More Than 200 Mexicans Reported Killed.

FOUGHT FROM HOUSETOPS

Planned to Seize War Munitions on the Way to Hnerta.

Washington, April 22.-The American flag flies over Vera Cruz.

Four Americans were killed and twenty wounded when a detachment of bluejackets and marines from the American fleet seized the custom house, raised the American flag and skirmished with the Mexican garri-

Those killed were Coxswain Shoemaker, Corporal Haggerty and Seaman Puissett, all of the battleship General Maas challenged the advance Florida. The name of the fourth man could not be learned.

The wounded include C. L. Leahy, U. Schwartz, C. D. Cameron, J. F. Plese, seamen of the Florida; Electrician Geisburn, of the Florida, and D. the side of the United States transport D. McMillan, private, Second Marine regiment, from the transport Prairie.

Desultory firing was in progress for several hours, according to a dispatch from Rear Admiral Fletcher. At first the garrison had appeared to be withdrawing. American Consul Canada reported this to the state department, but when the American forces reached the custom house the Mexicans opened with rifle and artillery fire.

The transport Prairie immediately began shelilng the Mexican positions, slowly driving them out. The Mexicans fought from the housetops and along the streets.

The American forces have taken possession of the cable office and hold the American consulate and the section of the city in the vicinity of the wharves.

May Recall O'Shaughnessy.

While no formal action was taken by the president it is believed that Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy will be immediately recalled from Mexico City, and that the Mexican charge at Washington, Senor Algara, will be given his passports without delay.

The first news of the fighting at Vera Cruz and the seizure of the city comes in this report from Admiral Fletcher, received at the navy depart-

"Tuesday, in face of approaching norther, landed marines and sailors from Utah, Florida and Prairie and seized custom house. Mexican forces did not oppose landing, but opened fire with rifles and artillery after our seizure of custom house. Prairie shelling Mexicans out of their positions. Desultory firing from house tops and streets. Hold custom house and sections of city in vicinity of wharves and consulate. Casualties four dead and twenty wounded."

It was followed in about an hour by another dispatch from Admiral Fletcher, which read: "Holding the vicinity of the railroad station and the yards, and desultory firing continues. Also holding the vicinity of custom house and cable office. Light norther is blowing."

Later Admiral Fletcher sent this dispatch:

"Our men are firing only when fired at. We prepared a flag of truce, with message to General Maas to cease firing or our big guns would be used. No wabout 1000 marines and sailors ashore. All business here suspended."

A hurried conference was called at the White House, President Wilson sumoning Secretaries Bryan, Garrison and Daniels. They were in conference for over an hour, and emerged serious

"In the event of victory at Saltillo," said Oquidi, "General Carranza will establish his headquarters there, and Saltillo will be made the base of operations for the march on Mexico City. complaints from other governments of similar treatment.

It was necessary that the apologies of General Huerta and his representatives should go much further, that they should be such as to attract the attention of the whole population to their significance, and such as to impress upon General Huerta himself the necessity of seeing to it that no further occasion for explanation and professed regrets should arise. I, therefore, felt it my duty to sustain Admiral Mayo in the whole of his demandand to insist that the flag of the United States should be saluted in such a way as to indicate a new spirit and attitude on the part of the Huertistas.

Such a salute General Huerta has refused, and I have come to ask your approval and support in the course I now purpose to pursue.

If armed conflict should unhappily come as a result of his attitude of personal resentment toward this government, we should be fighting only General Huerta and those who adhere to him and give him their support, and pur object would be only to restore to the people of the distracted republic the opportunity to set up again their pown laws and their own government.

own way, and we sincerely desire to respect their right.

I, therefore, come to ask your approval that I should use the armed forces of the United States in such ways and to such an extent as may be necessary to obtain from General Huerta and his adherents the fullest recognition of the rights and dignity of the United States, even amidst the distressing conditions now unhappily obtaining in Mexico.

There can in what we do be no thought of aggression or of selfish aggrandizement. We seek to maintain the dignity and authority of the United States only because we wish always to keep our great influence unimpaired for the use of liberty, both in the United States and wherever else it may be employed for the benefit of mankind.

ZAPATA WARNS WILSON

Decuares His Followers Will Massacre Foreigners If Landing Is Made.

El Paso, Tex., April 22.—Warning has been telegraphed to President Wilson by General Figueroa, who asserts he is a representative of General Emiliano Zapata, revolutionary leader in southern Mexico, that Zapata and his followers will look upon any landing of foreign forces on Mexican territory as a declaration of war and that in reprisal the Zapatistas will massa cre all foreigners in territory dominated by them. The message follows:

"As representative of the Constitutionalist army of the south, I wish to state, I am just in receipt of orders from General Emiliano Zapata to inform the American government that he will not recognize any agreement which it might make with either Huerta or Carranza in respect to the landing of foreign forces on Mexican territory, as he will consider this a declaration of war and will execute all for eign residents of the states dominated by the Constitutionalists of the south."

Constitutionalist officials in El Paso say there was no officer in either the Constitutionalist army, north or south, named A. C. Figueroa, and branded the message as an attempt to discredit the Constitutionalists before the United States government.

TOWNS FEAR ATTACK

Ask For Protection Against Possible Mexican Invasion.

Washington, April 22.—Fearing that the dispatch of the Atlantic fleet to Mexican waters will arouse Mexicans along the border to warlike action, two towns close to the border line appealed to Secretary of War Garrison to send troops to protect them against possible invasion.

The secretary declined to make the names of the towns known, but he instructed General Bliss, in command of the border troops, to take whatever action he may deem necessary.

Mr. Garrison stated that General Bliss will send personal representatives to investigate the situation in these two towns, and that if the sittroops will be detailed at once to protect American citizens and property.

ONLY HALF OF GUARD AVAILABLE FOR WAR

III,672 Are Enrolled, But Many Are Ulfit For Service.

New York, April 22.—Although the latest returns at the war department show an enrollment of 9130 officers and 111,672 men in the National Guard of the United States, it is estimated that only about half would be available after physical examination had been made and men without families dependent upon them eliminated. However, none of the regiments is up to war strength. Regiments of National Guard will be mustered into service as federal troops should a call for them be made. They would first be sent into camps and drilled and hardened for at least three months under the direction of officers of the regular army before they would be permitted to leave the United States.

Brigadier General Albert L. Mills, U. S. A., chief of the division of militia affairs, war department, says that none of the divisions is properly balanced with the requisite troops of different arms needed in each.

"The greatest deficiency," says Gen eral Mills, "is in field artillery. It is upon field artillery that the infantry is most dependent for success in battle If the present so-called divisions are ever pitted against equal forces, adequately provided with field artillery (and all foreign countries are so pro vided) we are doomed to defeat."

MEXICAN STUDENTS HAZED

Huerta's Charge Is Considering Affair at University of Notre Dame.

Washington, April 22. - Senor Al gara, charge of the Mexican embassy here, was informed by telegram from the Mexican vice consul at Indianapolis that eleven Mexican students at the University of Notre Dame, at Notre Dame, Ind., were thrown into the river there by American students.

The consul informed the charge that he would take the matter up with the president of the university.

Mr. Algara said he would wait to hear further from the affair before sending any word to his government. As there are many Mexicans in various institutions of learning throughout the country, he fears, he said, that other such outbreaks may occur.

REBELS IMPRISON U.S. TROOPS

Soldiers Are Rushed to Rescue Men Who Wandered Over Line.

Douglas, Ariz., April 22.—A special to the Douglas International from Tombstone says news reached there that fifteen members of Troop B, of the Tenth cavalry, are held by Constitutionalist troops just below the border near Hereford, Ariz.

The troops, on border patrol, wandered across the line by accident. Troop A, Tenth, left Fort Huachuca to investigate.

"If Anyone Is Killed, Blame U. S." Mexico City, April 22.-Provisional President Huerta reiterated his determination to protect all foreigners, but declared that if anyone was killed as a result of disorders growing out of the situation, the real responsibility would rest with the United States.

"The policy that the American gov ernment is following is particularly unfortunate at this time," he said. "The Mexican government is striving to prevent a condition of chaos in the republic, but just at the time when we are looking for success we are threatened with international complications.

"Naturally, the patriotism of Mexico will not tolerate the sight of its government trampled in the dust, but we hope to prevent any marked violence developing from the resentment that our people will get."

Huerta refused to say what plans his government was making in the present crisis.

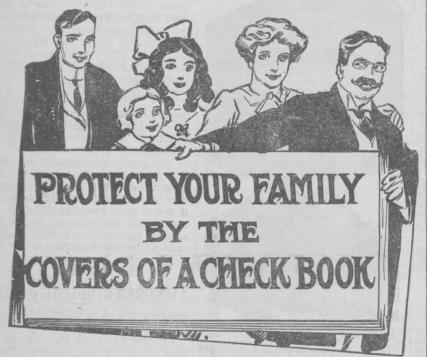

"The first move will have to be made by the United States," he declared. "That government has no basis for its action. President Wilsn says that the American flag was displayed on the boat whose crew was arrested at Tampico. I say that it was not. I can do no more without putting a stain upon the honor of Mexico."

The general exodus of Americans from the capital has begun. Two trainloads of refugees left for Vera Cruz under arrangements made by the American transportation committee, and more will be sent out as soon as possible, until the departure of all the Americans who intend to leave.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scoth-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoctin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.-Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

Public Service (?)

A railroad is a big corporation and its perogatives are big in proportion to its greatness, but even they do not succeed in pulling off all the ridiculous propositions they attempt.

On Wednesday the Western Railway Company changed the schedule of its trains, taking off two on the B. & H. Division and leaving its patrons along that branch undecided whether they are on the map or not in so far as communication with the outside world is con-

It couldn't possibly be handled quicker.

It may be a desire on the part of the Western Maryland to impress the people with their insignificance, or, this great trunk line (?) may have that five per cent increase freight rate in mind, but whatever the reason for the action it is scarcely probable that the persons concerned will submit to such treatment stead Enterprise.

Clean Up Time.

Every household in the land, whether residing in town, village or country, should at once, on the threshold of the warm season, put his premises in sani-tary condition. Now is the time, before disease are uncovered and stirred up.
Scientist tell us that filth is not dangerous to health in itself, but the menace is in its peculiar adaptability as a breeding place for the germs of disease. While a household may be surrounded orice of safety is so little it is a wonder that any one would hesitate to pay it. Premises are, of course, not wilfully permitted to remain unsanitary; the evil health officers have to contend with is simply neglect. And to obtain sure results it is necessary for the whole community to participate in the clean-ing process, for one family may have their premises in the perfection of their premises in the perfection of cleanliness yet contract disease because Towson Union News.

A bill that we think would have been wise and beneficial to the interests of the state, was the bill reducing the membership of the House and increasing the per diadem pay of the members. It was defeated for two reasons: the was defeated for two reasons; the membership was reduced.

Have you ever noticed, when the water has almost all run out of the bathtub, how the light particles on the surface seem then to race out much faster than the water? As a matter of fact, they are traveling faster than most of the water, but no faster than that on the surface.

The reason is not far to seek. Running water, even in a river, goes at different rates, but fastest on the top surface right in the middle of the stream. Friction with the sides and bottom makes the water there go more slowly So the light particles on top of the water in the bathtub, along with the surface water, rush ahead at a good

Dinners and social functions are conspicuous features of Washington life. The new senator or congressman always feels that he must keep up the pace, but his older colleagues do not hesitate to send in their regrets now and then. One senator whose young daughters make severe demands upon him as an escort to official functions,

"I have cut out all dinners and functions except those I feel under obliga tions to attend in my official capacity.

"I have done this for two reasons First, because I have not time to attend them. I have too much to do. Second. A Chinese Superstition.

When a Chinese baby takes a nap people think its soul is having a restgoing out for a long walk perhaps. If the nap is a very long one the mother is frightened. She is afraid that her baby's soul has wandered too far away and cannot find its way home. If it doesn't come back, of course the baby will never awaken. Sometimes mer are sent out into the streets to call the baby's name over and over again, as though it were a real child lost. They hope to lead the soul back home. If a baby sleeps while it is being carried from one place to another the danger of losing the soul along the way is very great. So whoever carries the little one keeps saying its name out loud, so that the soul will not stray away. They think of the soul as a bird hopping along after them.

Sir John Sebright, a prominent society man of the early nineteenth century, owned a remarkable dog. In "Coke of Norfolk" Mrs. A. M. W. Stirling relates that "Sir John Sebright often brought a favorite dog to Holkham, who was remarkably clever at learning tricks. Lord Erskine also possessed a dog which he declared the cleverer of the two. A wager was laid as to which animal in the course of a twelvemonth could be taught the most extraordinary trick. The trial took place at Holkham at the end of a year. Erskine's dog cleverly took a roast oyster out of the fire without injuring himself, but Sir John's dog actually carried a glass of wine without spilling a drop to any gentleman in the room pointed out to him.'

the realization of its object.

Forethought when exercised develops the imagination. The mind accustomed to thinking ahead soon acquires vision. This leads to freedom in a higher degree. The one who takes no forethought is surprised, cast down, discouraged, when anything goes wrong. Such a one is enslaved, imprisoned, as it were, by a wall of circumstances. The one accustomed to use forethought is far less the slave of circumstance. Such a one learns to look for a way by which to turn the unpleasant experience into profitable results. He uses his imagination to find a way out. He thinks constructively instead of just blindly giving in to fate. He has learned that by forethought and imagination, by creative, constructive thinking, he can find new ways to success #### when one way is blocked.-Nautilus. Reporters In the Commons.

Shorthand writers first gained access to the house of commons with some sort of official acquiescence about 1786. In the year 1803 they are to be found occupying the back bench in the strangers' gallery without interference from the house officials; although the latter affected to be ignorant of their presence. In 1836 the house commenced to publish the daily division lists itself and from that time onward the old idea that there was something sacred about the doings of the house which required the prohibition of publicity was exploded. After the great fire of 1834 the reporters were admitted as a matter of course to the temporary building used by the commons and when, on Feb. 3, 1852, the representatives of the people took possession of their new chamber in the palace of Westminster the press was at last officially recognized and the reporters' gallery as it at present exists was an acknowledged fact.

A Luckless Caterpillar.

Nature is a curious force. There is caterpillar in Australia. It looks for food under leaves and twigs in the usual way. As it searches, a parasite, specially equipped by nature for the ourpose, drops on its neck and fastens itself there. In a week or two this little parasite seed begins to germinate. drawing its nourishment from the very lifeblood of the insect. The latter, feeling sick, buries itself about two inches into the ground. Eventually a pale green stalk about twelve inches high, at the summit of which is a most extraordinary flower, somewhat resembling the top of a bulrush when in seed, appears. The poor caterpillar's refuge in the ground is of no avail, for its whole interior has to make room for a vegetable mass of roots. Sucked as dry as a bone, it is actually converted into a stick of wood.-Johannesburg Chronicle.

In the House of Commons.

In the days of Burke, Pitt and Fox members of the house of commons used to relieve the tedium of debate by sucking oranges and cracking nuts while lying full length on the benches, and Brougham made his great six hours' speech on law reform in 1828 with a hatful of oranges by his side for refreshment. Joseph Hume found solace in pears, which he took from his bulging pockets and munched by the hour, leaning the while against his favorite post. No wonder oranges were so popular, since their vender (one of them, at any rate) was a picturesque girl who used to sit with her wares in the lobby, attired in a "sprigged muslin gown with a gauze neckerchief" or in the glory of "clean white silk stockings, Turkey leather shoes and pink silk petticoat, becomingly short."-Westminster Gazette.

Selfish Etiquette.

Meteors and Meteorites.

A meteor is any luminous or flery object that traverses space, as shooting stars, falling stars, etc. A meteorite is a mass of mineral matter which reaches the earth from upper space. The fall of a meteorite is often preceded by the flight of a fireball through the sky and by an explosive sound, but not always, for they sometimes reach the earth without any previous notice. They have been recorded ever since the world began, and, of course, some fall which are never recorded. The British museum contains a collection of 566 meteoric stones, of which twelve fell within the British islands and the rest in other parts. Almost every museum of any note has a collection of them, ranging in size from a few pounds to hundreds of pounds. Lieutenant Peary brought one from Green land that weighed thirty-six and onehalf tons. There are authentic cases of narrow escapes from meteorites, but only one in history of a person being killed, and that man was in India, in 1827.—Philadelphia Press.

"1 Must."

"I must," said Lord Nelson at Trafalgar; "I must," said Washington at Valley Forge; "I must," said Lincoln at Gettysburg; "I must," said Mark Twain, with bankruptcy clutching at his heart; "I must," says every great man and woman, sensing duty, opportunity, crisis and the larger success.

"I must" is God's vest pocket formula to you who breathe his free air and work in his workshops. Daily every one of us faces tasks that we didn't expect and that we had. rather not do. It is the order of circumstance. But just the minute that "I must" comes along our program clears up and our work proceeds plainly and according to plan. That man is most satisfied with life who is most satisfied with doing what he feels is his best "I must!" All right, proceed.-Toledo Times.

The Imitative Chinese.

A Chinese officer told an interesting story of the first visit of the representative of Vickers Sons & Maxim to Shanghai. After fetching his sample Maxim gun to the arsenal at Shanghai and demonstrating it thoroughly to the Chinese, he was taken in to a sixtyfour course Chinese feast that lasted until the small hours of the morning. Meanwhile a large party of the best Chinese mechanics in the arsenal minutely subdividing the labor, quietly took the gun entirely to pieces and either duplicated or took templates of every part. The following day the sample, reassembled, was handed back to him with thanks and the remark that China was not in the market for Maxims just then. The Chinese imitation failed, however, to work properly.-World's Work.

Adhesive Eggs of Fishes.

Among the fisnes which produce adhesive eggs are the little black head minnow (Pimephales promelas) and the goldfish. The male blackhead deposits the fecundated eggs singly upon the under side of leaves of water plants and watches them unceasingly until hatched. The eggs of the goldfish are deposited singly upon the weeds and mosses in a similar manner by the male fish. The eggs of the yellow perch are held together in narrow strips or ribbons of a glutinous character. Adhesive eggs of other species, as the black bass, sunfish, catfishes, etc., are deposited in masses in shallow nests or depressions on the bottom, and still other species deposit their spawn in variously shaped adhesive masses upon water plants, roots and submerged ob-

Beats the Carpenter's Record.

The discovery of a carpenter whose father, grandfather and great-grandfather practiced the same craft has been commented upon in several newspapers and at Lamberhurst, in Kent, there is a family who have been innkeepers for four centuries. In countries where the caste system prevails such a record would be thought utterly insignificant. Grant Duff notes in his diary the answer made by a punkah puller in Madras to an English lady who suggested that he might improve his position. "Memsahib, my father pulled a punkah, my grandfather pulled a punkah, all my ancestors for 4,000.000 ages pulled punkahs, and before that the god who founded our caste pulled a punkah for Vishnu."-London Chronicle.

Anglo-American Exposition in London.

The Anglo-American Exposition will he held at Shepherd's Bush in London from May to October, 1914. While it is a private undertaking, it has become a part of the general scheme for the celebration of the century of peace between England and America, as arrangements have been perfected by which the British-American Peace Committee unites with the committee of the Anglo-American Exposition, thereby adopting the exposition as a part of its plan for commemorating the peace that has followed the signing of the treaty at Ghent. As the result of this arrangement Lord Grey, who is the chairman of the British-American Peace Committee, has become one of the vice presidents of the Anglo-American Exposition. The chairman of the Anglo-American Exposition stated on February 22, 1913.

Woman's Novel Undertaking.

A woman is about to invade the forest fastnesses of the dark continent to find out the language of the apes and in what way it resembles the jargon of the little jungle men of Africa.

She is Lady Grace Mackenzie and she has selected the famous African big game preserves of W. Northrop Mc-Millian, hunter and traveler, whose home is the north shore, for one of the most novel, and, it is hoped valuable of scientific experiments.

Two dictaphones with phonographic attachments are to be taken along, and she expects to catch the myriad sounds of the jungle which may determine whether apes really talk and what is the relation of their anthropoid chatter to the language of the primitive tribesRECALL COLONIAL DAYS.

Comparison of Meat Consumption.

The only countries reported as having a greater per capita consumption of than that of the ordinary lifeboat. It dressed meat than the United States are the Australian Commonwealth and hand power and is supplied with iron Argentina. These, it is well known, are countries of sparse population and vast herds and flocks: hence meat is exceedingly cheap and the native consumption large and probably wasteful.

The per capita consumption of meat for Australia and Argentina is estimated to be in the neighborhood of 250 pounds You will not swagger or boast of per annum; it may possibly be even greater. The corresponding consumption for the United States was computed by the United States Bureau of Animal Industry to be 172 pounds in 1909, and it is estimated to be about 10 pounds less at the present time. This is much greater than the British consumption, the largest in Europe, which is slightly under 120 pounds per inhabitant per

LAWS GOVERNING SUBSCRIPTIONS

Most readers of newspapers and many publishers are not familiar with the laws governing subscriptions. Here are the decisions of the United States court on the subject. They will be interesting to publishers and many will undoubtedly be glad of the opportunity to print them for the benefit of delinquent subscribers:

"Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to renew their subscriptions.

"If subscribers order a discontinuance of their publication the publisher may continue to send them until all dues are paid.

"If the subscriber refuses to take the periodical from the postoffice to which they are directed, he is responsible until he has settled his bill and ordered the paper discon-

"If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the papers are sent to the former address, the subscriber is held responsible.

"The courts have held that refusing to take periodicals from the postoffice, or removing and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

"If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the subscriber is responsible until express notice with payment of all arrearage is sent to the pub-

SYNOPSIS.

Book I. CHAPTER I—Rudolph Van Vechten, a young man of leisure, is astonished to see a man enter No. 1313, a house across the street from the Powhatan club. The house heen uncounted and is house has long been unoccupied and is spoken of as the House of Mystery.

CHAPTER II—Several persons at regular intervals enter No. 1313.

CHAPTER III—Van Vechten expresses concern to his friend, Tom Phinney, re-garding the whereabouts of his cousin and fiancee, Paige Carew. A fashionably attired woman is seen to enter the House of Mystery. A man is forcibly ejected from the house. Van Vechten and Tom follow the man and find him dead in the street.

CHAPTER IV—Van Vechten is attracted by the face of a girl in the crowd of onlookers surrounding the body. Later he discovers the girl gazing at him with a look of scorn from the windows of the mysterious house.

CHAPTER V-Detective Flint calls on Van Vechten to get his version of the tragedy.

CHAPTER VI—Tom Phinney goes alone on a yachting trip. He recognizes among some persons in a passing motor boat two men whom he had seen enter the House of Mystery. He sees one of them, a Mr. Callis, on shore later and follows him. Tom is seized, blindfolded and taken to a house. He hears a girl named Jessie, evidently the daughter of the man in authority, question his captors. A sweetvoiced girl later protests against the roughness of his captors.

Book II.

CHAPTER I—Van Vechten calls on his uncle, Theodore Van Vechten, big man in Wall street and known as the "Man of Iron," in search of information regarding the whereabouts of Paige Carew.

CHAPTER II—Detective Flint shows Van Vechten a gold mesh purse found in the House of Mystery. Van recognizes it as belonging to Paige Carew.

CHAPTER III—The sweet-voiced girl helps Tom Phinney escape, but refuses to disclose her identity. Tom declares he will meet her again.

CHAPTER IV—Detective Finit term van Vechten he has a theory that Paige has been kidnaped. Van goes to lay the case before his units

CHAPTER V—Messages are sent to Europe in an effort to trace Paige. Tom tells Van Vechten he is in love and re-lates his adventure.

CHAPTER VI.

£500 Reward. When Rudolph Van Vechten rallied from the staggering blow of the brutal scarehead, he contrived by a mighty effort to focus his attention upon the sensational news story that lay below, and which shrieked as loud as a lavish use of black ink and red ink and double leads could make it. There were smaller headlines-but visible enough, heaven knows-which bore his uncles's name and his own, and most inconspicuously of all-doubtless as being the least important factor-

Mrs. Devereaux's. In the first place, it was made unmistakable that everybody who knew or should have known where Paige Carew was, either would not else they did not know, and it was demonstrated how this reticence was conclusive evidence that she had encountered some untoward fate. Every possible change was rung upon the excited query in the hectic headline: "Where is Paige Carew?"

Rudolph Van Vechten, prominent clubman and well-known society favorite, the missing girl's fiance, had been signally evasive in his replies. The interview with him was quoted in full, and the allusive comments made it appear as if he were at the time distressed to the verge of insanity.

A recent celebrated abduction case was summarized, and certain similarities between it and Miss Carew's evanishment were "played up strong" -the deliberate intention of course being to insinuate that the girl had met with a like outrage.

In short, so adroitly was the whole thing worded that the Sphere in no way committed itself; and however Miss Carew might reappear, and whatever the subsequent explanation, it would be good for another "front have nothing to retract.

Van Vechten, white with rage, ascertain whether he was the target of too many curious eyes, and discovering that he and Tom were once more alone, he gave vent to a hushed but heated expression of his feelings.

"That," gritted he, mutilating the sheet with a vicious jab of his fist, "is when he sees it? Believe me, old chap, there'll be something doing now.

boy go?" Alexander was upon the scene almost as if by magic, his mien one of childlike innocence.

Van Vechten instructed: "Telephone the Kenmore garage and have Ramley fetch my touring car here immediately—the largest one." Ensconced in one of the club's booths, Alexander soon got the garage and next Ramley, whom he thus

"Say, you Ramley hick, your boss wants his biggest buzz-wagon at the Powhatan, C. Q. D. J'get it? . . . Wat's that? . . . Who? Me? Well, W'at's that? . I'd rather be a fresh kid than a pickled mutt. Beat it, youse, and don't get pinched on the way, else youse'll be chasin' annuder job.'

Whereupon he forestalled further repartee by speedily hanging up and resuming his occupation of lurking, unobserved but strictly vigilant, in the

That Ramley not only got the import of Alexander's message, but appreciated its urgency as well, was proved by his prompt appearance.

"This beats hunting taxis every minute or so," Van Vechten explained to Tom, "and Ramley might as well be earning his wages. I'll just keep him at hand for emergencies." "Let Ramley go; I'd rather run the machine than listen to you talk, anyhow," returned Tom, candidly. fellow might have a chance to think." The offer was considered seriously, and, to Tom's satisfaction, favorably. "Perhaps," Van Vechten returned, 'it might be as well not to have too many witnesses in case anything very private occurs; even the best of servants-including Barnicle, of course -can be made to talk, if cleverly manipulated."

Alexander went to fetch Tom's motoring gear from the cloakroom locker, and Ramley was dismissed.

Under Tom's expert guidance the huge machine glided silently over to Fourth avenue, across Union square to Broadway, and down that busy channel, as if it were held within the speed limits only with the utmost difficulty. Arrived at the New street offices, Tom remained with the motor while Van Vechten hastened to his uncle.

The Man of Iron, it was quickly learned, had already seen the Sphere's article. And something was already doing, too. Outwardly entirely unmoved, ironlike, inflexible, showing nothing of the annoyance that stirred beneath his adamantine crust, he had pulled this wire and that one, with the result that the Sphere's entire local staff, from the city editor on down to the newest cub, were solicitously speculating upon the chances of landing new jobs in the extremely likely event that their present ones would terminate next pay-day. A striking tribute, this to the Man of Iron's farreaching power; for in all the wide world no other authority could so have shaken the apparently impregnable strength of this great journal.

Moreover Uncle Theodore had al-

"I am beginning to fear," he tersely concluded, "that something very number of special officers, patrolled serious has happened to Paige and the streets here to prevent a recur-Jo; what, I can't imagine. Then I shall act promptly. Draw on me for necessary funds; but don't fail to keep an accurate account of every cent spent-both exact amount and specific purpose for which expended." Rudolph drew a long face. "How can you expect me to do that?" protested he, "when, where my own expenditures are concerned, I am unable even to arrive at an estimate?" "Then," dryly, "you need not draw page" story, and the Sphere would on me at all; for once you may direct your money to some useful and profitable end. Rudolph, during the ride back to the club, . . Alexander! Where did that winced more than once when some newsboy's shrilly shouted slogan assaulted his hearing.

"Where is Paige Carew?" Tom asked himself under his breath. "What's the answer? They'll be pulling gags from that on the roof gardens tonight. It's the catchword already. Poor old Ruddy!"

They stopped at a telegraph office, where Van Vechten filed a cablegram to Paige's last known Paris address. When he returned to the car—"Let us hurry back to the club," said he. "I mean to phone Flint, and-" He paused and looked questioningly up at Tom. "I suppose you wouldn't mind taking us over to Rocky Cove?" he

Tom instantly brightened—all over, apparently-but nevertheless he opposed an objection.

"Wouldn't look right, Ruddy. Can't you see?"

"No, I can't"—bluntly. "Why, I'd be a-er-a sort ofwhat you call 'em?-accomplice. Dash it all! I'd jolly well like to go, though."

The decisive way in which Van Vechten climbed into the tonneau indicated that this half-hearted protest was accepted for joyous acquiescence. "Let's find Flint," he said. "Speed up.

Easier said than done, however, for on their arrival at the Powhatan the most diligent use of the telephone failed to elicit the slightest trace of the detective's whereabouts.

Rudolph and Tom were in the act of leaving the club to enter the automobile, when a messenger boy entered, under Alexander's cautious guidance, and handed to Van Vechten a cablegram. Before tearing open the cover, he was a bit puzzled to observe that it was addressed both to his uncle and himself; which meant that a duplicate would be delivered to the Man of Iron, if, indeed, he had not already received one.

The message was dated at London, and this is what Van Vechten read:

"Two ladies answering description Mrs. D. and Miss C. two weeks in Withypool Somerset July. Two ladies same description booked passage on America August 8 as Mrs. and Miss Schuyler New York. Have posted reward five hundred pounds. "FOTHERINGILL."

VERA CRUZ CAPTURED

The orders to the admiral, it was said, conferred the broadest authority upon him and directed that if neces sary he take the town of Vera Cruz as well as the custom house, to prevent the landing of the munitions.

Officials said the admiral might act in several ways. He might wait until the German vessel had landed her cargo unmolested and then take the custom houes and the munitions, or when the vessel comes to port he might seize the customs house, and if the guns were landed they would come into pos session of the American forces. That the steamship might take her cargo to some other port was a possibility of which the officials were cognizant.

Senator Lodge in the senate said: "In a situation of high seriousness such as now confronts congress, it is well to remember the responsibility of the senate," he began. "The power to declare war rests under the constitution with the congress.

"When the president lays an international controversy before congress he takes the last step that precedes war," continued Mr. Lodge. "The pres ident might have taken further steps but he has come to the body which alone has the power to declare war. think he has done well."

Warned Against Mines. Washington, April 22. - The long arm of the government wireless was stretched out over the Gulf of Mexico to carry a warning to Rear Admiral Badger to take special precautions to protect the ships of the Atlantic fleet from mines at Tampico. #### YOUR CHANCES. We all have to learn in one way or another that neither men nor boys get second chances in this world. We all get new chances till the end of our lives, but not second chances in the same set of circumstances, and the great—the very great-difference between one person and another is how he takes hold of and uses his first chance and how he takes his fall if it is scored against him.—Thomas Hughes.
