following circular letter to be sent to every bank in the State, which he believes will not only prevent infection but be of direct benefit to the institution itself as a business proposition.

"As the germs of disease are found in money in circulation, the department of health respectfully suggests and requests that you co-operate with it in the protection of our people by fumigating all money received by your bank before it is again put in circulation. Such a precautionary measure, I am confident, will avoid many cases of sickness and death in your community."

"The disinfection of money may be accomplished by spraying with a formaldehyde solution or exposing to the fumes of formaldehyde gas."

Dr. Dixon's attention was called to the importance of washing and disinfecting money through the action of a bank in the custom part of the State, which invariably fumigates all of the paper money that passes through its hands, thus insuring immunity from disease germs. This was a pretty good idea, and led the health commissioner to send out the above circular. Another bank in the western part of the State gives a bath to the dirty paper money that it receives. It places notes in a basin of clean water, and in a short time the accumulated filth scales off and the note, after being dried, becomes crisp and clear as if just issued from the printing press.

PEARRE AND DAWSON

Struggle For Control Of Montgomery County Convention

The contest between Col. George A. Pearre and Mr. Thos. Dawson for the control of Montgomery's delegation to the Republican Congressional nominating convention, which had apparently, by common consent, been allowed to sleep for a few weeks, is again becoming somewhat lively. The friends of both aspirants appear to be confident as to the result in the county, each side claiming the advantage, but the fact that the adherents of both gentlemen are preparing for a battle royal is taken to mean that neither feels easy as to the outcome.

There are indications that a large amount of money will be used in the fight and this may determine the complexion of the delegation. It was thought that there would be no fight put up by the Pearre people in Rockville district, Mr. Dawson's home, but it now appears that there will be a contest. Mr. Harry A. Dawson, a nephew of Candidate Dawson, has allied himself with the Pearre forces and is industriously at work against his uncle. He is being aided in his fight by Postmaster James Veirs, and these gentlemen are claiming that they will carry the district. Mr. Dawson and his friends, however, consider the fight being put up by the opposition in Rockville in the nature of a joke and express themselves as confident that the district will give even a larger majority against the Pearre forces than it did in the fight for the control of the party organization last summer, when the Pearre ticket was snowed under.—Frederick News.

CLAIMED TO BE ILLEGAL.

Reassessment of Property in Frederick City Held Up.—Assessors Quit Work.—In The Courts.—Notes.

Frederick, April 18.—After doing considerable work connected with the proposed assessment of Frederick City property, the assessors on Tuesday last were ordered by the Mayor to quit work pending further action of the Board of Aldermen. Many persons are opposed to the assessment measure, which opposition does not come from "tax dodgers," but from citizens who do not believe this action of the City Fathers was at present necessary and that the expense would prove greater than the gain. It is said that Chief Justice McSherry of the Maryland Court of Appeals in a conversation had with Mayor Smith and City Attorney Levy pointed out several flaws in the Act, of so serious a nature that the city will abandon the work. The assessors have no power to administer oaths and the returns given by citizens could be put at any figure to suit the latter. The matter will be taken up at once and laid before the Board of Aldermen on Wednesday evening.
