LIQUOR ISSUE IN FRED'K

LAWBREAKING GROCER

The People Realize Importance of Subject

PROMINENT MAN INTERVIEWED

Saloon's Peculiar Place in Society, The Liquor-Selling Grocery Store Occupies Anomalous Position.—Wants High License.

FREDERICK, MD., Feb. 22.—"I have read with much interest," said Mr. W. Harry Haller, the well-known insurance agent, "the letter in the CHRONICLE of February 12, about the anti-saloon crusade in Ohio. It impressed me as being a fair and temperate presentation of the problem and, possibly, Frederick can profit from the experience of Ohio in dealing with the liquor traffic.

"Frederick has just cause for pride in the part she has played in the epoch making events of our national history and perhaps our people dwell too much upon her past and its traditions and do not think enough about the problems of the present day. With a population of 10,000, Frederick city annually issues 30 licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquor. It is common knowledge that of all the places where liquor is sold the law-breaking grocery is the most demoralizing and dangerous. The license granted to grocers permits the sale of intoxicants in quantities not less than pints and specifically states that drinking on the premises is absolutely prohibited. Yet the back room, the convenient dark corners and immunity from suspicion render the law-breaking grocery a far more formidable problem than the saloon proper.

"The latter occupies a place in the community that is all its own. Everyone knows what it is and the man who patronizes it is 'spotted' by his fellow townsmen. Nor does the better class of saloon sell to women and minors. The grocery on the other hand plays an intimate part in the family life. To it must go the wives and children to procure daily necessities. The tempting display of wine and liquor amongst the goods, the half-drunk negro and white loafers, in the lower class of groceries, the evil talk, in fact all of the degrading influences of the saloon in a seemingly innocent environment, are fearfully demoralizing in their effects upon the young. Boys of 16 and upwards, are allowed to drink in the secrecy of the back room and a close study of this subject has absolutely convinced me that the majority of the lads who are addicted to the use of stimulants contract the habit in the grocery stores. At night the more daring of these places are veritable dives. Negroes congregate and behavior is permitted that would not be tolerated for a moment in a well regulated saloon. To cite a single instance: On a prominent business street there stands a grocery, whose owner and proprietor is a man of some position in the town. Directly opposite is an out and out negro joint, yet, the latter is actually a more respectable institution than the former.

"While it is not my purpose to suggest a remedy for these conditions I may say that I am, personally, in favor of high license and I believe a majority of the people here who have given the subject serious consideration agree with me. However, I am more concerned at this time to call attention to a phase of the question that is generally overlooked. A popular local divine, who is also one of the leading lights of the Anti-Saloon League, was recently asked the question: 'Why is it that the churches have presented a united front against the saloon, and yet accept the money of, and administer the communion year after year to the grocery bar-keepers, who are surely worse than the men who make no pretense of being other than what they are?' After a moment's thought he replied, 'I have three such in my congregation.' I can only say it is a damnable inconsistency. And so it is."

RETRIAL OF $29,000,000 OIL FINE

Defence Charges Impropriety in Drawing Jury Panel.

The retrial of the $29,000,000 fine case of the Standard Oil Company at Chicago opened on Tuesday with a sensation. The defence charged that the jury had been drawn improperly and presented a motion to quash the venire of 150 men. There were too many farmers in the lot.

The case will be the most hotly contested one ever held in Chicago. The fine which was imposed by Judge Landis on the first conviction was reversed by the Court of Appeals and the case remanded for a new trial.

SECRET SERVICE DEPT

President Again Takes Up Cudgel in Defence

SENATOR MAKES MISSTATEMENT

Restrictions Placed on Bureau by Congress Should be Removed.—Short History of the Department.

The President has again taken up the matter of removing the restrictions placed by Congress on the Secret Service. In a letter to Senator Hale made public last Monday he attacked the report of Senator Hemenway declaring it was misleading. Senator Hemenway reported for the Committee considering the subject. His report states that there are more than 3000 men now in the Secret Service and inspection work of the government. In the last few years the number has trebled; and that if they were to march through the streets of Washington they would make an 'army'; also that at the close of President McKinley's Administration there were only '167' such men on the payroll, and that we now have 'over 3000' and the appropriations on that account for last year amounted to about '$10,000,000.'

All these items are declared by the President to be misstatements, not in accordance with the facts and in some respects comical. The answer from Congress will not be made at present. Investigations are going on and will continue for some time. The turn that affairs have taken may lead Roosevelt to veto the Sundry Civil bill with the provision in it to restrict the use of the Secret Service.

The Secret Service is a department of the Treasury Department and was organized in 1864, having 28 secret service districts throughout the country. The bureau was not created by law, nor recognized by Congress by special expense appropriations. Since 1865 secret service officers have invariably accompanied the President upon his journeys and during his absence from the White House. Some members of this bureau are stationed in foreign countries. Quite recently detectives of the service have been investigating certain alleged irregularities here at Emmitsburg.

FEATURES OF INAUGURATION

Unique Souvenir and Last Appearance of Veterans.

The chief feature of the "inaugural souvenir" is undoubtedly the biography of the new President by the man he will succeed. Mr. Roosevelt says that "no man of better training" has ever come to the Presidency than Mr. Taft. In him are combined "entire fearlessness in stating and upholding his own convictions with the ability to avoid giving needless offense to those whose convictions differed from his."

The attendance at the ceremonies promises to exceed all previous records. The arrangements made by the proper committee with the proprietors of hotels, boarding houses and the like, will not permit visitors to be charged exorbitant rates.

"A man or woman of moderate means may plan to spend three or four days in Washington during the inaugural period at a cost for lodgings and food of $2.00 per day."

On March 4 the veterans of the Civil War may make their last appearance in an inaugural pageant. They are becoming too feeble to stand the effort of the long journey around the city and it was seriously considered, in view of the fact that the weather on March 4, is not always ideal, not having them appear this year. Their chiefs say it probably will be the last inaugural in which they will appear as a body.

N. Y. C. R. R. MUST PAY $108,000

Supreme Court Decision Seriously Effected Stock Market.

The verdict of the United States Circuit Court for the southern district of New York, imposing a fine of $108,000 on the New York Central Railroad Company, on the charge of granting rebates to the American Sugar Company was affirmed on Tuesday by the Supreme Court of the United States.

The rebates to the American Sugar Refining Company were given on shipments of sugar in 1906 from New York to Cleveland and Detroit. Six offenses were charged and fines of $18,000 each were imposed by the trial court.

This decision caused a break in the prices on Wall Street and the stock markets in London and other points were greatly affected.

FREDERICK AND STATE ROADS

GENERAL DISAPPROVAL OF TENTATIVE DECISION

Frederick County's Appeals From Plan Of State Roads Commission Are Being Heard To-Day

PEOPLE WANT ROUTE TO TAKE IN FREDERICK AND EMMITSBURG

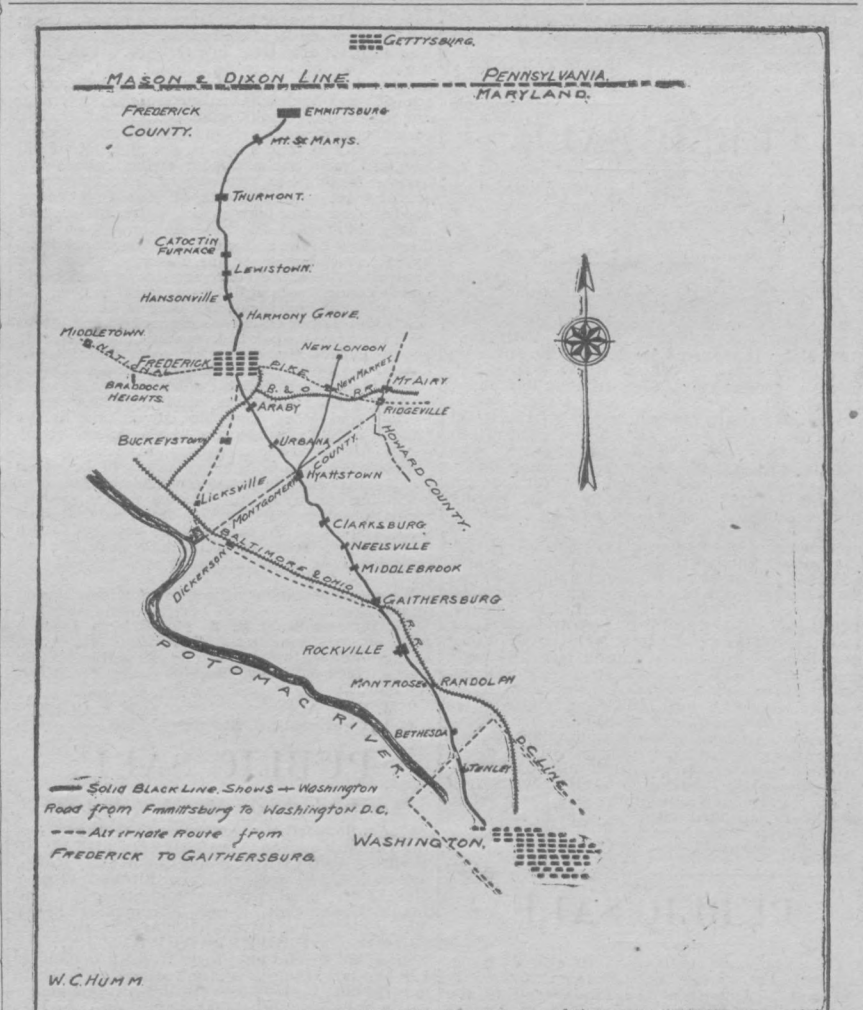

To Serve Most People In Best Way The Commission Will Change Their Selection And Follow Route Advocated In The Chronicle.—Population Of Sections Traversed Compared Shows That In One Way 1103 Voters Are Served, The Other Reaches Over 5000.—Which Is Best?

The readers of THE CHRONICLE are acquainted with the tentative decision of the State Roads Commission concerning the route in Frederick county as published last week. At Hyattstown, according to the commission the road serves to the East and makes New London the terminal point. This decision has met with almost unanimous disapproval. To-day the commission will meet to hear appeals from their choice.

A glance at the map will show what an absurd action it would be to bury the nose of a State road in a place where

It may be claimed by some that the people of Frederick can use the National pike from Frederick to New Market and thence to Hyattstown but the major part of Frederick county and the whole of Montgomery county would be required to travel unnecessarily a distance of seven miles or more and without any apparent reason. New London is a small village and as the terminus of a State Road seems ridiculous.

The manufacturers, merchants and business men of the county have generally expressed themselves by petition and letters to the commission, the miles of road would have to be built to find it. New London is New London and that's all. Nine people out of every ten of the whole population of Frederick county would have to be guided to New London and 70 per cent. of the people never heard of this proposed terminus.

The above map represents the straight line road, from Emmitsburg to Washington embracing Frederick and Montgomery counties, that meets with the approval of the leading business men of this county.

It is not the purpose of the commission to merely build so many miles of road and spend so many millions of money. Rather do the people desire their commission to consider the greatest number of people; to provide roads where the necessities of the greatest population are met; to connect the various county seats and place these model highways in populous sections where they may and can be used. None of these considerations are met in this county by the proposed route to New London. Frederick, the rich and populous country adjacent to the county seat, Thurmont, Emmitsburg are all neglected. Take away from Frederick county the country that would be benefited by such an artery of commerce and communication as the one wanted by the people (from Hyattstown to Frederick, to Lewistown, Thurmont and Emmitsburg) and you have left but an insignificant portion of the county's wealth and population.

The entering of Frederick county at Hyattstown is altogether right as it nearly bisects the boundary line between Frederick and Montgomery counties and affords to the people on the right and left the opportunity of building branch roads into the stem road and if continued through our county in the same way would be highly advantageous to the people.

Train Falls Down 100-Foot Cliff.

A passenger train on a railroad in Ecuador, South America, was thrown from the track and fell a distance of 100 feet. Twenty-five persons were killed and 400 wounded.

To Try Being Dry For Thirty Days.

The warring factions in the South Carolina Senate, it is said, have agreed on pending liquor legislation which will result in State wide prohibition in that State for one month.

business men of Frederick have joined their voice to the chorus and it seems unlikely that this unanimous appeal will be unheeded by the gentlemen who make up the Maryland State Roads Commission.

They cannot fail to be impressed with the responsibility that rests on their decision. The money that is to be spent by the State is no niggardly sum and is to be used for no trivial or ephemeral purpose. The roads to be constructed are supposed to be permanent—monuments to the wisdom of the present managers of the State's affairs—and as such, mistakes in their placement would be but to perpetuate and conserve an error and reverse the wisdom of those who are responsible for this good movement.

The objections to the route to Dickerson are as well grounded as those against the route to New London, for such a road would parallel a railroad, thus giving two outlets to one people and denying a large number any good means of ingress and egress.

A look at the following tables will show conclusively the number of people served on the tentative route and on the one desired by the people. The registered voters are given for each of the districts:

PLOTTERS IN CONGRESS

Scheme to Embarrass President Roosevelt.

BOOMING SENATOR HEMENWAY

Time Their Action So as To Strike When There Is Little Danger of Being Hit.—Would Estrange Taft.

Congress is trying its best to discredit President Roosevelt's administration before he becomes a private citizen and humiliate him when he can't hit back. The latest effort of this kind is the attempt being made to separate the friendship that exists between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft by a breach not easily repaired.

The Secret Service dispute is now being used by the plotters in the Senate and House. The recent attack made upon the veracity of Senator Hemenway, the Senator who read the report of the Committee on appropriations, is taken by Hemenway's friends and Roosevelt's enemies as a move on the part of the President to forever kill the chances of Mr. Taft appointing Hemenway to a position in his cabinet. The President while attacking the report, so these men allege, made his remarks personal reflecting on the character of the man who presented the report. A plan is now being hatched to have another report read before the expiration of the Sixtieth Congress confirming the findings of the former one. With the contribution to the evidence made by this report the country will be deluged with a mass of evidence to prove the President wrong. Then all the influence that can be brought to bear on the new President will be used to have Hemenway appointed Secretary of the Treasury.

The Committee of the Judiciary began considering on Wednesday the report of the sub-committee on the Culberson resolution, which found the President had acted improperly in assenting to the merger of the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company with the United States Steel. There is more hesitation to use this question as a club, because of the gravity of the issue involved. Sustained it would be an indictment of Mr. Roosevelt for alleged connivance at violation of law.

EDUCATOR'S GRAVE NEGLECTED

First Principal of St. John's College and Provost of U. of P.

The grave of the first principal of St. John's College at Annapolis, John McDowell, LL.D., also a provost of the University of Pennsylvania is in a little cemetery in Franklin county, Pa., about half a mile from Lehman and three miles from Mercersburg, Pa., along the line of the South Penn Railroad, this prominent educator was buried. A brick wall capped with a marble slab, black with age and overgrown with vines and weeds marks his grave. It bears this inscription:

John McDowell, LL.D.
Born 1751 Died 1820
Aged 69 years
First Principal of St. John's College
the State of Maryland
Provost of the University of Pennsylvania.

In this cemetery in excellent order are the graves of the ancestors of President James Buchanan and all the members of that illustrious family except the President himself who is buried at Lancaster, Pa.

An effort is being made to stem the tide of migration westward. A meeting of real estate men of the East was held at New York last Saturday to form an organization for this purpose. Maryland was represented.

DR. BULL GIVES UP AT LAST

Famous Surgeon Dies Near Savannah, Ga., on Monday.

Dr. William Tillinghast Bull, the famous surgeon, who went to Savannah, Ga., recently from New York, died at Wyberly, Isle of Hope, at noon Monday. He had been failing for a week and became unconscious on Sunday.

Dr. Bull was one of the best known surgeons in New York. He was a native of Newport, R. I., and in 1893 married Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr. He was taken ill in New York city last summer and after several operations and a long period of illness, in which he displayed remarkable courage, he was taken to Georgia in the hope of receiving benefit from the warmer climate.

COON--SCOOPER EATS COAL

AND THEN SPITS FIRE

Fearful Monster Is Wounded By Doughty Citizens

ITS TAIL LOOKS LIKE W. F. & G. R. R.

Chased From The Coal Bunkers to the Woods of Carroll County.—Now Wears John Glass' Well As Nose-Ring.—Attacks Ed. Brown.

No wonder the Valley Register's story of the "go-devil" or "snally-gaster" created so much excitement throughout Frederick county. No wonder the people of Shepherdstown and Hansonville and Yellow Springs were scared out of their wits by the doings of this terrible "bovalipis" that spit fire and emptied a goldfish pond and laid an egg big enough to hatch an elephant. It was bad enough to hear that such a thing was anywhere in the State, but it is worse than ever to know that it has been right here in Emmitsburg district. Ed. Brown can prove it. According to him Dan Shorb and Bill Snider fought with it for one hour and a half on Saturday night and only by the prompt assistance of Norman Hoke, the deputy game warden, did they succeed in chasing it into the woods somewhere across the Carroll county line.

Brown declares that while he was sitting on the bench outside the Railroad Station reading the "Life of E. H. Harriman" and waiting for the evening train to come in, he heard a frightful racket near the new coal bunkers. Mr. Brown locked the safe and went out to investigate. "Evidently something is wrong! I can't see the coal," he exclaimed. "But I'll not be fooled." Mr. Brown started to count the coal. "Sixteen pieces short!" he cried in horror. Just then a dreadful thing happened.

But before this time, 6.23 P. M., Mr. Bill Snider was driving himself up the Pike and scared at something and broke his steering gear, and landed in the fateful coal bunker where Brown was figuring on the shrinkage on coal due to rate "D, minyung charge 2-8 per ounce." This was a few minutes before the catastrophe.

At this time there was a sound like rushing waters and the rending of adamant rocks. Bill Snider says it sounded for all the world like Flat Run at high tide where the waters rush over the rocks at Whitmore's warf, only more so. The air was charged with some peculiar smell, rather loud too for it awakened the man in the signal tower at Dry Bridge.

"It's the Sizzlehiss!" Snider screamed. Mr. Brown, not to be interrupted in his duty, kept on counting—"Six thousand two hundred and eighty-one, six thousand two hundred and eighty—help!" Feeling himself hoisted into the besmerched air he uttered this shriek. If Snider hadn't grabbed him by the foot and hadn't his suspenders broken he would have gone on up and no one can imagine what would have happened.

Ghost-like wings beat the air. Fire singed the pike and but for the thick layer of mud which protects the limestone on this thoroughfare, undoubtedly it would have looked like Le Gore's lime kilns. Dreadful bristles stuck from its snout and its hide was the color of the down side of a catfish.

"It looked like a giraffe on roller-skates," said Mr. Snider. "Its beak was serrated with great tusks and between them lay the partially consumed flesh of a colored man nearly putrid. Its snout resembled a silo and from the corners of its mouth leaked a fluid like melted brimstone.

"I was pretty badly frightened but when I saw Mr. Dan Shorb coming to the rescue I picked up courage. Shorb said 'It's the Coon-Scooper, Eeny, mene minee, moo, me for the W. C. T. U.' The effect was marvellous. As near as I can remember the beast took to the North, its long tail (Continued on page 6)

JEFF DAVIS' NAME ON BRIDGE

Letters Ordered On Tablet That Were Chipped Off In 1862.

By order of the President the name of Jefferson Davis will be restored to the tablet in the masonry arch at Cabin John bridge from which it was erased during the civil war.

Caleb Smith, Secretary of the Interior from 1861-62, ordered the name chipped from the stone tablet after a motion to that effect introduced by Galusha Grow was passed by Congress. Jefferson Davis was Secretary of War when the bridge was completed by army engineers.

GETTYSBURG LETTER

On Monday evening, February 15, Miss Lily Daugherty entertained her Sunday school class and a number of friends at a Valentine party given at her home, 66 High street. A very pleasant evening was spent. About thirty guests were present.

Miss Ida Sheads, one of Gettysburg's best know ladies, died at her home on East High street last Monday morning at 9.30 o'clock from a complication of diseases. She was aged about 54 years.

Miss Sheads had been ill for about five months, having been to a Philadelphia hospital not long since, where, after consultation between eminent physicians, an operation was deemed useless, and she returned to her home in this place to patiently await the end.

For a period of thirty-five years she has been one of Gettysburg's school teachers, and in this vocation she has been very successful. She took a great interest in her life work, and it is shown by the records that a total of over 1,400 pupils have received instruction from her.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at her home, after which her remains were taken to the Methodist Church, of which she was a consistent member, and further services held. As a token of deference to the deceased, all the public schools of the town were closed and the pupils of the school she was compelled to abandon by reason of sickness, attended in a body, as well as all the teachers and school officers of the town.

Services at the church were in charge of Rev. W. W. Hartman, pastor, assisted by Rev. D. W. Woods pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Dr. T. C. Billheimer, ex-president of the Gettysburg School Board, spoke of her attainments as a teacher; Prof. W. J. Book, Principal of Schools, spoke of her relations to teachers and pupils, and Rev. Hartman spoke of her Christian life.

The selections were sung by a quartette composed of Mrs. C. F. Golt, Miss Flora Beard, Messrs. J. C. Wierman and A. Z. Rodgers, W. H. Eckert playing the accompaniments. The interment was made in Evergreen Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Hon. W. T. Ziegler, A. Danner Buehler, Prof. W. J. Book, J. W. Flaherty and C. W. Holtzworth. She is survived by one brother Chas. Sheads, of this place.

The election of last Tuesday was more warmly contested than is customary for Spring elections. J. A. Holtzworth was elected Burgess on the Democratic ticket by a majority of 339 over Calvin Gilbert, Republican.

In the first of a series of three games of basketball between the town and college teams, Tuesday evening the latter were victorious, winning by a score of 39 to 11. The game was witnessed by a small but interested crowd. It was fiercely fought and at times very roughly.

A very pretty Lincoln-Washington entertainment was given at Pitzer's school house, Cumberland township, Thursday evening under the supervision of Miss Bessie Trostle, teacher, ably assisted by the scholars, patrons and friends of the school. The programme consisted of songs, recitations, dialogues and acrostics. All participating executed their parts well.

Miss Collins presided at the organ furnishing accompaniments for the vocal music while Messrs. D. B. Wible and George Spangler furnished the instrumental music. The school house was packed to its utmost capacity and a number were unable to gain an entrance.

J. L. Butt, Esq., assignee of the Gettysburg Brick Company, on last Tuesday disposed of the company's plant at this place. The purchasers were the Auburn Shale Brick Co., of Auburn, Pa. The consideration was $40,000. The new company will remodel the plant and manufacture all kinds of building and paving brick.

Camp No. 112, Sons of Veterans, held a bazaar in their Armory on Carlisle street, all last week.

Mrs. C. M. Doll, of Frederick, spent some time at her parents in this place. Rev. Dr. A. R. Steck, of York, a former pastor of St. James Lutheran church, preached in that church Monday evening.

Rev. W. W. Hartman, of the M. E. church is conducting a series of revival meetings.

An evangelistic meeting is in progress at St. James Lutheran church. On the first evening, Sunday, the large edifice was filled to its utmost capacity. Mr. J. Raymond Heminger, a noted evangelist known as the "sweet singer," has charge of the music and is assisted by a choir of nearly 100 voices.

G. F. G. E. Thomas, of Wolf Hill, known as the "Hermit" was found on Sunday morning hanging to a rafter in his cabin, by Jacob Roffensberger and Bernard Hoffman.

Mr. Thomas was a native of Germany coming to this country many years ago. He was an eccentric gentleman, preferring the solitude of his home in the wilds of Wolf Hill to a more thickly populated community. His home was a rough cabin which he erected from scraps of boards and tin, and notwithstanding this was noted for its immaculate cleanliness.

"Freddy" was always cordial to visitors and the gentlemen who found his lifeless body were going to his home to have a chat. They found all doors and windows securely fastened on the inside, so they procured a ladder and ascended to a second story window, where they were surprised to see the body in an almost sitting posture, a thin strap, which had evidently strangled him to death, was about his neck.

District Attorney Neely, who was notified, deemed an inquest unnecessary. The body was removed to the County Home by Stewart Foster Beard. He was last seen alive on Tuesday evening.

Several notes were found indicating that he had been in constant dread of some unknown enemy. This is attributed as the cause of his self-destruction. Whether his enemy was a real or imaginary one will remain a mystery, as his secret will be buried with him.

TANEYTOWN ITEMS.

The Misses Clara and Josephine Reindollar gave a progressive euchre last week. The guests were, Mr. and Mrs. George Arnold, Mrs. Endora Grossfield, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliot, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Miller, Mrs. George Motter, Mrs. Margaret Reindollar, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roelkey, Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Roop; the Misses Gertrude Gardner, Alice Reindollar, and Eileen Schwartz; Dr. C. Birnie, Messrs. Robert Arnold, George H. Birnie, William Brecker, Maurice Duttera, George Elliot, Rein Motter, and Walter Wilt. The out of town guests were, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Hockman, of Waynesboro, Miss Joseph Miller, of Thurmont, and Mr. Clarence Ott, of Loy's.

Mr. L. D. Reid has resigned from the principalship of the public school and will become Treasurer of the Carroll County Insurance Company. Mr. James B. Galt will take Mr. Reid's place in the school for the remaining part of the term.

Miss Mary Reindollar is visiting in Mechanicsburg, Pa.

Miss Jennie Galt spent several days in New Windsor and Bruceville.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Welty and family, who have been living in town for several years, moved to near Emmitsburg this week. A number of Mr. Welty's friends gave him a surprise party last week.

Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Hockman, of Waynesboro, visited Mrs. C. E. Roop.

Mr. Joseph Douglas, of Frederick, was in town on Tuesday.

Mr. P. B. Englar paid a visit to Baltimore.

The Operetta, "Pauline," which was given Thursday night, scored quite a triumph. Notwithstanding the rainy night the Opera House was well filled with a most appreciative audience. A supper was given to the company in the Fireman's Building after performance. The Operetta will be repeated next week.

Miss Edna Goff was home from Friday until Monday.

FRIENDS' CREEK ITEMS

Mrs. J. P. Alexander spent Saturday at the home of Mr. Martin Eyer, Sr.

Mrs. Ruth Kipe is visiting Mrs. Hardman.

Mrs. S. A. Kipe and family were recent guests of Mr. W. H. Kipe.

Mrs. Samuel Humerick and daughter, have returned home after spending a few days with Mr. H. W. Kipe, of near Rouzersville.

Mr. Orville Gallion has returned after spending a few days with friends in this place.

Miss Nora Shriner spent Sunday at the home of Mr. S. H. Duffey.

Miss Rhoda Kipe, visited at the home of Mr. Jacob Turner on Sunday.

Mr. James Wetzel and family, of Slabtown, visited Mrs. Harriet Zimmerman.

Mr. W. H. Kipe is on the sick list at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harbaugh, of Fountain Dale, called on Mrs. M. J. McClaine.

Miss R. S. Kipe called at the home of Mrs. Zimmerman on Monday.

Mr. Alfred Brown and family were the guests of Mrs. M. J. McClaine on Sunday.

MOUNT SAINT MARY'S

Rev. J. B. Manley, formerly pastor of St. Anthony's but now of Hamilton, Md., has taken a trip to California for the benefit of his health.

The dance given at Valley View on Monday evening was well attended. The young folks of St. Anthony's parish who had charge of the affair wish to express through THE CHRONICLE their thanks to Mrs. Gloninger for her kindness in allowing them the use of her home for the occasion.

The play that the Dramatic Club had planned for Easter Monday has been postponed to a later date.

Through the kindness of Rev. Father Flynn the students at the college enjoyed a "Rec" day on Monday.

The dance given at Bird's farm on Wednesday of last week was attended by 50 or 60 persons.

Negroes are again giving trouble in Annapolis. On Tuesday a black man was caught robbing a store and was captured by the proprietor of the place but a gang of Negro toughs released the burglar.

How It Was Written.

"Two lines and only two of 'Bright, Bright Home' were sung every night till Pinks fell asleep," said the composer of "The Bright, Bright Home."

"Sometimes the sleep was only feigned, and, as I was about to move away from the crib, the black head would rise from the pillow, and I knew what 'more, more' meant; simply this, that I had to sing 'Bright, Bright Home,' if need be till the breaking of the day."

"One night, in an unguarded moment, I promised that some day I would write a complete hymn if baby would fall asleep right away. And I was later held to the contract. Not long ago I sat down to my desk to make my word good but the fountains of poetry were dry. Two days afterwards I stretched myself on my couch and in a half dreamy mood the hymn came to me, all but two lines, which the Muse condescended to bestow some weeks later."

"Professor Halm kindly arranged the music to the tune which had so often been sung in the happy days of childhood."

Agreed to Disagree on Religion.

Judges Worthington and Motter on Saturday suspended judgment in the case of C. Hayes Landis, a Frederick merchant, indicted for nonsupport of his wife. Landis claimed at the time of his arrest that the trouble between him and his wife was due to a demand made by her and her parents that he embrace the Jewish religion, to which faith they belong. After they had been married several days, he said his wife broached the subject of religion and asked him to become a Jew. When he persisted in his refusal they took their daughter away, saying that when he made up his mind to become a Jew he should let them know.

Lenten Services in Reformed Church.

Beginning last Wednesday services during the season of lent will be held every Wednesday and Friday evening at the Reformed Church at 7.30 P. M. The Sunday services will be held in the morning at 10.30 and in the evening at seven o'clock. In Passion Week services every evening except Friday and Saturday, at the regular hour, 7.30 P. M. On Good Friday at 10.30 A. M., a special service. Preparation for the Holy Communion and Confirmation, Saturday afternoon at 2.30.

Found Guilty of Arson.

George Fisher was found guilty of arson on Tuesday at Frederick and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. The specific charge for which he was tried was that he together with James H. R. Lowe, in September last, set fire to two unfinished dwelling houses in Frederick belonging to Dr. E. H. Walter. George Fisher on the witness stand declared that he was asleep while Lowe, who made a confession implicating Fisher, set fire to the houses. Fisher was found guilty. He afterwards pleaded guilty to setting fire to box cars on the Northern Central Railroad.

A Noticeable Improvement.

The property formerly belonging to Mr. L. M. Motter, near the depot, and recently bought by Mr. Charles Stahley, has been greatly improved. The house has been entirely reshingled, a new porch replaces the old one, and interior improvements have also been made. Modern wire fencing and a general clearing up of the grounds add very much to the appearance of the premises.

Star Pitcher Signed Up For Life.

FREDERICK, MD., Feb. 23.—Mr. Reitz, the star pitcher of last year's local baseball team, has been signed for the coming season. He has also signed a longer contract having taken a life partner who was Miss Eliza Shipley of this place. The happy event occurred on Sunday February 21, and the bride and groom are now receiving the congratulations of their many friends.

Wheat Sells For $1.23.

Wheat on Wednesday was bought at the Hagerstown elevators for $1.23 a bushel, the highest price it has sold for in recent years. Washington county farmers are being benefited but little from the rise in the price of grain, however, as nearly all of them sold their supplies of wheat before the market advanced.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

No. 8142 EQUITY.

In the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity.

Isaac S. Bowers vs. Martha C. McNulty, et al.

The object of this petition is to procure an order for the resale of certain real estate in Frederick County, in this State which was decreed to be sold and was sold by the Trustee appointed by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, and the purchaser failed to pay the purchase money therefore:

The petition states, that on October 26th 1907, by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Frederick County, passed in No. 8142 Equity, the Trustee therein named, sold at public sale two tracts of land mentioned in said cause and described in Exhibits Nos. 1 and 2 therein, and for the sum of two hundred and eighty-five dollars upon the terms of sale set out in said decree viz: One third cash and the balance in two equal payments six and twelve months from the day of sale to a certain Isaac S. Bowers and said sale was duly reported to and ratified by said Court and said purchaser has paid the sum of one hundred dollars of said purchase money, but failed to pay the Balance although requested so to do and that the sum of one hundred and eighty-five dollars of said purchase money with interest thereon from day of sale is still due and unpaid.

That the said Isaac S. Bowers has left this State and does not reside therein.

The petition prays for an order of the said Court to pay the balance of the said purchase money with interest thereon and in default thereof that the said properties be resold at the risk of the said purchaser and that an order of publication be granted the petitioner, giving notice of the object and substance of the petition and such further and other relief as the case may require.

On the foregoing petition it is ordered by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, and by the authority thereof, on this 25th day of January, 1909, that the said Isaac S. Bowers bring into this Court the said sum of one hundred and eighty-five dollars with interest thereon from the 26th day of October, 1907, or show good cause to the contrary, on or before the 17th day of March, 1909, provided an order of publication and a copy of this order be published on the 17th day of March, 1909, in some newspaper published in Frederick County.

(Signed) JOHN C. MOTTER.

It is thereupon, this 25th day of January, 1909, ordered by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, in Equity, that the petitioner, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Frederick County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 27th day of February, 1909, give notice to the said absent Isaac S. Bowers, the purchaser, of the object and substance of this petition, warning him to appear in the Court in person, or by attorney, on or before the 17th day of March, next, to show cause if any he has, why an order ought not to be passed as prayed.

THE CHRONICLE will be independent in politics, progressive in spirit and a champion of what it conceives to be right. Its columns will always be open for a dignified discussion by the people of any subject that may seem to them interesting, or that may in anywise be a benefit to the community at large.

[Editorial from The Chronicle, June 8, 1906.]

ONLY ONE ROUTE—EMMITSBURG TO WASHINGTON.

In undertaking the expenditure of such a large amount of money on road improvement as that now contemplated, it is naturally to be supposed that the Good Roads Commission will endeavor to proceed in such a manner that the interests of the greatest number of people will be considered. In acting otherwise the Commission would be deservedly open to adverse criticism and also justly credited with a decided lack of knowledge as to the needs of the State and the wishes of a patriotic people. It is generally conceded that the proposition for a Lincoln Memorial Highway, as a national undertaking, is either impossible of consummation or too dormant to be revived with any hope of success within the lifetime of the present generation. Therefore on the State, and this part of the State, devolves the duty of perpetuating Lincoln's memory by a State road following the historic route so commendably and persistently advocated by the people of Western Maryland.

The route outlined in THE CHRONICLE, from both a historic and practical standpoint, is ideal. It covers the line of march taken by the Federal armies during the war, it links together more places of civil war interest than any yet suggested, (one spot, Emmitsburg, being the place originally determined upon for the big battle of the war,) and it connects by a very direct course, the Capital and the National battlefield of Gettysburg.

The practical side of the proposition is obvious. No route yet offered embraces so many different districts. No road yet proposed approaches a straight line so nearly as does this one. No pike can be secured or maintained as advantageously as the Frederick and Emmitsburg pike. No route other than this will supply as large, as representative, and as substantial a population. No other highway can be built with less outlay.

In view of all these facts we cannot for a moment believe that the Good Roads Commission will do otherwise than disregard its tentative plan and comply with the demand of the people.

FOR CHIEF JUDGE.

It seems to be generally conceded that Hammond Urner, Esquire, of Frederick, and Hon. Glenn H. Worthington, of the same city, will be the respective Republican and Democratic nominees for Chief Judge of the Sixth judicial district at the election to be held next November.

The position is an important one, embracing both Frederick and Montgomery counties, and it carries with it membership in the Maryland Court of Appeals, while the term is for fifteen years.

But as both of these gentlemen are equally qualified to fill that position it will probably be a hard matter for those who are not strict party men to make a choice between them.

Referring to Mr. Urner, the Montgomery Press says:

Mr. Urner is well fitted for the bench. He is a well read and painstaking lawyer, considered one of the best equipped members of the bar in this part of the State, while his engaging personality has won the esteem of his fellow citizens. Mr. Urner's popularity was shown in the election in 1907 when, as a candidate for Attorney General of Maryland, he carried Frederick county by more than 1700 majority. He is still a young man, capable of hard work, and a term of fifteen years on the bench would be taken from the best part of his life.

Those who have the pleasure of knowing Mr. Urner personally as well as those who know of him only through his career as a successful lawyer, will heartily endorse these statements of the Press, regarding them however, as does THE CHRONICLE, a very modest tribute to an excellent man.

As for Judge Worthington, no recommendation could be stronger than his record on the bench at Frederick and as judge of the Court of Appeals at Annapolis.

He has held the position only a short time—having been appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Chief Judge McSherry—but so capably has he filled it and with such fairness, that his political opponents and those who were perhaps a little skeptical at first, do not hesitate to accord to him all the honor his record deserves.

Judge Worthington's early training, his capacity for hard work, his careful attention to detail, his sound judgment as to the relative importance of matters big and little, and the fact that he has been a student all his life,—a student of law in its broadest sense,—these qualities of mind and temperament have been brought into play during his tenure of office, and from them have evolved the sound opinions and impartial decisions which have characterized him as a splendid judge and which emphasize his special fitness for the place.

IS IT NOT WORTH WHILE?

Without organization, the farmers of this district, as we have repeatedly stated, cannot reasonably expect to have enacted much legislation that will be of benefit to them. It is proverbial that whenever a legislator is approached by a resident of a community in the interest of a local measure, the first thing asked is, "Have you an organization?" The reply being in the negative, his advice is always, "Well, you people get together and talk it over and then send me a petition. More attention is paid, as you know, to organizations than to individuals."

Getting together is the point. But why they do not get together, why they do not organize into a body that can command attention from the Legislature or from county officials it is hard to understand. Other districts, other counties, have their clubs and granges and associations, and it is a matter of record that they succeed in getting roads and improvements and pretty much anything they ask for. Isn't it worth while, then, for the farmers of Emmitsburg district to follow their example?

"NEW FACES" DEMANDED.

The quiet, but nevertheless forceful, demand for "new faces" that is persistently being made and heard throughout the county with reference to the candidates for the several county offices, should not go unheeded. The people have a right to be heard, and where the opinion is so unanimous as it undoubtedly is now, and will be during the coming campaign for nominations, it would seem like anything but a politic move on the part of any party to disregard it. The opportunity now presents itself for those who have had their share of the patronage to do the magnanimous and stand aside in favor of others who are entitled to recognition.

ONE thing the Country Life Commission might inquire into, with a view to making things easier for a class that is now getting the short end of the proposition, is the disparity in the allotment of labor saving devices on the farm. It is too frequently the case that all the machinery for minimizing labor is bought by the farmer for use about the barn or in the field, while the wife is left to shift for herself in everything that pertains to household work and garden drudgery.

AGAIN the holy season of Lent is here and devout churchmen, having given up the pleasures and diversions of the outside world, are turning their attention to acts of penitence and prayer. To those who observe the forty days there must come—assuming that the real spirit of the fast is kept—a realization of the helplessness which a period of such self-abnegation invariably brings.

AMONG the other signs of approaching Spring is the large invoice of Government seeds sent to his constituents in this district by the Honorable George Alexander Pearre.

FROM all accounts there will be an unusually large consignment of lemons made use of by the voters of Montgomery county at the next congressional election.

MINISTRY IN GOVERNMENT

William H. Taft's Idea Of Clergyman's Place In Politics.

The University of Pennsylvania entertained and was entertained by the next President, Mr. Taft, on Monday, Washington's Birthday. The President-elect spoke on the "Relations of Professions to Political Government."

Mr. Taft considered all the leading profession in his remarks. Of the ministry he said: "Time was when the minister of the community was the highest authority as to what the law should be and how it ought to be enforced, but the spread of education and independent thinking, the wide diffusion of knowledge by the press and the disappearance of the simple village life have contributed radically to change the position and influence of the ministry in the community."

"During the administration of Mr. Roosevelt, and under the influence of certain revelations of business immorality, the conscience of the whole country was shocked and then nerved to the point of demanding that a better order of affairs be introduced. In this movement, the ministers of the various churches have recognized the call upon them to assist, and they have been heard in accents much more effective than ever before in half a century. The greatest agency to-day in keeping us advised of the conditions among Oriental races is the establishment of foreign missions. The leaders of these missionary branches of the churches are becoming some of our most learned statesmen in respect of our proper Oriental policies."

Power Mains Under London Streets.

In London, England, a company has been furnishing hydraulic power since 1887. It now has 160 miles of mains laid in the streets throughout the closely built up parts of the city on both sides of the river. It supplies hydraulic power for elevators and general power purposes, and there are over 6,000 connections to its mains. Turbines are extensively used in connection with this service, and are economically and successfully used for various purposes where continuously running machinery is required. The power is also used for running automatic pumping machinery and automatic ejectors for keeping the many basements, which are lower than the sewers, free from water. The system is in direct competition with electricity for power purposes, and in a number of cases, provides the water power to turn turbines directly connected with dynamos in isolated electric lighting plants.

There are four pumping stations. The water is pumped into accumulators loaded to a pressure of 750 pounds per square inch, producing the same effect as a reservoir at an elevation of 1,700 feet. The company states that there is an average pressure of 700 pounds day and night all the year round. The street mains are mostly 6-inch, there being some 7-inch in the more important centers. They are of extra heavy cast iron pipe with thick flanges.

Wife—"I can't understand, John, why you always sit on the piano-stool when we have company. Everybody knows you can't play a note." Husband—"I'm well aware of it, dear. Neither can any one else when I'm sitting there."—Judge.

IN PRAISE OF THE HOG

A Summary of the Great Good the Porker Does the World.

The news of the discovery of an anti-cholera serum for hogs, by a scientist at the State University of Missouri, is tremendously important, and it is said to be true. The hog may not figure in the popular mind as an inviting subject for a rhapsody, but when you come to consider his economic relationship to the concerns of humanity where will you find another animal with more points in his favor than just the hog, with all of his bristles and untidy habits?

The hog comes into this world almost without exception, in a "gregarious" form. One never hears of a little pig or a mature hog being "spoiled" because he is the only member of the family. There are always others—and plenty of them—to share the favors that come to the hog household. It is quite usual for the "family" to number eight or ten, and a litter of twelve is not phenomenal.

Well, within less than a year of the birth of a litter of pigs they are full grown hogs, carrying several hundreds of pounds of the best meat that ever came from the hand of nature.

Again, each several hog when he goes to market carries in his corpulent carcass about ten bushels of corn. If you have given the subject the attention it calls for you can see how much this saves the honest farmer in the way of freight charges in the transportation of corn.

But the hog's usefulness is by no means limited to his life. His real virtues only begin to shine forth after he is dead. Like they "actions of the just" they live.

To the hog belongs the high privilege and the honor of furnishing the poor man his food. Not that the food is poor, mind you—and not that it is always cheap. But it is more readily produced and more plentiful than any other sort of animal nourishment, and for quality it challenges competition and is without a rival.

But it is when it comes to "infinite variety" that the hog shines as a food producer. He is good to eat "in any spot or place." From his head to his tail he is a compendium of delicious parts. As the orators say, "time would fail us to mention them all." But the quota is full and generous and of the highest excellence. Not to go any further, the hog may securely rest his claims to importance and to usefulness on ham, bacon, side meat and lard alone. It is really not necessary to digress as far as sausage, scrapple, head cheese, pudding, etc., although all of these are pleasant objects of contemplation.

The case, then, for the anti-cholera serum and for its discoverer is "made up" by the staple products of the hog alone, and needs no auxiliary arguments. The Legislature of Missouri is called upon by the just fealty it owes to the hog, and to the millions of people within the borders of the State who are the hogs' beneficiaries, to get behind the proposition for the employment of the serum to protect the Missouri hog from infection and to maintain him without spot or blemish.

Mardi Gras Most Notable Ever.

Monday marked the arrival of Rex in New Orleans and the turning over to the monarch of Mardi Gras the keys of the city. Thousands of people lined the street and cheered the arrival of the king of the carnival. The long parade of civic and military bodies was one of the most notable of the kind in the history of the city.

CURRENT COMMENT AND VARIOUS OPINIONS

Discussion of Affairs in General from Leading Journals of The Country.

Juries and Murders in South.
(Columbia State.)

Within a week three white men have been convicted in South Carolina of murdering women. One butchered his sister. Each of the others craftily murdered his wife. Each was given a bouquet by the jury in a "recommendation to mercy."

Are we witnessing the final stage in the evolution of our jury system under a lax public conscience? Is it approaching a state of rottenness that must excite revolt? First, negroes were murdered with danger, then with impunity; next, white men were murdered with danger, then with impunity; now the murdering of women white women by white men, is begun. There is danger, but how soon may the murderers count upon immunity when three juries in three widely separated parts of the state recommended mercy for the three men convicted of murdering women!

If it is impossible for jurors, surrounded in these little counties by relatives and friends of defendants, to consent to the hanging of a white man for murder then jurors should be relieved of that local influence which is proving an incubus upon the administration of justice.

There is much merit in the bill proposed by Mr. Hines of Lancaster which contemplates the drawing of jurors to try capital cases, when demand is made by the solicitor, from some other county in the circuit than that in which the alleged crime was committed, and to draw them such a short time before the trial that they cannot be "fixed." Perhaps a better plan of striking terror into those without regard for human life would be that suggested two years ago by the State—that is district courts for the trial of capital cases only, to sit, say, in Greenville, Columbia, Florence, and Charleston and drawing jurors from the state at large. In other words, criminal state courts upon the same plan as the United States courts.

With jurors chosen from the whole state the improper influence, and the natural, inevitable family influence that now operate against justice would be diminished, and the enforcement of the law would result in vastly increasing respect for the law.

Is it not time to do something to reduce the number of murders that are now daily chronicled?

Appeal for Free Art.
(Century Magazine.)

And here a more direct word to the members of Congress who represent what are called rural constituencies. That you should vote against free art, on whatever grounds, is to delay the day when your State shall take its place in the front rank of opportunity. Think with your imagination, and do not reject the hand of comradeship held out to your people—who, being most removed from art, are most in need of it. Do not cut off your nose to spite some one else's face. Trust those who know the needs of the country in art, as you did the same classes of people in the matter of international copyright in 1891. The legislation of that day helped to make a settled profession out of a casual pursuit. Free art by creating better opportunities for the popular spread of plastic beauty, will increase the area of taste which is necessary to sustain art as a profession. Freedom of opportunity will give us more beauty and thus will add to our happiness as a people. International copyright was necessary to remove a clog on American letters, and American artists, educators, and connoisseurs beg you not for an artificial advantage over foreigners, but to remove a barrier to the best development of their work.

The Insanity Plea
(Memphis Commercial Appeal.)

We are dangerously near permitting cold blooded murderers to escape on all occasions. The more shocking and brutal the murder, the more easy it is to plead insanity. Once the plea of insanity is entered, expert physicians can be secured to help it along.

All men are more or less crazy at periods in their lives. Pick up the foolish and absurd things that even the most brilliant men do: form a chain of these incidents; make them the groundwork of a hypothetical question, and an alienist will tell you at once that a person who does these things is more or less insane.

We need a statute to define the difference between medical insanity and legal insanity. We also need a statute that provides when a person is acquitted of a charge on the ground of insanity that that person must thereafter be presumed to be insane, and confined in an asylum for the insane until he can prove his present sanity.

A Pertinent Question.
(Hartford Times.)

Suppose a private citizen of Connecticut were grossly libeled by the New York World—would he have the right to go down to the District of Columbia and have a suit for criminal libel against the newspaper started there at the expense of the United States? Why has not every other citizen of the United States the same rights in this respect that are possessed by J. Pierpont Morgan, William Nelson Cromwell, Douglas Robinson or Theodore Roosevelt? Who conferred on these individuals the special privilege of having criminal libel suits brought in their behalf by the department of justice in a jurisdiction outside of any state of the Union, and of their own choosing?

Are there certain favored individuals in the United States who have the right to cause libel suits to be brought at the public expense against any or all of the newspapers of the United States, and in such remote jurisdictions as to make the mere formal answer to the suit difficult and expensive?

When did these favored individuals obtain their high privilege, which is not enjoyed by the mass of their countrymen and how did they get it?

Trial By Jury In Tennessee.
(New York Evening Post.)

Trial by jury reaches its acme of absurdity in the case of the murderers of Senator Carmack, now pending at Nashville. After more than three weeks of elimination of the intelligent, a jury was found on Saturday which contains four absolute illiterates, two others who can barely read, while all 12 swear that they have not read a newspaper since the shooting, some adding, with a fine superiority like that of Mr. Balfour, that they had not read a paper for 10 years. So much for the ridiculous laws in America, ostensibly aiming to secure impartiality in a jury, but really obtaining stupidity. Better openly fill the box from the idiot asylums and the ranks of the defective. We sincerely hope that the Nashville jury will be capable of following the evidence and doing its duty; but certainly the law of Tennessee has done its best, not only to prove that it is an ass, but to make sure that the really competent men shall be barred from trying an issue, not only of life and death, but of civilization itself. Perhaps we needed such a ghastly exhibition in order to induce lawyers and judges to set about the long-delayed reform of our jury laws.

Headway Against Trusts.
(Nebraska State Journal.)

Yesterday's news told of two big concerns brought to terms by State authority. The American Book Company bowed the knee in Texas, and the International Harvester Company confessed judgment in Kansas. At the same time the Standard Oil Company is meekly trying to wheedle Missouri into suspending the order of expulsion against it.

It may be mentioned here that the Nebraska Senate has passed an anti-discrimination bill which completes the law against murdering competitors one by one, making it apply to concerns that buy of the public as well as to those that sell to it.

The trusts have gained their control of business by means of special privileges, rebates and tariffs and the power of resulting brute strength. The logical way to check them is to deprive them of their privileges. In spite of anti-rebate laws, however, it is certain that rebating in some form still goes on. The monopoly seekers find new redoubts faster than the public seems able to storm them. Until the public is ready to adopt more radical measures to prevent this than can now gain support, its only recourse is to make the laws weigh heavily enough on the trusts to offset their special advantages.

These recent developments point to progress in that direction.

Our Privileged Class.
(Philadelphia Inquirer.)

Having kicked out rum shops, distilleries, and bucket shops, the people of Tennessee can devote their whole time to homicide. It seems to have escaped general attention that we have the most privileged class of any nation in the world—murderers.

Trusts And Square Deal Laws.
(Kansas City Star.)

A chief result of both the oil trust case in Missouri and the harvester trust case in Kansas is the proof that big business is not going to withdraw from a state because of legislation that protects the people. It has been a potent deterrent to square-deal laws that capital has threatened to avoid the commonwealth that enacted them. This threat can no longer avail after the spectacles of the Standard begging permission to remain in business in Missouri, on the condition of state control of its price lists, and the harvester trust securing the same boon in Kansas by rearranging its trade methods and surrendering control of its own selling agents.

PARENTS must give good example and reverent deportment in the face of their children. And all those instances of charity which usually endear each other—sweetness of conversation, affability, frequent admonition—all signification of love and tenderness, care and watchfulness, must be expressed toward children; that they may look upon their parents as their friends and patrons, their defence and sanctuary, their treasure and their guide.—Jeremy Taylor.

FEW THINGS TO BE DONE IN FALL

State Politics and New Members of the Senate to be Elected.

Montgomery county seems pretty well fixed as far as politics are concerned. She has been represented in the State Senate by an able, conscientious, single-minded man and Senator Blair Lee will in all probability have no opposition for the honor of again representing his county.

Talbot county will likely have to elect some one to succeed General Seth. This means a contest both in the county and in the Senate. Some one will have to be made president of the Senate and there is no lack of ambitious ones. Senator Beasman, of Carroll, thinks he would look well as president, so does Senator German, of Howard.

Fourteen Senators out of the 27 will be chosen in the Fall. The terms of 13 of the number will have expired in the natural order of events, and James R. Brashears, of Anne Arundel, gave up the office to accept an appointment as associate Judge in the Fifth circuit. The counties that will choose state senators and the incumbents are:

Allegany—John B. Shannon.
Anne Arundel—James R. Brashears (resigned).
Caroline—W. W. Goldsborough.
Cecil—Joseph I. France.
Charles—S. S. Lancaster.
Dorchester—Joseph B. Andrews.
Garrett—W. McC. Brown.
Harford—William B. Baker.
Montgomery—Blair Lee.
Prince George's—W. B. Claggett.
St. Mary's—F. F. Greenwell.
Talbot—Joseph B. Seth.
Worcester—John P. Moore.
Baltimore City (Fourth District)—Charles W. Jones.

Birthdays in 1909.

During the year 1809 occurred the births of these American celebrities, Hannibal Hamlin, Park Benjamin, Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, Cyrus McCormick, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Abraham Lincoln and Edgar Allan Poe. President Andrew Johnson was born December 29, 1808, so he very nearly comes into this charmed period. Among eminent Englishmen whose careers belong also to our own world of thought were Charles Darwin, William E. Gladstone, Alfred Lord Tennyson, John Stuart Blackie, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Edward FitzGerald and Alexander W. Kinglake. In the same year Felix Mendelssohn Bartholdy was born in Austria, Pierre Joseph Proudhon in France and Frederic Francois Chopin in Poland.—Review of Reviews.

The revised returns of the Government for 1907-8 gives the area of India under wheat for that year at 21,589,700 acres and the total yield 5,863,800 tons (218,915,200 bushels).

PRESIDENT GREET'S BIG FLEET

Magnificent Scene at the Homecoming At Hampton Roads.

"Not until some American fleet returns victorious from a great sea battle will there be such another homecoming, another such a sight as this, I drink to the American Navy." With these words President Roosevelt toasted the fleet at the homecoming celebration in Hampton Roads last Monday.

The crowd that gathered at Norfolk was enormous. The curious, friends of those returning and government officials taxed the hostilities of the Virginia city. At 10.20 the ships entered Virginia waters and sighted the President's flag on the Mayflower. The main fleet took twenty minutes to pass in review and the vessels kept in perfect line. The President visited each of the flagships. A big dinner was given in Hotel Chamberlin, Old Point Comfort, in the evening to the officers and men by the Navy League.

Needed the Money.

The parson of a little colored church in a South Jersey town was about to begin the evening services a few Sundays ago when he noticed all the windows were open, and instructed, the sexton to close them, relates the Philadelphia Telegraph. This did not please all of the congregation, and a lady named Aunt Dinah had the temerity to raise a kick.

"Look yeah, Parson, 'she exclaimed, 'what fo' am yo' shuttin' all dem windahs? De air am jus' suffocatin' now!" "It am a cold day, sistah," answered the parson, "an' we ain't gwine to take no chances of losin' any ob dis combragation while dere am a debt hangin' obah dis church."

"DE NATCHEL WAY."

A rich Northerner walking about in a Southern negro settlement came upon a house around which several children were playing. Seeing that the family was destitute, he called the oldest negro boy and gave him a dollar, telling him to spend it for a Christmas turkey. As soon as the generous man had gone, the negro woman called the boy to her and said: "Thomas, yo' gimme dat dollar and go git dat turkey in de natchel way."—Exchange.

WINTER.

The wanton hills lie naked to the breeze, The woods and thickets now are all unfrocked; Bare are the limbs of the shameless trees, No wonder that the corn is shocked.—Inland Printer.

Much attention is given to horse breeding in Turkey by the better class people in the cities and by peasants throughout the country.

A TROLLEY TO BURKITTSTOWN

Citizens Solicit Money For Preliminary Survey from Middletown.

FREDERICK, MD., Feb. 24.—A large and enthusiastic meeting was held at Burkittstown on Tuesday afternoon to consider the project of building a trolley road from Middletown through Burkittstown to Brunswick. In spite of the rainy weather and bad roads over 100 people were present. The meeting was addressed by Mr. E. L. Coblenz and others. Messrs. Thomas M. Hightman, Samuel Zecker and Carroll P. Ahalt, were appointed to select five others to act with them as a committee to solicit subscriptions to defray the cost of a preliminary survey and to ascertain the expense involved in making the survey. The committee will report at a meeting to be held March 8. The proposed road connects at Middletown for Frederick and Hagerstown and would open up a rich and densely populated territory.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. A. M. Patterson is visiting in Baltimore.

Mr. Robert Sellers was in Frederick on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rider spent several days in Littlestown.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gillelan spent last Saturday in Westminster.

Fast Game of Basket Ball.

Mt. St. Mary's defeated St. Patrick's basketball team, of Wilmington, Del., on Feb. 22, by the score of 27 to 18.

Among the St. Patrick's players were Henderson and Summers, former Pennsylvania men. The Mountaineers had a great deal the better of the game in the first half, but in the second the game was closely contested. The result of the game reflects much credit upon Coach McEntee, who has given much time to rounding the team into shape.

Church Holds Patriotic Service.

Last Sunday evening at six o'clock a special service was held in the Presbyterian Church in honor of Washington.

The church was crowded to hear the programme and the whole service was marked by the enthusiasm of those who took part in the exercises. The singing was excellent and the whole was a source of inspiration to all who attended.

The following programme was given: Singing; Prayer for the Nation and the Lord's Prayer; Scripture Reading; Hymn; Washington's Birthday, James Hays; Battle Hymn of the Republic; Flag Goes By, Samuel Annan; Our Country and the Presbyterian Church, Miss Gertrude Annan; Present Day Needs, Mrs. Cook; Latest News from the Front, Miss Rhoda Gillelan; As the Boys Go Marching By, Robert Cook and Donald Agnew; Short address by the pastor, Rev. K. M. Craig; Offering for Home Missions by Classes; Singing of two hymns; Prayer and Benediction.

Watch For Fake Medicine Men.

During the last three months a number of fakers have been travelling through the counties of Maryland selling patent nostrums and giving alleged theatrical performances and Wild West Shows. Some of these patent medicines are sold to a gullible public with a guarantee that they will cure consumption. The State Tuberculosis Association to-day issues a statement that one and all these "medicines" are misrepresentations or fakes.

County Treasurer Crum is very ill at his home at Jefferson, this county.

FEBRUARY 22 IN OUR SCHOOLS

Washington's Birthday Celebrated With Patriotic Exercises.

Emmitsburg's schools both private and public fittingly celebrated Washington's birthday last Monday. The following programme was given at the High School:

Song, Star Spangled Banner; Reading, Keilholtz Hoke; Recitation, To a Picture, Alice McNair; Song, America; Quotations, by School; Reading Ethel Grace Patterson; Current Events; Recitation, How to be a Horse, Isaac Cook and John Curry; Song, Maryland; Essay, Frances Rowe; Recitation, Mildred Biggs; Debate, Resolved, That Washington was a greater man than Napoleon. The debate was decided in the affirmative. Affirmative: Robert Gillelan, Louise Beam, Robert Cook; Negative: Alexander Colliflower, William Frailay and Ruth Ohler; Recitation, Virginia Eyster; Song, 2 verses of America; Recitation, Dorothy Biggs; Song, Our Presidents; Reading, Margaret Hays; Reading, Our Flag, Pauline Annan; Song, Maryland, 2 verses; Remarks; Mr. George S. Eyster was chairman of the exercises.

St. Euphemia's school celebrated Washington's Birthday in a very fitting manner, on Friday, February 19, at half past two in the afternoon. The following programme was given by the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades:

Drill of the Minute Men, Boys of seventh and eighth grades; Paul Revere, Pantomime, Master R. Topper; Poem, Paul Revere's Ride, read by Miss M. Mondorf; The Making of the Flag: George Washington, Master J. Mullen, Robert Morris, Master W. Roche, Robert Ross, Miss C. Gelwicks, Assistants to Betsy Ross, Misses B. Topper, H. Sebold, M. Walters, M. Burdner; Recitation, Our Flag, Young Ladies of the Seventh Grade; This is the Flag for Me, Chorus, Seventh and Eighth Grade Pupils; Pianist, Miss M. Welty.

undulating over the landscape like the tracks of the W. F. & G. R. R.

"As it passed over town our trusty deputy gamewarden, Captain Norman Hoke, aware of the danger, showed his badge and backed up by the full authority of the law ordered it from the country. I never saw anything like it. It was either frightened at the lordly stature of our gamewarden or the reflection of our brilliant street lamps from his silver badge scared it off for away went the Igonaukus (for that was its name, I recognized it by the plate brazed in its pectoral fin.) It wheeled to the East and made for Carroll county.

"As it turned East over Gettysburg street, Clarence Frailey, who had been practicing for a turkey shoot saw the Blitzpuffer hurtling through the atmosphere and honorably discharged both barrels of his gun, which, by the way, was loaded with croquet balls and slag, striking the Roistermucker abaft the starboard hatch, carrying away the compass box and forty feet of taffrail. The animal kept going and so did Clarence and I followed close behind still clinging to Brown's foot and busted suspender.

"Frailey gradually gained on the wounded Voltmeter and grabbing what he thought was its mane, made a vicious lunge at it with his Barlow burying the blade deep in what afterward proved to be, not the Gadswapper, but a hay stack in one of Rowe Ohler's fields."

Mr. John Glass, who was returning from a sale at Bridgeport where he had purchased a well, threw the newly-acquired well at the Schlitzhister with such good aim that he is now minus a few ready-made holes, for the well passed over its hugh snout and when last seen in the woods to the West of Taneytown it wore it like a nose-ring.

The people of this district are anxiously awaiting reports from Carroll county.

WRECK ON NORTHERN CENTRAL

Brakeman Forgot and Two Men Suffer.—Switch Left Open.

Running at about 20 or 25 miles an hour, the Northern Central passenger train from Bruceville due at Frederick at 11.20 o'clock, ran into an open switch Wednesday morning a short distance from Walkersville Station and crashed into a loaded lumber car on the siding.

Two men, Charles Fitze, 30 years old, and James Reddick, 60 years old, who had been leaning against the car, were hurled a distance of 20 or 30 feet and seriously hurt. Fitze had his skull fractured, and is not expected to live. Reddick is internally injured and otherwise hurt. Both were taken to Frederick immediately after the accident and hurried to the City Hospital. News was received this morning that both men were still living but there was little hope of their recovery.

The wreck was due to the forgetfulness of a brakeman on a freight. It is the custom for the brakemen after this switch has been used to close it and telephone to the station a short distance away notifying the station master that the track is open. A telephone is maintained at the switch for this purpose. On this occasion the brakeman reversed the order and telephoned, before he had closed the siding, that the track was clear, for the expected passenger train, and then forgot to throw the switch. This is the second accident on this division in a comparatively short time.

POPULAR WRITER TO LIVE HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Gross of Baltimore To Live Here.

Mrs. F. Harry Gross, known in the literary world as Mrs. Myra Gross, is the author of "The Star of Valhalla"; has won for herself and Baltimore; where she resides, a great deal of credit. Mrs. Gross was educated in the public schools of Baltimore. "The Star of Valhalla" is the only book she has written. It met with immediate and unusual success. Mrs. Gross is at present busy on another book which will not be published in the near future.

The people of Emmitsburg are particularly interested in Mrs. Gross for it may be their good fortune to have her as a neighbor within a few months. Mr. and Mrs. Gross are very anxious to make their home in this town.

MRS. P. H. RILEY.

Yesterday afternoon at 2.30 Mrs. Harriet Riley, wife of Mr. P. H. Riley, of near Zora, died at her home after an illness of a few days. Mrs. Riley was taken ill on Monday and rapidly declined until the day of her death. The immediate cause of her death was heart trouble.

The funeral services will be held at her late home on Sunday morning. The interment will be made in Union Cemetery, Fairfield, Rev. Charles Ritter officiating.

Mrs. Riley was formerly Miss Harriet Musselman, daughter of the late Major Musselman, of Fairfield. Ever since her marriage to Mr. Riley she has been a resident of Zora. She was about 70 years of age. There survive her four sons and four daughters: Barney, of Washington, D. C., Trimmer G., of Fairfield, Ivan R., of Littlestown, and David N., of Zora; Mrs. Charles Harbaugh, of Charming, Mrs. O. M. Stine, of Zora, Mrs. Robert Watson, of Waynesboro, and Mrs. Karney Reid, of near McMillenny's School House. Besides these she is mourned by her husband, Mr. P. H. Riley.

PAUL EDWIN CHRISMER.

Paul Edwin, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Chrismer, of this place, died on Sunday night about 8 o'clock, of pneumonia. He was aged 28 days. The child had been ill for several days. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Rev. Father Hayden officiating.

Miss Jennie Chrismer and Mrs. J. N. Pfeiffer, of Baltimore, attended the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Chrismer wish to thank through the CHRONICLE all those who were so kind to them during their child's sickness and death.

CHRISMER.—On February 21, 1909, at 8 P. M. Paul Edwin Chrismer, aged 28 days, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Chrismer, of this place. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Rev. J. O. Hayden, officiating. The interment was made in the cemetery adjoining the church.

RILEY.—On February 25th, 1909, at 2.30 P. M., at her home in Zora, Harriet Riley, wife of P. H. Riley, aged about 70 years. The funeral services will be held at her late home on Sunday morning, Rev. C. L. Ritter officiating. The interment will be made in the Union Cemetery, Fairfield.

TO BALTIMORE TO PROTEST.

Delegation Leaves to Fight Against Tentative Route of State Roads.

Quite a large delegation has gone to Baltimore to-day to appear before the State Roads Commission to protest against the routes for State roads in this county, tentatively selected by the commission. Mt. St. Mary's College, St. Joseph's Academy, residents of town and those of Thurmont and Lewistown and other points along the line of the Emmitsburg Turnpike will be represented at the meeting.

Among those who left this morning for Baltimore are Dr. D. J. Flynn, J. Stewart Annan, B. S. Jenkins, Vincent Sebold, D. F. Rouzer, State Senator J. P. T. Matthias, P. N. Hammaker, J. Wesley Creager, from Emmitsburg and Thurmont; Lincoln Dinterman, of Walkersville, Charles Baughman, George R. Dennis and others, of Frederick; and Col. Brien and others, from Urbana district. These gentlemen are all in favor of the route as advocated in the article that appears on the first page of this issue of the CHRONICLE.

COLONEL E. J. CHAISTY DEAD

Well-Known Baltimorean and Member of Gov. Whyte's Staff.

Col. Edward J. Chaisty died at his home in Baltimore on Saturday morning from apoplexy. This gentleman was well known in Baltimore political circles and was personally acquainted with many men in high political office in this State. He was born in 1841 and was educated at Calvert Hall College.

He is survived by his widow and one son, Edward J. Chaisty, Jr., a student at Mt. St. Mary's College.

"Pauline" to be Repeated by Request.

Notwithstanding the heavy rains, bad roads and other unavoidable inconveniences, "Pauline" drew a crowded house in Taneytown on Tuesday evening. The performances was so enjoyable that by request the opera will be repeated in the Taneytown opera house, on Thursday evening, March 4, at 7.30 o'clock. Reserved seats can be secured either by telephone or letter from E. Walter Wilt. The opera was rehearsed and performed under the direction of Mr. Edward E. Reindollar and was given by the Lutheran Choir.

Patriotism Apparent on Monday.

On Monday Washington's Birthday, the streets of Emmitsburg were gaily decorated with the Stars and Stripes. On Main Street alone over forty flags were in evidence.

The Delight of Candy-Lovers

Realizing that wholesomeness and purity as well as tastiness from the basis of candy manufacture, we have maintained so high a standard in the production of our confections that the name "Brownley's" is significant of quality.

Fresh supplies of all our specialties are manufactured by us daily, and our stock is generously replete with every toothsome confection that can be conceived of or desired by candy-lovers.

No matter how perplexing the question of selecting sweets and favors for any social function, "Brownley's" will furnish timely suggestions with suitable supplies.

We specially prepare boxes for Colleges, Schools, and Seminaries, and a large number of orders from one institution will be delivered with greater dispatch than if one box was sent at a time.

For school feasts and candy scrapes we supply any desired grade of confections, and for colleges and seminaries we will prepare sweetmeats in "Alma Mater" colors, if requested.

Orders from out-of-town patrons will receive prompt attention, and we earnestly invite inquiries as to prices, and estimates will be cheerfully submitted.

We pack and ship candies to every part of the world, careful carriage being assured. Send for Booklet.

Are you the man that is sent for when information is wanted? Such a man is always in demand at a big salary because he knows; because he is trained. If you want to be the man sent for—the man that gets the large salary—get in touch with the I. C. S. Lack of capital need not hinder; it doesn't matter how little schooling you have had; age is no barrier; you do not have to leave home nor your present work; there are no books to buy. Thousands who have had enough backbone to start by marking a coupon like that below have doubled, tripled, and quadrupled their salaries. Last year there was brought increased earnings amounting in one year to over $20,000,000 to I. C. S. trained men. Make your start for a better salary today by marking and mailing this coupon.

VALUABLE BREED OF CATTLE

Holstein-Friesian Cows Excel as Milk-ers For All Dairy Purposes.—
Good Beef Producers.

Holstein-Friesian cattle have become widely known among dairymen because of their extreme profit making capacity and are widely spread over Continental Europe. They are supposed to have originate in Holland.

The size of the breed is large. The cows, properly reared, weigh at maturity well towards 1,400 pounds, and average from 8,000 to 12,500 pounds of milk, and 300 to 550 pounds of butter per year. Bulletin No. 74 of the Bureau of Animal Industry reports under title of Comparative Yields of Butter Fat, an average yield of 1.60 pounds of fat per day for Holstein cows, as against 1.36 pounds for Jerseys, and 1.42 pounds for Guernseys and Ayrshires. These figures are from American and European analyses. From a summary of American analyses the Holstein shows 1.61 pounds, against 1.26 pounds for the Jersey, 1.41 pounds for the Guernsey and 1.07 pounds for the Ayrshire. The daily milk yield is given as 48.9 pounds for the Holstein, 24.5 pounds for the Jersey, 28.9 pounds for the Guernsey and 27.7 pounds for the Ayrshire.

The quality of the milk, as related to butter fat, shows an average of about 3 1/2 per cent. fat. The other solids are about 9 per cent., and are uniformly present to this extent, making a milk exceedingly desirable for liquid consumption or for butter or cheese production. It is a milk which does not readily separate its fat as does that of breeds whose milk characteristically shows larger fat globules, and it is, therefore, the best possible milk for shipping purposes.

Of the 1,994 Holstein cows tested by State experiment stations during the year ending May 15, 1908, the average seven-day yield was 13.61 pounds of fat from 393 pounds of milk, showing a fat percentage of 3.46.

Holstein cattle are by no means dainty in their choice of food from calf-hood up. They freely consume all sorts of roughage. They possess vigorous constitutions and are hardy under all conditions of climate; free from disease, and breed with great regularity, producing very large and strong calves, which are raised without difficulty.

Holsteins excel for all dairy purposes. No breed equals them in the production of veal. The calves are large at birth and fatten with great rapidity. They are valuable for beef production, and they fatten very rapidly when not in milk.

Tuberculosis From Milk.

Partly through accident, a discovery has been made by the Government experiment station at Bethesda, Md., revealing the close relation which exists between bovine and human tuberculosis. Several children of the employees of the experiment station died under such circumstances that autopsies were deemed advisable. These developed that the cause of death was tuberculosis of the glands of the neck and the intestines. The children had been fed on the milk of cows kept upon the Government farm. The cows were killed, and the autopsies upon their carcasses and the bodies of the children revealed absolutely that identity of the disease from which each suffered. A sub-committee of the Committee on Agriculture made the discoveries herein described, and it is understood that as a result the efforts to stamp out tuberculosis in cattle will be redoubled.

Cement For Barns.

An Iowa farmer who found it necessary to build a large barn, inquired into the possibilities of concrete block construction, with the result that he has made a contract for a barn of blocks representing a lower figure than estimates received for lumber. A sand and gravel pit is only a mile distant, and the plan is to have the mixer and block machine brought to the farm and the blocks made there. For less money than a frame barn would cost, he will obtain a substantial and durable structure requiring little repair.

LAUNDRY EMBROIDERED LINENS

Washing, Drying And Ironing So As To Preserve As Long As Possible And Keep Embroidering Fresh.

Never put an embroidered piece with the regular wash. Let it be cleaned by itself in an earthen bowl. Take fairly hot water and make a light suds of some pure soap. Wash quickly. If the linen is soiled, rub that portion between the hands, but avoid a general rubbing. Take it out of the suds and rinse thoroughly in clean water.

Don't hang it up to dry. Don't fold or throw into a heap. Don't wait to dry it out to do something else. Lay the piece flat between two dry towels, or thick linen cloths, and roll it up inside these in such a way that no part of the embroidery can touch any other part of the same linen. In this shape it can be wrung or twisted without danger, or lightly pounded that the dry linen will the more quickly absorb the moisture. Leave in this condition until all the silk is absolutely dry.

When you come to iron it you must again be careful. Lay the piece down upon an ironing board well covered with several pieces of material. Spread a clean white cloth over the embroidery and iron lightly the whole surface, being careful not to press too heavily upon the embroidered portions. A hot iron placed upon embroideries the silk in which is wet will produce a steam that will injure the same. Do not press hard at first, but work rapidly. Should the center become too dry use a dampened cloth to run the iron over; this will leave the linen damp enough for pressing. Damp linen, dry silks, heat in the iron, and quick movement make success.

To Keep The Eyes Clear.

Few things are more helpful to the eyes, says the Philadelphia Bulletin, than the simple expedient of closing the lids. This may be done in the office, in the street car, or at home, and must include a perfect relaxation of the nerves around the optics. In order to obtain this rest the lids must be closed gently. For if the eyes are squinted, it means that all the nerves and muscles are tense and absolutely no benefit can be gained from the action.

When tired after work it is most refreshing to bathe the eyes in hot water. For this a cloth, soaking wet, should be used, and if followed by a cloth dipped in cold water, the effect will be doubly beneficial.

Before going to bed at night the eyes should always be very carefully washed, not only to relax the muscles, but to remove any dust which may have accumulated. A weak solution of boracic water is an excellent eye tonic, as is also a few drops of camphor water.

Something About Soap.

Soap improves with keeping, and it will be found economical to purchase it in large quantities. Before storing it, however, the bars should be cut into pieces of convenient size, for this is easily done when the soap is soft and new, but not when it has become dry and hard. The easier plan is to cut it with a piece of wire or a bit of twine in the same way as grocers cut cheese.

Never use soap in washing silk stockings. Bran in water is the proper fluid to use—four tablespoonfuls to one quart of water. Rinse in several clear waters, pressing the water out. Dry stockings in the sun.

True and Faithful.

One does not look for the whole truth upon a tombstone, but there are exceptions to the rule, as is shown by the example furnished in a churchyard in Hagerstown, Md.

This touching epitaph runs as follows except that fictitious names have, for obvious reasons, been substituted here for the real ones:

SPORTING NOTES
FREDERICK'S FANS ENTHUSE
Ten Players Signed For Coming Season.—Team To Be 50 Per Cent. Stronger Than Last Year.
FREDERICK, Md., Feb. 24.—There can be no doubt Frederick is a red hot baseball town. Even in February. That is proved by the successful performances of the play given at the Opera House on Monday and Tuesday evenings. The attendance was large, in spite of the inclement weather, for the faithful fans simply had to see that game between Hagerstown and Frederick in the third act. The performers surprised themselves and their friends and scored a well deserved artistic success. The financial results were equally gratifying and a handsome sum will be turned over to the Frederick Baseball Association for whose benefit the play was given. The company will give a performance in Hagerstown and, possibly, in Hanover for the benefit of the local baseball clubs.
The management of the Frederick club have signed about ten players for the coming season, and it is claimed that the team will be at least 50 per cent. stronger than last year. No expense has been spared to get the best talent available. Reitz and Piester, the star battery of last season's team, who spent the Winter in Frederick, have been signed.
Considerable money will be spent in putting the grounds in first class condition. The diamond and outfield will be overhauled and the grandstand enlarged. The management claim that, when the contemplated improvements have been completed, Frederick will have the best baseball plant in the State outside of Baltimore. The club has a long lease on the grounds.
The prospects for a State League are not considered bright by those who are in close touch with the local management. Charles W. Boyer's offer of his services in forming a league in this section hasn't been received with any outburst of enthusiasm that you could notice. It is probable that Frederick will go it alone and play independent ball, meeting Hagerstown, Hanover, Winchester and other clubs of like strength. This policy is considered advisable as a league means all kinds of politics, wire pulling and fat salaries.
The officers of the Frederick Baseball Association are: J. Harry Grove, president; F. K. Schmidt and E. Austin Baughman, vice presidents; Dr. I. J. McCurdy, secretary; Charles E. Huntzberry, treasurer. The committee which has charge of engaging the players consists of Dr. I. J. McCurdy, F. K. Schmidt and D. Guy Thomas.

Tewanima, The Indian Runner.
Lewis Tewanima, the youthful Hopi student at the Carlisle Indian School, who has jumped into fame in the last year, because of his remarkable long-distance running, is an odd individual. Lewis as a boy had often followed the Government mail-carrier on foot over the Arizona plains, and was an adept at the popular pastime among the Mogui youth who raced on set courses around the mesas, or table mountains, where their homes lay, kicking a small football before them as they progressed.

Johnson Grows Bold.
"I am willing to fight James J. Jeffries, Tommy Burns or any other man alive, in England, America, Australia or any other part of the civilized world where sufficient inducements are offered."
This was the farewell message of Jack Johnson, the champion heavyweight pugilist, on the eve of his departure for Sydney.
Beat The World's Record.
Claire Jacobs, the University of Chicago pole vaulter, broke the world's indoor record for that event in practice by making a clean vault over the stick at 12 feet 4 inch, actual measurement. The mark will not stand, however, as it was not made in competition. Jacobs holds the present world's mark of 11 feet 8 1/2 inches.

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Philadelphia millionaire society man and sportsman, met Philadelphia Jack O'Brien in a five-round boxing bout and the audience gave Biddle the decision.
The Philadelphia National League Baseball team, according to a prominent paper of that city is now controlled by the same men who head the Republican political machine, James P. McNichol and Israel W. Durham, both State Senators.

Brownsville Affair Settled.
The Brownsville affair may be said to have been finally disposed of, so far as Congress is concerned, by the vote in the Senate passing the compromise bill for the relief of the discharged soldiers of the black regiment. The House must still act upon it, but no effective opposition is to be expected in the body. The President's approval is already promised.
Conferees of the Senate and House while they have agreed to reduce the salary of the Secretary of State from $12,000 to $8,000 do not agree to the provision creating an "under secretary" of State. It is too English and they want it changed to "vice" &c.

TO EMBRACE THE WHOLE WORLD
Ambition of the American Conservation Conference.
Under the influence of the remarks made by President Roosevelt at the North American Conservation Conference in Washington last week, the delegates generally favored his idea of a movement for the conservation of natural resources that would embrace the whole world. Mr. Roosevelt characterized the movement as one of the utmost importance to the world at large.
Canada and Mexico were represented at this meeting and their delegates were enthusiastic for the larger movement. Romulo Escobar, one of the Mexican commissioners, who spoke English fluently said that the conservation movement would find no boundary line, but eventually would prevail in all countries. The idea, he said will live long after President Roosevelt, who conceived it, has gone out of office.
HARRIMAN IN MARYLAND ROAD
Rumor That He May Develop Western Maryland R. R.
It is now Harriman and not Gould who is to make Baltimore the terminal of a transcontinental system of railroads by means of the Western Maryland. Having in view a project of combining the Wheeling and Lake Erie and Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal and the West Side Belt under one organization aside from the Wabash he expects in this way to gain for the Erie an entrance into Pittsburgh.

This announcement has some local interest, in that it may mean an interest of Mr. Harriman in the Western Maryland situation. The roads mentioned around Pittsburgh were the ones with which the Western Maryland was to be joined had the link from Cumberland to Pittsburgh not been held up by the financial stringency of more than a year ago. They were to form integral parts of this East and West line, with Baltimore as the Eastern terminus.
THE TOBACCO COMBINATION.
Eighty-Six Concerns Under Control of Six Companies.
Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, in his report on the tobacco industry transmitted to President Roosevelt, tells of the organization of the "tobacco combination." The report says in part:
"The tobacco combination has as its center the American tobacco company. This company controls three great subsidiary combinations—the American snuff company, the American cigar company, and the British-American tobacco company. The American tobacco company and the other three combinations each control a large number of subsidiary companies. The number of companies in the combination doing business in the United States, Porto Rico and Cuba is 86, besides a considerable number operating only in foreign countries."

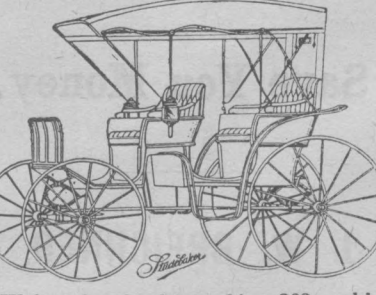

Government in Printing Business.
Uncle Sam has gone into the printing business. His advertisements, paid for by the people, are sent through the mails at a rate not allowed other concerns in the same business and he proposes to knock the pins from under the print shops of his smaller competitors. Emmitsburg has been deluged with "draw on" pamphlets telling how cheaply he will print your business and private envelopes, and order blanks accompany the samples. They say that shortly the Government will open barber shops, grocery stores, hat factories, and enter into all sorts of business. Already the small fry are crying for "Help."
Mob Attacks Greeks In Omaha.
Three thousand citizens of South Omaha, Neb., enraged at the murder of a policeman by a Greek, wrecked the portion of that city occupied by these foreigners. Some thirty buildings were destroyed and several persons were wounded. For a time the police were powerless to prevent the mob's work of destruction.
Submerged Bells Guide Ship.
An interesting experiment was tried last Sunday in New York harbor which may prove the efficiency of the submerged bells in cases of fog at sea. A man blindfolded steered a tug boat for three miles being directed by the sound of the bells of a lighthouse which was brought to his ears by a telephone receiver.

Baltimore School Teacher Insane.
The Baltimore school teacher who has figured so prominently in the police news of Baltimore and Washington, Miss Frances S. Caspari, was declared insane on Tuesday. Miss Caspari has served sentences in the penitentiary for receiving money under false pretenses.
Sleep-Walker's Narrow Escape.
A laborer, Hugh J. Carroll, 36 years old, while asleep walked from the platform of a train crossing the bridge over the Susquehanna river on Tuesday night. At least this is the supposition of those who found him lying unconscious on the bridge. He may live.

Bladenburg, this State, supports an opium dive. Officers of the law raided one last Saturday and captured several men.
