Interned Sailors at Newport Build Novel Village.

HAVE INGENIOUS DIVERSIONS.

Miniature Zeppelin Dropping Bombs or England One of Former Sea Raiders Amusements -- Party Finds Everything Spick and Span.

Norfolk, Va.-Many people would be surprised to learn that in neutral America a German Zeppelin is flying around dropping bombs on English soil, or at least English cliffs, and being in return bombarded by anti-air craft guns.

Time hangs heavy on the hands of the crew of the interned cruiser Eitel Friedrich, which is tied up at the navy yard here. Since the sailors took to time she could return to the bosom of escaping last summer the restrictions have been rigidly enforced, and any one sailing past the big boat before and since would be struck by the change in the appearance of the brass and wood work, which is now immaculately polished and scraped in an effort to kill time. German sailors can they are hard put to it to invent occu- knowing where to go to it. pations for hundreds of active men and Commander Thierichens asked the representative of a society in New York last autumn to send Christmas presents of games and puzzles and indoor sports rather than handkerchiefs and cakes and clothing. And lately a new diversion has been attempted.

From the clinkers of the furnace room the cliffs of Dover have been constructed at one end of the big din ing saloon. They have been built in accurate imitation of the real ones and colored white with salt. On to; is a lighthouse with air guns mounted at the base. At the farther end of the room rises a miniature Zeppelin num bered 1820, which flies around the room by electricity several times. It hovers for a moment over the lighthouse, drops several miniature bombs and makes its escape while the guns go off automatically and bombard the enemy craft with missiles.

After hearing of these performances a correspondent and some friends visited the German encampment. Landing at the navy yard, they passed the huge drydocks in which ships of tremendous tonnage looked like pygmies, and soon their attention was called to a sturdy, high bow ship, flying the flag. Her sides looked of enormous strength, being rounded ing Nickols, as he called the next case. away from a sharp bow in an unusua way. This was the famous Roosevelt. Peary's arctic ship, now in govern ment employment to protect the seal fisheries.

One of the most interesting sights at Norfolk is the model village built by the German sailors.

At first sight the village resembled an arid waste of slag heaps, with piles of condemned material scattered al over, cinders, beaten earth and rubhish everywhere-not a tree, not : spear of grass, the acme of desolation. As they advanced they saw a pygmy village built in close formation-curious little houses in miniature yards carved and painted in fantastic ways This is the village the interned sailors are building out of waste material.

Before visiting it they went aboard the Eitel Friedrich, which is tied up at the dock and on which the sailors of both cruisers are now living ..

As they were leaving the boat Captain Thierfelder of the Kronprinz Wilhelm joined them and escorted them to the village. Everything was found in spick and span shape, and resem blances of home scenes were many.

BOYS LEARN BACHELORHOOD.

Taking Up Domestic Science and Will Know How to Cook.

McPherson, Kan.-Leap year is producing reverse results in Central Academy and College here.

A dozen boys have applied for a domestic science course, and others will join. The instructor is Miss Viola Graham, and she has received a number of additional applications. The course will include cooking and sewing and will continue the remainder of the school year.

The girls are doing their best to prevent the movement of bachelorhood by inviting the college boys to attend parties, but the domestic science boy students are busy practicing the culinary art, and they assert that if the women intend to live independent lives they

It is the policy of this establishment to employ all deaf mutes who apply for positions who are strong, willing to work and who have good eyes. They have proved to be efficient workers and are often placed in responsible positions.

GERMAN FEMINISTS WOULD DRAFT WOMEN

Idea Is That All Girls Should Be Conscripted For a Year to Learn Useful Work.

The Hague.—Conscription for women is the latest idea of German feminists. German women have accomplished an amazing amount of work for the fatherland in the present war, but the feminist leaders assert that too much of the work has been dilettante, ill organized and ill directed. What is wanted, according to these women, is the introduction of compulsory service for women-not military. but home service. Each woman, they say, should spend one year in the later teens learning work which should be useful to the state. At the end of that

She showed how feminine work for the fatherland had been hampered by lack of training and organization, drew a fine picture of what could have been done had the women been called upon at the same time as the men do many wonderful things, but even each woman knowing her job and

> Finally, she urged the advantages in the way of discipline which the men got from their years of service. "We must be done with dilettantism!" she cried. "Every woman must learn that she owes a duty not only to her child. but to the home, and not only to the home, but to the state, and, above all she must know what to do."

SLAPPED HIM IN COURT.

Was Accused of Assaulting a Woman and Gets Thirty Days.

Canton, O.—A new cure for slapping faces has been demonstrated by Police Judge Quinn, who has become noted for the original sentences he hands

Thomas Nickols was before him on the charge of slapping the face of Mrs. Bessie Mare, proprietor of the boarding house where Nickols lives. Mrs. Mare was on the witness stand.

"Demonstrate to the court just how Nickols slapped you," she was ordered by the judge. She took the order literally, and going up to Nickols gave him a sounding whack across the face with her open hand.

"About that hard, judge," she said. "About thirty days in the workhouse for you," the judge ordered, address-

BUCK SAVES FAWN FROM SWIFT RIVER

Latter Falls Behind In Swimming the Columbia to Escape From Some Dogs.

Kettle Falls, Wash.-Ed Roper, a farmer living on the Ferry county side of the Columbia river, saw three deer driven to the Columbia river by dogs and then forced to cross for safety the other day. Roper had crossed to this side of the river in a rowboat and heard the barking of the dogs near the bank of the river that he had left.

Three deer, a buck, a doe and a fawn, sought safety by swimming in the river and were swimming toward this side when Roper hid himself in order not to frighten the deer back again.

The fawn fell behind the others and appeared unequal to the battle with the swift cold water, and Roper thought it would surely drown, when the buck, which had been in the lead, turned back and assisted the fawn until the bank of the river was safely reached. The three deer then stood still and rested for some time.

BOYS HYPNOTIZE SELVES.

Students Do It by Gazing Steadily at Bright Object.

Columbia, Mo.-A demonstration of hypnotism by Professor Max Myer, head of the psychology department of the University of Missouri, recently showed that hypnosis can be induced ed Crawfordsville women, had the without the influence of a hypnotist. Professor Myer hypnotized students by having them gaze fixedly at a bright object with no sound to distract atten-

Later he suggested that the hypnotized student was an artist painting a picture, a wounded soldier home from the trenches or an intoxicated diner out, and the students acted their parts. Lee S. Eads of Hamilton, Mo., was the star subject in Professor Myer's demonstration of hypnotism.

The coin is the size of arrow heads, which he found on a lit a silver dollar and in a fair state of preservation.

Girl Asserts Married Couple Should Quit When Love Ceases.

ALL SHOULD EXPRESS SELVES

Declares She Gives Vent to Her Feelings Every Morning In Singing Shouting and Dancing About to Her Heart's Content.

Los Angeles, Cal.—"When married people cease to love they should quit Marriage as we know it today is a terrible mistake. When two people fall in love nothing in the world should keep them apart."

This statement was but one of a se ries equally unorthodox which Miss Violette Wilson uttered at her father's home in outlining her unusual theories regarding life. Miss Wilson is the daughter of J. Stitt Wilson, former Socialist mayor of Berkeley. Recently. following an eight months' course at the University of California, she suddenly withdrew in order to get away from a system of education which she declared crushed her "individuality" and deprived her of her intellectual freedom and joined her father and mother here.

Miss Wilson is pretty. Although she is only nineteen, she outlined her ideals and aspirations with the touch of a woman twice her years. Also she is epigrammatic. When she says a thing she puts a "punch" in her ev ery phrase, and some of the things she says are, to say the least, interesting.

"Why did I leave the university?" she echoed in answer to a question. "Simply because I was being stifled I would sit and listen from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. to some pompous professor who was telling me what he had read of other people's thoughts. It was intolerable to me. I planned a literary work. I began it in Berkeley. But in some strange way I found I could not work on it at the university. My ego was being crushed, and I left."

About the only things connected with modern college life of which Miss Wilson approves are the athletics and the student activities, such as the editing of papers. "Sororities should never be allowed," she ejaculated. "Athletics develop initiative-permit one to express self. At Baddale's, the school near London which I attended, I was the only girl on the football team. I after the mail," even so far as the played center wing, and I had a great gate, will be a thing of the past with time too!" Freedom! That is Miss Wilson's favorite word. "What is life without freedom?" she exclaimed. "I have left the university. Were my ideals to clash with those of my father and mother I would not hesitate to leave them. I most assuredly wouldn't give

"We should all express ourselves. Before I take my bath every morning I dance. I put on a light chiffon garment, throw all the windows open and give vent to my feelings in singing. shouting and dancing about to my heart's content.

"The vast majority of men, especially business men, want a pretty little plaything for a wife. The sweet things hardly ever give a serious thought to the rearing of children. They know nothing about eugenics. They are, it must be confessed, clinging vines. They have no intellectual interests in common with their husbands. They are toys-pets!

"Some day there will be neither marriage nor divorce. We will rise to such a plane that love will be back of our unions-real love, which will not require a ceremony to make it legal and binding."

SENT WRONG BODY.

WISCONSIN GIRL KILLS WOLF WITH MOP STICK

Declares It Was Not Much, but Gets a Bounty and Will Wear Hide as Furs.

Menominee, Wis.-Since Mabel Henderson killed a wolf with a mop han dle she has been kept busy answering letters that poured in from all parts of the country. Some wrote from curiosity to find out what kind of a girl she was and others merely wanted to congratulate her.

When Miss Henderson stepped out of the house she saw the family dog fighting with the wolf. She seized the mop handle, the first weapon that came into her hands, and went to the dog's rescue. She killed the wolf and received a bounty of $10 from the secretary of state, with a personal letter of congratulation, and also $10 from the county.

The skin of the wolf is being made into a set of furs, which Miss Henderson will take pride in wearing.

"It wasn't much," said Mabel. saw the wolf and got mad. I did not think of being in danger myself and just grabbed the first thing I got my hands on. That was all. I was surprised that the animal did not run away. I guess I surprised him and hit him so hard the first time that he was too stunned to think of getting away. Anyway, I got him, and he won't bother our house any more."

GETS MAIL WITH PULLEY.

Farmer Didn't Want to Walk to the Road to Get It There.

Whilesville, Mo.-To C. R. Thompson, a farmer living northeast of here, is given the credit of originating the latest method of having his mail brought directly to his door.

Some time ago Thompson decided that it was a waste of time and shoe leather to make the daily trip to his mail box down by the road, and he set his mind and hand to work on a device which would make said trip unneces-

He succeeded, and now by means of a set of wires and a pulley the trick is accomplished.

After the mail man's visit Thompson has only to step to his door and draw in his mail, box and all. The box is sent back to its post by the roadside in the same manner. Others in the community are so pleas. ed with Thompson's device that they are going to follow his example, and it will doubtless not be long until "going the progressive farmers of northwest

COLLIE HALTS A BULL.

Effort of a Dog Saves the Lives of Father and Son.

St. Louis. - Fannie, a Scotch collie saved the life of John C. Shafer, a farmer and the dog's owner, and John Shafer, father of the dog's owner, on two different occasions in one week when the men were attacked by an in furiated bull, according to a story told in Marne, Ill.

When the father went to the barn to feed, the bull attacked him. In trying to get away he fell several times and was bruised. His granddaughter, Nellie Shafer, arrived home from school into the lot. The dog halted the bull and permitted the old man to escape.

The next morning, when the son went to the barn to feed, the bull attacked him. His cries attracted Mrs. Shafer, who went to the lot in her night clothes, taking the dog with her for the second rescue.

CLAIM TO HAVE FOUND SCARLET FEVER GERM

Boston Pathologists Report Discovery of Bacillus-New York Physician Skeptical.

Boston.-Dr. F. B. Mallory, pathologist of the Boston City hospital, and his assistant, Dr. E. M. Medlar, have discovered the bacillus that causes scarlet fever, and it is believed it will not be very difficult to work out an antitoxin or vaccine for its prevention and cure.

This important discovery is laconially described by Dr. Mallory and Dr. Medlar in a thousand word article in the current issue of the Journal of Medical Research entitled "The Etiology of Scarlet Fever."

of the actual germ that it has evaded discovery so long. The germs are found soon after the skin eruption appears and usually find lodgment first in the tonsils or at the root of the tongue. The germ is less virulent than the diphtheria bacillus, although it infects practically the same localities. Dr. Mallory says it is a "grampositive bacilli.'

"A vaccine for the disease would be the more important," says Dr. Mallory, "so as to render nurses immune to the disease. Scarlet fever is not conveyed, as many suppose, from the scaling of the patient. When that takes place all the germs in the body are dead."

It was said by a New York physician that a number of doctors have claimed the discovery of the bacillus of scarlet fever, but have failed to substantiate their claims.

FINDS BURIED GOLD.

Mrs. Grey Dug It Up, but Mrs. Judkins Buried It, Is Belief.

Chico, Cal.-Fifty dollars in gold, believed to have been buried more than twenty-five years ago, was discovered here recently by Mrs. John Grey, wife of a shoe merchant of this city, while digging in her yard. Mrs. Grey, while seeking lily bulbs, turned up an old can and found in it, wrapped up in the remains of a handkerchief, the gold.

More than twenty-five years ago a family by the name of Judkins occupied the home. Mrs. Judkins was known to have buried money, several packages having been found by her husband following her death. It is believed that this money also was hidden

The can contained one $20 and three $10 gold pieces. The can in which they had been placed was rusty, and the cloth which had been wound around the coins was decayed and fell to pieces when handled.

OSTRICH EGG MEAL FOR ALL.

Scrambled by Wife and Prosecutor's Family Heartily Partake of It.

Kansas City, Mo.-While Prosecutor Floyd Jacobs and family were visiting the zoo at Swope park one of the attendants brought in a freshly laid ostrich egg about the size of a toy balloon. It was said to be slightly undersized, so Mr. Jacobs was told he might take it home if he would promise to have it served for supper.

"My wife scrambled it," Mr. Jacobs said, "and it was about all the egg one family could eat at a meal. There wasn't much difference in the taste from an ordinary hen's egg, so far as I could determine, but it seemed to be a trifle richer. At least it satisfied the appetite quicker than the scrambled eggs usually served at my table."

Titled Englishwoman Says It Cures Nervous People.

IS HER OWN MECHANICIAN.

One's Eyes Would Open to See Lady Auckland Modishly Dressed and Then In Overalls Repairing Flying Machine-Has Lost One Son In War.

Palm Beach, Fla.—If you are suffering from nerves, from ennui or from lack of adventure step into a hydroaeroplane, rise gently from the ground and soar into the azure, over land and sea, descending upon either as the impulse moves you.

Lady Auckland, whose rank may be obtained from any of the books dealing It is largely owing to the short life | with the British peerage, recommends aviation as a sport and as a cure. During the last season she, with her son, conducted a school for aviation here, not merely lending her name to the enterprise as a passing fad, but going into it in the most practical manner. One rubbed one's eyes to see her at one moment, modishly dressed, on the promenade with other fashionable visitors and the next in workwoman's shirt and overalls making mechanical repairs on her flying machine. The transition from London society to an American workshop and business enterprise is interesting. Lady Auckland told the story.

She is the daughter of Colonel George M. Hutton, C. B., a great landowner and a noted military man. Her mother was a granddaughter of Arkwright, the inventor, and on both sides of her family she is descended from distinguished

"My early youth was spent at the old abbey of Knauth, on the banks of the river Trent," she said. "It was a beautiful old black and white house of the Stuart period, built on the site of the Cistercian monastery razed by Henry VIII.

"I had a very unhappy childhood, as my mother never forgave me for being born a girl, not even up to the time of my marriage.

"I married when I was only nineteen years old, but my married life was not a happy one. I had luxuries and all the advantages that social position can give, but my home life was not happy. My two boys were born nearly three years apart, and I became completely absorbed in them.

"I had a fearful shock in 1904 when I discovered that my husband had loot money on the Stock Exchange-all our moneys that were not in trust

"Our beautiful home at Gravenhurst had to be sold and with it many of its world famed art treasures, including gifts from Marie Antoinette to the Lord Auckland of that time, who was ambassador to France. "I found that unless I worked we could not keep our eldest son at Eton, and to take him from there at that time would have ruined his career. "I went to work as designer to s large electrical firm and remained with it until I got a better position with a well known firm of metal workers in London. By this means I succeeded in keeping my oldest boy at Eton until he left in the ordinary course for the examinations for the army.

"Shortly after this time our dear old aunts died, and we were once again comfortably off and bought a heavenly place in the Isle of Wight. This house formerly belonged to Dickens, and here he wrote many of his works. house was low, with a velvet lawn sloping to the edge of the steep cliff overlooking the channel. From this place we saw the Olympic pass and the ill fated Titanic on her fatal voyage. Here we lived some years until Lord Auckland again lost money.

"After years of sorrow there was a culmination. I was only second fiddle, so my son and I made up our minds to come to America, where he decided to take up aviation. "My oldest son was killed at St. Eloi, near Ypres, on March 1, 1915, with two of his brother officers while leading their detachment to take some trenches. He was a lieutenant in the Sixtieth Royal rifles, having been appointed to that regiment by King George in 1913 after he had passed through

Valley Echoes

Mrs. Mary E. Doyle Morrison, '12 of | Lynchburg, Va., is now the guest of the Misses Marie and Elizabeth Mc-Manus at their home on Baring Street, West Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Simon R. Golibart accompanied by Mr and Mrs. Charles Rohrback spent a day at "The Valley" prior to the departure of the Golibart family for their home in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Immense pleasure was afforded to the collegiates who were fortunate enough to witness the successful comedy of the members of the Purcell Lyceum at Mt. St. Mary's College last week. The players are indeed worthy of congratulation for the skilful impersonation of the various and difficult characters and their masterful handling of the entire

The Irish story was a source of great delectation to the classes in literature, who are laying the foundation of this art so highly recommended

The energetic collegians and enthusiastic academics were equal to the verba sesquipedalia and feared nothing so much as the judges or the referees, to whom the thirty seconds seemed more important than the jaw-breakers. The contest grew in ardor as the number of competitors diminished and great was the excitement when the judges pronounced the verdict of "incorrect." After an hour and a half of severe trial three valiant lassies stood alone-and would one believe the result three were condemned for "homicide". Egotism has no hold of St. Joseph's girls, for each of the survivors insisted upon putting an omicror instead of an iota in the fateful word. The palm of victory was awarded to the Misses Ewell, Vickers and Waterman by the Seniors, who acted as judges.

The members of the Junior class are unusually successful in producing versifi-cations of Horace, especially with a view of introducing modern phraseology and suggestion. Twixt sunless tracts of icy snow, And burning tropics' fire, There lies the sweetest clime I know, The Land of Hearts' Desire!

'Twixt marble piles of fairest Rome, And rugged mountain crest, There is a modest, happy home With peace and plenty blest!

No rapid whirlpool dashing by, Or stagnant lake, Oh, no! But coolest streams 'neath any sky With quiet, gentle flow!

The fairest season of the year Doth come between extremes, In winter there is naught to fear, Nor summer's tempered beams!

And e'en the very prime of life, 'Twixt cradle croon and pall, The potent moment of the strife, Between these two doth fall. Here, no ambition's foolish fires, Nor hopeless, pining heart; But strength to nourish fair desires And nobly act life's part!

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoc-tin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatchable; the climate is notedly healthful; its water-pure mountain spring water-cannot be surpassed. With a reasonable capital, youth, strength, character and a knowledge of the language fortunes can be made relatively easier on the frontiers of civilization than at home. There are however, many privations to be borne You are away from friends. Mails at best come once a week. News is scarce. Daily papers exist only in metropolitan towns, and the data they contain are meager. In many locali ties fresh vegetables cannot be had. Drinking water is positively danger ous. Fleas, bugs, mosquitoes and a host of winged, singing, biting insects are present to annoy during day and night. Most hotels are bad and the food strange, unpalatable and poorly

These shadowed ones are sometimes called pessimists, sometimes people of melan choly temperament; sometimes they are called disagreeable people. But wherever they go, their characteristic is this-their shadows always travel or before them. These people never bear their own burden, but expose all their wounds to others. They are all s busy looking down for pitfalls and sharp stones and thorns on which to step that they do not even know that there are any stars in the sky. If a man handed you 15 cents out of his pocket every time he met you you would think he was crazy. But if he deesn't ask you to have a drink every time you meet him you regard him as a tight wad.

I have said that Lowell was the youngest man I ever knew. It is also true that I never knew any other man who had a greater dread of growing old than he. He would sometimes say to me (I was twenty-five years the younger). "Oh, you'll begin to feel it pretty soon.

The last time I saw him he gave me a curious and somewhat pathetic indication of his interest in this subject. I happened to be in Boston for a day and went out to see him in the teeth of a terrible March blizzard. I thought he seemed rather lonely. He told me that Hoppin had called upon him not long before. He said that he looked well and seemed to be in good health, but he noticed that when he went out he was a little awkward in getting down the front steps. When I left Lowell came to the door with me and stood there, evidently waiting to see how I negotiated the front steps. At the age at which I then was there was no reason why there should be anything the matter with my action. But the incident was characteristic of Lowell and of his intense interest in the subject of youth and age .- E. S. Nadal in Harper's Magazine.

Clever Amateurs.

Dozens of old graduates were back, and they talked a lot about themselves and a lot more about others not so fortunate as to attend.

"Most of our old crowd are married and happy," said one.

"Married, anyhow," said another, with the grin that always accompanies this silly joke.

"I accept the amendment," returned the first speaker, "but chiefly on account of poor Billy Tompkins. He had an unfortunate marital experience.

We hadn't heard of it and begged for particulars.

"Why, the girl he married turned out to be a professional pickpocket." The men who had first spoken sighed, but his eye twinkled.

"Well," he observed, "I guess the rest of us drew some pretty clever amateurs-what?"-St. Louis Post-Dis-

The Kilted Evzone.

The Greek soldier may present to some a highly humorous picture in his ballet skirts and tunic. Despite his peculiarities of dress-which, by the way, are scarcely more peculiar than those of some other nations-he is an excellent fighting man.

The evzone, as he is called, would no more abandon the skirt than would a Scot his kilt. It is a part of his national honor, a part of his personal being. It is a right handed down to him from ancient times. A bas relief of the soldier who fought at Marathon shows him in similar costume. His costume is no ephemeral piece of clothing, for it is worn with the dignity of ages behind it. The evzones are ignorant of fear, and if they look anything but soldierly their appearance is belied by their ability to fight under extraordinary conditions. - Syracuse Post-Standard.

Puzzle of the Eagle and the Whale. There are two animals that puzzle naturalists more than any others. They are nature's submarine and aeroplane, the whale and the eagle. It is known that whales scend as much as 3,000 feet below the surface of the sea. Why they are not injured scientists have yet to discover. It is this pressure which prevents a modern submarine descending even 300 feet, let alone 3,000.

Providing a continuous floor space of about four hundred feet extending from Patrick street to the Carroll creek, Frederick, work was recently commenced on the new machine shop at the Ideal Garage. When the structure has been completed it will be the largest plant of the kind in the State.

A. W. Nicodemus, Jr., of Buckeystown, has been named by Governor Harrington as a member of the board of county school commissioners to succeed the late Dr. C. L. Wachter, of Sabillasville, who died some weeks ago. The commission was received at the Clerk's office Monday morning.

Announcement has been made of the dissolution of the partnership existing between W. Harry Haller and Francis J. Newman, of Frederick, known as Haller and Newman. Mr. Haller will continue the business under the firm name of Haller and Newman.

A large delegation, comprised chiefly of persons engaged in the lime business in the Western Maryland section, made an urgent appeal to Governor E. C. Harrington to veto the bill which would put the State in the same industry. The bill in question carries an appropriation of $12,000 for the erection of a lime plant. Between fifteen and twenty persons made the trip, among which was William J. Grove, president of the Maryland Lime Manufacturers Associ-

One hundred and fifty-two votes out of a registered strength of 162, were cast at the election in Thurmont Monday. The Democratic City Committee of Frederick Monday night passed a resolution fixing May 8 as the date for the city primary when candidates for Mayor and City Register will be selected.

Thurmont Taxes Going Up.

To decide whether to expend about $1,500 for improvements to the Thurmont light plant and also whether to expend money for street improvements, which it is said are badly needed, a public mass meeting will be held in the near future. It is highly probable that the tax rate of the town will be increased. Funds must also be raised to retire some light plant bonds. The bill introduced in the legislature providing for the issuance of street improvement bonds was killed.

The party returned to Baltimore Monday night in Mr. Gray's private car.

THE FORUM

"Between the points of difference usually lies the truth, and open discussion never harms it."

[The Editor would have it understood that he is not responsible for the views expressed in communications addressed to him and published in The Chronicle.]

¶ No attention will be paid to anonymous communications.

To the Editor of the Chronicle:

A writer named "Liberty" in your issue of April 7 has set himself up as a learned critic in a vain and extremely feeble attempt to assail the methods of Billy Sunday.

It has been a well established principle laid down by famous rhetoricians and eminent scholars that one should neither attempt nor essay to do a thing, to effect a work, or especially to write a criticism of any work, and especially again, of any man, until that one has fully acquainted himself with that about which he desires to think, or unfortunately, as is the case here, near this place. write. Here is "Liberty" letting meaningless dictum escape, concerning a great evangelist, as thinking men in prominent positions have properly termed Mr. Sunday, when he knows practically nothing about him, -he even admits he has never heard him (when he Services were held on last Sunday says, "As I was told.") It is with shame on those who criticise him, when I state that the source of much of the adverse citicism can be traced to those who do not put themselves in a position Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ogle spent Sunto judge him properly, nor to get the message he so cogently delivers, neither do they give him an opportunity to make them think otherwise; in brief, spent Wednesday evening with Mr. they criticise something of which they religion is not modern. It is as old as the Bible itself, on which he bases his principles, and from which campaign are men of no intellect? The pastors of some of Baltimore's largest churches are represented at the tabernacle. The ablest clergy in every city to which Mr. Sunday accepts a call are his most steadfast admirers, to say Miss Margaret Shorb who has been nothing of the prominent laymen who prominently urge him to visit their towns. If Mr. "Liberty" would only Mr. John D. Keilholtz and Mrs Charles read what public officials-men who think, then speak-say of Mr. Sunday he surely would not have vented his thoughts publicly. As I write I have in mind the words of Congressman John S. Cooper, of Ohio, spoken in a Baltimore Baptist church recently, "I believe Billy Sunday, is the greatest evangelist since the days of Christ." This is but send. by vote of our citizens, to Washington to make our laws, think of Billy Sunday. If those men whom Mr. Sunday lifted from depths of iniquity and wickedness and placed on the upper and more sunlit path of righteousness, could Eyler's Valley Happenings. only lift up their hands in unison all the United States, pointing Heavenward would present a who profess no religion, yet "Liberty" contends that his methods are so objec tionable that they can establish no permanent good. Whose work does Mr. Sunday seem to be doing? Is he promoting the plans of Satan? If so, 25,000 people, the day I heard him, were all wrong in listening to him I can conceive a few of that immense mass of people being in error, but I can not reconcile myself with the idea that the great throngs that hear him are all

> Billy Sunday does not adhere to strict form in his services. He realizes the need of a personal appeal. Extreme conservatism has more than once permitted men to meet their Maker unprepared, because such conventionalism excludes personal touch between pastor and parishioner. Ministers all over the United States have put such a premium United States have put such a premium on the value of this man's presence that he is engaged for years in advance. "Mr. Liberty" is not one iota selfish when he says, "If others like methods different from mine, they are welcome to them, but they should not come out in newspapers," etc. That is not bigoted, nor egotistic; as I understand it, only "Liberty" has a right to express himself on the topic. Others must remain in deep silence. He says Mr. Sunday has done no permanent good, Sunday has done no permanent good, and naturally that statement is final, that is the law on the subject. One has only to consult residents of cities where "Billy" has been to see that that statement is as false as it is ridiof erroneous judgment.

Concerning the pecuniary phase, why should I elaborate? If a man feels so disposed and donates one dollar, it is accepted. If a cent is given, that is accepted. The same can be said of a dime. The amount is at the option of the giver. Now if the number of the donors is so large as to cause the free will offering to mount up to large sums is not the laborer worthy of his hire? Since the salvation of a soul can not be reckoned on monetary standards, I desist from further comment.

The learned author styled "Liberty" then concludes his masterful discourse with the words, "All that I wanted to say was," etc., which means that all that preceded it amounted to nothing, and I heartly agree; there lies the truth "and open discussion shall not harm it." In conclusion, remember he who is against Mr. Sunday not only lines himself up with the brewers, distillers, etc, but is diametrically opposed to the opinions of millions of the admirers of the wonderful evangelist.

"EQUITY."

FACTS ABOUT MEXICO

Interesting Bits Of Information Concerning The Country In Which United States Troops Have Been Active.

The area of Mexico is 767,290 miles. It has 15,251 miles of railway and 46, 112, miles of telegraph lines.

The country has two official names-"Estados Unidos Mexicanos" and "Re-

It is 1,900 miles long from northwest to southeast; its width varies from 140

publica Mexicanos."

Its seacoast on the Pacific and the Gulf of California is 4,574 miles.

Upon the Gulf of Mexico it has a coast line of 1,400 miles, and 327 miles of coast on the Carribean Sea.

The larger part of Mexico consists of an elevated plateau, with mountains on the east and west. This plateau is of volcanic origin.

The highest points of the plateau are in the States of Mexico and Puebla. The elevation there is about 8,000 feet. Mexico's two famous mountains are Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl. The former means "smoking mountain," the latter "white woman." These mountains are both south of Mexico City. The former is 17,888 and the latter 17,343 feet in height.

The lowland region of Mexico, lying along the coast on both sides, is unhealthy. This section is known as the "Tierras Calientes."

There are no large rivers in Mexico, and its lakes are small and few. Sand bars obstruct the small rivers emptying into the Gulf, making the ports upon them difficult of entrance.

Gold, silver, copper, coffee, sisal, textile and other fibres, rubber, hides and skins, tobacco and sugar form Mexico's chief exports.

According to the most recent estimate, the population of Mexico is a few thousand more than 15,000,000, an average of less than twenty inhabitants to the square mile.

Thirty-eight per cent. of the population is Indian; 43 per cent. is of mixed bloods, or "Mestizos." Less than 19 per cent. is classed as white. The Indian element in the population has been drawn from so many distinct races that no less than fifty-nine distinct dialects are used. There are or were more than 150 manufacturing establishments, including iron working shops, in Mexico City. In 1908 there were 358 Government schools in the city and nearly 200 private schools.

The unhealthiness of the coastal plains has prevented their becoming thickly populated.

The mineral resources of Mexico include gold, silver, copper, coal platinum, graphite, petroleum, asphalt, sodium, and marble.

Mexico prior to the recent revolutions stood thirteenth among other countries in the production of cane sugar.

In production of rice she was sixteenth; of tobacco fourteenth; cotton seventh; coffee, sixth; lead, fourth; rold fourth conner second and silver

A Famous Flower Show.

The Annual Easter Display of the Phipp's Conservatory, Schenley Park, is open to the public free of charge Sunday, April 23rd, from 8 00 A. M. to 5.00 P. M. This is one of Pittsburgh's principle society events of the year.

Easter coming unusually late this year, the flower show will most likely be grander than ever. Unless one has seen these conservatories they can hardly reglize the variety and extent of the floral kingdom. Few lovers of flowers raise, during a lifetime, the quantity of flowers that are in bloom there on that one day.

If you love flowers by all means go to this flower show if possible.

There is a low fare excursion by regular trains to Pittsburgh, Saturday. April 22nd, good for return until Manday night, allowing two days in Pittsburgh. Any agent of the Western Maryland Railway will be glad to give full information.
