

The Weekly Chronicle.

STERLING GALT, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

ESTABLISHED OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY

TERMS—$1.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

VOL. XXXIII

EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND. FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1912

NO. 43

STATE PRESS ON ROOSEVELT

STRONGLY FAVOR TAFT

Three Chances for the Colonel and None is Good

TEDDY TOO RADICAL THINKS ONE

Legislatures Should Not be Regarded With Suspicion But With Confidence.—President Taft More Certain of Nomination.

In their issues of last week the county papers of this state, as a general thing commented on the recent announcement from Roosevelt. The Carroll Record said: Col. Roosevelt, in reality, is in the "has been" class, but fails to realize it. Since it appears that he is not willing to be considered where he belongs there are three chances open to him; to try for the Republican Presidential nomination, and fail to get it; to get it and fail of election; to head a third party movement, and come out at the tail end. As a Presidential winner, the Colonel is a "dead one," but he may at least have one more "bully time" finding it out.

The Havre de Grace Republican looks on Taft's nomination as certain: The political sensation of the week has been the positive entrance of Theodore Roosevelt against President Taft, in the race for the Republican Presidential nomination. The contest promises to be a bitter one, but the probabilities are that President Taft has too strong a lead in the number of delegates pledged to be beaten by his erstwhile friend.

Under the heading "It's Taft for Us" the Westminster Times says: As the next Republican candidate for President of the United States, William H. Taft has our unqualified endorsement. His past record entitles him to another term. While we do not agree with him in all his views, we think on the whole he has given the country an honest and fearless administration. He has been true to his ideas and firm in his convictions. For his honesty and sincerity of purpose we have the highest regard, and we would like to see him in the White House for four years more. When their opinion is registered at the polls next November we believe the majority of our citizens will be found to be of the same opinion.

Colonel Roosevelt is undoubtedly one of the nation's foremost citizens. He is a man that will be heard. He has opinions on all subjects and they are usually worth reading or listening to. He does his own thinking and for the past ten years he has wielded a power and an influence such as is given to but few men in the world. He has however in our judgment made a fatal error in seeking the presidential nomination at this time, especially in view of the emphatic denials that "under no circumstances" would he again be a candidate.

We cannot see that there is a strong popular demand for him. Rather does it seem to us that it will mean an unnecessary division of the Republican forces and a consequent weakening of the ranks.

Our uppermost feeling is one of pure disappointment that the thing has happened.

But since the cat is out of the bag, and the fight is on, we suppose it must be a fair field and no favors and may the best man win.

Here's our endorsement and our support and our help so far as we have any to give to Mr. Taft.

The Montgomery Press thinks Roosevelt to radical for old fashioned folks: The views of Theodore Roosevelt, as announced in his Columbus speech last week, are too radical for those of us who are a bit old-fashioned and who cherish a wholesome respect for the American constitutions and courts.

We do not believe that we have outgrown the notions of government which have given this nation a place among the peoples of the earth. We do not believe that the ideas of how the country should be governed, taught the youth of our land from infancy, are all wrong; that legislatures are to be regarded with suspicion rather than confidence; that the decision of courts may be set aside by popular clamor, which may be one thing to-day and a different thing to-morrow; and that the judges themselves may be removed because some are hurt by a judgment or decree. We do not even believe in changing the constitution so as to elect United States Senators by direct vote. There is, in fact, little wrong with the constitution but very much wrong with those citizens who do not think things are humming unless they turn the existing order upside down; who are following false gods, and who are getting far away

(Continued on page 2.)

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION IS UPHELD IN INVESTIGATION

Vote Was 34 to 27 on the Question in the House of Delegates.—Non-Interference is the Order of Day.

By the close vote of 34 to 27, with many members absent, the House of Delegates on Tuesday upheld the Public Service Commission.

By adopting the unfavorable reports of the Corporations Committee, which had been made at the instance of William Cabell Bruce, counsel to the commission, the House, in the face of many speeches attacking the commission, refused to interfere with it.

Only one bill was passed. This was the Campbell bill, giving the commission the right to compel street railways to construct full vestibules on their cars instead of the partial ones used at present. This was evidently intended to strengthen the act, and the members allowed it to pass.

While some of the members, particularly Speaker Trippe, took the ground that the commission had failed so far to accomplish much good, they stood as did the Speaker, for non-interference at this time. The fun began in the noon session, when the speaker charged that former Governor Crothers, by exceeding the Osler age limit in his appointments to the commission, had "emasculated the act."

CHRISTIAN CONVERTS BEING HORRIBLY TREATED IN CHINA

Cheng-ting-Foo Looted and Burned.—Forty Persons Blinded then Decapitated by Imperial Troops.

A letter from a missionary at Hwang-Hsion, near Che-Foo, states that the imperial troops put out the eyes of forty Christian converts and then beheaded them, saying that they were naturally rebels.

Cheng-ting Foo, a very important city on the railroad, about 160 miles to the southwest of Peking, was added Monday to the list of places which have been looted and burned. No details have reached Peking, but it is thought that there need be no fear for the foreigners there because the mutineers everywhere are observing the rule of not touching strangers.

A private telegram says that 2,000 troops mutinied at Klu-Kiang, in the Yang-Tse Valley, and looted the town. French and Japanese troops have been dispatched by special train from Paoing-Foo to bring back their compatriots.

As usual, occasional shooting was heard in various parts of Peking Tuesday. Parties of mutineers returned there intending to resume looting. They were arrested and decapitated.

Sunday Famine-Relief Day.

William B. Millar, Secretary of the China Famine Relief Committee, has received this letter from President Taft:

Dear Mr. Millar: I sincerely trust that the people of the country will observe Sunday, March 10, and the Jewish people Saturday, March 9, as a famine relief day for the benefit of the starving multitudes in China. To all of us alike must come the appeal from these famine-stricken people, and to all of us if we respond there will sometimes come back the words, "Hungry, and ye fed me."

With best wishes for a successful appeal to the sympathy and assistance of our American people, I am, Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM H. TAFT, President American Red Cross.

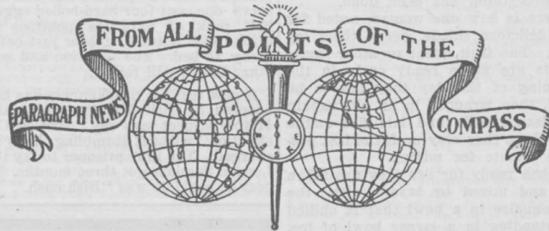

The committee points out that not since 1878 has so terrible a famine afflicted China. No deductions for expenses are made from funds received and cabled to China, and within four days this money is actually doing the work for which it was given.

That All Might Vote.

A bill which would permit actors, traveling men, railroad men and others absent from their homes on election day to vote for presidential electors in the states where they happen to be, was introduced in the House by Representative Cary, of Wisconsin. The bill would provide that secretaries of states issue certificates containing a description and other necessary information of the voter which would be recognized when presented at a polling place. It was referred to the Committee on Election of the President and Vice-President.

All Oklahoma to be Dry.

The Department of Justice has ordered Grant Victor, United States Marshal in Eastern Oklahoma, to have enforced the Federal prohibition law in the Indian Territory as was done prior to Statehood. Victor will appoint 200 Deputy Marshals to maintain the prohibition embargo. This with Oklahoma's law makes the whole state dry.

Friday.

A bill to put sugar on the free list and another to extend the present corporation tax to include individual and co-partnerships with an income of $5,000 a year were ratified to-night by the Democratic caucus of the House. By the first bill $53,000,000 would be eliminated from the annual customs revenues; by the latter the deficit would be made up.

Mutinous Chinese soldiers in the city of Peking have caused tremendous property losses in that city.

Rev. Robert Alexander Boyle, of Hagerstown, was elected a trustee of Wilson College.

The President of Paraguay has been captured by the revolutionists and compelled to resign.

Owing to insolvencies and deaths among stockholders the defunct Farmers' Trust Banking and Deposit Company, formerly of Mount Airy, which has paid 88 per cent. of its claims will be unable to pay in full. It was thought that a full settlement could be made by assessing its stockholders, but after a conference with the receivers the above statement was made.

Representative Lewis offered an amendment to the Agricultural bill today to provide compensation for tuberculous cows killed in Maryland by the Government, but it was ruled out on a point of order made by Chairman Lamb, of the committee, because it had not been presented to the committee in the regular way.

Saturday.

The shame of Lawrence was told today to the Rules Committee of the House by the men, women and children who endured the horrors of industrial warfare in the Massachusetts mill town.

As a result of the suffragette demonstration late yesterday, when the plate glass windows of scores of department stores in London were smashed. Mrs. Pankhurst and Mrs. Mabel Tukeach, two of the most prominent leaders of the militant organization, were today sentenced to two months' imprisonment.

The President to-day issued a proclamation declaring the neutrality of the United States in Mexico. This is the first official and formal recognition by this Government of a condition of affairs in Mexico, which the present Mexican administration is unable to control.

The Government has closed its investigation of alleged cutlery customs frauds, it was announced by the Treasury Department to-day, and if the suits and compromises now under way are successful, about $1,100,000 will be turned into the Treasury.

The residence of James E. Ingram, on Park Heights Avenue, Baltimore valued at $80,000, was destroyed by fire to-day, with most of its contents. The fire was caused by the explosion of a jar of cleaning fluid. Mrs. Ingram and her daughter were painfully burned on the hands and arms.

Sunday.

The city of Tien-Tsin was looted today by mutinous soldiers.

Mme. Casimir-Perier, widow of the ex-president of France, died to-day in Paris.

News has been received here that the new Apostolic Delegate to this country will leave Rome for New York on April 19. He was consecrated titular Bishop of Mitylene to-day.

Seventy-six Cleveland ladies are spending Lent in the hospitals, having had their appendices removed.

Senator Beveridge is out for Roosevelt. He spent to-day with several others, at Oyster Bay.

Monday.

The London Suffragettes are threatening terrible things. At a meeting this evening it was declared by a woman that the women would not hesitate to burn the royal palace if it were necessary to gain their ends.

An attempt was made to assassinate Leopold Rothschild by an anarchist in London. The shot hit a detective.

To-day ended the fifteenth year of Secretary Wilson as a member of the cabinet.

By a judgment in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to-day at St. Louis a lower court decision, under which a Catholic monastic order received the property of a member who died, was set aside. The Appellate Court held that when an order once permitted a monk to own property, the inheritance passes to the natural heirs unless he has arranged otherwise in a will.

The government's suit against officials of the American Sugar Refining Company, charging conspiracy in restraint of trade, was called for trial in the United States District Court today.

The jury in the Kimmel mystery case returned a verdict that Andrew J. White is not George A. Kimmel, but it was unable to decide whether Kimmel was alive or dead in March, 1904.

The United States Court of Appeals, sitting in Philadelphia, has postponed for two weeks or more its decision on a form of decree dissolving the so-called Powder Trust.

The White Star liner Olympic, just repaired, bumped into West Twin Island, near Belfast, Ireland, and was put back for repairs.

Guglielmo Marconi, pioneer of wireless telegraphy, having refused King Victor's offer to elevate him to the nobility, was to-day made a life member of the Senate.

Citizens of Alexandria, Va., a part of the District of Columbia until 1846, are petitioning for reannexation to the District.

Tuesday.

Former mayor of San Francisco, Eugene E. Schmidz, was acquitted in San Francisco to-day of the charge of having bribed officials, on the ground of insufficient evidence.

Harvey L. Zimmerman, dairyman near Adamstown, Frederick county, arrested on the charge of violating the National Pure Food law, was taken to Hagerstown and held in $500 bail to-day by United States Commissioner Alexander R. Hagner for his appearance before the grand jury in Washington March 19. Zimmerman is accused of shipping into Washington and selling milk that had been diluted with water.

Three hundred and fifty women employed in Frederick have signed a petition urging that this county be exempted from the proposed 10-hour law for women. Every girl of the 250 employed at the hosiery mill signed the petition.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company is unloading at Weverton large quantities of materials to be used in laying additional tracks from Weverton to Harper's Ferry. In a few days the contractors will arrive with teams, camp equipages, steam shovels and about 300 men.

Senator Dixon, Chairman of the National Roosevelt Executive Committee, sent to Representative McKinley, chairman of the National Taft Bureau, this afternoon, a challenge for a general primary to ascertain definitely whether the Republican voters are for Roosevelt or Taft as their candidate for the Presidency.

Wednesday.

From now on all women who break the laws will be treated the same as every one else who commits a crime," declared inspector McCarthy, of the London police, today, in outlining the plans of the city authorities to stamp out the property-destroying tactics of the militant suffragettes.

Rev. F. Day, a missionary was shot dead by Chinese mutineers at Chingho today. Rev. Dr. Day was connected with the Church of England mission.

Johns Hopkins men of New York and the eastern parts of New Jersey, forming the Johns Hopkins Alumni, held the annual business meeting, dinner and social reunion in New York, electing Dr. Elgin R. L. Gould, a former Baltimorean, president.

William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., was elected vice president of the New York Central and Hudson River and the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad Companies, and will eventually be elevated to the presidency of the entire Vanderbilt system.

Public funeral honors in charge of the Navy Department, will be accorded the late of the Maine dead, in Washington, on March 22, according to a tentative program made public to-day. The program will be dependent upon the freeing of the hulk of the wrecked battleship from the cofferdam in Havana harbor on March 15, as is now planned.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY WILL LOOK OVER BALTIMORE RATES

To Annul Contracts If Charges Against Hotel Men Are Proven.—Speedy Results are Expected.

As an outcome of the criticism of the Baltimore hotel rates for the Democratic National Convention and the charges of Urey Woodson, of Kentucky, secretary of the national committee, that the agreement made by the hotel managers not to raise their rates was being violated the General Assembly of Maryland has taken up the matter and speedy results are anticipated.

To determine whether the hotels exacted extortionate rates, Senator Maloy introduced a resolution providing for an investigation by a legislative committee, consisting of the city senators and the members of the House Judiciary Committee.

At the same time Senator Trippe introduced in the House a bill drafted by Arthur W. Machen, which gave to the Public Service Commission the authority to take cognizance and to declare void any contracts which they may find to be unfair and unjust. The bill is to make effective the findings of the investigating committee named in the Maloy resolution.

TAFT OFF FOR THE WEST TO TAKE TEDDY'S SCALP

Will Speak in Two Western Cities to Explain His Position and Try to Pull the Props from Fallacies.

President Taft left Washington Thursday night for the West, where he will make a number of speeches replying to the Columbus address of Colonel Roosevelt. At no time will President Taft allude to his opponent by name, for Mr. Taft is determined that the present campaign shall be a discussion of principles and policies, not of men. It is probable that Mr. Taft will first devote himself to disclosing the fallacies of the recall, because the recall is particularly objectionable to him.

Mr. Taft will first stop at Toledo, where he will arrive about 4 o'clock this afternoon. He will be given a reception at the Commerce Club, where he will meet the business men of the city, and afterward he will make an address at a mass meeting in the Coliseum. On both occasions he will make addresses.

Leaving Toledo late to-night, he will arrive in Chicago Saturday, to begin a day so busy that he will hardly have an hour's time for himself.

Waynesboro Machinists Angry.

Because 60 employees of the mounting shops of the Geiser Manufacturing Company refused to return to work under a foreman who swore at them, the management locked out its 1,000 employees Monday morning. The management tried to fill the strikers' places, but the men in other departments declared that the importation of strike breakers would be followed by a general strike. An effort was made to persuade the stockholders among the strikers to return to their places, but they refused.

Emmitsburg Pike and Lincoln Way.

James K. Waters, of Thurmont, former Register of Wills of Frederick county, has brought forward a plan for securing the Lincoln Memorial Boulevard for Frederick county. The plan of Mr. Waters is to have the State of Maryland donate the Emmitsburg turnpike which it now owns, to the Federal Government, upon condition that it be used as a portion of the Lincoln Highway.

Wickersham Stands by Negro Lawyer.

Attorney-General Wickersham will resign from the American Bar Association if it votes at the convention in Milwaukee next Summer to exclude from its membership William H. Lewis, one of Mr. Wickersham's assistants in the Department of Justice. Lewis is a Negro, formerly residing in Boston. He was regularly elected and is a member in good standing in the association.

All is Anarchy in Mexico.

Advices from Mexico show a condition of brigandage and anarchy worse than anything heretofore reported from that country. While Juarez is quiet the northern states are in a perfectly lawless state; there is no government at all.

Compromise Republican Wanted.

Talk of a compromise Republican candidate for President is becoming widespread among Republicans in Washington. This suggestion as a solution of the present situation in Republican ranks is being heard among the Roosevelt as well as Taft supporters.

We all look for a square deal now, but we want more than that hereafter.

GREAT SCHOOL FOR STATE TECHNICAL INSTITUTE

In Connection With Johns Hopkins University

WANT STATE TO GIVE $1,500,000

An Industrial Investment Not Simply an Educational Proposition.—To Save Expense State Must Seize Present Opportunity.

Over a year ago, several prominent men of Maryland, not in any way connected with the Johns Hopkins University but interested in public affairs, strongly advocated in the public press the establishment, by State appropriation, of a school of Applied Science in conjunction with the Johns Hopkins University.

At the present session of the Legislature, a resolution was passed appointing a committee to confer with the University trustees. The joint committee visited the Engineering schools of the University of Pennsylvania, of Columbia, Yale and Harvard Universities, and of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The committee returned convinced of the great importance to the State of such a school and are now in conference working out the details of a plan.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology spends nearly $600,000 per annum and represents a capital of probably $8,000,000. This great school is devoted exclusively to the teaching of different branches of engineering, and is not connected with any University.

The cost of adding to a university a department of Applied Science is totally different. If a university already owns its land, laboratories and libraries, and has its administrative officers, and its professors and instructors of mathematics and the sciences, then the addition of a new department represents a much smaller outlay.

For example, such a school was added at the University of Pennsylvania, at Columbia and at Yale. An analysis of the treasurers' reports and statements shows that an appropriation of $2,200,000 would duplicate the University of Pennsylvania's building and plant and provide the necessary endowment.

As at present proposed, the plan is for the State of Maryland to appropriate $1,500,000 to cover the cost of the establishment and permanent maintenance of the school under the direction of the Johns Hopkins University, the sum to be payable in three installments of $500,000 each.

Students whose homes are in the counties and city are to receive over 100 scholarships (exact number to be determined later), entitling them to a free education through every year of the school, so long as they prove themselves capable and worthy. The scholarships are not to be awarded by competition open to all, but by competition open only to those whose means are such that they could not otherwise procure an education than by a free scholarship.

An additional number of these scholarships will be open to graduates of the leading colleges of this State. These colleges will be selected later.

The solution of our tax problems in this State does not lie in economies alone, but to a far greater extent in increasing the assessable basis for taxation by increasing the wealth of the State. Experience has proved that nothing contributes so quickly to the increase of industrial wealth as technical schools of high grade. The present proposition, instead of increasing the State's tax burden, should in the course of time yield manifold returns to our taxpayers.

Let us assume for the sake of argument, that there would be no increase whatever in the State's assessable basis as a result of the founding of this school. What then would be the cost to the county resident? It should be remembered that city residents pay more than half the State taxes and that this appropriation will establish and maintain a school which will offer free tuition to a large number of county boys. To express the matter graphically, it has been estimated that the cost to county taxpayers per resident, would be the value of about one-tenth of a bushel of potatoes per annum.

It is estimated that nearly 300 Maryland boys are now at the Northern schools of technology. Local ties are broken; and they take up their life's work elsewhere. But these are the sons of well-to-do men—the poor boy cannot afford to go so far from home.

Those boys who wish to enter a profession have, practically, only two open to them—medicine and law. Many

(Continued on page 2.)

STATE PRESS ON ROOSEVELT

(Continued from page 1.) from that heritage of government bequeathed to them out of immeasurable sacrifice. Mr. Roosevelt has placed himself at the head of the "progressives" by a declaration of government so at variance with the ideas of American institutions, as expounded for upwards of a century, that many, who have been his admirers, will now feel obliged to enlist under other leadership.

GREAT SCHOOL FOR STATE

(Continued from page 1.) of them have no special inclination to these professions, but have distinct mechanical ability. This plan of a School of Technology will open a new doorway to these boys; and the graduates of such a school always have positions at good salaries waiting for them.

There are now 787 students at the Johns Hopkins University, fifty per cent. of the students in the college department come from the public schools. Of these latter students, between one-fourth and one-third now hold free scholarships or have satisfactory arrangements made for their tuition charges.

The University last year conducted throughout the summer months for those who could not arrange to take a regular collegiate education, a summer school which had over 375 attendants. There are now special courses for teachers at the University, which have over 116 attendants.

The Johns Hopkins University is conducted economically. Columbia spends $2,500,000 in a year; Harvard, $2,300,000; Chicago, nearly $2,000,000; Yale, $1,500,000; University of Pennsylvania over $1,000,000; and even the universities of the newer states, such as Nebraska and Washington, spend over $500,000 a year; while the Johns Hopkins University, in the year in which the comparisons were made, spent less than $340,000. Notwithstanding this larger expenditure of money on the part of the other institutions, the list prepared in New York several years ago of the thousand leading men of science in the United States, showed that 171 of them had taken their degrees at the Johns Hopkins University.

If the State of Maryland desires to secure a school of this sort at a very low cost, now is the opportunity. The University is about to break ground for buildings at its new site at Homewood. The plans are already drawn; if a technical school is to be added, the plans must be re-arranged at once. It should be done now.

Many years ago there was submitted to the Legislature of Maryland, a proposition for the establishment of a school of technology by a gentleman from Virginia. The proposition was rejected. Later the Massachusetts Legislature was approached and accepted the proposition. The result was the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, now educating in one year over 1,500 future mechanical, electrical, industrial and civil engineers.

PARAGRAPH NEWS.

Thursday. Henri Salvey, the French aviator, sailed through the air from London to Paris without a stop, in two hours and fifty-seven minutes.

Maryland's local option bill will be reported out on March 19, and made the special order of business.

The suffragettes of London began smashing windows again today in that city. The women selected the largest windows for their demonstration.

It was reported today that Captain Robert Scott of the English expedition, reached the South Pole. This morning's New York Times did not credit the report.

Acting upon its own initiative the Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered an investigation into the proposed advance in transportation rates on cement shipped from Union Bridge, Md., to Norfolk, Va., and other destinations.

Tests of Friendship

There is a general idea that friendship is chiefly tested by adversity, that it is easy to retain our friends when things go well with us, but that they are likely to be driven off by our troubles. This is such an obvious and cheap cynicism, it has been expressed in so many tongues, has so often been crystallized into proverbs or fables the world over, that it hardly seems worth repeating. But one notable thing is usually overlooked—that it does not apply to friendship at all. It applies only to imitations of friendship.

It is the very nature of true friendship to thrive best in an atmosphere of trouble. Assuming that we are sincere, we all know that we are never drawn so closely to a friend as when he is in difficulties and needs us. It is easy to be his friend then, because that is just the condition that friendship loves; it is far more difficult to be his friend when he is prosperous and seems to have no need of us.

It may seem that this friendship in adversity is a very noble thing; certainly there may be much beauty, much tender self-sacrifice and loving service in its manifestation. But let us not flatter ourselves too easily.

The trouble of a friend makes its appeal to our vanity; we feel that we are needed, and this is always a gratifying knowledge; we feel that we are of importance and that is ever a pleasure to our self-esteem. But when everything is well with our friend, apparently he has what he wants and is independent of us. Naturally, that is a time when shams of friendship flourish, for their aim is to get and not to give; true friendship's aim is to get by giving.

Of course the difference in our friend's condition is really only superficial; he truly needs our friendship always, as much in prosperity as in trouble. But we are disconcerted by appearances; if we ever draw away from him, cool toward him, it is when he is in the sunshine, not when the clouds are around him. His prosperity may alienate us; his trouble calls us back to him. And this fact should cause us a very limited pride. Our attitude in his prosperity is the real test.

We may therefore say that a man's prosperity is the greatest trial of his friends—that is, of his true friends. It ought to be true that friendship shares the joys as well as the sorrows of life, but in the case of the joys the sharing is more difficult. It is not difficult to go about seeking pleasure together, to travel, to have a good time together; it is not difficult to share each other's love of art or music or literature or science. Comradeship in these things may become very close, very stimulating and satisfying; but mere comradeship, good fellowship is not quite enough for friendship.

Can we be truly glad when our friend is doing better than we are in any one of these pursuits, when he succeeds, while, perhaps, we are doing poorly, when he wins applause that is denied us? Is it not easy to think that his success is a little beyond measure and ours is a little below? Or if fortune comes to him as it has never come to us; if riches are poured into his hands, so that he can gain whatever money will purchase and do whatever he has a mind to; is it then so easy to remain his loyal and devoted friend, assuming that we are far above any desire to sponge upon his wealth? Can we bring ourselves, in proper spirit, to accept his help instead of having the proud joy of giving help? Are we not liable to imagine an air of superiority in him?

Our very self-respect renders us sensitive, quick to be hurt, apt to imagine that his prosperity has changed our friend for the worst. It may be possible that it has; which proves that he never needed our friendship more. For prosperity is the supreme test of a man, because its tendency is to enervate and weaken; adversity rouses and rallies all that is strongest in us.

Selfishly, we like our friend to be worse off than we are; to be in need of our better natures. The good things cling to us; it is merely a perversion of our better natures. The good things in us may so easily be wrongly employed. The true friendship, because the more unselfish, may be shown when our friend does not appear to need us, when he can give to us rather than we to him. It is not always more blessed to give than to receive; sometimes the position is reversed. Besides which there are more ways of giving than one, and the prosperous friend may really be in sore want of our sympathy, our tender affection and counsel; he may also long for our acceptance of that which it will be a joy to him to expend upon us. To give nobly is a very fine thing; it is an equally fine thing to accept nobly.

It is easy to be true to our friend when he is in trouble, when he is down, when others fly from him, when others despise and neglect him. The response to such a call is one of friendship's deepest joys. But in times when we can do nothing for him, when he makes no claim upon us, when he is in the sunshine and all things go well with him—it is then that the sifting of our friendship comes. If we can pass the test of his prosperity we need not be much afraid of his adversity. This is what is meant to be his friend through thick and thin.

POINTS FOR THE HOSTESS

How to Overcome Some of the Little Difficulties That Beset the Busy Housewife.

Have you ever had a delicious dinner ruined by warm salad? If you have, you were doubtless enraged and blamed the cook. She probably told you that the salad just came from the refrigerator, and if she is truthful she left you without argument.

Refrigerating is about the only method of keeping salads cold that most women know. They think if the ingredients are put in a dish on the ice everything has been done.

Here is how one woman, noted for her delicious salads, keeps them icy cold. The fruit, meat or other ingredients are made ready early in the morning of the day they are to be used, then wrapped in an old napkin or clean muslin and laid flat on the ice; there they stay until the last possible minute for mixing.

When ready for use they are taken out and mixed by layers with the mayonnaise in a bowl that is chilled by standing in a larger bowl of ice. The mayonnaise is kept in the refrigerator until needed, and the lettuce is washed as soon as bought, then dried and wrapped in a cloth and put flat on the ice until used.

If you get too much salt into your tomato soup, add a bit of brown sugar. It seems to make salty soup taste all right. But better still is to add a few slices of raw potato.

To mend linen tablecloths remove the presser-foot from your machine. Insert the place to be darned under it and stitch back and forth. It is much quicker and neater than when done by hand.

Probably everybody knows that boiled ham and corned beef have a nicer flavor if left to cool in the liquor in which they are cooked, but a lot of people don't follow the practice, possible because they dislike the large greasy kettle to wash late in the day.

To take the smell of fish from hands, wash them in water which contains a few drops of ammonia.

To take the odor of onions from dishes, after washing them, put them on the stove a few seconds to be heated thoroughly. When cool again the odor will be gone.

Kerosene or gasolene applied with a cloth will remove all grease marks from porcelain basins and bath tubs. Rinse well with hot water.

To assist in bleaching ivory after it has been washed, expose it to the sun. When a disagreeable odor penetrates the house overcome it by sprinkling dried lemon peels on the fire.

Coal oil will soften the old paint brushes used last year. Place them in a can of the oil and wash them well in warm soap suds.

Good Dressing.

One and a half loaves bread cut fine; season with one tablespoon sage, half a teaspoon thyme, half a teaspoon black pepper. Brown two large onions in butter. Mix all together. Boil gizzard, liver and heart until tender. Have about a pint of water from that to pour over bread crumbs to soften. Last put one can of good mushrooms with it; also one cup of ground celery. The onions have to be browned. Chop gizzard, liver and heart in chopping bowl and mix it in also. This can be used for turkey or chicken. For duck or goose I use a little more onion. The celery can be cut fine and cooked with the liver, if one prefers it real soft. Garlic should never be used for turkey or chicken.

Mutton Stew.

Trim the fat from three pounds of mutton, and chop in small pieces as usual for stewing. Salt and pepper and place in bag with four chopped, peeled onions and an equal quantity of thinly sliced potatoes. Add a sprinkling of kitchen herbs and a cup and a half of cold water. Cook in a hot oven 45 minutes. The onions may be omitted and curry used instead, or cold boiled rice and tomatoes may take the place of the potatoes and onions, but the principle remains the same.

Chili.

Take three-fourths cup of good suet, two cups tender beef (raw), one-half small onion, twelve dried red peppers (with seeds emptied out), small carrot and small potato and put it all through the food chopper. Then add heaping teaspoon flour, one-half teaspoon red pepper and salt to taste. Now strain into this a can of tomatoes and add three pints of water. Let it simmer two or three hours. Makes a complete meal. Is especially good in real cold weather.

Cold Slaw.

Cut crisp heads of cabbage fine with a sharp knife. Sprinkle it sparingly with salt, then dress with vinegar that has been modified with water and slightly sweetened with granulated sugar. Lastly, add cream whipped to a stiff froth and toss lightly.

Apple Custard Pie.

Six apples, grated; three eggs, beaten separately; one cupful cream and enough milk to thin about like pumpkin pie. Sweeten to taste, flavor with lemon. Bake in open crust.

???

Some people are very like game birds—all right while they're flying, but dead ones when they drop.

The worst kind of over production from which the world is suffering is the over production of ne'er-do-wells.

The girl with high-heeled shoes may think she is nearer heaven, but her feet feel like someplace else.

It is also possible that Theodore will serve as President if he is elected.

That President Lincoln was a lawyer makes his career the more marvelous.

If you want a vacation and don't deserve one, eat four hard-boiled eggs, a half peck of Saratoga potatoes and drink four bottles of beer just before going to bed. The vacation and some other things will follow.

A new test for drunkenness has been adopted by British police magistrates. If the suspect can say "British Constitution" without stumbling, he is discharged. The first prisoner to try it at London Sessions got three months. The best he could do was "Bish cush."

Paint—Drouth

The longer the drouth the more rain is required to water the earth.

The longer a building goes without painting the dryer it gets and more paint is required to keep water out.

A ten gallon Job this year is a eleven gallon Job next year—you will save money by using the best paint.

DEVOE'S J. Thos. Gelwicks, Agt. april 24-ly

THE OLD RELIABLE Mutual Insurance Company OF FREDERICK COUNTY

ORGANIZED 1843 OFFICE—46 NORTH MARKET ST. FREDERICK, MD.

A. C. MCCARDELL O. C. WAREHIME President Secretary

SURPLUS $25,000

NO PREMIUM NOTES REQUIRED

INSURES ALL CLASSES OF PROPERTY AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE AT RATES 25 PER CENT. LESS THAN STOCK COMPANIES CHARGE A Home Insurance Company for Home Insurers mch 11-10-ly

You Want The "F. & D." Guarantee

WE WRITE Fidelity and Surety Accident and Health Burglary Plate Glass Liability Auto'

ORGANIZED 1890 ASSETS $6,904,365.36 HOME OFFICE: BALTIMORE MD.

Fidelity and Deposit Co.

OF MARYLAND EDWIN WARFIELD, President. We Do Business Everywhere HALLER & NEWMAN General Agents for Frederick County FREDERICK, MD. Aug 12-10-ly

At Dukehart's Carriage Shops

= CARLOAD OF THE = Famous Studebaker Buggies and Farm Wagons

Drop in and inspect this line before you buy, it will pay you Repairing and Repainting Work Made to Order

Very Respectfully, J. J. Dukehart. Feb. 10-'11 lvr.

If You lose anything, You find anything, You want anything, You have anything to sell, You want to rent a house, You have a house to rent, Put your ad. in THE CHRONICLE. CHRONICLE Ads. Bring Results.

Editor Abbott of the Annapolis Evening Capital died yesterday.

—CALL ON— GEO. T. EYSTER. —AND— See his splendid stock of GOLD & SILVER Key & Stem-Winding WATCHES.

Any absent Emmitsburgian would appreciate a subscription to The Chronicle. 52 weeks $1.00.

Advertisement for 'Shop the Easy Way' featuring an illustration of a woman shopping and text promoting Bell Telephone service for groceries and other errands. R. W. STAKE, District Manager, FREDERICK, MARYLAND.

Advertisement for Cortright Metal Shingles, Storm Proof. Features large stylized text and text describing the product's durability and fire-proof qualities. For Sale by JAMES G. BISHOP, Emmitsburg, Md.

EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

are presented in the present low prices on high-grade well-secured investment bonds. Many gilt-edge securities are now selling on a 5 per cent. to 6 per cent. basis; this opportunity should be taken while it is here. Underlying conditions are improving and it is to be expected that the low prices now prevailing will not hold much longer. Bond prices by the middle of the year should be materially higher than they are at present, and already the investment market is strengthening up.

Make your investment purchases now, through us. Our facilities for the purchase and sale of securities are equal to those of larger city firms and more convenient to you.

MOTTER BROS. & CO., BANKERS AND BROKERS, FREDERICK, MARYLAND.

The Emmitsburg Savings Bank

A public institution, organized and owned by the people and operated in the interest of the people.

Table showing the following is a statement of its growth: Interest 4%, Paid on Savings Accounts, and a list of dates and amounts from June 12, 1909 to December 30, 1911, totaling 218,806.19.

UNDER STATE CONTROL

Having a State Charter, the Emmitsburg Savings Bank is subject by law to regular examination under the supervision of the State Bank Examiner—just the same as a National Bank—and its statements are published, in accordance with the law, five times a year.

DR. D. E. STONE, Jr., President. GUY K. MOTTER, P. F. BURKET, STERLING GALT, J. LEWIS RHODES, J. R. OHLER, P. F. BURKET, Teller, GUY K. MOTTER, Attorney. DR. D. E. STONE, Jr., GUY K. MOTTER, P. F. BURKET, STERLING GALT, J. LEWIS RHODES, J. R. OHLER, E. R. SHRIVER, J. C. ROSENSTELL, WM. A. DEVLBISS, DIRECTORS.

The Weekly Chronicle

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY AT EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND.

STERLING GALT, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TERMS:—One Dollar a year in advance; Six months, 50 cents. Trial subscriptions, Three months, 25 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES made known on application at this office.

THE PROPRIETOR reserves the right to decline any advertisements which he may deem objectionable.

NO ATTENTION whatever will be paid to anonymous contributions.

MANUSCRIPTS offered for publication will be returned if unavailable, when accompanied by stamps.

CHESAPEAKE AND POTOMAC PHONE.

Entered as second-class matter January 1, 1909, at the post office at Emmitsburg, Md., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1912.

THE CHRONICLE will be independent in politics, progressive in spirit and a champion of what it conceives to be right. Its columns will always be open for a dignified discussion by the people of any subject that may seem to them interesting, or that may in anywise be a benefit to the community at large.

[Editorial from The Chronicle, June 8, 1906.]

1912 MARCH 1912
S	M	T	W	T	F	S
					1	2
3	4	5	6	7	8	9
10	11	12	13	14	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30

Communications intended for publication in this paper, letters of a business nature in relation to the Chronicle, and all orders for Job Printing to be done at this office should be addressed to THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoctin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

ROAD WORK FOR TRAMPS.

The provisions for the employment of tramps on the roads of Maryland, incorporated in the various bills that pertain to public highways, and similar suggestions offered by the various granges and good roads associations in the State show beyond a doubt that public sentiment and public economy favor this very practical solution of the tramp problem.

If road work in other states is being successfully and economically furthered by this course there would seem to be no legal obstacle in a like procedure on the part of the Maryland authorities.

An able-bodied man without visible means of support, who of his own volition, continuously remains idle; who becomes intoxicated whenever he can procure liquor; who has no habitation or fixed abode and who insists on pestering a community or pillaging in it, is a dangerous public nuisance and as such should be summarily dealt with. There is no reason why he should not be arrested, turned over to the county commissioners or town officers and by them put to work for a specified time on the public roads or streets.

It is safe to say that no district in the State suffers more from the tramp nuisance than Emmitsburg, which is daily invaded, from April till November, by ruffianly stragglers from that vast army of the don't-want-to-be-employed whose presence is a menace to morality and decency and a positive danger to women and children.

But sentiment without action amounts to little. If the people of Frederick county and of Emmitsburg district in particular, are in earnest they can make their potential sentiment forceful and practical only by recording that sentiment at Annapolis.

SWEARING ON THE STREETS.

Every now and then, after a marked exhibition of unseemly behavior on the streets of Emmitsburg, accompanied by swearing and foul language, there is naturally an immediate and decided protest from law-abiding citizens. This is right. There should be a protest, but it ought not to stop at that. These same law-abiding citizens should go a step farther. They should help to convict the guilty. There is both a State law and a local law that provides suitable punishment for persons who curse, swear or in any other manner disturb the peace. These culprits, however, may not be arrested except by an officer of the law; nor can they be convicted unless evidence is produced proving their guilt.

If those who see or hear anything constituting an overt act are either too indifferent or too timid to enter complaint and appear as witnesses against offenders, they have only themselves to blame if there is a repetition or a continuance of the offense. The remedy is in the people's hands. They have the law on their side, but they must cooperate with the properly constituted authorities if they want that law enforced.

BULLY. An insolent, quarrelsome, threatening fellow; one who tyrannizes over or terrorizes others, especially those weaker than himself; a browbeater; blusterer.—Standard Dictionary.

This, perhaps, gives the true meaning of some of Col. Roosevelt's "bully" times, "bully" ideas, etc. And now comes "Aunt Delia" with a scheme for organizing a regular "bully" union under the name of "Bullycrats."

The Kilkenny Cats in the days that are gone, so the story books tell us e'en now, were wonderful scrappers, hair pullers and all, and a terrible two for a row. And Teddy and Bill though they don't come to blows, and of feline persuasion are not, are at present engaged in a merry word war that heats up the political pot.

If there is one privilege that the people cherish and one the exercise of which they have a right to expect, it is the privilege of voting for whom they want to represent them as delegates to the presidential nominating convention. The bill granting this privilege should by all means be passed.

"COOPERATION between home business men and the buying and selling public is absolutely necessary to a prosperous community of varied interests." And catalogue houses do not support home industry. At least give your home merchant the chance to supply your wants. All he asks for is an opportunity.

At last we are made acquainted with the origin of "painting the town red." Former Indian Commissioner Leupp says that "red ink and vanilla are drunk by Indians when unable to get whiskey." We have lately observed the increase in red ink sales.

J. OGDEN ARMOUR, the Chicago millionaire packer, sued an improvement company to recover three acres of land which, after purchase by him, became inundated. This shows that in these days even real estate deals are watered.

THERE'S a goodly rule in life that people ought to learn by heart, and practice every hour of every day. 'Tis this: you need good friends full quite as much as they need you, so it's always well to act the friendly part.

WINDOW smashing, tongue lashing and other exercises of rowdiness on the part of overzealous women fail to convince the majority of folks that there is a crying necessity for woman suffrage.

No doubt a merry peel of music that which Sig Raoul Bonanno, the new Italian baritone, sends forth. His engagement in this country will not be fruitless to say the least.

FOR six years THE CHRONICLE has advocated the use of the split log drag for public roads and it is delighted to learn that the county commissioners have at last consented to use it.

SELF-DENIAL, whether it be in meat, drink, dress or pleasure, is, apart from its religious aspect, gradually coming to be recognized as sound economics and good civics.

THE Maryland delegation in Congress is doing its part nobly in regard to the Lincoln Memorial Highway.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

A FIRE-FIGHTING INVENTOR.

By A. W. MACY.

John Lofting, a citizen of London in the latter part of the eighteenth century, had a passion for fighting fires. Though never a member of the fire department, he always responded to an alarm, and was usually one of the first to arrive on the scene. He rendered efficient service, but would accept no pay. He was a metal worker by trade, and in 1792 he invented a contrivance to protect the thumb while sewing. It was a sort of bell-shaped cup, hence it was called a thumb-bell. In the course of time this was changed into the more euphonious "thimble." The article is now worn on one of the fingers while sewing, instead of on the thumb as formerly, though sailors stick to the old custom.

(Copyright, 1911, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

KEEPING MILK SWEET.

Milk will keep sweet indefinitely, sealed, immersed in water at a temperature of 50 degrees F. A bottle of milk was taken from a well at Sycamore, Ill., a few days ago, perfectly sweet, that was accidentally dropped six years ago. And the same conditions will preserve butter. If the milk is first raised to a temperature of 150, it will keep much better, this degree of heat being sufficient to secure the benefits of Pasteurization without the injurious effects that follow a temperature above 160, the coagulating point of albumen.

(Copyright, 1911, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

LUNCHEON FOR EIGHT

PUZZLED HOUSEWIFE WILL FIND THIS OF INTEREST.

Elaborate Menu Composed of Some Old Dishes in New Form and Some That Are Really New—Rector Leaf.

Rector Leaf.—Remove pulp from four grapefruit, add one-half cupful powdered sugar, two teaspoonfuls of orange curacao, one teaspoonful each of lemon juice and Kirsch, and a speck of salt. Chill and serve in coupe glasses with mint leaves.

Cream of Watercress Soup.—Wash, pick over and finely chop one bunch watercress, add to three cupfuls of white stock, bring to a boiling point and let simmer ten minutes; then strain through double thickness cheese cloth. Melt three and one-half tablespoonfuls of butter, add four tablespoonfuls of flour and add to stock. Cook until mixture thickens, add one cupful of heavy cream, season with salt and pepper and color green. Serve with thin triangular pieces of toasted bread.

Scallops en Brochette.—Clean scallops, cook until they begin to shrivel, drain and dry. Put on skewers alternating with small slices of bacon. Cook in hot oven until bacon is crisp and brown. Arrange on serving-dish and garnish with cucumber cups filled with cubes of cucumber, lemon and parsley.

Sweetbreads.—Parboil four pairs of sweetbreads in white wine to which is added one onion, ten slices carrot, three stalks celery, one teaspoonful salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper-corns 20 minutes. Drain sweetbreads and glaze in butter to which is added beef extract. Arrange on pieces of sauted bread and pour over a thick sauce made of four tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, two-thirds cup each chicken stock and cream, yolk two eggs, salt, pepper, cayenne and lemon juice to taste. Dip a fork in beef extract and trail through the sauce. Garnish with strips of cooked ham and green peppers.

A Basket of Mushrooms.—Cook long strips of macaroni in boiling salted water, drain but do not rinse with cold water. Stick small wooden skewers at equal distances in a circular mound of cooked hominy. Cover skewers with macaroni and weave long basket. Fill with stewed mushrooms prepared as follows: Clean one pound mushrooms, remove caps and slice in pieces. Saute in five tablespoonfuls butter three minutes. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and pour over one-half to three-fourths cup cream. Cook five minutes.

Porcupine Salad.—Remove skins from eight small tomatoes and let stand until chilled. Arrange lettuce leaf on a plate, in center put one tablespoon salad dressing, on dressing place a tomato which has been stuck with small strips of celery and green peppers at regular intervals. Sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

Waltham Salad Dressing.—Mix two teaspoons each salt and sugar, one teaspoon mustard and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Add one egg slightly beaten, one-fourth cup vinegar and one cup sour cream. Cook in double boiler until mixture thickens.

Siberian Charlotte.—Line individual moulds with lady fingers brushed over with rum. Cover bottom of mould with orange ice to the depth of one-half inch; then add enough whipped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla to fill mould. Place small moulds in a pail or larger mould. Cover, pack in salt and ice, and let stand one and one-half hours.

Lady Fingers.—Beat whites three eggs until stiff, add gradually one-third cup powdered sugar and continue the beating. Then add yolks two eggs beaten until thick and lemon-colored, and one-fourth teaspoonful vanilla. Cut and fold in one-third cup flour mixed with one-eighth teaspoon salt. Shape on a tin sheet covered with unbuttered paper, using a pasty bag and tube. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake in a slow oven.

Scalloped Fish.—Take any boiled fresh fish, as trout or whitefish; pick into flakes and be careful to free from all bones. Scatter the shredded fish in the bottom of an earthen dish, cover with a layer of cracker crumbs, then a layer of fish, put in a little pepper and salt, if necessary; add a teaspoonful of melted butter, then another layer of crumbs, then of fish, seasoning, and so on until the dish is nearly full. Have a layer of crackers on top, and over the whole pour enough milk to cover. Put a small plate on top and bake for 40 minutes in a hot oven. Before serving take off the plate to let it brown.

Advertising. We advertise to sell something with which we are over supplied; or to supply our services where they are wanted. If everybody knew intuitively or by instinct where everything they need can be found, advertising would not need to be done. It would, of course, be superfluous.

But this happy situation does not exist. You cannot sell something until some one who wants to buy knows that you have got it. In fact if we have goods or services to part with, we must do our best to let all the world (not merely one buyer) know what they are, and what inducements you can offer in disposing of them.

Efficacy Is Proven. The New Orleans Item one day recently devoted its back page to an ad offering that identical page for sale every Friday during 1912. Twenty minutes after the paper was out the space was sold. It is fairly certain that the publishers of this paper, at least, believe in the efficacy of their own medium.

MODERN ADVERTISING REALLY INSTRUCTIVE

By William C. Freeman.

An advertising manager of a newspaper recently sent to the editor in chief copy of a speech made by a big national advertiser which expressed some very commonsense views on the business situation and how to improve it.

The advertising manager suggested that there was material in that advertiser's speech for a good editorial. Very much to his surprise, the editor-in-chief thanked him for bringing the advertiser's speech to his attention, saying that he depended more on the commonsense views of manufacturers and merchants than he did upon the opinion of lawyer statesmen.

Which made the advertising manager recall the time when it was high treason to the editorial sanctum for an editor to pay the slightest attention to an advertiser. Mention of the name of an advertiser on the editorial page or in the news column was not ethical; it looked too much like mixing commercialism with editorial and news dignity, and that was unforgivable. Times have changed.

Some of the best thought on matters of the gravest importance comes from the business man, and now editors and news gatherers are only too glad to publish editorial opinions and interviews on what business men say, even though, as advertisers, they do get some free publicity.

This kind of free publicity, however, is totally different from that which is sought by press agents representing men and interests whose opinions on every subject under the sun they think are worth recording.

The brainy business man who pays for publicity of his own as applied to his business does not seek personal publicity. That generally seeks him, and when it is given it is of value to everybody—perhaps least of all to him.

Advertising and public opinion are pretty closely allied now. Advertisers who appreciate the full value of intelligent publicity are really educating the people—supplying them with necessary knowledge about business so that the people today have a better understanding of the needs of business than most of the statesmen who represent them.

Modern advertising is really instructive—informative.

"Newspaper advertising is the cheapest advertising known. That is to say it reaches more people in proportion to the money expended than any other kind of advertising. What is really needed is concentration of support on one section of the country at a time. This concentration can only be obtained by use of locality mediums, and of these the daily newspaper is far and away the best."—From Newspapers as Advertising Mediums, by F. J. Gibson.

TRUE STORY WITH A MORAL

Which Is That Even Undertakers Can Advertise to Some Advantage.

One of the hardest businesses to advertise in the world and keep within the "ethics" of the profession, is the undertaker's. Just out of Pittsburg, an undertaker selected a queer medium, so people thought, namely, a drinking cup, to advertise his business. The name and address painted in bottom so that a man taking a drink of "agua pura" drawn from the pipe at the village watering trough, looking through the typhoid germs, could see the undertaker's ad. at the bottom.

Several of these were placed at a watering trough in front of the country store. A fast train ran into a work train containing a load of Italians, one of whom fortunately could read English. He ran to the watering trough to get a cup of water to revive his dying countrymen and noticed the advertisement in the bottom. The result was he beseeched the storekeeper to telephone to this undertaker, who from the display of one drinking cup with his advertisement, secured five funerals and yet there are some that state that undertakers cannot advertise, and he does occasionally and it does pay.

Advertising. We advertise to sell something with which we are over supplied; or to supply our services where they are wanted. If everybody knew intuitively or by instinct where everything they need can be found, advertising would not need to be done. It would, of course, be superfluous.

But this happy situation does not exist. You cannot sell something until some one who wants to buy knows that you have got it. In fact if we have goods or services to part with, we must do our best to let all the world (not merely one buyer) know what they are, and what inducements you can offer in disposing of them.

FIRST MEAL OF DAY

BREAKFAST DISHES THAT WILL BE RELISHED BY ALL.

Collection of Recipes That Will Offer Something Appetizing With Which to Start the Day—Dainty and Tasty.

Minced Veal on Toast.—This is a favorite breakfast dish. Mince the cold veal (you have left over from your roast), moisten with the gravy or milk, or butter. Season, heat and serve on crisp slices of toast.

Veal Croquettes.—Rub smoothly together a tablespoon of butter and two of flour, add a cup of scalded milk and stir until it thickens. Stir in a pint of finely-chopped cooked veal, and season with parsley, onion juice, celery salt, salt and pepper, but don't overdo the onion. Mix well and let cool. Then form in cones, roll in crumbs and fry in hot fat.

Hashed Steak on Toast.—An excellent way to use cold beefsteak, of which there is often some left over, is to remove all fat, bone and gristle, and chop it fine. Put it in a stew pan with a tablespoon of butter, a seasoning of salt and pepper, and enough boiling water to moisten it. Place it where it will keep hot. Toast and butter thin slices of bread, and pour the hashed meat over them.

Frizzled Beef.—A cup of thin sliced, dried and smoked beef, a tablespoon of hot butter, a cup of scalded cream and a well-beaten egg are the ingredients. The dried beef should first be soaked for ten minutes in hot water, then drained, and the butter added, and as soon as it begins to curl over the fire, add the cream and the egg. Season to taste and serve hot.

Breakfast Sausages for Four.—One and a half pounds pork chops, remove bones and fat. Put remainder of meat through meat cutter, season with pepper and salt and a very little sage and make into balls. While preparing meat put bones and fat into skillet and fry. After meat is prepared remove bones and fat from skillet, and fry meat in the hot grease to a crisp brown. Lift the sausage cakes from the grease and put one heaping teaspoon of flour into the grease to form thick gravy with one pint of hot water. When ready to serve place on a warm platter, pour gravy over the sausage balls.

Egg Cream Toast.—This is a delicate variation of eggs on toast. Have ready half slices of toast. Melt in a quart saucepan one tablespoon of butter, and stir in one tablespoon of flour. Let it cook and bubble a moment, then draw to the edge of the stove and add carefully one cup of milk, stirring constantly, and cook until it thickens. Season with half a teaspoon of salt and keep warm; do not burn. Beat the whites of three or four eggs stiff, add the yolks and beat again; then fold carefully into the cream that was made, just as the whites are folded into cake. Cook from three to five minutes, heap on the toast and serve at once.

Satisfactory Floor Stain. The boards had become old-looking from being scrubbed and needed a stain, so I took olive green dye and applied with a broad brush, using the dye as hot as possible. This, of course, dries as rapidly as though the floor were only being washed. If wax is used the effect is very good and the floor is also saved from wear. I take a quarter of a pound of paraffin and dissolve in a pint of turpentine, putting the turpentine in a double boiler and leaving it in the hot water while I used it, to keep the paraffin liquid. This is painted on just as the dye was done and hardens as quickly. In small houses it is very hard to give up the use of a room for some days to allow the floors to be newly finished, but this plan may be easily followed, and is most economical.

A Tasty Sandwich. It was the memory of a childhood appetite which inspired a woman to serve brown bread sandwiches spread with horse radish and sugar with her afternoon tea. The snappy pungency of the horse radish was very delightful. The horse radish had, of course, been mixed with vinegar, the slightest possible amount used, and it was sprinkled lightly with powdered sugar. The brown bread was made of whole wheat and graham flour and was cut as thin as possible.

Uncooked Cake Frosting. Take two cupfuls of confectioners' sugar and add three tablespoonfuls of cocoa. Add enough milk (usually four tablespoonfuls) to make a thick paste. Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add one teaspoonful of vanilla and mix well. This makes a very good frosting, sufficient for a two-layer cake. The butter prevents the frosting from hardening, giving it a soft, creamy consistency.

Baked Flour. Flour, baked in the oven till thoroughly heated and dry, is much more wholesome for thickening gravies, soups, sauces, etc., than the raw flour, which needs long cooking in liquid.—"Home Department," National Magazine.

Smooth Starch. To prevent starch from crusting over after making it, if left to stand, add about a tablespoonful of kerosene when you remove it from the stove. It will be free from lumps and smooth.

WHEN IN Frederick
—even between trains—be sure to visit the Diamond Alleys
The Finest in the State
Something Going On All The Time
Finest Brands of Wines, Liquors, Cigars
SHERWOOD A SPECIALTY
Match Games of Duck Pins
EVERY WEEK
JOHN H. FRAZIER
Feb 17, '11-1y

Mountain View
Cemetery
EMMITSBURG, MD.
Beautiful Location, Lots
Carefully Attended To, Perfect
Drainage, Grounds Well Kept.
LOTS AT PRESENT $25.
HALF LOTS $15.
For Information Apply to J. HENRY STOKES.
SOUVENIR VIEWS
OF
EMMITSBURG AND VICINITY
An Attractive Booklet. 10 Cents.
Postage Prepaid.
THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE
Send One to Your Friend

The Stone Gods
By Temple Bailey
(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)
The Garden of the Stone Gods was set in the midst of a high city, but so high were the walls that surrounded it that it was cut off from the sight of outsiders, and the noise of traffic came faintly to the ears of Rosamond, as she sat day after day by the fountain working fairy webs of lace on a cushion, as she had been taught in a convent far across the seas.
So many years had she dwelt in the convent that she seemed less an American girl than a foreigner, and now that she was buried here in this strange old garden, she seemed to live in a dream life far removed from that of the girls, who, on the other side of the walls, went back and forth on gay modern quests of shopping and motoring, golfing and riding.
Once an airship had whizzed overhead, and the beat of its motors had come down to them faintly.
Rosamond's uncle had looked up into the skies and had said, fiercely, "Can we never get away from modern horrors?"
But Rosamond had looked up at the big airship, sailing over their heads like a huge silver dragonfly, and then down at the impassible stone gods which surrounded the fountain, and had sighed.
Rosamond hated the stone gods, and she yearned inexpressibly for the life that other girls led.
One day outside the walls she heard a voice singing. It was a man's voice, strong and sweet, and the song was a love song.
In her quiet garden, Rosamond had heard little of love. Her uncle had never married; he hated women. The song, as it floated out on the spring air, seemed a call to Rosamond to come out and be free.
So she left her lace pillow and ran to the end of the garden, and climbed from the stone bench to the low branches of an old apple tree, and thence to the broad top of the wall, and peeped over.

Beneath her was the man who sang. His hat was off and he was down on his knees behind a big red motor car.
Rosamond watched him eagerly. Sitting on the top of the wall she sighed for the things which were forbidden her. Though the sigh was low, the man beneath looked up. It was as if her desire had drawn his eyes toward her.
His bright smile shone out as he saw her. "Beg pardon," he said, as he rose to his feet: "I'm in an awful fix. Do you think there's anyone in there who can help me out? I'm a doctor, and I've got to get to a patient as soon as possible."
"Oh," said Rosamond quickly, "I'll see." She ran at once to her uncle's study. There she told her breathless story.
"There's a doctor outside, and his motor car has broken down, and—and he wants help to fix it—"
"How," her uncle demanded, "did you know—"
But Rosamond went on, unheeding. "It would be cruel to keep him waiting—when he is needed at a sick bed, wouldn't it?"
"He might have one of the horses," the young doctor, mounted on one of the big blacks, was a gallant figure. Rosamond never forgot how he looked as he rode that morning out of the big gate and into the sunshine.
When he came back Rosamond was in the garden bending over her lace work.
He took it out of her hands and looked at her keenly. "You ought to be riding the big black horse," he said abruptly. "You will be a perfect shadow maiden if you shut yourself up in this dark old garden."
The color came into Rosamond's pale face until she was as vivid as a flame. "Oh, I hate it here," she said, with her little hands clenched; "I hate it."
"Then why do you stay?" he asked gently.
"Uncle had his heart broken when he was a young man," she said, simply. "He loved a woman who married another man. My father broke my mother's heart—so my uncle does not believe in marriage. He kept me in a convent until I was eighteen, and two years ago we came here. He has always lived in India, and

The Citizens' National Bank OF FREDERICK, MD.
CAPITAL $100,000
SURPLUS $300,000
OFFICERS.
J. D. BAKER - President.
WM. G. BAKER - Vice President.
H. D. BAKER - Vice President.
WM. G. ZIMMERMAN - Cashier.
SAMUEL G. DUVALL - Asst. Cashier.
DIRECTORS.
GEO. WM. SMITH, THOS. H. HALLER,
JOHN S. RAMSBURG, DANIEL BAKER,
WM. G. BAKER, C. H. CONLEY, M. D.,
C. M. THOMAS, C. E. CLINE,
D. E. KEFAUVER, P. L. HARGETT,
JUDGE J. C. MOTTER, J. D. BAKER.
NOTICE.
On November the 1st, 1909, this Bank increased its interest rate to Four (4%) per cent. per annum on all its special interest bearing deposits, said deposits to remain in all other respects subject to the provisions of the contracts under which they were made.
Referring to the above notice, it is not necessary for any depositor to present his or her book to have any change made. The 4% rate, will, of course, be paid on new deposits made of the same class.
This bank offers first-class facilities for the transacting of your general banking business.
July 8 '10-1y

The Emmitsburg Realty Co.
Real Estate
Brokers
Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Maryland.
Farms, County Residences, Houses and Business Property for Sale or Lease.
J. ROWE OHLER, Manager.
aug 19-4f.

HANDWORK.
Sash, Doors, and Frames made by hand a specialty.
Jobbing promptly attended to and done right.
J. THOMAS LANSINGER,
CONTRACTOR and CARPENTER
GREEN ST., EMMITSBURG.
Jul 7-4f.

So she left her lace pillow and ran to the end of the garden, and climbed from the stone bench to the low

branches of an old apple tree, and thence to the broad top of the wall, and peeped over.
Beneath her was the man who sang. His hat was off and he was down on his knees behind a big red motor car.
Rosamond watched him eagerly. Sitting on the top of the wall she sighed for the things which were forbidden her. Though the sigh was low, the man beneath looked up. It was as if her desire had drawn his eyes toward her.
His bright smile shone out as he saw her. "Beg pardon," he said, as he rose to his feet: "I'm in an awful fix. Do you think there's anyone in there who can help me out? I'm a doctor, and I've got to get to a patient as soon as possible."
"Oh," said Rosamond quickly, "I'll see." She ran at once to her uncle's study. There she told her breathless story.
"There's a doctor outside, and his motor car has broken down, and—and he wants help to fix it—"
"How," her uncle demanded, "did you know—"
But Rosamond went on, unheeding. "It would be cruel to keep him waiting—when he is needed at a sick bed, wouldn't it?"
"He might have one of the horses," the young doctor, mounted on one of the big blacks, was a gallant figure. Rosamond never forgot how he looked as he rode that morning out of the big gate and into the sunshine.
When he came back Rosamond was in the garden bending over her lace work.
He took it out of her hands and looked at her keenly. "You ought to be riding the big black horse," he said abruptly. "You will be a perfect shadow maiden if you shut yourself up in this dark old garden."
The color came into Rosamond's pale face until she was as vivid as a flame. "Oh, I hate it here," she said, with her little hands clenched; "I hate it."
"Then why do you stay?" he asked gently.
"Uncle had his heart broken when he was a young man," she said, simply. "He loved a woman who married another man. My father broke my mother's heart—so my uncle does not believe in marriage. He kept me in a convent until I was eighteen, and two years ago we came here. He has always lived in India, and

New Tailored Suits.
Suit selling has been unusually active with us—not surprising for we are showing some of the most satisfactory values for the money ever produced. Each day the express brings us something new—Brown is looking up considerably. To-day brings us the Model which has all the ear marks of a $25.00 Suit. Splendid Quality, Correctly Tailored, very effective, Price $16.00. Plenty of other splendid designs, $8.50 up. Suits for Large Figures.
Polo Coats.
are holding the center of the stage—A wonderful variety of personal notions. New garments to-day—$5.75 up. Handsome styles a little higher up.
Underwear.
If an abundant Chestnut Crop does indicate a cold winter, it will be wise to get ready. The makers of our underwear have established the highest standard of excellence in this product, guaranteeing to each customer the most satisfactory comfort, fit and wear. Children's, 15c. up, Misses', 25c. up, Boys' 25c. up. Ladies', 25c. for a good garment. Superior qualities at 37½c. 50c. up to elegant garments of Silk and Wool.
Solid comfort for men at 50c. Fleece-lined, English Ribb Better grades 75c., $1.00 up.
Union Suits For Everybody.
New Shirts and Neckwear For Men.
THOS. H. HALLER,
Central Dry Goods House
17 and 19 North Market Street - FREDERICK, MARYLAND.
march 27-1y

CLARENCE E. McCARREN
LIVERYMAN
EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND.
First-class teams furnished for private use.
Satisfactory arrangements guaranteed commercial men.
Horses boarded and vehicles cared for by the month.
Heavy and light hauling of any kind and for any distance.
Buggies, surreys and large pleasure vehicles available at all times.
Gaited riding horses—perfectly safe.
Prompt service and moderate prices.
apr 8-'10-1y

branches of an old apple tree, and thence to the broad top of the wall, and peeped over.
Beneath her was the man who sang. His hat was off and he was down on his knees behind a big red motor car.
Rosamond watched him eagerly. Sitting on the top of the wall she sighed for the things which were forbidden her. Though the sigh was low, the man beneath looked up. It was as if her desire had drawn his eyes toward her.
His bright smile shone out as he saw her. "Beg pardon," he said, as he rose to his feet: "I'm in an awful fix. Do you think there's anyone in there who can help me out? I'm a doctor, and I've got to get to a patient as soon as possible."
"Oh," said Rosamond quickly, "I'll see." She ran at once to her uncle's study. There she told her breathless story.
"There's a doctor outside, and his motor car has broken down, and—and he wants help to fix it—"
"How," her uncle demanded, "did you know—"
But Rosamond went on, unheeding. "It would be cruel to keep him waiting—when he is needed at a sick bed, wouldn't it?"
"He might have one of the horses," the young doctor, mounted on one of the big blacks, was a gallant figure. Rosamond never forgot how he looked as he rode that morning out of the big gate and into the sunshine.
When he came back Rosamond was in the garden bending over her lace work.
He took it out of her hands and looked at her keenly. "You ought to be riding the big black horse," he said abruptly. "You will be a perfect shadow maiden if you shut yourself up in this dark old garden."
The color came into Rosamond's pale face until she was as vivid as a flame. "Oh, I hate it here," she said, with her little hands clenched; "I hate it."
"Then why do you stay?" he asked gently.
"Uncle had his heart broken when he was a young man," she said, simply. "He loved a woman who married another man. My father broke my mother's heart—so my uncle does not believe in marriage. He kept me in a convent until I was eighteen, and two years ago we came here. He has always lived in India, and

CHARLES M. RIDER
(SUCCESSOR TO HOKE & RIDER)
Monuments, Memorials and Cemetery Work of All Kinds ARTISTIC WORKER IN CUT STONE
CONCRETE EXPERT
My yards hold exhibits of beautiful work. These and photographs are always open for inspection.
C. & P. TELEPHONE—26-4 RESIDENCE.
WEST MAIN STREET, EMMITSBURG, MD.

branches of an old apple tree, and thence to the broad top of the wall, and peeped over.
Beneath her was the man who sang. His hat was off and he was down on his knees behind a big red motor car.
Rosamond watched him eagerly. Sitting on the top of the wall she sighed for the things which were forbidden her. Though the sigh was low, the man beneath looked up. It was as if her desire had drawn his eyes toward her.
His bright smile shone out as he saw her. "Beg pardon," he said, as he rose to his feet: "I'm in an awful fix. Do you think there's anyone in there who can help me out? I'm a doctor, and I've got to get to a patient as soon as possible."
"Oh," said Rosamond quickly, "I'll see." She ran at once to her uncle's study. There she told her breathless story.
"There's a doctor outside, and his motor car has broken down, and—and he wants help to fix it—"
"How," her uncle demanded, "did you know—"
But Rosamond went on, unheeding. "It would be cruel to keep him waiting—when he is needed at a sick bed, wouldn't it?"
"He might have one of the horses," the young doctor, mounted on one of the big blacks, was a gallant figure. Rosamond never forgot how he looked as he rode that morning out of the big gate and into the sunshine.
When he came back Rosamond was in the garden bending over her lace work.
He took it out of her hands and looked at her keenly. "You ought to be riding the big black horse," he said abruptly. "You will be a perfect shadow maiden if you shut yourself up in this dark old garden."
The color came into Rosamond's pale face until she was as vivid as a flame. "Oh, I hate it here," she said, with her little hands clenched; "I hate it."
"Then why do you stay?" he asked gently.
"Uncle had his heart broken when he was a young man," she said, simply. "He loved a woman who married another man. My father broke my mother's heart—so my uncle does not believe in marriage. He kept me in a convent until I was eighteen, and two years ago we came here. He has always lived in India, and branches of an old apple tree, and thence to the broad top of the wall, and peeped over.

Beneath her was the man who sang. His hat was off and he was down on his knees behind a big red motor car.
Rosamond watched him eagerly. Sitting on the top of the wall she sighed for the things which were forbidden her. Though the sigh was low, the man beneath looked up. It was as if her desire had drawn his eyes toward her.
His bright smile shone out as he saw her. "Beg pardon," he said, as he rose to his feet: "I'm in an awful fix. Do you think there's anyone in there who can help me out? I'm a doctor, and I've got to get to a patient as soon as possible."
"Oh," said Rosamond quickly, "I'll see." She ran at once to her uncle's study. There she told her breathless story.
"There's a doctor outside, and his motor car has broken down, and—and he wants help to fix it—"
"How," her uncle demanded, "did you know—"
But Rosamond went on, unheeding. "It would be cruel to keep him waiting—when he is needed at a sick bed, wouldn't it?"
"He might have one of the horses," the young doctor, mounted on one of the big blacks, was a gallant figure. Rosamond never forgot how he looked as he rode that morning out of the big gate and into the sunshine.
When he came back Rosamond was in the garden bending over her lace work.
He took it out of her hands and looked at her keenly. "You ought to be riding the big black horse," he said abruptly. "You will be a perfect shadow maiden if you shut yourself up in this dark old garden."
The color came into Rosamond's pale face until she was as vivid as a flame. "Oh, I hate it here," she said, with her little hands clenched; "I hate it."
"Then why do you stay?" he asked gently.
"Uncle had his heart broken when he was a young man," she said, simply. "He loved a woman who married another man. My father broke my mother's heart—so my uncle does not believe in marriage. He kept me in a convent until I was eighteen, and two years ago we came here. He has always lived in India, and

You are Invited to Inspect My
1912 LINE of SPRING AND 1912
SUMMER FOOTWEAR
Lot of Sample Shoes and Boots
Latest Styles. Moderate Prices.
M. FRANK ROWE,
EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND

Mount St. Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary
Conducted by secular clergymen, aided by lay professors
Classical, Scientific and Commercial Courses. New Laboratory for the practical teaching of Physics and Chemistry.
The latest modern improvements. Beautiful grounds. New athletic field. Fine gymnasium and swimming pool.
Separate department for young boys.
Address, VERY REV. B. J. BRADLEY, A. M.,
Emmitsburg, Maryland.
8-11-'10

branches of an old apple tree, and thence to the broad top of the wall, and peeped over.
Beneath her was the man who sang. His hat was off and he was down on his knees behind a big red motor car.
Rosamond watched him eagerly. Sitting on the top of the wall she sighed for the things which were forbidden her. Though the sigh was low, the man beneath looked up. It was as if her desire had drawn his eyes toward her.
His bright smile shone out as he saw her. "Beg pardon," he said, as he rose to his feet: "I'm in an awful fix. Do you think there's anyone in there who can help me out? I'm a doctor, and I've got to get to a patient as soon as possible."
"Oh," said Rosamond quickly, "I'll see." She ran at once to her uncle's study. There she told her breathless story.
"There's a doctor outside, and his motor car has broken down, and—and he wants help to fix it—"
"How," her uncle demanded, "did you know—"
But Rosamond went on, unheeding. "It would be cruel to keep him waiting—when he is needed at a sick bed, wouldn't it?"
"He might have one of the horses," the young doctor, mounted on one of the big blacks, was a gallant figure. Rosamond never forgot how he looked as he rode that morning out of the big gate and into the sunshine.
When he came back Rosamond was in the garden bending over her lace work.
He took it out of her hands and looked at her keenly. "You ought to be riding the big black horse," he said abruptly. "You will be a perfect shadow maiden if you shut yourself up in this dark old garden."
The color came into Rosamond's pale face until she was as vivid as a flame. "Oh, I hate it here," she said, with her little hands clenched; "I hate it."
"Then why do you stay?" he asked gently.
"Uncle had his heart broken when he was a young man," she said, simply. "He loved a woman who married another man. My father broke my mother's heart—so my uncle does not believe in marriage. He kept me in a convent until I was eighteen, and two years ago we came here. He has always lived in India, and branches of an old apple tree, and thence to the broad top of the wall, and peeped over.

Beneath her was the man who sang. His hat was off and he was down on his knees behind a big red motor car.
Rosamond watched him eagerly. Sitting on the top of the wall she sighed for the things which were forbidden her. Though the sigh was low, the man beneath looked up. It was as if her desire had drawn his eyes toward her.
His bright smile shone out as he saw her. "Beg pardon," he said, as he rose to his feet: "I'm in an awful fix. Do you think there's anyone in there who can help me out? I'm a doctor, and I've got to get to a patient as soon as possible."
"Oh," said Rosamond quickly, "I'll see." She ran at once to her uncle's study. There she told her breathless story.
"There's a doctor outside, and his motor car has broken down, and—and he wants help to fix it—"
"How," her uncle demanded, "did you know—"
But Rosamond went on, unheeding. "It would be cruel to keep him waiting—when he is needed at a sick bed, wouldn't it?"
"He might have one of the horses," the young doctor, mounted on one of the big blacks, was a gallant figure. Rosamond never forgot how he looked as he rode that morning out of the big gate and into the sunshine.
When he came back Rosamond was in the garden bending over her lace work.
He took it out of her hands and looked at her keenly. "You ought to be riding the big black horse," he said abruptly. "You will be a perfect shadow maiden if you shut yourself up in this dark old garden."
The color came into Rosamond's pale face until she was as vivid as a flame. "Oh, I hate it here," she said, with her little hands clenched; "I hate it."
"Then why do you stay?" he asked gently.
"Uncle had his heart broken when he was a young man," she said, simply. "He loved a woman who married another man. My father broke my mother's heart—so my uncle does not believe in marriage. He kept me in a convent until I was eighteen, and two years ago we came here. He has always lived in India, and

"Clothes that are Right"
OUR showing of the new suitings for Spring and Summer is an exhibit that is complete in every sense of the word. And not only variety is here to attract you, but the character of our garments and moderate prices will prove strong inducements. With Easter but a few weeks off and each day busier than the one before, we ask for an early inspection.
J. D. LIPPY, Tailor,
AT HOTEL SPANGLER GETTYSBURG, PA.
Emmitsburg, Every Wednesday. Mch. 8-1f.

A FAIR EXCHANGE
MANY people have things that they no longer have use for, but keep them in the house taking up room and doing no one any good.
Better sell or trade off things you don't want. Advertise them and you will find that there are people ready to take them and pay cash, or trade for them. You will find it easy through the Columns of branches of an old apple tree, and thence to the broad top of the wall, and peeped over.
THE CHRONICLE

Beneath her was the man who sang. His hat was off and he was down on his knees behind a big red motor car.
Rosamond watched him eagerly. Sitting on the top of the wall she sighed for the things which were forbidden her. Though the sigh was low, the man beneath looked up. It was as if her desire had drawn his eyes toward her.
His bright smile shone out as he saw her. "Beg pardon," he said, as he rose to his feet: "I'm in an awful fix. Do you think there's anyone in there who can help me out? I'm a doctor, and I've got to get to a patient as soon as possible."
"Oh," said Rosamond quickly, "I'll see." She ran at once to her uncle's study. There she told her breathless story.
"There's a doctor outside, and his motor car has broken down, and—and he wants help to fix it—"
"How," her uncle demanded, "did you know—"
But Rosamond went on, unheeding. "It would be cruel to keep him waiting—when he is needed at a sick bed, wouldn't it?"
"He might have one of the horses," the young doctor, mounted on one of the big blacks, was a gallant figure. Rosamond never forgot how he looked as he rode that morning out of the big gate and into the sunshine.
When he came back Rosamond was in the garden bending over her lace work.
He took it out of her hands and looked at her keenly. "You ought to be riding the big black horse," he said abruptly. "You will be a perfect shadow maiden if you shut yourself up in this dark old garden."
The color came into Rosamond's pale face until she was as vivid as a flame. "Oh, I hate it here," she said, with her little hands clenched; "I hate it."
"Then why do you stay?" he asked gently.
"Uncle had his heart broken when he was a young man," she said, simply. "He loved a woman who married another man. My father broke my mother's heart—so my uncle does not believe in marriage. He kept me in a convent until I was eighteen, and two years ago we came here. He has always lived in India, and branches of an old apple tree, and thence to the broad top of the wall, and peeped over.

Beneath her was the man who sang. His hat was off and he was down on his knees behind a big red motor car.
Rosamond watched him eagerly. Sitting on the top of the wall she sighed for the things which were forbidden her. Though the sigh was low, the man beneath looked up. It was as if her desire had drawn his eyes toward her.
His bright smile shone out as he saw her. "Beg pardon," he said, as he rose to his feet: "I'm in an awful fix. Do you think there's anyone in there who can help me out? I'm a doctor, and I've got to get to a patient as soon as possible."
"Oh," said Rosamond quickly, "I'll see." She ran at once to her uncle's study. There she told her breathless story.
"There's a doctor outside, and his motor car has broken down, and—and he wants help to fix it—"
"How," her uncle demanded, "did you know—"
But Rosamond went on, unheeding. "It would be cruel to keep him waiting—when he is needed at a sick bed, wouldn't it?"
"He might have one of the horses," the young doctor, mounted on one of the big blacks, was a gallant figure. Rosamond never forgot how he looked as he rode that morning out of the big gate and into the sunshine.
When he came back Rosamond was in the garden bending over her lace work.
He took it out of her hands and looked at her keenly. "You ought to be riding the big black horse," he said abruptly. "You will be a perfect shadow maiden if you shut yourself up in this dark old garden."
The color came into Rosamond's pale face until she was as vivid as a flame. "Oh, I hate it here," she said, with her little hands clenched; "I hate it."
"Then why do you stay?" he asked gently.
"Uncle had his heart broken when he was a young man," she said, simply. "He loved a woman who married another man. My father broke my mother's heart—so my uncle does not believe in marriage. He kept me in a convent until I was eighteen, and two years ago we came here. He has always lived in India, and

Peoples Fire Insurance Company of Maryland
H. M. WARRENFELTZ, Agent. EMMITSBURG, MD.
HOME OFFICE, FREDERICK, MARYLAND
A STOCK COMPANY
DR. D. E. STONE, Local Director.
Jan. 1-11

PERSONALS.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

Rev. Mr. Gluck spent a few days in Baltimore.

Miss Ruth Gillelan made a business trip to Baltimore this week.

Mr. J. Mark Harting left for New York on Monday.

Mr. Joseph Elder is visiting in Hagerstown.

Mr. J. M. Kerrigan, who has been in Brunswick for several weeks, has returned to Emmitsburg.

Sergeant Lucien H. Beam, who has been stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, left for San Francisco on Feb. 29 and sailed from there on Tuesday for Honolulu with the Engineer Corps.

Mr. George M. Clutz went to York yesterday.

Miss Elsie Bennett, who has been visiting in Baltimore and Philadelphia, has returned to her home near town.

Mr. E. J. Jenkins, of Howard county, visited Emmitsburg this week.

Miss H. H. Motter left on Tuesday for Washington, where she expects to visit for some time.

Miss Annie Wilson, of Hagerstown, who was the guest of Miss Margaret Mitchell, returned home on Tuesday.

Mr. J. Henry Stokes was in Frederick on Wednesday.

Mr. E. L. Frizzell spent Monday in Baltimore.

Mr. Edgar Newman, of Gettysburg, spent a day with Mr. George Gingell, of Zora.

Miss Elizabeth Haller, of Frederick, spent Sunday with Miss Edith Nunemaker.

Mr. M. F. Shuff was in Baltimore this week.

Miss Helen K. Hoke was in Baltimore on Wednesday and Thursday on business.

Mr. William Devilbiss, of Keysville, spent Tuesday in town.

Dr. C. A. Kefauver, of Frederick, was in Emmitsburg last Friday.

Misses Rosella Adams and Violet Knott spent Sunday in Emmitsburg with Mrs. Charles Rosensteel.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent P. Stouter, of Jersey City, are visiting Mr. Stouter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stouter.

COLLEGE NEWS IN BRIEF

To-night's game of basketball with Bucknell closes the season at Mount St. Mary's College. The College has never been better represented on the gymnasium floor than by the basketball team of this year.

Last Tuesday the University of Pittsburgh managed to squeeze out a victory by the narrow margin of one. The score was 29 to 28.

The Philomathean Society gave two very excellent presentations of a four-act drama, "A Capitol Game". One performance was given as a matinee and the young ladies of St. Joseph's College and Academy attended. The young men of the caste acquitted themselves with distinction.

Emmitsburg's Latest Organization.

The Emmitsburg Generator Company has filed articles of incorporation. The purpose of the company is to manufacture and to deal in metal castings and all supplies for the making of acetylene gas, also to supply and sell acetylene gas to private and public houses. The principal office of the company is to be at Emmitsburg and the capital stock is to $25,000, divided into 500 shares of $50 each. The incorporators, who are the directors for the first year, follow: Thomas C. Hays, Joseph Rosensteel, D. E. Stone, Jr., Sterling Galt, H. M. Warrenfeltz, J. Lewis Rhodes and Guy K. Motter.

Debate and Singing at Miney Branch.

On Thursday evening, Mar. 7, the Miney Branch Literary Society meeting was very well attended by both Emmitsburg and Fairfield people. Several male choruses led by Louis Annan and Herbert Gingell were delightfully received. The debate, in which John Mathews and Donald Agnew participated, proved a most interesting one.

Road Drags Ordered.

The Board of County Commissioners have placed an order for several road drags and four road machines. The drags are modified split-log drags but are made of metal. The principal is the same as the celebrated King machine which has proved very useful wherever used.

Improvements to Frederick Terminal.

Plans have been drawn for Northern. Central freight terminal improvements in Frederick. Besides a new yard with additional trackage, an addition will be built to the freight depot which will double its present capacity. Work on the improvement will begin April 1.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Readings from THE CHRONICLE Standard Thermometer for week ending Friday March 8.

	8 A. M.	12 M.	4 P. M.
Friday	—	30	29
Saturday	21	28	30
Monday	27	30	33
Tuesday	21	24	28
Wednesday	20	25	28
Thursday	36	45	50
Friday	37	—	—

Readings from The CHRONICLE Standard Thermometer for week ending March 10, 1911.

	8 A. M.	12 M.	4 P. M.
Friday	—	52	48
Saturday	34	34	40
Monday	38	40	44
Tuesday	26	34	33
Wednesday	26	34	37
Thursday	15	39	44
Friday	46	—	—

During the last eight or ten days children have been born into several families hereabouts:

To Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, a daughter.

To Mr. and Mrs. David Guise, a son.

To Mr. and Mrs. Guy Topper, a son.

To Mr. and Mrs. Charles Long, a son.

Mr. Kester Reifsnider, who has been confined to the house for about seven weeks with blood poison in his right hand, is now able to be at his work again.

Enjoyable Surprise Party.

A very enjoyable surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Harner on Feb. 29th. The guests began to arrive early in the evening and were made to feel entirely at home. The evening was spent in music, and games of all kinds were played. At 10:30 o'clock the guests were invited to the dining room where delicious refreshments were served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. William Harner, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Reid, Mrs. John Bell; Misses Katharine Rhodes, Maude McNair, Carrie Bollinger, Edna Plank, Mae Rhodes, Minnie Harner, Bessie Plank, Virginia Caldwell, Grace Harner, Ruth Overholzer, Agnes Rohrbaugh, Mae Harner, Grace Bollinger, Laura Harner, Rosie Herr, Bessie Bumgardner, Pauline Eyer, Lillie Harner; Messrs. Merle Moritz, William White, Arch Eyer, Hill Rock, Robert McNair, Walter Rhodes, Clarence Plank, Charlie Herr, Roy Bollinger, Walter Bricker, Clarence Bollinger, Charles Harner, Roy Eyer, Edgar Rohrbaugh, John Eyer, Nevin Harner, Thomas Eyer, Donald Smith, Guy Harner.

That Perfect Book.

A London publisher once determined to publish at least one book which should be faultless in the matter of errata. He had the proofs corrected by his own proofreaders with the greatest care until they had exhausted their skill and patience and assured him that there were no longer any errors to be eliminated.

Taking duplicate proofs of the last revision he sent them to the universities and other large publishing houses, offering large money prizes for each error discovered. A few errors only were found, and after every one had a chance to detect any additional errors the plates were made, the book printed, expensively bound and sold as an absolutely perfect book and unique in all literature.

For a long time this was conceded, but in six or eight months after its publication a letter called the publisher's attention to an error in a certain line and page. Later a second was announced and before the first year had elapsed four or five errors had been reported.

STOUTER-ROONEY.

On Tuesday morning, January 16th, in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Paterson, N. J., Miss Josephine Rooney, of that place, was quietly married to Mr. John Stouter, son of Daniel Stouter, of this place. On account of the recent death of the bride's parents, only the immediate family was present at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stouter will make their home in Paterson.

SPECIAL NOTICE!

All communications intended for publication in this paper and all business letters should be addressed to THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE, or to STERLING GALT, EDITOR, otherwise they will be considered personal and in the absence of the Editor, will remain unopened.

Change of Venue Asked.

Alleging that a fair trial cannot be secured in this county, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has asked that the damage case of E. Guy Albaugh and George E. Van Fossen be removed to another court.

RUBBER STAMPS.

Rubber Stamps for all purposes. The kind that lasts. Stencils, brass and enamel signs, seals, pocket punches, ink and ink pads. Leave your orders with THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

CHURCH NEWS

Regular services in the Emmitsburg Churches are as follows:

CATHOLIC

Mass, Sunday 7 and 10 a. m.
Mass, Daily 6 a. m.
Vespers, Sunday 7 p. m.

PRESBYTERIAN

Sunday, 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.
Sunday School, 9:30 a. m.
Christian Endeavor, 7:00 p. m.
Wednesday Prayer Meeting 7:30 p. m.

LUTHERAN

Sunday, 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.
Sunday School, 9:00 a. m.
Junior Christian Endeavor, 1:45 p. m.
Senior " " " 6:45 p. m.
Wednesday, Prayer Meeting 7:30 p. m.
Saturday, Catechetical instruction 2 p. m.

REFORMED

Sunday, 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.
Sunday School, 9:30 a. m.
Wednesday Service, 7:30 p. m.
Saturday Catechetical Instruction at 2:30 p. m.

METHODIST

Sunday School, 1:30 p. m.
Service, 2:30 p. m.
Epworth League, 6:30 p. m.

Of Interest to Women.

A short course in Domestic Science will be given at the Maryland Agricultural College during the week of March 18th to 23rd next. The programme of lectures and demonstrations is well arranged and will interest every present or prospective housekeeper.

Some of the subjects to be considered are household chemistry, and bacteriology, planning meals, principles of cooking, care of milk and first aid to the injured. The afternoon of Saturday, March 18th, will be especially for teachers and will be devoted to a discussion of how to teach home economics in the rural schools.

A copy of the programme containing subjects and names of lecturers may be had by addressing a request to the College.

New Road Wanted Near Motter's.

The County Commissioners have received a petition from a number of residents of Emmitsburg District asking for a new road, to begin at the Stony Creek School House on the road from Motter's to Detour, and to pass between the lines or through the lands of the following: E. J. Fitzgerald, Harry Dern, Nevin Martin, and George A. Ohler, to the Emmitsburg and Keysville road a distance of about one and one-fourth miles. No action has been taken by the commissioners. The petition is given in another column.

SPECIAL NOTICE!

All communications intended for publication in this paper and all business letters should be addressed to THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE, or to STERLING GALT, EDITOR, otherwise they will be considered personal and in the absence of the Editor will remain unopened.

FOR SALE.

A small property containing 32 acres, including one acre of woodland, with a 7-room brick dwelling, good barn and other necessary outbuildings. Situated one-half mile from Plank road, about midway between Taneytown and Emmitsburg and adjoining farms of Mrs. John Eckard, Joseph Ohler and others. Apply to JACOB OHLER, Route 3, Taneytown, Md.

WANTED PRINTER.—Principally straight composition but must be able to handle display work. One that will be on the job from Monday morning till Saturday noon of each week. No others need apply.

CHRONICLE OFFICE.

WANTED—BOARDING.

Young couple, with small child, wishes to secure boarding in private family, on or about March 20. Address "Boarding" Chronicle Office.

FOR RENT—On East Main street, two-story eleven-room house, separate out kitchen, stable, with carriage house attached; also wood house and fine chicken house and yard. Apply to 2-16-4ts MRS. C. J. LANSINGER.

EGGS FOR HATCHING.

Standard Bred Barred Rock and White Leghorns. Apply to HERBERT GINGELL, Zora, Pa.

WANTED ALIVE.

Will pay highest cash prices for fur-bearing animals, especially skunks. Will buy until May 10. GEORGE WINEGARDNER, Emmitsburg, Md. 3-1-4ts

FOR RENT.

Eight-room house, stables and lots; good location. 3-8-3t JAS. A. KEILHOLTZ. Apply to D. W. Zentz, Zentz's Mill.

COOK WANTED.—From June 1st to Oct. 1. MRS. M. BENNETT, Clairvaux, Emmitsburg. 3-8-4t

FOR SALE—22-foot Lot, West Main street, stable and brick shop, good bricks. MARY A. HARDMAN. 2t

TWO MONTHS FOR VAGRANCY

Movement to Rid Community of Disorderly Persons and Tramps Needs Cooperation.

On Saturday last Martin N. Keller was arrested and taken before Justice Enoch L. Frizzell on a charge of vagrancy in violation of chapter 704 of the acts of the General Assembly of Maryland passed at the session of 1906. Nicholas pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the House of Correction for two months. There was a warrant issued for another party for using profane language on the public highway but he skipped out and is said to have returned to Taneytown very rapidly. He will be taken in custody and his case attended to when he returns. Justice Frizzell intends to either break up the nuisance of drunkenness and disorderly conduct on the streets and alleys of Emmitsburg or the Maryland House of Correction will have quite an increase in the number of its inmates.

Chapter 285 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland passed at the session of 1900, as amended by chapter 281, of the Acts of 1902, make it unlawful for any one to curse, swear, use vulgar or profane or obscene language or make loud or unseemly noises on or near the public highways within the hearing of persons passing by, or acting in a disorderly manner in or about the railroad station or public places; and any person violating the provisions of these acts can be sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction not to exceed sixty days or fined not over fifty dollars for each offence. Justice Frizzell says that so long as he is a justice of the peace that if a complaint is made by any citizen for a violation of these acts a warrant will be issued and the culprits summarily attended to. If the citizens of Emmitsburg want a clean and orderly town they can have it by assisting the officers of the law, otherwise the fault will be with them. There are quite a large number of tramps infesting this neighborhood and the authorities request the good people of the neighborhood to refuse to give them anything. It is a violation of the vagrancy law for these "knights of the road" to wander around without visible means of support. A bill will be submitted to the Legislature in a few days giving the county and town authorities the right to make tramps and persons convicted of disorderly conduct work on the streets, alleys and public roads, and at breaking stone for road and street improvement.

Maryland Trees Bring in $5,000,000 Yearly

Telling of the educational work being done for the preservation and propagation of Maryland trees, and showing in detail the past and future of Maryland forests, the annual report of F. W. Besley, State Forester, and the Maryland State Board of Forestry has just come from the hands of the printers.

The booklet embraces 42 pages of intensely interesting matter, not only to the people of the counties, but to the city man. Photographs of the different trees explain faults and advantages of the different conditions in which the trees of the State are found. Forest fires and their destructive results are brought out, and the report shows that although abused, Maryland forests give an annual revenue of $5,000,000 to the people of the State.

Tables show the condition of the State's forests and the lumber production is brought out in interesting detail.

DEVOE TAKES LEAST GALLONS; ALWAYS

Paint Devoe; its the cheapest paint in the world; never mind the price; it may or may not be more. Less gallons will paint the house; and the paint will outwear anything.

Skip wear; you've got to wait, to find that out. It covers more; you haven't got to wait to find that out.

It's the cheapest of all; no matter about the price. M A Thomas, painter, Lynchburg, Va., writes: "The first job I did with your paint I estimated 37 gallons; had 12 gallons left. Since then I have used Devoe altogether and recommend it to all my customers. When I commence a job, I tack up a card reading as follows: M A Thomas, contractor; Devoe Paint."

That's how. Sold by J. THOS. GELWICKS.

ROAD PETITION.

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners of Frederick County, Maryland:—

We, the undersigned voters and taxpayers of Emmitsburg District, do hereby petition your honorable body to locate a public road commencing at a point near Stony Branch School House, on the public road leading from Motter's Station to Detour, Maryland, on a line between Edward J. Fitzgerald and Harry Dern, thence on a line between Harry Dern and Nevin Martin, thence through the land of said Harry Dern and Geo. A. Ohler, to a point on the Emmitsburg and Keysville public road.

The distance of said road asked for is about 1 1/2 miles long. EDWARD J. FITZGERALD, NEVIN MARTIN, HARRY DERN, GEO. A. OHLER.

EGGS FOR HATCHING

Thorough Bred Barred Rocks Also Young Chicks Just Out of Incubator. Address MRS. CORNELIUS F. ZIMMERMAN, R. F. D. NO. 3. FREDERICK, MD. mch 11 1911

SOLID SILVER American Lever Watches, WARRANTED TWO YEARS, ONLY $6. G. T. EYSTER

HARRY G. DORSEY & CO.

A Store With Your Interest at Heart and Properly Conducted as to Merchandise, Management and Manners.

You are or should be interested in knowing what kind of a clothing store we are running. We want you to know and will tell you, and we want you to come in and verify our statement. The only policy and creed that we know anything about is based on the doctrine of Fair Play. We want to get below the surface in buying and selling our merchandise and hope at all times to give every man more than he expects we are going to sell him.

HONEST GOODS TO HONEST MEN AT HONEST PRICES.

We realize that any business institution that would grow must stand for more than mere money making.

DORSEY'S STORE stands for fair play and liberal methods in dealing with the clothes buying public. We want your patronage, and the patronage of your neighbor on the basis of the goods we sell and the way we sell them, but we will not stoop to exaggeration or misrepresentation to secure it. We believe thoroughly in the merchandise we sell and that belief is based on a broad experience and knowledge of what is offered in all the principal markets.

We sell only what we can recommend to you and if for any reason any article you purchase from us proves unsatisfactory we are ready and willing at all times to make good your purchase. We do not consider your money our money until you are satisfied. If you like to deal with a store like this see us. The sooner we become acquainted the sooner we can substantiate our statement to you.

Our Spring lines are now in, our own selections, bought from the noted brands as "High Art," "Alco," "American" clothing, Beacon Shoes for Men, Mary Stuart and American Girl Shoes for Women, "Levy's Hats" for Men, Vindex Shirts for Men and young Men.

Our sale of winter weight clothing continues, and the reductions are real and substantial. We request a comparison as to style and price. We say Pay Less and Dress Better, and an examination of merchandise will convince you we have a right to say it.

Very truly, HARRY G. DORSEY & CO., Popular Price Outfitters, Frederick, Md.

FURNITURE

Is Needed at All Times.

Select what you want here and you will not be disappointed.

E. E. Zimmerman Furniture Dealer ON THE SQUARE

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

THIS is to give notice that the subscribers have obtained from the Orphans' Court of Frederick county, Maryland, letters testamentary on the estate of late of said county, deceased. All persons having claims against the said estate are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, legally authenticated, to the subscribers, on or before the 30th day of September, 1912, they may otherwise be excluded from all benefits of said estate. Those indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment.

ELENOR BYERS

Given under our hands this 27th day of February, 1912.

BLANCHE G. RHODES, CARRIE JANE BYERS, Executrices.

3-1-5t

SHALL WE SEND YOU A WONDERFUL PICTURE

Costing Hundreds of Dollars, of the Great Baltimore Harbor as it looks after being built up since the great fire in 1904, with its fifteen million dollar piers? This picture was taken from the top of the Emerson Bromo Seltzer Tower—310 feet high and shows the Big River and Ocean Going Vessels, a vast portion of the city the entire harbor, the eastern Shore of Maryland and miles and miles of surrounding Country.

IF YOU LIKE IT

Tell us so, it is the front cover of J. Bolgiano and Son's Seed Catalogue for 1912. It plainly shows Bolgiano's New Pier and Warehouses and Bolgiano's Seed Store both on the water front.

IT'S FREE

Although Bolgiano's 1912 Catalogue cost many thousands of dollars to produce—having over 300 half tone illustrations. We will send it to you free if you plant Garden Seeds, Field Seeds or Flower Seeds or users of Poultry Foods and supplies—but we cannot afford to give it free to those who do not use these items—the edition is limited and send for one to day before they are all gone.

FOR A 2c. STAMP

We will also send a 25c. Poultry Record for one year.

J. BOLGIANO & SON, THE OLD RELIABLE SEED STORE, BALTIMORE, MD.

feb 6-12 1f

THE STAFFORD

Perfect Service. Finest Location. Excellent Cuisine. Liberal Management. Fireproof Construction.

WASHINGTON PLACE BALTIMORE, MD.

June 28-17

DR. O. W. HINES

..VISITS..

EMMITSBURG MARYLAND

Every Two Months

Next Visit MAY, 1912

EMMIT HOUSE

GRACEHAM

Miss Elsie Robinson, of Loy's, visited her cousin Mabel Miller, on Thursday. Mrs. Theodore Stoner spent Thursday evening with Mrs. Jennie Colliflower. Rev. Heubener and Miss Mary Oerter spent Saturday afternoon in Frederick. Mrs. Samuel Yingling and daughter, Ada, spent several days with her son, Roy, of Hagerstown. Miss Ruth Firor went to Baltimore to the hospital on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Burhman and daughter, Ruth, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Boller. Mr. Harry Groshon and family and Miss Catharine Engle visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Humerick on Sunday near Catoctin Furnace. Mrs. Charles Boller, who spent several days at Frederick, has returned very much pleased with her visit. She seems much improved in health. Miss Lottie Fisher spent a few days with her cousin, Belva Colliflower. Mr. and Mrs. Hays Domer and child, of Jintown, spent Sunday with Mr. Charles Domer. Mrs. Benjamin Keilholtz and two children, of Rocky Ridge, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. John Joy. There will be church on Sunday morning and evening, also C. E. Society. A special program led by the prayer meeting committee will be given. A surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clabaugh on Thursday evening in honor of their being married forty years. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clabaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Seiss, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Burhman, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Long, Mr. and Mrs. W. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Creeger, Mrs. Jennie Colliflower and Mr. John Colliflower, Messrs. Warren Pyles, John, Morris and Nervie Jackson, Amos Eyer, Morris Smith, Harry, Roy and Ernest Clabaugh, Norman Six, Roy Weller, Paul Fleagle, Elmer and Marion Creeger; Misses Carrie Lewis, Florence Burhman, Mary Clabaugh, Grace, Edna and Mildred Smith, Bertie Weller, Ruth Firor, Lottie and Florence Colliflower, Bertha Munshower, Blanche, May and Mary Creeger.

LOYS AND VICINITY.

Mr. William Crum spent Monday in Frederick city. Mr. Charles Favorite and daughter, Ethel, visited Mr. Upton Geisbert and family, of Friendship, on Tuesday. Mrs. Lizzie C. Pittinger was here on Tuesday of last week. Mr. Clarence C. Pittinger was the guest of Mr. Samuel Martin and family of near Loy's, on Tuesday evening. Miss Ethel Tressler and Mr. Jacob Tressler, of near Graceham, spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Washington Pittinger and family. Mr. and Mrs. Joshua A. Gruber, of Rocky Hill, were in this place on Thursday last. Sales will soon begin and there will be a great deal of changing in the spring. Mr. William Crum was the guest of Mr. George Warner, of Creagerstown, on Sunday last. Miss Elsie R. Robinson was a visitor in Graceham on Thursday. Mr. George L. Eyer and son, Albert, spent Thursday evening with Mr. William Martin and sons. Messrs. Harvey Pittinger, Roy Freshour and Howard M. Eigenbrode were visitors in Graceham on Friday of last week. Mrs. William G. Kolb and daughter, Miss Mary, Mrs. Delaplane, Miss Nettie Rhodes and others, all of Creagerstown, spent Thursday with Mrs. Charles H. Hoffman and family. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaeffer, of Westminster, spent their honeymoon here with Mrs. Samuel Martin. Miss Cora Stimmel, after undergoing an operation at the Franklin Square Hospital, returned home on Tuesday evening last. We are very glad to say that Miss Stimmel is very much improved. Mr. Harry Boller is on the sick list at this writing. Mrs. Minnie Hoffman made a business trip to Thurmont on Saturday. Little Miss Mary Hoffman visited Mrs. Katie Martin on Saturday. Quite a number of our people attended the Spider Web Social and ice cream festival at Graceham on Saturday evening. Mrs. Shull, of Chambersburg, spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stimmel. Mrs. Theodore Miller, of Detour, spent Sunday with her son, Mr. William Miller.

PUZZLE PICTURE.

Find Roosevelt.

Politicians, who promised to vote for bills they had never seen, are like men who buy gold bricks for themselves with other people's money.

ROCKY RIDGE.

Messrs. Harry W. Stull and Howard Long spent several days in Littlestown. Messrs. Edward Thomas and Joseph Daugherty, of Baltimore, spent Sunday with Mr. Charles Long. Mt. Tabor Union Church has closed a contract with the American Seating Co. for circular pews for the church. They are to be in place some time in May. Ersie Wood and family spent several days at Key Mar. Mrs. Minnie Bietler and Mrs. Bertha Valentine were in Thurmont on Thursday. Mrs. Calvin Anders and family spent Thursday at Thurmont. Mr. Samuel Reaver, of near Harney, moved in with Mr. Harry Barrick. Mrs. George Whitmore moved from Walkersville to his house here. Mr. Calvin Fox visited his brother, Mr. W. H. Fox, on Sunday. Mrs. Sophie Biggs spent several days in Baltimore. Mr. Grayson Anders moved into his brother Calvin's house. Mr. Calvin Anders moved Wednesday to Anacostia, D. C. Mr. C. F. Eyer moved from Harry Barrick's to Woodsboro. Mr. Sheridan Stambaugh, who has been working at Frostburg, was here last week. Mr. Calvin Anders and family spent Sunday at Mr. E. C. Valentine's. Merle Keilholtz is very ill.

BLUE RIDGE COLLEGE.

Next Monday evening, March 11, at 8 p. m., Doctor Elmer V. Hoenschel, author and globe trotter, will lecture on Iceland. This is an out-of-the-way place and not many of us know very much about this land of geysers, eider-down ducks, the dreary snow wastes, and the glorious mid-night sun. This man has spent many days there and will tell of fjords, fisheries and flowers; of mountains, glaciers, jokulls, and a 5-day trip on horse-back across the island over moors, extinct volcanos, hot springs, etc. This is a complimentary number of the season lecture course. You are invited to be present. Don't forget the Oratorical Contest for the Stoner prizes this Friday evening. Messrs. Paul and Robert Smith paid their Alma Mater and friends in town a visit on Sunday. Misses Helen Yohn, Lamore Stoner and Bertie Lindsay spent Saturday with the latter's sister, Leah Lindsay. Miss Mabel Sneckenberger and Prof. H. H. R. Brechbill spent the week end at their respective homes. Miss Lillie Baumgardner entertained Miss Jessie Maugans from Saturday until Monday. The programme at Walden's Hall, Middleburg, Saturday evening, was a success and was rendered to a large and appreciative audience. The members of the Singers and Players Club were royally entertained before and after the programme, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Littlefield. Miss Edna Miller spent several days with friends in New Windsor. All were pleased to have Mr. C. L. Rowland with us for a few days this week. Prof. I. C. Keller accompanied Mr. Claude Koontz to the latter's home on Tuesday evening.

MT. ST. MARY'S ITEMS.

Beginning Sunday, March 3rd, and until further notice, the masses at St. Anthony's on Sundays and holy days will be at seven and ten o'clock. Mrs. William Weaver, who has been spending a few days in Frederick, has gone to York, Pa., where she will spend several days. The Swastika Club staged their play in Thurmont last night. This was the last performance of this drama by the amateurs. Miss Emma Warthen, of this place, has accepted a position in Washington. Mrs. James Seltzer, who fell several days ago and severely sprained her arm, is recovering. Misses Mary Barry and Catherine Seltzer spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Seltzer. Mr. Joseph Seiss has rented the Geo. Wagner property. Tonight the University of Bucknell basketball quintette are scheduled to meet Mt. St. Mary's in the latter's cage. This is the last game of the season. Senator Matthias Introducing Bills. Senator Matthias has introduced a bill to amend the charter of Emmitsburg, also providing for detailed, annual, itemized statements of receipts and expenditures by the County Commissioners of Frederick county. WEDDING Invitations, Announcements, Visiting Cards and Engraving for all Society Purposes. Embossing, Lithographing and Color Printing. All Work Properly Done and Promptly Delivered. Estimates and Samples submitted. THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

FRIENDS' CREEK.

Miss Luella Eyer, who spent some time with relatives in this place, has returned to her home in Franklinville. Mr. Howard Clemm, of Rocky Ridge, who visited his grandparents, has returned to his home. Mrs. Ananias Ferguson and daughter, Myrtle, spent a few days last week with relatives in Gettysburg. Miss Nora Shriner spent a few days at Fountaindale last week. Master James Kipe has returned home after spending a few weeks at Edgewood. Mrs. Harriet Zimmerman is ill at this writing. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eyer, of Franklinville, spent Monday in this place. Miss Ruth Kipe is visiting at Edgewood, where her father, Rev. S. A. Kipe, is assisting Rev. Geo. W. Masser in a revival service. Mr. W. H. Kipe and family spent Sunday at the home of Rev. S. A. Kipe. Miss Rosa Hardagen, of Gettysburg, is spending a few weeks at the home of her uncle, Mr. Ananias Ferguson. Mr. Roscoe Eyer spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. Charles Wilhide, of Franklinville.

AROUND BRIDGEPORT

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Eckard and sons, Mr. and Mrs. George Harner and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fair and children spent a pleasant evening with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hockensmith. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker and daughter spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Baker, near Greenmount. Mrs. Ernest Smith and Mrs. Morris Baker made a trip to Emmitsburg on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. William Nail and son, Wilmer, visited in Emmitsburg on Sunday. Mr. Harry Baker and Mr. Jeremiah Flohr, of Sykesville, made a trip to Gettysburg on Tuesday. Mr. Albert Ohler and family and Mr. Harold Null and family were visitors at the home of Mr. Walter Brower on Sunday. Master William Nail spent Saturday with Miss Pauline Baker. Mrs. Harry Baker and father visited in Taneytown on Thursday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Ohler.

FRANKLINVILLE NEWS.

Miss Bina Eyer is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Howard Eigenbrode, of Loy's Station. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ernst and Mrs. William Dewees spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dewees. Mrs. Harvey Finneyfrock is still confined to her bed. Mr. Eugene Fogle had sale on Saturday and left on Tuesday for Hagerstown, his future home. Mr. Dwight Hott has rented his farm to Mr. Howard Eigenbrode, of Loy's Station. Mrs. Charles Eyer and daughter, Luella, and Miss Mary Kelly spent Thursday evening with Mrs. Aaron Stull. Miss Esther Shindledecker spent Sunday with Miss Fannie Ernst.

PUZZLE PICTURE. Find the Local Option Bill.

PUBLIC SALE.

The undersigned, will sell at public sale on the Reindollar (Swope) farm, at Taneytown, on Monday, March 25, 1912, the following personal property, to-wit: 11 HEAD OF HORSES AND COLTS as described, roan horse, "Dick," 10 years old, work wherever hitched; black horse "Dick," 9 years old, work wherever hitched; bay mare, "Bird," in foal from Taneytown Co. horse (April) foal wherever hitched; black mare, "Queen," going on 8 years, good off-side worker and fine driver; roan mare, "Bird," 9 years old, good off-side worker; sorrel mare, 7 years old, good saddle and double driver; sorrel horse, 3 years old, well broken; bred from Thurmont Belgian horse; dark bay mare colt, 3 years old, bred from "Gold King," a good stepper; light bay mare colt, 3 years old, well broken; dark bay mare colt, 2 years old, handled some, and a bay horse colt, 1 year old, both bred from "Gold King." 16 HEAD OF MILCH COWS, some will be fresh by day of sale, others summer and fall cows; one fine Durham bull, 2 years old in June, weight 800 lbs.; one fine Holstein bull. 60 HEAD OF HOGS, 5 brood sows, some will have pigs by day of sale. Also a full line of farming machinery and implements, all in first class order. Sale to commence at 9 o'clock, A. M. sharp. Terms—A credit of 3 months on sums of $5.00 and over, with interest. No goods to be removed until settled for. DAVID F. EYLER. J. N. O. Smith, Auct.

Creel on Mexican Situation.

Enrique C. Creel, Minister of Foreign Relations in the Diaz administration, and for years prominent in the financial and political life of Mexico, said in an interview that all the better element of Mexico were giving Madero their moral support and that he was the choice of the people elected by a legal vote under a Government lawfully constituted. Mr. Creel declared that the finances of Mexico were sound and the resources of the country great, and that there was no reason why with peace it should not enjoy great prosperity. He insisted that the rebels represented no political party or principle and that the only thing they knew was how to rob and slay. He said furthermore, that the business men in Mexico wanted Madero to succeed, because with him overthrown they foresaw nothing but anarchy. In behalf of Madero he said that the latter had not had a fair chance to show what he could do, as he had been in office only a few months which was an insufficient period in which to carry out the plans for improving the condition of the people which were part of his platform during the revolution that he led a year ago.

The Leap Year Prerogative.

Ancient, indeed, are the prerogatives that are accorded to women in Leap Year. They are so old that none can tell now just how or when they originated. However, the ancient Scottish Parliament gives us a date as well as a law upon which to hang the right of women to take the initiative in Leap Year, as convention forbids them to do in other years. In the year 1228 this body passed a law which, in its quaint old English expressly conferred on womankind the right to propose marriage in Leap Year. Here is the law, just as it was written in the Parliamentary records: "Ordonit that during yv reign of her maist blessed Maistie, lika maiden laadee of bath high and lowe estait, shale hae libertie to speak yv man she likes. Gif he refuses to tak hir to be his wyf, he shale be mulct in yv sum of ane hundredry pundes, or less, as his estait may bee, except and alwais gif he can make it appeare that he is betrothit to anither woman, then he shale be free."

MARKET REPORTS.

The following market quotations, which are corrected every Thursday morning, are subject to daily changes.

EMMITSBURG, Mar. 7 Country Produce Etc.

Table with market reports for Emmitzburg, Mar. 7. Includes Butter, Eggs, Chickens, Spring Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Potatoes, Fried Cherries, Raspberries, Blackberries, Apples, Lard, Beef Hides, LIVE STOCK (Steers, Butcher Heifers, Fresh Cows, Fat Cows, Bulls, Hogs, Sheep, Spring Lambs, Calves, Stock Cattle), WHEAT, CORN, OATS, RYE, HAY, STRAW, POULTRY, PRODUCE, POTATOES, CATTLE, Fall Lambs, Fresh Cows.

Boy's Leg Cut Off by Street Car.

William Keller, seven years old, was run over by a street car in Frederick on Wednesday and was so badly hurt that it was necessary to cut off the child's leg.

BUSINESS LOCAL.

Have your Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired by George T. Eyster who warrants the same and has always on hand a large stock of watches, clocks, jewelry and silverware.

GUY K. MOTER

ATTORNEY AND COUNSELOR AT LAW Will be in Emmitsburg Tuesday of each week from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. Office at Public Library Room. Frederick office telephone number 30. June 3-10-tf

NOTARY PUBLIC

A. A. HORNER OFFICE: Banking House of BANNAN, HORNER & CO. EMMITSBURG, MD. may 20-10-1v

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

YOU SHOULD HAVE IT IN YOUR HOME.

It is excellent in cases of emergency.

THE DUFFY MALT WHISKEY CO., ROCHESTER, N. Y.

If you cannot buy Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey from your local druggist or dealer, we can have you supplied at the following prices: 1 Bottle.....$ 1.00 4 Bottles..... 3.50 6 Bottles..... 5.50 12 Bottles..... 10.00 EXPRESS PREPAID. Send us Certified Check, Money Order or cash by registered mail with your order. dec 29-1yr

ALBERT ADELSBERGER LIVERYMAN

Emmitsburg, Maryland Fine Horses and First-Class Carriages. Teams for Drummers and Pleasure Parties a Specialty may 7-09 1y

FINE NOTE PAPER

One pound of Fine Linen Note Paper - eighty odd sheets - with envelopes to match 50c CHRONICLE OFFICE.

EMMITSBURG

GRAIN ELEVATOR BOYLE BROS.

DEALERS IN

Hay, Corn, Oats, Rye, Bran, Chop, Clover and Timothy Seed, Chicken Feed, Horse and Cattle Powder, Maryland Portland Cement, Terra Cotta Pipe. A Full Line of

MACHINERY

And Repairs for same.

Coal in all Sizes

Call and get our Prices before you buy.

BOYLE BROS.

Apr. 2-09

J. W. RIEGLE, D. V. S.

E. G. W. SCHUBEL, D. V. S.

TEL. 263

TEL. 1305

Drs. RIEGLE & SCHUBEL

VETERINARY PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS

Calls Day and Night.

EMMITSBURG, MD.

General Reduction

In Prices on Every Article in Our Entire Store Including

Suits, Overcoats, Hats, Caps, Shoes, Men's Furnishings, Traveling Goods, Etc.

From Now Until the 1st of February.

LOWENSTEIN & WERTHEIMER

HEAD-TO-FOOT OUTFITTERS

11 N. Market Street, FREDERICK, MARYLAND. jan 24-11

THE INDIVIDUALITY OF

A LEHR PIANO

The Distinctive Quality

Of a LEHR PIANO—the quality that makes it so different from other ordinary instruments—

Is Its Pure & Vibrant Tone

This tone is the object, the purpose for which the Lehr instrument is created. But you yourself, without assistance, can judge the tone! Can be seen at Birely's Palace of Music, FREDERICK, MD.

PROF. LYNN STEPHENS, Representative. dec 22-11

UNIVERSAL PORTLAND CEMENT makes the strongest CONCRETE

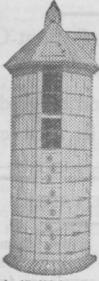

FOR SALE BY E. L. FRIZELL Emmitsburg, Md.

Apr. 10-09 1 yr.

ECONOMY SILOS

MANUFACTURED IN:

Frederick City, Frederick County, Md.

We are close to you which makes the freight very low on the Economy Silo as compared with others. The Economy Doorway is a Marvel of Simplicity and Perfection. Any boy can take them out or put them in, and yet they are perfectly air-tight, entirely preventing possibility of spoiled ensilage.

The Economy is the best hooped silo that is manufactured. Easy to put up. The best of material used in its construction throughout.

Every silo fully guaranteed.

Write for Free Illustrated Catalogue with proof of claims from delighted users.

The Economy Silo & Manufacturing Co.
FREDERICK, MARYLAND.

Feb. 17, '11-17

MATTHEWS BROTHERS

We are now ready for our SUMMER TRADE with a full line of

Sodas, Coco Cola, Ginger Ale, Ice Cream, Confectionery, Tobacco and a Beautiful Line of Cigars and Pipes

Ranging in Price from 1c. to $5.00

Come and look the line over, we will treat you right.
dec 1-17.

JUST RECEIVED

New Striking Spring Suits

They are New, Nobby, Neat Patterns—You Will Like These—STANDARD STYLES AND THE PRICE IS POPULAR. But values are far better than last year at same price.

CHARLES ROTERING & SONS PUBLIC SQUARE
EMMITSBURG, MD.
STRICTLY CASH

Feb 26-11-17

WE'RE AFTER YOU

"You are the Individual We Require"

The above is intended to attract the attention of individuals who are using the sock instead of the bank for a depository, and who in consequence are receiving no interest on their savings.

WE PAY 4% INTEREST ON TIME DEPOSITS and would be delighted to have all present "sock bank" patrons call and talk over the "real thing" banking proposition with us.

Established October, 1882

ANNAN, HORNER & CO., Bankers

Oct 8-0917

New Spring Goods

AT

Joseph E. Hoke's Store

Call and Examine Them. Among the New White Goods are: Cotton Corduroy, Cotton Crepe, Voile Veritas, Lingerie Batiste, Corded Madras, Linen and Linene, the Beautiful New Snowflake Drapery for Curtains, also Casement Cloth and Curtain Swiss, Large Assortment of Dress Gingham in Stripes, Plaids, Checks and Solid Colors.

All Kinds of Cloth for Spring Coat Suits,

Tangier's Pongee, Polo, Storm and Buckingham Serges, also All Wool Cream Serge. Fine lot of Percales in Dark and Light Colors, also Galatia for little boys' suits.

Never before have I had such a well selected stock. Call and see them the goods speak for themselves.

JOSEPH E. HOKE

The KITCHEN CABINET

TAKE care that your profession does not outrun your possession. Artificiality and hypocrisy tear character to shreds.

Whosoever a man soweth that shall he also reap.

SOME GENERAL SUGGESTIONS FOR SERVING.

Move as noiselessly and handle dishes as carefully as possible.

Serve hot things hot and cold things cold.

A well and neatly-laid table is a big step toward a good meal.

Fill the glasses two-thirds full. Do not lift a glass when filling it, but if necessary draw it to the edge of the table, never touching the top of the glass.

Finger bowls are to be filled one-third full; a rose or petals, a leaf or a bit of lemon, in the bowl is an addition.

Water should be put into the glasses the very last thing before the guests are seated.

Never reach in front of a person when serving; serve to the left when the food is a matter of choice by the guest.

Remove all dishes from the right and place all food not chosen at the right.

Relishes, like nuts, olives and pickles, may be left during the entire meal for the guest to help himself.

A dolly should be placed between the plate and the sherbet cup as well as under the finger bowl.

With the salad, crackers or bread and butter are served.

Sugar and cream should always be passed with black coffee, as many prefer it.

One service should be removed at a time, not stacking the dishes; this savors too much of boarding house life.

When changing courses, every thing pertaining to the previous course should be removed.

Two vegetables may be passed at once at the left, allowing the guest to help himself.

The knife and fork should be placed side by side when passing the plate to be replenished or when the course is finished.

The intimate process of mastication should be performed in as noiseless a manner as possible with a closed mouth. This may seem superfluous advice, but existing circumstances warrant a reminder.

Nellie Maxwell.

The KITCHEN CABINET

PEACE there is, in sacrifice secluded;
A life subdued, from will and passion free;
'Tis not the peace which over Eden brooded,
But that which triumphed in Gethsemane.
—Jessie Rose Gates.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Desiccated cocoanut can be made at home with a little work, but costing much less than the proprietary article. Break the shell and carefully remove all of the brown coat and run the white meat through a meat chopper, using a coarse cutter at first, then a finer one. This will not take as much time as trying to cut it fine at first. To every quart of the ground nut meat add a cupful of sugar, stir well and stand in the oven or warming oven until thoroughly dry, stirring occasionally. It will take two days to dry, but the result will be very satisfactory.

Cocoanut Cookies.—Cream one and a half cups of sugar with a cup of warmed butter. Add three well beaten eggs and three tablespoonfuls of milk, a cupful of desiccated cocoanut and three cupfuls of flour, sifted, with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Flavor and bake.

Roast Beef Sandwiches.—These are very nice for a hot supper or luncheon dish. Place rounds or slices of buttered bread covered with slices of cold roast beef, season and pour hot gravy over the sandwich and serve hot.

Pear Dessert.—Take the juice of canned pears, add a little mace to it and boil to extract the flavor. Pour over the pears and serve with whipped cream for dessert.

Uncooked Mincemeat.—Two cupfuls of chopped meat to five cupfuls of chopped apple, three cups of raisins, one cup of vinegar, a cup of cider, a tablespoonful of cinnamon, a cup of molasses and a cup of suet. This will keep a long time if very cold or may be cooked, and will keep indefinitely.

Potato Puffs.—To each cupful of mashed potato take one egg, one tablespoonful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one-fourth of a teaspoon of baking powder and salt to season. Mix well and roll into finger rolls, fry in deep fat as doughnuts. Serve hot.

Nellie Maxwell.

Practical Fashions

GIRL'S SAILOR OR MIDDY DRESS.

5674

The popular sailor dress is one of the most charming styles ever devised for the small girl. The model illustrated here has the regulation blouse with large sailor collar, effectively trimmed with braid. The usual plaited skirt is employed with the front center box-plait in panel effect and an inverted box-plait at the back. It is attached to an under waist to which the yoke and standing collar are also attached. Serge is a good suggestion for a design of this character, though and of the appropriate wash materials may be utilized to advantage.

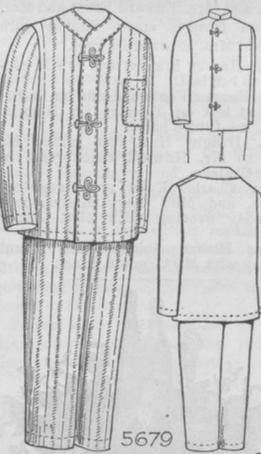

The pattern (5674) is cut in sizes from 6 to 12 years. To make the dress in the medium size will require 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material and 4 1/2 yards of braid to trim, as pictured.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

NO. 5674. SIZE.....
NAME.....
TOWN.....
STREET AND NO.....
STATE.....

Practical Fashions

MEN'S PAJAMAS.

5679

The pajamas here shown are comfortable and good looking. The coat has high neck with standing or rolling collar or it may have low neck with stole band. Around the neck and down the front is a trimming of contrasting material. Braid fasteners make a pretty finish.

The pattern (5679) is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inch, breast measure. To make the pajamas in the medium size will require 5 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. Flannelette is a good suggestion.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

NO. 5679. SIZE.....
NAME.....
TOWN.....
STREET AND NO.....
STATE.....

Moslem Women Awakening.

Now it is the Moslem women of Egypt who are taking part in the woman movement, having asked of the Moslem congress the right to attend prayers and sermons in the mosques, a privilege already granted to the women of Constantinople. They also ask that the primary education of young women be made obligatory; that young girls be admitted to schools of medicine; to use means to prevent polygamy and the abuse of divorce and to teach Mohammedan girls sewing, housekeeping and hygiene.

Her Crowning Glory.
Yeast—Did your wife get any time on that new hat of hers?
Crimsonbeak—No; but it looks as if she'd got about everything else on it!

Nellie Maxwell.

Blighting a Social Career

Mrs. Trumbull's social aspirations were, as a rule, the source of much flippant joy to her husband. It was only when Trumbull himself was called upon to shine at dinner parties or disport in drawing rooms that he ceased to consider in the light of a joke his wife's desire to set her small feet firmly upon the next higher rung of the ladder.

The cream of the joke looked to him particularly pale and blue the evening she announced triumphantly that Mrs. Fulton, the one wealthy woman of their acquaintance, had invited the Trumbulls to sit in her box at the opera the following Thursday evening.

"I'm perfectly willing for you to spend your nights and Sundays pursuing the aristocracy to its lair," protested Trumbull, "but you know I'm not a parlor pet. I'm all right as a means of support, but I'm sure to make a donkey of myself if I try to do the society act. Can't you go alone?"

Mrs. Trumbull set her lips. "That would be impossible," she said. "But, of course, if you don't want to go I can tell Mrs. Fulton that you have a business engagement that will prevent our going."

It was not until her lips began to quiver that Trumbull realized how much it meant to her. He promised to go.

The night of the theater party the weather turned cold. Trumbull, in blissful forgetfulness of the festivity, entered the house in a whirl of snow and icy wind.

"Is that you, dear?" cried Mrs. Trumbull from upstairs, where she was fluttering about getting Trumbull's evening regalia ready for him to put on.

"Yep," responded Trumbull, following the sound of her voice up the stairs.

His face fell when he saw the clothes lying on the bed. "Oh!" he ejaculated in a voice from which all joy had fled. "I'd forgotten this was the evening of the blowout." He shivered audibly. "It's an awful night."

Mrs. Trumbull tripped over to the dresser and began a search for his tie. "I ordered a taxi," she said, cheerily. "It's to be here promptly at a quarter to eight."

In the taxicab Mrs. Trumbull looked at her husband in undisguised satisfaction.

"You'll be the best looking man there," she purred. "I don't care if Mr. Fulton's ancestors did come over with the pilgrim fathers and if they do have a butler and five maids and a governess, he's nothing but a little, dried-up shrimp. Anybody seeing you two together won't hesitate a minute about selecting you as the one with the money."

The spontaneity of this wifely tribute pleased Trumbull. He even grew less sleepy under the enlivening influence of her honeyed words. However, this didn't prevent his having a fleeting wish as he seated himself in the chair just behind his hostess that he had had another strong cup of coffee. Of course he wasn't really sleepy, but a cold wind always gave him a queer feeling.

Mrs. Trumbull, glancing at his big, well-groomed figure and his clever, good-natured face, and now and then catching the low, well-bred tones of his voice, felt that it would take very little more to make her sinfully proud of him. Every interested glance cast up from the seats below them sent a separate thrill of delight through her. She was fairly radiant.

When the first act was about half over her satisfaction was dispelled by an all too familiar sound. She cast a terrified glance toward the rear of the box. What she saw caused her to start wildly to her feet. Too late!

Trumbull's head had fallen to one side, his eyes were closed, his mouth was open. A sound closely resembling the distant rumbling of a railroad train came from his parted lips. From a rumble it quickly grew into a very good imitation of an automobile horn. Higher and higher it rose, until the startling crescendo broke in a fierce, choking leviathan of a snore!

The host jumped to his feet with the obvious intention of rendering first aid to the injured. The hostess gave a sharp, quite involuntary shriek. Mrs. Trumbull stonily fixed her unseeing eyes upon the glittering stage. Trumbull, awakened by the vociferation, but unconscious of the cause of his awakening and considerably refreshed by his little nap, sat looking about for the cause of the disturbance, with the frank, innocent, interested eyes of a child.

Mrs. Trumbull devoted most of her time now to settlement work. She regards the empty life of the society woman with a scornful pity.

Legal Length of Hatpins.
Any woman that appears in public in the state of Michigan wearing a hatpin that is more than 10 inches long is guilty of a felony and may be fined $500, imprisoned for two years, or both. George Lord, of Detroit, is the author of this law, introducing it as an amendment to the law forbidding the carrying of dangerous weapons. He thought it would be taken as a joke, but it was taken so seriously that it passed both houses without a dissenting vote.

The DAIRY

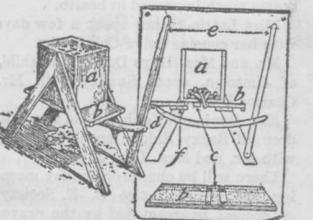

EXCELLENT AS ROOT CUTTER

Home-Made Affair Proves Equally Effective as Fancy Priced Implement—How it is Made.

I have a root cutter that I made which does the business just as well as one that would cost a fancy price, says a writer in the Orange Judd Farmer. I can cut a bushel of roots in less than two minutes. Anyone handy with a saw and hammer can make one like it.

Make a box, a, 8x10x12 inches. For the slide, b, use two pieces of inch boards 1 1/2 inches wide and 28 inches long. Make the knife, c, out of a piece of sheet iron sharpened on both sides. It should be two inches wide and 8 inches long. Nail sheet iron 8 inches wide on top of the slide frame and put the knife in place as shown. Fasten a bow made from the end of an old buggy shaft, as shown by d. Hinge it to the slide and fasten it to the handle, e, with a bolt. Nail two cleats on the side of the legs, as shown by f. The slide will operate on these.

Homemade Root Cutter.

WATERING COWS IN THE BARN

Successful Dairyman Rigs Up Portable Tank, Large Enough for Three Animals to Drink.

A successful dairyman recently outlined to us his method of watering the cows in the barn, says the Ohio Farmer. He objected to using the long, continuous feed trough for watering, his objections being that there will be in the process considerable evaporation into the atmosphere of the barn. Damp air in the barn means that it will be chilly. The evaporation from the gutters and radiation from the cows saturate the air more than it should be without any further addition from the trough.

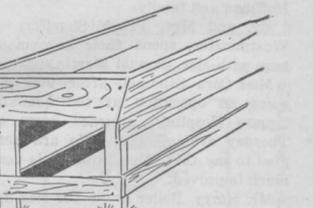

To overcome that objection and yet provide a means of watering in the stall he had rigged a trough on low wheels. This movable tank was so constructed that it would run nicely above the continuous feed trough. In that way the cows can be watered in a very short while without being loosened from their stalls. The tank was made long enough so that three cows could drink at a time. A man may be sweeping the feedway at the same time or doing other work while moving this tank cart from time to time.

HOMEMADE FEEDING TROUGH

Easily and Cheaply Constructed by Using Common Lumber—Excellent for Giving Roughage.

A good trough is easily and cheaply constructed by using 2x4s, 4 feet long for corner posts set 2 feet apart, and a 4-inch trough 1 foot from the ground, using twelve 2-inch boards for the bottom of trough.

Common 6-inch fencing boards serve for the slats, set 8 inches apart;

Home-Made Feeding Trough.

thus each sheep has 4 inches of feeding space, and thirty sheep may feed at a 16-foot trough. Roughage will feed nicely from this trough.

Should Get Separator.

A farmer who lives too far from a good market for whole milk should get a separator. He should feed the skimmed milk to the pigs and calves. Not only does a separator save labor for the women folk, but also for the men. And the returns are greater in the long run than if the whole milk was sold.

Frozen Pumpkins No Good.

Pumpkins will freeze if you don't watch out and frozen pumpkins are of no good to anything. Good, ripe, sound pumpkins are enjoyed by the cows and help the milk flow very much.

Variety of Feeds.

A variety of feed for cows will tend to correct bad flavors and other objectionable features of certain kinds of feeds, such as turnips, oil meal and the like.