BANNER FIREMEN'S PICNIC DAY

EMMITSBURG FITTINGLY CELEBRATES FOURTH

Baseball Game Between One-Time Stars Proves Pathetic Sight to Older Generation

FAIRFIELD LOSES INTERESTING GAME TO EMMITSBURG, SCORE 7-6

Parade, Decorated Streets, and Firemen's Celebration Enjoyed by Thousands.—A Sane Fourth Without Legislation.—Men, Women and Children Spent the Day in Perfect Safety.—Full Account of the Picnic.

Monday was a glorious Fourth indeed. Light rain on Sunday and pleasant breezes the day after made the day ideal for a picnic. Such a combination is often hoped for but rarely realized. Everywhere on the streets the flags and bunting, evidences of the patriotism of our citizens, invited people to take part in the Firemen's entertainment, and they did.

Promptly at nine o'clock the parade formed on Green street and marched to Broad alley, up Main street to the Emmitt House, countermarched to the Square, then down Frederick street to the entrance to Firemen's Park. The appearance made by the marching firemen, bands, hose carts, ladder wagon, and others who took part, was most creditable. Children in pony carriages, and boys mounted on horses, together with the clown and loaded wheelbarrow were pleasant features of the march. The only accident to mar the occasion happened on Frederick street when the hose reels were being returned to the hall. Mr. Charles Reeder with another fireman was at the tongue of one of the reels when a sudden jar threw the weight of the pole on Reeder and he fell to the ground, the wheel passing over his body. Beside several ugly bruises he sprained his left hand enough to incapacitate him for work.

Shortly after the parade the first game of ball was called. It was between the "Ashbarrels" and "Sebolders." The "Ashbarrels" were minus the ashes this time, the captain, Mr. Herbert Ashbaugh, being engaged with the Emmitt Cornet Band. This was a battle of former heroes of the diamond, the old-time giants of local baseball history. Time has left its mark on these players, and some of those whose memory carries back many years, shed tears when error after error was credited to those erstwhile faultless players. To the credit of the players it may be said that all the bats used in this game were broken by the mighty men who formed the teams.

For the "Barrels," who were defeated, the following played: Warner, Chas. Rowe, Ed. Shriver, Olie Moser, S. Galt, D. E. Stone, Ed. Moser, Bill Sellers, and A. M. Patterson. On the other side were Sebold, Rider, Horner, Boyle, C. R. Hoke, Sam Rowe, Harry Hopp, Whitmore, Zimmerman and Higbee. Umpires were changed three times and the end of the game was caused by a crowd of Sebolders carrying the last of these umpires from the field. The score at that time stood 14-11 in favor of the Sebolders. The feature of the game was the spectacular baserunning of C. R. Hoke, who on several occasions skidded to the bases on his face.

In the afternoon the second game of ball was played resulting in the defeat of Fairfield 7 to 6. Aside from the 5th inning this was an excellent game. It is always a pleasure to witness games between Emmitsburg and Fairfield. Besides the evenly matched teams there exists a friendly feeling between the players on both sides. The demeanor of these visitors is always gentlemanly no matter how closely they contest the games.

The game on Monday opened up with a smashing two-bagger by Horner. The next three men were retired and Horner could not score. Emmitsburg, too, was unable to score.

The next inning gave Fairfield one run and Emmitsburg three. Shryock for Fairfield was struck out. Rock went to first on four balls, and got to third when Moore sent one to right field which was poorly handled. Moore was out on an attempt to steal second and Rock scored on the play. Lowe struck out retiring the side.

The play for Emmitsburg which resulted in three runs was as follows. Mondorff struck out, Sebold was given his base on balls, Guy Sebold made a hit and Arnold sent one to center that was not handled properly. Rosensteel sacrificed and Musselman missed a difficult one from Joe Topper. Three runs were scored during this time. The side was retired when Kerrigan was out, Horner to Rock.

Dr. B. C. Hyde, convicted of having poisoned Col. Thomas H. Swope, the millionaire philanthropist, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor.

In the fourth both sides were out in one two three order. The fifth inning was badly played by both sides. Arnold weakened somewhat and Fairfield made five hits, scoring two runs. Musselman hit but was out when Horner hit to second. McGlaughlin's two-bagger and hits by Bowers, Marshal and Shryock scored two runs. Bowers was caught on second and Rock struck out. These runs made Fairfield's total five.

Fairfield fared even worse than Emmitsburg in the field. Kerrigan and Bob Topper were out one on a ball to second, the other a fly to left. With these two men out Emmitsburg managed to score three runs. Hemler was given his base on balls, Mondorff sent one to Bowers, who failed to reach second in time to cut off Hemler. Ray Sebold's two-bagger scored Hemler and Mondorff. Guy Sebold walked to first and Ray Sebold scored on Arnold's hit. The inning closed when Moore caught Rosensteel's fly.

Fairfield tied the score in the six, Musselman scoring on McGlaughlin's hit. Emmitsburg did not get a run until the ninth when with two men out Ray Sebold made a hit and Hemler came across the plate. The following is the tabulated score:

The chief features of the game were the superior playing of Kerrigan at short, which at times was brilliant, and the splendid game of Horner and the batting of McGlaughlin.

Shortly after the game a parody on the big battle at Reno was given but unlike the fight between Jefferies and Johnson, the decision, had one been given, would have gone to the white man.

While these athletic sports were being held, those who took less interest in them were entertained at the various booths, the size of the park making this possible. In the evening the grounds were crowded especially at the dancing floor and the various stands did a tremendous business. Taken all in all the day was one of the most pleasant in the history of the Vigilant Hose Company under whose auspices the affair was given.

The music for the occasion was furnished by the Monocacy Valley Band, of Creagerstown, and the Emmitt Cornet Band. The bands acquitted themselves with credit and their music was one of the very enjoyable features of the day.

Again it is our agreeable privilege to call attention to the splendid order preserved throughout the day. The crowds were handled in a splendid manner and the police, while in evidence, were not overworked. This is one of the peculiarities that makes Emmitsburg a unique place for such gatherings.

One person was killed and several injured by a destructive wind and rain-storm at Rockwood, Ark., Friday night.

WHITES RIOT NEGRO WINS

JOHNSON IS CHAMPION

Jim Jeffries Goes Down In Fifteenth Round

RACE FEELING BURNS FIERCELY

Several Blacks Killed in New York When It Became Known That a Negro was Champion of the World.—Troubles Elsewhere.

Johnson, the Negro pugilist, defeated Jeffries, the former champion of the world in the fifteenth round of a one-sided fight at Reno, Nev., on Monday afternoon. Twenty thousand people saw the big black punch his antagonist and win $200,000. At no time was the white man in the game. He was completely mastered.

White supremacy received a severe jolt, not so much at Reno as in New York where white mobs assaulted blacks indiscriminately. St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Chattanooga, Washington and Philadelphia were all scenes of more or less disorder but New York was the worst. The trouble began as soon as Johnson's victory was made known.

In the metropolis scores of Negroes were badly beaten. Revolvers and knives were used in several of the affrays. In those sections of the city where the Negro population is largest the police reserves were called out so often that their commanding officers mobilized them in parks so they could get to the scene of trouble more quickly than if they had to go from the station houses.

Nor were the blacks safe even in Lincoln Square. Here three Negroes were attacked by members of a band known to the police as the "Hounds of Hell." One of them was caught running up the stairs of the elevated station at Sixty-sixth street. The crowd dragged him back to the street and hammered him unmercifully. He broke away and ran west in Sixty-fifth street. At No 16 Dr. Alexander Brown was standing in his doorway. The Negro staggered up to the door begging to be allowed to enter. The crowd was at his heels.

Dr. Brown pushed the Negro into the house and slammed the door. The crowd in the street demanded that the Negro be given up. Dr. Brown's answer was to draw a revolver and tell the crowd he would shoot the first man that set his foot on the steps. Police arrived and dispersed the crowd.

The Negro unconscious and with his skull fractured was found hiding under a barrel in the basement. He was taken to the Flower Hospital and will die.

As to the cause of all this race rioting: When Jeffries and Johnson appeared before the big crowd of 20,000 spectators at Reno, the white man was favored by almost all of that throng. For fifteen rounds the former champion took whatever the Negro wanted to give him. Jeffries was out-boxed and perfectly mastered by Johnson. On this account the fight was called slow and uninteresting. The end came in the fifteenth round when a left handed blow sent the big white man through the ropes for the count and made Johnson, the Negro, champion pugilist of the world.

Dr. Harry Thurston Peck, Anthon professor of Latin at Columbia University, has received a registered letter from the education committee of the University's board of trustees informing him that he was "suspended from the performance of all academic duties until the pleasure of the trustees in his case can be ascertained."

LATE CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER.

CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER DEAD

CLEVELAND APPOINTEE

Served Twenty-Two Years Dying at Seventy-Seven

ONCE EDITED POLITICAL PAPER

Was Nearly Always Found in a Dissenting Minority But Was Never Obtrusive.—Clung To Political Views.—Very Unselfish.

The chief justice of the Supreme Court, Melville Weston Fuller, died suddenly of heart failure on Monday at Sorrento, Maine, his summer residence. He was seventy-seven years old.

Born in Augusta, Maine on Feb. 11, 1833, Chief Justice Fuller, ended his days in his native state, and, as he desired, in the room wherein his wife died six years ago. He was a graduate of Bowdoin College where he was known as a scholarly lad. For a time he edited a paper in Bangor moving afterward to Chicago where he practiced law. His appointment to the Supreme Court by Cleveland in 1888 was made at the suggestion of Marshall Field, the great Chicago merchant. This and his ability commended him to the President and he received the appointment without any personal effort.

The members of the Supreme Court now living, their ages and the States from which they come are as follows:

John Marshall Harlan, 77 years, born in Kentucky, appointed 1877.
Edward Douglas White, 65 years, born in Louisiana, appointed 1894.
Joseph McKenna, 67 years, born in Pennsylvania, appointed 1898.
Oliver Wendell Holmes, 69 years, born in Massachusetts, appointed 1902.
William R. Day, 61 years, born in Ohio, appointed 1906.
Horace Harman Lurton, 66 years, born in Kentucky, appointed 1909
Charles E. Hughes, 48 years, born in New York, appointed 1910.

"It was not until the time of John Marshall," says the Springfield Republican, "that the Supreme Court assumed the high place in the government of the nation which it now holds, and that the chief justiceship became a position of power and dignity second only perhaps to the presidency itself. None of the chief justices prior to Marshall—Jay, Rutledge and Ellsworth—remained long in the position or died there. Marshall served 34 years, or to his death at the age of 80. Taney's service extended over 28 years, or to 1864, when he died at the age of 87. Salmon P. Chase served only nine years dying at the age of 65. Morrison R. Waite served 14 years, dying in 1888 at the age of 72. Thus Chief Justice Fuller stands third among the chief justices of the court in length of service at that office."

"The late chief justice came to the bench after the great issues growing out of the civil war had been largely determined judicially. The great causes then coming on were related more especially to the extraordinary industrial developments and complications of recent American history. The new chief justice had been bred in the political school of strict construction and guardianship of the rights of the states. The majority of the court throughout his time was Republican, and therefore loose construction, and in nearly all the crucial causes coming before the court in the 22 years of his incumbency he found himself in a dissenting minority. And even in dissent he was never inclined to write an opinion if there were others willing to do it. Such was his character. He had positive con-

ELECTRIC SERVICE IS COMING

PROPOSITION FOR A LOCALLY OWNED PLANT

Sentiment Grows as People Understand the Advantages. ---The Present Situation.

PRESENTATION OF A FEW SALIENT FACTS CONCERNING ELECTRICITY

What It Is and What It Will Do, What It Costs to Produce and Use.—Possible to Profitably Furnish Service in Small Towns.—What Has Been Done Here.—Fifty Customers and Over 350 Lights Now Available.

The coming of an electric service for Emmitsburg seems to be an assured fact. The agitation which has gone on for more than a year has been preparing the minds of our citizens for an understanding of the facts relating to the successful establishment of a plant here.

In the columns of the WEEKLY CHRONICLE and by circulars and discussion the principal points to be borne in mind have been taken up and placed clearly before the public.

Now that the time has come when the proposition of a locally owned and controlled electric company is before the public, it is of general interest to review what has been done.

In one way and another the following facts have been presented:

Electricity is one of the very greatest conveniences in modern life both in the home and in business places.

What It Is and Will Do.

As a light it is the safest, cleanest, healthiest and above all, the most convenient light known. In house service, at the maximum price proposed for this place, it will do the following:

Light the house at 1/2 cent an hour for a 20 candle power light.

Wash clothes for one cent an hour.

Iron clothes for 5 cents an hour.

Cook at from 5 cents an hour upwards.

Heat water in a few minutes at a few cents an hour.

Make ice and refrigerate at 3 cents an hour.

Operate coffee grinder, meat-chopper, cake mixer, bread mixer, egg beater, cream whip, ice cream freezer, potato peeler—any two at a time—for 1 cent an hour.

Heat a bed better, quicker and cleaner than a hot water bottle for 1/2 cent an hour.

Curl hair for 1/2 cent an hour.

Warm baby's milk for 4 cents an hour.

Sterilize the same at 4 cents an hour.

Run a temporary heater for 10 cents an hour.

Run a fan in hot weather for one cent an hour.

Run a sewing machine for 1 cent an hour.

Sweep and dust with an electric vacuum cleaner for 1/2 cent an hour.

What it Costs to Produce and Use.

Electricity has not generally been used in small towns because the amount of business possible has not been large enough to make the furnishing of an electric service a paying proposition.

Recent improvements in machinery have much reduced the cost of turning out electricity.

Recent improvements in lamps have greatly reduced the amount of electricity required to produce a given amount of light.

Between these two improvements the cost of supplying current for lighting and small power purposes has been brought down to a point where it is possible to profitably furnish an electric service for a small town and its business.

The usual light is a 20 candle power lamp. In other words, a lamp whose light is about equal to that of 20 sperm candles, 1/4 of an inch in diameter, all burning together. The cost of supplying such a light at the maximum price proposed in Emmitsburg is 1/2 cent an hour.

The cost of supplying such a light is equal to about half again as much as that of an oil lamp of equal brightness.

The cost of supplying such a light is about the same as that of an acetylene light of equal brightness.

With the increase in the use of the light the operating cost can be reduced to a point where it will be but little more than that of oil and considerably cheaper than acetylene.

The cost of installing the necessary wire and fixtures in the simplest way will run from $1.50 to $3.00 a light not counting the cost of the bulb itself.

What Has Been Done.

A franchise has been obtained which gives the exclusive right for selling electricity in Emmitsburg, but grants the town the right to buy the plant and business any time after three years.

A contract for street lighting assuring $432 of the gross annual income has been closed.

A canvass for lighting customers has been made which has already more than fifty names and covers over 350 lights connected.

A prospectus issued giving the facts of the projected company and inviting the public to invest.

Stock subscription books opened and stock subscribed.

A canvass for stock subscriptions undertaken and still under way.

What Remains to Be Done.

Secure the rest of the stock subscriptions.

Organize the stock holders and company.

Call in the money and let contracts.

Construct the power house and distribute lines.

Install the wiring in private houses.

Complete the plant and turn on the current.

The time required to build the plant counting from when the contracts are let should not be more than 60 to 90 days. In other words the contracts being let at the first of August the electric service should be in place by the first of November at the latest.

SPAIN ANSWERS VATICAN AND TROUBLE RESULTS

Attempt of Canalejas Government To Curb Roman Catholic Church In Spain Brings On Crisis.

The Spanish government has forwarded to the Vatican its reply to the note of June 27, which insisted upon the withdrawal of the decree of June 11, granting privileges to non-Catholic religious societies. The reply is a courteous but firm refusal to withdraw the decree, whose objects are again explained. Canalejas said: "We will see if we are able to convince the Vatican. If we fail we will regret the result, but the government's program must be upheld."

The attempt of the Canalejas government to curb the power of the Roman Catholic church in Spain has apparently brought the country face to face with another of the great periodical crises in its history. From all quarters there are reports of increasing excitement among the people, and a number of violent collisions have already taken place. The main object of Canalejas' policy is to check or reduce the number of religious establishments erected by the various Catholic orders, many of which have no legal right of existence there, and to reduce the amount of money now contributed by the state to the church.

An estimate that the total number of immigrant aliens admitted at all ports of the United States during the past fiscal year reached 1,035,545, was made by Commissioner-General Keefe at Washington.

REFORMS IN OBSERVATION OF FOURTH OF JULY

Association Formed To Work For Safe and Sane Day on Large Scale Next Year.—Success this Year.

Inspired by the success of the "safe and sane" Fourth of July this year, the American Civic Association, which has taken a leading part in the crusade against the Fourth of July fireworks, burnt features and plasters, announced that it "will exert its efforts for greater and more positive results for 1911."

In a statement made over the signature of its president, J. Horace McFarland, and its secretary, Richard B. Watrous, the association expresses the opinion that "the American people never will return to the noisy and dangerous Fourth, but will be in the years to come more insistent than ever before in demanding that the use of explosives on the Fourth of July be prohibited altogether and that the laws enacted be strictly enforced. The association recommends that, far in advance of next year's anniversary, adequate provision be made for public exercises and entertainment events that will insure an enthusiastic observance of the day and make it one of even greater pleasure to the youth of the nation than ever before."

By an overwhelming majority Governor Jared Young Sanders was declared the choice of both houses of the Louisiana General Assembly for the seat in the United States Senate left vacant by the recent death of Senator McEnery.

Tenants For The Doll House

There were once three little dolls named Anabelle, Clarabelle and Madge, who belonged to three little girls named Lillian, Polly Anne and Sue.

Now, as the three little girls were nice children and fond of their dolls the dolls led very happy lives. Every morning they were washed and dressed and given their breakfasts at a dear little round table, and every night they were put to bed in three comfortable little beds.

So the three dolls led very regular and quiet lives until one day when their three little mistresses were away at school they heard a great bumping and scraping on the nursery stairs, and into the nursery came two expressmen carrying a large new doll house.

You may believe the dolls were excited! But when the children came home they were so taken with the doll house that they forgot the dolls, neglected them and broke their hearts.

The dolls decided then and there that they would not stand it any longer. Consequently when the children came to play with their doll house the next day they found all their dolls lying stiff and straight.

When the three little girls discovered these alarming symptoms in their dolls they were much worried, so they called in Johnny Jenks, a little boy who lived next door, who always acted as doctor when the dolls were ill.

When he heard that there was something serious the matter he came in a great hurry, only stopping to put on his professional dress and to stick his medicine chest under his arm.

"Oh, doctor," cried the three little girls all together, "our dolls are very ill, and we don't know what is the matter with them!"

After they had told him the whole story and explained to him the symptoms the doctor looked very grave.

"This is a very serious case," he said in his most professional tones. "Put the dolls to bed at once and feed them on sugar and water for at least a week. After that I should recommend a change of air. Take them down to the front garden for an afternoon. If any more alarming symptoms appear send for me at once."

"Thank you, doctor," said the three little girls. "We will do just as you say."

So the three angry dolls were put to bed forthwith and were nursed with such care that their little mistresses had no time for the new doll house.

As the invalid dolls were basking comfortably in the sun in the front garden at the end of the week they saw another expressman come in at the gate, this time carrying a small package.

"I wonder what that is," they whispered to each other. "More trouble, I suppose. Well, I don't care. I simply won't play in that doll house."

Then they shouted to the expressman. "Go away; go away!"

But, being just a man, the expressman didn't pay any attention to what they said, and, in fact, he didn't even hear them, but kept on his way up the path to the house. When the children heard that a package had been left for them they came tumbling downstairs to see what it was.

On the outside was written: "These belong with the doll house. I forgot to put them in."

"What can it be?" cried the children. "There is everything in the doll house."

And they cut the strings in haste. Inside they came upon a lot of soft paper, and inside were a whole family of tiny dolls just the right size for the doll's house.

"How perfectly lovely!" cried the children.

"How perfectly lovely!" cried the three invalid dolls. "Now we won't ever have to play in that cramped little doll house again."

And the prospect had such a good effect upon their constitutions that when the doctor called he found his patients completely recovered and in a most cheerful frame of mind.

"There, my dear ladies," he said to the three little girls when he left, "you see the good effects of a sugar and water diet and a change of climate."—Philadelphia Record.

ON THE SQUARE

GETTYSBURG

Once more is Gettysburg the Mecca of tourists because of an unusual attraction. The manoeuvre camp is proving a drawing card for the town. The regulars, having been here over a week, are well acquainted with the surrounding country, and seem well pleased with the camp. The Maryland and Virginia militia, which arrived the latter part of last week, have been quartered among the Regulars, the plan being to teach them the tactics of war. This, however, does not seem to appeal to either branch, neither caring to mix with the other, which fact was demonstrated on Friday night, when a Virginia militiaman attacked a colored Regular in a local bar-room. The argument was continued in the street, and quite a number of men became involved. The arrival of Regular troops settled the dispute.

A specified program is carried out each day, the rating of which will be announced at the end of each period. The Maryland and Virginia troops will leave Saturday and their places will be taken by Pennsylvania and New Jersey troops.

The general headquarters are on the elevation east of the York pike, with a commanding view of the surrounding country. A hospital corps occupies a position in the same grove as that used for the similar purpose in 1863.

Band concerts are given each evening by the bands of the different regiments. Excursions brought many camp visitors on Sunday, while Monday proved a gala day for Gettysburg. Excursions, autos, teams, bicycles and all modern means of travel brought crowds, and all were well repaid for the trip.

In the morning the troops were all assembled and marched in review past headquarters, where they were viewed by Major-General W. W. Witherspoon and staff. Major-General Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, was present for the occasion.

Besides this the usual Fourth of July celebration furnished more than its usual quota of excitement, as it was pay day in camp, and the soldiers spent money lavishly for fire-works.

One of the most handsome displays was given by the Elks from the balcony of their home.

The S. S. Baseball League is furnishing considerable sport for Gettysburg. On Thursday evening the Methodists defeated the Presbyterians by the score of 6 to 5.

On Monday the local Y. M. C. A. defeated the Hanover Y. M. C. A. by the score of 10 to 4.

Tuesday evening the best game of the season came off, between the Methodist and College Lutheran teams, the score being 5 to 5 at the end of the seventh inning, the game being called then because of darkness.

BAPTISTS ATTACKED BY MOB OF ITALIAN FANATICS

Ambassador Leishman Acquaints Italy With Serious Condition.—Situation Very Perilous.

The American Ambassador to Italy, J. G. A. Leishman, has brought the attention of the Italian Government to the recent attacks upon Baptist missionaries in the province of Avellino.

At the time of the earthquake in that district early in June James P. Stuart, of St. Louis, the representative of the American Board of Baptist Missions in Italy, and other missionary workers were attacked by a mob and escorted out of the district by soldiers.

Arriving at the outskirts of the village near the town of Avellino, Mr. Stuart, accompanied by three other missionaries, was met by the chief of police, several constables and a dozen soldiers. A howling crowd of natives quickly surrounded the carriage. So demonstrative did they become that it was only with difficulty they could be restrained by force from doing the missionaries injury. On all sides arose the cry "Down with the Baptists!" and a shower of stones fell about the carriage.

Mr. Stuart was hit on the chest, the arm and the leg, while the chief of police was slightly wounded.

The soldiers with fixed bayonets formed a circle around the Americans and protected them to the entrance of the Baptist church. The mob stoned the church from 4 until 10 o'clock at night, breaking all the windows, but doing no serious damage.

ROOSEVELT'S AID WANTED IN NATIONAL POLITICS

His Defeat in New York Senate and Assembly May Force Him Into The Game Whether He Will or Not.

Theodore Roosevelt is to be asked to get back into the harness again. His decisive defeat in both the Senate and the Assembly at the hands of the Republican organization has created a situation which may force him to take an active part in the politics of both New York state and the nation. Almost before the gavel had banged an end to the special session of the Legislature at Albany, N. Y., the members who had shared with him in the lost cause of primary legislation were planning to make him leader of the party in the State, whether he wants to be or not. They point to the fact that, once he plunges into the contest in the state, he will be involved in the politics of the nation, owing to the prominent part which New York state is expected to play in the campaign of the fall.

Col. Roosevelt's defeat was in no sense a repudiation of his leadership or an indication that his power is on the wane, those who stood with him say. They had a majority of the Republican votes in both branches of the Legislature, and it was only by a combination with the Democrats that the organization was able to win.

Communications intended for publication in this paper, letters of a business nature in relation to the Chronicle, and all orders for Job Printing to be done at this office should be addressed to THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

THE OPPORTUNITY IS HERE.

For somewhat more than a year, there has been a great deal of discussion, among the people of this place, on the question of a local electric plant for providing the numberless comforts that are to be furnished by electricity in the homes and business places of our citizens.

A great many facts and figures bearing in one way or another on the advantages and costs of providing an electric service and of installing and utilizing it have been published from time to time in the WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

Public-spirited citizens have worked and are now working to enlist the public support of an electric company to supply electric light and power to the large number of our people who want it and intend to use it as soon as they can get it; and to have the company owned and controlled entirely by our own people.

The opportunity to acquire the ownership of such an electric company is here and local control can be assured by investing in its stock. The price of the stock has been fixed at a figure which puts the ownership in at least one share within the means of every one.

Nearly 30 years ago a similar opportunity to acquire the ownership of our water supply confronted us. In that time the water company has proved an excellent investment. It has proved so because of the support and patronage given it by the people of this town.

Returns from over 1000 cities and towns of the size of Emmitsburg have shown that the support and incomes of electric companies are larger than those of water companies in the same town. In other words the average citizen pays somewhat more for his electric service—which in these days means more than electric light—than he does for his water service.

Will this town prove to be an exception to the rule? There is no reason to believe so. There is every reason to believe that it will not. With the water service it was a question of inexpensive and inferior well-water as against good water at a fixed rate. With the electric service it is a question of expensive and inferior oil or gas lighting as against the electric light at a fixed rate. The net increase in the household expenses is therefore much less with the electric service than with the water service. Yet practically all the town has taken mountain water and practically all the town will take the electric service.

Given the patronage of our people, the stock of the electric company will certainly prove a good safe investment, paying a reasonable return.

The question that confronts us is merely this: shall this return come into the pockets of our own people or shall it go to outside investors?

Next week is the time fixed for the closing of the subscriptions. Now is the time to act. Get busy and take all the stock your means will permit and get your neighbors to do the same. Do it now.

Advertising is News—important news—and all people are on the lookout for this kind. So here is the moral: Whether one deals in peanuts or pianos, auto harps or automobiles, bananas or bank securities, dish pans or diamonds, horses or houses, tape or tapestry, ink or ice cream, hay or harness—no matter what commodities one deals in, if the News about these things is published people will read it and money and commodity will quickly change hands.

And let it not be forgotten that one inch of live advertising is worth more than ten inches of "dead stuff" and that keeping at it and presenting one thing at a time and different things each week is the winning plan.

EMMITSBURG A CHURCH-GOING TOWN.

Many a stranger has been impressed by the church-going habit of our people. Different ones have remarked that they have never before been in a town where "everybody seems to go to church," and where "all the houses appear to be completely closed during the hour for service." Yet this compliment to Emmitsburg is merited, for it has good foundation back of it. And it is a goodly sight to see the streets filled with little companies of devout folk—some going in one direction and some in another—all wending their way towards their respective places of worship.

Emmitsburg may be very rightly classed as a moral and Christian community. Its people are God-fearing and God-loving people having great respect for religion and earnestly desiring to obey divine as well as man-made law. The churches are substantial and dignified and each congregation is and ought to be proud of its minister, for excellent sermons are the rule and the pastoral work of all the clergymen leaves nothing to be desired.

NEVER try to make a business contract when your stomach is out of order or after you've slept three hours instead of seven. It is like writing a fiery letter or saying a mean thing on the impulse of the moment—you will regret it as sure as you live.

THE difference between the other fellow and yourself, in your own estimation, is that whatever you do or say is all right; whatever he says or does is all wrong.

WITH the thermometer at 65 how hot a man becomes in church, especially when he is listening to a sermon that fits his case, and how very cool he finds the theatre or the circus tent, even when the thermometer registers 98.

He Saved the Patent Office. When in the war of 1812 the British, who had taken Washington, trained their guns upon the patent office, Dr. Thornton, throwing himself directly before the guns, cried:

"Are you Englishmen or Goths and Vandals? This is the patent office—a depository of the ingenuity and inventions of the American nation, in which the whole civilized world is interested. Would you destroy it? Then let the charge pass through my body."

And the building was spared. Twenty-four years afterward, however, it was destroyed by fire, together with everything in it.

The Harm of Damp Houses. It is dangerous to health and even to life in a damp, moldy house or one built over a moldy cellar. Many years ago the London Lancet in an article on diphtheria traced the disease in certain cases to the presence of certain molds and fungoid growths which seemed to be breathed into the throat. Remember, one of the best disinfectants is lime. Moldy cloths, such as shoes and other articles that are unfit for use, should be destroyed at once.

Party's Fate on One Vote.

Instances are common enough in elections when a single vote turns the scale, but for that vote to decide not only the fate of a candidate, but of a party as well, is rare. Yet a majority of one in parliament, which may logically depend on a majority of one in the country, has worked some of the most momentous results possible. The classical example is the act of union of 1790, certainly among the largest, most important and most remarkable changes ever accomplished by a legislative body. One hundred and six voted for it and 105 against. Then a majority of one carried the great reform bill in 1832.

Majorities only a little bigger have again and again been responsible for far-reaching consequences. A majority of five threw out the Melbourne government in 1839. By the same figure Lord John Russell's government was defeated in 1866. Gladstone went out of office in 1873 because he lacked three votes, and the public education act, one of the most important ever passed, was placed on the statute book by a majority of two.—London Chronicle.

Wild Dogs of Asia.

The whole tribe of wild dogs, which in closely allied forms are to be found in the wildest jungles and woods of Asia, from the Himalayas to Ceylon and from China to the Taurus—unless the "golden wolves" of the Roman empire are now extinct in the forests of Asia Minor—show an individual and corporate courage which entitles them to a high place among the most daring of wild creatures. The "red dogs," to give them their most characteristic name, are neither large in size nor do they assemble in large packs. Those which have been from time to time measured and described seem to average some three feet in length from the nose to the root of the tail. The pack seldom numbers more than nine or ten, yet there is sufficient evidence that they are willing and able to destroy any creature that inhabits the jungle, except the adult elephant and perhaps the rhinoceros, creatures whose great size and leathery hide make them almost invulnerable to such enemies as dogs.—London Spectator.

London's Big Ben.

Why is the large bell in the tower of the house of parliament in London called Big Ben? The average Londoner himself seems to have no idea how it got its name. When the building was designed Sir Benjamin Hall had a great deal to do with carrying out the plans of the architects, being high commissioner of public works, and his coworkers appreciated the fact that to him the city of London was largely indebted. So when the question came up in parliament as to the name of the enormous bell that was to be hung in the tower a member shouted, "Why not call it Big Ben?" This suggestion was received with much applause as well as with roars of laughter, for Sir Benjamin was an enormous man, both in height and girth, and had often been called Big Ben. From that day on the bell whose peal every Londoner knows has been known only as Big Ben.—Harper's Weekly.

Mighty In Titles.

The ruler of Turkey, in addition to the titles sultan and kha-khan (high prince and lord of lords), also claims sovereignty over most districts, towns, cities and states in the orient, specifying each by name and setting out in each of his various titles "all the forts, citadels, purlieus and neighborhood thereof" in regular legal form. His official designation ends, "Sovereign also of diverse nations, states, peoples and races on the face of the earth." All this is in addition to his high position as "head of the faithful" and "supreme lord of all the followers of the prophet," "direct and only lieutenant on earth of Mohammed."

The Great Eastern.

The dimensions of the one time world famous Great Eastern were as follows: Length, 602 feet; width, 83 feet; depth, 60 feet; tonnage, 24,000 tons; draft when unloaded, 20 feet; when loaded, 30 feet. She had paddle wheels fifty-six feet in diameter and was also provided with a four bladed screw propeller of twenty-four feet diameter. She had accommodations for 800 first class, 2,000 second class and 1,200 third class passengers, 4,000 in all. Her speed was about eighteen miles an hour. The Great Eastern was finally broken up for old iron in the year 1889 after a checkered career of some thirty-one years.

Fair, but Stormy.

A gentleman boarded the Karori car at Kelburne avenue. Recognizing a friend on one of the seats, he nodded pleasantly and then said, "Well, what do you think of the weather?" "Oh, horrible!" was the reply. "And how is your wife today?" "She's just about the same, thank you!"—New Zealand Free Lance.

No Ear For Music.

"How do you like the music, Mr. Judkins?" said Miss Parsons. "I'm sorry, but I have no ear for music," he answered. "No," put in Mr. Jasper. "He uses his for a pen rack."

An Even Score.

"What is your objection to him, papa?" "Why, the fellow can't make enough money to support you." "But neither can you."

No Use For Theory.

Wigwag—It is a pet theory of mine that two can live as cheaply as one. Youngpop—Huh! It's plain to be seen you were never the father of twins.—Philadelphia Record.

When You "See Stars."

The man who when struck violently on the head says he "saw stars" is not far from telling the truth. The fact is that there is a phosphorescent power in the eye which does not attract a person's attention under ordinary conditions, but which is distributed and reveals itself whenever the head gets a sudden shock and sometimes even in the act of sneezing. A blow on the head results in a pressure of the blood vessels upon the retina, causing either total darkness or a faint blue light which floats before the eyes, and it is in this faint blue light the imagination discerns the thousands of fantastic forms and figures that by general acceptance are termed stars; hence, while the astronomical display so frequently mentioned may be said to be entirely a creature of the imagination, there is at least some foundation for the idea. The true nature of the sensation is never very apparent, even to the victim, for the simple reason that it is invariably experienced under circumstances which render a searching introspective investigation out of the question.

An Odd Nugget of Gold.

There have been many large and oddly shaped gold nuggets found in the United States and elsewhere, but the oddest of them all was that discovered at the Midhas mine, on Sulky gully, near Melbourne, Australia, in 1887. The nugget was flat and almost the exact counterpart in contour of a colossal human hand held open, with the exception of the thumb and forefinger, which were closed together in a manner so as to make it appear that the thumb was holding the finger in place. Its greatest length was twelve and a half inches and its greatest breadth eight inches. It was of the very purest gold, with but a little of foreign substances adhering, mostly between the "fingers," and weighed 617 ounces. It was found in the north-west main drive of the Midhas mine, 120 feet below the surface of the earth and at a spot only fifty feet from where the famous Lady Brassey nugget was discovered the year before. It weighed fifty-one pounds of pure gold.

Mme. Rejane at Rehearsal.

Mme. Rejane at one of her rehearsals was endeavoring to impress upon a young actor the necessity of a tragic expression. "Put yourself in his place," she said. "But I have never been through such an experience," the other pleaded. "Well, then," retorted the actress, "imagine you have lost 300 or 400 louis at baccarat and that you have been dismissed from the company." His face fell. "There you have it," said she. "Keep that expression and you will win." For a young woman who could not weep to order she tried a heroic cure. "Very well. I will take the part away from you. You are not pretty enough." This had the desired effect, and the floodgates opened. "Weep like that and you will be the hit of the piece," exclaimed Rejane triumphantly.—London M. A. P.

Balzac and Black Coffee.

Balzac was addicted to the use of strong black coffee and depended upon it as a nervous stimulant during the hours which he devoted to composition. Its effect he has himself described in these words: "The coffee falls into your stomach. Immediately everything starts into action. Your ideas begin to move like Grand Army battalions on the battlefield, and the battle opens. Memories arrive at a run, standards flying; the light cavalry of comparisons breaks into a magnificent gallop; the artillery of logic dashes up and unlimbers; thoughts come rushing up as sharpshooters; characters spring up on all sides; the paper becomes covered with ink, for the struggle has begun and ends in torrents of black water like the battle in black powder."

Burns as a Tax Collector.

In the olden days candles were taxed articles, and it was the duty of Robert Burns as an excise officer to see that the tax was not evaded. He generally looked the other way, however, as when passing through the kitchen one night at William Lorimer's of Kennishall, where the gudewife was busy making candles, he merely remarked, "Faith, madam, ye're thrang the nicht," and passed into the parlor.—St. James' Gazette.

The Mountains Bother Them.

The British have had heaps of trouble in Siam to make the natives understand that the world is round instead of flat. Indeed, the native teachers keep on teaching the children that it is flat, and when argued with they reply, "If it isn't flat why do the mountains stand up as they do instead of rolling downhill?"

A Financier's Observation.

"He spends money like a prince," said the man who makes trite comparisons.

"Perhaps," replied Mr. Dustin Stax, "only most members of royal families I have met in my banking experience are more anxious to borrow money than to disburse it."—Washington Star.

A Paradox.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what is a paradox? Pa—Well, my son, a coal stove is one kind of paradox. It won't burn until it is put up; then it won't burn until it is shaken down.—Chicago News.

A Difference.

"I am told that Jones is a regular leech. Is that true?" "No; I would hardly say that. A leech, you know, never gets stuck on himself."

The Light of the Stars.

Various endeavors have been made to estimate the light of the stars. In the northern hemisphere Argelander has registered 324,000 stars down to the nine and a half magnitude, and with the aid of the best photometric data Agnes M. Clerk's "System of the Stars" gives the sum of the light of these northern stars as equivalent to 1-440 of full moonlight, while the total light of all stars similarly enumerated in both hemispheres, to the number of about 900,000, is roughly placed at 1-180 of the lunar brightness. The scattered light of still fainter celestial bodies is difficult to compute. By a photographic method Sir William Abney rated the total starlight of both hemispheres at 1-100 of full moonlight, and Professor Newcomb from visual observations of all stars at just 723 times that of Capella, or 1-89 of the light of the full moon.

It is not certain, however, that the sky would be totally dark if all stars were blotted out. Certain processes make the upper atmosphere strongly luminous at times, and we cannot be sure that this light would be totally absent.—Harper's Weekly.

A Dutch Fishing Fleet.

If the traveler wants to get a real glimpse of picturesque Holland, a glimpse which shall long be a happy memory, let him journey to the old fishing village of Scheveningen, not far from The Hague. Its fishing fleet is an imposing one and is best seen at night, when the boats are drawn up on the beach. Each has a number, and these are painted on the sides in such large figures that they can be read at a considerable distance. At night when the fishermen begin to come to land the women of the village walk down to the beach with their knitting in their hands to meet them. They wear their wooden shoes, some of which are made to look especially clean by an application of whitening, and they make a merry clatter as they go. Industry is characteristic of the women of Holland in all walks of life. They must always be at work of some kind, and it would seem as if more knitting needles must be used in Holland than in any other country in the world.—E. J. Farrington in Interior.

The Old Time English School.

Until comparatively recent times public school boys in England had many hardships to endure. As late as 1834 a writer who spoke from experience said that "the inmates of a workhouse or a jail were better fed and lodged than the scholars of Eton." Boys whose parents could not pay for a private room underwent privations that might have broken down a cabin boy and would be thought inhuman if inflicted on a galley slave. "They rose at 5, winter and summer, and breakfasted four hours later, the interval being devoted to study, after they had swept their rooms and made their beds. The only washing accommodation was a pump. The diet consisted of an endless round of mutton, potatoes and beer, none of them too plentiful or too good. "To be starved," says this writer, "frozen and hogged—such was the daily life of the scions of England's noblest families."

A Losing Game.

"By having a record kept at the cashier's desk of pay checks which patrons fail to turn in I sometimes make up my losses," said the proprietor of a large restaurant. "Today a man got a check for 65 cents. To the cashier he presented one for 25 cents. The latter, glancing at his missing check card, discovered that it was one of the listed ones. Detaining the man, he notified me. After being confronted with the waiter the beat wanted to pay both checks. I ordered a policeman summoned. The man's pleading led me to show him the list of missing checks, which amounted to something like $50, saying that I didn't know but that he was the cause of them all. He offered to pay the lot if the matter would be dropped, and this proposition I accepted."—New York Sun.

Couldn't Forget It.

"Saturday night some miscreant juggled off a whole cord of my wood, and somehow I can't forget about it," declared Silas. "Have you tried to forget it?" inquired his friend. "Yes. Sunday morning I went to church, hoping I could get it off my mind, and before I had been there five minutes the choir started in singing 'The Lost Chord,' so I got out."—Judge.

Reckless Gambling.

"I'm afraid my husband is developing the gambling instinct," sobbed the bride. "What's the matter, dear? Has he been playing poker?" "No, but yesterday he offered to match pennies with Brother Frank to determine which one should pay the car fare."—Detroit Free Press.

Getting Down to Business.

Mistress (to new servant)—There are two things, Mary, about which I am very particular. They are truthfulness and obedience. Mary—Yes'm, and when you tell me to say you're not in when a person calls that you don't wish to see which is it to be, mum—truthfulness or obedience?

Defined.

Preocious Child—Papa, tell me what is humbug? Parent (with a deep drawn sigh)—It is, my dear, when your mamma pretends to be very fond of me and puts no buttons on my shirt.

He who loves goodness harbors angels.—Emerson.

A FAIR EXCHANGE

MANY people have things that they no longer have use for, but keep them in the house, taking up room and doing no one any good.
 Better sell or trade off things you don't want. Advertise them and you will find that there are people ready to take them and pay cash, or trade for them. You will find it easy through the Columns of

THE CHRONICLE

PERSONALS.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

NOTICE SUBSCRIBERS.

THE CHRONICLE respectfully requests all subscribers who are in arrears to pay for their subscriptions before August 1st. This notice is published in order that this paper may conform to the requirement of the Postoffice, which requirement is mandatory. This is not a demand, but a request made necessary by the Government authorities and one which THE CHRONICLE feels assured will meet with a prompt and appreciative response.

WILLIAM HENRY CLAY CROWL. Last week we chronicled the death of Mr. Crowl of Sharpsburg. The news came too late for proper notice of the decease of this aged gentleman, so well known in Emmitsburg.

Mr. William Henry Clay Crowl, after a lingering illness of cancer, which he bore with christian fortitude and resignation, died at his residence on Main street, Sharpsburg, Md., on Thursday afternoon, June 30 at 2 o'clock aged 81 years, 6 months and 16 days.

Mr. Crowl was married 56 years ago by Rev. T. N. Aughinbaugh to Miss Eliza A. Hoke, daughter of Mr. Michael Hoke who was at one time high sheriff of York county, Pa. To Mr. and Mrs. Crowl were born the following children who with Mrs. Crowl live to mourn his loss: Mr. M. P. Crowl, Mr. William Crowl and Mrs. S. F. Renner, of Shepherdstown W. Va., Mrs. James Hospelhorn, of Emmitsburg, Md., Mrs. Daniel Duble, Hagerstown, Md., Mrs. B. F. Otto, Sharpsburg, Miss Ella at home. He is also survived by twenty-six grand children, and twenty great grand children.

Mr. Crowl was a consistent member of Christ Reformed Church, Sharpsburg. He was an upright man in all his dealings, a sincere christian, doing in all things the will of his master and resting his hope of eternal salvation alone on the righteousness of Jesus Christ.

After brief services at the house conducted by his pastor, Rev. Hartzell, of the Reformed Church, assisted by Rev. A. A. Kerlin, of the Lutheran Church, and Rev. John Otto, of the German Baptist Brethren Church, the body was laid to rest in Mountain View Cemetery there to await the resurrection at the last day. The prayer at the grave was made by the Rev. Dr. Clever, of Christ Reformed Church, Hagerstown, a first cousin of the deceased. Peace to his ashes. The floral decorations were profuse and handsome.

TAFT-BALLINGER POLICY NOT ROOSEVELT-PINCHOT

President and Secretary of the Interior Confer at Beverly on Conservation Legislature.

President Taft held the first individual Cabinet meeting of the summer on the porch at Burgess Point Tuesday afternoon with R. A. Ballinger, Secretary of the Interior. They dug deep into the affairs of the reclamation service. Secretary Ballinger referred inquiries as to when the resignation of Director F. H. Newell would be asked to Secretary Norton. That official declined to give information as to Director Newell or his probable successor.

Secretary Ballinger discussed with the President the expenditure of the $1,000,000 emergency appropriation made in the last days of Congress, to be used for the protection of the Imperial Valley and the Laguna Dam. They determined that since the emergency had passed an international commission be appointed to recommend the manner of the expenditure. Some of the money will be expended across the border in Mexico, and that country will be represented upon the commission. President Taft is authorized to cross the border to make the improvements, after obtaining permission from Mexico.

It was made pretty plain after the conference on Interior Department matters that the policy of the Administration has not changed with regard to conservation. It is still the Taft-Ballinger policy and not the Roosevelt-Pinchot policy which obtains.

FREDERICK BASEBALL DEAD

Team Loses Three Games and Disbands. Team Not a Drawing Card.

The Frederick baseball team disbanded Wednesday. Lack of patronage is given as the cause. Before disbanding the team lost two games to the M. A. C. Team, the first by 5 to 1, the second 6 to 1. Another game was lost to a Baltimore team, with Schmidt of the Orioles in the box. The score was 9-0. After disbanding Manager Baughman said he did his best to give the people of Frederick good baseball and after running the club at a loss with no prospects of improvement decided to pay up and stop.

Panama Hats Released.

Collector Loeb, with the approval of Secretary MacVeagh of the Treasury, released at New York the big shipment of Panama hats which he held up recently on the charge of alleged undervaluation. The question of duty and penalties, if any, is to be adjusted later. Meanwhile the importers have given bond to satisfy any claims the government may decide upon. There are 148 cases of hats in the lot, valued at $124,552, on which the government claims duty of $32,291. They were released in order that the importers may sell them before the seasonable weather passes.

Littlestown Borough Sued.

Josephine Smith entered suit in court last week against the Borough of Littlestown for alleged negligence in permitting to exist on the side walk on the east side of South Queen street, an opening into which she fell on the 21st of June, 1909, and sustained such injuries to her body as left her crippled and unable to walk without crutches, and unable to follow her business of dress-making, for which she claims $10,000 damages. Her attorneys are Messrs. Ehrehart and Bange of Hanover, and Duncan of Gettysburg.

Aeroplane and Man-of-War.

It is claimed for Glenn Curtis and the war-destroying possibilities of the aeroplane that in a test with a dummy warship on Lake Keuka near his home in New York state he dropped 20 bombs the other day from high in the air and 18 of them hit the dummy. Admiral Kimball of the United States navy who was present at the demonstration, is said to have been greatly impressed.

General Wood to be Chief.

Major-General Leonard Wood, now in command of the Department of the East, will assume his duties as chief of staff of the army, possibly the beginning of next week. The War Department has received no word concerning his movements since it was advised through the State Department of his departure from Montevideo about a month or so ago for New York by way of Southampton, and indicating his arrival in this country about July 10.

JOHN WANAMAKER'S PLAN.

"I never in my life," says John Wanamaker, used such a thing as a poster, a dodger, or a handbill. My plan for twenty-five years has been to buy so much space in a newspaper and fill it up with what I wanted. I would not give an advertisement in a newspaper of four hundred circulation for five thousand posters and dodgers. If I wanted to sell cheap jewelry or run a lottery scheme I might use posters, but I wouldn't insult a decent reading public with handbills."

Holy Name Society Reunion.

Very Rev. J. R. Meagher, O. P., has been appointed by Cardinal Gibbons, spiritual director of the Archdiocesan Union of the Holy Name Society, and is already actively engaged in making plans for the reunion of the Holy Name Societies, which will take place in Washington, in October. Many interesting features are included in the program for that event, among them a monster parade in which Father Meagher expects to have at least 10,000 men in line.

CURLEY GETS NO PENSION

Member of Cole's Cavalry Claimed Pay and Bounty After 45 Years.

The Government has refused the application of Thomas Curley, of Frederick, Md., for pay and soldier's bounty money for less than three months' service at the fag end of the Civil War.

Curley was enrolled February 25, 1864, at Frederick for three years or during the war and was sworn into service the same day as a recruit for Cole's First Regiment, Maryland Home Brigade. He was discharged as an unassigned recruit at the LaFayette barracks in Baltimore, May 12, 1864, on surgeon's certificate of disability, because, as stated by the surgeon, of defective vision resulting from chronic inflammation of the eyes.

The Comptroller points out that no claim for pay, bounty or travel allowance was filed in Curley's case until last December—more than 45 years after the claimant was discharged. Curley is not a pensioner and the Government officials claim the disability which caused his discharge is shown by records to have existed when he enlisted.

victions and held to them, but he was not disposed to make them obtrusive when they involved a divided court. Unlike Marshall, he was never disposed to make himself the overshadowing figure among his colleagues, and few of the great opinions of the court in the past 22 years are of his writing, whether for the court or for the minority.
"He lacked Marshall's robustness of intellect, and was perhaps happily wanting in the aggressive mentality of Taney along a narrower line of judicial construction. But like Taney he clung to political views which the developments of the time were making increasingly difficult of application. He was broadly grounded in the law, clear in his understanding, simple in his judicial expositions. He was among the kindest of men, and no one on the bench in his time was less disposed to put himself forward or to deny opportunity to his colleagues in favor of himself. His unselfish devotion to duty, his gentle manners, his wealth of quiet humor endeared him to all with whom he came in contact, and his going will be regretfully contemplated by the whole nation."

BRYAN NOT AMENABLE TO NEBRASKA DEMOCRATS

Declares War on Liquor Interests and Breaks With State Leaders.—Political Free Lance.
Declaring, in effect, that he asks nothing in the way of office from the Democratic party of Nebraska, W. J. Bryan, in a statement asserts that he will advocate in the coming campaign in his State such reforms as he sees fit, regardless of the attitude of Governor Shallenberger and other leaders of the party, and he served notice on these leaders that he proposes for the time being to be something of a political free lance.
At the same time Mr. Bryan expresses regret that he must differ with men with whom he has so long been intimately associated politically and personally, and expresses his appreciation for the support which has been given him in the past.

His statement is brought forth because of the refusal of Governor Shallenberger to call an extra session of the Legislature to enact the "initiative and referendum," and incidentally pave the way for county option in Nebraska.
GLENN H. CURTISS PLAYS SEA GULL OVER OCEAN
Sensational Flight and Daring Exhibition at Atlantic City.—Mile a Minute Speed Attained.
Glenn H. Curtiss made his first long flight over the Atlantic ocean at Atlantic City, on Tuesday. He circled the entire length of the resort in a sensational flight of eight and one-half minutes.
Mounting into the air from the soft sand near the Million Dollar Pier, he drove diagonally for the end of Young's Ocean Pier and electrified the thousands who lined the board walk as he swooped gracefully along, traveling with the speed of an express train toward the inlet.
Rising over the end of Young's Pier, Curtiss showed perfect control of the machine and made a graceful curve far out to sea. Reaching a current of air which lifted his machine to a height of 1,000 feet, he turned and continued up the coast parallel with the board walk, cheered along his entire course by the enthusiastic crowds.

The Test Case.
"Say paw," queried little Sylvester Snodgrass, "what's a test case?"
"A test case, my son," replied Snodgrass, Sr., "is a case brought in court to decide whether there's enough in it to justify the lawyers in working up similar cases."—Lippincott's.

His Revenge.

ZELAYA MAKING TROUBLE IN CENTRAL AMERICAN STATES
Forming Alliance of Republics Against United States.—Trouble Has Reached Acute Form.
Zelaya, the man whom Secretary of State Knox was going to have tried for murder is now using his influence to create a strong anti-American feeling in the Central American Republics. To such an extent has he been successful that it is expected violence to citizens of the United States will be done.
Guatemala, alone of the Central American republics, is under President Cabrera, friendly to the United States. The others are seeking to secure the good will or aid of the larger Latin-American republics in an anti-American alliance. The bitterness is, of course most intense in that portion of Nicaragua under the control of Madriz, where the president is finding it difficult to prevent an attack on Americans, which he fears will cause his downfall.
In Costa Rica the press is waging a fierce crusade against the United States landing troops at Bluefields and the people are warned that it is a scheme to annex and dominate Central America, as has been done at Panama.

Cardinal Gibbons on Strikes.
As to strikes, I think they are at best a questionable remedy for labor troubles, says Cardinal Gibbons in Leslie's weekly. They paralyze industry, foment passion and lead to the destruction of property. They keep the men in enforced idleness, during which their minds are clouded with discontent, and they often cause great suffering to the workman's family. I don't approve of the boycott. I regard it as an unwarrantable invasion of the commercial privileges guaranteed by the government to every business firm. The right of a nonunion laborer to make his own contract freely and perform it without hindrance is so essential to civil liberty that it must be defended by the whole power of the government. Arbitration is the only fair means by which capital or labor will get its due. Arbitration is a synonym for civilization.

Model Dairy Farm in State.
Modern methods of handling dairy products will be exemplified by the Department of Agriculture on a farm of 475 acres near Beltsville, Md., a few miles north of Washington. Improvements of this property are now being made under appropriations granted at the recent session of Congress. It is stated that a herd of milk goats will be bred on the farm, in addition to the other dairy stock.

Religious Riots in Spain.
One man killed and many hurt in rioting Saturday between clericals and anticlericals in the village of Centi, Spain. The trouble resulted from a strong sermon against Canalejas' religious program, which a priest delivered at mass.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Velvet Gowns Very Popular--Chic Effects For Made Overs.

Velvet gowns are very popular this winter, and the material is being used by all the best dressmakers to produce the clinging, soft draperies that are so smart and effective.

Extremely swagger suits consist of woolen skirts made of tartan worn with plain cloth or velvet jackets. This is an excellent way to use a well cut coat of plain material whose accompanying skirt has become worn. With a little braid the coat can be brought quite up to date, and with a new plaid skirt a most effective whole is the result.

There are some stunning diagonals shown in the shops faintly lined off with plaid to be made up into street suits.

A London smoke gray in half inch stripes combined with a paler gray in narrower stripes is a new treatment of a decidedly handsome and immensely smart cheviot.

A charming set of buttons for a lace blouse are made of frills of valenciennes lace gathered to the center and stitched to a foundation of net, with a tiny button or flat bead in the center of each to hide the joint. These are of course not intended for "working buttons," but only serve for decoration.

Japanese embroidery is an attractive material to use for covering button molds, the conventional flower designs being particularly adaptable and effective. In short, there is no end to the pretty and uncommon buttons that may be evolved by any one with a little ingenuity.

Almost every girl finds the need of a suit such as the one seen in the illustration. The material is of blue serge finished simply with stitching. There are separate bloomers, and the blouse is becomingly full.

New Features In Children's Fashions. Embroidered Lingerie.

Charming two piece dresses consisting of kilted skirt with shoulder straps or jumper effects, to be worn with lingerie gumples and undersleeves, having a semifitted coat, double breasted and finished with lapped seams, is one of the new features in children's fashions.

If you want to be up to date, write your first name on your lingerie and embroider it with fine cotton.

The loveliest of the smart jackets are of fur and lace. Some are very short, barely reaching the waist. They have a very jaunty air.

Dressy afternoon gowns are made of striped or checked velvet and have their bodices thickly braided with soutache and trimmed with many buttons.

While in mourning as much attention is paid to fashions nowadays as in colors, there is one point which must be emphasized and never forgotten--a sorrowing woman attires herself so as to escape notice of the world at large rather than by incongruous and startling effects to draw attention to herself. Here is an attractive model for a morning jacket of cotton elderdown trimmed with silk bands. The fastenings down the front are of olive shaped passementerie buttons and cord loops.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Ham Fair at Paris.

A feature of Parisian life is the ham fair which is held on the Boulevard Richard Le Noir. The name of this fair is wholly misleading, for as far as I have ever seen hams are the very last thing any one ever buys there. Old brass and copper curios, quaint jewelry, rare china, lace, tapestries and books are what most people go out to seek, and a sight not to be easily forgotten is the long, wide boulevard lined with ramshackle stalls laden with every possible kind of lumber and presided over by the most rapacious of brocanteurs. Out of piles of valueless lumber Americans and English diligently seek for their pet kind of curios, and there is not an artist in Paris who cannot point to some bit of furniture in his or her studio and say with pride, "I got that for 5 francs at the ham fair." No one ever pays more than 5 francs, I notice, but, alas, every year these five franc bargains are becoming more rare, and even as housekeeping in Paris grows more and more costly so does the furnishing of one's house to keep.--London Queen.

Only a Question of Possibility.

Among the customers of a tea store opened in the northwest part of the city the other night was a man who, after buying a pound of coffee, handed a counterfeit half dollar to the shopkeeper.

"This money is counterfeit; I'm sorry, sir," said the shopkeeper.

"Yes; I know it," replied the customer, grinning. "Got it here one day last week, and I've been saving it for you." Then, noting the smile upon the shopkeeper's face, the customer said, evidently offended, "Perhaps you doubt my word?"

"Oh, not at all, sir; not at all. I couldn't doubt the word of so truthful a man. I was simply smiling because I wondered how it was possible for you to have got the money here. This place was opened only night before last."

Thereupon the customer departed hastily after producing a good coin and slipping the counterfeit into his own pocket.--Philadelphia Times.

Why He Applauded.

"Are you fond of music?" asked a stranger of the young man at the concert who was applauding vigorously after a pretty girl had sung a song in a very painful way.

"Not particularly," replied the young man frankly, "but I am extremely fond of the musician."

Lancashire Humor.

There was a Lancashire collier who went out on Sunday with his wheelbarrow because, as he said, "I've lost mi dog, an' a felly looks sich a foo' gooin' a-walkin' bi hisself."

Then there was the workingmen's club committee which wanted to indorse the accounts "audited and found correct and tuppence over" and the customer who, on being told that the price of candles had gone up owing to the war, asked whether they were "feightin' bi candle leet."

Also one recalls the laggard Lancashire lover who, when asked for a kiss, said he was "goin' to do it in a bit," and the old ladies who praised a certain Darwin clergyman as "a grand burier," and of the orator who translated "Dieu et mon droit" into "Evil be to him what evil thinks!"--"Lancashire Life and Character," by Frank Ormerod.

Japan's Giant Wrestlers.

Japanese wrestlers are not to be confused with Japanese exponents of Jiu Jitsu. The wrestlers belong to the older school, in which weight is a paramount quality. It is a remarkable thing that a race which is on the average four or five inches under the European standard in point of height should have produced a special cult of wrestlers who are giants in stature and strength. The leading wrestlers of Tokyo or Osaka or Higo are all men at least six feet in height and weighing perhaps 300 pounds. They are a race apart. Wrestling is an occupation which has been handed down from father to son for many generations. And the explanation of their prowess is that they have always been meat eaters, while the rest of Japan, either from choice or necessity, have been in the main vegetarians.

Diamonds Under Water.

An imitation diamond is never so brilliant as a genuine stone. If your eye is not experienced enough to detect the difference, a very simple test is to place the stone under water. The imitation stone is practically extinguished, while a genuine diamond sparkles even under water and is distinctly visible. When possible, place a genuine stone beside the possible imitation under water, and the contrast will be apparent to the least experienced eyes.

Reptiles' eggs are not very attractive objects. In the case of crocodiles and many kinds of tortoises they are pale colored or white and resemble those of birds in shape. But the egg of the gopher tortoise is remarkable for its complete roundness. It might well be mistaken for a golf ball. Many snakes' eggs are soft skinned, brown as to color and look for all the world like a number of new potatoes.--Scientific American.
