Homeless people are fed in a syswhere the boatloads of provisions docked, there was an endless procession of carts and drays carrying food to the scores of sub-stations established throughout the city and the parks. At these stations food and drink, comprising bread, prepared meats and canned goods, milk and a limited amount of hot coffee and even fruit were served to all those who applied. About 1500 tons of provisions are moved daily from the water front.

Large supplies of blankets, tentings supplied, are reaching the supply stacompleted at several points, and in grave danger.
