RETURNS FROM COUNTRY

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

Roosevelt's Candidate Defeated in New York

DR. WOODROW WILSON WINS OUT

Massachusetts Elects Democratic Governor.—House Likely to be Given to Democrats Who Will Elect Cannon's Successor.

Returns, as far as they are available, of the elections all over the country are here given:

New York.—John A. Dix was elected governor by approximately 67,000 plurality. The returns also indicate a Democratic majority in the Legislature of 41 on joint ballot, insuring a Democrat to succeed Chauncey M. Depew in the United States Senate. New York representatives in the House are Republicans 14, Democrats 23 and 5 doubtful.

New Jersey.—Woodrow Wilson, formerly president of Princeton University, Democratic candidate, was elected governor. Democrats claim the Legislature. Congressional representatives, Democrats 7, Republicans 3.

Tennessee.—Returns delayed but the best opinion is that Hooper, Fusion nominee for governor has been elected. Taylor, Democrat, carried at least 20 counties. Congressional representatives, Democrats 8, Republicans 2.

Ohio.—Governor Harmon, Democrat, reelected. As to Congressmen it is reported that the state will be represented by 6 Republicans, 14 Democrats and 2 that are doubtful.

Massachusetts.—E. N. Foss, Democrat, Governor, by 30,000 majority. Senator Lodge's re-election is in danger. Congressional representatives, Republicans 10, Democrats 4.

Connecticut.—Latest returns show that Judge Simeon E. Baldwin, Democrat, was elected governor by 4,000 plurality. As to Congressmen it will be represented by 4 Republicans and 1 Democrat.

Pennsylvania.—Tener, Republican, elected governor by small majority. Out of the 32 Congressmen 20 are Republicans, 11 Democrats and 1 doubtful. The Democrats seem likely to control the House. They have made considerable gains in New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Iowa, as well as increasing their membership from Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, Ohio and Kentucky. Though the returns from many districts are still incomplete, they are assured of a substantial working majority and will elect the Speaker to succeed Joseph G. Cannon.

According to the statistics, Canada has received 1,445,288 new citizens in 10 years. Of this number 656,000 came from the British Isles, 497,000 from the United States, and the remainder from other countries.

INSURANCE COMMISSIONER

B. F. CROUSE IS DEAD

Prominent Carroll County Lawyer Succumbs to Long Illness.—Active Worker in State Politics.

Benjamin Franklin Crouse, State Insurance Commissioner, died at his home in Westminster at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the age of 56 years. He had been in ill health for more than a year, and during the summer spent a couple of months at Johns Hopkins Hospital. After he returned home his condition sometimes showed marked improvement, and only a few weeks ago he was able to drive about the city, but relapses occurred at intervals, and Monday he became critically ill and lapsed into unconsciousness, in which state he continued until the end came.

Mr. Crouse was a graduate of Western Maryland College, class of 1873, at which time he immediately began the study of law with the late Judge John E. Smith and Col. William A. McKellip, and was admitted to the bar of Carroll county in 1877. He began practice in the office of the late Judge William P. Maulsby, with whom he was associated for several years. Early in his career he was elected a member of the House of Delegates, and in that body manifested the qualities which subsequently brought him into prominence in the politics of Carroll county and of the State.

Eight big tanning and leather selling concerns, headed by the United States Leather Company, filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a request for discontinuance of increases from two cents to five cents per hundred pounds on leather, leather scrap, refuse, etc., imposed by several hundred railroads and water transportation companies.

MARYLAND ELECTION

Five Democrats Are Elected To Next Congress

CECIL COUNTY GOES DRY BY 904

Returns Indicate Triumph of Covington, Talbott, Konig, Linthicum, and Parran in 5th.

The returns from this state of the election on Tuesday shows the following results:

First District.—Covington, Democrat, carried all the counties except Somerset. His plurality over Dryden was 2,422.

Second District.—Talbott, Democrat, carried Baltimore county, defeating Baker by about 1,824 votes in the whole district.

Third District.—Konig, Democrat, elected over Maine, Republican.

Fourth District.—Linthicum, Democrat, defeated Mullikin.

Fifth District.—With Calvert vote not all in Parran's plurality is 205 over Ray, Democrat.

Sixth District.—Lewis' plurality is 860. The vote was as follows:

| COUNTIES   | Lewis, Dem. | Warner, Rep. |
|------------|-------------|--------------|
| Allegany   | 3,652       | 2,764        |
| Garrett    | 1,003       | 1,183        |
| Washington | 4,002       | 3,899        |
| Frederick  | 4,781       | 5,495        |
| Montgomery | 3,155       | 2,522        |

Totals.....16,003 15,863
Lewis' plurality, 740.

Weber, the socialist candidate, received 597 votes in Allegany. Thurmount gave Warner 368 votes and Lewis 146.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE AND RIOTS IN NEW YORK

Taxicab Drivers Go Out and Machines Wrecked.—Score Hurt in Fight.—Disorderly Expressmen.

One thousand drivers of taxicabs went out on a strike in New York on Monday. This action was one of sympathy for the expressmen who have been idle for some time. These last recruits wrecked the tires, engines and windows in at least 100 taxicabs and caused injury to 20 persons who had congregated to witness the renewed rioting.

Within an hour after the strike of the chauffeurs, at 7 o'clock in the morning, half a dozen machines were attacked by the strikers, their chauffeurs pelted with stones and the tires slashed. To make the damage more complete the strikers in several instances pulled the non-union chauffeurs from the seats on the cabs and destroyed the motors, either by causing a short-circuit or pounding them to pieces with heavy stones and rocks or breaking up the entire cars.

DEMOCRATS WILL CONTROL HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Senate Remains Republican.—Beveridge is Beaten in Indiana.—Other Election News from Country.

With the latest returns, and only a few districts are in doubt, the indications are that the Democrats have elected 227 members of Congress, the Republicans 163, while one Socialist-Democrat was elected from Milwaukee. This will give a Democratic majority of 63 in the House. The Democrats also seem likely to gain 9 or 10 Senators. Beveridge of Indiana, was defeated and the Democrats elected 12 out of 13 Indiana Congressmen. New York's legislature will be Democratic by a generous margin.

Political leaders and business men throughout the country blame Col. Roosevelt for the remarkable political upheaval of Tuesday.

Wants Cushions for Tramps.

Several of the oldest traditions of tramping were shattered last week by James Eads How, the "millionaire hobo" and national organizer of the Brotherhood Welfare Association. In an address before the members of the Chicago branch of the association he advocated shower baths, fumigation, work for the unemployed and "cushions" to ride on. Mr. How reported the association to be flourishing in St. Louis, Kansas City, Cincinnati and New York. He succeeded in securing a unanimous vote a resolution to appoint a committee to confer with railroad presidents regarding free transportation in passenger coaches to hoboes en route to points where labor is in demand. The committee also was empowered to start a movement toward a national free employment bureau.

It is reported that decided changes will be made in the Cabinet very soon. Ballinger and Knox are among those slated for a "good bye."

D. J. LEWIS, DEMOCRAT, ELECTED

Frederick County's Organization Could Not Stem The Tide of Votes.

The Sixth Congressional District will be represented in the next Congress by David J. Lewis, of Cumberland, who on Tuesday defeated B. H. Warner, Jr., by 740 plurality.

This makes Mr. Lewis the first Democrat in Congress from this section since 1892 when McKaig represented the Sixth District. Returns also indicate that Maryland will be represented by five Democrats and one Republican.

Election day weather was such as to promise a large vote in Emmitsburg district but the promise was not realized as will be shown further on in the figures of the vote cast. Republican organization men worked their hardest to help along the Frederick county majority for Warner which was to be his salvation in his fight against Lewis. Pre-election reports, sanguine and enthusiastic as they were, did not for a minute fool the "workers" here and elsewhere in the county. Warner's election was not so apparent to them as they would have it seem. His legal residence, etc., stood against him, and his selection by the Republicans as their candidate swung the Sixth district over into the Democratic column. The great Republican organization in Frederick county is therefore directly to blame for the defeat of elected Lewis. A few figures can better show this than any words.

When Lowndes was defeated by Smith for Governor the Republicans had some 600 votes the better in this district. In other years the Republican vote was some 5000 to the good here. This election shows that the Democrats have some 700 votes to spare.

The figures below show the vote in Emmitsburg district:

|                       | 1st Prec't | 2nd Prec't |
|-----------------------|------------|------------|
| Lewis                 | 180        | 112        |
| Warner                | 124        | 126        |
| Hendrickson           | 2          | 6          |
| Weber                 | 2          | 2          |
| Spoiled               | 7          | 3          |

A PROCLAMATION

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

HIS year of 1910 is drawing to a close. The records of population and harvests which are the index of progress show vigorous national growth and the health and prosperity well-being of our communities throughout this land and in our possessions beyond the seas. These blessings have not descended upon us in restricted measure, but overflow and abound. They are the blessings and bounty of God.

We continue to be at peace with the rest of the world. In all essential matters our relations with other peoples are harmonious, with an ever-growing reality of friendliness and depth of recognition of mutual dependence. It is especially to be noted that during the past year great progress has been achieved in the cause of arbitration and the peaceful settlement of international disputes.

Now, therefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, in accordance with the wise custom of the civil magistrate since the first settlements in this land, and with the rule established from the foundation of this government, do appoint Thursday, November 24, 1910, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, enjoining the people upon that day to meet in their churches for the praise of Almighty God and to return heartfelt thanks to Him for all His goodness and loving kindness.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and ten and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and thirty-fifth.

WM. H. TAFT.

By the President: ALVEY A. ADEE, Acting Secretary of State.

CARDINAL GIBBONS ON THANKSGIVING.

It is a source of great satisfaction to every devout Christian that the Chief Executive of the nation, as well as the Governors of the States, is accustomed once a year to invite the people of the United States to return thanks to God for His blessings to the country. The public act of our Chief Magistrate proclaiming the supreme dominion and providence of our Creator cannot fail to exert a salutary influence on our citizens at large, and to secure for us a continuance of divine favors.

Gratitude to God is a most acceptable form of prayer. It has been called the respiration of the soul. As in every human breast there are two movements—the one that inhales the air, the other that exhales it after it has enriched the blood—so should there be in every soul two movements—the one receiving gifts from the Holy Spirit, which invigorates our inner life, the other pouring forth those gifts in the form of thanksgiving. Every blessing we enjoy in the order of nature or grace is a gratuitous bounty of our Creator; "every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights."

But if we should be grateful to God for the benefit of creation, how much more beholden we are to Him for the Supernatural gift of redemption. We should give thanks to our Heavenly Father that we were not born and reared amid the darkness of idolatry, but in a civilized and Christian country; that we were nourished by Christian parents, and that we live under the benign influence of a Christian civilization. Above all, how grateful we ought to be that we have Christ, the Lord, for our Teacher who "is the power of God and the wisdom of God," whose knowledge surpasses that of the pagan philosophers immeasurably more than the light of the sun exceeds that of the flickering lamp. He teaches us not only by word, but by example also. He preaches to us not from the pages of the Gospel only, but also from the wood of the cross. He is not only our Teacher, but our Redeemer as well. He has brought us out of the darkness of idolatry to the admirable light of truth. "Ye were once darkness, but now light in the Lord." He has rescued us from spiritual poverty, that we might be rich in grace and in good works. He has delivered us from the bondage of sin, to enjoy the glorious liberty of the children of God.

If, therefore, we should be thankful for our temporal life, how much more for the supernatural life with which He has endowed us! If we should be grateful that He has sent His sun to shine on us, how much more that He has sent His Holy Spirit to illumine our mind and inflame our heart.

ON RURAL CONDITIONS

"Angel of The Hills" to Fashionable Audience

OUR CIVILIZATION IS A DREAM

Tells of Lives of People in Mountain and Farm Sections.—A Message to Arouse Our Indignation.

The campaign Miss Lydia Holman, the "Angel of The Hills," is waging to awaken people to a full realization of conditions now prevalent in the rural districts of the United States was opened in Baltimore on Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Holman addressed a fashionable audience at Hotel Belvedere.

The meeting opened with a few introductory remarks by Mr. Theodore Marburg, who acted as chairman. Briefly, he explained the work of Miss Holman, and spoke in high terms of her courage and heroism. He then introduced Dr. Charles W. Stiles, of Washington, D. C., who is leading the fight in America against the hookworm under the endowment of John D. Rockefeller. He said in part:

In some cases the boasted civilization of America is a dream. If you investigate conditions you will find that we are 50 or 60 years behind time. I wish to impress upon you that I am not talking of mountain or Southern regions alone. I am talking about the American tenant farms, not the landed proprietor, for that is the aristocracy of farming. I am talking of the farms all over the country, where the tenant supports a large family on $50 a year under the most filthy sanitary conditions. It (Continued on page 2.)

AEROPLANE CARRIES FREIGHT FROM DAYTON TO COLUMBUS

Wright Machine Makes Trip of Seventy Miles Carrying 200 Pounds of Silk from One Firm to Another.

Use of the aeroplane for freight carrying was first made Monday when Philip O. Parmalee, in a Wright biplane, made a record flight from Dayton to Columbus. Parmalee's cargo was two heavy bolts of silk, weighing 200 pounds, which he delivered from the Eller-Johnston store in Dayton to the Moorehouse-Martens store in Columbus. Covering the distance of approximately seventy miles in one hour and six minutes, he is believed to have established a new cross-country flight record, an average time of more than a mile a minute having been made.

Parmalee started from the Wright brothers aviation field, three miles north of Dayton, at 10.45 o'clock in the morning. He alighted at the Columbus Driving Park, just east of the city, at 11.51 o'clock. Thousands of people were there to greet him, this being the first aeroplane to enter that city.

PRESIDENT GIVES MEDAL TO OFFICER FOR BRAVERY

Action in Battle with Moros in Philippines in 1906.—Second Time Lieutenant Has Been Honored.

President Taft paid honor to the bravery of an American officer of cavalry Monday when, in the executive offices, he presented to Lieut. Gordon Johnston, of the Seventh Cavalry, the Congressional medal of honor for bravery in action. Gen. Leonard Wood, Chief of Staff, U. S. A., and several of the President's aids were present in full uniform.

Lieut. Johnston displayed particular bravery in an action with the Moros at Boddajo in 1906, volunteering to lead a forlorn hope against a Moro stronghold. He was severely wounded. Lieut. Johnston showed his quality at other times in the Philippines, and was twice commended for bravery.

Changes in Foreign Officials.

A new French cabinet has been organized by M. Briand, premier and minister of the interior. Theodore Girard, justice; Stephen Pichon, foreign affairs; General Brun, war; Boue de Lapeyriere marines; Maurice Faure, public institutions; M. Klotz, finance; Jean Dupuy, commerce; Maurice Raynaud, agriculture; M. Morel, colonies; Louis Lafferre, labor; M. Buech, public work.

The retirement of Viscount Morley, as secretary of state for India, made some changes in the British cabinet necessary. Morley will be lord president of the council, the Earl of Crewe, secretary of state for India, Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies.

Marked gains in the Socialist vote throughout New York state are shown in the returns from election. Figures available indicate a total vote for Charles Edward Russell, nominee for governor, of 65,000, which is nearly double the 33,994 vote of 1908. In New York city Russell received 27,230.

THE BIGGEST IN THE WORLD

OWNED BY UNCLE SAM

This Printer Cost $6,000,000 Annually.

FOUR MILLION PAID IN WAGES

Building Cost Two Million—Job Used Largest of its Kind—Ink Used by The Ton.—Entire Plant Valued at $16,000,000.

The biggest and best equipped printing plant in the world is the Government Printing Office at Washington. According to the American Press it costs Uncle Sam at least $20,000,000 a year to carry on his printing and publishing business. Of this $8,000,000 is expended in the printing of the literature and at least $12,000,000 for its preparation. There are a thousand different important books and pamphlets printed every year by the government, to say nothing of the large number of circulars, bills and other small jobs. There are several daily, a number of weekly and many monthly publications issued by the government.

The big building in which the big printing establishment is housed cost more than $2,000,000. The entire plant is valued at upward of $16,000,000. The aggregate number of pieces of printed matter sent out is so large that the officials no longer keep accurate account of them. As far back as 1907 55,000,000 pieces were turned out and 550,000 pages of type were set up. The appropriations for the big printing office amount to approximately $6,000,000 a year, which represents three-fourths of the printing expenses of the government.

In spite of the fact that every known practical labor saving machine is used at the government printing office, the force required is paid $4,000,000 a year and there is an appropriation of more than $300,000 for leaves of absence. It requires a million dollars' worth of paper and $600,000 worth of other material for a year's operations.

The job office is also the biggest of its kind in the world. It turns out more jobwork in a single day than the average plant can turn out in a full week. One room has about eighty linotype machines, the largest number to be found in a single room anywhere in the world. In another room are melting pots so large that they hold fifteen tons of molten metal. In another room presses are found whose combined output is more than 1,000,000 impressions every hour. Among all the eighty-seven presses in this room there is not a pulley or a belt in sight, each machine being operated by its own individual motor. The printer's ink is applied to forty tons of paper every eight hours. There are card presses which turn out 500,000 cards a day.

LATHAM FLIES OVER BALTIMORE WINS $5,000 PRIZE

Daring French Aviator Performs History-Making Feat Following Prescribed Course on Trip.

In brilliantly fine weather Lieutenant Hubert Latham, the French aviator, made a magnificent flight over Baltimore shortly after noon Monday in his Antoinette monoplane. Latham's flight is the greatest feat of its kind ever performed by the daring aviator. For the first time in the short history of aviation he followed a set course over a big city.

Latham is hailed on all sides as a hero who has accomplished the impossible, and, establishing a new record for over-city flight, has disclosed new possibilities in aviation.

The incentive for the flight was a prize of $5,000 offered by the Sun and the Evening Sun for a trip over a prescribed route from and returning to the aviation field and further he made a short detour for the benefit of Ross Winans, a wealthy invalid, who, unable to leave his home, offered an additional $500 if Latham would come within his range of vision. All this Latham accomplished, and into the program he injected some wonderful evolutions. Possibly four minutes covered the time that Latham spent near the Winans home. He curved round the Belvedere Hotel, flew to about the line of Calvert street, and there, some 2000 feet in the air, performed a series of aerial gyrations, wheeling back and forth for the edification of Mr. Winans.

The law passed in March, 1908, excluding automobiles from Bar Harbor, was declared to be constitutional in a rescript handed down by Associate Justice Whitehouse of the Maine Supreme Court.

Receipts and Fashions.

Fine Fruit Drops.

Cream one cupful of butter and one cupful and a half of sugar; add three eggs, a pinch of salt, two and a half cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of soda dissolved in one teaspoonful of hot water, three-quarters of a pound of dates cut fine, one-quarter of a pound of figs cut fine, one pound and a half of English walnuts, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, and a half teaspoonful of spice. Knead with the hands, roll in little balls, drop on buttered tins and bake in a hot oven.

Measured Angel Cake.

Take one glassful of the whites of eggs, which will be nine or eleven, according to size of eggs; add one teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a pinch of salt. Beat until stiff enough, so the dish can be turned upside down and the eggs will stay firm, then season. Stir together one cupful of flour and one and one-half cupfuls of sugar; into this fold the eggs lightly, so lightly that particles of beaten eggs can be seen as the mixture is turned into the baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven until a nice light brown.

Dark Fruit Cake.

One pound dried peaches, one pound prunes, washed and soaked twelve hours, then drained, stoned, and both fruits cut fine. Cream a half pound of butter, add one pound of sugar, five beaten eggs, the spices; add gradually three cupfuls of sifted pastry flour, the juice and grated rind of two oranges, a half teaspoonful of cloves, one teaspoonful of ginger, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, a half teaspoonful of salt, a half pound of chopped nuts, the fruit lightly dusted with flour, and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake it in a moderate oven for about three hours.

Sour Milk Griddle Cakes.

Beat two eggs very light without separating and add to them two cupfuls of thick sour milk, to which has been added one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a spoonful of boiling water. Stir in quickly one-half of a teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of molasses, and one tablespoonful of melted butter. Beat hard for a moment and bake at once. Unless the milk is very sour and the chemical action of the soda on it marked by a thorough foaming, it is well to add one-half of a teaspoonful of baking powder in order to overcome any tendency to heaviness.

Oatmeal Wafers.

Cream a half cupful of butter and one cupful of sugar. Add one beaten egg and gradually beat in one cupful of sugar and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Dissolve one level teaspoonful of baking soda in a tablespoonful of warm water and add to the mixture with two tablespoonfuls of milk. Work in sufficient rolled oats to make a very stiff dough and knead thoroughly. Roll out in as thin a sheet as possible and cut into squares or any shape desired. Lift carefully, place on slightly greased pans, and bake in a moderate oven until thoroughly done, light brown and crisp.

Feminine Fashions and Fads.

Some very attractive dark-toned fall gingham and zephyrs have been brought out to meet the requirements of winter indoor wear.

Many pretty sleeves are seen on new coats, somewhat larger than heretofore, and they are frequently finished with a deep, turnback cuff.

The fine real Irish insertions are much used upon children's handsome little frocks, with real elany for second choice among the heavy laces and with Valenciennes as popular as ever.

Black mother-of-pearl beads in regular all-over designs are dainty in effect and nets beaded with them are at present much used in flounce effects.

Black is expected to be particularly strong for evening wear made up over plain or figured satins and taffetas, chiffons and metallic effect fabrics.

Some of the new beaded nets are in all-over patterns and very attractive. The gold beads in small designs and sunburst effects seem to be most popular.

In veilings a reaction in favor of smaller patterns has set in. The grotesque designs of the summer were certainly striking, but in a most unpleasant manner.

The new fashions continue to be modeled on the narrow silhouette of the late summer models. From two to two and a half yards is now considered the correct width at the hem.

NARROW ESCAPE OF AERONANT HOXSEY AT BALTIMORE

Glided 3700 Feet to Earth With Dead Engine. Turned Somersault And Was Not Hurt in Accident.

Aeronant Hoxsey, in a Wright machine, in an attempt to break the world's record for altitude at Baltimore on Wednesday, made a narrow escape from being killed.

When at an altitude of 5330 feet his engine got balky and the machine fell 2000 feet before the engine started again only to go "dead" immediately after. The Wright aeroplane in which Hoxsey was riding weighs 1200 pounds and it fell the other 3000 feet in a few minutes but the man handled his planes so nicely that he lighted without injury except to his machine.

FROM THE PRESS.

Some Comments Political After The Election.

It ought to be mentioned here for future reference that William R. Hearst was not elected Lieutenant-Governor of New York.

William R. Hearst says he is glad that Roosevelt was buried in the ruins. He fails to mention his feelings concerning himself.

Please note that such large States as Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Delaware are still in the Republican column.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"For the Democrats it never rains but it pours. This is only another way of repeating Mr. Tilden's oft-quoted saying that it requires a revolution to unseat the party in power and to bring in the opposition.

"Nevertheless, whilst exhilarating to Democrats, out in the cold so long and so used to defeat that they can scarcely realize the actuality and the meaning of victory, the vote of Tuesday should strengthen the faith of all thoughtful Americans in the virtue and intelligence of the people and therefore in the stability of free institutions under the representative form of government.

"Happily the situation is decisive; the vote of Tuesday was national and pervasive. It shows no geographic limitation. It is a universal protest of the masses against partisan intolerance, extortion and broken promises. It is a vote of censure upon a most well-intentioned administration and a patriotic President, who were better Chief Justices than Chief Magistrates. It is something more than a threat of dismissal of a party oligarchy which has grown reckless of power; its leaders thinking they held the world in a sling; it shows that, after all, when fairly aroused, the people do rule, that God still reigns and that the Government of our fathers, of the Constitution and the law, the established order of the Congress, the court and the executive, yet lives and is to continue to live, at Washington."—Henry Watterson in Louisville Courier-Journal.

For 14 years the Democratic party has been a derision to the heathen. It has been shut up in the Bedlam of Bryanism. At last it is discharged cured. It has become again the hope of conservative men, as the Republican party was in 1896. Its strength today lies in the best and soundest doctrines of its greatest days; its reverence for the Constitution, strictly interpreted; its attachment to State rights; its hatred of Federal interference and its dread of the extension of Federal power. Whatever errors and innovations have crept into its creeds, it now stands the defender of the Constitution and of self-government according to the Constitution. It has once more leaders who command national respect. It is strong, capable, victorious, apparently equal to the responsibilities of power. This has been altogether too long a one-party country. It is so no longer.—New York Sun.

There is no partisan Democratic victory in the ordinary sense of that term. While it is a defeat for the Taft administration and for the Republican party, it is particularly a defeat for Theodore Roosevelt and his 1912 ambitions. It was brought about by the help of Republicans who were dissatisfied with the record of the Taft administration and the Aldrich-Cannon revision of the tariff. But it was also brought about by hundreds of thousands of patriotic Republicans who still believe in the Constitution of the United States, who still uphold the Supreme Court, and who will tolerate no third-term ambitions in any man, whatever the party name that masks his pretensions.

The World repeats now what it said time and again during the campaign. Republican victory would have been a Roosevelt victory. Republican defeat is a Roosevelt defeat. When the Republican convention of 1912 looks for this mysterious Moses whom Elihu Root has so eloquently described it will not look in the direction of Oyster Bay.—New York World.

JUDGE BALDWIN DECLARES HE WILL SUE ROOSEVELT

Governor Elect of Connecticut Resents Certain Pre-Election Remarks.—Going to Teach Him Law.

Judge Simeon E. Baldwin, just elected as governor of Connecticut in replying to the congratulations of this class in the Yale Law School on his election, reiterated his intention of bringing action against former President Roosevelt because of certain statements reported to have been made by the latter concerning Judge Baldwin's attitude on workmen's compensations, Judge Baldwin said: "I thank you gentlemen. I stand before you as an instructor rather than as a politician. But I will say that in my campaign I was assisted by a controversy I had with a certain ex-president, and I have come to the conclusion that this ex-president knows less law than you and I do, and I am going to teach him some."

is there that we find conditions so deplorable as to be past credence; where we find undevelopment that is terrible. We send missionaries to China, India and Japan when we have appalling conditions like these at our very door. You rave over the evil of child marriage in foreign countries, when I tell you that we have 5,000 registered marriages every year in those places of girls under 15 years of age. The country laughed at President Theodore Roosevelt when he appointed a commission to investigate conditions there. It was one of the greatest acts of a great man.

When Mr. Marburg introduced Miss Holman he could not conceal his enthusiasm, and he spoke with great fervor of the work she had been doing. A burst of applause greeted her as she faced her audience and said:

"I bring you a message which should fill you with the deepest and most heartfelt indignation. It is a tale of ignorance, wretchedness and horrible sanitary conditions which are almost past belief. I will not tell you of my own exploits, but I wish you to hear something of the conditions in the rural districts of America. It is not confined to any special locality, nor will you find it in the cities of the South, because the greater part of the Southland is a rural community. To find these conditions you must leave the railroad tracks and the beaten highways, and go back to the farms where men exist under circumstances of such loathsome description that it thrills the blood with horror. The men there know nothing of the Federal government. They vote because the drunken political boss of the district tells them to, but they don't know what they are doing.

"The women work like slaves and their office as wives is not so dignified as that of the family cow. They resent the invasion of the reformers from the North, and, God help them, they are satisfied with their surroundings. Your preachers and your schoolteachers are well enough, but to secure adequate reform the trained nurse is the only proper agent to effect a reformation. I have said enough of the conditions there to enable you to understand their real extent. A woman of 30 there is, in point of physical development, practically as old as our women at 60 and 70. It is not uncommon for a dozen people to sleep in one little, filthy cabin containing one room and no windows. Tuberculosis, hookworm and every other horrible disease is rampant there, and instead of building schools and furnishing education for foreign heathen, it is our duty to help the wretchedness at our very doors, even as it is written, 'Thine own people.'"

SCHOOL SEED CORN TESTS.

Recommended by Department of Agriculture as Exercise For Children.

Seed corn testing as a school exercise, especially in the rural districts, is recommended in a bulletin issued by the United States department of agriculture for the following reasons: First, it furnishes an easy and interesting study in seed germination and plant growth; second, the extended use of a good method has vast economic value in improving the productivity of American agriculture, and, third, the teaching of it in the rural school exerts a strong influence toward increasing the confidence of parents in the permanent worth of good school work.

The only materials needed are a shallow wooden tray, a small handful of carpet tacks, a few yards of wrapping twine, sand enough to fill the tray and three or four quarts of water. The tray (or several of them) can easily be sawed from an empty soap or cracker box. When finished it should be about one and one-half inches deep inside, fifteen inches wide and twenty-three inches long, but any of these dimensions may be varied slightly. This tray is divided into small squares by a checkerboard lacing of twine across the top. It is convenient to have these squares about one and one-half inches on a side, ten of them in a row across the narrow way of the tray and fifteen the other way. The lacing with the string should not be done until the tray has been loosely filled with dry sand heaped up a little above its top edge. Then the sand should be scraped off with a yardstick or other straight edge even with the top of the tray. After lacing with the string the tray is ready for planting.

Have the children arrange the ears to be tested in rows of ten to correspond with the rows of squares across the tray. These rows of ears should be kept in a dry, warm place on the floor, on corn racks or on shelves, where it can be certain that they will not be disturbed or displaced until the test is finished.

When ready to begin the test, two children can work to the best advantage, one to handle the individual ears and the other to plant the tray. The first takes up ear No. 1 in the first row and, with the point of a pocket knife applied to the edge of a kernel, removes five kernels from each ear, passes them to the second pupil and carefully replaces the ear in its row. The kernels should be taken in succession (taking only those of average size) from about an inch above the base of the ear to the same distance below its tip, passing spirally around and lengthwise of the ear. This insures a fair test of the whole ear, as it sometimes happens that one side or one end of an ear is sound, while the others will not grow. The illustration shows a few ears with kernels removed in this spiral fashion. Full directions for the conduct of the test are given in the bulletin.

Dairy Doings.

Sameness in feed is no more conducive to appetite in the cow than in the human, and appetite is essential to big production.

Treat your calves with consideration. They should have grazing, plenty of water and enough skim milk and grain to form a balanced ration.

Kicking is very frequently caused by sore teats, inflamed udders, long finger nails and possibly at times by the general awkwardness of the milker.

The dairy barnyard should have good slope, such as will insure good surface drainage, and should have a good top layer of gravel or cinders.

When buying cows for the dairy select those having every indication of being milk producers, but determine this positively by the use of the Babcock test and the scale.

It is not the way the cream is separated from milk, but the way it is handled after being separated, which determines the quality of butter it will make. If kept until it ferments it will make poor butter.

Lunch Room Repartee.

The young man with the iron cheek entered the quick lunch room and seated himself at the third table.

"Belinda," he called familiarly, "you look fresh this morning."

"Not half as fresh as some others," retorted the pretty waitress, with an elevation of her nose.

"Well, well! Have you calf brains?" "If I did you wouldn't order them, for you have an oversupply now."

"My, but you are getting good for the matinee! With the high price of meats eggs come in handy these days, don't they?"

"No; they come in crates."

"Wow! Did you ever hear the story of the incubator chick? It's not out yet."

"That will do, sonny. Did you ever hear the story of the cold porridge? Well, it's on you!"

There was an unexpected tilting of a dish, and the young man with the iron cheek was showered with oatmeal.—Boston Post.

Consolation.

A little girl of thirteen or so found herself one day possessed of a new emotion—a desire to be pretty. She struggled with it, but finally went to the long mirror in the hall and for the first time in her life looked at herself critically from head to foot. She saw what most girls see at thirteen—a lanky creature, mostly legs and arms, hands and feet. It hurt her, and she went out of doors to think it over. Thought resulted in tears, and in tears she was found half an hour later by her particular chum, a boy near her own age. Anxious inquiry as to why she was crying induced her to speak.

"Oh, Harold," she wailed, "I've just looked at myself in the glass, and I'm so homely!"

The boy was puzzled, but sympathetic, and made an effort at consolation. He looked at her a minute, then awkwardly patted her, saying soothingly:

"Not homely, Alice; just funny looking."—New York Times.

Doesn't Know Her Age.

There is a glaring phase of unfairness in the position of the two sexes, despite all our struggles for the suffrage. A woman still dreads to tell her age, no matter how youthful she may look, while as long as a man looks youthful he is generally willing to admit and even to boast of how many milestones he has passed. There is at least one father who understood this problem in time and who gave his daughter a fair chance in life by never letting her know how old she was. He realized at her birth that a time would come when she would not want to tell her age, and he spared her the humiliation of having to prevaricate, so she was never told either her age or the place where she was born, and there were no birth records preserved in the family.—New York World.

Tearing a Proverb to Tatters.

One of our correspondents, to whom so far as we can remember we never did any injury, sends us the following: Carlyle said that genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains. We venture to think this definition appropriate to a clerk.

But in a doctor genius is an infinite capacity for slaking pains.

In a commercial traveler, for taking trains.

In a literary man, for raking brains.

In a sanitary engineer, for making drains.

And in a Don Juan, for forsaking Janes.

Oscar Wilde's once briefer and more obvious, "Genius," he said, "is an infinite incapacity for taking pains."—London News.

Shopping Troubles.

"Tomorrow is my wife's birthday, and I want to buy a present that will tickle her."

"We have a nice line of feather boas."

"No, no. I mean something that would make a hit with her."

"Anything in hammers?"

"You misunderstand. I want something striking that—"

"Ah, you wish a clock."

"That's all."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Permanent.

"Mr. Smith," spoke up the young lawyer, "I come here as a representative of your neighbor, Tom Jones, with the commission to collect a debt due him."

"I congratulate you," answered Mr. Smith, "on obtaining so permanent a job at such an early stage in your career."—Success Magazine.

Hardly.

A Sunday school teacher, after reading the story of Ananias and Sapphira to the juvenile class, asked, "Now, children, why doesn't the Lord strike everybody dead who tells a lie?"

"Cause," answered a bright little fellow, "there wouldn't be anybody left hardly."—Chicago News.

Must Be Rich.

"He must have money."

"What makes you think so?"

"He never takes the thirty days' grace allowed on his life insurance premiums."—Detroit Free Press.

A Fair Inference.

Joe—For years I used to get up at 6, breakfast at 8, dinner at 1, tea at 6 and bed at 10, and I never felt better in my life. Bill—Joe, what were you in for?—London Telegraph.

The slander of some people is as great a recommendation as the praise of others.—Fielding.

Red Tape and Matrimony.

Some of the reasons why a Frenchman may not marry are given by a correspondent of a Paris newspaper. He has been trying to get married for three years and has not yet succeeded. French marriage law is a tricky thing to deal with. If the prospective bridegroom has not lived more than six months at his address at the time of the marriage he must get a certificate signed by the landlord and concierge of every house where he has lived previously till he gets back to one where he did live for six months. Birth certificates are required and the written consent of parents.

As no paper must bear a date more than two months old, it often happens that the marriage must be postponed to get the papers renewed. The man who had been felled for three years once succeeded in making all his papers correct, when he was called up for his periodical term of military service, and this threw his papers out of date.

Another time he arrived before the mayor with his bride, but the ceremony was not performed, as a certificate of his first wife's death was not forthcoming.

Fascination of the Third Rail.

"You can talk all you want about the way some people want to jump off tall buildings, but the men who walk the elevated tracks can sympathize with them," said a man the other day whose business it is to work along the elevated railroad lines and see that everything is in good condition.

"Trackwalkers often have the same impulse to step on the third rail that climbers have to jump. You walk along and see that shining glisten on it, and watch the sunlight glisten on it, and then the thought comes to you, 'If I step on that it will kill me,' and then you wonder how it would feel to just put your toe on it. Of course a fellow shakes those ideas off his mind, but they keep coming back, and I have known more than one man who has quit his job because he was afraid that he couldn't fight off much longer the impulse to stand on the track and put the other foot on the third rail, and when I hear of a trackwalker being killed by the third rail I wonder if the fascination of the third rail got the better of him."—New York Sun.

The Title "Esquire."

The title "esquire" is derived from the French word écuyer (a shield bearer) and originated in the old days of chivalry, when, as is well known, each knight appointed one or more persons of gentle birth to carry his shield and perform other honorable services. These persons were known as squires, or, more accurately, esquires, and were of such birth as would permit of their being in their turn created knights when they should have merited the distinction by deeds of valor or otherwise. In the reign of Richard II. the status of an esquire was granted for the first time by letters patent as a title of honor merely, no duties being attached. This method of creation is now obsolete, but it marks an advanced stage in the decay of chivalry, which decay resulted in the titles "knight" and "esquire" becoming wholly honorary.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Lazy Man.

A worthy old citizen of Newport who had the reputation of being the laziest man alive among "them hilllocks," so lazy, indeed, that he used to weed his garden in a rocking chair by rocking forward to take hold of the weed and backward to uproot it, had a way of fishing peculiarly his own. He used to drive his old white faced mare to the spot where the tautog (blackfish) might be depended on for any weight, from two to twelve pounds, backed his gig down to the water side, put out his line and when the tautog was safely hooked started the old mare and pulled him out.

A Slight Difference.

Undue rapidity of speech or indistinct utterance often leads to curious misunderstandings. An instance of this is given by Walter Seymour in his "Ups and Downs of a Wandering Life." "A clergyman," he says, "was sent for by a sick old parishioner who was not a churchgoer and who was deaf. The clergyman said: 'What induced you to send for me?' 'What does he say?' said the man to his wife. 'He says why the deuce did you send for him?'"

A Patron.

"Mr. Carriman is very busy now," said the private secretary of the railroad president. "Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Oh," replied the pompous visitor, "just a friendly call. I thought he'd like to know that I ride on his suburban branch now. I'm Colonel Nutt."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Similarity.

"What a noisy thing that bass drum is!" remarked the clarinet disjunctly.

"Yes," replied the trombone; "just like a human being, isn't it?"

"Like a human being?"

"Yes; it's the one with the big head that makes the most noise."—London Telegraph.

Shaking Hands.

Few people know how to shake hands well. The general run of folk either give a limp paw and allow it to be shaken or else grasp yours in theirs and nearly dislocate it with their violence.—London World.

The wise are polite all the world over; fools are polite only at home.—Bacon.

How to Open a Can of Corn.

One of the smallest of the little girls in a West Philadelphia family had often assisted her mother in preparing the meals. She observed that her mother, who was rather hasty, always talked to herself when she had any difficulty in opening cans of vegetables. The little girl thought that the hastiness was a part of the operation.

"One day she was visiting a neighbor and went into the kitchen to help prepare a meal.

She watched the neighbor take a can of corn, apply the opener and remove the top.

"That's not the way to open a can of corn," said the little girl.

"Why, what other way is there?" asked the neighbor.

"Well, you take the can of corn and start to open it, and then you bear down and the opener slips. Then you say 'Darn this can!' and finish it. That's the way my mother opens a can of corn."—Philadelphia Times.

Diamonds to Lampblack.

You may purchase equal quantities of carbon for 5 cents or a million dollars. A bargain hunter might invest a nickel and get a package of pure lampblack. The million would secure a blazing diamond, easily turned into lampblack; not so easily—intense heat would be required. However, coal and wood are really more valuable than diamonds. They surrender life giving heat, while the only use so far discovered for diamonds is to cut glass, and for this carborundum is a good substitute. All diamonds in existence could be annihilated without loss to mankind; but, then, to vaporize diamonds would be costly, as the enormous heat of 12,632 degrees F. in the concentration of an electric furnace would be required, and then you might get enough graphite to make a lead pencil or a little fine stove polish.—Edgar Lucien Larkin in Nautilus.

Mystery of the Egg.

An egg for one thing is a succession of bags, bagged up in one another, a series of envelopes enveloped in one another, bags and envelopes without joints, seams or openings. Puppets, ships built up and full rigged in bottles, flies in amber, are simply simplified itself as puzzles when it comes to how these bags wrap one another up, bag in bag. In a hen's egg there are eight or nine or ten of the sacks in sacks ensacked. Everybody thinks he knows what an egg is, and after weary reading and study in many languages he only begins to learn that nobody knows a tiny fraction of all the world of secrets and mysteries hidden in an egg. "As full of meat as an egg" is not the true comparison, but "as full of mystery as an egg" is nearer the truth. Eggs are the greatest puzzle in all nations.—New York Press.

Poor Pay, Poor Preach.

Once upon a time there was an Indian named Big Smoke. A white man, encountering Big Smoke, asked him what he did for a living.

"Umph!" said Big Smoke. "Me preach."

"That so? What do you get for preaching?"

"Me git ten dollar a year."

"Well," said the white man, "that's d—d poor pay."

"Umph!" said Big Smoke. "Me d—d poor preach!"

So runs the world—poor pay, poor preach.—Minneapolis Tribune.

"Eating Crow."

The term "eating crow" comes from an ante-revolutionary story. A soldier of an English regiment stationed in Virginia shot a pet crow belonging to a farmer. The latter entered a complaint with the colonel, who sentenced the soldier to eat the crow. The farmer was left alone with the soldier to see that he did it. After the soldier had consumed a portion of the bird he took his gun, presented it at the farmer and told him to eat the remainder of the crow or he would shoot him. This was the origin of the eating crow story.

Didn't Awe Him.

The members of a Greek letter fraternity from a southern university were being shown through the library of congress. They were apparently stricken dumb with admiration of the beauties of the building. But the atmosphere of awe was dissipated when one of the party, a red headed youth, exclaimed fervently:

"Gee, fellows! Wouldn't this make a dandy frat house?"—St. Louis Republic.

The Old Problem.

"This magazine looks rather the worse for wear."

"Yes; it's the one I sometimes lend to the servant on Sundays."

"Doesn't she get tired of reading always the same one?"

"Oh, no. You see, it's the same book, but it's always a different servant."

No Cause For Worry.

Painter to the Cause For Worry. Now carry this picture to the exhibition gallery, but be careful, for the paint is not quite dry yet. Servant—Oh, that's all right. I'll put on an old coat.—Fliegende Blätter.

Both Exempt.

"Do your daughters help their mother with the housework?"

"We wouldn't think of expecting it. Muriel is temperamental and Zaza is intense."—Pittsburg Post.

Not Acquired.

N. Read—How you stutter! Did you ever go to a stammering school? J. Terry—N-n-no, sir. I d-d-d this n-naturally.—Brooklyn Life.

DAVID J. LEWIS, CONGRESSMAN.

"My almost inexpressible gratitude is due to my friends in the district and the splendid Democracy in each county which has achieved this wonderful result."

"I feel very humble over it all when I realize my poor ability to achieve for the people of the Sixth Congressional district what they have so generously accomplished for me."

This is just the kind of a statement one would have expected from the little Alleganian who, in the face of tremendous odds, fought his way to victory at the polls on Tuesday—David J. Lewis, the next Congressman from the Sixth Congressional district.

Mr. Lewis' victory, among other things, clearly demonstrates the power of the independent vote; it proves that the people, irrespective of party, are doing their own thinking, and that the day is fast waning when petty partisanship can be made to take the place of conviction.

The voters of the Sixth district have put their trust in David J. Lewis—the man of the people and the people's man—and they look to him, as they have a perfect right to do, to be ever mindful of the material interests and the general welfare of the large and important territory he will represent at Washington.

That Mr. Lewis will assume his new duties with the earnest desire and firm determination to merit the confidence reposed in him we have no doubt whatever. We believe that he will be faithful to his trust and that he will be an honest and impartial representative of all the people of Western Maryland.

THE PRESIDENT'S COW.

O Pauline Wayne, O Pauline Wayne, of Holstein breed and Fresian strain, thou art not like the common cow, that feeds from dingy, dusty mow. Thy dainty feet ne'er touch the mud, on White House lawn thou chew'st thy cud, and lackeys, gloved and liv'ried bright, are sworn by oath to treat thee right. Thine eyes on stained glass windows fall, and plush lined is thy roomy stall. Spring water's served thee every day, and silver pitched forks bear thy hay. Embroidered blankets drape thy form, and keep thy blood full free and warm. Thy silken sides are shined like gloss, and surely never was there "boss," that fares like thee in thine estate. Say, Pauline, is thy lot not great?

HAIL TO THE PORKER.

All hail to the heavy young hog, the four footed hog's what we mean, no bird ever flew and no fish ever swam, that is up to his notch we ween. Just think of the boon to the fam'ly, just think of the joy that he brings, when measured in terms of good sausage, of bacon and other good things. What e'er would we do, then, without him, throughout the long cold winter days, what else could we find that is able, to be cooked in so many old ways? You may talk of the ox, and the lamblet, of veal—and they all have their place, but hog with boiled hominy's glorious, it leads all the rest in the race. So here's to the hog and the hoglet, and here's to the hominy choice, we'll sing of their virtues and value as long as we have any voice.

THE LIBRARY.

It is to be hoped that the sale for the benefit of the Emmitsburg Public Library, to be held at the Library room on Saturday, November 19th, will be very generously patronized by all. The proceeds from this sale, as from previous sales, go towards the fund for general expenses and the purchasing of new books—an object worthy the support of the entire community. This little library (one of the best in Maryland, according to the State Librarian) gives pleasure to many people, but its scope of usefulness should be very greatly enlarged. This can only be done through the interest and support of those who are not already contributing members. The annual fee for membership is nominal and if one has not the time to read even one book a year (and this has been the plea of some who are not members) one could contribute much happiness to some one else by becoming a subscriber and giving the membership card to a person who is not able to join. It should be understood that this library is a public institution and that every officer not only serves without remuneration but pays the same dues and fines as any one else, contributing to it in addition much time and much careful attention.

The sale will be held, as stated, on Saturday afternoon and evening. Patronize it, contribute something towards it, and if you are not already a member, become one.

THE people of Emmitsburg would be glad to hear that the Burgess and Commissioners of the Corporation had decided to put new material on the streets where it is needed. Unless the work is begun without delay, however, there will be little chance of accomplishing much this season. At this time a few loads of coarse gravel judiciously placed would not only add very much to the appearance of the public thoroughfares, but also save greater expenditure in the Spring.

THE outside of the Capital at Washington got a good cleansing the other day. The only thing necessary to complete the job is to wait until Congress convenes and then go after the inside also.

"ROOSEVELT Full of Spirits," is the head line in an exchange. And all the time we were under the impression that T. R. was for temperance. You can never tell.

THE actors' trust no doubt read with feelings of great delight the account of that three months' sentence given a groceryman for selling bad eggs.

THE people of the Sixth would not concur in the attempt to establish the pernicious precedent of foisting a District of Columbia candidate into Congress.

WESTERN Maryland is making ready to hand Candidate Warner a big majority.—Baltimore American, Oct. 17th.

Evidently these preparations were not completed in time, judging from the returns.

LET'S see, what was the name of the man who coined that expression, "Beaten to a frazzle?"

POEMS FOR NOVEMBER

Selections for Use in Public Schools of The County.

The following poems have been prepared for use in the first three grades of public schools of the county, for the month of November, by Miss Ella V. Kreig, primary supervisor:

November.

The leaves are fading and falling, The winds are rough and wild, The birds have ceased their calling, But let me tell you, my child,—

Though day by day, as it closes, Doth darker and darker grow, The roots of the bright red roses Will keep alive in the snow.

And when the winter is over, The boughs will get new leaves, The quail come back to the clover, And the swallow back to the eaves.

The robin will wear on his bosom A vest that is bright and new, And the loveliest wayside blossom Will shine with the sun and dew.

The leaves today are whirling, The brooks are all dry and dumb, But let me tell you, my darling, The spring will be sure to come.

There must be rough, cold weather, And wind and rains so wild, Not all good things together Come to us here, my child.

So, when some dear joy loses Its beautiful summer glow, Think how the roots of the roses Are kept alive in the snow.

—ALICE CAREY.

Thanksgiving Day.

Over the river and through the woods, To grandfather's house we go; The horse knows the way To carry the sleigh Through the white and drifted snow.

Over the river and through the wood Oh! how the wind does blow! It stings the toes And bites the nose, As over the ground we go.

Over the river and through the wood, To have a first-rate play. Hear the bells ring, "Ting-a-ling-ding," Hurrah for Thanksgiving Day!

Over the river and through the wood, Trot fast my dapple gray! Spring over the ground, Like a hunting hound! For this is Thanksgiving Day.

Over the river and through the wood, And straight through the barnyard gate, We seem to go Extremely slow,— It is so hard to wait.

Over the river and through the wood Now grandmother's cap I spy! Hurrah for the fun! Is the pudding done? Hurrah for the pumpkin pie!

—LYDIA MARIA CHILD.

Just As He Said.

Ferrol—I can't get any speed out of that motor car you sold me. You told me you had been arrested six times in it.

Hobart—So I was, old chap, for obstructing the highways.—Tit Bits.

Getting Used To It.

"Is your daughter getting on well with her music?"

"I guess so. The neighbors are getting so they speak to me civilly again."

—Cleveland Leader.

Closefist—I saw a magician last night who made $10 bills disappear as though they had never existed.

Spendit—Huh! I can do that.—Philadelphia Record.

STATE MISCELLANY

Interesting Paragraphic News From Various Sections of Maryland.

Deep snows and fierce gales caused much damage throughout the State.

The Bonton Millinery establishment of Simon Kochman, Cumberland, was destroyed by fire on Sunday, Loss $15,000, insurance $6,000.

The Hagerstown Ministerial Association appointed Rev. J. Poyntz Tyler, Rev. J. M. Tombaugh and Rev. R. L. Wright to arrange a laymen's missionary movement there soon.

The Maryland State Dairymen's Association, the Farmer's League of Maryland and other kindred agricultural associations of the State will hold a joint convention in Baltimore on November 28.

Farmers near Cambridge have about finished digging their sweet potatoes and as a rule, have good crops. The best yield so far reported is that of Alvah Lane. He dug 2800 five-eighths baskets from four and one-half acres.

The field work of the Maryland Shellfish Commission has been practically finished. During the past summer the commission has been engaged in surveying the waters of Dorchester and Talbot counties.

In an opinion written by Chief Judge Hammond Urner, and concurred in by Judge Motter and Henderson, filed in the clerk's office, the State Undertaker's law requiring those in the business outside of Baltimore to take out a license was declared unconstitutional.

Mayor Mahool has decided to ask Census Director Durand in Washington for a re-enumeration in Baltimore basing his request on the fact that 1,000 dwellings were closed during the summer at the time the census was taken, and the occupants out of the city.

Articles of incorporation of the Harmony Reformed congregation of Frederick county were filed in the Clerk's office. The trustees and incorporators are Charles C. Coblentz, Samuel C. Brandenburg, George E. Castle, Ralph I. Brandenburg and Rev. George A. Snyder.

The general committee on Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church ended its annual meeting at Baltimore and will meet next year at Denver, Col., in November. At the sessions just closed the work of making appropriations for all the foreign mission fields for 1911 was perfected. It was decided to ask the church throughout the United States for $1,500,000 to prosecute the mission work next year.

Lonaconing is organizing a Board of Trade and has already held one meeting of the citizens of the town in the interest of the project. A committee was appointed to draft rules and by-laws for the government of the organization, and speeches were made by a number of prominent citizens. Pleased with this action on the part of its prominent citizens, the Lonaconing Club, a social organization, surprised the gentlemen who are organizing the Board of Trade by inviting all from the meeting to an oyster supper.

The hearing of D. Webster Groh, Jr., teacher in the commercial department of the Washington County High School who shot Frazier F. Logan, who was trespassing while hunting on the farm of Groh's father, near Roxbury, Saturday, was given Wednesday afternoon by Justice Hartle. Ralph Wolfe, one of the five youths who were trespassing Saturday on Groh's farm while hunting, and who escaped after Bruce Beatty, Leonard Ohler and Noah Gish had been arrested by D. Webster Groh, Sr., a game warden, and fined $1 each, was given a trial Monday afternoon and fined $1.

Mrs. Sarah Tucker has obtained a temporary injunction restraining her son, E. F. Tucker, from removing her husband, Daniel Tucker, from his home in the Sugar Loaf Mountains. The plaintiff alleged that her husband is 92 years old and has been living in his mountain home for more than 10 years, and to remove him will endanger his life. Recently the elder Tucker inherited about $25,000, and his son, Edward Tucker, was appointed his agent. Until his windfall came Mr. Tucker occupied a lonely cabin almost without comforts. His son asserts that he desires to provide his father with a more suitable abode. The court has given the defendant the right to move for a dissolution of the injunction after five day's notice.

At a conference between representatives of the New York Central Iron Company, of Geneva, N. Y., and a committee of the Merchants and Manufacturer's Association of Hagerstown, relative to the removal of the company's plant to Hagerstown the company made a proposition which is being favorably entertained. The corporation asks that citizens of Hagerstown subscribe for $150,000 of preferred 7 per cent. cumulative stock, the company to take $100,000 of common stock putting in its entire assets at this latter figure and getting three directors; the citizens also to have three. Officers of the company say it has been earning 8 per cent. on $100,000. It is estimated that a modern plant would cost about $100,000 and that five acres of ground would be needed for a site.

SECRETARY OF WAR SAYS PHILIPPINES ARE ALL RIGHT

Conditions on Far-Away Islands Are Improving and People Generally Very Well Satisfied.

Secretary Dickinson was at his desk in the War department Tuesday busily engaged in the preparation of a report upon his trip around the world, with special reference to conditions in the Philippines. This he expects to have ready for submission to the President upon the return of Mr. Taft from Panama. He worked on this report during his long trip over the trans-Siberian Railroad while returning to America.

The secretary was well pleased with the situation he found in the Philippines. The people, he said, were generally satisfied and were prospering. Herefused to give his views upon the subject of independence for the archipelago. The school system is working well, he says.

He was particularly pleased with the developments of the judiciary and spoke in terms of high praise of the prisons. The army, as a whole, he found enjoying good health.

Work on the fortification of Manila harbor is progressing rapidly, the principal point of defense being Corregidor Island, at the entrance.

Tottenville is Tottenville.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has settled a dispute that started back in the middle of the seventeenth century as to whether Tottenville, Staten Island, should be called Bentley Manor or not.

Originally Tottenville was Bentley Manor. Then Bentley Manor became Tottenville. This was in the days of the Revolution. A few months ago, through the activity of certain residents of Tottenville, it became Bentley Manor. Then ensued a lively row between the different parties.

The party wanting to preserve the name of Tottenville was aided by the little railroad that runs along the coast of the island which on its time tables and other literature designates the station as Tottenville.

The parties who desired the change, it is asserted by the old residents of the island, are engaged in the real estate business in New York, and thought that the name of Bentley Manor would sound a great deal better to prospective buyers. They succeeded in having the name changed, and the Postmaster General was deluged with petitions to change the name back to Tottenville.

The controversy, which has been settled for all time, it is believed, has involved much history, many chapters of Daughters of the Revolution, and the whole of the 5,000 population of the ancient settlement, and succeeded in disrupting local society. But peace has come again, and Tottenville is Tottenville.

To Use Potomac Falls.

Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia Judson Monday announced tentative plans for the establishment of a municipal power plant at Great Falls, Va., and stated that Congress would be asked to appropriate money for preliminary work. According to the report of two army engineers on the feasibility of the plan, Great Falls will furnish over 6,000 horsepower without storage, while 8,000 horsepower can be developed by storage.

United States Oil Output.

Fifty-one years ago—in 1859—when Drake drilled the first oil well near Titusville, Pennsylvania, the world's total output of petroleum was only 84,000 gallons in the year. To-day the United States alone produces 6,000,000,000 gallons per year, according to accurate statistics just furnished by the government.

Did Not Insult Religion.

A reply was on Monday received from Mayor Nathan, of Rome, in answer to the recent vote of censure passed upon him by the Montreal city council for speeches against the Pope. Mayor Nathan repudiated any intention of insulting religion or blaspheming, as was charged, and declares that he spoke against the Roman Catholic Church simply as a political organization.

CHARITY CONFERENCE

Sixth Annual Meeting Next Week in Frederick

FULL PROGRAMME ANNOUNCED

Invitation Extended to All To Attend the Session on Nov. 17, 18 and 19.—Object of Meetings.

The Sixth Maryland Conference of Charities and Correction will be held in Frederick, November 17, 18 and 19. An invitation is extended to the people of this county to attend all of the sessions which will be as follows:

Morning sessions in the Young Men's Christian Association building beginning at 10 o'clock. Afternoon session at the same place beginning at 4 o'clock. The evening sessions will be held in Woman's College Hall, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The programme for Thursday afternoon, Nov. 17, contains an address by William H. Maltbie, of Baltimore, on "The State's Philanthropies." In the evening the president, Joseph D. Baker of Frederick will deliver the address of welcome; this will be followed by a paper by William A. Amos, "Conservation of Neighborhood Resources." Mr. Amos is of the faculty of the Maryland Agricultural College.

On Friday morning Mrs. Edith Jones Keene, of Golden Hill, Md., will read a paper on "Children." This will be followed by addresses by State's Attorney Arthur D. Willard, Chief Judge Hammond Urner, both of Frederick, and H. Wirt Steele, of Baltimore. On Friday afternoon the discussion of child labor, compulsory education and industrial training will occupy the attention of the conference. In the evening Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale University, will deliver the address.

On Saturday morning; the last day of the meeting, Frederick H. Wines, of Illinois, John Joy Edson, of Washington, D. C., and Dr. Arthur P. Herring will be heard.

The publicity committee announces that over a hundred delegates from all parts of the State will be present. These will be welcomed by a committee of representative men and women of Frederick.

The Conference has a two-fold object in view: First—To provide an opportunity for free public discussion of the problems of the dependent, defective and delinquent classes, and by such free exchange of experiences and opinions to help point the way for a better care of the weaker members of society.

Second—To spread information about and encourage co-operation in humanitarian efforts, with the purpose of further improving the charitable and correctional system of the State.

The officers of the Conference have secured a great many prominent men from various parts of the United States, specialists and experts in the subjects they will discuss, to address the Conference.

Crossed Continent To Face Charges.

Rev. Dr. Norman Plass, former President of Washington College, Topeka, Kan., and until two months ago the head of the Redeemable Investment Company, of Boston, which was raided last month by the Government, surrendered to the Federal authorities Monday and pleaded not guilty to a warrant charging him with the use of the mails in a scheme to defraud. Plass crossed the continent from Victoria, B. C., to face the charges.

Imports Under New Tariff.

The total imports into the United States during the first full year under the new tariff law—12 months ending August 1, 1910—are shown by Bureau of Statistics figures to aggregate $1,562,621,181 of which 49.15 per cent. entered free of duty. The importations were larger than in any previous year. The customs receipts were $327,873,672.

Steel Piling for the Maine.

A train of fifty freight cars, carrying 1,500 tons of steel sheet piling to be used in connection with the raising of the Battleship Maine in Havana Harbor, arrived in Philadelphia this week from Buffalo. The shipment is the first of a consignment of 5,000 tons.

"OPPORTUNITY."

HE knocks but once, doth Opportunity; Open forth-with, she seeks you nevermore! She importunes not, wages no man's door, But hastens on till welcomed worthily! So preaches one who worships mastery Despairing thought! Shall bravery that bore Defeat ne'er win a victory? ne'er restore? Life's losses, find no aid save apathy?

Nay, life and opportunity are one! And both are new each day, new hope to lend. Faint hearts read failure in the setting sun— Next morn he will triumphantly ascend— Defeat keeps school; there learn mistakes to mend, And mend and mend, while life's good thread is spun.

A FAIR EXCHANGE

MANY people have things that they no longer have use for, but keep them in the house taking up room and doing no one any good.

Better sell or trade off things you don't want. Advertise them and you will find that there are people ready to take them and pay cash, or trade for them. You will find it easy through the Columns of

THE CHRONICLE

PERSONALS.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

Dr. Carson Frailey, of Washington, D. C., was in town on Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Motter, of Frederick, is visiting relatives in town.

Mr. E. F. Ohler, of Pittsburgh, is visiting here.

Mr. George Stansbury and sisters, Misses Elizabeth and Mary, were the guests of Miss Ruth Ohler on Sunday.

Miss Clara Wantz has returned home after spending sometime in Frederick.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Valentine and daughter, Mary, spent a day in town.

Mr. Ray Sebald, of the Sabillasville Sanatorium, was home on Tuesday.

JUST A REMINDER.

Subscribers for THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE are as a rule—and it is a pleasure to state the fact—very punctual in paying their subscription bills.

Many pay them in advance; others remit the very day their subscriptions fall due. It happens every now and then, however, that some overlook the matter—not intentionally, and not from indifference. They simply forget it.

To the latter this notice is intended to appeal. It is not a dun, simply a reminder made necessary by the ruling of the Post Office Department.

The reason for it has been fully explained and it is taken for granted that all who are still in arrears will be courteous enough to settle promptly.

Miss Tabitha and Mr. Clarence Beam were in Waynesboro on Saturday.

Miss Nellie Rowe is visiting in Baltimore.

Mr. Robert Horner, of Baltimore, was home on Tuesday.

Messrs. John and Francis Matthews have returned from Williamsport.

Miss Stella McBride, who has been away on a visit for sometime, returned to Emmitsburg this week.

Miss Naomi Harbaugh, of Clearview farm, visited in Emmitsburg this week.

Mrs. Elmer Lingg, of Hagerstown, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Long, last Saturday.

Mrs. George H. Cook and family left on Thursday for Hammonton, N. J., where she will make her future home.

The Misses Doyle, of St. Joseph's Academy, visited Miss Ruth Patterson on Sunday.

Prof. Walter Rhodes, of Bucknell University, was home on Tuesday.

Miss M. Scott McNair is visiting in town.

Mr. William H. Speed and son were in town on Monday.

Among those from Emmitsburg who attended the aviation meet in Baltimore were Messrs. Eugene and Elmer Zimmerman, E. L. Frizell, Albert Patterson, William Longenecker, Dr. D. E. Stone, Jr., and Vincent Sebald, Esq.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Higbee and family, have returned from a visit to Lancaster, Pa.

POST YOUR LAND.

The hunting season is close at hand and trespassers will soon be breaking down your fences and your cattle will likely be injured by stray shots. Trespass notices, ready to tack up, may be had at THE CHRONICLE OFFICE.

The Emmitsburg Public Library will hold a cake and candy sale at the library room, on Nov. 19, beginning at 3 o'clock P. M. Donations of candy, cake etc., will be appreciated.

NEW SCHOOL COMMISSIONER

Rev. Isaac M. Motter's Successor Favorable Thought of By Public.

Mr. John S. Newman, the new member of the Board of County School Commissioners of Frederick County, vice Rev. Isaac M. Motter, resigned, is a well-known member of the Frederick county bar. He has taken much interest in public school education and his appointment is very satisfactory. He is a native of Woodsboro, and his practice at the bar has been marked with flattering success. Several years ago his name was prominently mentioned for the appointment of Chief Judge to succeed the late Chief Justice James McSherry. He is a member of the Board of Trade and is one of the seven prominent citizens appointed to draw up a new charter for Frederick. Being the Frederick member it is likely that he will be elected president at the next meeting of the board. He is a son of Mr. J. M. Newman, and has many friends.

MARRIED IN BALTIMORE

(Contributed to the Chronicle.)

Miss Rose Weaver, the eldest of the three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Weaver, of Mount St. Mary's, was married to Mr. Hugh A. Roddy, of Frederick, at Sts. Philip and James Church, Baltimore, Oct. 26th, by Rev. Fr. Wm. F. Kane, of St. John's Church, Frederick, assisted by the pastor of the church, Rev. Fr. John Wade. The wedding was attended by Messrs. Robinson and Goodwin, friend of the contracting parties. The bride wore an attractive grey travelling suit with hat to match. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Hotel Rennert. Mr. and Mrs. Roddy left on an afternoon train on a trip north. Upon their return they will reside in Frederick. Miss Weaver graduated as a trained nurse from St. Joseph's Hospital Philadelphia, Pa., and the past six years have been devoted to administering to the sick. Her many friends in the medical profession regret the loss of her excellent assistance as a nurse. Appreciations of her services rendered, have been marked by the numerous notes of congratulation and felicitation extended, by friends, physicians and former patrons.

Miss Rose Weaver's marriage follows quickly upon that of Miss Olivet Weaver to Prof. Raymond R. Miller of York, Pa. THE CHRONICLE joins with their friends in wishing both a long happy married life.

Dinner Bell Taken For Fire Bell.

On Saturday afternoon about 12 o'clock, quite a number of persons became excited by the ringing of Frailey's dinner bell. This bell was rung for the purpose of calling workmen to dinner, when a large number of people responded, prepared to fight fire. This bell has been in use for over twelve years and this is the first time in its whole history, so many people responded to its call. Whether its sound has changed and softened or become more melodious it is not known, anyhow the streets soon became crowded as if some great conflagration had broken out. Dinner was really ready, it is true, and for this reason it cannot be termed a false alarm. This same bell may be rung again to call workmen to dinner and the people need not become alarmed.

The Emmitsburg Public Library will hold a cake and candy sale at the library room, on Nov. 19, beginning at 3 o'clock P. M. Donations of candy cake etc., will be appreciated.

NOTICE.—My wife, Ruth E. Marshall, having refused to live with me without just cause, I hereby notify all persons not to trust her on my account as I will pay no debts contracted by her.

DEFEATED CANDIDATE CREMATED

Congressional Campaign of B. B. Warner, Jr., in Emmitsburg Resolved Into Smoke and Ashes.

On Wednesday evening the political body of the defeated candidate, B. H. Warner, Jr., was cremated at the fork of the road in front of Mr. J. E. Payne's house, a short distance west of town. The catafalque with the effigy was borne through the streets of town by two boys, Bob Reifsnider and George Orndorf. Candles were placed at the four corners and to the measured time of muffled drums the stately procession led off by Mr. Mark Harting, under whose charge the ceremonies were conducted, fled through town to the place of cremation. An American flag was raised, the pyre was lighted and soon reduced to ashes and the candidate went up in smoke.

WELCOME VISITORS.

On Saturday last four students from the Maryland School for the Deaf and Dumb, Frederick, paid a visit to THE CHRONICLE office; Messrs. Chas. R. Gardner, Jr., Ira B. Hull, Alvin Moore and M. J. Boyle Jr. These young gentlemen, all athletes, sturdy and robust, were off for a day's tramp through the mountains. They came to Thurmont by train and walked to Emmitsburg from the latter place, returning over the same route. A brighter, or more intelligent or more gentlemanly party of young men could not be found in a week's journey; nor could Prof. Ely, the faithful and efficient principal of the School at Frederick, send out better living examples of the excellent work done at this splendid institution.

Emmitsburg Educational Meeting.

On Friday evening, Nov. 18th there will be a local institute of teachers of district No. 5 of Frederick Co., to be held in the High School Building. At this meeting various topics of interest to teachers and patrons of the School will be discussed by teachers of the district, papers on various subjects read and recitations and songs by the pupils of the Emmitsburg schools. All teachers of surrounding districts and friends and patrons of the school are cordially invited to attend these exercises.

Judge's Commission Delayed.

JUDGE MOTTER FALLS IN CREEK

On a Hunting Trip Slips Into Hunting Creek.—Is Suffering From The Shock.

On Saturday afternoon Judge John C. Motter slipped from a rock into Hunting creek while crossing that stream near Lewistown. With Messrs. D. Princeton Buckley and Edward Sharpe he went hunting near Lewistown, along Hunting creek. Toward noon he decided to cross the stream in search of a covey of birds and selected a fording place where several large rocks projected above the water. When about midway of the stream his foot slipped on the smooth surface of a rock and he pitched forward into the water.

He disappeared beneath the surface of the stream, but regained his footing and in a dazed state waded to land. In the meantime his companions saw him in the water and assisted him to the bank. One of them ran to a farmhouse and secured a team in which the Judge was conveyed to the home of a friend, wet to the skin and shivering from cold. He was supplied with dry clothing and made comfortable. Several hours later he was taken home and his physician, Dr. Ira J. McCurdy, summoned.

Program of E. H. S. Literary Society.

The Literary Society of the E. H. S. met last Friday. The following program was rendered:

The meeting was opened by singing "Ben Bolt." Then Charles Eichelberger, Bessie Dorsey and Edward Boller were appointed judges for the debate which was:

Resolved, That the suffrage should be taken from the Negroes in the Southern States. The affirmative speakers were, Wm. Frailey, Flora Welty and Edith Ohler; the negative, Dunn Black, Clarence Seabrooks and Pauline Baker. The debate was decided by both the judges and the school in favor of the negative.

Then followed recitations; "Calling the Violet," Arthur Stokes; "Light," Frank Topper; "A Selection," Rosanna Ohler, "The name in the Sand," Emma Long; "The Eagle's Quill," Allen Longenecker; "Hiawatha," Mary Weant.

Then followed select readings: "What Franklin Did," Hazel Boller; "The Corn-field Code," Frank Shuff; "Ingenuus John," Ruth Linn; "Friendship," Mae Sless; "A Selection," Mary Ellen Eyster; "The Summer Day," Charles Fuss; "A Timid Stranger," Samuel Keilholtz; "A Selection," Donald Agnew.

Then followed compositions: "My Favorite Study," Fred. Wivell; "An American Indian," Eva Gosnell; "Winter," Eston White; "E. H. S. Exercises," Wm. Morrison.

Extemporaneous speeches were made as follows: "My Favorite Study," Charles Eichelberger; "The Improvements of E. H. S.," Frank Weant.

Those on the Reading Circle were; Bessie Dorsey, Elizabeth Rowe and Ruth Stull. Alfred Tennyson was selected Poet and "The Bugle Call" the poem.

IN MEMORIAM.

Robert Walter Roger died Nov. 5th 1910 aged six weeks. Funeral service on Nov. 7th from the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Roger. Revs. Koontz and Reinwald officiating.

The Angel of Death was sent one day With pinions dark unfurled, To gather a fair unopened bud From the gardens of the world, 'T was needed to twine in a garland sweet That was laid in Heaven at the Master's feet.

And the Angel came on wings of Wind And searched the wide world thru, For this bud must be white as a flake of snow And pure as a drop of dew, Then he furled his wings with a look of joy As he bent and touched our darling boy.

Church Damaged By Water.

Considerable damage was done in the auditorium of old Trinity Lutheran Church, Hagerstown, by flooding, the water escaping from the air valves on the radiators. Investigation showed that the water in the boiler had been turned on full, and, being forced into the radiators, flooded the building, damaging the ceiling and walls in the Sunday School room below. It is supposed that someone got into the boiler-room and turned on the water. A bottle of whiskey was found in the boiler-room. About a year ago the church was flooded in the same manner and considerable damage was done.

MRS. WILLIAMS ENTERTAINS ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE

Her Splendid Reading of Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream.—Prof. Strauss Complimented.

One of the most delightful and interesting public entertainments ever given in Emmitsburg was that furnished by Mrs. Hannibal Williams on the evening of November third on which occasion the opera house was crowded to the doors by a most appreciative audience which showed its pleasure by repeated applause. The Rev. Mr. Hensley introduced Mrs. Williams in a very graceful address, giving an outline of the life of the Bard of Avon and touching on the close relationship and influence of Shakespeare's works with education and upon the literature of early and modern times. Midsummer Night's Dream was the play chosen by Mrs. Williams to display her rare talent as an elocutionist and portrayer of diversified characters. Her stage presence was dignified and graceful, her voice most pleasing and her various intonations when assuming different roles were thoroughly in accord with the numerous impersonations essayed. That Mrs. Williams has been a careful and painstaking student of Shakespeare was evident in her correct and sympathetic reading of the famous author's difficult lines on the evening of the third when she gave so much real pleasure to the discriminating audience that greeted her, and it is to be hoped that this talented artist will arrange her itinerary so that the good people of Emmitsburg may have the opportunity of hearing her soon again in another play from her extensive repertoire.

Professor Strauss is deserving of much praise for the courtesy and public spirit he displayed in securing such an excellent attraction, and the students of the High School are to be congratulated in making possible the appearance of a finished reader like Mrs. Hannibal Williams.

MOUNTAINEERS DEFEATED

Western Maryland Scored Seven Points in Hotly Contested Game.

Last Saturday Mount St. Mary's College lost a game of football to Western Maryland College at Westminster. The winning touchdown was made on a forward pass from Twigg to Stultz, who ran 70 yards to the goal line, in the first period. In the third period Mount St. Mary's attempted to punt, and fumbled behind their own goal line, scoring a safety. Twigg hit the line for consistent gains through tackle. Twigg, Stultz, Sprangue, Leary and Weaver excelled for Western Maryland, while Malloy and Flannigan played well for Mount St. Mary's. The line-up:

W. M. C. Position Mt. St. M. Sprague.....left end.....Malloy Leary.....left tackle.....Wymard Husung.....left guard.....Ruddy Wright.....center.....Sullivan White.....right guard.....Pagan (capt) Graefe.....right tackle.....Engle Weaver.....right end.....Jiroux Stultz.....quarterback.....McMorris Dooley.....right halfback.....Tomerlin Dooley.....left halfback.....McGuire Twigg (capt).....full back.....Flannigan Touchton—Stultz. Safety—Flannigan. Time—Four 10-minute quarters. Referee—Mr. Thomas, W. M. C. Umpire—Mr. Wheaton, W. M. C. Field Judge—For Smoot, of Springfield. Substitutes—For William M. Welsh, Leary, Beall for Dooley; Mossburg for Husung. Mount St. Mary's, Coughlin for Jiroux, Mooney for McMorris, Barry for McGuire.

Eighty per cent. are due to Eye Strain. It may be glasses, not medicine, that you need. Relief will be obtained by a properly fitted pair of glasses.

WHAT GLASSES WILL DO.

If your work or reading tire the eyes, glasses will rest them. If you are subject to headaches, the chances are that it is caused by Eye Strain. Special glasses will relieve them.

DON'T wear glasses unless prescribed by a reliable Optometrist.

A REASON WHY.

If you were ill you would call in the best Physician; if you had a law suit, the best Lawyer. If your eyes are bad why not take equal precaution to select a reliable Optician and Optometrist?

GOOD FOR HOLDING COWS.

Practicable Tie Made of Ring Which Slides on Upright Post.

Many systems have been tried for fastening cows to secure sanitary milk. Ties rigid and swinging stanchions, stalls and the open shed system have been resorted to and are still being used. The method of fastening dairy cows which best meets the demands of the dairy and pure food laws is the stall. Stalls are of many different types, but to be sanitary they must be constructed so that the cow will be comfortable and at the same time not be forced to lie down in her own filth.

The cow's health should be considered when choosing a method of fastening.

COW CHAIN TIE.

[From the Iowa Homestead.]

It is undesirable to place cows in rigid stanchions since they do not have the freedom of their heads obtainable in a stall. Compelling a cow to lie in a cramped position is not conducive to a desirable gentle disposition. A stall which most nearly approaches perfection is one in which the cow is permitted to have the same freedom she has when lying in the field or paddock. This height of perfection is difficult to obtain.

The simple chain tie shown in the illustration, which has long been used, is more humane than the rigid stanchion. The chain here shown is attached to a ring which slides on the upright post and is fastened around the cow's neck with a toggle link.—Iowa Homestead.

FARMERS' FALL CREED.

I believe in the landscape dotted with the straw piles already weather gray, in the checkered fields of shocked corn, in the distant woodland profuse with color, autumn red and brown and gold and yellow. I believe in the bustle-rattle of the dying cornfields and the dry whirl of the fallen leaves. I believe in the long strings of seed corn picked before the first freeze and hung up in sheds to dry. I believe in the cheery whistle of the bob-white coming sharp and clear through the quiet morning air.—Iowa Homestead.

Using City Manure.

Does it pay to use manure at the rate of forty-five or fifty tons per acre? This depends largely on the cost of manure. In many instances the cost of hauling far exceeds the first cost of the manure. Some of the manure used near the large cities is had for the hauling, while it is the exception, rather than the rule, that it costs more than 50 cents a ton. At this price or less a grower can well afford to make rather long hauls and to use the manure freely, especially for such crops as lettuce, celery, onions and other crops grown by intensive methods.—American Cultivator.

The Hum of the Hive.

Every progressive beekeeper separates the light colored clover honey from the dark fall honey.

A grove on the north of an apiary helps to insure successful wintering. The trees break to a great extent the force of the winter's wind.

The old eight frame hive is largely a thing of the past, the ten frame hive having taken its place, but a twelve frame hive would be even better.

Never extract honey before at least two-thirds of the comb is sealed or capped over; otherwise the honey is not ripe enough and will ferment.

The best way to strain honey is to extract it. Strained honey is never satisfactory, mixed as it always is with pollen and often with dead bees and blood.

The Italian bee is at present the most popular because of its ability to work and its comparative mildness of temper. It is quieter than the black bee, which formerly was the favorite.

As soon as the comb honey is removed from the hives it is best to scrape the propolis or bee glue from the section boxes at once, and nothing is better for this purpose than a sharp butcher knife, but care must be taken not to gash the surface of the combs.

Still will the seeds, though chosen with toilsome pains,
Degenerate if man's industrious hand
Call not each year the largest and the best.
—Virgil (B. C. 70 to 19).

The Ancient Use of a Kiss.

A Roman woman in the ancient time was not allowed to drink wine except it were simple raisin wine, and however she might relish strong drinks she could not indulge even by stealth—first, because she was never intrusted with the key of the wine cellar and, second, because she was obliged daily to greet with a kiss all her own as well as her husband's male representatives, down even to second cousins, and as she knew not when or where she might meet them she was forced to be wary and abstain altogether, for had she tasted but a drop the smell would have betrayed her. So strict were the old Romans in this respect that a certain Ignatius Mercurius is said to have slain his wife because he caught her at the wine cask—a punishment which was not deemed excessive by Romulus, who absolved the husband of the crime of murder. Another Roman lady who under the pretense of taking a little wine for her stomach's sake and frequent infirmities indulged somewhat too freely was mulcted to the full amount of her dowry.

Among the Honors.

One of the last times that Bishop Burgess of Long Island dined out was at the Press club, where the waiters are all negroes. The head waiter bowed Bishop Burgess and his host profusely to their places. "This way, admiral," said he. "Tek this table. You get a bettah view of the harbor heah, admiral."

"I am not an admiral," said Bishop Burgess, smiling.

"My mistek, sub," said the head waiter. "Ah mout er known all the time I was er talkin' to a military man. You like dis table, colonel?"

"I am not a colonel," said Bishop Burgess, smiling more broadly. "I am a bishop."

"To be shuah, sub," said the head waiter. "To-o be shuah! Ve'y sorry for mah mistek, sub. I got dem titles of admiral and colonel wrong, sub, but Ah was all right on de main issue. Ah knowed soon as Ah saw you dat you was one of de face cards of your profession, sub."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Purely Hypothetical.

"Uncle Henry, I want to ask your advice."

"Well?"

"But you mustn't mention it to a living soul. Suppose you were a young girl of my age and three men had proposed to you, one of them a young preacher, fine looking and well educated, the second one a handsome young man in business, swell dresser and thinking the world of you, and the third a rich foreigner with a distinguished air about him and well spoken of by everybody. Which of the three do you think would make the best husband?"

"Why, Annabel, child, consult your own heart. Which of the three do you love best?"

"Mercy, Uncle Henry! Nobody's proposed to me yet. I'm only trying to get pointers, so I'll know the right man when he comes along."—Chicago Tribune.

Very "Respectful."

The villagers used to meet me in a solid, stolid fashion. "I'm sorry," said a servant to her mistress, "but I could have had a respectful man nor what Thomas has been to me. We've been courting two years, and Martlemass, and he's never yet offered to kiss me!"—From "Recollections of a Yorkshire Village," by J. S. Fletcher.

A Similarity.

"He's quite wealthy and prominent now," said Mrs. Starvein, "and they say he rose from nothing."

"Well, well!" remarked Mr. Border. "That's just what I rose from—at the breakfast table this morning."

The Preparation of Parchment.

Parchment is the skin of sheep or other animals prepared in sheets to render them fit for being written upon. The heavier parchment, used for drum-heads, is made from the skins of asses, older calves, wolves and goats. All these are similarly prepared. The skin, being freed from the hair, is placed in a lime pit to cleanse it from fat. The pelt is then stretched upon a frame, care being taken that the surface is free from wrinkles. The flesh is pared off with a circular knife, after which it is moistened, and whitening spread over it. Then the workman, with a large pumice stone, rubs the skin. He next goes over it with an iron instrument and rubs it carefully with pumice stone without chalk. Finally the skin is gradually dried, tightening being occasionally required.

A Fast Express.

The slow train is still the target for the shafts of the humorist. Recently an English wag sent the following letter to the editor of his local paper: "Sir, is there no way to put a stop to begging along the line of the railway? For instance, yesterday an aged mendicant with a wooden leg kept pace with the afternoon express all the way from Blankton to Spaceley and annoyed the passengers exceedingly, going from one open window to another with his importunate solicitations."

Prince Henry, the Navigator.

The kingdom of Portugal counted in its royal house one of the men who hold first rank in scientific attainment and practical application. He was the son of John I. of Portugal and Queen Philippa (who was an English princess); he spent his life in sending out ships on voyages of discovery, and it was through this Prince Henry, called "the Navigator," that Columbus got his idea of seeking for a new land across the sea.

Our Friendships.

Our friendships hurry to short and poor conclusions because we have made them a texture of wine and dreams instead of the tough fiber of the human heart. The laws of friendship are great, austere and eternal—of one web with the laws of morals and of nature.—Goethe.

An Ancient House.

The ancient Romans had a catapult that could hurl rocks more than a mile.

"Now I understand it."

"What?"

My landlord told me the house was a stone's throw from the depot. He must have had it on his hands since the time of the Caesars.

Kindness.

Kind looks, kind words, kind acts and warm handshakes, these are secondary means of grace when men are in trouble and are fighting their unseen battles.—Dr. John Hall.

Hearing the Silence.

Little Phyllis was at a concert. The leader rapped, and the buzz of conversation ceased. "Oh, mamma," exclaimed Phyllis, "listen to the bush!"—Exchange.

There is always room for a man of force, and he makes room for many.—Emerson.

WHAT IS DOING IN MODES.

Old World Trimmings In Vogue—Ruffles With Corded or Fluted Edges.

With the vogue of the new-old silks, taffetas and moires and peau de cygnes, there has come a partial revival of the old time trimmings—narrow ruffles with fluted or corded edges, puffings and box plaited silk bandings and the like.

A smart and neat finish for the cuffs of the embroidered tailored waist is to buttonhole the edge of the cuffs as closely as possible. This edge not only wears well, but gives a good body to the end of the sleeve.

One of the loveliest gown materials of the winter is moire silk and wool poplin spattered with self colored polka dots. The poplin has the chiffon finish of all new fabrics and falls in the most graceful folds.

Wool back satin is one of the smartest materials for handsome tailor made, and it certainly outdoes in appearance the satins which have been used for the purpose the last year.

This overblouse is laid in tiny tucks and cut with short kimono sleeves. The shaped trimming portion is very effective, though simple to treat. Any gumpie can be worn with this blouse.
