Owing to the condition of the cotton market for some time, coupled with the fact that the industries of the whole country have been affected for various causes, many thousands being in enforced idleness, prices on staple cotton fabrics have not been so low temporarily as they were at the first of the year-when we bought heavily. Our many lines, where mills have unloaded, prices have materially stiffened and we predict still heavier advances that come with the demand. Here are a few prices from our present stock.

H. M. Ashbaugh.

HIS busy, progressive nation is today at the dawn of a new era of commercial and social development. The means by which the human voice, with its slightest inflections and indications of personality, can be carried across the continent instantly, have been provided. Talking by telephone from New York to San Francisco is now an accomplished fact.

The celebration of this latest and greatest triumph in the art of telephony has just taken place. Within a short time the public will have, ready for its use, the product of American brains, American initiative and American scientific and technical skill, a transcontinental telephone service, the equal of which is not even approached in all the other nations of the world.

It is a splendid scientific achievement of the very highest character. The power that sends the human voice out over the telephone is scarcely greater than that of a breath, yet the means have been provided by which this tiny, almost imaginary impulse, made up of as many as 2,000 separate vibrations a second, can be picked up by a delicate instrument, conserved over a distance of 3,400 miles, and reproduced perfectly and instantly across the continent. The human voice has been made to travel as fast as light, faster than sound unaided by technical apparatus; indeed, it rivals THOUGHT even, in the swiftness of its flight.

The imagination can but feebly grasp, much less attempt to measure, the far-reaching significance of such a tremendous accomplishment. One hundred million people will have for their daily use a system of communication that knows no East, no West, no North, no South. Dialects, provincialisms, sectional prejudices, must event-ually yield to the closer union, the better under-giving universal service to 100,000,000 people.

standing, the more intimate comradeship that the human voice establishes. The neighborliness of a whole nation is advanced by the brushing away of the physical restraints of centuries.

This contribution to the future happiness and prosperity of a more closely united people has not been brought about, however, by the overcoming of a few isolated, concrete difficulties. Its success has depended upon the exercise of the highest engineering and technical skill and the solution was found only in the cumulative effect of improvements great and small, in telephone, transmitter, line, cable, switchboard, and every other piece of apparatus or plant required in the transmission of speech.

In this work the experimental and research department of the Bell System of which this Company is a part, has been engaged ever since the telephone became a commercial possibility, less than 40 years ago. With no traditions to follow and no experience to guide, this department, which is now directed by a staff of over 550 engineers and scientists, including former professors, post graduate students, scientific investigators-the graduates of 140 universitieshas created an entirely new art-the art of telephony, and has given to the people of this .country a telephone service that has no equal.

It has required vast expenditures of money and immense concentration of effort, but these have been justified by results of immeasurable benefit to the public. The transcontinental telephone line, 3,400 miles long, joining the Atlantic and Pacific, is part of the Bell System of 21,000,000 miles of wire connecting 9,000,000 telephone stations, located everywhere throughout the United States. Composing this system are the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and As-sociated Companies and connecting companies, Frank P. Walsh, of New York, chairman of the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations, announced that the Commission would conduct in Chicago an investigation into the entire transportation conditions of the country, the relations between railroads and their employees and conditions among the workers.

The stock yards at Buffalo, N. Y., and Richmond, Va., were closed by the Agriculture Department because of the foot and mouth disease. The yards will remain closed for four or five days until they can thoroughly be disinfected.

"Dollar and a half wheat" was realized on the board of trade at Chicago when May wheat opened at 150 to $149\frac{7}{5}$. The opening was attended by scenes of considerable excitement, dealers evidently thinking the cold wave would have an effect on prices.

The Warren Chemical Products Company began work on a $500,000 contract to supply gun cotton to England and Russia. The contract will be filled as rapidly as possible, both day and night shifts being employed at the plant.

Chemistry Medal Awarded.

The noteworthy discovery in chemistry during 1914 was that of a new method for the purification of copper, known as the electrolytic method, for which discovery Edward Weston, of New York, was honored by the presentation of the Perkin medal at a meeting of the Society of Chemical Industry. Sir William H. Perkin, of England, has given the medal annually since 1904.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Un-ion, and especially in the produc-tion of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoc tin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and produc-tive areas of the Union. I saw a jack-plane off a board, A car-spring off the track; saw a saw-dust off the floor, And then a carpet tack. I saw a monkey-wrench a hat From a fair lady's pate. saw a rattle-snake a bird, And hogs-head on a plate. I saw a brandy-smash a glass, I saw a shooting-star; 've heard the corns-talk in the field, And pig iron crow-bar. saw a pir-wheel off a post, And wheel-wright in a shop; I saw a gin-sling on a bar; And saw a ginger pop. saw a house-fly o'er a field. I saw an ox-roast, too; And saw a chicken-stew: I saw a sword-fish from a bank, I heard the water-spout; saw tobacco-spit, and then I heard an eye-bawl out. heard a fence-rail at the din, I heard a waist band play A lovely strain-a sweet spit-toon-And then I went away. -Old Scrap Book.

WORKING IN OCEAN'S DEPTHS

Most Remarkable Divers Are the Pearl Fishers of Torres, Who Work With Simple Equipment.

The greatest depth recorded of work done by a diver in a suit is 182 feet; this depth was reached by the Spanish diver, Angel Erostarbe, who recovered $45,000 in silver ingots from the wreck of the steamship Skyro off This car is commonly looked upon as Cape Finisterre. The sponge divers of the Mediterranean work at a maximum of 150 feet, and the Australian pearlers at 120 feet. The greatest depths reached by divers without apparatus were by the pearl fishers of Torres, mostly Malayans from the smaller islands. They go down with the aid of a stone and a loop in the rope thereto attached which they clutch with their toes, these organs being far more prehensile than in races normally shod. They seldom venture to descend below 50 feet. a depth at which they can remain for two minutes. The stone enables them to remain at the bottom while they are sweeping the pearl oysters into a basket attached to the stone. When the diver feels that he must come up to breathe he releases his toes from the becket in the rope and at once floats to the surface. Young and the adverse conditions which were met, healthy Malayan divers working oyster beds below six fathoms make four descents an hour during four hours in the morning and the same during four hours in the afternoon following a four-hour rest. A civilized man at a depth of 42 feet finds such a dive intolerable after a single minute.

TRIED TO "BEAN" THE HAWK

New York City Employee Flings Paper Weight Ineffectively at Daring Pigeon-Eater.

There was a hunt for game vester. day atop the municipal building. The game was variously described as a hawk and an eagle. The hunters were a couple of score of city employees, led by Alderman Carstairs and Jack Kennedy, chief clerk of the water department. The "guide," if such he could be called, was Elevator Dispatcher Peter Kearney, whose office is on the roof of the building, and who has been watching the big bird capture and devour pigeons.

"The bird is two feet high at least, and his wings spread four feet," said Kearney. "He's black, but his breast has streaks of white on it. He has a brown bill, with a black spot right on the end of it."

The hunters trooped out on the roof just after Kearney had informed them the bird had settled on a ledge 15 feet below, with a pigeon in its mouth. There was a long discussion, and finally Frank Halliday tied a paper weight to a long string, and tried to "bean" the hawk

The weight fell pretty close to the hawk's head, and it soared up, taking refuge in the folds of Civic Virtue's bronze skirt .- New York World.

In all Western Maryland-the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State-there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatchable: the climate is notedly healthful; its water-pure mountain spring water-cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary-with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years-is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies-equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid acheivement-is also here.

There are excellent Schools-Public and Parochial-in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liveries, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled streets.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites availabe. If you contemplate changing your place of residence-come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

The humors of that type of lawyer who is known as the "ambulance chaser" are not lost upon Representative Howard of Georgia, who, by the way, has not even sympathy for the type. Injured at Thurmont Sub-Station.

The third accident to happen at the Thurmont sub-station of the H. & F. Railway Co., took place Wednesday evening when Mr. Charles Delaplane had his right hand and both feet badly burned. Mr. Delaplane was on night duty at the time. He raised his right hand to calculate how high a wire screen that was to be erected should be, and as he did so the electric current jumped from a heavily charged wire to his arm, a foot or more away. He was knocked to the floor but had sufficient riers. strength to crawl to the door of the depot.

His right hand was badly burned and his feet also. The imprint of his shoes was burned on the concrete floor. Dr. M. A. Birely was summoned and render. ed aid and in a short time removed the njured man to the Frederick Hospital.

In that same memorable year of 1876, Dom Pedro de Aleantara, Emperor of Brazil, visiting the first telephone exhi-bition at our first great national show, the Philadelphia Centennial, picked up the receiver, listened as Professor Bell talked at the other end of the room, and, amazed at the wonder of the thing, cried out: "My God—it speaks." Had Dom Pedro lived to see the Pan American position he could have heard Professor Bell talking to him, not merely from the other end of a room, but from the other side of a continent. The Pan-American Exposition itself, planned to celebrate the completion of the Panama Canal and the joining of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, will mark a be nearer to New York through a short-ening of its water ways, but will be in constant and instantaneous touch with it through the medium of speech. It is a curious fact, too, that this second great feat of engineering, this other canal, this even more intimate connection between the two seaboards, has been completed in the same year. Quietly, almost unnoticed, but steadily and bravely, while the gigantic steam shovels were cutting their way through the earth in the South, the engineers of sound and electricity were air and pushing on toward the Golden Gate. Their work has been less spec-tacular, it has excited little attention, but these men have met obstacles as hard to overcome as the Culebra slide, and they have conquered them. The long-dreamed-of Transcontinental Line is no longer a dream. New York can talk to San Francisco.

Monday, January 25, 1915, has taken completion of the line was formally cele-brated. Distinguished men in the offices of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph

There was no hitch in the programme, or any doubt as to the immediate success and practicability of the new line. Those who talked over the telephone did not raise their voices above the usual through cities, climbed the Rockies but under what different conditions! Then the struggling young inventor and nis associate had just succeeded in producing the only telephone in the world and in talking over a few feet of wire Ahead of them were years of ridicule for their invention, indifference to their plans and opposition to their efforts. On this other great day they saw their simple contrivance as part of a vast system join-ing together the country's greatest and most distant cities and serving the uses of 100,000,000 people. Not many men have seen so great a fulfillment of their early ambitions, no other invention has ever taken so great a stride in so brief

It has been a tremendous stride, for when Bell invented that first feeble re-ceiver, it was the beginning of telephones. There had been nothing like it or anywhere near like it in all the ages It was a creation-as far as scientific When its gates are thrown open on February 20th, San Francisco will not only be nearer to New York thrown of not only in this space. A second state of the second stat apparatus was concerned, it was made was all Bell gave to the art of tele-phony, but it was enough. The American Telephone & Telegraph Company and its associated companies have done the rest.

The Real Problem

Just what this "rest" means can be fully appreciated by those only who know the difficulties to be overcome by the telephonic engineer and the subtlety and delicacy of the forces with which he has to deal. The very minuteness of The very minuteness of things makes his task herculean. Instead weaving their magic webs through the air and pushing on toward the Golden and masses, he is baffled by infinitesimally small fractions. His energies are devoted to conservation, and conservation of the most intense kind

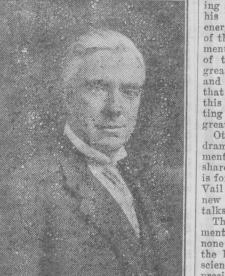

The Transatlantic Line Open

its place among the momentous dates in the annals of science and human progress. On that day, in the presence of groups of prominent men on either coast, the Transcontinental telephone wires were given their first public test, and the of the Facilic Telephone & Telegraph Company in San Francisco conversed freely with distinguished men on the At-lantic seaboard, and one more great chapter in the history of telephony was finished as Bell, sitting in the offices of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company in New York, talked to Watson access a continent conversational pitch and the replies came back from across the continent, clear and instantaneous. There was no more effort, delay or indistinctness than in talking across a table. Professor Bell save that he thought out the telephone in Salem. A fitting place for its conception -there is witchcraft in it, and the most blase of business men in the offices of the American Telephone & Telegraph Com-ban, on Monday felt something akin to uncanniness at the thought that his voice had gone across thirteen States, shot over prairies and through forests, hurtled skimmed across the desert and reached the Pacific coast, and the answer had come back to him in an eye-wink.

A Dramatic Moment

There have been few more dramatic moments in the history of science than when the venerable Professor Bell lifted the receiver from its hook and called to Watson, the friend and fellow-workman of his youth, in far away San Francisco. There was a wonderful story in that first for the one great end—the perfection of a system and the conquering of time and space. In office, laboratory and shop, under the earth, high up in the air, they have thought and experimented and toiled always aiming toward this idea of toiled, always aiming toward this idea of universal service.

universal service. There has been no isolated problem, literally as well as figuratively the devel-opment and perfection of the system has been "all along the line." The fight, this new "Winning of the West," has not been a duel, to be won by a single inventor struggling for the solution of some one big problem, but a battle, a campaign, in which thousands have helped to over-come a thousand hindrances and imper-fections and difficulties.

fections and difficulties. When the telephone left the hands of Bell and Watson, it was "an essentially perfected instrument" in the eyes of the law, that is, it did what was claimed for it—it talked—but that was all. The diaphragm was simply an animal mem brane tied around a piece of wood and in touch with a magnet. From this acorn the oak of the Bell System, nation wide, has grown. From this small begin ning, the Transcontinental Line has been evolved, and it has been an evolution. In the words of President Theo. N. Vail, is "the cumulative effect of improvements great and small, in telephone, transmit ter, line, cable, switchboard, and every other piece of apparatus or plant re-quired in the transmission of speech." In all the 3,400 miles of the line there is no one spot where a man may point his finger and say, "Here is the secret of the Transcontinental Line; here is what makes it possible to telephone from New York to San Francisco." Rather, it is the perfection at every point that has brought this about. It is the development of the transmitter at New York that makes the receiver at San Francisco do its work so well; it is the improvecisco than from New York to Denver, but ments in the receiver at San Francisco the actual construction of the line was that causes the transmitter at New York to perform its functions so admirably; it is the perfecting of every inch at New York to talk and that at San tinent is instantaneous; if its speed could Francisco to hear. be accurately measured, a fifteenth of a The Magnitude of the Task

In spite, however, of the fact that, com-pared with the electrical problems, the mere engineering task of constructing the line may appear simple to the scientist no one can run his finger over the route of the new line on the map without being impressed with the magnitude of the undertaking. The data and figures are tremendous. The line crosses thirteen states, it is carried on 130,000 poles for his distinguished services in engineering accomplishment, his wide knowledge, his keen judgment and his indomitable energy have combined to make him one of the great factors in telephone achieve-ment and advancement. He is a wizard of the wires. Long ago he said this great thing could and should be done, and through the great banks of silence that separated the East from the West, this Goethals of electricity has been cutting his way, year by year, until the great canal of human speech is done. Others have played big parts in this drama of human endeavor and achievement, and thousands have given their share of thought and labor, but, whoever talks to man.

There has been no greater achieve-ment in the history of the Bell Company, none in the history of telephony, few in the history of the world. The gain to science is great. Immeasurably more precious, however, is that to the nation, and includely construct on the later. and incalculably greater are the benefits to commerce and society. What the Transcontinental means to the future of the country, what it will bring about by drawing the East and West closer together, how much of increased prosperity and happiness these thousands of miles of wire will insure, no man can gauge.

The United States Agricultural Department places their Tag of Inspection and Ap-proval on every sack of SEED POTATOES Purchased From J. BOLGIANO & SON. CERTIFICATE OF QUALITY. This is to certify that I have had charge of all the Seed Potatoes grown for J. Bolgiano & Son, during this growing season. I have been with them since April 15th; looked after the selecting of their seed and the treating of the same, have also had charge of the spraying during the growing season. There was nothing planted but the very best selected seed, and nothing has been left undone to have them right. The crop is now being harvested, and the results of my work are most satisfactory. We are harvesting one of the largest crops ever grown in Aroos-tock County, Maine, and of the finest quality, free from any disease and frue to name. I spent some time in Washington, D. C., with the Horti-cultural Board before coming here and their ideas of producing FIRST CLASS SEED have been carried out to the letter for J. Bolgiano & Son.

DR. ALEXANDER G. BELL Inventor of the Telephone

"Hello," a marvelous tale of miracle working, of heroic struggle and sublime achievement. Few men have seen so great a dream come true, probably no two men before, in all the history of the world's discovering and inventions even world's discoveries and inventions, ever lived to see such magnificent results from work in which they had been the pioneers. Hardened telephone users as of those present were, and accustomed to big events as most of them were, a hush that was tinged with awe, an almost sol- degree, would operate a telephone for ten thousand years. It was to nurse and coax this baby current of electricity three thousand years. It was to nurse and coax this baby current of electricity three thousand miles across the continent, under nivers and over mountains, through the blistering heat of the blistering heat heat heat heat heat heat heat h emn silence, fell on the assemblage as the great inventor talked to his associate.

Most wonderful of all, perhaps in the minds of those present at the opening of the new line was the fact that this achievement, the crowning glory of so vast and complex a system, had taken place within the space of a man's life-time. On March 10th, 1876, Professor time. On March 10th, 1876, Professor Bell, working away at the simple tele-phone he had invented, called to his com-rade, "Mr. Watson, come here, I want you," and Watson heard that first of all telephone messages over the wire. In New York on January 25th, 1915, the that spring day thirty-eight years ago,

It was, perhaps, little more difficult to to send something 3,000 miles with a of line and every bit of mechanism be-breath as the motive power. In effect, tween them that enables the instrument the voyage of the voice across the con-

second would probably be nearly exact

In other words a message flying across the continent on the new Transcontinen tal Line, travels, not at the rate of 1,160 feet per second, which is the old stage coach speed of sound, but at 56,000 miles per second. If it were possible for sound to carry that far, a "Hello" uttered in

New York and traveling through the ain without the aid of wires and electricity, would not reach San Francisco until for

But, while the telephone is breaking speed records, it must also guarantee safe delivery to these millions of little passengers it carries every few minutes in the way of sound waves created at the rate of 2,100 a second. There must be no jostling or crowding. These tiny waves, thousands and thousands of vary ing shapes, which are made by the human voice, and each as irregular and as differ ent from the other as the waves of the sea, must not tumble over each other or get into each other's way, but must break upon the Pacific coast just as they started at the Atlantic, or all the line fails and the millions of dollars spent upon it have been thrown away. And in all this line. if just one pin-point of construction is not as it should be, if there is one iota of imperfection, the miles of line are use and the currents and waves and less. sounds and words do not reach the end as they should. It is such tremendous tri fles, not the climbing of mountains and the bridging of chasms, that make th Transcontinental Line one of the wonder of the ages.

The engineer in telephony cannot in crease his motive power. A breath against a metal disk changes air waves into electrical currents and these electri-cal currents, millions of which are re-but there are a few names that will alquired for a single conversation, must be as were made in New York. Here is a task so fine as to be gigantic. In his "History of the Telephone," Herbert N. Casson says that the energy set free by cooling one smouth of water instance with vieto field. who did it? Who made this wondersame voice was talking and, in San Fran-cisco, the same ear was listening, as on that spring day thirty-eight years ago.

Four hard-drawn copper wires, .165 inch in diameter, run side by side over the entire distance, establishing two physical and one phantom circuit. One mile of a single wire weighs 435 pounds, the weight of the wires in the entire line being 5,920,000 pounds or 2,960 tons. This, of course, is the transmission wires alone. In addition to these, each physical circuit uses some 13,600 miles of fine hair-like insulated wire, 4-1,000 of an inch in diameter, for its loading coils.

Simply to string this immense amount of wire across the continent, to set the poles and insure insulation, to conquer the innumerable difficulties offered by land and water, forests, mountains, des-erts, rivers and lakes, was in itself a task no mean magnitude. The Panama Canal is hailed as one of the greatest hievements of the world's workers, as i is, but the almost invisible lines of the Bell System, considered simply as to labor and cost, constitute a monumental achievement.

The Canal was begun nine years ago and has cost $310,000,000; within the same space of time the Bell Company has spent twice that amount in its engineer ing construction work alone.
