STATES AID NEW MONEY SYSTEM

Attorneys General and Legislatures Rule on Federal Plan.

WASHINGTON GETS REPORTS

State Banks and Trust Companies Given Permission to Enter the Reserve—In Only One State Has Opposition Arisen—Great Interest in Development of Organization.

Washington.—The attitude of the state legislatures toward the big project of unifying the national financial system under the federal reserve act is proving on the whole highly satisfactory.

Returns received in Washington now cover the action taken in twenty-nine states and are considered an assurance that in a shorter time than was at first expected most of the states will have granted state banks and trust companies the authority to enter the federal reserve system and subscribe to stock in the reserve banks and, on the other hand, will have empowered national banks to act as trustee, administrator, etc.

In a number of states the legal authorities have ruled that legislative action is unnecessary to accomplish these ends. In some states it is held that the state banks may enter the reserve system without special legislation; in others that national banks may act as trustees, etc., without violation of any state law.

Great interest has been taken in the development of the states' attitude toward these questions, for much will depend on this. If courts and law officers had put obstacles in the way of establishing the needed parity of powers in these regards between different classes of banks and if legislatures had generally been indisposed to remove these difficulties the unification of the banking system might have been postponed indefinitely.

In that event there would presently have arisen in congress a party disposed to pass legislation compelling the state banks in some fashion to take federal charters. Just that proposal has been discussed in some legislative quarters, though always with recognition that it would be highly undesirable and only to be adopted as a last resort.

When the national banking system was established as a civil war measure to create a market for government bonds it was impossible to impose the 10 per cent tax on state bank issues and thus force those banks in order to retain the issue privilege to reorganize as national banks.

But in present conditions, in which the power of issue is not much prized and is in process of extinction, it is not very apparent how state banks are to be forced into the national system, even if it were deemed desirable to take such an extreme measure.

It is generally believed that the legislation could not be passed anyhow. It would more likely have the effect of arousing an antagonism that it is particularly desired to avoid.

The developing sentiment of the states seems certain to put a quietus on suggestions of drastic measures. They are opening the way to desired results.

A summary of state legislation—or administrative action, which serves the same purpose—indicates that very shortly most of the states will have acquiesced in the purposes which the reserve law contemplates.

New York, for instance, where there was a vigorous opposition from some quarters, has passed an act giving state banks power to subscribe for stock in the Federal Reserve bank.

In Massachusetts the legislature has passed an act authorizing trust companies to subscribe for reserve bank stock. There are no state banks in Massachusetts.

Connecticut has thus far been distinctly hostile. The legislature defeated a bill conferring the fiduciary powers on national banks, and the attorney general rendered an opinion that it was "very doubtful" whether state banks could take reserve bank stock.

Live Stock Was Cheap in 1914.

The high cost of living leads an interest to a volume issued by the London Pipe Roll society. From the introduction one gathers an idea of prices in 1914. Certain land was to be stocked and a price for each class of stock was fixed. Oxen figure at four shillings, cows a shilling less. Farm horses were also four shillings a head, pigs were a shilling, and sheep stood at sixpence. Incidentally, the book proves the antiquity of the familiar fine in London of 40 shillings, for it records its imposition as long ago as 1185 on one who had overthrown a pillory.

BACK BROKEN, LEG OFF, HE WINS M. D. DEGREE

Doctors Didn't Reckon With Keith's Indomitable Will.

Philadelphia.—A broken back, loss of one leg by amputation and the other by paralysis couldn't keep Jim Keith from achieving his life ambition. A spirit that would not be conquered overcame the tremendous handicap of his infirmities, and, having successfully passed final examinations at Jefferson Medical college, he is now a doctor. Jim's home is in Schaefferstown, Pa., but he probably will never see it again. Nor will he practice his profession. In the little white room on the sixth floor of Jefferson hospital Jim is destined to spend the rest of his days.

At his side when news of his success reached him was his young wife, her eyes radiating pride and happiness, matched by the triumphant glow in his own.

"I told you you could do it," she exclaimed rapturously. "Jim, you're a doctor. 'Dr James Keith'; my, but it sounds good!"

"Yep," assented Jim. "We'll have to tell the baby about it." "For there is a baby, Ida, cute and winning, just a few months old, but full of wisdom and understanding. Jim is sure she'll know all about it when he tells her."

Dr. Keith—but he will be Jim always to "the fellows"—is twenty-seven years old. It was in April a year ago that he was taken into the Jefferson hospital, his back broken from a fall from a window. Physicians said he couldn't live, but they reckoned only with medical science and not with their patient's indomitable will.

Jim was then a senior in Jefferson college and had been married but a few months before.

Last January Keith lost his leg. It became infected and had to be amputated. "By special permission I was going to take my exams last Christmas," he explained, "but then I got sick—really sick—and I didn't take them." It was this sickness which resulted in the loss of his leg. And through it all Jim came victorious. Only death itself, it seemed, could quench his spirit and his winning, ever ready smile.

GAVE UNCLE SAM ROSES.

Grown on Experiment Farm to Test Effect of Climate.

Washington.—The formal presentation to the United States government of more than 400 varieties of roses now growing in the experimental farm of the department of agriculture at Arlington, Va., took place recently at a gathering of prominent rosarians from all sections of the country. The roses were accepted on behalf of the government by Dr. W. A. Taylor, director of the bureau of plant industry, who represented the secretary of agriculture at the exercises.

The roses have been growing in the experimental farm for about two years. They were donated by florists, both amateur and professional, living in all sections of the country. The roses are being grown at the experimental farm for the purpose of ascertaining the effect of this climate on the different kinds of plants. Similar testing gardens have been established by the National Rose society at Hartford, Conn.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Ithaca, N. Y., and others are now being established on Long Island and at San Francisco.

Two years ago the department of agriculture set aside about two acres of ground in the experimental farm for rose testing. The rose plants were supplied by various rose growers desiring to have different species tested.

The testing of rose bushes takes three years. They are examined by experts at frequent intervals during this period and an accurate record kept of their growth and performance.

GAVE UP MORPHINE SUPPLY.

Woman, Sixty-four, Then Asked to Be Sent Away.

Evansville, Ind.—Declaring she was determined to win in a fight against the drug habit, to which she had been addicted many years, Mrs. Maud Lynn, aged sixty-four, walked into the office of Samuel Wurm, township trustee of Pigeon township here, and presented Wurm with a cardboard box containing about $50 worth of morphine.

The woman told the trustee the morphine was all the property she had and that she wished to part with it on condition that she be sent to a sanitarium to be cured of the drug habit. She was sent to a local hospital.

A Record at School.

Nutley, N. J.—Elsie Norma Ryan, one of this year's graduates from the high school, has not been absent or tardy during the whole of her fourteen years in school.

THREE BIG MEALS FOR OUR SAILORS

Uncle Sam's Jackies Are Best Fed In the World.

FARE BETTER THAN SOLDIERS

No Other Fighting Men Supplied With as Varied, as Dainty or as Scientific a Menu—Fare Costs 37 Cents a Day. Few Canned Articles Are Used, and Vegetables Are Always Fresh.

Washington.—Our bluejackets are the best fed fighting men in the world, and if a boy has any leanings toward enlisting in the nation's defense he will make no mistake by casting his lot with the men afloat. He may have a hankering for terra firma, but it must not be forgotten that the army is outdistanced by the navy when it comes to the matter of dietary.

The daily issue of food either to the soldier or the sailor out of which three meals are made is officially called a ration. This allowance for the army costs Uncle Sam between 24 and 25 cents, but last year the average cost of subsisting one man for one day in the navy was $0.366, Jacky being the higher liver by the purchasing power of nearly 12 cents more than his soldier fellow in the national defense.

It is not overstating the case to say that the major part of the fleet's efficiency and the contentment of the men is due either directly or indirectly to the generous and varied provender which is now given them whether the ship be in port or plowing her way through stormy seas. There was a time not long ago when tinned foods were extensively served on board our naval craft, but the fleet is using less and less of these all the while.

Upon this point Admiral McGowan, chief of the bureau of supplies and accounts, has recently said: "There are certain things that it is almost necessary to use as a part of a ration.

For instance, there is canned corned beef, which is so well understood and so well liked in the navy that its use to a certain moderate extent is not only welcome, but most welcome to the men—they like it. Then canned tomatoes and a few other staples; canned fruits and some vegetables canned are very serviceable and are used right along. But the great majority of all the food furnished to the men now, at least in the battleship fleet, is fresh food—fresh vegetables, fresh meats, fresh bread, etc."

Surely this is enough to make our old sea dogs rise in protest from their graves. They could remind their young followers of today of the trying times of wooden ships and canvas when "salt horse," "sowbilly," "hardtack" and the like constituted the main elements of the sailor's ration. Tinned foods, as we know them now, would indeed have been a delicacy in the decades gone, but the fighting Jacky of those days had to be content with such delectables as "scouse," "jobscouse," "soft tack," "soft tomy," "skillogalee," "burgoo," "doughboys," "dog's body" and "duff." The latter not always able to boast of plums. The water, too, that our seamen drank in those other days was both scant in its allowance when on the open ocean and as likely as not tainted and unpalatable.

The public little realizes what nice figuring must be done in order to keep expenditures within bounds. With a total enlisted force of approximately 55,000 men Uncle Sam has to pay more than $7,400,000 annually to make the "finer man" happy. Remember that it costs more to feed the sick, and while the daily ration for the well does not involve an outlay of more than the 30 cents lawfully allowed, still the general average for everybody brings the figure up to nearly 37 cents per ration per diem.

SEEKS LONG LOST SISTER.

Fortune of $30,000 Awaits Woman Missing Since Civil War.

Perry, Ia.—John Davenport, a laborer employed in construction work, is seeking the address of his sister, from whom he was separated when they were children. Finding her means a fortune of $30,000 to each of them, as well as to two other sisters.

The Davenport children became separated during the civil war, and one daughter, Lydia Davenport, was adopted by a man named Cooley when she was six months old.

The Cooley family lived in Green county, near Herndon, and the girl grew to womanhood there.

A number of years ago she married and went to Kansas to live.

The death of an uncle in Indiana left a fortune to his brother's children, but the estate cannot be settled until Lydia Davenport is found.

NEW DEVICE GUIDES SUBMARINE PILOTS

Indicator Shows Exact Position of Craft Under Water.

New York.—Hudson Maxim has invented a new position indicator for submarines, which he believes to be at once cheaper and much better than those now in use. This implement will enable a submarine to find her own position under water and will do away with the dangerous necessity of going to the surface for that purpose. Mr. Maxim has applied for a patent on this. He said that while it had not yet been granted, he understood it would be obtained without difficulty and that the device would enable the captain of a submarine to find his position on a map at any time within a short distance.

"There are position indicators of an English design in use in all the navies of the world," said Mr. Maxim. "Their work, however, is cruder. There was an instance at the beginning of the war, where a German submarine, caught in a bay by a British flotilla, was unable to find the way out of the harbor without rising to the surface. As soon as she appeared above the water she was attacked and destroyed. My device would enable a submarine commander so caught to locate the mouth of the bay with accuracy and slip out under his enemies. The device also costs only $1,000 to install in a submarine, whereas the position indicator at present in use costs $17,000. It could of course be used on any ship as well as on a submarine.

"As to a device to enable a submarine to locate another vessel without coming to the surface, there is no one, so far as I know, who has come anywhere near solving this problem. Every offensive device in the history of warfare has in the end been answered by a defensive instrument, and I have no doubt that in time to come some one will invent a reply to the submarine. But there is no sign of it yet."

Mr. Maxim is experimenting with an improved periscope, but was reluctant to discuss this part of his activities. Both this and the position finder, he said, would be offered to the United States government as its exclusive property, and the navy department had already allowed him to inspect the submarines at present in use in order to find the improvement most needed.

LOWELL FIXES MAN'S PRIME.

Harvard's President Tells Graduates Twenty-three Is Mental Maximum.

Cambridge, Mass.—President Lowell of Harvard university in a speech said that after the age of twenty-three a man's keener senses begin to lessen, although something may be added through the medium of experience after that age.

"I believe," said Dr. Lowell, "that the mental and physical maxima are reached at nearly the same period. A man reaches his full physical growth when he is about eighteen or nineteen years old, and by the time he is twenty-three he is beginning to lose his keener perceptions, so that this age may be called the physical maximum. The mental maximum is reached a great deal earlier than most people suppose."

Speaking to college boys, he continued: "You have reached your physical maximum and are close upon your mental maximum. You will probably gain something more from experience, but your actual capacity will increase very little."

DIXIE HIGHWAY ROUTES.

Chicago and Miami Settled as Terminals of Road.

Chattanooga.—The Dixie highway, from the great lakes to the gulf of Mexico, was given definite form when the commissioners from seven states adopted its route. Chicago was selected as the northern terminus and Miami as the southern.

The commission designated a west and an east route between Indianapolis and Miami, but a plan was adopted to connect the north portion of the two lines with a road along the eastern and western shores of Lake Michigan and connecting the southern portion with a road from Miami along the west coast of Florida, thus making a continuing loop of the highway.

The commission voted to invite Michigan into the association to provide the lake loop and pledged itself to extend the east route from Dayton, O., north through Toledo to Detroit.

Among the principal cities on the route between Chicago and Chattanooga are Danville, Ill., Indianapolis, Louisville and Nashville, while south from Indianapolis on the west route are Cincinnati, Lexington, Ky., and Knoxville.

HOUSTON EXTOLS CHILDREN'S CLUBS

Aid Young People to Become More Efficient and Contented.

GROWING IN ALL SECTIONS.

Few States Without an Organization and Demonstrators—Much Money Is Made in Washington and Oregon, Where Boys and Girls Are Taught Scientifically to Can Salmon.

Washington.—"The primary object of the boys' and girls' clubs which are being organized throughout the country with the assistance of the department of agriculture, but in co-operation with state colleges of agriculture," says Secretary Houston, "is to aid young people to become more efficient and more contented farmers and home builders.

"The clubs may be organized under the leadership of the county superintendent of schools or any of the teachers under him. If the educational authorities of the county are not yet alive to the possibilities of these clubs the county demonstration agent may take charge of the movement, or if there is no demonstration agent in the county such organizations as local chambers of commerce, the grange, women's clubs, etc., may assume the leadership. The names and addresses of the boys and girls included in the clubs are collected and sent to the state agent, who will furnish organization and cultural instructions upon request.

"Experience has shown, however, that the difficulty is not in organizing a club with a large enrollment of members, but in inducing these members to complete their work and to report on the results. The test of efficiency is not so much the organization of new clubs as continuing interest in those already formed. To assure this continuity of interest various schemes have been evolved to make the club work progressive.

"An example of agents adapting their plans to circumstances is the canning of salmon in Washington and Oregon, mainly along the Columbia river. There thousands of tons of salmon have gone to waste annually. At present twenty-five clubs of about twenty members each are canning salmon, turning what has heretofore been wasted into a well preserved article of food.

"In the girls' clubs new members grow tomatoes only. During the second year they divide their gardens in half and grow tomatoes and a few other crops. The third year they have more crops. Some of the combinations are tomatoes, peppers and okra. After these have been mastered the girls begin to fill their gardens with perennial vegetables and fruits. In this way, by the time a club girl is ready for high school or college she will have started a permanent garden or orchard.

"In practically every club it has been noticed that some of the parents and neighbors of the members invariably adopt the methods of the boys in their various projects. The yields and profits that the boys obtain are the best possible demonstration of the value of their methods. It has been said, for example, that a single corn club boy in one community did more for sound corn culture in his county than five years of public lecturing could have accomplished.

"In the same way the success of the girls with their canned products has paved the way for women county agents to demonstrate simple useful lessons in cooking to the mothers.

"The new movement of organizing mother-daughter home canning clubs in the north and west is an outgrowth and extension of the work already done by the girls' canning clubs. The club project is confined entirely to the canning of fruits and vegetables, and these may be grown by the club members—the mother-daughter team—or by some one else and purchased for canning purposes."

Repays Uncle Sam For a Meal.

Washington.—Secretary of War Garrison received from a man in Chicago a letter inclosing 20 cents in postage stamps, with the statement, "For bacon and eggs." Secretary Garrison decided that this was a contribution to the "conscience fund" and sent the stamps to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. It is believed the man must have helped himself to Uncle Sam's larder somewhere when he was hungry.

The Poet's Lighting.

Samuel Rogers gave a dinner and had the room decorated with candles placed high up in order to show off the pictures, says T. P.'s London Weekly. At dinner he asked Sydney Smith how he liked the plan. "Not at all," he replied. "Above there is a blaze of light and below nothing but darkness and gnashing of teeth."

CRUISER COLUMBIA A SUBMARINE SCHOOL

Crews Will Be Taught to Man-ge Twelve New Boats.

Washington.—Secretary Daniels has announced that the cruiser Columbia, now in reserve at Philadelphia, will be commissioned to serve as flagship for Captain A. W. Grant, commanding the Atlantic submarine flotilla, and also as a schoolship for the training of additional men for submarine service. Since his appointment as commander of the submarines Captain Grant has been closely studying the flotilla and the best means to provide for the manning of submarines now nearing completion. In this connection Secretary Daniels said:

"In order to man the twelve submarines now rapidly nearing completion orders have been given for the immediate establishment of a school on board the flagship of the Atlantic submarine flotilla for the instruction of personnel, officers and enlisted men. From this school crews competent to man the new vessels will be detailed to them as they may be delivered by the contractors and accepted by the government.

"The instruction referred to will be both theoretical and practical, submarines now in commission being used for the practical work, and will cover such period of time as may be necessary to familiarize fully the personnel of a submarine with the vessel to which they may be detailed."

When the Columbia joins the flotilla the Prairie, now acting as the flagship, will be utilized as a tender for the submarines in commission. The Columbia was designed as a commerce destroyer, and she and her sister ship, the Minneapolis, were two of the fastest vessels in the world at the time of their commission.

The Columbia was one of the ships forming the flying squadron in the Spanish-American war. She has a length over all of 412 feet and a beam of fifty-eight feet. Being commodious, she is an ideal vessel for the purpose for which she is about to be used. Her displacement is 7,350 tons and her speed 22.80 knots.

CHILD MAKES RECORD SWIM.

Covers 320 Yards in 13½ Minutes in Schuylkill.

Philadelphia.—Four-year-old Beatrice Whitealm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Whitealm of this city, swam 320 yards in thirteen and one-half minutes on the Philadelphia Swimming club's course in the Schuylkill river at Lafayette. The child started to swim last summer and has been improving her strokes all winter at an indoor pool.

She was taken to Lafayette, and while her parents and others followed in a boat she easily covered the distance and showed no distress at the finish. The little girl started with the breast stroke, later alternating with an overhead drive. Only once, and that when so instructed, did she rest by floating.

STOPPED BLOOD WITH THUMB

Woman Saved Life of Man Attacked by Murderers Robbers.

St. Louis.—Mrs. Frank Rose of East St. Louis saved the life of Oscar Bilger, forty-five, by stanching his wounds with her hands until medical aid arrived, when he was attacked by three negroes on the outskirts of Cahokia, Ill., and his throat cut. The negroes later were arrested.

Bilger was driving his horse and wagon from East St. Louis to Cahokia, selling brooms and mops to farmers along the way. Near the town three negroes accosted him and offered to buy his horse. Bilger climbed from the wagon, when two of the negroes seized him by the arms and the other ran a knife across Bilger's throat and then stabbed Bilger in the neck. After robbing him of $24 the negroes escaped.

Mrs. Rose witnessed the attack on Bilger and, running to the injured man, she thrust her thumb into the stab wound, thus stopping the flow of blood. Holding the edges of the other wound together, she assisted Bilger to a nearby house.

NEARLY LOST FORTUNE.

Farm Hand Changed His Name and Was Found With Difficulty.

Sioux City, Ia.—Using the name of Albert Brown nearly cost Albert Bourne, a transient farm hand, a fortune of $7,000,000 left him by an uncle who died several months ago in Melbourne, Australia.

After a search through seven states Bourne was located on a farm near Lincoln, Neb. It was discovered he had been at a hospital in St. Joseph, Mo., paying a dollar a week for board. His inheritance consists of 339,000 acres of free land, 25,000 sheep, 400 horses, hundreds of cattle and $50,000. Bourne is Irish and fifty years old.

HARRINGTON TOURS COUNTY

Opens Campaign in Frederick With Big Woodsboro Meeting

AUTOMOBILE TOUR OF MANY TOWNS PROVES VERY SATISFACTORY

Congressman Lewis Accompanies Comptroller and Speaks in His Favor.—Spends Night in Emmitsburg and Hastens to Scene of Wreck Near Thurmont.—Meets Many People.

Emerson C. Harrington, State Comptroller and Democratic candidate for nomination for governor, accompanied by Hon. David J. Lewis, Congressman from the Sixth district, have completed their tour of Frederick County and are very much pleased with their visit. The Harrington campaign opened in Woodsboro on Wednesday, the 23rd., with a big meeting at which Mr. Lewis gave his reasons for his support of Mr. Harrington, and where Mr. Harrington outlined his platform. Visits were made the following day to various districts, including Thurmont, Emmitsburg, Sabillasville, Foxville and Wolfsville, in which places Mr. Harrington met a large number of people. Soon after the party's arrival in Emmitsburg word was received of the wreck on the W.M. near Thurmont to which place scores of people from Emmitsburg and the nearby locality hurried. Mr. Harrington at once went to the scene of the disaster and while there was greeted by innumerable voters.

ture knew it was appropriating beyond the revenues of the State it did not know or stop to calculate the extent of such deficit.

"I therefore came to the conclusion that a budget system of making State appropriations should be adopted, and as far back as last February, I so stated in an interview published in the Baltimore newspapers. At the same time, which was prior to the announcement of my candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination, I also stated that I proposed to make such changes as might be necessary in the character of the comptroller's report. With this object in view I a short while thereafter got the board of public works to authorize General Vandiver and myself to employ an expert to devise appropriate changes in our bookkeeping methods. We have since employed Mr. Chase, of New York, who installed the Baltimore city system of bookkeeping and he has made his examination and will submit his report in a short time.

EMERSON C. HARRINGTON.

*Mr. Harrington's Address.

At Woodsboro Mr. Harrington said in part:

"The whole fiscal system of the State, in my opinion, is defective. There ought to be included in two appropriation bills, one for each fiscal year intervening between the sessions of the Legislature, all of the appropriations or expenditures the General Assembly intends to authorize. Continuing appropriations and special bills appropriating moneys ought to be dispensed with.

"According to the manner and methods at present employed by the Legislature it seems that it has been almost impossible for the financial committees to determine the exact amount appropriated for various purposes. In my report to the last General Assembly I called special attention to the condition of the State Treasury, to the necessity for the strictest economy and to the danger of the appropriations exceeding the known revenues of the State.

"So impressed was I with the danger of a deficit that for fear my report might not have received as careful consideration as I felt it deserved, I, as the responsible bookkeeping officer of the State took the liberty, as late as March 1 while the Legislature was still in session, of inviting to meet me at the comptroller's office the president of the Senate, the speaker of the House and the chairman of the ways and means committee of the House and the finance committee of the Senate, and in the presence of State Treasurer Vandiver, went over with them in detail the condition of the State's finances. Again, at that time, I, in the most positive terms, that language could convey, showed them that the treasury was in such a condition that it would not stand even a single penny in the way of excess appropriations for the coming two years above the appropriations that had been made by the Legislature of 1912.

"Notwithstanding my warning the excess of the appropriations made for the fiscal years of 1915 and 1916 exceeded those for 1913 and 1914 by $1,557,622.74. This sum practically represents the deficit for the years indicated. I am confident that while the Legisla-

"So far as I know my own was the first suggestion looking toward the adoption of a budget system of making appropriations, and Mr. Chase was at work on the revised bookkeeping method before any such suggestions came from other quarters. As to how and by whom the budget should be made up is a question I propose to discuss at some later date."

Replying to Senator Lee's speech made at the Eighth Ward Democratic club on Tuesday night, Mr. Harrington said:

"I had hoped that there would be no mudslinging in this campaign such as caused the defeat of the Democratic candidate for Governor four years ago.

However, I shall undertake to make an extended reply to Senator Lee at some later date. Tonight I simply wish to say that the insulting insinuation that if elected Governor I could be utilized in the appointment of a public service commission in the interest of the corporations hardly needs comment from me. Along that line I am willing to be judged by the record of my life. I think the people of Maryland know by this time that I can neither be coerced, driven nor persuaded to do other than what I know to be right and nobody knows this better than some of the prominent people who are supporting Senator Lee."

Mr. Lewis Gives His Reason.

At the same meeting Mr. Lewis spoke as follows:

"My Fellow Democrats:—I am coming among you today to help introduce the Hon. Emerson C. Harrington, and Hugh A. McMullen, and to tell you frankly and in a few words what I think we should do as Democrats in the matter of nominations for the State Government of the next four years.

In the making up of such a ticket we are discharging a family duty for the Democratic party—and we should try to do so not only to insure the State the most capable and loyal service, but also in a manner the most likely to preserve peace and good will in the party family, in order that we can meet our opponents' without division on election day. Any hopes they have are frankly based on possible friction in the Democratic family. Let us disappoint these hopes of the enemy—and restore the State Government to the party of its traditional love and confidence. I think I know both the candidates for Governor well enough to say that while it is perfectly natural for each of them to have warm partisans for whom if the result should prove unfavorable the keenest suffering of disappointment would come, that yet there is nothing in the character of either candidate unfitting him to make a good Governor, or that would excuse anyone taking a part in the primary from earnestly supporting its choice at the polls. First then I wish to say that first, last and all the time I am favorable to the election of the candidate who receives the nomination, and that I think all Democrats should feel alike about that proposition.

"Next I wish to say that I have two very strong preferences for the nomination. I am in favor of Emerson C. Harrington for governor. I will tell you why. He is consistent and comprehensible—you can understand just what he means—he has understandable ambitions and intentions. His course in public life has been consistent and progressive. Ambitious to excel in the Government of the State, he first became its Insurance Commissioner, and excelled. He then became Comptroller as the next round in the ascent, and excelled again; and now the next higher step for him is to become Governor. In his contest for advancement he has never lost his way—there has been no back-tracking or retreats to gain power or position—no wavering from his program. His march has been onward with no detours from the forward path. And so we can comprehend Emerson C. Harrington. He leaves nothing to explain, nothing to puzzle his followers. There is no past achievement or honor repudiated—no position deserted while the schedule has been only half run, and the duty but half discharged. His consistent purpose has shone out as the steady light of a guiding star, not only indicating his course but where his friends could find and follow him at all times.

Has Other Qualifications.

"Besides this constancy of aim and purpose Harrington has some other marked qualifications. Gentlemen you know that a governor should have some knowledge, through experience, if possible, of the important and difficult subjects of our State Government. Well, Harrington has this knowledge derived from his extensive experience with its administration as Insurance Commissioner and now State Comptroller. But he has something else, besides. He has proved no have the stamina and backbone to stand up for the best interests of the State against all aggressors, friends or foes. It is rare indeed that a man comes so well equipped by experience to do the work of the State.

"In the contest between Harrington and Lee a principle is really presented of great importance to the state. It is the old one, that we thought was firmly settled in the Constitution, which divided the powers of our state government as between its one great city and the counties. Nevertheless that question is now raised again as a matter of State politics. It is plainly stated, shall the twenty three counties control the State and the City of Baltimore, if need be, or shall the single City of Baltimore control the twenty three counties and the State? Now some people may think it hard enough that the twenty three counties should control the city, but it is absolutely intolerable that this one city should control the twenty three counties. Why? Because such a control would not finally be good for either the city or the counties. The city has but one voice, one conscience, one power speaking. The counties have twenty-three. The one, the modern city under autocratic control is much more likely to get wrong and stay wrong, than are twenty three distinct minds and influences which emanate from all the counties of our State. Unquestionably the success of Harrington would insure us against the grave danger of city domination of the counties. His success would not mean the subversion of our Constitutional structure and guarantees; while that of his opponent might launch us into a city bossed state.

"Gentlemen, it being the duty of all Democrats to have a preference as to the candidate for governor, and the duty of some of us to express that preference publicly, for myself I wish to say that I cast my vote for Emerson C. Harrington, who has justly earned the confidence of the people of this state, and who I think will receive decisive evidence of their preference in the coming primaries.

Suffragists to Call on Lewis.

Congressman David J. Lewis has decided to receive a deputation of Suffragists at his office in Cumberland, on July 2nd. The delegation will be led by Mrs. Minnie E. Brooke, of Chevy Chase, Montgomery county, Chairman of the 6th Congressional District. Members of the Maryland Branch of the Congressional Union will leave headquarters, Tuesday morning, at 9 A. M. They will arrive in Frederick in time for lunch and long enough to hold an open-air meeting. From there, they will journey to Boonsboro, where another meeting will be held at 3.30. They will arrive in Hagerstown Tuesday night. Going from there to Cumberland Wednesday morning. In the delegation will be Mrs. Edna E. Latimer and Miss Minna Jackson, two of the Garrett County hikers. They will conduct meetings through the various towns around Cumberland, and it is expected that a large meeting will be held at Cumberland, Wednesday night. Suffragists will tour the 6th Congressional District in a handsomely decorated automobile, profusely trimmed with purple, gold and white, the colors of the Congressional Union.

CRIMSON CLOVER

Read Farmers Bulletin No. 579 on Crimson Clover. It's Free. Address U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

A bushel of Crimson Clover Seed sown on four acres of ground will increase the succeeding yield of Corn or Cotton about the same amount as would a ton of complete fertilizer applied at the rate of 500 lbs. per acre. A good stand of Crimson Clover turned under will ordinarily double the yield of the crops which follow. The physical condition of the soil is also materially benefited. The Sandy Soils are increased in Humus and Nitrogen Contents. The Still, heavy clay soils are rendered more open and friable.

Crimson Clover makes an excellent grazing crop, hay, ensilage and pasture for all classes of live stock. Milch cows make considerably more milk when pastured on Crimson Clover. It is also valuable as a honey plant, furnishing an abundant supply of nectar in the spring.

Crimson Clover is valuable as a Winter Cover crop. It is especially valuable in Orchards where it is generally plowed under as a green manure crop. The plants remain for the use of the trees the following season much of the plant food which would otherwise leach out of the ground during the Winter and early Spring. A good stand of Crimson Clover not only reduces the erosion and the gullying of the fields, but on sandy fields, the blowing of the soil by the wind is greatly lessened. The plants also serve to hold the snow to a greater extent than if the field was left bare during the Winter. More and more each year farmers are realizing the importance and great value of Crimson Clover.

JOE MARTIN'S BIG HAUL.
 Nineteen Elusive Bass Trapped by One Little Eel.
 Smith, La.—Joe Martin has just brought in the finest mess of bass of the season and with it a strange tale.
 He had thirty-six big mouth black bass that he caught at two hauls with a string line.
 He was using small minnows for bait and had no luck. After fishing about an hour he caught a little eel.
 He proceeded to string it, declaring he was going to have something to show anyhow.
 He dropped the long stringing line over the side of his boat, fished for nearly an hour and caught a five inch trout.
 He started to pull up his line to string the trout and felt a fierce tug, and after a hard struggle he pulled in nineteen big black mouthed bass, running from a pound to two and a half pounds.
 The bass had tried to swallow the eel, and it had slid through their gills and strung them. Joe put the bass on another line and dropped the eel overboard again. In forty-one minutes he pulled up seventeen more bass.

NEWSBOY MAKES A FORTUNE
War Brings Wealth to Youth Who Saved His Pennies.
 Bridgeport, Conn.—War has brought prosperity to Charles ("Buck") Rose, newsboy, twenty-two years old, so rapidly that he is undecided whether to buy a steam yacht or a submarine. A year ago he put $100, the savings from six years' sales of newspapers, into a lot at Avon Park, in the eastern part of the city, assuming a mortgage thereon of $600. The increased sale of newspapers, due to the war, has enabled him to pay off the mortgage—but that is not all.
 The lot "Buck" owns stands in the path of the building progress eastward which the rapidly extending munitions plants are making. One day recently a real estate operator representing unnamed interests offered $10,000 for the lot. He was pondering over this compliment to his sagacity when a representative of the British government came along with an offer of $20,000.
 The conference ended when "Buck" submitted a counter proposal that the British government lease the land for a term of years at $20,000 a year and that the munitions company, for which Great Britain is eager to build a factory, give him one-half of the profits from its product.

RITTMAN PROCESS
NEARLY PERFECT
United States Will Make Gaso- line Cheaper With Method.

BENZOL PRICE TO BE LESS.
 Secretary Lane Says It Will Be on a Commercial Working Scale Very Soon—Government Ready to Make Arrangements For Manufacture With Any Concerns That Desire.

Washington.—Secretary Lane of the department of the interior is trying to preserve for the people of the United States the processes devised by Dr.
 Walter F. Rittman, chemical engineer of the bureau of mines, to procure gasoline and benzol at a much lower cost than that at which they are now obtained.
 "Excellent progress is being made in the development of the Rittman process," said Secretary Lane, "and there is every reason to believe that both the gasoline and the benzol processes will be on a commercial working plane within a reasonably short time. I am

 DR. WALTER F. RITTMAN.

informed that the gasoline process is now ready for large scale industrial applications, and the hope is expressed that the benzol process will be ready soon.
 "The benzol process is being developed in co-operation with a New York company, which has entered into an agreement whereby all patentable equipment, processes and ideas available as a result of the co-operative work will be turned over to the department to be dedicated to the public.
 "The department stands ready and is anxious to enter into similar agreements with any other companies in the country that will agree to the same terms—that all processes and ideas patentable in the development of either process shall be turned over to the department for use of the public.
 "The department is willing for all who are desirous of making use of the processes to do so to the fullest possible extent consistent with the proper protection of the processes in order that the public may derive the greatest measure of benefit therefrom. It looks as if it would be only a short time before the complete mechanical equipment necessary for the practice of the processes has been worked out and the inventions covered by patent applications.
 "The department considers that all those desirous of employing the processes should agree to contribute to the public, in the same manner that Dr.
 Rittman has done with his basic patents, all patentable ideas that may be conceived as a result of the employment of these processes.
 "This is the only condition that the department imposes, and its reasonableness will become apparent when it is considered that Dr. Rittman has given to the public, through the department, processes which conservatively might be worth millions of dollars were they controlled by a private industrial concern exclusively for its selfish purposes.
 "As soon as the department is assured that the public's interests are properly safeguarded a full and complete scientific paper describing the processes will be issued. In the meantime the processes will be open to any one who wishes to develop them under the conditions imposed.
 "At the first public demonstration of the Rittman benzol and gasoline processes held before the representatives of the army and navy and large manufacturing concerns announcement was made that both processes might be used by all interested persons upon application to the department. At the same time, however, because of the desire to give the public the fullest possible benefit of the Rittman processes it was stated that the use of the processes would be coupled with the condition that the person using the same would give to the public the benefits of such ideas along mechanical lines as they might conceive during the employment of the processes."

A Chain is no Stronger
Than its Weakest Link.

When a blacksmith forges a chain he tests the individual strength of every link. If he finds a weak one he discards it, as it impairs the strength and safety of the entire chain. When a machinist finds an ill fitting piece of gearing in a machine he is careful to extract it and put in its place a scientifically fitted duplicate, for he knows that a mis fit gear will cause the entire machine to bump, and this in time will ruin the entire mechanism.
 The selection of political candidates is a perfect analogy. The candidate corresponds to the link or piece of gearing, upon the correct fitting and working of which depends the whole system.
 If he is a weak man or a misfit in the office in which he is placed, the success of the entire party ticket is endangered.
 Every individual upon the ticket is a small but essential part of the great political machine, and the utmost care should therefore be taken in the selection of the individual candidate. Will you, Mr. Voter, cast your vote for a weak link or a strong one, for a man who will not fit the office or for one who will? Carefully consider the merits of the various candidates of your choice before voting, and then cast your ballot for the success of the party.

Dr. Austin A. Lamar, of Middletown, is one of the candidates for the Republican nomination for Register of Wills at the coming primaries. He is undoubtedly a strong man for the position and will prove a strong link in the Republican chain. He is a hard political worker and can show years of faithful service to the Republican party. He has given his time and energy in the past to the party campaigns. In fact this is not all that he has given. In a recent political campaign, Doctor Lamar of his own volition spent more than $600.00 in the sending out broadcast of Republican literature, which had the result of turning a newspaper-predicted defeat by 1500 votes into a majority for the candidate which Doctor Lamar supported. No one knew of the matter at the time but a few of the Doctor's most intimate friends, as he was doing this not for honor or glory, but because of his unselfish interest in the welfare of the "Grand Old Party." Nothing could more convincingly show the Doctor's loyalty than a sacrifice of this kind, and it will certainly prove to the voters of the county that he is a strong party worker, a man of determination, and a candidate worthy of their heartiest support.
 The most important question is, however, "Is Doctor Lamar capable of suitably performing the duties of the office?" Unquestionably he is. For a great many years he has conducted a professional business of his own, and his success in his practice shows him to be an excellent business man and a capable manager.

As to his political ability, it is only necessary to say that for a period of twenty years Doctor Lamar has been a careful student of political economy, and has followed studiously all of the campaigns during that time. He is a hard political worker and can certainly serve his party with intelligence and accuracy. He is the piece of gear you are looking for, Mr. Voter, and the party machine will run smoothly and dependently with Doctor Lamar in the position of Register of Wills. He asks your hearty support and the support of your friends at the coming primary, and promises you that he will devote faithfully his time and attention to the best interests of his party. Published by authority of Advertising Manager. Pol. adv.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland—the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowledgeable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatched; the climate is notably healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water—cannot be surpassed.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary—with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies—equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid achievement—is also here.

There are excellent Schools—Public and Parochial—in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liverys, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites available. If you contemplate changing your place of residence—come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

THE FIREMEN'S PICNIC.

Of course you are going to the picnic to-morrow. Everybody is going and everybody will have a good time.

The way to really enjoy it is to 'make a day of it'—to take in everything. For instance: watch the parade, follow it to the grounds, get a good seat, a cooling beverage and a bag of peanuts and settle down for the first game of ball, between Woodsboro and Thurmont—it is called for ten o'clock.

And when the morning game is over—it will be lunch time then—don't go home. Walk over to the pavillion and appease your hunger with dainty and satisfying sandwiches, coffee, cake and ice cream—you can get a regular dinner for a nominal price.

After you have chatted and strolled around among your friends you'll find that the afternoon game is 'on.' This game certainly ought to enthuse you, for it is between your home team and the crack nine from Frederick.

This game over, go home and freshen up and then come back for the pleasures of the evening. You'll want to dance, of course. Well, you'll find a good dance floor and good music, and in between you'll regale yourself with cold lemonade, with delicious ice cream; you'll rest yourself—and as the rockets ascend and the colored lights are burning you'll get back to the floor and dance again.

It will be a full day of unalloyed pleasure if you give yourself up to it, and apart from the enjoyment you will have—or rather in addition to this enjoyment—you will have the satisfaction of knowing that everything you spend will go into the treasury of the Vigilant Hose Company, your home fire department, the splendid organization of which you are justly proud.

Take in the picnic, 'make a day of it,' have a good time in the interest of a good cause.

THE RECENT WRECK.

Whatever the outcome of the official investigation, the responsibility for the disastrous wreck on the Western Maryland last week rests upon the management of that railroad. The result demonstrates most forcibly the necessity for super-extra precaution, this road having but a single track over a large part of the system and noticeably at points that are seemingly the most dangerous.

Human lives are valuable and no amount of 'damages' can compensate for the loss of them; nor can any railroad gain the confidence of the travelling public or shift its duty by the failure on its part to adopt, test and carefully supervise every safety device known to modern railroad-ing.

tem, plus other precautions, on a road like the Western Maryland? 'Misunderstanding of orders,' 'wires not working,' etc.—explanations of that kind do not explain; rather do they offer additional reasons for the employment of more safety appliances, of the adoption of some means whereby train dispatches may be checked, repeated, confirmed.

Under the old regime this road merited our soubriquet 'W. M.—Worst Managed' Railroad; but in connection with those now in control it must be said that the term cannot in justice be applied. We are confident that no one regrets the wreck of the 24th inst. more than does President Gray—this applies to his co-workers also—and we are equally confident that this last wreck, the first under the present incumbent's management, will serve to redouble the efforts of this road to perfect a system whereby 'safety first' and 'safety' all the time will be strictly adhered to.

PAINT AND APPEARANCE.

'What sensible, persistent use of paint will do for edifices, whether in country or city, can be noted, is noted, by almost every automobilist,' says an observer. Paint adds value to properties. It preserves them from the attack of the elements. It creates and accents self-respect, and widely advertises the place that liberally uses it.

One often hears this of a town: 'It is one of the best-kept-up towns I know of. The streets and pavements are always clean and the houses and stores look as though they had just been painted. Those people in — certainly have a lot of town pride.'

The fact that people observe things of this sort and talk about them shows that paint, cleanliness and neatness make deep impressions on outsiders, on people who are just 'passing through.' And the more a place is talked about in a complimentary sense, of course, the better and more favorably known does that place become.

Paint is unquestionably an index of the character of the people of a community; it is a 'test of civic ideals,' as one aptly puts it. It indicates thrift, good taste, good judgment, and, so far as externals count, the use of it, or the lack of it, is a test of the degree of civilization and aestheticism attained by a community.

ENFORCE THE ORDINANCE.

The attention of the Burgess and Commissioners is directed to the unsanitary condition of some of Emmitsburg's alleys. An inspection will reveal an unhealthy and unsightly state of affairs. In addition to rubbish and waste of all kinds, ends of decaying hams, putrid vegetables, garbage and filth may be seen in not a few localities. This means disease. It also means, if allowed to continue, that the health and pleasure of many is to be made subservient to the indifference of the few. The town authorities have the power to put a stop to it.

THE actions of those Jew-mad Georgians does not tend to raise that State's standard for intelligence in the minds of the people of other States.

EVERY day one more thrilling paragraph is added to 'The Bloodiest Chapter in the Book of Time.'

SING a song of iodine, of needle and of gauze, there's many a kid who's going to break all 'safe-and-sane-Fourth' laws. And get the splints and cotton and the lotion for the burn—for caution on a picnic day the kids don't give a darn.

WHAT is more provoking on a sizzling hot day than the discovery that the laundryman has starched the cuffs of your soft shirts?

WE used to hear much about the 'Sick Man of Europe.' Now we are constantly being made aware that Europe has a mad-man.

THEY 'passed' in Spanish—those Midshipmen at Annapolis. And now it looks as though some of them will have to walk Spanish.

FIRE-WATER and fireworks do not go well together. Mix them, and somebody's going to get hurt.

LET us hope that to-morrow all powdered faces will not go up in smoke.

ONE'S worst enemy is often found by recourse to the mirror.

CHEER up! Another cannon cracker will soon go off.

AND no one has invented a 'jitney' cocktail.

SWAT the fly! Also the ball. Batter up!

Scotland and Cakes.

Scotland came to be known centuries ago as the 'Land o' Cakes' and as such has been celebrated in prose and poetry. One may yet in traveling through that northern land come upon country inns and herders' huts, see women who never attended a 'cooking school' and who, over a peat fire in the great chimney place, a griddle swung by a crane over the slow coals, baking a cake more than a foot in diameter, savory and promising of a meal for the gods, and who, when the big cake is ready for the turning, will seize the griddle by the handle, give it a toss in the air and turn that cake with an art motion not to be seen in any other place on earth, the big, round slab turning a loop the loop and alighting with the other side down in the same place as before to the breadth of a slender stem of the heather.—Exchange.

Yeast in Bread.

In the dough from which bread is made there is a lot of sugar, which contains carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. It is necessary to ferment this sugar to make bread edible, and yeast is used because it has the power to do this. It is made from a plant having this quality. Fermenting sugar is equivalent to burning it, and there are two results. One is the formation of carbonic acid gas. A great deal of this gas is caught in the dough in the form of large or small bubbles, and some of it escapes into the air. The part that cannot escape causes the dough to rise and makes the bread light. The holes in bread are the little pockets which hold the carbonic acid gas. The effect of the bubbles is to lift the body of dough so that the heat can penetrate readily and bake it properly.—Boston Herald.

A Morbid Desire.

Two octogenarian darkies at White Sulphur Springs, having been employed by one hotel management since old time war days, are now retained as pensioners, though they occasionally do light and pottering jobs about the place.

One day not long ago they were languidly raking leaves on the lawn. As a lady passed she heard them quarreling and stopped to listen.

'Nigger,' stated the older of the pair, 'does you know what I wish? I wish dat hotel yonder had a thousand rooms in it and you wuz laid out dald in ev'ry room'—Saturday Evening Post.

Overcharged.

In a western town the attorney for the gas company was making a popular address.

'Think of the good the gas company has done,' he cried. 'If I were permitted a pun I would say in the words of the immortal poet, 'Honor the light brigade!''

Whereupon a shrill voice came from the rear. 'Oh, what a charge they made!'—New York Times.

Doing His Best.

Teacher—Is there no way I can induce you, Johnny, to take some interest in your algebra? Johnny—Certainly, Miss Jinks. In fact, I do take an interest, but somehow I don't seem to be able to get hold of the principle.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

A Museum of Crime.

Professor Hans Gross of the University of Graz, Austria, has the credit of establishing the first museum of criminology and a criminalistic laboratory, where the weapons, tools and other paraphernalia and materials used by criminals are assembled to assist in the analysis of the workings of criminal minds and a study of methods and systems for dealing with this large and dangerous class of every community. This museum was established in 1895, and since then other establishments of the same character have been organized.

One of the most important of these is the Society of Criminology and Social Defense in Paris, which has a membership of more than 200, including many prominent representatives of the law, the police and medical profession, and it was organized to concentrate and centralize the scattered efforts of individuals who were studying this disquieting social problem and to make the results of their work available for mutual information.

Fasting and Health.

'The practice of fasting,' states a medical man, 'is, when wisely followed, most beneficial. I am convinced that many people never feel the sensation of natural hunger. All they have is a morbid craving for food which comes of habit rather than from any actual need felt by the stomach. Natural hunger stimulates the palate and is felt in the mouth as well as in the internal organs. It makes the plainest food seem delicious. Some unfortunate people suffer, it is true, from insufficient food, but not so many as those whose ills arise from overnutrition, their digestions being continually over strained. A habit of judicious fasting would do wonders for them. The system would recover its lost tone, and—in the case of mental workers—the brain would work with an ease and lightness that would surprise them, for the brain is one of the chief sufferers from the practice of overeating.'

Origin of the Lone Star.

If a place name is often crystallized history, how much more a nickname! Witness the floyer synonym for Texas, which craters mouth as the Lone Star State. To most minds this symbolizes concretely the fact that the state was first an independent nation. Behind the fact is this story, vouched for by tradition more or less authentic. At the outset, after achieving independence, Texas lacked pretty well everything but men. The leaders knew state papers required a great seal to validate them, and in default of anything better they improvised one from a coat button which happened to bear a single star. A document so sealed fell under the eye of an imaginative journalist. He straightway exploited 'The Lone Star Republic' in print so fervid as to persuade Texas here was the device most apposite for her seal and her flag.—New York Press.

Mother Brook.

After nearly three centuries of usefulness Mother brook, the first canal dug in this country, still finds itself utilized to some extent, though the requirements which brought it about have long since passed. Its construction was undertaken and completed by the hardy citizens of Dedham, Mass., in 1639, to provide water for mill purposes. The artificial waterway was constructed to connect the Charles river with East brook, covering a distance of about a mile. It was a great undertaking for those days, when every foot had to be excavated laboriously by hand, but the work was carried out with the usual determination marking the settlers of the day. The canal winds round the highlands of the town, and on both sides, extending almost to its border, may be seen well kept gardens.—Exchange.

Poetry of Words.

When I feel inclined to read poetry I take down my dictionary. The poetry of words is quite as beautiful as that of sentences. The author may arrange the gems effectively, but their shape and luster have been given by the attrition of ages. Bring me the finest simile from the whole range of imaginative writing and I will show you a single work which conveys a more profound, a more accurate and a more eloquent analogy.—Holmes.

They Knew Castor Oil.

The oldest medical book in the world was found in a rock tomb by the Nile, dating from about 2000 B. C. It is a roll about sixty-six feet long and carries prescriptions for all sorts of ailments. Castor oil is one of the remedies prescribed. It has been used pretty steadily ever since.

Earthquakes.

The loss of life occasioned by earthquake generally depends upon the density of population rather than the severity of the shocks.

London's Bridges.

At a time when the population of London was well over a million and her houses lay for miles on each side of the river she was apparently well content with her one London bridge. At length in 1734 Westminster was seized with the desire to have a bridge of her own. Application was made to parliament for powers only to encounter the fiercest opposition from the city, the 40,000 watermen, the inhabitants of Southwark and the west country bargemen, all of whom implored the commons to protect them against this new enemy. The result was that the bridge was not built till 1750. Blackfriars, at first called Pitt's bridge, was finished in 1769 at a cost of £200,000, defrayed by tolls. Waterloo was opened on the second anniversary of the famous battle with great pomp by the prince regent in person, accompanied by his royal brother, the Duke of York, the Duke of Wellington and many distinguished people.—London Answers.

'No Quarter Given.'

'It is forbidden to declare that no quarter shall be given.' So say The Hague regulations. That is a more modern rule than you would think. The Duke of Wellington said that he understood that the defenders of a fortress taken by storm had no right to quarter, although he himself did not, as a rule, adopt such a cruel practice. A century ago, when a feeble garrison stubbornly held out in a feebly fortified place against a force manifestly superior and apparently able to take it eventually, it was usually refused quarter. There was an attempt to justify the refusal by a doctrine of 'futile resistance'—that he who uselessly resisted and caused assaulting or besieging forces unnecessary loss of life did not deserve to have his own life spared. But that doctrine has been rejected. Carried to its logical conclusion it would mean that every member of a weaker force in any kind of armed contest could be killed.—William M. Collier in Forum.

A Troublesome Cargo.

'An elephant's shoulder is never still' is a Hindu saying with reference to the restlessness of the animal. An Englishman tells how the elephant's passion for moving about once came near wrecking a ship. A number of elephants were taken on board a vessel at Calcutta, and the steamer went down the Hugli river. At night it anchored off Sangor point. The sea was as still as oil, but the ship rolled so much that she was in danger of going over. The elephants had found that by swaying to and fro all together they could produce a pleasant rocking motion. As the ship had no other cargo and rode light the captain was much frightened. The mahouts, or keepers, were hurried down into the hold, and each one, seated on his own beast, made him 'break step,' but they had to stay there for a long time.

Why Milk Sours.

We are told by those who study the ways and ravages of the mischievous microbe that he is very fond of sugar and that he delights to gratify this liking by turning the supply in milk into an acid which sours the milk. These microbes are constantly in the air, alive though invisible, and ready to drop into the milk when they can. If it were possible to keep the milk from the air after the cow is milked it would not turn sour. Warm milk is particularly inviting to the microbe and favorable to his operations. He does not get along well under chilling conditions, and that is why the sweetness of milk can be preserved if it is kept cold. Boiling fresh milk changes the sugar in such a way that the microbe cannot feed upon it.—Baltimore American.

Precious Manuscripts.

Considered one of the finest manuscripts in this country, the 'Evangelistarum sive Lectiones ex Evangelis,' illuminated and of French-Carolingian origin, may be seen in the New York Public Library. The manuscript is of vellum and consists of 200 leaves. Its date is set in the neighborhood of 870 A. D. The late twelfth and thirteenth centuries are also represented, and among the works from the fourteenth century is the oldest extant complete manuscript of the Wyclifite version of the New Testament in English.—Argonaut.

There's a Reason For Everything.

'Wouldn't you try to get a divorce from a woman who abused you and neglected your home and thought more of her club than she did of you?' thundered the big man. 'I don't think I would,' replied Henry Peck. 'I am afraid Henrietta would not let me.'—Philadelphia Ledger.

Coral Builders.

Coral reefs and islands are formed by the coral building polyp. These animals only live in clear water, the depth of which is not greater than twenty-five fathoms, and the temperature of which does not sink below 68 degrees F.

The Extreme Limit.

'How did your cake turn out, my dear?' 'Pretty badly, I fear. Even the children wouldn't have a second piece.'—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Secret.

'This is very confidential, Marian.' 'Yes, dear. I shall be most careful to whom I repeat it.'—Philadelphia Ledger.

CHINA WANTS TO BE THE WORLD'S TOY SHOP

Promoters to Manufacture All Kinds of Playthings.

New York.—Forty thousand dollars was spent for toys, most of it in New York, by Chang Ki Kato, a special representative of the Chinese government, who came to the United States several weeks ago with the Chinese commission. He bought everything in the shape of a toy or dinner favor made of metal which he could find. Mr. Chang is now busy in seeking among manufacturers of machinery for men who can build machines to make in China the toys which before the war were practically all made in Germany.

China, with her cheap labor and cheap sailing ship freights, proposes to compete with the toymakers at Nuremberg, Fuersch and Thill, who have supplied toys for most of the civilized world for generations. Many of the toys were purchased also for their educational value in the schools of China.

One sample of every sort of toy was sought by Mr. Chang, not only from the great toy importing houses and big retail shops, but the Bowery was searched for the cheaper articles.

Prices paid ranged from three for a cent to $750 for a miniature model boiler, burning coal dust, attached to a complete miniature Corliss engine and electric generator. This last was purchased in Philadelphia and was used by the proprietor of a big toy shop to run all sorts of toy machines in his shop window.

The engines purchased ranged from one operated by alcohol flame at 95 cents to the Corliss, which cost $140 alone. Every sort of toy lathe, saw and stamp mill is represented in Mr. Chang's collection. He has twenty sets of toy locomotives, from a pewter model at 10 cents to one with apparatus for supplying its motive power at $29.

One set of lead soldiers cost $188. It includes every arm of military service, with mountain and field batteries, a Red Cross ambulance, forage wagons and automobile trucks.

Boats at three for a cent are at one side of a collection which includes a complete battleship that cost $235. Printing outfits from $1.90 to $45 are in the collection, with boys' carpenter tool boxes of every size.

SEE BRILLIANT METEORITE.

Made Night Bright as Day—Its Fall Shook the Earth.

Orangeburg, S. C.—A wonderfully brilliant meteorite was seen and the explosion was heard in this city and county recently about 2 o'clock a. m. Many people saw the bright mass as it fell toward the earth and a policeman in Orangeburg felt the earth tremble and heard the courthouse windows shake.

Some of the most interesting facts brought to light so far are told by J. S. Evans of near Ellore. He was sitting by a window that was opened in the right direction to get a full view. The brilliance of the falling meteor was very marked, rendering the country as light as day, and it finally passed out of sight north by 32 degrees east.

Mr. Evans observed about what time it was, and eight minutes later heard the explosion. By basing a calculation upon the difference in the rapidity with which light and sound waves travel he estimated it was between three and four hundred miles away, and following that direction would make the location of the meteor some distance out at sea off the coast of Maryland.

WEDDING ON RIVER BRIDGE.

Use Idaho License, Calling Pastor From Prayer.

Lewiston, Ida.—Mrs. Maud Estes of Kamiah and A. J. Stuart of Stites were united in marriage a few days ago on the Lewiston-Clarkston bridge, just on the Idaho side of the midchannel of the Snake river. The parties had come to Lewiston expecting to be married by their pastor, the Rev. J. B. York of the Baptist church of Stites, who was in attendance at an association meeting at Clarkston. On learning of their mission they were invited to be married in the association meeting, but this was impossible because the license was obtained in Idaho, and so the meeting adjourned to the center of the bridge.

A SEVEN FOOT "COP."

Grantsburg's Chief Tips Scales at 340 Pounds.

Grantsburg, Wis.—This city, peaceful as it is, boasts of the largest chief of police in the world. He is Gust Anderson, who is seven feet four inches in height, and, though perfectly well proportioned, weighs 340 pounds. He is the only tall member of a big family and came here from Sweden, where he was born in 1872.

He served a short time on the police force at Superior, until he was stricken with typhoid fever. This giant came to this country in 1894 and for thirteen consecutive years has been chief of police.

JAMISON—HURNELL.

Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Jamison, of Walkersville, announce the marriage of their son, Julian W. Jamison, to Miss Margaret Hurnell, of Baltimore, on Thursday, June 24. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Jamison left on a wedding trip to Washington and other points of interest. On their return they will reside in Baltimore.

The groom who is a brother of Dr. B. I. Jamison, of Emmitsburg, is a mechanical engineer employed by the Adams Co., 1263 Coluzet Building, Baltimore, Md.

O'TOOLE—MAYNE.

On Tuesday morning, June 29th, Miss Lillie E. Mayne, of near Creagerstown, and Mr. John O'Toole, of Thurmont, were united in marriage in St. Anthony's church, Mt. St. Mary's by Rev. Fr. Rennolds. Miss Edith Grumbine and Dr. Joseph O'Toole were the attendants.

After the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. O'Toole started on an automobile tour. In the near future they will reside in their new home in Thurmont.

LOW—MILLER.

On last Thursday, June 24, 1915, Miss Annie Mae Miller, of this place, was married to Mr. J. Harry Low, of Fairfield, at Hagerstown. Rev. Conrad Clever, of Hagerstown, performed the ceremony.

Mr. Low is a well known resident of Fairfield and is one of the justices of the peace in that borough. Mr. and Mrs. Low spent their honeymoon in Virginia.

BRUBAKER—WOLTZ.

Word has been received in Emmitsburg of the marriage yesterday morning of Miss Thelma M. Brubaker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Brubaker, of Mercersburg, to Harold P. Woltz, son of Architect J. W. Woltz, of Waynesboro.

Mrs. Woltz, who is a niece of Mr. Pius Felix, of Emmitsburg, has many friends in Emmitsburg where she frequently visited.

HALLER—LEWIS.

On Tuesday evening, July 29, 1915, Miss Ruth Lewis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. Lewis, of Brooklyn, N.Y., became the bride of Mr. T. Stewart Haller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Haller, of Frederick. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Married in St. Louis.

A very pretty and private wedding was that of Miss Mary Rider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Rider, of 2729 N. Garrison avenue, St. Louis, Mo., and Mr. Dudley Westwood Nixon, son of Mrs. Bettie Nixon.

The ceremony was performed in St. Theresa's Church, Grand and North Market street, Thursday, June 17th, and attended only by members of the immediate family.

After the wedding breakfast, the couple departed for Springfield, Missouri, where Mr. Nixon is located, to make their future home.

You'll want a little outing on Monday, the 5th. Go to Taneytown with your home team. The game is called at 3 o'clock.

Auto Crashes Into Pole.

Crashing into a telephone pole on the State road at the base of Payne's Hill, near Thurmont, early Saturday morning, a five passenger touring car was badly damaged and five men, the occupants of the car, were more or less injured. John Cool suffered a broken nose and badly cut face. Benjamin Topper, who was running the car, was bruised and shaken up. He was confined to his bed for a day or two but is now about. Basil Sanders, John Wetzel and Robert Ridenour were cut by flying glass.

The accident was attributed to trouble with the steering gear. The auto hit the telephone pole with great force, almost completely wrecking the car. The frame of the chassis was broken, the front axle twisted, the windshield broken, and the crank case broken. The radiator was smashed to pieces. It is estimated that it will cost about $350 to repair the damaged auto, and probably more. The auto was the property of the New Slagle Hotel Garage.

Mr. Springer Returns From the West.

Mr. Grant R. Springer, son of Mr. George Springer, of near town, has just returned from an extended visit to Leetonia, Ohio. Mr. Springer was employed on a farm where stock cattle, registered Guernsey and Holstein, were raised. He says that the average price for a fair grade cow is $250 while many of the better breed bring $400.

The farming in that part of the country is conducted much as it is done in the East, the methods being practically the same. There are many truck farms near Leetonia and much money is made on them. Potato farms are numerous and the hot house business thrives. The roads are good and throughout Ohio brick is used extensively in road building. From Leetonia Mr. Springer came over the Lincoln Highway on his motorcycle covering a distance of 252 miles.

Tuesday, July 6th, Emmitsburg plays Thurmont at Thurmont. The return game (there are seven in this series) will be played in Emmitsburg on the 15th. Accompany the team to Thurmont and "root."

Hess House and Barn Burn.

Early Monday morning fire, supposed to have been of incendiary origin destroyed the frame house, stable and shed on the farm of Walter Hess, about three miles from Emmitsburg. The loss is placed at about $2,000. Nothing remains of the property but the walls of the house, everything else having been completely burned to the grounds. Charles Hess, a brother of Walter Hess, discovered the fire at 2:30 o'clock. At that time the roofs of the buildings were falling in and it was impossible to save any of the structures. At eleven o'clock the night before, the house, which was untenanted, was intact and there was nothing to suggest that a fire was imminent. Insurance will cover a part of the loss.

Vineland Boy Scouts Here Friday.

Twenty-eight members of the Vineland N. J., Boy Scouts on a tour from that place to Washington, passed through Emmitsburg last Friday afternoon. The troop in charge of Herbert A. Walls and Scoutmaster L. L. Reading, bears a message from the Mayor of Vineland to President Wilson which is contained in a hermetically sealed glass tube. While in Gettysburg they made a tour of the battlefield and were entertained Thursday night by the members of the Gettysburg scout troop.

Make no engagements for Tuesday. Arrange your auto party and accompany your "home nine" to Thurmont. Emmitsburg plays there on that date, July 6th.

To Save East Berlin Railroad.

The committee of citizens making the effort to restore rail communication to Abbottstown through the purchase of the tracks of the abandoned East Berlin Branch railroad continues to meet with encouragement and a restoration of the service is assured. Prominent citizens back of the railroad project are: U. L. Gladfelter, the Rev. F. K. Sternat, Samuel Sowers, Dr. T. C. Miller and Charles R. Altland.

Commissioners Reduce Tax Rate.

The Frederick county tax rate for 1915 will be 98 cents, the County Commissioners making the levy Wednesday afternoon. This is a reduction of 12 cents on the 1914 rate.

MARRIED.

LOW—MILLER.—On last Thursday, June 24, 1915, at Hagerstown, Miss Annie Mae Miller, of Emmitsburg, and Mr. J. Harry Low, of Fairfield. Rev. Conrad Clever, of Hagerstown, performed the ceremony.

DIED

Regular death notices published one time free of charge. Ordinary poetry and resolution charged for at the rate of five cents a line.

COPE.—On Tuesday, June 29, 1915, at her home in Baltimore, Mrs. Ellen Frances Cope, wife of the late Charles Cope, aged 80 years. Mrs. Cope was a resident of Emmitsburg for many years. Funeral services took place from her late residence this morning at 8:30 A. M., thence to St. Paul's Church where a Requiem Mass was offered at 9 o'clock. Interment was made in New Cathedral cemetery.

To Rebuild Blue Mountain House.

Baltimore, Waynesboro and Hagerstown capitalists have architects preparing plans for a hotel to replace the famous old Blue Mountain House, destroyed at Pen Mar several years ago. It is planned that the new hostelry shall have a hundred rooms, with 28 baths, a large dancing hall, which is planned for a wing of the building to extend back from the main entrance and lobby, a cafe and grill room in the basement.

It will occupy the entire site of the original Blue Mountain House and contain many of the structural details of the old building. It is planned that the basement of the hostelry is to be of concrete, while the ballroom will be encased in glass and is to have a crystal palace effect.

Although the new hotel will not be completed in time for a summer opening it is expected that it will be ready for opening the latter part of this year. The plans of the company provide for an all-the-year-round hostelry.

Mr. H. E. Zimmerman, of Mount Morris, Ill., collector of photographs of prominent persons all over the world, recently wrote to Mr. Lawrence Dielman, of near Mt. St. Mary's, asking Mr. Dielman for his picture. "Larry," as he is familiarly called by his friends, and as he is known far and wide by the fame of his beautiful custom of playing the flute on the Mountainside every Christmas morning, sent one of his photographs to the Western collector, and received the following in reply: "Am more than pleased with the picture. Enclosed please find money order for $5 in appreciation of the favor."

Plans For Three Church Reunions.

The last three Thursdays of this month have been designated as church reunion days. The first will be held by the Reformed denomination, Thursday, July 15. The annual reunion of the Lutheran church will be held Thursday, July 22, and will be followed on Thursday, July 29 by the reunion of the Presbyterians. Twelve thousand persons are expected to attend the Reformed reunion, between 15,000 and 20,000 persons will participate in the Lutheran reunion and the Presbyterian reunion this year will undoubtedly be the largest ever held by that denomination. The principal speakers at the Lutheran reunion will be: Rev. Dr. H. H. Weber, of York; Rev. Dr. J. A. Singmaster, of Gettysburg, and Rev. Dr. George W. Enders, of York.

The Burgess and Commissioners will sit at the Firemen's Hall, on Tuesday, July 13, 1915, at 8 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of revising the tax levy for the current year. Persons wishing to have adjustments made and those feeling aggrieved are requested to appear before the Board at that time.

BALTIMORE'S BEST STORE

Hochschild, Kohn & Co.

Howard and Lexington Streets

The Store That Makes Visitors Feel at Home

Baltimore's Best Store is a homelike store. There's a ring of genuineness and sincerity to its greeting to visitors.

That is one of the many reasons why it is the most popular shopping place, not only for residents of Baltimore, but for the thousands of visitors who come to Baltimore to shop during the year.

YOU should make yourself acquainted with the Hochschild, Kohn & Co. Store the next time you visit Baltimore. You will find it not only a pleasant, but an economical shopping place—for it sells only dependable goods, and, in most cases, sells them at a price no higher than is ordinarily asked for inferior articles.

Bear in mind, too, that whatever you buy here is returnable, for exchange or refund, without question or argument, if it does not prove entirely satisfactory.

Hochschild, Kohn & Co., Baltimore, Md.

Anniversary of the War.

One year ago, June 28 the Austrian Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife were shot and killed in the little Bosnia town of Serajevo by Garvio Prinzip. It was the act of Prinzip a poor student, which ultimately resulted in 11 nations going to war. These nations are, on one hand, Great Britain, France, Russia, Serbia, Japan, Belgium, Italy and the Montenegro, and, on the other hand, Germany, Austria and Turkey. The war to date, according to conservative estimates compiled from the best available reports, has caused a loss to the various belligerents of more than 6,000,000 men dead, wounded and prisoners, and more than 500 ships. Of these about 120 were war vessels.

FINE PRESS BUILDING AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

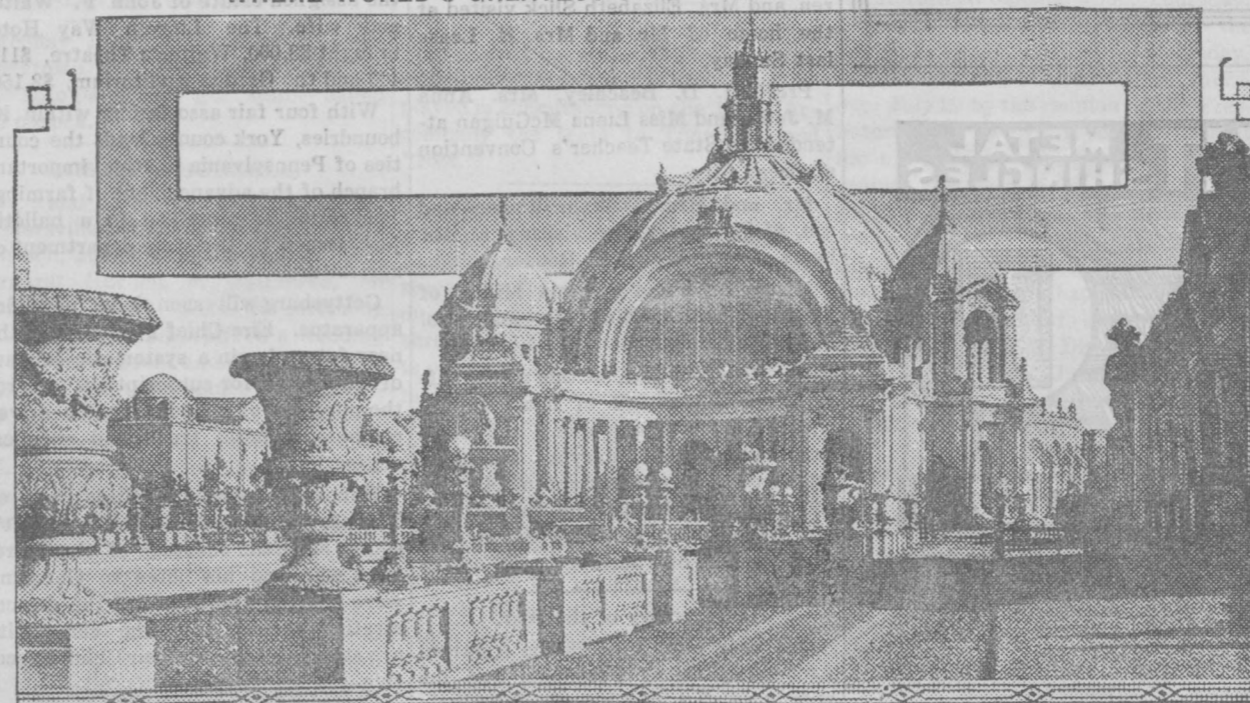

Copyright, 1914, by Panama Pacific International Exposition Company.
This photograph shows the fine Press building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, 1915, dedicated to the use of newspaper men, cost $35,000. The building, a two-story structure, is in the architecture of the French renaissance and is provided with comfortable lounging and reception rooms, where newspaper men and women from all parts of the world may make themselves at home. Everybody is welcome at the Press building and correspondents are offered the use of all its facilities.

CALIFORNIA HOST BUILDING AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

Copyright, 1914, by Panama Pacific International Exposition Company.
The California Host building, official home of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, built at a cost of $2,000,000, including furnishings, will be the headquarters of the exposition officials. Its social functions will be administered by the Woman's Board of the exposition. This is built in an idealization of the old mission architecture and is the second largest building on the exposition grounds. Here the counties of California will display their attractions to the world. The exposition opens February 20, 1915.

WHERE WORLD'S GREATEST PIPE ORGAN WILL BE HEARD

Festival Hall—Panama-Pacific International Exposition—from the south promenade of the South Gardens, the facade of the Press building showing at the extreme right. On the great organ in this hall—one of the six greatest organs in the world—Camille Saint Saens will play an original composition, and there will be recitals by Edwin La Mare of London, Wallace Sabin and other maestros. This hall will center the intellectual, dramatic, musical and literary life of the exposition at San Francisco, many of the 400 conventions of this year making it their assembly place.

TRIUMPHAL "ARCH OF THE SETTING SUN" PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

Copyright, 1914, by Panama Pacific International Exposition Company.
Triumphant Arch of the Setting Sun, 160 feet high, at the western entrance to the Court of the Universe, the largest of the courts of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco. This colossal arch reveals the magnitude of the vast exposition. Crowning the arch is a magnificent group of sculpture, "The Nations of the West." In the center of the group is a great prairie schooner, drawn by oxen, bearing "The Mother of Tomorrow" and two lads, "The Hopes of the Future." A figure of "Enterprise" surmounts the wagon top. By the sides are figures representing the American Indian, the plainsman, the Mexican and the Alaskan. The sculptors were J. Stirling Calder, Frederick G. R. Roth and Leo Lentelli. The exposition opens February 20, 1915.
