History of Outbreak of Dreaded Disease. - Symptoms of Affected Cattle.-Government and State Share Loss.

The hoof-and-mouth disease, to prevent the spread of which Gov. Goldsboro last week issued a proclamation quarantining Washington, Frederick and Allegany counties, to which have since been added Carroll, Howard and mitsbury on the farm of the late Edward M. Fuss. Dr. L. Hickman and other inspectors visited the farm on about 10 head of cattle were suffering with the disease, ordered all the live stock on the place-39 head of cattle and 32 hcgs-killed and the carcases buried. Mrs. Mary Fuss, owner of the slaughtered stock, which was appraised at $1950, will not suffer a monetary loss.

The stock of farmers killed because of this disease are paid for by the United States Government and the State government. The farmer does not lose a cent. Dr. R. V. Smith said that this outbreak of hoof-and-mouth disease will cost the government about twenty-four hours, and carry a wirefive millions of dollars. No other cases less installation. of the disease has been reported in this vicinity.

It was stated at the Fuss home that the cattle which were affected had been | Cold Weather Needed to Check Spread bought about three weeks ago from Patterson Brothers who, it is understood, secured the stock from the neighborhood of Lancaster, Pa.

If cut fodder, alone is available for roughage, it will be necessary to supply a large part of the nutrients, resilage and some legume hay are necessary for the profitable production of milk and butter. Two-thirds of the nutrients required for a normal production can be supplied in the form of rough feed; but where neither silage nor legumes are available two-thirds the cost of production very high and probably unprofitable.

In selecting the feeds for his grain mixture the dairyman should choose those that are to be had at the lowest cost; and use only enough of each so that the mixture will, when fed with what roughage is available, supply the nutrients that are required for a given production. RATIO OF BUSINESS TO INCOME

Many Conducting Large Farms Realize Only 5 Per Cent. on I nvestment.

A careful study by Government exparts of the United States shows that the size of the farm business is one of the most important factors controlling the farmer's income. The problem of how large an investment is needed in order to carry on a certain type of farming to advantage is of the utmost importance. The amount of this investment will vary according to the type of farming and to the region selected.

In a survey of over 100 farms in an

On the other hand, the number of acres is not always a true measure, as a big business can be conducted on a small area; 20 acres of truck and small fruits may equal a 200-acre farm devoted to grain, hay, cattle, and hogs. Investigations relating to profits in farming show conclusively that the efficiency of the animals to which the crops are fed is one of the most important factors in determining the farmer's net income. This is to be expected, since on many farms in this country the bulk of the crops is in reality sold to the dairy herd or to meat-producing animals. COUNTY CATTLE IN-FECTED.

In an effort to exterminate the hoofand-mouth disease in live stock and prevent the malady from spreading, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has issued instructions that all live stock equipment in the States where the disease is prevalent shall be disinfected thoroughly and cleaned before being used for interstate traffic, and the precaution has been extended to the disinfecting of all cars which have passed through the States under quarantine at any time during the 60-days' period previous to November 2.

Cattle dealers in Frederick county are hard hit by the quarantine, their business being brought to a standstill. Those who have stock on hand are unable to ship to the city buyers. It is possible that on some meats the price locally will drop because the stock cannot reach outside markets and the supply in the county will be larger than is usually the case. It is pointed out that this is particularly true of calves. It is known that one dealer has a lot of calves on hand and is anxiously waiting the time when he can unload the stock. If that time does not soon arstreet railway employes and lifelong rive, he may have to sell to local buyers and at prices lower than he could ordinarily get.

The following are characteristics of the disease:

It is acute in cattle, sheep and pigs and occasionally in man. It is of extraordinary activity, spreading like fire among the animals in contact.

After the infection of the animal it usually takes from three to five days before the real symptoms of the disease appear.

When the animal is effected around the mouth, tongue, gums and lips little grayish vesicles appear about the size of a hemp seed.

These little vesicles at first contain a clear fluid, which later on become turbid and form ulcers.

The animal "feels bad" and loses flesh rapidly. In cows the disease is usually seen in the udder, and the milk becomes yellowish in color and rather

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scottch-Irish descent, the program mostly of the descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a val-ley of rolling lands lying between Linganore Hills and the Catoc tin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Mary-land Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland-the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State-there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg. No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatchable; the climate is notedly healthful; its water-pure mountain spring water-cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary-with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years-is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies-equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid acheivement-is also here.

There are excellent Schools-Public and Parochial-in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liveries, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled streets.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites availabe. If you contemplate changing your place of residence-come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County,

An Ice Drydock. An army engineer once gave a demonstration on the Lake of the Woods, on the Canadian border, of the old saying that an engineer is a man whose business it is to do a task at half the cost others would incur. A dredge locked in the ice needed repairs nearly three feet below the water line. The surrounding ice at the time was nearly two feet thick. A trench eighteen inches deep was cut in the ice round the dredge. The next night the cold froze an inch or two of ice directly under this trench, and on the day following another inch of ice was dug out of the trench. Day after day an inch of ice, more or less, was chipped out of the trench, according to the intensity of cold on the preceding night. In a month the trench was nearly three feet deep, with a safe block of ice beneath it. Repairs to the hull were then easily made. - Saturday Evening Post.

> When Boys Were Taught to Smoke. The habit of juvenile smoking in England in the seventeenth century was practically universal. Jorevin de Rochefort, a French traveler of that period, in an account published in 1671 gives a description of an evening he spent at Worcester. He was catechized by one of the townsmen as to the habits of the French people. "While we were walking about the town," he writes, "he asked me if it was the custom in France, as in England, that when the children went to school they carried in their satchels with their books a pipe of tobacco which their mother took care to fill early in the morning, it serving them instead of breakfast and that at the accustomed hour every one laid aside his book to light his pipe, the master smoking with them and teaching them how to hold their pipes and draw in their tobacco, thus accustoming them to it from their youth, believing it absolutely necessary for a man's health." -St. James' Gazette.

Guarding a Modern Fort.

The modern fort is armed with a garrison of 200 or more men who work the guns in watches much as if they were on a battleship. While the direct fire guns are surrounded by pits of ten foot concrete and are protected by armored cupolas, the guns rising to fire and dropping back after each discharge, these places are by no means safe. A. von Schwartz, a Russian artillery officer, in describing the defense of Port Arthur, in which he took part, told of the havoc of the Japanese guns and of the rain of shells that made it impossible for food to be brought from protected communication lines for a half day at a time. Because of the certainty of death which awaits any body of men attacking the trenches of either during broad daylight, surprise night attacks are favored by both besieged and besiegers, but particularly by the latter. Hence searchlights, mines and circles of electric wires are used by both sides and add not a little to the horrors of war.-Walter S. Hiatt in Leslie's, Ferocious Looking Sikhs.

Did you ever see a Sikh in uniform? No? Whatever of fierceness your childhood fancy painted upon the face of a soldier, the Sikh has it. Other soldiers may be as brave or may fight more tenaciously or die more willingly, but for simple fierceness of personal appearance all medals go to the Sikh.

Very Awkward. Two Frenchmen, one an artist and the other a subeditor, fought a duel. The combatants faced each other with grim determination, both being confident of victory.

After much parleying the subeditor managed to get in an overwhelming cut, which severed the artist's nose. The wounded man dropped his sword with a groan, but in falling had the misfortune to fall across the big toe of his right foot, cutting it clean off. After this interesting state of affairs he was rendered hors du combat. The doctors rushed up to replace the pieces, but in doing so they made the fatal mistake of putting the toe on the artist's face and his nose where the toe should have been, and ever since the accident when the unfortunate fellow wanted to sneeze he has been obliged to take off his boot.-Strand Magazine.

Scared the Beast. The extraordinary skill with which Sir Edwin Landseer painted animals was due not merely to his mastery of the brush, but also to his intimate knowledge of the animal world. One day when the artist happened to be the guest of Lord Rivers he was requested to go and see a very savage dog that was tied up in the yard. As Landseer approached the growling beast he dropped quietly upon his hands and knees and then, crawling forward, snarled so alarmingly that the dog, overcome with terror, suddenly snapped his chain, jumped over the wall and was never seen afterward.

No Difference.

Personally, we never attached to wedding and engagement news the importance in which it is held by society reporters. And we incline to believe both to be purely private matters in which the wishes of the persons involved should be paramount. Seeing In the Dark.

Sir J. J. Thomson is authority for the statement that when a body is heated above the temperature of boiling water it ordinarily begins to be faintly visible, especially by averted vision, but no definite color is discerned until the temperature has risen considerably higher. This suggests that the first effects are felt by the "rods" and not by the "cones," which together form the setina. The cones are specially concerned with the perception of color. From this one would infer that animals which see in the dark must have retinas particularly rich in rods. and physiology shows that this is notably true of the owl, whose retina is remarkable for the extremely great proportion of rods to cones. In a faint light, states Professor Thomson, the owl sees no color, but he sees somethings which is good enough for his purposes where we would see nothing at all.-Philadelphia Record.

A Literary Bellboy. At one of the great London hotels there is a page boy who in his spare moments is much given to the study of the best English literature.

A few days ago he was paid his wages with a small fine deducted for some breach of regulations. Indignant, the boy said to the manager, "Sir, if you should ever find it within the scope of your jurisdiction to levy an assessment on my wages for some trivial act alleged to have been committed by myself at some inopportune moment in the stress of one's avocation I would suggest that you refrain from exercising that prerogative. The failure to do so would of necessity force me to tender my resignation.'

The manager, tottering, reached a chair and in gasps asked the boy what he meant. "In other words, if you fine me again I shall chuck the job!" said the lad.-London Standard.

For the New House.

When you commence to plan your new house get a good sized scrapbook in which to paste every kind of a suggestion you come across. There are hundreds of little ideas as well as some larger ones which will help you give your home added charm or comfort without much increase in cost-ideas about built in things, from a simple shelf to a medicine closet or a seat in an inglenook. There are things to do and things not to do about the placing of lights and of radiators and of water or steam pipes. There are principles of harmony to be remembered in the selection of rugs, draperies, wall decorations and furniture. We all run across such suggestions, but rarely remember them. So get a scrap book or else a large envelope or a flat box labeled "The New House." It will pay .-

Norman Kings and War.

The Norman kings had a way of their own of making money from their warlike preparations. William Rufus in the sixth year of his reign, "caused 20,000 foot to be lifted in England to rendezvous in Normandy. But when they were come to the sea coast in order to be transported he sent them all home again after exacting 10 shillings from each of them for their diet.' Years afterward Richard I., according to the old chronicle, "ordained that hould be jousts and tourna ments throughout England for the better exercise of men in martial affairs, yet so that all persons should pay for their licenses to bear a part in these exercises after the following rates: Every earl 20 marks, every baron 10 marks and such as had no land 2 marks."

Boulogne. Boulogne has been the base of almost every contemplated invasion of England from the days of Caligula to the time when Napoleon gathered 180,-.000 men there ready at any favorable opportunity to swoop across the channel. BOLGIANO'S Perfect Seed Potatoes

The United States Agricultural Department places their Tag of Inspection and Ap-proval on every sack of SEED POTATOES Purchased From J. BOLGIANO & SON.

CERTIFICATE OF QUALITY. This is to certify that I have had charge of all the Seed Potatoes grown for J. Bolgiano & Son, during this growing season. I have been with them since April 15th; looked after the selecting of their seed and the treating of the same, have also had charge of the spraying during the growing season. There was nothing planted but the very best selected and nothing has been left up. seed, and nothing has been left undone to have them right. The crop is now being harvested, and the results of my work are most satisfactory. We are harvesting one of the largest crops ever grown in Aross tack County, Maine, and of the finest quality, free from any disease and true to name. I spent some time in Washington, D. C., with the Horticultural Board before coming here and their ideas of producing FIRST CLASS SEED have been carried out to the letter for J. Bolgiano & Son.

in Position to Take Advantage of a Good Thing.

Once there was a prosperous Manufacturer who had made his Stake by handling an every-day Commodity at a small Margin of Profit.

One Morning the Representative of a large Concern dealing in guaranteed Securities came in to sell him some gilt-edged Municipal Bonds that would net a shade under five per cent.

"I'll have to look into the Proposition very carefully," said the investor, as he tilted himself back in his jointed Chair. "I must have the History of all previous Bond Issues under the same Auspices. Also the Report of an Expert as to possible Shrinkage of Assets. Any Investment should be preceded by a systematic and thorough Investigation.'

Having delivered himself of this Signed Editorial he dismissed the Primary. Bond Salesman and went back to his Morning Mail.

In 1907 there were 19,071 more deaths than births, and this record was passed in 1901, when there were 742,114 births and 776,983 deaths. The vital statistics of France are full of JOHN C. MOTTER, J., D. BAKER. gloomy suggestions to French publicists, whose sentiments are voiced by the Temps in remarking that the population increase in Germany in 1913 was 20 times that of France. The significance of this comment becomes apparent when we remember that Germany's army expansion forced France to return to the three-year service system. Germany has a surplus of recruits every year, whereas France is compelled to increase length of service because it cannot command an increase of recruit supply.-Boston
