TO CELEBRATE 150 BIRTHDAY

PINEY CREEK CHURCH

Rev. Mr. Kenneth M. Craig to Deliver Sermon

BALTIMORE PRESBYTERY SESSION

Historic Church Near Taneytown Will Observe Anniversary of Establishment Next Monday.—Extracts From Old Minutes.

The Presbytery of Baltimore will begin its 302nd stated meeting in the Piney Creek Presbyterian Church, near Taneytown; on Monday, October 3, at 8 P. M. The sermon on this occasion will be delivered by Rev. Kenneth M. Craig, former pastor of the local church, who is moderator of the Presbytery.

The meeting has special significance as it will celebrate the 150th anniversary of the organization of the Piney Creek Church.

Prior to 1771 what is now known as the Emmitsburg congregation and the Piney Creek congregation, of near Taneytown, were under one pastorate and jurisdiction known as the Tom's Creek congregation. From the minutes of "a Committee of Presbytery," held at Tom's Creek on June 4, 1771, the following facts are gathered:

"After maturely considering the matter and weighing the arguments on each side do judge with respect to the first particular; that altho it might have been better; and would have appeared acting a more brotherly part in Congregation not to have been so suddenly and determinately resolved on separation, after the assurances given them by Tom's Creek of their resolution and Desire to continue in union with them; by which Continuance some good purposes might have been answered; yet as matters now stand it does appear best that said Congregation should be allowed to act in a separate Capacity. Which separation the Committee do judge is agreeable to the Stipulations formerly entered into by said Congregations; in as much as Piney Creek appears to be of ability to call and support a minister by themselves; at which period, according to the most probable and rational Construction of said stipulation they had a right to sue for and obtain a separation. Nor does it appear likely that a longer Continuance of that Union, would, in present circumstances, be of any general use; the Committee do therefore dissolve said Union."

The church building at Piney Creek was erected prior to this action of separation but the claim of the congregation for priority over the church at Tom's Creek was not countenanced by the committee. The original Piney Creek Church, erected prior to Rev. Mr. Rhea's pastorate in 1771, was a very plain, log structure. To-day it is one of the best church properties in the county. The log church gave place to a brick structure in 1818.

Baltimore Loses Place to Cleveland.

From the census report of last week Baltimore has lost position in the six largest cities of the country. Cleveland has taken her place. Baltimore's population is 558,485. Cleveland above her has 560,663 and Pittsburgh just below has 533,905. The first ten cities by this census given below are in the order named: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, Cleveland, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Detroit, and Buffalo.

GAYNOR NOT A CANDIDATE

PREFERS TO BE MAYOR

Issues Statement But Doesn't Say He Would Refuse

LETTER ADDRESSED TO JOHN DIX

Says He Made No Pledges To Serve Four Years.—Considers His Office Next to Presidency.—Kind of Man To Nominate.

On Monday night Mayor Gaynor of New York, issued a statement saying that he is not a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Nowhere in the statement does the Mayor say, however, what course he will pursue in the event the nomination is thrust upon him. He indicates that he prefers to serve his full term as Mayor, but at the same time he emphasizes that he feels no moral obligation to do so.

The statement, dated St. James, L. I., September 26, in the form of a letter to John A. Dix, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, follows:

Dear Sir: "I have further considered the matter as you requested when you called on me here with Mr. Mack last Wednesday, but can only reiterate to you that I am not a candidate for nomination for Governor. This must have been well known all along, for I have written it to many people during the last six months.

"I am not influenced in my course by assertions made here and there that I made an agreement or compact during the Mayorality campaign to serve out the four years if elected. These false assertions are made by persons who opposed me and voted against me, and would do so again. I made no such agreement. I certainly did not make it with those who opposed me and voted against me. I could have had no compact with them. It takes two sides to make a compact.

"Nor did I make it with those who nominated and supported me. They did not ask for it. I did say of my own motion and at the request of no one that I purposed to devote the next four years to the service of the city. But this only started a hue and cry against me that I should make a pledge or compact to that effect, which I refused to do. And if I had made a pledge, that could not prevent the voters from electing me to some other office.

"I am well aware, as has been pointed out to me, that there are some large things which a Governor could readily do for the city of New York, by oversight and legitimate interference, which the Mayor of that city cannot do without much time and difficulty, if at all. Among them I may mention the planning and construction of a comprehensive system of subways, with a single fare over the whole system, which

NEW DISEASES HEAD LIST ON MORTALITY

Infantile Paralysis and Pellagra Figure Very Largely in Vital Statistics of 1909 Census.

There were 569 deaths from infantile paralysis, 116 from pellagra, 55 from rabies, or hydrophobia and 9 deaths from leprosy in 1909, in the death registration area of continental United States, which comprises over 55 per cent. of the total population, according to the Census Bureau's forthcoming bulletin on mortality statistics for 1909 submitted to Census Director Durand by Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, chief statistician for vital statistics.

It is reported that, of the 569 deaths from infantile paralysis, 522 were of white and only 17 of colored persons. There was a somewhat greater incidence of disease among males and an increased mortality in August, September and October.

There were 631 attempts at suicide in Russia in one month.

Man Ejected From Roosevelt's Office.

An unidentified stranger, who said he wanted to see Mr. Roosevelt, was ejected from the Outlook building by an elevator conductor on Friday. The man said he was an engraver and wanted to compare Mr. Roosevelt with his published pictures. He made no threats against Mr. Roosevelt, it was said, but he declined to leave the building when requested to do so.

Figures from the Census Bureau show there were 2,814 homicides and 8,402 suicides in 1909 in that portion of the United States covered by registry laws.

MITCHELL'S PANACEA FOR ALL INDUSTRIAL ILLS

Great Leader Thinks Interests of Labor and Capital are Reciprocal and Interdependent.

John Mitchell, of the National Civic Federation, in an interview Monday on the best means of securing industrial peace in this country said:

"If the assertion made in the North American Review that the interests of labor and capital are identical were so, there would be no chasm between them; and if the interests of labor and capital were irreconcilable, as others contend, any effort to harmonize them would prove futile. I am quite convinced that neither of the foregoing hypotheses will stand the test of close analysis. My judgment is that the interests of labor and capital, although divergent in some respects, are nevertheless reciprocal and interdependent.

"In the search for a panacea to heal the industrial ills against which society so justly complains many suggestions are made and innumerable remedies proposed.

"With all respect to the opinion of others, it seems to me that the path of safety, progress and justice lies in the middle course, in the recognition of the right of organization on the part of both labor and capital, by which and through which these factors in our industrial life may work out their inevitable destiny. The trade agreement, the collective bargain, is the bond between labor and capital.

"When the right of organization among both workmen and employers is fully recognized and when these forces adopt the policy of collective bargaining, the boycott and the blacklist will have largely passed away."

Town Wants to Copyright Name.

Wilkes-Barre is to try to copyright its name so that it cannot be used by another place in the United States. Whether this can be done or not is uncertain, but the city council at a recent meeting adopted a resolution providing that application for a copyright be made. The members of the council stated that the exclusive possession of the name forms a distinct commercial advantage in that mail, freight and express directed here will not be sent to any other Wilkes-Barre.

Machieu and Loredon, who started in aeroplanes for a trip from Paris to Brussels, both met with mishaps and gave up.

George Chavez, the Peruvian aviator, who was seriously injured in descending after flying over the Alps, died at Domodossola, Italy.

Colonel Roosevelt defeated Vice President Sherman for the temporary chairmanship of the New York Republican State Convention by a vote of 568 to 443. This is the first engagement of a series of conflicts that are to come.

Despite the opposition of the Old Guard, the convention adopted a resolution giving the temporary chairman authority to name the members of the committees instead of the usual rule of having each congressional district name its own member. Colonel Roosevelt struck from the platform committee several of the Old Guard, including Timothy Woodruff, and named Progressives in their stead.

Colonel Roosevelt spoke feelingly of what President Taft had accomplished in his administration in his speech as temporary chairman, saying that "the laws passed reflect high credit upon all who succeeded in putting them in their present shape upon the statute books; they represent an earnest of the achievement which is yet to come, and the beneficence and far-reaching importance of this work done for the whole people measure the credit which is rightly due to the Congress and to our able, upright and distinguished President, William Howard Taft."

The spectators and many of the delegates warmly applauded the declaration of Colonel Roosevelt for a direct primary plank.

Colonel Roosevelt bitterly assailed the bosses; declaring that "the difference between a boss and a leader is that the leader leads and the boss drives. The difference is that the leader holds his place by firing the conscience and appealing to the reason of his followers, and that the boss holds his place by crooked and underhand manipulation."

Thunders of applause greeted the Colonel as he was escorted to the speaker's stand by Vice President Sherman and Cornelius V. Collins, and it was sometime before he could proceed with his speech. Thanking the delegates for the honor that they had conferred on him, the Colonel caused the greatest enthusiasm when he said: "You shall not have cause now or hereafter to regret what you have done."

William Barnes, Jr., who opposed the selection of Roosevelt dictated the following statement after the convention: "The result is entirely satisfactory. That 445 delegates out of 1,015 withstood the charge which tried to ride roughshod over their convictions and their sense of orderly political procedure, is of everlasting credit to them.

"No man in political life should ever have in mind what the future will be. He should act with a heart single to the performance of the hour, but I cannot fail at this moment to be prophetic in my reading of what is to come. It will be these men or their successors in the cause of true conservatism, who will guide the course of the Republican party in this state in the future.

"That Mr. Roosevelt was opposed for temporary chairman for good and sufficient reasons has been made entirely clear by the outcome. His action in leaving off the committee on resolutions, delegates chosen by the delegations from their congressional districts to sit upon that committee, using a prerogative never before exercised, is the proof.

"Especially is the vindictiveness and disorderly quality exhibited in substituting for the man agreed upon by the delegation from the Twenty-seventh congressional district, comprising the counties of Oneida and Herkimer, in which Vice President Sherman lives, Mr. W. H. Schweitzer and Mr. Hart."

"Lawlessness is the prevailing instinct, although somewhat subdued today, is plainly apparent by this act of an unwarranted usurpation upon the delegation from Mr. Sherman's district."

When the vote was being taken that elected the temporary chairman Roosevelt asked to be excused from voting. When the roll reached the name of Sherman he rose solemnly and said: "John Doe."

During the nominations Abraham Gruber, of New York, who had been selected to fire the broadsides of the Old Guard against the Colonel Roosevelt's selection, said in part:

"Twelve years ago on this platform I warned a Republican convention against turning the executive mansion into a shooting gallery. My advice was not heeded. Since that memorable day the man who has ever since been shooting has seen his party organization divided in every state, his party's candidate overwhelmingly defeated, business depressed and the intelligent and honest workingmen without employment and hungry. Looking for other fields for shooting practice, this man is now shooting at the

Predicts Gaynor's Victory

NEGROES PUT SHERIFF AND POSSE TO FLIGHT

Two Campmeetings on Eastern Shore the Scene of Trouble.—One Black Killed and Others Hurt.

Two Negro campmeetings, one in Dorchester county, the other in Caroline, were scenes Sunday and Monday night of desperate fights, and as a result two Negroes were shot, one was beaten into insensibility and a deputy sheriff and his posse were forced to flee for their lives.

At Finchville, in Dorchester county, Deputy Sheriff Brinsfield had been told that a Negro roadster and desperate character, was on the ground, and that a crap game and whisky selling were going on. Deputizing several men, Sheriff Brinsfield proceeded to the campground and located him and a gang of Negroes near the camp. They espied the sheriff and opened fire, and the bullets flew so thick and fast that Sheriff Brinsfield and his men fled across a field.

At Jonestown, in Caroline county, Thomas Strawberry was beaten into insensibility by Carl Jones and lies in a critical condition. The fight occurred during service, and Pastor Powell fled from his pulpit when one of the Negroes appeared on the ground with a shotgun. The Negro fired, but no one was injured. Other Negroes overpowered him and took his gun away.

At St. Paul's camp, William Johnson was fatally shot by Wilmer Hammon, but it is alleged this was an accident. Johnson was shot in the stomach and died on the operating table in Cambridge Hospital.

A farewell reception was given Peking to Secretary of War Dickinson and his party.

La Follette Given a Snub.

At the Republican state platform convention at Madison, Wis., when Senator LaFollette began to speak old time senators left their chairs. When this happened LaFollette said: "These chairs which you leave vacant temporarily will be made permanently so by the people. Where are former senators from North and South Dakota, from Kansas and from Iowa? Their seats are occupied by Cummins, by Borah, by Bristow, by progressive Republicans."

There was a procession of 20,000 parochial school children and 5,000 Knights of Columbus in St. Louis in honor of Cardinal Vannutelli, the papal legate.

in the discordance or duality of government, or both, now existing in that city, is a difficult and protracted matter.

"But, nevertheless, my wish to remain as Mayor is such that I do not become a candidate for nomination for Governor. May I add that as a matter of fact the office of Mayor of the City of New York, considering the power and the constant occasion for the exercise of the highest functions of free government lodged in it, is second to no office in this country save one.

"Many tell me and write me that in taking this course I give up my future. But I shall not take myself or my future into consideration. None of us has a future, but only the present. And if I thought I had a future, I should be content to intrust it to the people of the city of New York.

"I trust that the convention will nominate some one who is not a mere dealer in the political commonplaces and jingles of the last 25 or 30 years, but who has kept pace and grown with the times, and whose absorbing purpose will be to make the government of the State, in all its branches, general and local, intelligent, honest and decent, and to lift it up and make it an object lesson to the whole nation.

"If to do this he has to be more or less meddlesome, we will all forgive such meddlesomeness, if kept fairly within the law.

"Sincerely yours, W. G. GAYNOR."

The Great Frederick Fair.

The Great Frederick Fair, which is an annual event of much interest to all Marylanders, will this year be held on October 18, 19, 20 and 21. The management of this big fair have not only planned for one of the best exhibitions of live stock, products of the farm and the handicraft of women ever held, but have spared no expense in arranging a program of free attractions the like of which is not to be seen anywhere but at the Frederick Fair. A sensational feature before the grand stand will be Nervo, the Human Comet who does an act that is most daring and startling, while the platform acts are wonderful demonstrations of skill and endurance that are rarely witnessed at open-air entertainments. Besides the free attractions there will be good trotting, pacing and running races, several motor-cycle races, fine exhibits in every department, and a midway that will be crowded with merry-go-rounds, ocean waves, animal shows and other clean amusements. There will be special trains and reduced rates on all railroads leading into Frederick, and everybody who can do so should take a day off and visit this great Fair.

The newest creations in fall hats will be shown at my opening Oct. 6, 7 and 8. Mrs. L. M. Zimmerman.

courts and its judges. Himself posing as a lawyer, who never had a case nor drew a brief, he now finds sport in holding up the courts and judges to the scorn of the mob. But this is not a new symptom; it is an old disease. This apostle of Derringer practice, while he was president, abused Judge Humphrey, of the United States Court, a gentleman and honest man, for rendering a decision which was made according to the law and which to this day is unreversed. When the United States Appellate Court reversed Judge Landis, the same shooter, not from the head of a barrel, but from the White House, sanctified by Abraham Lincoln, told the people of the United States that the judges had been guilty of miscarriage of justice.

"Workmen of the United States, do you recall that when Hayward and Moyer were on trial for their lives this same shooter, with all the power of the president of the United States, sought to influence the jury by holding up these leaders of labor as undesirable citizens? "A French King once said: 'I am the state.' No sane man may ever say, 'I am the United States.' The lungs of the country are not its brains. Men who a few months ago believed now disbelieve; men who worshiped then now execrate, and throughout the country the business men as such are facing panic, and as lovers of their rights and liberties are fearing revolution. From Caesar to Napoleon to the American Jack Cade.

"When given power to shoot the trusts he drew a line between the good ones and the bad ones. The Steel and Sugar Trusts were the good ones; those which would not help along the shooter's political schemes were the bad ones. As now, those who cry 'Vive Le Roi' are good Republicans, and those who are putting patriotism above all else and, therefore, will not join the cry are bad Republicans.

"While under the table I touch Cox's feet, I cannot with Lormier sit down and eat."

No one enjoyed Gruber's speech more than Colonel Roosevelt, who chuckled repeatedly. The delegates hissed Gruber's statements that it would be found that two-thirds of Roosevelt's strength in the convention came from federal officeholders.

At one point the jeers and catcalls became so great that Colonel Roosevelt leaped to his feet and waving his hands at the delegates, cried: "I ask a full hearing from Colonel Gruber."

The speaker continued, but hisses almost drowned his attacks on Colonel Roosevelt.

GOVERNOR CROTHERS AND THE BALTIMORE POLICE

Charges Filed of Incompetency, Misconduct and Inefficiency.—Date of Trial Fixed October 12.

The differences between Governor Crothers and the Baltimore police force have come to a head in direct charges formulated by Attorney-General Straus. There are fifteen charges of incompetency against Messrs. Whetle and Tome. There are eight charges of official misconduct against Mr. Whetle, seven against Colonel Clotworthy.

The commissioners are accused of inefficiency in retaining the Marshal and Deputy Marshal in office. Former Captain of Detectives Pumphrey figures in the indictment. The charges are broad and take a wide range. The Governor fixes October 12 as date for trial. This is Columbus Day and a legal holiday.

THE GREAT FREDERICK FAIR

Premiums to the Amount of $10,000.—Enlarged Poultry Exhibit.

Preparations for the Frederick Fair, which will be held October 18, 19, 20, and 21, have begun in earnest, under the direction of Secretary O. C. Warehime and the board of directors. At this time more entries for stalls in the horse and cattle department and more requests for space from out-of-town exhibitors in the household department have been received than for ten years.

A number of changes have been made in almost every department. The premium list, aggregating $10,000, has been largely increased, and competition has been broadened along a number of lines. The most important change is that made in the poultry department, where the premium list has been increased fully 50 per cent. Last year this department was a show in itself, and on account of its success the directors have decided to double their efforts in its behalf.

Gettysburg Crowded With Visitors.

So many people attended the dedication of the Pennsylvania memorial at Gettysburg that the hotel accommodations were entirely inadequate. Churches were used as sleeping quarters, one of the dormitories at the College was given up to the guests of the town and many lodged in the jail. From a Gettysburgian we gather that it was the most orderly big crowd that ever visited the Battlefield.

PENNSYLVANIA'S HANDSOME MEMORIAL AT GETTYSBURG

Imposing Monument to Those Who Fought in Battle Dedicated With Impressive Ceremonies.

Twenty thousand Pennsylvanians in a drenching rain attended the dedication of the memorial erected on the battlefield at Gettysburg. The services were held on Tuesday.

Pennsylvania's memorial, which was erected at a cost of $140,000, is the handsomest and most imposing monument on the battlefield of Gettysburg. Standing immediately southeast of the Bloody Angle and between the memorials of Vermont and Minnesota, the structure commands a beautiful view of the entire battlefield.

It is a double triumphal arch of pure white granite, the arch being surmounted by a dome, which is in turn capped by a colossal figure of Victory with upraised sword. Twelve Corinthian monoliths support the dome and the platform around it, from which a view of the country for miles around can be had. The most interesting feature of the entire memorial, however is the recording of the name of every Pennsylvanian who fought at Gettysburg on Tablets of bronze, which are placed on the granite facade about the foot of the memorial. Thirty thousand names appear on these tablets, while carved in the granite of the monument proper are the names of 34 commanding officers from the Keystone State.

ASSISTANT POSTMASTERS AMENABLE TO CIVIL SERVICE

Order Will Have to Do With Some 8,000 Employees.—Other Suggestions Submitted at Cabinet Meeting.

As a first result of the cabinet sessions which are in progress at the White House, it was announced Tuesday that President Taft would issue an order placing approximately 8,000 assistant postmasters in the United States under the protection of the Civil Service law and taking them entirely out of politics. It also was said that the President would recommend to Congress this fall that all second and third class postmasters be placed under Civil Service regulations.

By the order to be issued some 7,722 assistant postmasters will be affected. If the recommendations as to second and third class postmasters are adopted by Congress, 7,198 additional postmasters will be placed under Civil Service regulations.

Postmaster General Hitchcock made recommendations to President Taft, both as to assistant postmasters and to the officials of the second and third class. It is a part of the postmaster general's scheme to put the postal establishment on a business basis and to make it self supporting.

E. H. S. Annual Picnic.

On Wednesday morning, Sept. 28, the students of the High School, accompanied by Prof. Strauss started out for their annual Fall picnic. A finer and more ideal morning for a picnic could not be wished for and as the young folks were all in the best of spirits the trip to Myers' mill was enjoyed by everyone of the 32 students. On the way down, Mr. Samuel Keilholtz, Wm. Frailey and Louise Beam had a horse race in which the Frailey horse came out ahead, although Miss Louise would undoubtedly have won had it not been for some gutters which she had to cross.

At 11 A. M. the young picnickers sat down to a most bounteous feast prepared by Miss Eva Gosnell, Hazel Boller, Louise Beam, Pauline Baker, and Emma Long. Mr. Allen Longenecker almost choked on a chicken bone which tried to find its way down his windpipe. Perhaps Allen next time won't eat so fast—and so much. After the boys and girls had all responded to toasts as called on by the president of the senior class, Miss Hazel Boller, they left the grounds for the bridge where Prof. Strauss was to award prizes to the fleetest of foot, one among the boys and one among the girls. Everyone entered these races with a true sportsmanship spirit and when Mr. Dunn Black, the judge of the races, declared the victors he named Mr. Charles Eichelberger and Miss Mary Ellen Eyster. The prizes were then awarded and the young racers seemed highly pleased.

Prof. Strauss now gave an exhibition in hypnotism. Owing to the high wind etc, etc his subjects, Chas. Eickelkerger and Wm. Frailey and especially the last named, could not quite get under a true hypnotic spell and consequently it was declared off. During the remainder of the afternoon, the girls and boys engaged in various games, made several trips to the city of Harney; held a few excursions to Myers' Mill for cider; the young ladies enjoying themselves on horseback and the young men in games of baseball, etc.

High School Literary Society.

The E. H. S. held their Literary Society, Sept. 23, 1910. The meeting was opened by singing "Long, Long Ago." Then Robert Cook was appointed critic and Dunn Black, Wm. Frailey and Clarence Seabrook, judges for the debate which was: "Resolved, That the contract system of employing convict labor ought to be abolished." The affirmative speakers were: Lawrence Mondorff, Frank Shuff and Louise Beam. The negative: Charles Eichelberger, Robert Cook and Frank Weant.

Recitations followed: "The Old Cow," Frank Topper; "Horatius," Emma Long; "The Boy Musician," Flora Welty; Selection, Ned Annan; "The Gambler's Wife," Pauline Baker; "The Lure of the Street," Delbert Hospelhorn.

Compositions: Public School and High School Comparisons, Rosanna Ohler, Ruth Stull and Ruth Linn; "Friends," Mae Seiss.

Select Readings: "Black Horse and His Rider," Arthur Stokes; "A Spider Story," Mary Weant; "Welcome, Though Without Beauty," Allen Longenecker; "Charley's Photograph," Mary Ellen Eyster; "Will," Samuel Keilholtz. Extemporaneous Speeches: "My favorite Study," Naomi Harbaugh; "Cooperation," Elizabeth Rowe; "Duties we owe to a Teacher," Bessie Dorsey; "My Last Year in High School," Clarence Seabrook; "Obedience in School Room," Donald Agnew.

Reading Circle: Edgar Allen Poe was selected as the poet and "The Raven" the poem. Life of the Poet, William Morrison; Reading of Poem, William Frailey; Discussion of Poem, Dunn Black.

METHOD OF LACING BELTS.

Four Ways of Getting Satisfactory Results on Thrashing Machines.

In lacing belts on the thrashing machine an effort must always be made to have the ends of the belt joined perfectly and to have the work done so that there will be the least possible irregularity on the belt surface and consequently the least amount of friction on both the belt and the thongs, says the Kansas Farmer. Here are four ways of doing it. The first drawing on the upper left hand corner shows the pulley side and the next one the outside of the same lacing. The other drawings appear in the same order and show the pulley side first, then the outside. Of course these drawings are made to show the ends of the belt coming together where the line runs through the middle of each. A choice may be made of the method preferred and the holes punched accordingly. Either of these methods may be used on belts not wider than sixteen inches. Where belts are wider than this the lap splice would be better. All belts should be cut a little shorter than the distance around the pulleys, say one-third to one-quarter inch for each foot in length. Punch the holes so that their diameter will be about three-quarters that of the width of the thong. Begin lacing in the center and work toward one ledge of the belt, then back through the center to the other edge and return to the center with both ends of the thong through the same hole, but from opposite directions. Then punch an awl hole about an inch distant and tuck both ends of the thong through this and cut them off so that the ends will be only about one-half inch long.

BELT LACINGS.

[From the Kansas Farmer.]

Hints For Beekeepers.

There is money in beekeeping if it is managed properly. Beekeeping is being carried on with both profit and pleasure by many thousands of people in all parts of the United States, and while, as a rule, it is not the sole occupation of those who pursue it, there are many places where an experienced beekeeper can make a good living by devoting his entire time and attention to this line of work.

Arrangements should be made to plant crimson clover if you have bees. It will blossom early next spring and furnish a valuable source for honey.

Dirty comb may be old comb, partly filled with honey, propolis, dead bees or larvae, green with mold or worm eaten. As a prevention of the last trouble some one suggests burning sulphur in a barrel and filling the top of the barrel with hanging frames, covering the whole securely to keep in the fumes.

In extracting, an essential is a small stove for heating a shallow pan of water, into which the uncapping knife can be dipped from time to time. This is used to remove the honey and wax, and a hot knife cuts more readily. An alcohol stove burning denatured alcohol has been found to work well.

Don't extract your honey before it is ripe and then expect to get the top price for it, and don't expect to sell honey again to customers to whom you have once sold unripe honey.

Toads are enemies of bees. They may be avoided by using hive stands four to six inches off the ground.

The Weed Tax.

Did you ever stop to think of the tax you are paying to keep up the weed crop? says Alvin Keyser of the Colorado Agricultural college. If the state should levy a tax on your crops equal to 25 per cent of the value you would rebel in righteous indignation, wouldn't you? Yet a good many of us permit a stand of 25 per cent of weeds to occupy our fields and think we are doing pretty good farming too.

Why Not Do Your Own Experimenting?

Why not maintain a little experimental plot of your own? It is not always the part of good judgment to plant a whole field in some highly recommended variety about which you knew nothing except through the statement of others. With a small plot in some handy corner of the farm it is possible to test out new varieties—Kansas Farmer.

THE TRAINED NURSE.

Perhaps the most exacting profession to-day and the one that does more for suffering humanity than any other, is that of the trained nurse.

It is astonishing how many young women have embraced this lofty and highly respected calling within the past few years and yet, with the increased demand for their services, the attractive compensation offered and her social status fixed, it is to be wondered at that more material is not available.

The Frederick City Hospital, which is so well and favorably known not only throughout the State, but the country, offers splendid opportunities to educated young women who desire to embrace this noble profession.

given by physicians of note, and the practical instruction covers every branch of nursing, including massage, the application of electricity and diet cooking.

LITTERING THE STREETS. It is safe to assume that thoughtlessness is accountable for most of the litter that is thrown on the streets of Emmitsburg—thoughtlessness and perhaps a little indifference.

Nothing in the mind of the visitor stamps a community as a thriftless place quite as quickly as this disregard of the appearance of its streets, and, on the other hand, nothing leaves a better or a more lasting impression on the mind of the stranger than the evidence that the laws and customs of neatness and good order are being observed.

MOVING AGAINST PROFANITY. That the custom of indulging in profanity is one which needs a check in its forward movement is evidenced by the arrangement for a great demonstration to be held in Washington on the first Sunday in November.

Under the heading above the Washington Herald thus speaks on the subject: Of all the vices incident to this life which are not wholly eradicable, that of profanity, if not the worst, is the most wanton and indefensible.

Those who habitually use profanity and seek to have it overlooked on the ground that they use it unconsciously, are reminded that "Weak is the excuse that is on custom built, The use of sinning lessens not the guilt."

Profane swearing is nothing if not a sin, against which a greater one than man has entered a most positive protest.

tle nearer to every day life—profanity and flippant speech about sacred things bring to the surface of one's nature all that is indelicate, vulgar, low-minded and ill-bred.

There is not one justification for the use of profanity, but there is every valid reason why it should be inveighed against, and it is devoutly to be wished that the open demonstration in Washington in opposition to it may have a counterpart in every city in the country.

THE CHRONICLE'S sphere of usefulness is apparently being widened every week, judging from the number of exchanges appropriating its editorials.

T'WAS in New York it happened and T. Roosevelt was the man, who frazzled out the "Old Guard"—upset their deep laid plan.

Is there anything prophetic in the fact that Mr. B. H. Warner, Jr. started his campaign in the town of Accident?

KIPLING'S LATEST POEM.

IF.

If you can keep your head when all about you Are losing theirs and blaming it on you; If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you, But make allowance for their doubting, too;

An electric burglar alarm has been installed at the Treasury Building. Some of the vaults where Uncle Sam kept a few hundreds of millions in coin have been guarded by alarms, but the building itself has not been protected.

The Trolley Reaching Out.

The trolley is reaching out more and more, and before many months have passed, probably before the new year, hourly trips to Thurmont will be the order of the day, and by next summer, trolley rides from Frederick to Emmitsburg and Gettysburg are among the strong possibilities—and that, too, from the business centre of Frederick, at Market and Patrick streets.

use for, but keep them in the house taking up room find it easy through the Columns of

THE CHRONICLE

PERSONALS.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

JUST A REMINDER.

Subscribers for THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE are as a rule—and it is a pleasure to state the fact—very punctual in paying their subscription bills.

Many pay them in advance; others remit the very day their subscriptions fall due. It happens every now and then, however, that some overlook the matter—not intentionally, and not from indifference. They simply forget it.

To the latter this notice is intended to appeal. It is not a dun, simply a reminder made necessary by the ruling of the Post Office Department.

The reason for it has been fully explained and it is taken for granted that all who are still in arrears will be courteous enough to settle promptly.

ABUSIVE NEGRO SHOT ON STREET

Four Bullets Take Effect.—Wounded Man Moved to Baltimore Hospital.

On Saturday morning between twelve and one o'clock Bernard Butler, colored, was shot by Mr. Joseph Elder in front of Dr. B. I. Jamison's office in West Main street.

Butler had attended a dance given at Spangler's Hall and was the cause of some disorder at that place. Dr. Jamison who was driving up the pike noticed that there was a fight and asked the Negroes to stop. Butler, it is said, was very impertinent at the time.

Elder, who was near there at the time, got in with Dr. Jamison and drove to the stable. He and the doctor were coming from the stable when they were again accosted by Butler, who when he was ordered to move on came towards Elder and was shot.

To all appearance none of the shots had taken effect, the Negro walking off up town; Dr. Jamison and Elder going into the office. It seems that while Butler and his companion did start up town they turned and went to Dr. Stone's office where the wounded man fell.

All four bullets had struck him, one hit the seventh rib on the left side, one entered his right side and two lodged in the fleshy parts of his arm. He was taken from Dr. Stone's office to the Beatty house and the next day removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, Baltimore. His condition is not considered critical.

The next morning Mr. Elder reported to Squire Shuff and was held under $500 bond, which was furnished by Dr. Jamison.

Butler's reputation as a bad Negro seems to be well established, an indictment against him now pending in the Frederick court. Mr. Elder's character is of the best. Never of a quarrelsome disposition he has always been well liked by many if not all of Emmitsburg's best citizens and the supposition is that the aggravation on this occasion must have been great.

It is stated that when Butler started up street he was heard to say that he would fix Elder or Elder would have to fix him.

The public is cordially invited to my Millinery opening on Oct. 6, 7 and 8. Mrs. L. M. Zimmerman's.

GETTYSBURG

Tuesday, September 27th, marked a day in Gettysburg's history that will long be remembered, the occasion being the dedication of the handsome Pennsylvania State Monument to her loyal sons, situated along Hancock avenue, nearly opposite the Minnesota state Monument.

The monument, erected at a cost of $140,000 is one of the most imposing on the Battlefield, standing over one hundred feet high, and occupying a commanding position, its beauty and grandeur cannot be imagined without being seen.

A broad base, forms the foundation, around which are bronze plates bearing the names of all Pennsylvanians engaged in this battle. Rising from this are four colossal columns, one at each corner forming four arches, surmounted by a dome, on the pinnacle of which is a handsome statue of the Goddess of Liberty.

A stairway from the base heads to a landing at the apex of the arches, opening on a broad piazza: affording an excellent view of the Battlefield and surrounding country.

At the base of the dome are engraved the names of the State's commanders, while huge works of the sculptors art depict different important scenes of the battle. Easy of access and occupying such a commanding position, it is conceded to be one of the finest pieces of work on the field and a worthy tribute to the noble sons of Pennsylvania, who, living and dead, gave their best in the great conflict.

In anticipation of the great event, the survivors, with their families and friends, began to arrive as early as Friday and by Saturday evening the town was well filled. Incoming trains were all loaded with humanity, all eager to see the monument and historic battlefield. As is well known, Gettysburg has a wide reputation for caring for strangers, but on this occasion it was up-against a problem, but, with the case as it was, especially on Monday night, the citizens displayed their open-heartedness, and opened their homes to the bedless mass. Rich and poor alike, people in all walks of life, offered shelter and beds to the crowd, and very few, if any, had to sleep in the open. When it looked as if the situation was becoming acute, the doors of the different churches were thrown open, but only a few people slept in them, as several trains, scheduled to arrive Monday night, were held at Harrisburg until Tuesday morning.

The day dawned bright and clear, all that could be wished for a dedication day, and at an early hour the old veterans began to move around, taking in the battlefield and meeting old friends. At an early hour streams of people began to pour in the direction of the monument, and long before the hour set for the unveiling a large crowd had collected at the scene.

In the morning the 28th Pennsylvania Infantry, of which Colonel John P. Nicholson was a member marched to their monument on Culp's Hill, where a reunion was held. The veterans formed in line at the Eagle Hotel, and headed by a drum corps and the Gettysburg National Park Guards in their handsome new uniforms and caps. Reunions of various other commands were held at different places during their sojourn here.

The exercises connected with the dedication, which were very simple, though appropriate, were carried out according to the program previously arranged.

The pleasure of the afternoon was somewhat marred by a light shower of rain, though very few left the interesting ceremony by reason thereof.

As a whole, it was a grand success, it being a high tribute to those who wore the blue, and a lasting memorial to their memory, which will remind us of their bravery and hardships long after they have passed away.

There Was No Other Course.

The New England boiled dinner and other dishes like pork and beans, boiled codfish and pumpkin pie best appealed to the appetite of Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller. It was said in Washington that the Fuller Saturday night dinner was baked beans and nothing else, and this story is told: "One evening the chief justice, possibly forgetting that it was Saturday, asked a distinguished English jurist home to dinner with him. When the beans came on the Englishman promptly declined them. Mrs. Fuller showed some embarrassment, whereupon the Englishman amiably said: 'Never mind. I'll make it up in the next course.' But, good Lord," exclaimed the chief justice, "there isn't any other course!" And there wasn't.

In addition to being a very small eater the chief justice was a moderate smoker of modestly priced cigars. He was said to smoke the same kind of cigars, as far as they were obtainable, that he smoked when he was struggling hard to establish a living law business in Chicago in the old days. He said he was attached to these cheap cigars by ties of sentiment and tender recollection and that nothing else would taste so good to him.—Springfield Republican.

"Pins and Needles."

After being for a long time in a constrained attitude a peculiar numbness and pricking are often felt in the arm, leg or foot. This is caused by some interruption to the circulation and can usually be removed by rubbing or exercise. The reason of the sensation, which is decidedly uncomfortable while it lasts, is that pressure for a certain length of time deadens the sensibility of a nerve. When this pressure is suddenly removed, as straightening out the leg after sitting with it doubled underneath the body, sensibility gradually returns to the nerve, and as each nerve fiber composing the trunk regains its normal condition of sensibility a pricking sensation is felt, and these successive prickings from the successive awakenings of the numerous fibers have not inaptly been called "pins and needles."

The Prayer That Hurt.

A member of a certain Massachusetts parish prominent for his thrift and personal consequence was also notorious for his overbearing assumptions and pompous airs. Under the distress and fright of a dangerous illness he "put up notes" on several successive Sundays, and after his recovery, according to usage, he offered a note to be read by the minister expressive of his thanks. The minister was somewhat "large" in this part of his prayer, recalling the danger and the previous petitions of the "squire" and returning his grateful acknowledgments with the prayer that the experience might be blessed to the spiritual welfare of the restored man. He closed with these words:

"And we pray, O Lord, that thy servant may be cured of that ungodly strut, so offensive in the sanctuary."

Law and Geography.

From the half timers' papers written at a recent term examination: "Some of the chief inventions of the last 150 years are having an act so that no person under fourteen years must go into the public house. Another act was so that no person under the age of sixteen years must smoke cigars, pipes and cigarettes, and no person under that age can be served with any. My brother Bill is now all right for this invention. He was sixteen last week." Here is a geography answer: "The river system of Canada is what you might call very good, but sometimes they shoot the rapids, and unless you are a red Indian this is very troublesome at times, especially when you get sucked under like Captain Webb."—Manchester Guardian.

The Earliest Cigars.

The earliest mention of cigars in English occurs in a book dated 1735. A traveler in Spanish America named Cockburn, whose narrative was published in that year, describes how he met three friars at Nicaragua, who, he says, "gave us some segars to smoke; these are Leaves of Tobacco rolled up in such Manner that they serve both for a Pipe and Tobacco itself; they know no other way here, for there is no such thing as a Tobacco Pipe throughout New Spain."

Sure Sign.

"What is the sign when a man parts his hair in the middle?" said the old fellow in the front row of the orchestra to a friend loud enough to be heard by the young man behind them. "It's a sign that he's not baldheaded," replied the young man, leaning forward.—Yonkers Statesman.

Hard Luck.

"Poor man, your life must be full of hardships!"

"Ow true yer words are, lidy! Only t'other day I picked up a ticket for a ball an' couldn't use it cos I hadn't got a evenin' suit."—London Ideas.

A Tragic Crisis.

Cholly had put on his necktie and was looking over his supply of hosiery. "I wonder, now," he said, turning pale, "whether the socks have to match the tie or whether the tie has to match the socks."—Chicago Tribune.

Her Great Grief.

Cholly—May I have the next waltz? Widow—Yes, but dance slowly, as I only recently have gone into mourning.—Club Fellow.

Lots of alleged golden opportunities wouldn't stand the acid test.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

Lady Duff-Gordon's Latest Inspiration, the "Mummy Dress."

Lady Duff-Gordon, the titled dress maker of London and New York city, has composed what she calls a "mummy dress." The idea was copied from the costumes of the ancient Assyrians and Babylonians. The skirt and coat are in one and when removed reveal a stunning house gown.

Short neckpieces of chiffon cloth plaited in Pierrot effect in two tones are very effective. Black and white is perhaps the most worn, but gray and white and brown and white are good style.

Wings, breasts and all kinds of a natural looking plumage which never flew on land or sea adorn the early fall hats. There is a new ostrich feather plume called ploverette that has knotted fronds at the ends. It is handsomer than the erstwhile willow feather.

Here is a tunic drapery that will freshen up an old costume wonderfully. It may be used in a contrasting material or in the same fabric as the skirt.

Jenny Lind and the Trill.

Jenny Lind after years of steady practice believed that the much coveted trill was for her an impossibility. She practiced hours a day, but was unable to accomplish the feat. One day, thoroughly discouraged, she was sitting in her garden when all at once she looked up into a tree. Above her a bird was trilling. She at once went to her piano and through some minor or power of imitation began the trill and from that day never had any other difficulty.

Losing His Senses.

A mischievous boy, having got possession of his grandfather's spectacles, privately took out the glasses. When the old gentleman put them on, he could not see, he exclaimed: "What's on me! I've lost my sight!" But, thinking the impediment to vision might be the dirtiness of the glasses, he took them off to wipe them, when, not looking them, he still more frightened, cried out: "Why, what's come now? I've lost my feeling too!"—London Ideas.

Trouble For the Tourists.

There is a story on record of three Irishmen rushing away from the race meeting at Punchedstown to catch a train back to Dublin. At the moment a train from a long distance pulled up at the station, and the three men scrambled in. In the carriage was seated one other passenger. As soon as they had regained their breath one said:

"Pat, have you got th' tickets?"

"What tickets? I've got me loife! I thought I'd have lost that gettin' in th' thrain. Have you got 'em, Moike?"

"O! Begorra, I haven't!"

"Oh, we're all done for, thin!" said the third. "They'll charge us roight from th' other soide of Oireland."

The old gentleman looked over his newspaper and said:

"You are quite safe, gentlemen. Wait till we get to th' next station."

As soon as the train pulled up the little gentleman jumped out and came back with three first class tickets. Handing them to the astonished strangers, he said: "Whist! I'll tell you how I did it! I went along th' thrain. 'Tickets, please; tickets, please!' I called, and these belong to three Saxon tourists in another carriage."

Banks on the Lookout.

A merchant in a large city allowed his name to be posted in his club three times for nonpayment of dues. A few days after the last posting he applied to his bank for a loan. When the application came up to the bank's credit man—that newest of a bank's important officials—he pulled out the customer's history card.

The latest entry was one typewritten sentence, "Does not pay his club dues; three times delinquent." The loan was refused. The merchant was either careless, near broke or unappreciative of his credit standing. Any of these reasons looked bad to the banker.

Business men do not realize how closely their banks watch them—how much the banks are bound to know about their affairs, how much seemingly small things in their daily lives affect credit, and big things that they sometimes want to conceal too.—System Magazine.

The Blind Man's Lantern.

A blind man in Khoota (a Caucasian village) came back from the river one night bringing a pitcher of water and carrying in his hand a lighted lantern. Some one meeting him said: "You're blind. It's all the same to you whether it's day or night. Of what use to you is a lantern?" "I don't carry the lantern in order to see the road," replied the blind man, "but to keep some fool like you from running against me and breaking my-pitcher."

His Peers.

"Pa, what does it mean to be tried by a jury of one's peers?"

"It means, my son, that a man is to be tried by a jury composed of men who are his equals or on an equality with him, so that they will have no prejudice against him."

"Then, pa, I s'pose you'd have to be tried by a jury of baldheaded men."

The Widow.

"In a town," said a life insurance official, "where life insurance was a rare thing a schoolteacher said to a little boy pupil:

"Tommy, define the word widow."

"A widow," Tommy answered, "is a poor woman with a large family of children who takes boarders."

Painfully Frank.

Wedderly—They say that a man and his wife grow to look alike after they have been married a few years. Now, my wife and I have been married ten years. Do you think we look alike? Singleton—Yes, indeed. You both seem to have the same sad expression.

MILLINERY GOSSIP.

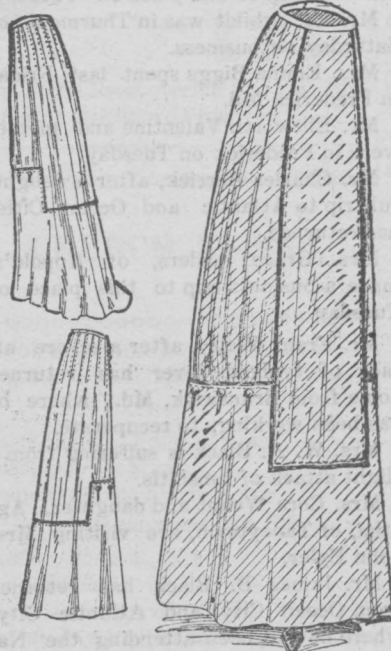

Moderation as to Widths of Brims Noticeable in Fall Millinery.

Following after the vogue of no trimming, the new hats are covered with huge bows of ribbon, or an entire width of silk is used, or they are buried under masses of feathers, flowers or aigrets.

Hats for wear with morning tailored costumes are simple, high in the crown and narrow in the brim, but the dressy hat is wide and graceful, trimmed with sweeping plumes. Green, brown and red are the colors likely to be worn to a considerable extent.

Moderation as to the width of brim is a feature of the new millinery. In fact, some really small hats are seen in the best models.

A practical but eccentric toque seen recently was of plaid cloth trimmed with three pinked out frills of red, blue and green taffeta. The crown of the hat was soft and dented and the brim turned up unevenly all round.

This is one of the favorite fall models for skirts. It is made with a slightly full upper portion and circular dounce; consequently it can be used with one material throughout or of a contrasting fabric. It is especially good in making over old material.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 22 to 30 inches waist measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 674 and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery.

TWICKENHAM.

Famous as the Abode of Many English Literary Giants.

The place to which the lover of English literature will sooner or later turn his steps is Twickenham. No other small town can boast of having been the residence and beloved abode of so many famous literary lights. With it are associated the immortal names of Pope, Horace Walpole, Swift, Gay, Lady Wortley Montagu, Gibson, Boswell, Johnson, Tennyson and Dickens. Surely this is enough to make any place doubly immortal! Twickenham was well nicknamed by Horace Walpole the Baiae, or Tivoli, of England, for it has truly been to London what Baiae was to ancient Rome—indeed, in a far higher degree. The big red brick house in Montpelier road where Alfred Tennyson lived for so many years of his earlier married life was the one in which many of his earlier poems were written. There his son Lionel, the second Lord Tennyson, was born, and there the author of "Idylls" entertained many of his literary friends and acquaintances. That house should surely be sacred to all lovers of English literature, which saw the dawn of "In Memoriam," which witnessed those delightful gatherings graced by Tennyson, Hallam and kindred spirits within its walls. It is today called "Tennyson House."—Westminster Gazette.

Men's Maids.

"Men's maids, yes," said an employment agent. "There are more of them than of men's men or valets. Visit the fashionable hotels of California, Florida, the Riviera, Egypt, and as you pass open bedroom doors of a morning or an afternoon what do you see? Maids changing the studs in evening shirts, pressing trousers with patent alcohol irons, brushing coats and putting fresh laces in boots. The average well to do couple—the couple that can afford the best winter and summer resorts—travel with a maid, but not with a maid and a valet, for, after all, a valet is very expensive, and his duties occupy only a few hours a day, and a maid can get through all of them just as well as not. So the average lady's maid is a man's maid as well—maid to the wife, valet to the husband. She likes her latter duties. They are, you see, simple and easy, and they draw forth the most generous tips."—New York Press.

Reynard the Fox.

Renard, or, as it is more usually written, Reynard, is the name given to the fox in a famous German epic of the fourteenth century called "Reynard the Fox." The book is really a satire on the state of Germany in the middle ages, the different animals, each of which are given a special name, typifying different institutions. Thus Reynard the Fox stands for the church, Isengrim the Wolf for the barons and Nodel the Lion for the emperor. Other characters are Tibert the Cat and Bruin the Bear. Both in the last named case and that of Reynard the personal name given by the author has passed into common speech.
