EMMIT GRAVES MARKED

TWO MARBLE TABLETS

James A. Helman Raises Fund for This Purpose

IN THE PRESBYTERIAN CEMETERY

Scant Records Available After Lapse of One Hundred and Twenty-five Years.—Modest Memorial to Founder of Town.

To Mr. James A. Helman is due the credit of having markers placed on the graves of Samuel Emmitt and his wife, founders of the town of Emmitsburg. Little or no interest was taken by the citizens of this place in searching the scant records or in providing suitable stones to commemorate the event, and it was left for Mr. Helman to obtain the data, superintend the collection of the funds and make provision for the marble tablets lately erected.

Writing about the incident Mr. Helman says:

"To the spirit of Samuel Emmitt: After the lapse of 125 years since you founded our town, we pay this tribute to you. The delay in erecting these stones, was occasioned by the lack of evidence, not anticipated when the money was collected.

"Both Samuel Emmitt and his wife were living when the census of 1790 was taken, since which time no mention of their names on records can be found. It is presumed they were dead before the next census was taken, 1800. No evidence can be found in Frederick court house, consequently stones could only be marked as follows: Samuel Emmitt, founder of Emmitsburg; Mary wife of Samuel Emmitt.

"William Emmitt died March 17, 1818. Letters of administration were granted to Robert L. Annan and Frederick Schley April 1, 1818. Two stones mark two graves on Emmitt lot in the Presbyterian cemetery. The family were members of the Presbyterian church. Samuel Emmitt was an officer in the church. Josiah 1765-1821, Abigail 1774-1838. Letters of administration were granted to John McKehan on his estate. McKehan was married to Mary Emmitt.

"I wish to mention two young ladies as participants in the undertaking to raise the funds to mark these graves, Mary Ellen Eyster and Mary Weant. They volunteered to carry the box from house to house to receive the voluntary contributions.

"The stones are in evidence, and will stand as a modest memorial to the founders of the town, and these young ladies in after life will look back with pleasure on their good work in collecting the money to mark these graves, one hundred and twenty-four years after the town was started, and the year of our home coming, when the people gathered at Emmitsburg from all points of the compass."

SURPRISE WITH PRIZE PIG

Exhibits a Fat Porker Named After Russian Prince Who Associated With His Brother's Wife.

John Armstrong Chaloner, brother of "Sheriff Bob," of New York, and the originator of the query which has set the country laughing. "Who's looney now?" again came into the spotlight of public interest when he convulsed thousands at the Virginia state fair, which opened at Richmond Monday, by entering his prize pig, which, in ridicule, he has named after Prince Dolgorouski, the Russian nobleman, who has played a prominent part as the friend of Cavalieri during the recent publicity-giving of the ex-sheriff and his songbird wife.

The porker's pen is elaborately bedecked with banners bearing the name of the Russian prince. It proved the amusing feature of the big fair.

Newspaper Plant Blown Up.

The building and plant of the Los Angeles Times was destroyed by an explosion, which General Otis, owner and publisher, charges against the labor unions of that city with which he has had more or less trouble. Nineteen persons perished. Another attempt was made to wreck the auxiliary plant of the paper and a powerful "infernal machine" was found at the residence of General Otis and one at the home of Secretary F. J. Zeehandelaar, of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association. The explosion happened on Saturday morning.

The world's series between Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago Nationals begins in Philadelphia on October 17. The third and fourth games will be played in Chicago.

POLITICIANS' CLAIMS

Concerning Complexion of The Next House

COL. "T. R." TO ISSUE STATEMENT

Eschew Qualifying Adjectives and Vote the Ticket.—Condition in New York State Campaign.

The political complexion of the next House of Representatives is a matter of much conjecture nowadays. According to the Republican leaders "the enthusiasm of the Democrats which led them to claim the next House by majorities which ranged from 25 to 100, has run its natural course. The Democratic party for the past 25 years always carried this country about the middle of August. But unhappily for the party, the elections are not held in August, but on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, and Democratic victory recedes with even greater haste than do the days following each other from the middle of August to election day in November. The Democrats always carry the country in August. The Republican always carry it in November. Therein lies the difference."

Colonel Roosevelt will shortly issue a statement calling upon Republicans everywhere to eschew qualifying adjectives and to vote the ticket.

The Democratic campaign in New York, it is said by men who are in touch with the New York situation, will be made wholly upon the issue of Roosevelt and the outcome will determine, they think, Roosevelt's political future. If, under the circumstances, he can elect the Republican ticket this year it will firmly intrench him as the Republican boss of the State and will mean that the 72 votes of New York in the Republican National Convention of 1912 will be his to do with as he pleases.

That the New York delegation in almost any convention would come pretty close to holding the balance of power is conceded. Hence, it is claimed, if Roosevelt wins his fight this fall, it will be wholly in his power to bring about his nomination two years hence.

PRIEST SOUNDS DEATH KNELL OF PROTESTANTISM

Father Vaughan's Attack in St. Patrick's Cathedral.—All Churches Outside Roman Church Are Dying.

Affirming that the future of the United States depends on her Catholic population and denouncing Protestantism, Rev. Bernard Vaughan preached Sunday to one of the largest crowds ever in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York. Father Vaughan, a brother of the late Cardinal Vaughan, of England, is on his first visit to the United States. He came to New York Saturday from Chicago.

Father Vaughan said in part: "A month ago in Canada I spoke of the fact that these churches outside the Catholic Church were waning and dying. And Protestant Canada rose up to tear to pieces—not my argument but myself. But I read in the morning paper that Bishop Sellow, of Jamestown, N. Y., a Protestant bishop himself, says Protestantism is going to decay. He seems almost willing to give it a respectable funeral. I never intended to say as much as the Protestant bishop. I suggested, with a little hesitancy, that Protestantism was on the wane. He comes forth and says the religion he represents is dying after a life of 300 years."

COAL MINING STATISTICS OF THE WORLD'S SUPPLY

Production and Consumption of United States Compared With Other Countries.—Other Figures.

From figures on the world's coal supply in a recent British publication the Bureau of Manufactures of the Department of Commerce and Labor has compiled statistics showing that the United States, with 690,438 persons employed in mining coal, in 1908 produced 126,562,000 tons of coal more than were produced by 966,264 persons similarly employed in the United Kingdom and that the production of coal in the United States amounted to 538 tons per person employed, as against 271 tons produced per person in the United Kingdom. In regard to the coal consumption of the several countries the report says:

"The consumption of coal in the United States is more than twice as great as that in any other country and nearly equals the combined consumption of the United Kingdom, Germany, France and Belgium, and is actually greater per capita than in the United Kingdom."

The state of Delaware's population is 202,322.

PORTUGAL IS NOW A REPUBLIC

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN FORMED

President, Ministers of Justice, Finance, Public Works, War, Marine, Interior Named

PRESIDENT THEOPHILE BRAGA HEADS THE NEW GOVERNMENT

King and Queen-Mother In Refuge.—Leaders of Civil War Recognized by Spanish Minister.—City of Lisbon Considerably Damaged by Bombardment of Insurgent Warships.—No Attack on Private Property.

The London Daily Mail reported on Wednesday that "a revolution has broken out in Lisbon and warships are now bombarding the capital. The army and navy are supporting the revolutionaries." This report has been since verified by wireless from a steamer.

Dispatches dated October 5 say that Lisbon, the capital is now completely in the hands of the Republicans, who have formed a provisional government, with Theophile Braga, as President. A new national flag of red and green is flying over all the public buildings, including the town hall.

King Manuel, with the Queen-Mother, Amelie, and his grandmother, the Queen Dowager Maria Pia, have taken refuge at Mafra, 23 miles from Lisbon.

The provisional government is composed as follows:

PRESIDENT—Theophile Braga.

MINISTER OF JUSTICE—Alfonso Costa.

MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS—Bernadino Machado.

MINISTER OF FINANCE—Balilio Telles.

MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS—Antonio Luiz Gomes.

MINISTER OF WAR—Colonel Barreto.

MINISTER OF MARINE—Amaro Azovado Gomes.

MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR—Antonio Almeida.

CIVIL GOVERNOR OF LISBON—Eusebio Leao.

Already the Spanish minister, in full uniform, has called to pay his respects to the Republican leaders.

TO OIL THE ATLANTIC TO QUIET THE WAVES

Plan to Smooth Ocean Routes of Big Liners.—Passage be Made Safer Says Hydrographic Office.

Pouring oil on the troubled waters will be much more than a metaphor if a plan offered by the United States Hydrographic Office is carried out. Its serious proposal is to keep the path between New York and the northern European ports well oiled, so that the waves may be kept down and passengers may cross in perfect comfort, says the Wide World Magazine for October.

The Hydrographic Office knows a lot about waves, and claims that nothing is so bad for them as oil. Moreover, oil spreads quickly and thinly over the water, and hence the calming can be done at small expense. A quart of cheap petroleum an hour for each ship would, they say, do the work in decent weather, and $25 a trip ought to cover it easily.

With the big liners constantly passing the part carried away by the ocean currents would be restored without delay.

REV. MR. MOTTER RESIGNS FROM COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD

Arduousness of The Duties of Position Given As Cause.—Accepted Reluctantly By The Governor.

Rev. Isaac M. Motter, who has been president of the Board of County School Commissioners of Frederick county for a number of years, has resigned as a member of the board, and his resignation, which will take effect November 1, has been accepted by Governor Crothers. Rev. Mr. Motter, who is serving his second term as head of the School Board, accepted a reappointment several years ago reluctantly, and only because of the insistence of persons interested in the schools, who presented a petition that he reconsider his decision, which he had announced, to retire from the office. Because of the arduousness of the duties of the position he has asked to be relieved from further service.

Mr. Motter's efficient service has been appreciated by the county and the news of his resignation is a disagreeable surprise to his friends.

The War Department has ruled that the cadet organizations of educational institutions are not properly a part of the organized militia, and army officers should not be detailed to inspect personnel of such organizations.

William J. Bryan will speak against Speaker Cannon in the latter's congressional district.

POLICE CONTROVERSY

Baltimore Department and State to Go to Court

RIGHT OF SUSPENSION ISSUE

State Militia Ready to Respond to Quick Call.—Guard Removed from Head Quarters on Tuesday.

The suspension of the Baltimore police commissioners by order of the Governor and the seating of a new board was easier said than done. In answer to the order the commissioners placed an armed guard of several policemen at headquarters. This action led Mr. Crothers to threaten to call out the militia to seat his appointees. Up to Tuesday night no blood has been shed and now it looks as if the whole matter would be fought out in the courts.

The so-called bluff of the Governor was carried so far that Co. A. of the guards, Capt. D. J. Markey, was held in readiness at Frederick to move to Baltimore at an hour's notice.

On Wednesday Governor Crothers issued suspension orders to the members of the present board and through Attorney General Straus will apply to the courts for a writ of mandamus compelling the commissioners to allow the temporary board to carry on the business of the Police Department of Baltimore. It is the granting of this writ that the counsel for the commissioners will contest and in the meantime they will not allow the new commissioners to take any part in the governing of the department. The decision of the lower court on the maduamus proceedings will be carried to the Court of Appeals, where an early ruling will be made. This will undoubtedly carry the date for the trial of the commissioners beyond that settled upon by the Governor, which was October 12.

In view of the fact that the commissioners did not believe the Governor would attempt to take possession of the records of the department, the heavy guard of uniformed and armed policemen that has been guarding the rooms was removed shortly after noon Tuesday and a semblance of peace is restored.

ANOTHER VACANCY IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE U. S.

Justice Moody Will Resign on November 20.—President Taft Has Long Known of the Intention.

President Taft received a letter Tuesday from Justice William H. Moody announcing that he will resign from the Supreme Court on November 20 next. Justice Moody told the President early in the summer that he would retire this fall if ill health still prevented him from resuming his seat on the bench. The Justice is crippled with rheumatism and has given up all hope of being able to occupy his seat on the bench before the Standard Oil and Tobacco Trust cases come up for reargument.

When Justice Moody informed President Taft early in the summer of his intentions to resign, the President urged him not to act until he was certain that he would not be able to resume his place on the bench. The date which Justice Moody has set for resigning will allow him to enjoy the benefits conferred by the bill passed by Congress in the last session. This bill gives him the salary of a retired justice. President Taft has not selected a successor to Justice Moody.

According to the census the State of Missouri has a population of 3,293,335.

NEW YORK FIREMEN FIGHT A MILLION-AND-A-HALF FIRE

Twenty-Five Thousand Gallons of Salt Water a Minute, Poured on Burning Buildings For Two Hours.

On Monday fire destroyed $1,500,000 worth of property in New York city. With ten lines of hose feeding from high pressure salt-water mains the firemen poured 25,000 gallons a minute, and beat down in two hours a fire which wiped out nearly a whole block, cut jagged holes into two other blocks and threatened to sweep toward the ferries and piers of the water front.

Although the fire covered more territory than any of recent years, nobody was killed and no one was fatally hurt. Two policemen had to go to the hospital to get their burns treated after rescuing roomers at the old Pennsylvania Hotel, at the northeast corner of Twenty-fourth street and Eleventh avenue.

The storage warehouse of the United States Express Company was also burned, but the branch depot of the Standard Oil Company and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad freight yard were saved only by the hardest kind of work.

A race war has broken out among boys in a Chicago school.

PRESIDENT TO REPUBLICANS

REVIEWS LEGISLATION

Taft is Proud of His Party's Achievements

ALL FACTIONS GIVEN DUE CREDIT

Far Reaching Remedial Legislation Touching Very Vitals of Social and Economical Structure Placed on Books.

On Saturday at the banquet of the National Republican League, held in New York, President Taft told of his party's achievements in a public address.

The President's speech was marked by an unusually conciliatory tone toward the insurgent wing of the party. He gave "all factions of the party" due credit for their share in helping to put through Congress the legislative program, which the President took occasion to outline in some detail. The record of the past 18 months he declared was an earnest desire of the party to fulfill its platform promises and obligation, and he promised that if the Republican majority in Congress should be continued at the coming elections the work thus far left undone would be carried through to completion.

The following detached paragraphs give the pith of his remarks:

No one can read the list of measures actually passed and those proposed by the national Republican party and not admit that the party is progressive in the highest degree. It is a list to be proud of.

A party of true progress is not a party of radicalism. It is not a party of ultraconservatism. A progressive Republican is one who recognizes existing and concrete evils and who is in favor of practical and definite steps to eradicate them.

It is peculiarly a Republican distinction that our party has been able to place on the statute books far-reaching remedial legislation touching the very vitals of our social and economic structure without involving the country in financial disaster.

Fifteen years ago one of the commonest forms of corporate abuse was the management of our railways in the interest of favored individuals by secret rebate. That day has passed.

We have movements to eliminate the middleman in politics, and to give popular sentiment a more immediate effect in government than perhaps would have been thought wise by our fathers.

In spite of all the rumors of possible business stagnation our basic prosperity is assured for the coming year, in that the great volume of the crops now being harvested in value will exceed the products of our fields at any period in the past.

The extension of the merit system, has, on the whole, greatly improved conditions in the government.

CHOLERA SHIP STOPPED AT NEW YORK HARBOR

Suspect Held On Swinburne Island Dies of Disease.—Three Liners Are Held Up In Quarantine.

Three liners and their passengers are now detained at quarantine in New York and one of them had a case of cholera aboard. The victim died on September 25th and was buried at sea. Two other cases are under observation.

A suspicious case was removed to Swinburne Island and subsequently died. This also was a cholera case. One of the vessels held up is the Sant' Anna caring 224 first cabin passengers and 1,072 in the steerage.

Many steerage passengers are being held up at the various ports in quarantine for observation in fear of the introduction of cholera.

Thirty-Seven Killed in Wreck.

Thirty-seven persons were killed and from 16 to 25 injured in a collision on the Illinois Traction system, two miles north of Staunton, Ill., on Tuesday. The collision occurred between a local train, northbound, and an excursion train headed toward St. Louis and loaded with passengers on their way to view the parade of the Veiled Prophets at St. Louis. The accident, according to present information, was due entirely to the disregard of orders by the crew of the local.

Replying to a report that Harry B. Bradford, of Howard University, would be asked to resign if he continued his anti-vaccination activities, Rev. Dr. W. P. Thirkield, president of the university, issued a statement Sunday night, in which he intimated that the report is well founded.

Useful associations of classified civil servants have been at times perverted into combinations to force the Congress and the Executive against their better judgment unduly to increase their pay or reduce the burden of their duties.

When one speaks glibly of $300,000,000 being saved each year in the ordinary conduct of the government, and when that saving is to be made under the direction of a party so lacking in everything that goes to make up business cohesiveness and singleness of aim and view as the Democratic party, we may regard the statement as Pickwickian.

A FULL FLEDGED CITIZEN.

Montgomery Press Laughs at Warner's Claim.

A Kensington correspondent of The Montgomery Advocate, in a communication to that paper, published in the issue of last week, as paid matter, says: "I notice that some one has stated Mr. Warner, the candidate for Congress is not in fact a full fledged citizen of Maryland. To my knowledge he has been so since 1892, when the family residence was built here, except when abroad as United States Consul."

Mr. Warner, of course, does not desire to win votes through anything like pretense, and hence we feel it a duty to correct some impressions conveyed by the correspondent of the Rockville paper.

Building a "family residence" in Kensington does not constitute a man "a full fledged citizen of Maryland." There is no way to become such citizen except by actually living in this state one year, and this Mr. Warner, the father of the candidate did not do until 1897, in the fall of which year he first qualified as a voter—five years after the time stated in the paragraph above.

Mr. Warner, the candidate, went abroad in the latter part of the summer of 1897, remaining about eight years, and registered for the first time in 1904, exactly twelve years after the date the writer in The Advocate says he became "a full fledged citizen of Maryland."

Since 1904 Mr. Warner, the candidate, has resided in Kensington from sometime in May of each year, with interruptions, until soon after election day of each year. He was not enumerated in Maryland in the recent census; his business interests are not here; his name is not on the county tax roll.

Those who reside in this state year out and year in; they who live in old Maryland Manor houses where they were born, and where their fathers and grandfathers lived before them; and they to whom MARYLAND and HOME mean the same thing are not inspired by Mr. Warner's "full fledged citizenship."—Montgomery Press.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF GETTYSBURG INAUGURATION

Big Football Game to Follow Collation. Responses to Invitations Indicate Big Crowd Will Attend.

Justice J. Hay Brown, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has accepted an invitation to preside at the inauguration of Dr. William A. Granville as president of Gettysburg College on October 20. Justice Brown is an alumnus of the college.

The responses to the invitations which have been sent to all of the alumni of the institution and to the other similar colleges and universities in the eastern states indicate that an enormous crowd will attend the event and fill to its capacity the big tent which will be erected for the ceremonies. Already special trains have been arranged for to bring the crowds to Gettysburg and to get them out of town on the night of inauguration day after the festivities are over.

Following the collation which will be held in the afternoon after the close of the inauguration a big football game between Gettysburg and Lebanon Valley colleges will be played and this in itself will be one of the features of the several days which will be taken up with the installation of the former Yale professor as head of Gettysburg College.

Fashions and Fads.

Every blouse nowadays is frilled. Wide shirring has found its way even into the bolero.

Gray calfshin is pushed as a summer novelty, especially in women's footwear.

All bathing suits that are fashionable are made of mohair, taffeta, satin, louisine, or (occasionally) of foulard. There is a sprinkling of color seen among bathing suits, with a limited number of red, brown, gray and violet.

Chilly!

"My dining room is the hottest place on earth. I wish I knew what to do to cool it."

"Did you ever take a friend home to dinner when your wife didn't expect it?"—Buffalo Express.

SABILLASVILLE ITEMS.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Warner were taken suddenly ill with typhoid fever last week and the attending physicians, Dr. E. C. Kefauver, of Thurmont, took them to the Frederick City Hospital. They were reported very ill by the attending physician, Dr. T. B. Johnson, of the hospital staff, on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Warner's little son, Lawrence, was taken there on Sunday, two weeks ago, afflicted with the same malady. It is thought by the physician that the low water during the dry season has been the cause of the affliction in this family.

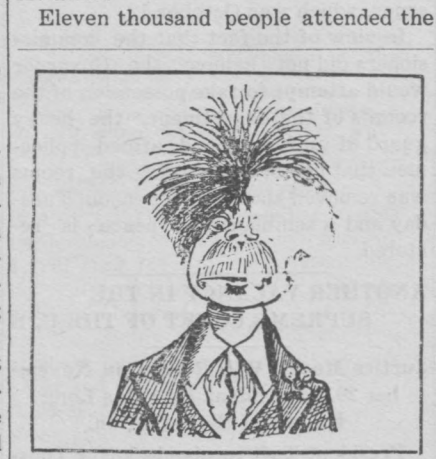

Mr. R. A. Warner, of Philadelphia, Pa., was summoned to the home of his brother, Mr. C. A. Warner, and during his visit called to see him at the Frederick City Hospital. Rev. H. Gus and Mrs. Gus, of Ardmore, Pa., are spending some time at the home of Mrs. Gus' brother, Mr. C. A. Warner.

About twenty-five citizens from this place were badly shaken up and un-nerved in the wreck on the W. M. R. R., near Thurmont, on last Wednesday, being on their way to Frederick to attend court. Mrs. Margaret Eyler, who had spent some time with her sister, Mrs. Laura Eby, left here on Monday for her home in Indiana. Miss Lottie Colliflower, of Graceham, after spending several days with her aunt, Mrs. F. F. Eyler, has returned to her home. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ridenour and son left here this week for an extended trip through the Western States to visit relatives and friends.

EXCITING FOOTBALL GAME ON MONDAY

Strong Harney Eleven Defeats Pigs Misery Aggregation By The Score of 98-23.

The Harney football squad which has been in training for the past six days under Coach Bill Snyder, chewed up the frisky eleven from Pigs Misery in a most exciting game played Monday on Musk Rat Field. This field, by the way, was a gift to the University of Harney from Dan Shorb, P. U. D., K. C. L., formerly professor of Propædæutics and John Glass lecturer on the Theory of Aviation. Eleven thousand people attended the game and seven bands of music delighted the audience during the four quarters. The minute the Harney bunch hit the turf it was evident that they had the goods with them and it was noticeable further on, that Murky Suds received two-thirds of them. This professional in a daring dash of 90 yards with eighteen men on his neck, dislocated the goal post and tore away the gunwale and three hatchways on the port side of his physiognomy. After Dr. Scrut had been at work on Suds for thirty-six hours, Suds sat for his photograph which is reproduced above. The picture below is the science hall presented to the University of Harney by Dr. John Culp, professor emeritus of the science of Pingpongology.

Lacked Pith, Point, Head and Tail. The Rockville Sentinel says that Mr. Warner opened his Congressional campaign in the Opera House there and about forty Republicans were present to hear him. "Of these about a dozen were Negroes, and half of the balance were strangers to the people of Rockville. Mr. Warner spoke about fifteen minutes. There was neither pith, point, head nor tail to his speech."

A new long-distance record for wireless transmission is claimed by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, which announced that the officials were informed in a dispatch from London that Mr. Marconi, who is now in Argentina, has successfully received signals direct from Glace Bay, Nova Scotia and from Clifden, Ireland, at the high-power station now almost completed in Argentina. The distance covered is estimated at 5,600 miles.

FROM FOUR POINTS

Mr. Archie Harbaugh, of Hagers-town, spent several days last week with his grandmother, Mrs. Julia Nagle, and other relatives near this place. Mrs. George Cluts and son, Charles, called on Mr. George Ohler and family last week. Mrs. Harry Dern and daughters, Julia, Alva and Ethel, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Dern, of York Road. Stansbury. Mr. Harry Stambaugh visited his brother, Mr. Joseph Stambaugh last Sunday. Mr. Frank Troxell, of near Four Points, spent Saturday and Sunday with his uncle, Mr. Lewis Troxell, and family, near Graceham. Mr. Allen Walker, of near Harney, spent Sunday evening near Four Points. Mrs. Mahlon Stonesifer and son, Glenn, of near Keysville, spent Saturday evening at the home of Mr. James Harbaugh. Mr. Roy Maxell, of near this place, spent Sunday evening near Motter's Station. Miss Eleanor Diehl, of Frederick, is visiting her sister, Miss Ruth Diehl, near Four Points.

IRISH APPEAL TO UNCLE SAM TO SAVE QUEENSTOWN

Distinguished Deputation Calls On Postmaster Hitchcock to Urge Him to Help Their Port.

An All-Irish deputation headed by the Lord Mayor of Dublin, Michael Doyle, called upon Postmaster General Hitchcock Monday to protest against the abandonment of Queenstown as a port of call for mail steamers of the Cunard Company on their eastward passages from New York. All members of the deputation presented arguments to Mr. Hitchcock in favor of the restoration of Queenstown as a port of call by the Cunard Company or the use by the United States of another steamship line in the transportation of its mails to Great Britain and the continent. It was explained elaborately that the stopping of the Cunard vessels at Queenstown would bring about a delay of less than an hour and thereby would insure the delivery of mail intended for the North of England, Ireland and Scotland substantially 24 hours earlier than it now is delivered after passing through the London office.

M. L. Morgenhaub, a wealthy manufacturer, pleaded guilty of attempting to smuggle $17,000 worth of jewelry at New York, but denied that he had wilful intent.

LOYS AND VICINITY.

TRUMP-BREAM NUPTIALS.

The attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. R. William Bream on Spring's Avenue, Gettysburg, was the scene of a delightful event last Wednesday, Sept. 28th, when their second daughter, Helen Romaine was wedded to Mr. Harold Schick Trump, of Martinsburg, W. Va.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Chas. S. Trump, pastor of the Lutheran Church, Martinsburg, W. Va., the groom's father, assisted by Rev. J. B. Baker, pastor of St. James' Lutheran church, Gettysburg.

The ceremony took place in the parlor, which with the library, dining room and reception hall were prettily decorated with ivy, hydrangea and queen's lace. Throughout the decorations the color scheme green and white prevailed.

Shortly before the ceremony Miss Ruth Clutz sang "Shall I Wed Thee," Lohengrin wedding march was well and beautifully executed as a processional by Mrs. H. H. Rhodes, of Middletown, Pa.

As the ushers, Mr. John W. McIlhenny, of Gettysburg, and Mr. Sammel B. Meisenhelder, of York, entered the parlor from the hall, ropes of clematis tied with white bows were handed them, which they carried forward to an altar of plants and vines forming an aisle for the bridal party. They were followed by the groom and his best man, Mr. Mark K. Eckert. The little and attractive ring bearer Miss Hester Trump Van Meter, came next, bearing on a silver tray the wedding rings. She proceeded gracefully to where the officiating clergymen stood, and faced the audience. Following came the bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth M. Miller, of Pittsburgh. The bride leaning on the arm of her father came slowly down the stairway through the arch-way to the altar where she was given away by her father. The ceremony was impressively performed according to the beautiful ritual of the Lutheran church. The two ring service was used, each one of the contracting party placing on the finger of the other a ring—repeating the impressive words—"Receive this ring as a pledge and token of love and troth." After the bans were pronounced by the groom's father, prayer was offered and the blessing pronounced by Rev. J. B. Baker.

The bride wore a handsome gown of ivory satin trimmed with lace and chiffon, and carried a shower bouquet of brides roses. The bridesmaid wore white marquisette over green mussaline and carried a lovely bouquet of lilies of the valley. The ring bearer wore white organdie and was exceptionally attractive.

A reception followed when an elegant luncheon was served. About one hundred guests were present, who were profuse with their "best wishes" and "compliments" for this young and popular couple.

Mr. Trump is a graduate of Gettysburg College class of '05 and is popular with the student body and faculty, having also a host of friends in the city. Mrs. Trump is one of Gettysburg's most charming girls.

The bride received a large number of costly presents of silver, cut glass, linen and china.

Among those present from out of town were Rev. and Mrs. Charles S. Trump, Miss Mary Trump, Miss Bess Trump, Frank Trump, of Martinsburg, W. Va.; Miss Ruth Henry, Shippensburg; Miss Marie Baillie, of Harrisburg; Dr. and Mrs. Gano, of Chambersburg; Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Schick, of Philadelphia; Miss Virginia Hess, of Martinsburg, W. Va.; Dr. Rhodes, Middletown; Miss Eva Herr, of Westminster, Md.; Mrs. Hetrick, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Calvin Swartz and Miss Louise Swartz, of Waynesboro.

The happy couple left at three o'clock on a bridal tour to Atlantic City, New York and Old Point. They will later go to Cincinnati, O., where Mr. Trump is located as district manager for the Aluminum Reduction Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa.

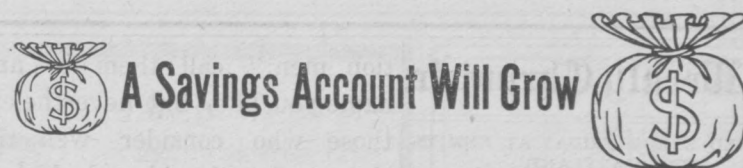

SEIZURE OF ALL AUTOMOBILES IN TIME OF WAR ADVOCATED

General F. D. Grant Suggests Such a Measure.—Would Cause Registration of Machines.

A plan to make all private automobiles available for military service in time of necessity was suggested by Major General Frederick Dent Grant, who, until July 1, commanded the department of the Lakes, in his annual report for that department, made public Monday.

"It seems to me," he said, "it would be wise if the national government passed laws that would cause the registration of all automobiles capable of transporting four or more passengers, and that the owners of these machines be obliged legally to transfer them, on demand, to the government for military uses, for a sum of money not greater than the original cost of the machine. "If this were done the government would have at hand and without cost to maintain a means of transportation for the rapid movement of troops."

THE PEOPLE ARE BEGINNING TO TAKE A HAND.

With the introduction of the primary system the tendency to outgrow the folly of blind partisanship has rapidly been making itself evident. Party names mean less than they did heretofore and party alignments are noticeably less rigid. And why is this? Simply because the people, at last given the opportunity to express their wishes to some purpose, are beginning to take a more active part in politics. The "fixed" convention, the "stuffed" caucus and the arbitrary committee are no longer countenanced. Everywhere "organizations" presided over by tyrannical bosses supported through the fear of those bossed and kept in power by means of very questionable instrumentalities, are beginning to disintegrate under the slow but nevertheless powerful influence of public opinion.

It has been well said that "no one understands better than the politician that in the long run legislation follows public opinion." A coalescing of the ideas and determinations of right-minded citizens, bent on showing that the people want clean politics and will only countenance honest methods in bringing it about, will eventually smash any "machine" that was ever gotten together.

A political boss or machine can only exist where there is fear, lethargy or lack of interest among the people. The boss is very much of a bully, and at heart a good deal of a coward. He can muster very few real friends. Let him show signs of losing his power or the position he holds and by virtue of which he rules those under him, and he is knifed in his own camp. Those who do his bidding—forced into doing it by threats or withholding of spoils—only need to see the "handwriting on the wall" to make them seek shelter and deny.

Call them "insurgents," "progressives," "kickers," "mugwumps" or "anti-organization men;" call them by any name you like, but nevertheless those who consider well the claims of both sides, look into the candidates' records, make sure of what these candidates stand for, and then vote according to their convictions, are "independents,"—the kind of beings (especially in State elections) the country needs more of.

AND SO IT GOES.

The poet speaks of common cows as "kine," and smart folks call a gig or shay a "trap." With fashion if you want to be in line, say "slumber" when you mean an old time nap. No longer is a frock or skirt the "go," 't is "gown," and you must say it with an air, and "coiffure" is the word to hand out slow, whenever you refer to your back hair. And "luggage" is the term for bag and trunk, and "brasses" are the checks for them you get.

A "bundle's" what you carry when you're drunk, and "wager" is the proper phrase for bet. A "menu" is the card they hand to you, when you sit in the "cafe" swell to eat, and "saute's" what you get for kidney stew, and "a la" they tack on to plain pig's feet. A prize fight's always down as a "big go," and "ponies" are race horses, hair and hide. One "drives" when in a "car" or an "auto," and "take a spin" is meant for take a ride.

There are no papers—they are "journals" now, to telegraph is "wire," to die is "croak." To "rough house" is to get into a row, and one is "strapped" these days when one is broke. He's "dippy" when he's slightly off in the head; and "beaten to a frazzle's" a new term, and "auburn's" used for hair that's brilliant red, and illness nowadays comes from some new "germ." Appendicitis is plain stomach ache, and defalcation goes for "high finance." All esoteric knowledge is a "fake," and when a man's absorbed he's in a "trance." The fellow who likes baseball is a "fan," and everything that's fine has got "some class." The losing horses they—they "also ran," and "repartee" is now employed for sass. But why go on with all this kind of stuff? T'would take a year to write what comes to mind, and then at verse—we're frank—it's one big bluff, so pray withhold the eggs—be lenient, kind.

COUNTY MAPS.

The Carroll Record wants an adequate and comprehensive state atlas or county maps and suggests that "our various exchanges take up this question, agitate it, etc."

It is highly desirable that a good atlas of Maryland should be available, and the basis for one already exists in the admirable maps of the U. S. Geological Survey, which in conjunction with the State Geological Survey, has about completed the survey of Maryland. The last districts to be covered are Williamsport and Hagerstown. We have already seen the advance sheets of the Emmitsburg and Taneytown quadrangles and they are a magnificent piece of work, being on a scale of 4,000 feet to the inch and showing practically everything. The Survey assures us that these two maps will be ready for issue about the first of the year. It is understood that the entire state will be mapped and ready for publication in less than a year from now. The price of these sheets is five cents.

An exchange remarks, "Has everybody forgotten Halley's comet?" If they have here's what Rev. Dr. Wharton said about it: "Halley's comet was a mere glow worm crawling across the sky compared to the meteoric flight through the West of Theodore Roosevelt."

An officeholder in the East has given up his job because there was so little to do that he thought it a shame to draw the money. A man with an embarrassing sense of shame should never accept a public office.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The above is respectfully referred to The Honorable Buchanan Schley.

"ATTORNEY General Straus * * * brought the Governor around to his way of thinking."—News Item in Baltimore Star.

This seems to be the case in about everything in which the Governor is concerned, doesn't it?

NEW YORK is complaining of a shortage of chambermaids. There is less complaint of the shortage of chorus girls.—Washington Herald.

Very easy to understand. The ranks of the latter have been generously recruited from the former.

DOWN in South Carolina they have discovered a brand of shoe polish that makes people intoxicated, says the Washington Herald.

A sort of from head to foot jag, as it were.

SPEAKING of things being high, even the wind is high.

The Baby's Face.

Who can fathom the fairy grace That dwells in a velvety baby face? Who can fathom the fairy glee That rings in a baby's melody? And who can unravel the secret wile That sleeps in the nest of a baby's smile? The hungry and lingering joy we know When our rough face touches a babe's, and, lo, We feel the touch of the velvet skin And the warm, sweet lovelight bound therein!

A baby's face—how can one tell Its mystic charm and its holy spell? Rough hearts go by, rude, rugged men, From the dust and grime of mart and fen, But under the cloak of their outer din Love's hunger sleeps their souls within, And when they see a baby's face—Round and rosy and sweet with grace— They long, as you and I, to press The velvet joy of its warm caress.

How much it holds, how deeply lays, Within its soft and gentle maze, The charm to soothe, the charm to heal, The hurt that lives so often feel! A baby's face along the way Is like a little bloom-o'-day; And, like a little flower, it brings The sweetness of a thousand springs; The balsam of the heart-made-well Is in the touchstone of its spell.

—Author Unknown.

Let Your Child Sleep Alone.

No two persons, no matter who they are, should habitually sleep together, for it is inevitable that the one will thrive and the other lose. An aged person and a child should never be bed-mates; great is the pleasure to grandma to cuddle the little one in her arms, and much as the child enjoys the warmth and comfort of the other, it is a well established fact that the child will suffer while the old person is benefited. Babies are better in their cribs, and the crib should be near enough so that the mother has but to stretch out her hand and touch the child, thus knowing all its needs. A baby, cradled in the exhausted mother's arms will both injure and be injured thereby.

If space is small, two single beds occupy but little, if any, more room than one large one, and this will give the desired propinquity and comforting sense of nearness without the bodily contact that will inevitably derange the nervous system of one, if not both the sleepers. One person will always be eliminative of nerve force, while another is absorbent, while if each slept alone, there would be no robbing one to enrich the other.

Too much stress can not be laid upon the necessity of keeping the nursing bottle and all apparatus connected with it perfectly sweet and clean, even in cold weather. The most serious trouble with the bottle-fed baby is from neglect here, and the personal supervision of the mother should be given to the matter, letting nothing interfere with it.

The first death resulting from infantile paralysis and the second case in Washington county occurred at Boonsboro.

Judge Keedy, of the Washington county court, has signed an order forbidding the Boonsboro Turnpike Company from collecting toll until their road is put into good repair.

Hector S. McAllister, Superintendent of Construction of the United States Public Buildings, Washington, was in Frederick Friday inspecting locations offered as sites for a Federal postoffice building.

An electric car with 25 passengers bound from Hagerstown to Boonsboro Friday night was derailed on a sharp curve at Mapleville while running at a high rate of speed and dashed into a telephone pole, snapping it off close to the ground.

A movement is on foot to build an electric road from Hagerstown to Clearspring, 12 miles. A number of mopeyed men in Hagerstown and other places have been interviewed by the promoters of the enterprise.

Attractive headquarters established by the Frederick County Branch of the Maryland Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis were formerly opened to the public with a large reception. The rooms were decorated with palms and cut flowers, and were in charge of Miss Nellie Casey, the visiting nurse, whose work in Frederick has elicited much praise.

At a special meeting of the finance committee of Frederick, consisting of the entire Board of Aldermen, the firm of MacRea, Jameson & Ashcomb, of Baltimore, was selected from a number of bidders to audit the accounts of the city from June 20, 1907, to June 20, 1910, and to install a new system of accounting, for $750.

Governor Crothers has announced his intention of attending the coming sessions of the Maryland Conference of Charities and Corrections, which will be held in Frederick November 17-19. Plans are now being made for the conference, and the occasion will be one of interest and be largely attended. A large committee, headed by some of the most prominent citizens of the city, is arranging for the sessions.

The Social Service League of Montgomery county, which was organized about a year ago to secure the proper housing and care of the poor of the county, especially those affected with tuberculosis, and to educate the people as to the cause and prevention of tuberculosis and other diseases, is planning for an active campaign. An office has been secured near the postoffice in Rockville.

Plant No. 1 of the Belair Electric Company, which is situated on Winters run, two miles southwest of Belair, on the Baltimore pike, was entirely destroyed by fire between 3 and 4 o'clock Wednesday morning. The origin is unknown. It was discovered by the night watchman in the engine room. Owing to the great height of the building it was difficult for the fire fighters from Belair and vicinity to do effective work on the building, and their energies were directed toward removing as much machinery as possible and saving the several adjoining buildings.

The common council of Westminster has passed and Mayor Sponseller has approved an ordinance fixing the rate of taxation for this city for the current year at 50 cents on $100, dividing the levy as follows: For water and lights 16 cents; for interest on 4 per cent. bonded indebtedness, and to provide a sinking fund for its redemption at maturity, 5 cents; for general purposes and current expenses, 29 cents. The bonded indebtedness is $25,000 and the taxable basis $2,669,369. The income from direct taxation will, therefore, allowing a generous abatement for insolvencies, be not less than $13,000.

The worst habit that boys can fall into is that loafing around in the street. It is then they cast their lot in slippery places when at any moment they are likely to fall from grace. All good and noble lessons taught them by their mothers are there counteracted and nullified. They learn nothing that is good—but everything bad. The boys who spend their evenings in the sacred precincts of home with good books for their companions are the future hope of this republic; they will fill our legislative and congressional halls, and sit in judgment upon men and measures while the boys who run the streets will fill our penitentiaries, almshouses and lunatic asylums. Parents who are responsible for these broken laws of decency will have broken hearts and bowed down heads in the awakening years that will inevitably follow.—Annapolis Capital.

THE MAN IN THE EQUATION.

The work of constructing trolley lines which will add greatly to the business prosperity of Frederick, both town and county, is going rapidly on, and before many months have passed hourly communication will be established by electric railway with Thurmont, and by next summer with Emmitsburg, and probably Gettysburg. And later on with other points.

The progress of this necessary development has heretofore been slow, but steady. Now, the work is beginning to show up, and rapid progress is being made, notwithstanding the obstacles that have been thrown in the way of the enterprise by those who should have been their friends and backers from the very start.

"It is impossible; it won't pay; the money can't be obtained, and it will never be completed," have been heard from the local knockers on all sides—from men whose interests will be greatly benefited by the work, but who are so blinded by obstinacy and prejudice that they cannot see the inevitable, when it is placed before their eyes. They still keep on prophesying misfortune and evil, and can see no prospect of success, when all the precedents in similar enterprises, in all parts of the country, have been one way—that is certain good fortune and great success. For all trolley lines in all rural sections have been successful and profitable, almost from the very start.

These prophets of evil and misfortune have left out of their calculations the one important factor in every great enterprise, and that is the man at the head of it. They have seen only difficulties in the way, the difficulty of raising funds and floating securities, and the natural difficulties to be surmounted. These, and these alone, have impressed them and they have been blind to all else. They forgot that a bold, energetic, enterprising and untiring man, a man who inspires confidence, can surmount such difficulties and sweep them from the path he has marked out, to success.

The man in charge of the whole business has inspired others and will push the project to success. He is worth to any enterprise more than any dozen timid and fearful financiers, who hold on to their cash. He inspires confidence in the sort of men who have carried out to a successful conclusion every great enterprise in this, or any other country, and he has taken hold of the railway situation here in such a way that there can be but one conclusion—that is, success.

Mr. Coblenz is the man in the equation. He is doing more to make Frederick a prosperous town, to increase its population, and to build it into what it should be—the second city in Maryland, than any other dozen men in the whole county.

And the whole community will one day hail him as a public benefactor, for he is the man to develop the situation, and solve the problem for this rich and prosperous county, heretofore groping in the dark to lead it out into the prosperity that it should have had long ago.—The Evening Press.

LIFE.

The following has been contributed by Sarg. R. H. Henry, U. S. A., who spent some time here this summer:

It is a law of our nature that what we seek we shall, in some measure find. And so like a rainbow, life glitters in all the colors; like a rainbow, also, it adjusts itself to every beholder.

To the dayflies of fashion life seems ephemeral; to the seeker after permanence it strikes its roots into eternity. To the empty it is a yawning chasm of inanity; to the full it is a source of boundless interest. To the indolent it is a call to despairing resignation; to the strenuous it is a stimulus to dauntless energy. To the serious it is fraught with infinite significance; to the flippant it is all a somewhat sorry jest. To the melancholic each hope is strangled in its birth; to the sanguine two hopes spring from every grave of one. To the optimistic life is a joy ineffable; to the pessimistic it is a futile agony of an atrocious and unending struggle. To love it seems that in the end all must love; to hate and envy it becomes a hell. The cosmic order, which to one displays the unswerving rigor of a self-sufficient mechanism, grows explicable to another only by the direct guidance of the hand of God. To those of little faith the heavens are dumb; to the faithful they disclose the splendors of a beatific vision.

And so each sees life as what he has in him to perceive, and variously transfigures what, without his vision, were an unseen void.

But all are not equally clear sighted, and which sees best, time and trial must establish. We can stake our little lives upon the ventures of our faith. And, willing or unwilling, that we do and must.

A vast increase in national banking business in the United States between 1867 and 1909 is shown in a statement just prepared for the monetary commission by Dr. A. Piatt Andrew, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. National banks increased from 1,636 to 3,732 up until 1900, and 6,893 in 1909. State banks increased from 272 in 1867 to 11,319 in 1900.

"WAKEN! CHRISTIAN CHILDREN."

There is a great deal being said at this time about our country. That we have a great and glorious country no one can doubt, but for fear there may be some who do not fully appreciate our great republic I submit the following to their consideration.

There is nothing like our country under the sun, this land of the free, land of churches and 240,000 licensed saloons, Bibles, forts and guns, houses of prostitution, millionaires and paupers, theologians and thieves, politicians and poverty, trusts and tramps, money and misery, homes and hunger, Christians and chain gangs, schools and scalawags, virtue and vice.

This is a land where you can get a Bible for 15 cents and a bad drink of whiskey for 10 cents; where we have a man in Congress with three wives, and a lot of men in the penitentiary with only two; where we have bologna out of dogs, canned beef out of sick horses and cows, and corpses out of the people who eat it; where they put a man in jail for not having the means of support, and on the rock pile for asking for a job; where they license bawdy houses and fine men for preaching Christ on the street; where we have a Congress of 400 men to make laws and a supreme court of nine to set them aside; where good whiskey makes bad men and bad men make good whiskey; where newspapers are paid for suppressing the truth and made rich for telling a lie; where professors draw their convictions from the same place they draw their salaries, where men vote for what they don't want in one day and curse it for 364; where Negroes can vote and women can't; where a girl that goes wrong is made an outcast and her male partner flourishes as a gentleman; where we have prayers on the floor of the capitol and whiskey in the cellar.

It is a land where we spend $10,000 to bury a rich statesman and $10 to put away a working man who is poor; where we pay $15,000 for a dog and 15 cents for a dozen women to make shirts; where we teach the untutored Indian the way of eternal life and kill him off with bad whiskey; where we put a man in jail for stealing a loaf of bread and in Congress for stealing a railroad; where the check book talks, sin walks in broad daylight, justice is asleep, crime runs amuck, corruption permeates our whole social system and the devil stands at every street corner.

This is the great, the grand, the glorious republic, the greatest country on earth.—North American.

Wage of the Farmer.

There has been a great deal of joking about the farmer being the one who has benefitted most from our prosperity, and he has been pictured as a fortunate individual, getting such high prices for his products that he rides around in automobiles and has a good time generally. As a matter of fact, it is shown by a bulletin issued by the Agricultural Department that the farmer is a poorly paid man, so far as money goes. The average farm owner, if he figures the price of what he receives from his farm as wages, gets a bit less than the hired man to whom he pays $25 a month and board. According to the department, the average earnings of the American farmer last year were $22.61, but this allows nothing to be charged off on account of interest of the farmers investment. This rate of farmer's wages allows only about 5 per cent. interest on the money invested in this country in farm products.

And yet, in spite of these figures, which make so poor a showing, the farmer is, after all, much better off than the average wage earner. The farmer is a much better saver than the average man. Removed from the constant temptation to live extravagantly, what he earns is practically all profit. From his farm he secures the food for himself and family, in addition to his $22.61 a month. The dweller in the city, who receives on the face of it, a much larger wage than the farmer, has to purchase out of his wage practically everything he wants, and when he is through it might surprise him to find that his wage, over and above his living, was not as much as the farmer's twenty-two dollars.

No; the farmer is not by any means an object of pity. He has his land, a solid and sure investment, that increases, in most cases, in value every year. His progress is solid and substantial; it is his money that trickles through the country banks into the big financial institutions of the country, and thus builds our factories and aids our industries. And with it all he lives a saner, more healthful life than we of the paved streets and the electric lights. For him, no fevered rush or eager haste, but instead calm placidity, increasing progress and prosperity and contentment.—Washington Herald.

Commiseration For Thurmont.

The wisdom displayed by Taneytown, in not putting in a water power electric light plant, has been apparently demonstrated by the experience Thurmont and Union Bridge have been having, on account of the drought reducing the power, and greatly curtailing the light service in both places. Taneytown was assured, by expert surveyors, that there was no water power, nearby of sufficient force to depend on in all seasons, and we are now assured that the advice was correct.

MT. ST. MARY'S FIRST GAME.

Neither Side Scores.—Indian Reserves and Locals Evenly Matched.

The first game of football at the college was a hummer. Coach Topper has been doing things and the result of his work was very apparent on Wednesday when Mount St. Mary's played the Carlisle Indian Reserves to a tie 0 to 0.

The game was marked by the brilliant work of Flannery, Gardner and McGuire.

Captain Vedernack played the best game for the Indians.

On the kick-off Mount St. Mary's fumbled, the Indians received the ball and rushed it to Mount St. Mary's three-yard line, where they were held.

From that time on everything was Mount St. Mary's. On three different occasions the Mountaineers rushed the ball to the Indians' 20-yard line, where they lost it on fumbles or intercepted forward passes. Both teams suffered penalties under the new rules. Mount St. Mary's worked the forward pass with great success and gained largely in that way.

Next Wednesday Mt. St. Joseph's will play here.

In remembrance of Fannie A. Lantz who died Oct. 5, 1908. We miss thee from our home, dear; We miss thee from thy place. A shadow o'er our life is cast— We miss the sunshine of thy face. We miss thy kind and willing hand, thy fond and earnest care. Our home is dark without thee—we miss thee everywhere. By her husband, VERNON G. LANTZ.

JUST A REMINDER.

Subscribers for THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE are as a rule—and it is a pleasure to state the fact—very punctual in paying their subscription bills. Many pay them in advance; others remit the very day their subscriptions fall due. It happens every now and then, however, that some overlook the matter—not intentionally, and not from indifference. They simply forget it.

To the latter this notice is intended to appeal. It is not a dun, simply a reminder made necessary by the ruling of the Post Office Department.

The reason for it has been fully explained and it is taken for granted that all who are still in arrears will be courteous enough to settle promptly.

AEROPLANES TO TAKE PLACE OF NAVY IN COAST DEFENCE

Gen. Nelson A. Miles Gives His Opinion.—Of Great Economy and Efficiency in Modern Warfare.

The aeroplane, instead of being an adjunct to the navy, is likely to replace it so far as coast defense is concerned, is the opinion of Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles, United States Army, retired, who was in Denver on Monday.

"The aeroplane eventually will be a means of coast defense," said the General, discussing aerial navigation. "Aeroplanes can be built by the score for what one battleship costs. The use would curtail greatly the expense of building coast defense warships. When aeroplanes can fly a hundred miles out to sea and drop explosives over hostile fleets these fleets will be cautious about attacking a coast. And this condition will come.

"Already any nation which goes to war must reckon with the aeroplane. They would be extremely advantageous in reconnoitering, and when up 7,000 feet would be practically immune from injury by rifle shots."

Memorial Window to Rev. Osborne Ingle.

Arrangements have been made for the dedication of the memorial windows which are to be placed in the All Saint's Episcopal Church, Frederick, to the memory of the late rector, Rev. Osborne Ingle. SAVE LABOR ON FARM.

Every Detail Needs Attention if Profits Are to Be Realized From Work.

Much time and money are lost upon the farm by inconveniences. To the farmer, labor is money and time is valuable. Whenever time is lost and labor is sacrificed the profits are apt to be small.

Fences should be located with reference to convenience. The rotation should be carefully planned before fences are located and fields are laid out for the different crops. Fences are expensive, and they should be constructed with reference to convenience and adaptability. The gates should be properly made, adequately suspended and conveniently located. No unnecessary time should be lost in passing through gates and getting the teams to other fields.

The tool shed, the barn, the garden and the pasture should all be located with reference to the needs of the manager. Thirty minutes lost every day for a year means a loss of nearly a month's work.

Perhaps less attention is given to the water supply than any other necessity upon the farm. On many farms the well is located in the wrong place, and on not a few stock water is scarce or difficult to reach. This is extremely unfortunate for the animals as well as for the manager of the farm. Animals are sometimes driven several miles for water and in this way cost their owner more than they are worth.

For convenience the farmstead should be carefully planned before the different buildings are located. Mistakes in building are costly and should not be made. Inadequate buildings, poor fences and insufficient water supply not only reduce the profits of the farm, but cause the hands and teams to be overworked and the children to become discouraged with farm life.—Farm and Ranch.

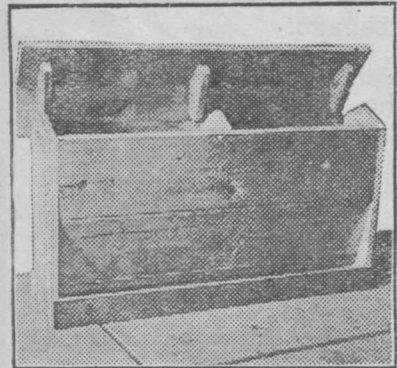

The average grain crop yield per acre in Ohio has been gradually but surely decreasing. The entire 1910 Ohio wheat crop will be required to pay the cost of the two battleships recently ordered by congress.

HOPPER FED POULTRY.

Good Results From This Method Where Large Number of Hens Is Kept.

Where hens are kept in large numbers no plan will give better general results than hopper feeding a dry mash and scattering hard grain in litter. The economy in feeding the mash dry from a hopper is in the reduced labor, which is one of the most expensive items. Doing the work with half the labor, says New England Poultry Journal, means that we can keep twice as many hens, and if each individual hen does not pay as large a profit as where more labor is given her the aggregate will be larger.

For instance, if 500 hens at a food cost of $500 produce 5,500 dozen eggs it would be more profitable with the same labor to keep 1,000 hens at a food cost of $1,000 and produce 10,000 dozens of eggs. If the eggs sell at an average price of 30 cents a dozen we would receive in the first instance $1,650, or $1,150 profit, and in the second instance $3,000, or $2,000 profit.

There would be the increased investment of 500 hens and additional house room, amounting to about $500. But this would be fixed capital, and the interest and depreciation would not amount to more than 10 per cent, or $50. So by keeping 1,000 instead of 500 we would really gain $800 above all expenses.

This of course is a loose estimate, for with good care 1,000 hens quartered on four or five acres will lay more than 10,000 dozens of eggs in a year—that is, if we have the right kind of hens. Poor hens will not pay a profit anyway, so there is no use figuring on them. That is a mistake many make. They think one hen is as good as another of the same breed.

The breed has little to do with the laying of individual hens. As a race some fowls are more prolific than others. A simple diet and hard work mean a lot of eggs.

Importing Burdock Root.

Notwithstanding the thousands of acres of burdock that yearly mature their unsightly crop of seed in vacant places all over the country, we nevertheless import annually from European countries 135,000 pounds of dried burdock root, those preparing it receiving from 3 to 8 cents per pound for it.

Big Farm For Students.

James B. Haggin, noted horseman, miler and owner of the Elmendorf farm in Fayette county, which comprises 5,000 acres of the finest land in Kentucky, has agreed to let the students of the state university have the use of Elmendorf in order to study agriculture to better advantage.

WHAT TO WEAR.

What the Athletic Girl Needs—Touches of Color on Costumes.

A short mixed tweed skirt is indispensable in the outfit of the athletic girl, and her practical blouses will include plainly tailored shirt waists made for wear with separate stocks or collars.

Embroideries in greenish gold are introduced on frocks of black and white for those who like metallic touches.

The oddest Dutch collars yet seen are of white or ecru mull bound with Persian and finished around the neck

A CHIFFON AND MOIRE BLOUSE with big cords covered with Persian and ending in Persian tassels. They cost 49 cents.

Women who give especial attention to the details of their attire—and all well dressed women do—realize that a brilliant touch of color is the life of any neutralized gown.

Often the coloring on the hat will be sufficient to give tone to a costume. A white costume seen recently was enlivened by a band of bright green velvet put on the white hat as a facing. At the throat of the gown there was a small bow of the same bright velvet. It was very artistic.

Plastron effects are very good style this season. The pretty waist pictured is of chiffon combined with moire silk and worn over a guimpe of lace, but the model may be carried out entirely in any sort of suitable material.

Turn About.

In a Great Western railway car on the way up to London a young man disturbed and annoyed the other passengers by loud and foolish remarks during a great part of the journey. As they passed Hansel Linnatic asylum he remarked, "I often think how nice the asylum looks from the railway."

"Some day," growled an old gentleman, "you will probably have occasion to remark how nice the railway looks from the asylum."—London Answers.

Getting It All.

"What can I bring you today, sir?" "I hardly know. The doctor says I need carbohydrates and proteins, and I want something nitrogenous, I think."

"Yes, sir. How about an order of hash?"—Pittsburg Post.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Cat and The Balloon

Up, Up Went Poor Kitty

DADDY laid down his pipe and newspaper, called the children for their bedtime story, and when they had got comfortably settled on his lap he began:

"Once upon a time a cat named Topsy got tired of staying at home and decided to go out and see something of the world, so one day she said goodby to all the cats in her back yard and started on her journey. She had not gone far, however, when a big dog took after her. He could run very fast and almost had the end of her tail in his mouth when she leaped up and caught hold of a rope that was dangling in the air. Now, this rope, kiddies, was swinging from a big balloon that was just going up in the sky, and it carried Topsy right along with it. My, but she was frightened when she looked down and saw how far it was to the ground, and she wished many times that she was safe at home behind the kitchen stove. Up, up went poor kitty, and she was just ready to let go and drop when the man saw her.

"Well, well, well," he said, "if I haven't gone up and taken a black cat with me! But I am very glad she came, for they say a black cat is good luck." In a moment more he had Topsy in the basket of the balloon with him, and she was so glad to get there that she purred and purred and wasn't a bit frightened. And pretty soon the man ate his dinner, and he gave Topsy a box of sardines all for herself. Wasn't that a great feast for a cat? Well, the balloon went a long distance in the air, but finally came down, and the man carried Topsy home with him. Maybe she wasn't a proud kitty! All the cats in the neighborhood came to hear about her trip, and this is what she told them:

"Kitties, you see before you the only cat in the world that ever went up in a balloon. I was seven billion miles above your heads and looked right into the face of the man in the moon. And he is a very, very mean man, because I said 'How do you do?' to him eight times, and he never answered me. But I suppose he was so surprised to see a cat up his way that he forgot his manners. And while I was up there I had a whole box of sardines for my dinner. Have any of you such a good master as I?"

"When the other pussies heard that, kiddies, they all ran into the house where Topsy lived, because they wanted to live there and get sardines, too, and Topsy's master had a terrible time getting rid of them. And every time he went up in his balloon the cats for miles around would try to go with him and were such a nuisance that he finally had to sell it. But he was always kind to Topsy, and she lived with him until she died of old age."

Mrs. Grundy.

The first mention of Mrs. Grundy is found in Morton's clever comedy 'Speed the Plow.' Farmer Ashfield, at table with his jug and pipe, is talking to his wife on her return from market.

"Well, dame, welcome whoam. What news does thee bring vrom market?"

"What news, husband? What I always told you—that Farmer Grundy's wheat brought 5 shillings a quarter more than ours did."

"All the better for he!"

"Ah, the sun seems to shine on purpose for him."

"Come, come, missus, as thee has not the grace to thank God for prosperous times, dan't three grumble when they be unkindly a bit."

"And I assure you Dame Grundy's butter was quite the crack of the market."

"Be quiet, wool ye? Always ding dinging Dame Grundy into my ears: 'What will Mrs. Grundy say? 'What will Mrs. Grundy think? Canst thee be quiet? Let ur alone and behave thyself p'gatty!'"

No Mystery About It.

The other night after Harker was safe in bed there came a mysterious tapping below his window. Harker slipped out of his covers and cautiously raised the sash.

"What's wanted?" he demanded, his teeth chattering.

"I just wanted to tell you," came a muffled voice, "that there's a hand moving around just inside your cellar window."

With visions of burglars Harker picked up his revolver and slipped through the halls in his pajamas. Cautiously he searched the cellar with a lighted candle, but it was empty. Outside on the sidewalk stood the stranger.

"I don't see any burglars down here," called Harker nervously.

"Who said anything about burglars?" laughed the stranger.

"Why, didn't you call me out of bed to tell me that there was a hand moving around near the cellar window?"

"Sure, it's the dial on the gas meter. It works while you sleep."—Philadelphia Times.

Conscience Versus Art.

Shortly after Tennyson's poem "The Vision of Sin" appeared an eminent mathematician sent the poet a letter that ran like this:

"Dear Sir—I find in a recent poem of yours, entitled 'The Vision of Sin,' the following unwarranted statement: 'Every moment dies a man, and every moment one is born.' I need hardly point out that this calculation, if correct, would tend to keep the sum total of the world's population in a state of perpetual equipolse, whereas it is an established fact that the said population is constantly on the increase. I would therefore suggest that in the next edition of this poem the erroneous calculation to which I refer should be corrected as follows: 'Every moment dies a man, and one and a sixteenth is born.' I may add that the exact figures are 1.167, but something must, of course, be conceded to the laws of rhythm."

"That's the Way They All Do."

An enthusiastic citizen about to visit Europe was rejoicing over the fact and the pleasure to come.

"How delightful it will be," he said to his wife, "to tread the bounding billows and inhale the invigorating oxygen of the sea, the sea, the boundless sea! I long to see it—to breathe in great drafts of life giving air. I shall want to stand every moment on the prow of the steamer with my mouth open."

"You probably will, dear," interrupted his wife encouragingly. "That's the way all the ocean travelers do."—Detroit News-Tribune.

FASHIONS IN A NUTSHELL.

Eiffel Tower Millinery and the Clothes-pin Skirts.

The new turbans look like millinery Eiffel towers. The crowns are made of iridescent silk or thick tulle, one color laid over the other, and the short straight brim that tilts down over the eyes is covered with heavy lace. This huge chimney, placed on top of a figure that is clothed in a skirt so tight that its wearer cannot step, does not make for a graceful silhouette.

Added to the hobble skirt with its bands around the ankle line there is now a voluminous drapery which swings from waist to knees. It is draped up in a way more or less attractive, and its manner of manipulation has given it the name of clothes-pin skirt.

Charming blouses are made of Persian gauze cut on peasant lines, loose and graceful, with three-quarter sleeves drawn into three inch cuffs of black satin which fit the arms. At the back there is a row of tiny brass buttons and at the hem a narrow frill of white chiffon. The neck is cut to the collar bone and finished with a three inch black satin band and frill of white chiffon.

Much has been written about the comfort of the one piece undergarments, but the three piece garments are now much in demand. The model illustrated consists of petticoat, drawers and corset cover, carried out in crossbarred muslin. This combination is very smart.

His Turn Came.

Ben Davis defeated President Madison for election to the Virginia house of delegates after Madison had left the White House. Old Davis, who seldom wore a coat, was sitting on a rail fence on the roadside in Greene county one morning when a young man dressed in dapper fashion and evidently from the city passed by.

"Good morning," said Davis, with the proverbial Virginia politeness.

To this the stranger paid no attention. In a few minutes, however, he came to a fork in the roads and was evidently in doubt which way he should go. He retraced his steps to where Davis still sat on the fence and asked him with great politeness if he could tell him which way led to Standardsville. Davis made no reply.

"Will you please tell me," the young man repeated, "which road I take to get to Standardsville?"

"You can," said Davis stolidly, "take any d—d road you please."—Popular Magazine.

A Lawyer's Paradise.

Naples, under Spanish rule in the eighteenth century, was overrun with lawyers. Of their profusion Joseph Addison had this to say:

"It is incredible how great a multitude of retainers to the law there are at Naples. It is commonly said that when Innocent XI. had desired the Marquis of Campio to furnish him with 30,000 head of swine the marquis answered him that for his swine he could not spare them, but if his holiness had occasion for 30,000 lawyers he had them at his service."

It seems to have been a golden age for lawyers, for, as the author says, "there are very few persons of consideration who have not a cause depending, for when a Neapolitan has nothing else to do he generally shuts himself up in his closet and falls a tumbling over his papers to see if he can start a lawsuit and plague his neighbors."—Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette.

The Wizard.

"It's a remarkable thing," said old Brightboy at tea time, "but I can push my saucer through the handle of my cup."

The others glanced at the small handle and gave the speaker a withering look.

"I can," persisted Brightboy.

"Do it, then," they challenged.

Calmly taking up his spoon, Brightboy passed it through the handle of the cup and then pushed the saucer with it.

A Complex Rest Cure.

"Bliggins is a very vociferous person."

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne, "but I don't blame him. The way a man of his mentality rests his nerves is by talking so loud he can't hear himself think."—Washington Star.
