ANTI--ALCOHOL

Temperance Movement Abroad

THE LAW IN FINLAND

Liberalism in Europe Is Not Very Tolerant

Complaints of American Puritanism And Fanaticism in Contrast With European Laxity Not Well Founded.—Remarkable Legislation.

It is not only South of Mason and Dixon's line nor only in the United States that prohibition and other forms of temperance work are being pushed. The countries of the Old World, or some of them, are feeling the same impulse, and are making or proposing some extraordinary measures for the abatement of the drinking evil. The Prussian Minister of Justice is leading a movement for the abolition of compulsory beer drinking among university students, and even to discourage voluntary guzzling, while a formidable petition has been presented to the government for the separation of sober and drunken persons on railroad trains by the use of special cars, though there seems to be some uncertainty whether the cars should be reserved for those who are sober or for those who are tipsy.

Up in Finland the most remarkable anti-alcoholic legislation of all has actually been enacted and now awaits the Grand Duke's approval, which it may not receive. This amazing measure not only forbids all manufacture or sale of spirits, beer and wine, but it prohibits any traffic in alcohol of any kind, save through a strict government monopoly. Churches are forbidden, under heavy penalties, to use wine in the communion service. The police and other officials are authorized, without special warrant and on mere suspicion, to enter and search any house for liquors. Any ship entering Finnish waters with a cargo consisting largely of alcoholic liquors will be seized and confiscated. All the breweries, distilleries and liquor stores and shops in the country must at once go out of business, without compensation.

These things at least serve to emphasize the point which we have frequently made in these columns, that complaints of puritanism and fanaticism in this country as contrasted with the liberalism of Europe are not altogether well founded. More than one European country is taking even more advanced ground in temperance reform than has been proposed here. We cannot recall any American prohibition law as stringent as that which Finland is seeking to establish. When in one of our states it was discovered that through inadvertence the law was so drawn as possibly to prevent the use of wine at the communion services of churches it was quickly and generally conceded that an amendment must be made so that there would be no interference with worship. But in Finland the clause expressly banishing wine from the communion table was purposely inserted into the bill. The interference with "personal liberty" in sumptuary matters is far more marked in several European countries than it is here. The merits of some of our temperance legislation may be open to discussion; but at least it cannot be truthfully maintained that this country or any part of it is alone or unique or even extremely advanced in meddling with man's supposed right to get drunk.—New York Tribune.

LIST OF FOOTBALL VICTIMS.

Eleven Deaths and Ninety-Eight Injured During This Season.—Two College Players Killed.

The record for the season, as compiled by someone in Chicago, of injuries and fatalities due to football shows eleven deaths and ninety-eight injuries, more or less serious.

Of the fatalities this season nine were members of high school and independent teams, while two were college players.

College players lead in the total of those injured, with fifty-one hurt, and the high schools come next, with twenty-four.

HIGH PRICE OF PEACE

What It Costs People Of Germany and England

BURDEN THE PEASANT BEARS.

Hague Conference Has Helped Very Little.—The Life of Battleships Limited to Twenty Years.—What May Happen in Bad Times.

Permanent peace is not in sight, the Hague Conference notwithstanding. Here is what the New York Post has to say of the recent action of several European countries:

The British and German naval programmes, coming on top of the Hague Conference, are discouraging reading. England is to have twelve great vessels by the end of the next two years, all of the Dreadnought type; and is to build at once the costly new docks required by these monsters. Germany is to have in service or under construction nine Dreadnoughts by 1913 and seventeen by 1919, at the staggering cost, together with submarines and other boats, of $17,500,000 a year more than has heretofore been expended for the naval programme. In addition, the life of a battleship is to be made, by statute, only twenty years, after which the people from which these vast sums have been wrung will have nothing to show for their money. One wonders, indeed, how much further the Government can burden the taxpayer before there is a revolt. The German peasant has carried a soldier on his back for years; now he is carrying a sailor as well; and, in addition to that, the price of all necessities of life rises by order of the agrarians and the protectionists. Meanwhile social legislation languishes, and the taxpayer is not even given a broader ballot, or any other administrative reforms, to keep him in good humor. This is all very well in good times and during the continuance of Germany's marvelous industrial development. But when bad times set in, and the people feel the crushing effect of their Imperialistic burdens, a day of reckoning may easily come to hand.

MT. ST. MARY'S LOSES.

Dickinson Wins Football Game by Score 18 to 0.

PLAYED IN A DRIZZLING RAIN.

Locals Handle Short Forward Pass Admirably.—Mountaineers Outweighed by Opponents.—Twenty-five Minute Halves Played.

Last Saturday our local collegians meet defeat at the hands of Dickinson College at Carlisle in a game of football to the tune of 18-0. Mount St. Mary's put up a good game but her opponents were too strong for the boys from the Mountain.

The following account of the game is taken from a dispatch from Carlisle dated Nov. 23, to the Philadelphia Press: Dickinson eleven defeated the Mount Saint Mary's team here this afternoon by a score of 18 to 0. The first half ended 12 to 0.

Mount Saint Mary's captain won the toss and Dickinson kicked off. From start to finish the Carlisle team had the visitors outclassed, although the strangers put up a strong article of football. Dickinson slightly outweighed its opponents. Dickinson's captain, Parvis, was not in the game and his place was filled by Jackson. Harry captained the Red and White creditably and played a stiff game. The visitors handled a short forward pass admirably. The game was well attended, notwithstanding a drizzling rain, which prevailed from the start to finish. The line-up follows:—

Dickinson.	Positions	M. S. M.
Long	left guard	Middletown
Bailey	center	Christy
Fry	right guard	Daily
Jackson	right tackle	Flannegan
McWhinney	right end	O'Brien
Curran	quarter-back	E. Kelly
Otto	right half-back	D. Kelly
Boyd	full-back	McHugh

Referee, Harris, Harrisburg. Umpire Smith, Bucknell. Touchdowns, Otto 2, Barrett. Goals from touchdowns, Fry 3. Time of halves, 25 minutes each.

A NEW KIND OF PATRIOTISM

Was Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou Unfaithful to His Trust?

DID HE UNDERSTAND MEANING OF HIS ACTS

The Government's Aid To Bankers Last Week In The Crisis Discussed And Explained

A SETTING DOWN OF PLAIN FACTS AND SOME SIMPLE ARITHMETIC

Philadelphia North American Says Cortelyou's Act Smells to Heaven, Is Too Rank For Tolerance.—Bankers Bribed to do Nothing More nor Less Than Their Simple Duty.—"Thirty-Six Per Cent. Patriotism" Evincing by Our Loyal Bankers.—No Explanation from President Roosevelt Will Save Him From Censure.—Morgan did not Appoint Cortelyou.

The proposition made public by Secretary Cortelyou, Friday night, is for the banks of the country to make a payment into the national treasury of $25,000,000, in cash, and a deposit of securities amounting to $75,000,000. These securities are to be given only as a pledge. The title to them will remain vested in the banks. The income from them will go to the banks.

For the $25,000,000 payment, Secretary Cortelyou agrees to turn over to the banks $100,000,000 of debt certificates, upon which the government is pledged to pay to the banks 3 per cent. interest, or $3,000,000.

Secretary Cortelyou next will receive these debt certificates back from the banks, and hold them as security for the issue of $100,000,000 of national banknote currency, which the bankers will loan to customers at present rates, of from 6 to 10 per cent. Figured at the legal rate, the banks thus will receive a profit of 6 per cent. on this currency, or $6,000,000.

Therefore, the banks, upon a payment of $25,000,000, will receive under the Cortelyou plan 3 per cent. interest on the debt certificates and at least 6 per cent. on the currency, a total of $9,000,000. This profit of $9,000,000 on an investment of $25,000,000 yields a profit of 36 per cent.

This computation, however, is based upon the assumption that the $25,000,000 to be paid by the banks is the banks' own money. As a matter of fact, the money is the government's, as the banks now hold nearly $250,000,000 of government deposits, upon which they pay not one cent of interest.

While manufacturers, merchants and all business men were taxed, annoyed and hurt, all these classes submitted uncomplainingly to embarrassment and loss for the sake of the general welfare. But the national banks, in cold blood, preyed upon the public misfortune by refusing to take out circulation, because they could make larger profits on the money of the people deposited with them in other ways than by buying the bonds needed for banknote issues.

The sole feature of the Cortelyou plan for which commendation conceivably can be asked is that these banks will be induced to take out one-half as much extra currency as they are entitled to issue.

WAR ON CONSUMPTION

Twenty Dispensaries Opened In Pennsylvania

THEIR MANNER OF TREATMENT

Tubercular Patients Taught to Treat Themselves and Instruction is Given Them in Their Homes by Trained Assistants.

Large numbers of tuberculosis victims are taking advantage of the treatment offered by the State of Pennsylvania. Twenty dispensaries have been established.

These dispensaries will be most effective agencies for wiping out consumption in Pennsylvania. For, although the needs of the victim of tuberculosis are the first care of the physician in charge and his staff of assistants, this is but the opening gun in the battle against the disease in the locality in which this particular victim lies.

After the dispensary patient has been provided with proper treatment and proper food and given through instructions in the personal care he must take of himself, a trained nurse follows the patient to his home. There the instruction is continued, and every member of the household is made to understand how necessary it is to observe certain strict precautions if the disease is to be kept from spreading in the home.

A single ton of steel will make about 10,000 gross of steel pens.

FOREIGNERS LEAVING

Exodus of Laborers from Vicinity of Pittsburgh

AMERICAN LABOR IS EMPLOYED

These Foreigners are Taking Over a Million Dollars With Them.—Merchants Are Glad of the Move to Employ Americans Only.

Figures furnished by the Pennsylvania Railroad as to tickets sold from Pittsburgh to foreign countries show that 10,000 foreigners will return home this month. On the Baltimore & Ohio half that many have taken out tickets. With these men goes $1,500,000, according to local banks.

Hundreds of Italians, Poles and Hungarians quit jobs to start home as soon as there was an inkling of money trouble and thousands of others were laid off when business slackened, but a great many are taking the homeward trip because of the new attitude on the labor question taken by men who conduct the big industries about Pittsburgh.

Corporations are replacing foreign labor with American labor as rapidly as possible. Years of experience, they declare, has proved that one American at 25 cents a day more than is paid to a foreigner is worth two foreigners. American labor will be employed hereafter in preference to the foreigner. Heretofore foreigners have been employed by thousands, sometimes occupying whole towns to the exclusion of Americans, having their newspapers and electing officials of their own kind. Some towns about the big coal mines and steel mills have been as Italian as any town in Italy. The experiment of dropping the foreigners has been a success in the works of the United States Steel Corporation, and the Shelby Steel Tube Company at Greenville, employing 2000 foreign laborers, discharged all the foreigners and substituted Americans last week. Merchants are pleased with the new order of things, for it means more business and will stop the sending abroad of millions each year.

CONCERNING FOOTBALL

An Opinion Of Merits Of The New Rules

ARE A NOTABLE IMPROVEMENT

The Use of Brains Instead of Brawn And the Ingenuity Displayed by Players is Pleasing to Spectators.—Fewer Injuries.

That the present football season has been a notable improvement upon its predecessors no observer can deny. Primarily, there have been fewer injuries than for years. Such casualties have been reported have been mostly among the players upon "scrub" teams. The elevens of the large colleges have got through the season with fewer "cripples" than usual, and there has been a refreshing absence of any charges of professionalism.

So far as the game itself is concerned how much it has been improved is only just now evident. Last year all the teams were new to the open style of play, and even the most advanced failed to develop a consistent policy or to ascertain the possibilities behind the new rules. This year the benefits are clearly visible, and the game appears transformed from that of two years ago, when twenty-two beefy players shoved each other up and down the field.

The player is now compelled, too, to use his brains to a far greater extent than heretofore. The varieties of plays and their ingenuity are amazing after the years of tandem-smashing through right or left tackle or the guards, varied by an occasional punt. The individual player is compelled to be resourceful, and must be quick to adapt himself to unforeseen emergencies. The defence, as well as the offence, is far more complicated; the secondary line of defenders has become of far greater importance. From the spectator's point of view, the game is also vastly improved. The forward pass is but one of several new plays which add to the interest of the game, while keeping the ball always in view.—New York Post.

WEEDING OUT.

Worker and Industrial Sieve.

A STUDY OF PAY ROLLS

Mr. Efficient Stays—Mr. Inefficient Goes.

GET ON RIGHT SIDE OF SIEVE.

Financial Conditions Have Tightened Discipline.—Competition For Work Grows Keener.—Economy Employs the Earnest, Constant, Efficient Hand.

In seasons of unusual business prosperity, when the total of results is satisfactory; when there is a plethora of orders; when collections are prompt, and credit is not affected by market stringency, and when everybody is reaping a proportionate benefit from general success, there is a tendency to overlook minute details and disregard exact discrimination between the status of conscientious, painstaking, interested employees and those who, self deluded, shirk their responsibilities, and consider only their own individual interests. But that there invariably has been and most likely ever will be a recognition of honesty and efficiency, is strikingly emphasized by those who employ large numbers of wage earners in just such a crisis—mild though it be—as the business world is experiencing to-day. But as the Philadelphia Press says—

"When a financial stringency comes, such as is now passing over the country, and begins reducing profits and values, grinding them down from week to week, for corporation, capitalist and employer, the great Industrial Sieve begins to do its work for the wage-earner, sifting and separating good workers from bad.

"In the flood time of lavish business they have all gone on together. With stringency a change comes. Every employer of labor is drawing near to a reduction. Retrenchment and economy become necessary. Everybody is reducing expenses. Pay rolls are being studied to see who can be spared.

"The Industrial Sieve is at work, sifting, sifting, sifting. The willing man stays and the unwilling worker goes. Mr. Efficient holds down his job and Mr. Inefficient loses it. The slack hand has to let go. The earnest, constant hand holds on. The saleswoman who sees everything in the aisle but a customer and remembers everything but the goods she has to sell, has to go.

"The worker, man or woman, who is doing more work than the wage given ordinarily buys, is kept. The worker who gives less goes. The idler is dropped. The man who spoils stock is weeded out. If drink makes any man irregular he goes early when the pay roll is examined with retrenchment in view.

"Discipline tightens as the Industrial Sieve does its work. Every man dropped means a man hunting a job. Competition for work grows keener. The inexorable but necessary work of raising the industrial level, improving industrial efficiency and quickening the industrial conscience of the community goes steadily on.

"Each man and each woman at work and drawing a wage needs early to get on the right side of the Industrial Sieve and not be thrown out. There is still time for work, efficiency, economy, diligence and industry to save the wage-earner from the Industrial Sieve."

SAN FRANCISCO EARTHQUAKE

Four Hundred Millions Wiped Out of Existence.—Total Loss Amounts In Full to $600,000,000.

All the fire adjustment and the other accompaniments of the San Francisco disaster have been tabulated and arranged, and it now transpires that what was supposed to be a total damage of about $350,000,000 amounts to much nearer $600,000,000. Only $200,000,000 can be properly charged up to insurance, and, therefore, the country has suffered a total wiping out of existence, an obliteration of property, to the amount of $400,000,000 by the one fire.—Scientific American.

The Republicans in the Sixth Judicial circuit, says the Baltimore American, are nursing a candidate for judge whose nomination and election two years hence are regarded as certain. M. Hammond Urner, recently the Republican candidate for attorney general who received the unprecedented majority of 1,700 in his home county, will be the party's nominee for chief judge of the circuit.

Governor Warfield is preparing his message to the assembly. He says "I intend to throw some sidelights on certain matters with which the public should be acquainted and which will no doubt be read with interest."

A force of about 75 workmen is now employed upon the erection of the building for the Maryland State Tuberculosis Sanitarium, near Sabillasville. The first story of the main building, which will be 200x90 feet in ground dimensions and three stories in height, has been completed. The first two stories of this building will be of stone, and the third frame. Six large shacks will be erected near it.

The Carroll County Medical Society held its annual meeting in Westminster and appointed a committee, consisting of Drs. J. W. Hering, L. K. Woodward and M. D. Norris, to endeavor to procure the passage by the Legislature of a bill to increase the efficiency of local boards of health by the appointment of a health officer for every district, in addition to the general health officer of the county.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected, as follows: President, Dr. Geo. H. Brown, of New Windsor; vice-president, Dr. Clotworthy Birnie, of Taneytown; secretary and treasurer, Dr. Charles R. Foutz, of Westminster.

At the coming quarterly meeting of the board of trustees of the Maryland Agricultural College President R. W. Silvester will bring to the attention of the board the recommendation in the annual report of the State Entomologist to that body that funds be asked from the Legislature at the coming session to enable the department to prosecute vigorously the work, which it began two years ago and which has continued since with the limited means at its command, in conducting the mosquito survey of the State, educating the public by practical demonstrations of the means of control, conducting experiments with the city and town authorities throughout the State in an effort to mitigate this pest.

Two Marylanders were honored by the National Drainage Association meeting in Baltimore. Dr. James Bosley, health commissioner of Baltimore, was elected first vice-president, and Mr. B. A. Griswald treasurer.

The silver jubilee, or twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of Westminster Theological Seminary was celebrated with appropriate exercises. The chief interest of the anniversary centered in the dedication of the new building and in the announcement of the higher curriculum which has been established. Heretofore the course has been only two years for college graduates and three years for students not graduates of a college. From this time the former will be required to take a three years' and the latter a four years' course.

Mrs. Harry Moon, the wife of a well known Baltimore and Ohio freight conductor running into Cumberland, was arrested in Cumberland charged by her first husband, Frank S. Johnston, with bigamy. She is in jail. Mr. and Mrs. Moon were married three years ago.

Acting under instructions from the Department of Agriculture, Washington D. C., forty-five barrels of bourbon whisky were seized on Tuesday at the establishment of A. L. Webb & Sons, of Baltimore. The seizure is considered of importance as the first to be made in this city as a test under the pure-food act.

It is charged that A. L. Webb & Sons had in their possession fifty barrels of whisky the distillation of which is not in accordance with the requirements of the pure food law. The specific charge was that the contents of the barrels were distilled from sirups or molasses, instead of from grain.

The question of having a jury commission for Frederick county and other counties is being much discussed here. While the court is divided in its opinion as to the necessity of such legislation, it is believed that such an act will be passed at the next session of the legislature, although the Frederick county delegation is opposed to it to a man.

Mr. Frederick Notnagle, a Frederick butcher, charged with delivering meat on market before the regular hour, was discharged by police justice Alfred Ritter last week. The justice based his action on the fact that this was a test case and Mr. Notnagle was not a wilful violator of the market ordinances. Mr. Ritter warned all market goers that hereafter the market laws would be strictly enforced. By ordinance the hours are from 8 to 10 A. M.

Chief Judge G. H. Worthington has qualified and next Monday will take his seat in the Court of Appeals. On December 9th he will take his seat on the bench here during the December term of the local court. The Judge has been kept busy replying to the many telegrams and letters of congratulation sent him; and also finds it difficult to transact business owing to the many friends who personally call to felicitate him on his appointment.

The County Commissioners will be called upon to levy, during the next year for the $6,871.80 needed to pay this year's election expenses. A determined effort will be made to change the law, as the expenses are considered enormous.

Michael Higgins and Donald Rohn, tramps, were given ten days in jail by Judge Eckstein for riding on Baltimore and Ohio trains. Railroad officials made the arrest.

William McMullen, of Atlantic City, has filed here for probate an alleged will of the late Margaret Englebrecht, mother of the late Prof. Englebrecht. McMullen is a nephew and if he can establish the legality of the will many changes in the property will be made, as under this will Prof. Englebrecht is left only a life estate and his will will be void. Many here regard McMullen's will as no will, that is, the courts will not recognize its legality. It is signed "Engelbrecht" a manner of spelling not used by the family.

On Wednesday last, at a meeting of the retiring Orphans' Court, resolutions prepared by a committee of the bar, upon the death of Judge McSherry were presented and entered on the minutes. Short eulogies were made by the judges of the court and members of the bar.

Mrs. Jessie Stewart has obtained an absolute divorce from her husband, Charles Stewart, and will be permitted to again use her maiden name, Jessie Foster. S. A. Lewis was her attorney. United States Commissioner Roscoe C. White has received a copy of the "Pure Food Law Instructions and Rulings of the Department of Agriculture" and a rigorous enforcement of the law will follow.

Frank Rhoderick, of Frederick, was arrested last Friday and deposited a fine of $20 with Justice Ritter on Saturday morning. He was drunk and spent the night in the new lock-up.

Clarence Jackson, colored, has been sent to jail for court for breaking into and entering the house of Charles Coats, with intent to steal. Deputy Sheriff Darnier made the arrest.

Ida C. Creager, wife of William H. Creager, has applied for a partial divorce. They reside at Walkersville. Creager recently made a deed of trust of his property to F. L. Stoner, attorney. Desertion is alleged, and an injunction has been granted her preventing the trustee from selling the property till the case is heard in court. Leo Wineberg appears for Mrs. Creager.

The following changes in the jury have been made to date:

Joseph E. Eyler vice Sebastian B. Florence, in Emmitsburg district. Joseph H. Lewis vice William H. Brown, in Hauvers district.

Spangler, the Misses Carrie, Maude and Grace Spangler, Helen Wortz, Messrs. George and Ralph Spangler, of Iron Springs; Miss Ada Walter and Mr. Ira Walter, of Orrtana; Misses Ruth Bream and Alice Marshall, Messrs. Roy Bream, Grant and Gervis Hoofnagle and James Marshall, of Fairfield; Miss Iva Sheffer and Mr. Stanley Sheffer, of Virginia Mills.

The evening was most pleasantly spent by all.

Mr. James Baker and wife, of Hagerstown, visited Mr. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Baker last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Park Noel and son, of Gettysburg, visited Mrs. Frank Cashman on last Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Florence Hawbecker, of Chambersburg, Pa., is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sanders.

Mr. W. F. Watson and your correspondent are attending the teacher's institute at Gettysburg this week.

GETTYSBURG NEWS

The jury in the case of Reading conductor, Alfred M. Clay, who brought an action against the Western Maryland Railroad, returned a verdict granting Clay $15,000. Clay was conductor on a Reading train which ran into a draft of Western Maryland cars on a Y at Gettysburg. He was badly injured.

The case of Madison A. Garvin against the W. M. R. R. for $10,000 damages for injuries received in the same wreck, was continued to February, the testimony of certain California witnesses being taken last Saturday in Carlisle.

The Fifty-third annual session of the Adams County Teacher's Institute convened in Xavier Hall, Gettysburg, Monday afternoon, Nov. 25th and closed to-day. Mr. W. Frank Wilson, of Hamilton township is a member of the auditing committee; W. Preston Hall, of Liberty township of the committee of ushers.

Dr. Harry M. Sheeley, a prominent young dentist of Gettysburg, died at his home last Tuesday at the age of thirty-two. The Compiler says of Dr. Sheeley—"While attending Gettysburg College he took high rank in athletics and was considered an ideal first baseman in baseball, being always cool and ready for any emergency. He never lost his interest in athletics and has umpired dozens of games on Nixon Field with great credit to himself, for he was looked upon as an authority in the national game. He graduated as a dentist at the University of Maryland and was almost immediate success in his profession, first at Smithsburg and at Gettysburg when he moved here three years ago."

Dr. Moriarty, veterinary surgeon, has been advised by Dr. Leonard Pearson secretary of The Live Stock Sanitary board of Pennsylvania, of a new disease not heretofore discovered in North America. It broke out among horses and mules in the Western part of Pennsylvania. The disease is known as Epizootic Lymphangitis. The most common manifestations consist in the presence of small, chronic, discharging ulcers in the vicinity of the hock joint of a thickened hind leg. Some cases will be found with firm nodules, from the size of a pea to that of a walnut, beneath the skin, anywhere on the body. The disease resembles the farcy legs known among horses and mules, after the rebellion.

Post Cards Under Cover.

Last month the government issued the following order governing the postage on post cards mailed under cover of envelopes:

Post cards and postal cards mailed under cover of sealed envelopes (transparent or otherwise) are chargeable with postage at the first-class rate—two cents an ounce or fraction thereof. If inclosed in unsealed envelopes, they are subject to postage according to the character of the message—at the first-class rate if wholly or partly in writing, or the third-class rate (one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof) if entirely in print, and the postage should be affixed to the envelopes covering the same.

Postage stamps affixed to such cards inclosed in envelopes having an opening exposing the stamps can not be recognized in payment of postage thereon.

However, where such cards, properly addressed and prepaid—bearing no matter rendering them unavailable and when sent openly in the mails—are inclosed in envelopes, it will be assumed that they were inadvertently placed under cover, and they may be removed therefrom and dispatched without additional payment of postage.

The account of the expenditures of the Democratic State Committee for the recent campaign for state treasurer of Pennsylvania shows that it cost the party to be defeated just $15,265.83.

Mr. Bryan, in an address given at Washington, expressed the belief that if the Democratic party enters the campaign of 1908 united in advocating Democratic principles it would march to victory at the polls.

The German Ministry of Marine has prepared detailed estimates of the probable cost of the navy for the 10 years from 1908 to 1917 for submission to the Reichstag. The total is $1,043,000,000, or an average of $104,250,000 yearly.

Representative Loudenslager, of New Jersey, announced on leaving the White House after an interview with President Roosevelt that next Sunday the literary bureau of the Republican Congressional Committee, would be established permanently in Washington.

The next triennial meeting of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in the United States will meet in York, instead of Akron, Ohio, the place selected at the last meeting in Allentown two years ago.

The members of the District Supreme Court and the Bar Association of the District of Columbia held a meeting in honor of the late Judge Louis E. McComas and passed resolutions commending him as a jurist, a lawyer, a statesman and a man.

Local option will undoubtedly figure in the campaign in York county next Fall when there will be a fight on the part of the temperance people of the county to elect legislators in the four districts who will support a local option bill.

It is reported from Stockholm that the Nobel Prize in medicine has been awarded to Dr. Laveran, of Paris who is celebrated for his work on the propagation of tropical fevers by microbes which are conveyed by mosquitoes.

Judge George Gray and William Jennings Bryan had a conference in Wilmington, Del., last Tuesday. Gray clubs are being formed in the New England states to push the Judge's nomination for President on the Democratic ticket.

Senator Daniel, the "Lame Lion of Virginia," told Mr. Bryan in the lobby of the Willard Hotel, Washington, that it was time he ceased considering himself better than his party, "you are ruining every chance for success of the Democratic party by your dictatorial methods," the Virginian said.

At the National Drainage Congress, meeting in Baltimore, C. J. Blanchard, statistician of the United States reclamation service, said that if the swamp land of this country was reclaimed there would be added to the farm land of United States 80,000,000 acres.

General Carlos Garcia Valez, one of the foremost Cubans of to-day, has been authorized by the President to say to the Cuban people that the United States would withdraw from Cuba whenever Cuba feels that intervention is no longer necessary and makes formal request.

The second trial of Harry Kendall Thaw for killing Stanford White, architect, on June 25, 1906, which was set for next Monday, will again be postponed, and there is little chance that it will be called until some date well along in January. The postponement has been agreed to by both sides.

Representatives Payne and Dalzell, two of the Republican leaders in the House, had a conference with the President on prospective legislation. After their talk they announced emphatically that there would be no tariff revision at the coming session of Congress.

Russia this week wiped out the balance of her indebtedness to Japan arising from the war, the Russian Embassy handing over to the Embassy of Japan a check for $24,302,200. This represented the balance due Japan for the maintenance of the Russian prisoners.

The Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church has announced an important extension of its work in Korea and has authorized a special campaign for the raising of almost $400,000 to be used in addition to the $100,000 regularly appropriated in carrying forward the work in the peninsula during the coming year.

Judge Peter S. Grosscup, of the United States Circuit Court, Chicago, is in New York city to look over the St. Gaudens Statue of Lincoln, designed in accordance with the will of John Crerar, a Chicago merchant, who died a number of years ago, leaving a fund now amounting to upwards of $150,000.

An active campaign has been started in the new State of Oklahoma to push Governor Haskell for the Democratic nomination for President. Letters are being sent to influential men urging them to aid the Haskell movement, and the campaign is to be made along similar lines to those on which Haskell was elected Governor.

Asaph Hall, considered the greatest astronomer in this country, famous as the discoverer of the moons of Mars, who has just died at Annapolis, headed many Government astronomical expedition and made numerous important astronomical discoveries. He was a member of the National Academy of Sciences and a foreign member of the Royal Astronomical Society of Great Britain.

Cardinal Fischer, the Catholic Bishop of Cologne, has rescinded the recent edict prohibiting Catholic students from attending the lectures of Professor Schroers, of Bonn University. This result was brought about by a conference between the Cardinal and the Prussian Minister for Education. It is said that the former was informed that, by issuing such an edict under Catholic auspices, he was interfering with affairs of State.

There is a rumor that the attorneys now representing Thaw may apply for a change of venue, declaring a fair trial for their client in New York county is impossible. Such a move, if made, would be based on the alleged unfriendly attitude of many of the local papers and the extent to which the evidence was printed and read in this community. District Attorney Jerome will strenuously oppose the granting of a change in the scene of the trial.

Under direction of the school authorities of the city of New York there will be a Christmas celebration in the schools this year without reference to Christmas or Santa Claus. The name of Christ has been forbidden. Christmas songs will not be sung. This action is largely due to the larger number of non-Christians, mostly Jews, who attend the public schools. Late on Wednesday the Board of Education unanimously adopted a resolution which places that body on record as not opposed to these observances and leaves the matter to the judgment of individual superintendents. In fact, members of the board declared afterward that there had never been any intention of abandoning these programs and that the recent agitation had risen from a misunderstanding of a resolution adopted by the board last February.

FRIDAY, NOV. 29, 1907.

WITH a view to accounting for the recent disturbances in the money market, bankers, financiers, business men, politicians, clergymen, statesmen and theorists have advanced almost every conceivable reason; and in addition to this each person has promulgated what to him seems the practical remedy suited to the case. The trouble is, however, that instead of getting at the very root of the matter very nearly all of these advocates seem to look upon the present crisis as one the like of which was never known to exist heretofore and consequently not likely to arise in the future. On this very account everything that has been proposed is of an entirely experimental nature, and just so some temporary plan is reached whereby confidence may be restored, all is well. But panics exactly similar to the one the country is now experiencing and arising from the same identical causes, have occurred in times past, and expedients just as experimental as those being adopted by the government at this time, have been made use of. The same kind of turmoil has been and is in evidence, and the same kind of a flurry has excited the people.

The panic will subside and normal conditions will follow; people will breathe easier; they will thank their lucky stars that things were no worse; but the real issue has not been met and true reform is no more of a reality than it was before. If the financial well-being of millions of individual depositors and the interests of thousands of business men are to be jeopardized by the actions of a few bank officials who conduct their institutions for the sole advantage of themselves and their stock holders, it is certainly high time that a farther reaching government supervision of National Banks is inaugurated, and it is imperative that Congress provide some general currency legislation that will remedy the glaring defects of our present system.

Congress is about to meet, and during this very session it is all-important that some well-defined and comprehensive plan be formulated to prevent a recurrence of anything like the conditions which the country has experienced at different times, and more especially such conditions as have unsettled its affairs during the past few weeks. In this good service the people can become an important factor, and they should be only too anxious to urge, to positively compel, their representatives in Congress to take up and to make effective those measures which will absolutely settle the evil once and for all.

AT this particular season of the year the windows of the city stores are filled with everything that will attract the customer. The window decorators excel all previous efforts, the number of lights is increased, interiors are fancifully festooned, additional clerks are at hand, all wares are engagingly arranged and the doors are thrown open for the Christmas trade. The papers are teeming with Christmas suggestions and each advertisement contains innumerable allusions to particular things that are appropriate for holiday gifts. Moreover each advertisement is a direct appeal to customers. They are told that everything is ready for them and that their patronage will be an honor. Patronage is what the city merchant lives on, and, knowing that it is his sole support, he caters to it in every legitimate way. He realizes that holiday business necessitates a holiday stock, and experience has taught him that if stock is to be disposed of, he must not only arrange it in a tasteful and convenient manner, but he must draw the people in to buy it.

Just common sense; nothing more. Common sense in buying, common sense in displaying, common sense in advertising. And if these methods are employed so successfully in the city, does it not stand to reason that they will serve a good purpose in the country town? Country people and village folks are just as susceptible to attractive bait as are their metropolitan brethren. They will stop in front of the bright window just as quickly and remain quite as long, and they will follow the light that leads them to the bright interior—and they will buy just as much, in proportion to their means, as will those good city shoppers.

But do they have the chance? Not always, not everywhere.

THE fact that, according to the Washington Herald, "within the past month a very remarkable exodus of foreigners from our shores has occurred, amounting to some 25,000 or 30,000 persons," makes one think that after all there is some good to be gained from 'depressed conditions.'

We certainly cannot understand why there should be any opposition to Judge Worthington's plan to have jury commissioners whose duty it shall be to furnish names of all the men who are to serve as jurors. There is nothing original in the plan. It was in vogue in the District of Columbia for years, and it was looked upon as a very excellent and impartial method.

According to our way of thinking, a judge should not take any part whatever in selecting the twelve men who are to try a case before him; but on the contrary that a board composed of an equal number of Democrats and Republicans (none of whom are lawyers) should furnish the names of such citizens from each district as are eligible; that these names, several hundred for each member of the board, should be compared by these commissioners to see that no name is duplicated, and then placed in a box from which the requisite number for each term should be drawn by the clerk of the court.

In this way every eligible man from each district would serve in turn, and there could be no cause whatsoever for complaint or criticism.

TANEYTOWN, at least the progressive element in that good place, is after a light plant, either electric, acetylene or gas, and whoever will furnish this very indispensable commodity is assured by the Carroll Record that "a reasonable amount of the necessary capital will be subscribed by a few citizens who want to see the town abreast of the times, and who believe the project will ultimately return good dividends."

Our esteemed contemporary has made no mistake in predicting that the project will pay, and we do not hesitate to assert that a similar plant will pay right here in Emmitsburg. Light, and plenty of it, is the most valuable asset that a town can have, and every merchant who invests in the stock of a home lighting plant is putting profits into his own pocket; for the brighter a town becomes at night the more people it will attract, and these people remain in town much longer than they otherwise would, and it is needless to say that they will spend more money. As conditions are at present, in both places, the townspeople do not venture out for fear of breaking their necks in the dark, and the country people stay at home, except on moonlight nights, dreading the probability of their horses (not seeing the dim glow from the antiquated lamps) taking them past the town.

"All human souls, never so bedarkened, love light; light once kindled, spreads till all is luminous."

His Idea of a dignified Snap was to sit in a small Office about three hours every Day and have the Public come in and pass Money to him. The Medical Game struck him as being about the softest Proposition of all.

He thought that all Doc had to do was to lead the Mark into the Chamber of Horrors, where they have the Skulls and the Butcher-Knives, look him over, ask a few Questions, tell him to stop Smoking, and then tap him for a V.

So the hopeful Graduate went to the old Family Physician for a few Tips.

"Any one who tackles the Esculapian Stunt is a vitrified Mutt," said his Whiskers. "If you must earn your living, be a Porch-Climber or a Short-Change Man. We now have in this Country four Medical Degrees to every case of Tonsillitis. Most of us are kept so close to the Carpet that we have to buy last year's Magazines to put in the Waiting-Room. If a Patient dies, all of his Friends say that you helped to push him off, so they undermine your Practice and begin to plug for Christian Science. If he gets well, he gives you the Laugh, and you have to go after him with a Constable. If you acquire a Reputation, they work the Night-Bell on you; and if you arrange a Dinner-Party, it's a Cinch that some Old Lady, three miles away, will ring in an Epileptic Fit and crab your whole Evening. Nix the Materia Medica! Turn back before it is too late."

Thereupon the Collegian bethought him of the Law. So he went to old Judge Careat and said he wanted to start right in Reading.

"If you can dispense with Eating for the next 15 Years, come and join our noble Profession," said the Judge. "If you have got into the Food Habit, however, and feel that you may need Clothes now and then, take my Advice and duck. It's getting so that one can't drop a Brick out of a Window without hitting at least three Lawyers. The only ones who land are those that sell their Immortal Souls to the Corporations, and they get roasted so hard that they can't be elected anything except United States Senators. The Legal Profession is a Lottery in which there are 999 Blanks to every Prize, and the one who gets the Prize usually draws a case of Nervous Dyspepsia with it and has to live on Cereal Food. If you desire safe and profitable employment, learn to be a Bank-Robber, but don't join the Starvation Brigade. The Professions are petering out. We live in a Commercial Age. The Money-Makers of to-day are the Wise Boys who trade in Produce and Manufactured Staples."

Accordingly the Young Fellow put in an Application with a large Wholesale Concern.

ALL ABOUT THE GROCERY BUSINESS.

where you can get $60 a Month just like finding it. Before you decide upon a Mercantile Career, I may as well warn you that 95 per cent. of those who go into Business eventually blow up, and the other 5 per cent. compromise with the Trust and get what they can. The Inexperienced Kid without Capital who tries to get a Hammer-Lock on these air-tight Combinations has about as much chance as a Chicken at a Camp-Meeting. If you wish to sit on a High Stool so long that you grow fast to it, and then, at the Wind-Up, get a Floral Pillow from your Fellow-Employees, come and join our Happy Band. But, if you are Foxy, cut out the Mercantile Act and try some Enterprise in which you will have a Show to pull out something for yourself."

Journalism looked very good to him, because it seemed to require neither Experience nor Funds, and he could mould Public Opinion without joining the Moulders' Union. An Old-Timer in the Business steered him away.

"Don't start into this Life," he said. "It's only a Tread-mill, and after your Legs give out you are dropped down the Dark Chute. Besides, your Collegiate Training unfits you to help out on the Comic Supplement. Another thing, the longer you dally with Journalism the less you know about it. The best Way in which to direct a Newspaper is to stay away from the Office and write Letters to the Editor."

The poor Youth had just about played his whole String when he happened to think of the Stage. He was a Good-Looker and knew how to wear Clothes, and had made terrific Hits in Amateur Productions. The hardened Manager to whom he sent his Card handed him a Cake of Ice weighing 300 Pounds.

"The Trouble with you is that you have been attending the University instead of working on a Spring-Board so as to do the Double Flip-Flops," said the Rag-time Impresario. "You are next to the Greek Verb all right, but you are shy on Buck-and-Wing Steps, and I can't see that you have a Chance in a Million. I suppose you have studied Shakespeare. If so, you may possibly hook up with a fly-by-night Organization. The Legitimate Drama is now being played at the Whistling-Posts and Water-Tanks, but not in the great Thought-Centres. If your Voice had been cultivated in Europe, I think I could fix it for you to carry a Spear, but as you have not sufficient Talent to get you into the Chorus, I suggest that you go down and play the Stock Market."

Here was an Inspiration. He would go and find Employment in a Broker's Office and study the Quotations and gradually pike into the World of Speculation. He sought out a pious old Gambler who had made a Ton of Money by never doing what he let on he was going to do.

The veteran Financier would not be a Party to the ruin of any Good Young Man. "Keep away from the Market," he said. "All those who play the Ticker get the Solar-Plexus Punch sooner or later. This Speculation is very demoralizing. It has demoralized every one except me. I always warn Young Men to buy nothing on Margins. Buy it outright. You can do this easily after you've earned the first Million or two as a Stenographer."

"I might give you a Hunch on the Q. T.," said the Old Gentleman. "Those who are very Bright often marry into the families of the vulgar Rich, thus acquiring the Means to go Abroad and study Art and, at the same time, throw the Hooks into their Native Land."

"I'll tackle Matrimony," said the Collegian. "That appears to be the only Field that is not overcrowded."

MORAL: Every Man knocks his own Line of Work and sticks to it like Glue.

A SOLDIER'S DREAM.

This Little Gem of Fiction Comes to Us From France.

A French soldier who had been away from home for several years returned unexpectedly to his native town. The day of his arrival being Sunday, he went to the village church, believing his wife would be there, and he thus could see her the sooner. Taking a seat near the door, he waited until the service was over.

While waiting, being very much fatigued after a long journey, he fell asleep, his head resting on the back of the pew. While sleeping he dreamed of being seized as a spy and after a short trial was condemned and led out for execution. The guillotine had been erected, the army stood ranged about, and all the preparations were made as impressively as possible. The condemned man was placed in position, and the last act in the drama was at hand.

Just at that moment his wife was passing down the aisle of the church on her way out. She recognized her husband and in order to awaken him tapped his neck playfully with her fan as his head was thrown back on the seat. The contact of the fan in his dream supposed to be the knife of the guillotine. The shock was so great it killed him instantly.

His Consolation.

John and Willie are twins. Their best friend and playfellow is Archie, who is gifted with red hair and a hot temper. One day they quarreled and Archie started home in a huff. The unsympathetic twins called after him, "Red head, red head!" Archie seemed not to hear until the insult was repeated. Then he turned and called back, "Don't care if I am red headed; I ain't twins, and folks can tell me apart!"—Grand Forks Press.

"Charles," said Coleridge one day to Lamb, "did you ever hear me preach?" "I never heard you do anything else," said Lamb.

What The Sphinx Thinks

—That a front pew and back pay often go together.

—That if time is really money, a great many people are big spend-thrifts.

—That if it's true that "every day'll be Sunday bye and bye," "Sabbath breakers" will have a pretty long job of it.

—That those who play with edge tools cause the owner of them a great deal of trouble, and, sometimes, much expense.

—That it is noticeable that the more narrow-minded and bigoted and prejudiced a man is, the more positive he becomes in asserting his opinions.

—That if "hell is paved with good intentions" the devil need give himself no concern about the probability of there being a shortage of material.

—That one who gets "something for nothing" may congratulate himself at first, but in the end he will find it necessary to confess that he has paid dearly for what he has received.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For Auto or Rain Coat Designed by May Mantion. No. 5803.

In these days of many autos and the numberless trips taken therein no woman's wardrobe is quite complete without such a loose wrap as this one. It can be slipped on over any gown. It is perfectly comfortable. It serves both for rain and for fair weather, and, in addition to all these practical uses, it is cut in a distinctly smart and satisfactory manner. The model is made from shower proof covert cloth, stitched with bold silk, but all the many cloaking materials of the season are appropriate. Many of them have the rainproof finish, which renders them doubly desirable, but even when this does not exist they are apt to resist light rains with success. Cheviot and homespun are admirable for the early season, while later heavier materials will be found desirable.

The coat is made with fronts and side fronts and backs the center back seam, giving an especially and altogether graceful effect, while the side front seams that extend to the shoulders are always becoming. There is a flat roll over collar at the neck. There are convenient patch pockets arranged on the side fronts, and the plain coat sleeves are of just the correct size for both fashion and comfort.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 8 yards 27, 5 yards 44 or 4 1/2 yards 52 inches wide. Sizes for a 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch bust.

DIRECTIONS FOR ORDERING.

Send 10 cents to this office, give number of this pattern, No. 5803, and state size desired. It will then be sent to you by mail postpaid. Be sure to write plainly and always give full address. Several days must be allowed for delivery of pattern.

A WARM WELCOME.

The Way an American Visitor Was Received in London.

"When I arrived in London," says a well known actor, "I received a charming letter from a man whose name I could not recall ever having heard before, but presuming that it must be some friend whom I had forgotten I readily accepted the invitation to dinner which the epistle contained and duly turned up the following evening at the hotel named. A gentleman whom I did not recognize at once approached me with outstretched hand, and so pleased did he seem to see me that I did not like to hurt his feeling by admitting that my memory had failed me, but trusted that some chance remark might presently remind me of our previous acquaintance."

"In due course we enjoyed the best dinner the house had to offer, accompanied by the very choicest cigars. At this point the gentleman left the room in order to get something out of his overcoat pocket and failed to reappear. I waited for him in vain. Then by degrees the truth dawned upon me, and I realized why he had been so genuinely pleased to meet me. However, he told so many amusing stories that the evening was pleasant enough to more than compensate me for being obliged to pay the bill."—New York Globe.

Frequently a painting will bulge and be very unattractive unless remedied. An artist claims that such pieces can be remedied without danger of destroying the paint by dampening both the right and wrong side and keeping the canvas under very heavy pressure until thoroughly dried.

THE ARCTIC REGION.

Where Smoke Rises From the Sea and Trees Burst From Cold.

Explorers who penetrate the Arctic and Antarctic seas have a chance to observe one of the strangest phenomena in nature, that of smoke rising from the sea. Wherever the temperature falls to 15 degrees below zero clouds of steaming vapor ascend from the ocean to be immediately frozen into tiny particles of ice and dropped once more into the water.

The same thing takes place on land, the vapor rising from the snow and even from the bodies of the explorers themselves. In this case, however, the ice particles fall on the ground and make a weird rustling, like the swish of a silk dress.

At 40 degrees below zero the sap of trees is turned to ice, and the trunks burst asunder with a sharp report. These mysterious sounds and sights are awe inspiring to all who do not know their cause, and they may account for some of the strange tales that are told of the frozen north.

Natural light at sea is a much more common phenomenon. As the screw of a steamer churns the water under certain conditions you may see the waves glowing angrily where they have been disturbed. This is called phosphorescence, and scientists are not agreed as to its cause.

"What we want," said the patriotic citizen, "is a system that will compel men to vote honestly."

"That's right," answered Mr. Ward Heeler; "there's too many of our voters getting into the way of taking your money and then voting as they please."—Washington Star.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY.

(Special to The Chronicle)

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Stonesipher on Wednesday last, it being the 33rd anniversary of Mrs. Stonesipher's birth. At about 9.30 A.M., the guests began to arrive and at 11 o'clock quite a number had gathered. Half an hour later all were ushered into the dining room where they partook of a sumptuous meal. At three o'clock coffee, cakes of many kinds, and other refreshments were served. The afternoon was spent in pleasant chat by the older folks while the young people indulged in various games. Music also aided to enliven the occasion. Wishing Mrs. Stonesipher many happy returns of the day all returned to their homes after having spent a most enjoyable day.

The guests were:

Mr. and Mrs. William Fuss, Mr. and Mrs. Berry Fuss, Mr. and Mrs. Meade Fuss, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stonesipher, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stonesipher, Mr. and Mrs. George Deberry, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Newcomer, Mrs. Rubin Stonesipher, Mrs. Charles F. Roop; Misses Carrie Stonesipher, Mattie Shryrock, Alice and Helen Fuss, Carrie and Annie Newcomer; Messrs. Raymond Roop, John, Robert, Leonard, Edgar and Clarence Stonesipher and Wilbur Fuss.

An Appreciation.

Mrs. Waddell, of Sunny Glade, White Lake, N. THE PASSING OF MR. DAVID THOMAS HOFF

Well-Known Citizen Succumbs To Cerebral Hemorrhage On Tuesday

HE LAY IN A SEMI-CONSCIOUS CONDITION FOR OVER A WEEK

Emmitsburg's Familiar "Jack of All Trades" Stricken by Apoplexy.—A Character Known to Every Resident of This Vicinity and a Mechanic of Extraordinary Ability.—Has Lived Here For Over Thirty Years.—Was a Close Student of Nature and a Great Hunter.

THE LATE DAVID THOMAS HOFF.

The doors and windows of his little shop are closed, his tools are lying on the bench just where he left them, but David Thomas Hoff, familiarly known as "Davy," is not in his accustomed place—he has gone to his "long home," and the people of Emmitsburg, who knew him so well, will never see him there again. "Davy" had many friends and it was his delight to chat with them as they passed by his shop or to tell some interesting incident of his life when they dropped in to ask him about a difficult job which it seems he alone could handle with that nicety of workmanship which characterizes the true mechanic. He looked upon almost everyone as his friend, and though he had a kind word for all and a pleasant smile of recognition for every child that paused to gaze into his window where so many curious things were displayed, there were but few in whom he would confide.

Even from these few he withheld the particulars of his life. All they knew was that he was born in York County, Pennsylvania, near Hanover; that he came to this place in 1876 and that since that latter date until within a few days of his death, he followed the trade of general repairer of anything and everything that was brought to his work bench.

A few days ago—the full particulars appeared in THE CHRONICLE—"Davy" had a cerebral hemorrhage, which caused paralysis of the right side. He was stricken on the street, without warning, and from the instant the shock came until the moment of his death, which occurred early on Tuesday morning, he scarcely had a conscious moment.

Mr. Hoff's remains were interred in Mountain View Cemetery on Tuesday evening, Rev. Mr. K. M. Craig officiating. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Grove living in Littlestown, Pa.; two nieces and one nephew.

QUESTIONING WITNESSES.

Session of Ecclesiastical Court Held in St. Joseph's Church.—Visit Mother Seton's Tomb at the Academy.

The Ecclesiastical Court which is inquiring into the sanctity of Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, founder of St. Joseph's Academy, notice of which appeared in these columns, held one of its sessions in St. Joseph's Church, this place, on Tuesday.

The prelates comprising the court arrived in Emmitsburg on Monday evening but the first session was not held until Tuesday morning.

The main reason for holding the court here, aside from the fact that it was the scene of Mother Seton's labors, was to hear the testimony of Mrs. Esther Barry who knew Mother Seton intimately. Mrs. Barry in a few months will be ninety-seven years old.

The session began at nine o'clock, three witnesses in all being examined. Beside Mrs. Barry, her son, Rev. Father John Barry, of Harford county, and J. M. Adelsberger being the other two. At one o'clock the court adjourned.

After visiting the Tomb of Mother Seton in the burial ground at St. Joseph's Academy, the court returned to Baltimore.

Attended Carroll County Court.

"Among the noted lawyers in attendance on Court this week," says the Democratic Advocate, Westminster, "was Vincent Sebold of Frederick county. He is the Democratic leader of the Emmitsburg district, and it always goes Democratic, for Mr. Sebold attends to it. He is also the manager of the Emmitsburg Railway and president of the East Berlin R. R. of Pennsylvania. He has so well managed the Emmitsburg Road that it not only pays all expenses, declared regular dividends, but has a surplus in the treasury. If other Democratic leaders of Frederick looked after their districts as well as Mr. Sebold does, a different story might be told there on election day."

DIED IN BALTIMORE.

On Monday, Nov. 25, Leo Spalding, a former citizen of this place, and for many years mail carrier for Mount St. Mary's College, died in Baltimore after a stroke of apoplexy. His remains were brought to Emmitsburg on Wednesday morning and after the funeral service held in the Catholic Church, were interred in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Mr. Spalding is survived by two sisters both residing in Baltimore, Mrs. Mary J. Sponseller and Mrs. James McClain.

The deceased left Emmitsburg nine years ago and has resided in Baltimore since that time.

HOFF.—On Nov. 26, 1907, at the Emmitt House, David Thomas Hoff aged 73 years. The funeral services were held on Wednesday, the interment being made in Mountain View Cemetery.

SPALDING.—On Nov. 25, 1907, in Baltimore, Leo Spalding, aged 64 years and 9 months. Funeral services on Wednesday morning in St. Joseph's Church, interment in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Rev. Father Hayden officiating.

What Is Your Preference?

Every reader of a newspaper has ideas.

Every reader of a newspaper has a preference for certain features which to him or her, as the case may be, are particularly attractive and interesting.

It is the object of THE CHRONICLE to give its readers just what they want, and therefore an invitation is herewith extended to every subscriber of this paper to state just what that preference is.

All suggestions sent in good faith will be carefully considered, and a new department will be added to THE CHRONICLE whenever a preference for the same feature has been indicated by several readers.

HER WHOLE BODY BURNED.

Dress Caught on Fire and Her Body Burned from Her Knees to Her Shoulders.

Mrs. John Overholtzer made a narrow escape from a most serious accident. She was helping the family of Mr. John Grimes to butcher and while stirring panhas in some way her dress caught on fire and before the flames could be put out, burned her from her knees to her shoulders. The burns fortunately were superficial and Mrs. Overholtzer while suffering a great deal, is in no danger.

COLLEGE TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.

Special to The Chronicle.

At the November meeting Rev. Albert Cassidy, of New York, quoted Lecky, the historian of "European Morals," as saying that most of the crime and an immense proportion of the misery of England is to be attributed to drinking. In the 17th century "we drank as if we were sponges." In the 18th signs were hung out offering "Drunk for a penny—dead-drunk for two pence with straw to lie on and keep it off."

"Civilization will not be a success," says Collier's Weekly, "till the saloon is but a memory of what men once endured, and the path of temperance is being followed now with more determination than ever in our own history. In more territory is the saloon made illegal, and in a greater part of this territory is public opinion sufficiently strong to make prohibition a success." When it is a success life will be brighter for the wives, and children of hundreds of thousands of husbands and fathers.

Mr. William Delaney, of Virginia, followed with recitations from Macbeth which greatly delighted his two hundred hearers, and after songs in chorus by the whole audience and solos by Messrs. Soisson, of Pennsylvania, Corkery, of Massachusetts, and Victor Golibart, of Washington City, the meeting adjourned.

Miss Lida Motter, of Frederick, will be maid of honor at the wedding of Miss Rachel B. Kunkel, of Harrisburg to Senator F. Fox, next Wednesday.

Some Valuable Points and Wise Suggestions For the Woman of the House

THE WAY TO KEEP HOUSE PLANTS HEALTHY

Right and Wrong Way of Raising Potted Plants.—How to Tell When Flowers Need Water.—Easier to Drown Plants than to Kill Them by Draught.—Lime-Water Will Rid Your Pots of Angeworms.—How to Make It.

The ideal conditions for house plants are practically the same as for human beings, that is, a temperature of about 67 degrees to 70 degrees during the day time and 50 degrees to 55 degrees at night. It may not always be possible to maintain this warmth at night but strive to keep as near that as possible.

The next consideration is fresh air; keep the rooms well ventilated, i. e. have a window open somewhere in the room, preferably on the opposite side from the plants, for they cannot stand draughts. When a room gets too warm and too dry, the plants transpire an excessive amount of water—faster than the roots can supply it from the soil—but worse still, the surface of the soil itself is dried out and even the pot as well. Thus an irreparable injury is done before the owner realizes it.

The second most exacting requirement of plants is watering. Too much water will make the soil sour; with too little water the plant will wilt. The effect of either will be yellowing and dropping of the leaves. It is easier, however, to drown a plant than to kill it by drought. No hard and fast rule for watering can be made. Plants may need water twice a day or only once in two days. The best way to determine whether a plant is dry is to rap the pot sharply with the knuckles of the hand. A hollow, or ringing sound shows that the soil needs water; a heavy, dull sound indicates that it has sufficient moisture. Usually you can tell whether the soil needs watering by looking at the surface. If it is dry and powdery give water.

The common fault in watering is not doing the job thoroughly when it is done at all. Never give a little surface sprinkle. The best way, if convenient, is to take the plants to the sink or bath tub and give the soil a good watering, allowing the pot to stay in the sink until the surplus water has had a chance to drain off. If it is impossible to do this, have a saucer under each pot, and ten or fifteen minutes after the watering go around and turn out all the water standing in the saucers. Never allow water to remain in the saucers as it will prevent aeration through the hole in the bottom of the pot, and also rot the roots.

Perhaps the greatest enemy of plants grown in houses heated by hot air furnaces or coal stoves is coal gas. An otherwise imperceptible trace of it in the air will cause the leaves of some plants (as the Jerusalem cherry) to drop off promptly. With a good chimney draught and with proper regulation of the dampers when attending to the fires there should be no trouble from this source.

Illuminating-gas is almost as bad as coal-gas. The slightest trace will retard the development of new leaves on all but the toughest-textured plants like rubbers and palms. Such thin-leaved plants as geranium, coleus, heliotrope, and begonia succumb quickly. When gas is present in small quantity the plants do not necessarily die but growth is stunted and the flower buds wither when beginning to show color, looking much as though they had been chilled.

If angeworms infest the soil in the pots they may easily be gotten rid of by watering with lime-water which may be made as follows: To ten or twelve quarts of water add one and one-half to two pounds of fresh lump lime, letting it stand for a couple of days or until the lime has slacked and the water cleared, then pour off the clear water for use. Several waterings with this at intervals of three or four days will drive out the worms.

If the plants are grown in a conservatory, or a room that can be completely shut off from the rest of the house, fumigating is the easiest and best method of fighting the aphides, or plant lice.—Garden Magazine.

ELGIN—BRADY.

Miss Dora Elgin, daughter of Mrs. Emma F. Elgin, of Brunswick, and Mr. John Brady, also of Brunswick, were married in the Presbyterian Church Brunswick, on Wednesday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Luther Martin.

His Ability Appreciated.

Summer V. Hosterman, Esq., of Lancaster, Pa., who is well known in Emmitsburg, has been appointed assistant district attorney for Lancaster county. Mr. Hosterman has been closely identified with the politics of his county and city and a man whose professional ability has demanded the recognition he has received. Lancaster is to be congratulated.

On Wednesday, Dec. 4, at 10 A. M., Joseph F. Orendorff, administrator, will sell on the premises, 1 mile North of Emmitsburg, the personal property of the late David H. Orendorff, and at the same time and place, the heirs of the said decedent will sell the real estate consisting of 9 acres of land and improvements thereon. See bills. nov. 29-1t.

“Wooltex” Coats for The Little Miss.

“Wooltex” Coats for children are just as different in little girls’ coats as they are in girls of larger growth and for women. Different in Style, in Quality, in Service. “Wooltex” means Pure Wool, it means a certain designed style, it means two seasons of wear for good, it means an interlined yoke over chest and back. It means, too, that they cost less than qualities such as “Wooltex” usually cost.

NOTE.—Have the Branch send for some of them to look at or send to us for illustrated catalogue if you cannot come to see us.

The College Coat

For the Miss of Larger Growth or the Young Woman.

They show such snappy style that they instantly suggest the up-to-date college girl or stylishly dressed young woman. Look at the cut, note the mannish effect in its rather broad shouldered design. It is an overcoat, long, loose and easy. Pure wool—which gives a maximum of warmth with a minimum of weight, while tailoring is perfection in every detail.

If you care for clothes—it’s the coat you’ll want. The price is less than you’d expect, after seeing it on yourself.

Look up the coat question at once. There will be trouble to get selection a little later on.

LIVE CAPITAL TOPICS.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

Speaker Cannon has arrived in Washington, younger apparently than ever and fully alive to the financial situation. But he professes to be in no hurry for currency action. He intimates that he will be pleased to allow such action when the House decides on it, but says that the panic is already passing and that it will be better to wait till the pinch is entirely over and then legislate at leisure instead of attempting to hustle through some sort of legislation without due consideration.

This suggestion is well enough in theory, but the country has passed through a good many periods of panic and depression before and there has been ample time between whiles for currency legislation, but it has always been talked to death and no action taken. It seems rather the case of the man with the leaky roof: When it was raining, he couldn't fix it and when it was not raining, he did not need to.

One of the other suggestions that has been made is by Senator Hansborough of North Dakota. He says that he intends to introduce a bill as soon as Congress assembles providing for a central bank of issue, located somewhere in the middle West, in St. Louis or Chicago. This bank would be allowed to issue note circulation on the security of government bonds or other approved security in proportion to the needs of the various sections of the country. The circulation would be withdrawn when not actually needed.

Of course all eyes are turned on the more or less experimental issue of government bonds and certificates of indebtedness that the government is putting out to relieve the stringency of the money market. This action of the Secretary of the Treasury is praised or condemned according to the party to which commentator belongs. There seems to be little dissension however over the fact that it was about the only method of relief open to the Treasury Department and that it is going to be availed of by the banks to the full extent. Secretary Cortelyou has offered $50,000,000 in Panama bonds and $100,000,000 in low interest bearing certificates such as were authorized for issue during the war with Spain. This relief was originally intended as a war measure and it is perhaps stretching the law a little to invoke it in the present instance. But the application for bonds and certificates has already been great enough to show that the issue will be over subscribed. Most of the applications for allotment that have been received so far have been from individuals and from the smaller banks. The big banks never put in their bids for a bond issue till the last minute, partly to get the latest possible line on the market and partly to keep the amount of their bid from leaking out.

It is understood that a syndicate of the New York banks is going to bid on $20,000,000 worth of bonds. There have already been almost enough applications from other quarters to absorb the entire issue. Some of the applications have been accompanied by conditions, principally that a certain portion of the money paid in shall be deposited in the banks of the town from which the bid is received. The Treasury Department has returned all such bids, with the assurance that nothing but straight purchase offers will be considered and that the Department will not be limited by conditions of any sort. It is almost a certainty that the bulk of the money realized by the bond sale will be deposited in the West and middle West, where it is most needed for crop movement and other practical purposes. The President has in fact been annoyed by the way that many of the banks, especially the New York banks have held on to government funds after they got them in their vaults. This hoarding of cash by the banks is quite as bad for the general situation as the hoarding of cash by individuals. It defeats the very object for which additional funds are being distributed. The New York banks have been the worst offenders in the cash hoarding business, but the interior banks have not been far behind them. It is not intended to give any additional relief to the New York banks if it can be avoided.

Of course there have been any number of suggestions made for reforming the currency system when Congress meets. Few of the suggestions come from men whose positions entitle them to much consideration. It is interesting to note that one of these is William J. Bryan, who is now in Washington. Mr. Bryan said that he had been in favor of currency reform for years, and that when in Congress had presented a bill for that purpose, his suggestion was now along the same lines. It was that the government should absolutely guarantee the deposits of all national banks, and should have the failure of any one of them made good by the other banks under similar government guarantee. This looks on the face of it like a rather cool offer for the government to make to the banks namely that they make good the losses through the failure of any one of their associates in return merely for a government guarantee of their deposits. In reality, however, it is not a half bad suggestion. The losses through national bank failures annually amounts to only one tenth of one per cent. of their capital stock. The banks of the country could well afford this slight tax for the sake of the government guarantee, as the depositors would be absolutely protected, and would feel just as much confidence in such a bank as they would in the Treasury Department itself. The confidence is the only thing lacking to make the panic absolutely a thing of the past. Mr. Bryan points out in his suggestion that one advantage of this remedy is that the machinery for its operation is already in existence. All that would be necessary would be to pass a law putting it into effect. It is assumed that the banks would readily subscribe to such an arrangement.

There would of course be the objection raised that it would protect the national banks at the expense of the State banks but there is nothing to prevent the individual states from putting similar laws into operation governing their own banks.

ABOUT JOB PRINTING.

GOOD PRINTING means more than the use of type and ink and paper. Any printer can "set up" a quantity of type and "run off" a number of impressions. This is printing; but it is not always Good Printing.

The Chronicle Press

GOOD PRINTING is the result of using appropriate type in an appropriate manner, with due regard for the purpose for which the finished product is to be used.

And Good Printing

GOOD PRINTING requires judgment, an appreciation of the artistic, a positive realization of effect, and a nicety of distinction with regard to the color, the quality, the very texture of the stock—the paper—used.

Are Synonymous Terms.

BAD OR INDIFFERENT PRINTING misrepresents the one who makes use of it. It is a poor introduction for any business man—and it is the most expensive kind of printing.

To Farmers---A Word of Explanation.

There seems to be an impression that the Fine Set of Harness offered by the EMMITSBURG CHRONICLE for the best article on farming will be awarded to the farmer who has raised the biggest crop.

This is a decided mistake.

The sole idea is to get a series of articles for publication, written by practical farmers, explaining the methods by which they have succeeded with various crops.

Thus the man who farms 30 acres is on the same footing with the one who farms 300, for the one who cultivates the small farm may have far better ideas than he who owns a greater number of acres, and his product, in proportion, may be greater.

It is simply a question of who has the best ideas.

Valuable Offer to Farmers

In order to benefit farmers in general by giving them—

Free of Cost

—the most practical suggestions about raising paying crops of various kinds, gained from actual experience.

The Chronicle Will Present a Set of Fine Harness to the farmer who sends to this office before January 1st, 1908, the best article on the methods by which he has raised the most successful crops.

As substance is what is wanted, writing, punctuation or expression will not be counted—thus an article indifferently written, but containing the best ideas, will count for more than a well written but less practical one.

CONDITIONS:

1. Every competitor must be a yearly subscriber to THE CHRONICLE.
2. The number of acres cultivated, the character of the soil and the reasons for everything done, must be given.
3. Under each article must appear a fictitious name, and accompanying it must be a sealed envelope containing the real name of the writer. The outside of the envelope must bear the same name that is appended to each article.
4. Every manuscript submitted is to become the property of THE CHRONICLE.
5. Articles must be written on one side of the paper only.
6. None but the assumed name will be published with each article.
7. The decision as to which article is the best will be made by three farmers residing in another county and unknown to those competing.
8. The result of the award will be published in some issue of THE CHRONICLE as soon after January 1st, 1908, as possible and the real name of the successful competitor and his name only will be published, and the harness delivered.
9. Any farmer or farm worker, no matter where he resides, may submit articles and any number of articles may be sent in by the same person.

SUGGESTIONS:—Send in your articles as soon as possible. In giving your experience with any particular crop state the kind of weather that prevailed when you began to plow—why you plowed deep or shallow as the case may be—what work you did on the crop before it was harvested and for what reason—what fertilizer and how much you used and why—when you harvested your crop or crops—the gross and net weight or measurement of the same.
