INDIAN PUDDING, BAKED.

One quart of sweet milk, one ounce of butter, four well-beaten eggs, teacupful of corn meal, half pound of raisins, one-fourth pound of sugar. Scald the milk and stir in the meal warm, then stir all well together; put into pudding pan and bake an hour and a half, and serve with any desired sauce. A meat sauce goes nice with this.

"JOHNNY CAKE" (With Flour.)

One quart nice buttermilk or sweet clabber, two level teaspoonfuls of soda, one pint of flour, and corn meal enough of physical valuation. to make a tolerably thick batter; put Funny, said those C flour makes the bread lighter and closergrained.

"JOHNNY CAKE" (Without Flour.)

One quart of fresh buttermilk, three well-beaten eggs, and a teaspoonful of soda, a teaspoonful of salt, and a large tablespoonful of lard, melted; stir into this as much nice sifted corn meal as will make a batter that pours easily. Have the bake pan quite hot, with a tablespoonful of lard melted in it; pour the batter into the hot pan, and bake in a quite hot oven. The thinness of the batter will give a delicacy to the bread which it will lack if the batter is too thick.

In making any kind of bread, especially corn bread, with sour milk, be careful not to get too much soda in it; an exact amount of soda cannot be given, as much will depend on the sourness of the milk.

One rather unusual and perhaps favorable feature of baseball as played in A LONG DELAYED HONOR Japan is the absense of any professional influence. The Japanese seem to believe in sport for sport's sake alone, and prefer to support contests by contribution rather than by paid admission

Is Bailey Out or In.

The point is being raised by lawyers n Congress as to whether Joseph Weldon Bailey is any longer a member of that he withdrew his resignation about 1.25@$2.00,Shoats, $2,50@$4.00 Fresh Cows six hours after it had been sent to Gov. 8:8. @8 per head.. Colquitt, of Texas. It is argued that the resignation acted automatically the minute Gov. Colquitt acknowledged receipt of it, and that retirement from the Senate in this manner cannot be affected by a govern's refusal to accept the resignation, as occured in this case.

Big Alaska Land Frauds.

The Federal Grand Jury, which has been investigating the Michigan Alaska Development Company land frauds, handed down an indictment against seven of the promoters of the company, charging them with being active workers in a conspiracy to defraud the United States of 48,000 acres of coal lands. The indictment estimates the value of the lands at $50,000,000. W. W. McAlpine, who held the power of attorney from 300 other individuals to file claims for them, estimates the value of the lands at between $150,-000,000 and $300,000,000.

A CATHOLIC LAW SAID TO BE SEVERAL CENTURIES OLD

Promulgated in Province of Cincinnati First Time This Week.-Refers to School Attendance

A letter signed by the Archbishop of Cincinnati and the Bishops of Indianapolis, Grand Rapids, Covington, Detroit, Louisville, Fort Wayne, Columbus and Cleveland, has been issued by direction of the Pope requiring Catholic parents to send their children to Catholic schools whenever possible. The letter reads as follows:

"We direct that in the future no confessor having faculties in this province absolve parents who require their sons and daughters to attend non-Catholic schools, unless such parents, when going to confession, promise that they will send their children to the Catholic school at the time to be fixed by the confessor or agree that they will abide by the decision of the bishop after the case has been referred to him. Under these conditions, then, the case of parents who send their children to non-Catholic schools are reserved to be decided by the bishop."

The letter was read in 175 churches of the Detroit diocese for the first time on Monday.

FAITH FOR TODAY.

IFE to some is full of sorrow-

Half is real; half they borrow;

Full of rocks and full of ledges, Corners sharp and cutting edges; Though the joy-bells may be ringing, Not a note you'll hear them singing; Seeing never makes them wise, Looking out from downcast eyes. All in vain the sun is shining, Water sparkling, blossoms twining; They but see the shade of sorrows-Sad todays and worse tomorrows; See the clouds that must pass over; See the weeds among the clover; Everything and anything But the gold the sunbeams bring. Drinking from the bitter fountain, Lo! your mole-hill seems a mountain; Drops of dew and drops of rain Swell into a mighty main; All in vain the blessings shower, And the mercies fall with power; Gathering chaff, ye tread the wheat, Rich and royal, 'neath your feet. Let it not be so, my neighbor; Look up, as you love and labor; Not for one alone woe's vials, Every one has cares and trials; Joy and pain are linked together, Like the fair and cloudy weather. That we have, oh, let us pray, Faith and patience for each day!

PEARRE AGAIN?

They say Pearre is laying pipes for Congress two years hence, they say he's getting ready now to fix up every fence. He hates to leave the House, they claim, e'en for a single day, for fear that some one else will take his prestige all away. For many years he held the job and now he has to go, and pity 'tis, for George he really loves that soft berth so. And then he is so forceful and possesses so much charm, the House will now conalarm. Important bills will suffer and appointments all go on then so faithfully and long, will lose their very essence and most likely soon dissolve, -oh little reck ye what George A.'s long absence will involve. But George, he knows his duty to his country and his State, and that's the reason he will put his name upon the slate, that comes before the people of the Sixth just two a swing, and people here, oh no, tilled like a huge garden. One hundred and twenty lives are reported lost in a fire which swept the interior of a moving picture theatre at Bologoe, Russia. Most of the victims were children, but it is believed that Baron Traube, a noted railway engineer, is among the dead, with two of his children. Many of those who were killed were from the farming districts, owing to the fact that it was the last day of the carnival which precedes the Russian Lent, and many visitors had flocked into town on that account.

The dates of the Congress are from September 24th in support of the request of the rail-roads that they be not compelled to withdraw their schedules for increased to 30th, but the exhibition will probably open on June 1st and will continue until February 28, 1912.

PERSONALS.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

Big Fox Chase To-morrow.

To-morrow, Saturday, afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a fox chase in Emmitsburg. Thefox, said to be one of the largest and swiftest ever seen in this neighborhood, will be liberated near the Depot where it is expected there will gather a big crowd to follow the hounds. Any one is welcome to enter the chase upon the payment of a small fee, and by so doing may be eligible for the fine riding bridle which is to be given to the person getting the bush. All kinds of good sport is promised and as this chase is not a money-making affair it is hoped by those in charge of the chase that many will participate.

Musicians and Sneezing.

Nobody can dispute the sincerity of the players in a big orchestra like the Plank Drag For Use Later on Worth Philharmonic or the New York Symphony. Most of the time they take plain weaves or in fancy radium pat- their work seriously, but sometimes the men break loose and play tricks on With the Paisley craze has come the one another as though they were Paisley colors and worked into famile audience knows nothing of these things; they're usually perpetrated in

The red pepper trick is the commonest. The jokers scatter it where the bassoon and trombone players are likely to suck it up. The result is chokes and sheezes. Sometimes the epidemic reaches even into the strings, but of course the players on the wind instruments get it worst.

As a matter of fact, the jokers are playing with fire. "A confirmed sneezer can't get a job in a good orchestra, no matter how good a per-former he may be," said a consistent concert goer. "Think of the effect of a rousing sneeze on a pianissimo! Why, it would spoil a whole concert, one sneeze would. A conductor has to guard against a sneeze as he does against inebriety."-New York Sun.

A Lucky Game of Chess. A story is told of the Moorish prince prison for sedition by his brother Mohammed, king of Granada. There he remained for several years until the king, fearing he might escape, placed himself at the head of a fresh revolt and seized the crown, ordering one of als pashas to see to his immediate execution. Abul Hejex was playing at chess when the pasha came and bade him prepare for death. The prince asked for two hours' respite, which was refused. After earnest entreaty he obtained permission to finish his game. He was in no hurry about the moves, we are told, and well for him he was not, for before an hour had elapsed a messenger brought the news that Mohammed had been struck dead by apoplexy, and Abul was forthwith proclaimed king of Granada. It was indeed a small favor for the pasha to grant, but it altered the whole current of the king's career.

Elephant Humor.

The courage of a lion at bay, great as it is, is no greater than that of the buffalo, and he must yield his scepter to the elephant, declares H. L. Tangye in his book, "In the Torrid Sudan," as to courage, size, strength and intelligence. It is a temptation to declare that the elephant possesses a sense of humor. A herd of elephants once fell in with a train of donkeys. Their attention concentrated on the load the donkeys carried. With all the mischief of monkeys, the loads were torn asunder and their contents distributed over half the province. At Bor, on the Mountain Nile, the elephants were at one time full of practical jokes. Passing at night time through the village, they would knock the sleepers up by demolishing their huts above their heads, then contentedly march

Daddy's Bedtime

The Black Mark On the Bean

The Straw, the Coal and the Bean

OUNGSTERS," asked daddy one evening, "do you know why beans have black marks upon them?" "I've noticed the mark, but I don't know any reason for it," said

Evelyn. "Well, here is the reason," said daddy. "Once upon a time there was a poor old woman who had picked a mess of beans for her dinner. The old woman built a big fire to cook her beans and threw a handful of straw upon the fire to make it burn more quickly. Just as she was pouring the beans into the pot one of them slipped out and fell to the floor.

"About the same time one of the straws blew away from the fire and landed on the floor near the bean, and one of the hot coals also fell from the

The straw said: "'My, what a narrow escape from being burnt I have had! And the coal answered: 'Yes, I have had a close shave too. In a few minutes more there would have been nothing left of me.

"And the bean said: 'My friends, I have had the narrowest escape of all If I had once got into the pot with that hot water nothing could have saved me from being cooked alive. As we three have been so lucky, all about the same time, suppose we stick together? Let's travel out into the world to see what adventures we shall meet. It will do us no good to lie here, for if the old woman sees us she will surely cook me with the other beans and burn

"The straw and the coal were willing, and the three set out. After traveling for a time and meeting with some strange adventures they came to a brook. There was no bridge. 'How in the world shall we get across?' said the bean.

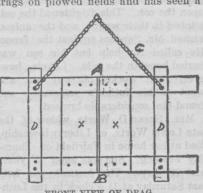

"'I know how,' answered the straw. 'I shall stretch myself across the brook, and you two shall cross over on my back. When you are across you can then help me over. Let the coal go first.'

"Well, the straw stretched itself across the brook, and the coal started to eross. But he was still hot from the fire, and when he was half way over the straw could bear him no longer, but burnt in two. Of course the coal fell into the water, and the two halves of the straw also fell in, and so the coal and the straw were drowned. "This amused the bean. She laughed so loud and long that she burst. She would have died also, save for the fact that a tailor who was passing by saw her and took pity on her. He sewed her up, but he used black thread, so from Westminster, Md. that day to this beans have black marks on them.

EASILY MADE IN WINTER.

Taking Up Farmer's Spare Time. An effective plank drag which can be made easily in winter by any farmer, in order to have it ready for later Paisley bead embroidery. Beads in youngsters in school. Of course the use, is thus described by an Ohio correspondent in the Rural New Yorker: The writer has used several kinds of drags on plowed fields and has seen a large number in use, ranging from a sled upside down to the lever harrow with the teeth set back. Of all the devices used for dragging the soil the drag shown in the diagram is prob-Abul Hejex, who was thrown into ably most effective. The plank drag made by lapping some 2 by 8 inch plank works all right in very dry soil, but is all wrong for soils properly moist for best results in working. The drag shown here will work anywhere and at almost any time. Such a drag is easy to make and not at all expensive. In the diagrams a and b are 2 by 6 or 8 inch plank 7 feet long for two horses or 11 feet for three, a and d are 2 by 4 pieces bolted to the plank, c is a draft chain and may be fastened where shown or farther back, while xx are two short boards nailed in place for the driver to stand on. The latter pieces, xx, should not be too wide, as they might cause the soil to collect and pack underneath. The plank a and b should be set at an angle of 30 degrees to d-d, and the joints should be secured with two bolts each. This drag is simple and strong and will stand a lot of rough usage in the field, and its use will give satisfaction to the user, and particularly where it is desired to level up inequalities of the surface. This drag cannot take the place of a harrow, roller or disk harrow, but it can do a few things more easily and quickly and in some cases

The farmer driving through town with his prancing horses drawing a fine rig is the farmer on parade. The farmer in the field behind the plow is the farmer proving his right to be on parade.

Winter Keeping of Vegetables.

The matter of keeping Irish potatoes, cabbages, onions, beets, etc., all winter for family use depends on climatic conditions. Irish potatoes, as also beets, should be guarded against freezing. Beets and carrots can stand a little of it, but are better off when kept from it. Cabbages stored in the cellar should be wrapped separately in double thicknesses of newspaper, folding and tying it around the stem. Hang each head upside down on the side of the wall or from the beams overhead. Cabbages can stand some freezing, but not too much of it, nor much freezing and thawing. Onions to keep well must be put in a cool, dry, airy place.-Farm and Fireside.

Manure From the Barnyard. Manure from the barnyard adds humus to the soil, and humus acts like a sponge, retaining moisture in the soil, making it more capable of absorbing a heavy rainfall and of holding it there longer. The moral, therefore, is to save and carefully spread all barnyard manure over the fields. Manure is worth dollars and will put dollars into the farmers' pockets.

Plants For Winter Pasture. Many plants can be used for winter pasture. Of course it is more difficult to secure winter than summer grazing, but with the proper use of bur clover, rye, oats, vetch and crimson clover, all fall sown, there is little trouble to secure grazing areas through the winter. -Home and Farm.

Why Clover Fails. Clover fails to grow on many farms, but the prime causes is that much of the humus of the soil is worn out and an acid condition exists that is detrimental to clover. A liberal application of lime will be beneficial.

TRUST THE WOMEN FOLK

The farmer who thinks he can 'run his business" without taking his wife into his councils is pretty apt to run against a snag before he knows it. While women may not always understand all the fine points of farming, they are often able, through some divine instinct, to tell how things ought to be, and the man who trusts that instinct is not very apt to come out wrong.
