Pattern For Doll's Prince Chap Suit Designed by May Manton-No. 5802.

The demand for smart and up to date The demand for smart and up to date clothing which is so keenly felt by the women of today is apparent in the realm of dolldom quite as well as that in real life. Every truly devoted little mother wants to see her play children gowned correctly and smartly, and such a little suit as this one consequently is certain to meet a hearty welcome. It combines the fashionable plaited skirt and the Prince Chap coat and can be made from pongee, from silk, from mohair, from cloth, from cheviot or from any material of the sort.

One Too Many.

A street car in charge of a newly appointed Irish conductor had just left the car barn for the downtown run. Before it had proceeded many blocks it was boarded by an inspector. This official, after a glance at the register and the occupants of the car, asked in surprise: "Why, O'Flaherty, how's this? You have seven passengers, and the register shows but six fares rung

"Begorra, is that so?" puzzled the green conductor. Then instantly a happy solution of the difficulty struck him. "Git out o' here, wan o' yez!" he shouted. "There's wan too many o yez on this car!"-Harper's Weekly.

A New Way to Propose.

[Original.]

Roland Nason prided himself on being original. Conventional methods were irksome to him. When the time came for him to go to Louise Allinson's father to ask for her hand he disdained to put the case in the ordinary way -viz, "I love your daughter and will do my best to make her happy." He fourth years a man's hair grows more had a way of his own of making his proposition.

Entering the library, he found Mr. Allinson with his evening paper, smoking. There was some of the trepidation usual to such situations in the young man's breast, but he did not show it. On the contrary, he assumed a very careless manner. He was little known to the man to whom he made his application, though he had been for houses which Washington is supposed some time devoted to his daughter. This is not strange. Even a couple courting really know little of each oth- is riddled with Revolutionary bullets. er, for they invariably assume to be what they are not and seldom disabuse each other till after they are married discovered the other day in Cleveland. and come down from acting parts to After a trip he washes up and appears life's real drama. Without giving Mr. Allinson even an opportunity to speak a civil word by way of welcome Nason began to state his case.

"I have come, sir," he said, "to tell you that your daughter loves me and has set her heart on me. It does not matter that I may be unworthy of her or that I cannot, at least not now, maintain her in the style to which sne has been accustomed. I know that she W. A. Brady in a new play. has always been given what she has doubt that you will not refuse her. I have the honor to ask that you will give me to her."

Mr. Allinson when the young man began laid down his paper, took his cigar from between his lips and sat with it between his first and second fingers. There was no readable expression on his face. Indeed, it was impenetrable. It was some time after the request had been made before he moved; then he resumed his cigar, gave a few deliberate puffs and, again lowering it, said:

"You are quite right in assuming that my daughter has always been given what she has desired. No other course has been possible. From her earliest childhood she has dominated every one of her family by an iron will which would get anything she wished out of a brazen image. It doesn't matter that you can't afford to give her luxuries. She will have them so long as you have a cent left. Then after she has exhausted your resources she will doubtless come back upon me. Her marriage with you, however, will enable me to make an escape. The day that you are married I propose to take her mother abroad, and we shall fix our residence in some corner of the globe where your wife will not be able to find us. This is the happiest day I have known since the little curmudgeon was born. How soon can you arrange to be married?"

As Mr. Allinson proceeded with his catalogue of terrors young Nason look- treasury on this account, although in- friends. Even nowadays enemies do ed for some indication that he was speaking in jest. loans I have out." Having thus put an end to the interview, Mr. Allinson began to scan the news and Nason withdrew. Louise was waiting for him in another room, but he slunk out of the front door and vanished down the street. Louise, surprised, went to the library. "Hasn't Roland been here, papa?" she asked.

"Yes." "And you have refused? Have you sent him away?' "Not at all. He chose an original way of making his request, and I chose an original way of granting it." "What did you tell him?" "That you would rule him with a rod of iron. "Why, papa!"

"All women rule, whether by a rod of iron or of flowers. Never mind, little girl. If he's not a fool he will come back.

The Wise Farmer

who intends to have sale in the Spring is he who has about decided upon the date and who is beginning to think of his Sale Bills. There is only one thing more for that man to do now, and that is to book his date at The Chronicle Office, so that he may avoid conflicting with the time some other person may have chosen. All persons advertising their sales in The Chronicle, in addition to hav-

There are about as many minds as to just what is needed in the way of a currency bill as there are men in both houses of Congress. There are all sorts of freak measures from free silver to greenbackism. But there are about four possible solutions of the problem that will be seriously considered. Indeed whether any one of them is really a solution is a question that time alone can determine. There is a proposition for a central bank of issue, more or less on the plan of the Bank of England or the Imperial Bank of Germany. There is another scheme, less intimately associated with the government of an organization among the existing banks a sort of general clearing house and bank with supervisory powers. Then there is the scheme for largely increased note issue based on securities other than government bonds, and finally a scheme for note issue based on the assets of the banks with a government guarantee behind it. Probably none of these schemes will be adopted outright. Each of them is a definite plan and any of them might work more or less well. But there are a number of "leaders" who will want to have a fiinger in the pie of final settlement and it is easy to see now that the ultimate bill will be a compromise measure, trimmed to suit various interests and to satisfy individual and personal vanities. In the end the measure probably will be neither fish, flesh or fowl and the only thing assured, if there be legislation at all, is that it will be a party measure in the worst sense of the term. It is wished by the party managers that the bill may be framed in committee and brought to the House and Senate ready to be jammed through under the party whip. That is the only way that it ever will get through and there probably will be a lively fight over it even then. It is quite as likely that the bill will be endlessly amended on the floor of the House and Senate, bandied back between conference and floor, and possibly in the end talked to death, ending up the session unpassed under the warning of the leaders against 'hasty and ill-considered legislation." The War Department is going for dirlgible balloons at once without waiting for next Spring. Army officers have been detailed to watch the tests of a new motor in which the Department is interested. Without saying just what the motor is, it may be said that it has been brought down in weight to 4 pounds to the horsepower for the larger sizes. It is the most powerful motor of its weight that the Department has been able to find in this country and several of them have been ordered for the several airships that will soon be under construction. A ship built by the private firm that manufactures the motor was tried out the other day in the presence of some representatives of the War Department. It was something of a departure in the line of dirigible balloons. It used the gas bag to lift the bulk of the weight of the ship, but was slightly heavier than air when fully loaded and depended on the thrust of its propellers for part of its bouyancy as well as for its driving power. It made an ascent of several hours' duration; attained an altitude of 1,800 feet and made, in still air, a speed of 30 miles an hour. The trial was very satisfactory and a number of the features will be incorporated in the balloons that the department is preparing to build.

Another step has been taken in the fight with the Tobacco Trust in the case of the $7,200 worth of cigarettes that were recently seized at Norfolk. The Trust after putting up adequate bond was allowed to ship the cigarettes AC broad. They were intended for the trade supplied by the British-American Tobacco Company and were originally siezed under the claim of the government that it had a right to levy on trust goods in interstate or foreign commerce. The and out it probably will be a long time before the case comes to a settlement which must eventually be before the United States Supreme Court. Meantime the Trust is free to ship its goods abroad, giving bond to cover the amount if any more of them should be siezed.

There was an interesting visitor at the White House this week in the person of old Ezra Meeker, one of the pioneers of the Northwest who has for almost two years engaged in a journey from Tacoma, Wash., to the White House in a prairie schooner drawn by oxen. He is interested in a trans-continental road from the Atlantic to the Pacific to be known as the Pioneer Way in memory of the men with the ox and wagon trains who opened up the West to settlement. Ezra drove up to the White House in his ox drawn wagon and was introduced to the President by Representative Cushman of Washington. The President walked out bareheaded in the cold wind and looked over Unionicle the team and was introduced to the hired man and the oxen. He expressed himself as much interested in the plan for a great inter-ocean roadway, but there is a serious question whether the scheme will become anything more than a scheme for many Printing Only. years to come.

GOOD PRINT-ING means more than the use of type and ink and paper. Any printer can "set up" a quantity of type and "run off" a number of impressions. This is printing; but it 's not always Good Printing.

GOOD PRINT-GOOD PRINT-ING is the result of using appropriate type in an appropriate manner, with due regard for the purpose for which the finished product is to be used.

GOOD PRINT-ING requires GOOD PRINTjudgment, an appreciation of the artistic, a positive realization of effect, and a nicety of distinction with regard to the color, the quality, the very texture of the stock—the paper-used.

To Farmers---A Word of Explanation.

There seems to be an impression that the Fine Set of Harness offered by the Emmitsburg Chronicle for the best article on farming will be awarded to the farmer who has raised the biggest crop.

This is a decided mistake. The sole idea is to get a series of articles for publication, written by practical farmers, explaining the methods by which they have succeeded with various

Thus the man who farms 30 acres is on the same footing with the one who farms 300, for the one who cultivates the small farm may have far better ideas than he who owns a greater number of acres, and his product, in proportion, may be greater.

It is simply a question of who has the best ideas.
